Busy Session Monday Night

At Monday night's meeting of the City Council, Judge H. F. Taylor administered the oath of office to the six councilmen re-elected at the November election as follows: L. S. Phillips, Joe Bennett, W. P. Murrell, Smith Atkins, J. E. Hannequin, and Paul DeMyer.

As the above councilmen start on their new term of office with Mayor W. O. Shankle, we feel that it is an opportune time to extend congratulations for the past achievements and assure them our best wishes and cooperation in making their burdens as light as possible during the next two years.

The duties of a councilman are not always pleasant and the one who attempts to please everybody will die with nervous prostration before his term of office expires.

A councilman receives little thanks, it matters not what he may do. He may spend nights away from his family attending council meetings ransacking his brain how to economically use the city's money to make both ends meet; he may neglect his own private business attending to the city's affairs, and few, if any, ever give him a word of encouragement. But, cussing! He gets enough to sink a ship and make him wish he was dead.

A bouquet now and then before he is actually buried would make life really worth living. Try it for the next two years and see what effect it will have.

You have a set of officials who are working overtime to make Fulton a better town in which to live and deserve our encouragement and cooperation.

New Bridge Accepted and Paid For

The new $7,600 bridge constructed by Wm. Hill & Sons across Harris Fork Creek on Fourth Street, has been accepted by the city and paid for.

Messrs. Hill and Sons are to be congratulated on this beautiful piece of work. The bridge is a splendid structure and is admired by all who see it. It is forty feet wide, with 5 foot walkways on both sides, and strictly in keeping with the new reinforced concrete streets recently completed by Carey-Reed Company. Fulton is proud of its new bridge and new streets. The contractors and engineers are due all the praise given them and the city was fortunate indeed in having Engineer Hopkins, of Black & Veatch company on the job.

UNION SERVICE

The First Baptist church was filled to capacity last Sunday evening when all churches of the city joined in union service for the new Methodist minister, Rev. Vaught, who, with his family, moved to the city last Wednesday to take charge of the pastorate here of the First Methodist church, succeeding the Rev. J. V. Freeman.

Rev. Vaught delivered an inspiring sermon and the special musical numbers were a beautiful feature of the service.

FULTON AND MAYFIELD LIONS MEET TODAY

The get-together meeting of the Lions clubs of Fulton and Mayfield with the citizens of Water Valley will be held Friday, December 9, instead of Tuesday, December 13, it has been announced.

Ladies of the community will give a luncheon and the program for the meeting will include music and a large number of peppy speeches.

B. P. O. E. MEMORIAL SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

A large audience attended the memorial services of Fulton Lodge of Elks in the Orpheum theatre Sunday afternoon. Hon. O. H. Brooks, of Mayfield, State Senator and a fluent speaker, delivered one of the best orations in the history of the local lodge.

Presiding was Exalted Ruler Harry H. Murphy. Charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity, the cardinal principles of the order were described solemnly and impressively by Exalted Ruler Murphy; Frank Beadles, esteemed leading knight; O. C. Linton, esteemed loyal knight; Heber Finch, esteemed lecturing knight, in keeping with the magnificent ritual.

The service was in memory of members of the lodge who had died in previous years. Fortunately no member of the local lodge had passed away during 1927.

A delightful musical program arranged by Mrs. Lloyd Emery was a feature of the service. The musical numbers were beautiful. Those taking part were Mesdames Charles Brann, Hardeman Howard, Charles Gregory, Messrs. Paul Hornbeak, Stewart Brown, William Sherman, Raymond Simond.

Secretary P. M. Newhouse read the roll of members who had died during the past years.

The stage decorations and electrical effects were artistically arranged by Louie Roberts.

WOMAN'S CLUB COOK BOOK

The Woman's Club Cook Book is now in the hands of the printer and is being rushed to completion and will soon be ready for distribution. The book will be bound in a black leatherette cover printed in gold and will contain one hundred or more pages 6x9, filled with true and tried recipes by many of Fulton's best housekeepers. It's a valuable little volume and should be in every home in our city. We will add, too, that it would make a nice Christmas gift.

The purpose of the book is to aid in accumulating a fund for the building of a Woman's club and deserves liberal patronage.

"DON JUAN"—AT GRAND THEATRE, MONDAY & TUESDAY, DEC. 12 & 13

CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE World's Greatest Newspaper

"DON JUAN," by Mae Tinee.

Good Morning. And have you seen "Don Juan" yet?

Speaking of John Barrymore, how do you like Douglas Fairbanks' Method in the query, my owns, as you will agree when you see Mr. Barrymore in the character sung of by Byron, Moliere, and a score of others, scaling walls, leaping from high places, performing picturesque and incredible feats afoot and on horseback.

The ending is most spectacular—Don Juan fleeing with his swooning sweetheart on horseback, pursued by hordes of the followers of Lucretia, and single-handed, filling purgatory with brand new faces.

Mr. Barrymore is magnificent throughout, gorgeous in all his moods and tenses. A fascinating character, whether ardent, evil, impudent, or rolling the whites of his eyes. It is awfully beautiful.

Hard to Get Started

New Ford An Attractive Car

Hundreds Visit Snow-White Motor Co.'s Display Rooms to Get Complete Description

One of the most stupendous and far reaching advertising campaigns ever attempted by an individual or corporation in the United States was started last week when the advertising agency representing the Ford Motor Company, conducted an advertising campaign for five days, which we understand, cost more than a million dollars, and this is merely a start. A million dollar advertising campaign for a month or a year would be some campaign, but for five days is a record breaker. This doesn't include another million dollars worth of free, front page advertising either.

But look what it is all about. The world's automobile wizard has spoken—has produced a car that has thrilled the nation and caused an upheaval in the automobile industry in general.

Local Dealers Happy

When the Snow-White Motor Company opened its doors to the public Friday morning it was not for the purpose of selling cars, but to enlighten the people with a complete description of the new line of Ford automobiles and to give details of this revolutionary car which is to succeed the famous Model T Ford after more than nineteen years of supremacy in the low price light car field. Hundreds took advantage of the opportunity and visited the local dealers' show rooms, many placing orders for future delivery.

On all sides were heard comments of surprise at the striking change in the appearance of this new Ford line. The low, rakish lines, the striking new colors and the luxurious equipment of these new automobiles, made a marked impression upon the visitors. Even more impressive to the visitors, however, were the details of performance as they were unfolded by attendants. All were particularly struck with the speed, pick-up and ease of handling the new cars and with the fact that they are equipped with four-wheel brakes, shock absorbers and standard gear shift transmission of the type used in cars in a much higher price class.

New Ford Home

While Mr. Ford was producing a car to thrill the nation, Mr. R. H. Wade was constructing for the Snow-White Motor Company, authorized Ford dealers, a home in keeping with the new car, one of the most handsome garage buildings in Western Kentucky with a lower floor space of more than eighteen thousand square feet. The display room has a frontage of 80 feet of glass where the new line of Fords can be viewed by the hundreds who traverse Fourth street daily.

The NEW FORD CAR will be on display in the show rooms of the Snow-White Motor Co., Saturday, Dec. 10th.

CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CHECKS MAKE MANY HAPPY

Right now there is true Christmas cheer ringing in the hearts of hundreds of Fulton folk who were members of the 1927 Christmas Savings Club of The Farmers Bank. Each one received a check last Monday covering his savings with interest for the past year. Just imagine what a delightful feeling it is to receive a substantial check right now—at a time it can be used to such a great advantage. Hundreds are now prepared to meet the financial requirements of the holiday season. If you are not among those fortunate ones, start now to prepare for next Christmas. It is the easy way to save money.

The 1928 Christmas Savings Club is now open at the Farmers Bank. All members of the 1927 club are invited to join. Also all others in this territory who have not taken advantage of this fine plan of savings are urged to enroll. A small sum each week does the work—an easy way to put aside money so it will not be missed. The Farmers Bank has a club suited for everybody, for every purse. All can join—the sooner the better. Some have already joined who were in the 1927 club, increasing their amounts for 1928.

Mr. Earle Crowdsom, of Allen Dalee, Washington, is visiting G. H. Duley and family.

AL G. FIELD MINSTRELS FORTY-FIRST YEAR

Coming to the Orpheum Saturday, December 10, Matinee and Night

Minstrel lovers of long ago would probably be greatly surprised if they could see the new Forty-first edition of the Al G. Field Minstrels, which will be seen at the Orpheum, Saturday, December 10, matinee and night. They would recognize the traditions of old-time minstrelsy, but would be astounded at the gorgeousness of the present-day production.

In the days of the first minstrel shows the costumes were made by hand, in the simplest possible manner, and even most of the scenery and drop curtains were sewn by hand. However, since the advent of big musical productions and reviews, scenery and costuming has necessarily become an important item in the minstrel production.

Elaborate velvets and satins, brocaded and gold-trimmed, are used in the costuming of the Forty-first Edition of the Al G. Field Minstrels. The scenic equipment is most pretentious and the ensembles are a riot of color and harmony.

Music, comedy and dancing are the three principal items of a minstrel production that always remain and these three predominate in even the most elaborate stage presentations. The public wants melody and harmony, they want dancing and comedy, and lots of it, but they also like beautiful costumes and scenic settings; and in every respect it is the aim of the producers of the Al G. Field Minstrels to satisfy the most particular theatre goer.

WILL GIVE CANTATA

Others assisting will be Misses Clara Collins, Agatha Gayle, Mesdames Bertis Pique, J. W. Ellege, J. W. Stockdale, Messrs. James Warren, Chas. Hutchens.

For a short time we will accept subscriptions for this paper and the Memphis Weekly Commercial Appeal—both papers one year for only $1.25.

High School Notes

LOCAL MAN CHASES TURKEY

Mr. J. W. Harrison, Route 1, Fulton, Ky., representative of the Moorman Mfg. Co., Ill., makers of mineral feeds for livestock, is working hard to win a turkey for Christmas. If his sales for six weeks reach a certain volume, his company will give him a 20 pound turkey for his Christmas dinner. For that reason, Mr. Harrison is out early and in late these days, for he sure is trying his best to win that gobble.

This is the fourth annual "Turkey Chase" of the Moorman Company and is just one of the many prize campaigns put on by this company.

Here's hoping Mr. Harrison wins his bird.

Community Building

Lay Out Community With Eye to Future

Preventive planning, which foresees and provides for the future, is recommended to village communities. As in the cities, rebuilding after a bad start may be expensive in the long run. Exceptional new villages planned recently, with an eye to the future, include Marymount, Ohio; Longview, Wash.; Pinckney, S. C.; and Palo Verde, Calif. Other villages are rebuilding either in large piece reconstruction work at one time or by adoption of long-term plans for replacement of undesirable features as they wear out. The movement is country-wide and supported by planning associations and boards in several states. A long list of towns and villages which have initiated planning practices includes such scattered communities as Weston, Mass.; Longview, N. C.; Pine Bluff, Ark.; Port, Texas; Pinckney, Minn.; Logan, Utah; and Berkeley and Patterson, Calif. Village planning represents not a waste but a saving of money in forestalling the need to spend great sums in the future in reconstruction and in providing for the economic, social and esthetic welfare of the 20,000,000 people who live in villages or small towns and of the 20,000,000 farm people who use them.

Des Moines Enforces Strict Building Code

All persons will have to apply for a permit before beginning construction in Des Moines now, following adoption by the city council of the new building code first proposed eight years ago.

Under the code all buildings will have to conform to rules and regulations enforced by the city building commissioner, and provide specifications for weight and quality of materials used in buildings within the city limits, as well as for quality of workmanship.

It was drawn up by a group of local architects, contractors, and real estate men, in consultation with V. O. Marriot, city building commissioner.

Building activities in Des Moines have previously been loosely governed by the state housing law and a number of "haphazard" city ordinances.

Brick Quality Guarantee

A brick is unique in that it is the one building material that is self-tested and carries its own guarantee in its ring. It is the only material on all the long list that a novice may judge with perfect safety. So long as a brick rings true when two are struck together, it needs no other certificate of character.

The standards of brick have been so long established and are so well recognized in the construction world that it rarely happens that bricks are offered in the markets that are not of good quality. Unless they are good there is no demand or sale for them. Nor is there any inducement for the manufacturer to attempt to make an inferior article, knowing that these conditions are universal.

Model English Towns

"In England there is an association called Garden Cities and Town Planning, which has sponsored a number of splendid developments, of which the most noted are Letchworth and Welwyn, both of which are self-contained towns, just outside the city of London. Another, especially interesting, is Bournville, near Birmingham, built through the philanthropy and foresight of Cadbury. Bournville consists of about four hundred acres, laid out attractively with hundreds of houses built under the plans laid out by the founder. They are entirely constructed of brick. The houses are set well back from the street and provide plenty of room for the always expected English flower garden.

South Imported Buttons

During the Civil war, the northern states were able to supply all the buttons needed by the Union army. At the outbreak of the war button manufacturers in Europe expected to receive orders from both the North and the South, but were disappointed to find as time went on that the North could fill its own requirements. They found some consolation, however, in being called upon to supply all the buttons needed by the southern states, though in doing so they were forced to run the blockade. There were numerous hours of cargoes as a result and the trade it necessary to charge high prices for the buttons that reached their destination—by chance.

Art on a Large Scale

City planning and architecture are just as truly art, and fine art, as painting or sculpture, but because they both are primarily utilitarian they are perhaps less well understood or appreciated. The fact is, however, that city planning and building are intimately allied to everyday life, and the city planner and the architect, therefore, have it within their power to demonstrate to the people at large the value of art as no other artist has. —Lolla Mechina in the Washington Star.

A MATHEMATICIAN

Rufus was told to count the post holes around a certain lot and let the owner know how many posts would be needed. He said, "Boss, I can't count."

"Yes, you can," was the answer. "Go on!"

So he started out, saying, "Dar's one. Dar's one. Dar's one."

After he had gone around the lot he reported, "Boss, I figures it will take a post for every hole around that lot."

Show Girl's Logic

"Here's a good one," said the show girl. "When the manager asked me my age last night I couldn't to save my life, remember whether I was twenty-three or twenty-four."

"What did you do?" said another show girl.

"Split the difference and told him seventeen."

ALWAYS IN SAME PLACE

"I can't think where I've seen your face before."

"It's been in the same place ever since I've had it."

Sad Words

Of all sad words
A man to her:
"Another note
Due on your car."

Solved It

"Have you heard of my latest discovery?"

"No, what is it?"

"I've found how to tell the number of pieces of macaroni on a plate."

"How?"

"Why, you add up the ends and divide by two."—Pathfinder.

Not That

"Ma," queried the small boy, "what does a-c-n mean?"

"Why it's a prefix they put before a man's name when he has had some official position, dear."

"But that couldn't have been what pa meant when he called the maid 'hon' the other day."

Reason for Wrath

Henry—Why is the history professor sore on you?

George—The prof. says to me, "What German chieftain captured Rome?" So I says to him, "It was Silicho, wasn't it?" So he says, "Don't ask me, I'm asking you." So I says, "I don't know either, prof."

AND SUSPECTS MORE

"She expects much of her husband,"
"And suspects more."

Collegiate Only

The building tore his garters off.
He ran for many a mile.
His socks were sagging as he flew
And now they call it style.

Another Hopeless One

"What are you going to look for to-day?" asked Mrs. Diogenes.

"My assignment for today," sighed old Di, wearily, as he picked up his lantern, "is to find a speeder who really is in a hurry."

Don't You Remember?

John—That was a fine drive you made.

Dot—Thanks. Which one do you mean?

John—The time you hit the ball.

Saved Her for Himself

"Alas, I lost my dear wife at the seashore."

"Tough luck, old chap. Did a wave carry her off?"

"No; a life saver."

Permissible

Mrs. Smith—Do you allow your maid to be so rude?

Mrs. Myth—We have to, dear. She's so poorly paid.

Easy to Do

A group of farm hands waited on a farmer and their leader said:

"We want a raise, boss."

"Holy smoke," said the farmer. "Didn't I give you a raise only four days ago?"

"Yes," said the leader, "but we've got used to that now."

HER IDEA OF IT

He—But wife, darling, we must economize.

She—Just what I'm doing. I'm having everything charged.

One Point of View

There is no frigate like a book,
To bear one leagues away;
Nor any prancing charger like
A page of poetry.

Lost—a Customer

The Girl—Yes, it's a nice hope chest, but it's rather larger than I intended to buy.

The Salesman—This will be just the thing for you, miss. You'll have lots of time to fill it.

An Effective Substitute

Club—This paper says that we will not send artillery to China to batter down their wall.

Dubb—Good, I'm glad that this time the politicians are going to use their heads.

Civic Gesture

"Why won't you contribute to bring the New York Opera company to Plunkville?"

"They won't come."

"Then it's safe to promise a contribution."

Fragrant Excess

"What a pity Joan uses so much powder and perfume since she married money. She used to be much nicer."

"Yes, I knew her when she hadn't a scent."

"NATIONAL PARK WEEK"

Kentuckians are in the midst of their intensive effort to establish a National Park within the state. "National Park Week" is on, and volunteer workers in all parts of the state are seeking to raise, through public contribution, the sum of $2,500,000 with which to purchase the Mammoth Cave area in the heart of Kentucky, for presentation to the Federal Government, which will thenceforth maintain and develop it as a National Park. Enthusiasm in behalf of the cause, which means tremendous things for the future progress of the state, is high, and workers are putting energetic effort into their solicitation, which is to extend to every man and woman in Kentucky.

The drive was officially launched Monday, with dinners held simultaneously in each of the eleven regions into which Kentucky has been divided for the campaign. From these dinners the workers went forth, eager to secure the money necessary to create for their state the wonderful asset of a National Park. They are appealing both to the pride and good business judgment of the state citizenship, for the economic advantage of the park, bringing millions of tourists into the state, will mean, they point out, direct benefit for every individual as well as for the commonwealth at large. Governor William J. Fields of Kentucky has issued a letter addressed to the people of the state heartily commending the project and calling upon the people of the state to respond to the call for assistance. In it he stated: "Wherever a National Park has been established, the people of the world have lent themselves to travel and poured streams of wealth into the surrounding territory. As Governor of the Commonwealth and as a citizen of the State and Nation, I am calling upon every Kentuckian, and upon every potential agency to digest the significant facts relative to the Mammoth Cave National Park project, for the effect it may have upon the effort. This is a master effort in which every citizen can afford to remember that he is first of all a true Kentuckian."

Many other endorsements are being received by the Mammoth Cave National Park Association, among them wishes from Governor Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia; Governor Len Small, of Illinois; Governor Edward Jackson, of Indiana, and Governor Aram J. Pothier, of Rhode Island. Organizations in all parts of Kentucky are commending the movement, the mayors of Kentucky cities are issuing proclamations calling upon support for it from their people, and the school children are entering upon a statewide essay contest on the subject, "How Will The Mammoth Cave National Park Benefit Kentucky?"

Sponsors of the drive declare that the entire state has united for the campaign as it has never before united for a single cause.

ISAIAH COUNSELS THE RULERS

LESSON TEXT—Isa. 37:35-38; 39:1-7.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee: because he trusteth in Thee.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Care for Jerusalem.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Care of a Nation.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—God the Ruler of Nations.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Recognition of God in National Affairs.

The committee has given as the scripture units chapters 7, 31, 36 and 37. It will materially help in the grasp of the lesson if brief attention be given to these chapters; therefore in the outline brief reference will be made to chapters 7 and 31 while confining the main exposition to chapters 36 and 37.

I. Isaiah's Message to Ahaz.

1. Prophecy concerning Immanuel (ch. 7).

The occasion of this prophecy was an invasion from the north by Israel and Syria. This invasion greatly alarmed Ahaz. To calm his fearful heart Isaiah assured him that God's purpose concerning the nation would not fail. He urged the exercise of faith in God, offering to confirm his faith by working any miracle desired. While with false humility he refused, sign the prophet announced the giving of a sign which would be the birth of Immanuel.

2. A promise of divine protection (ch. 31).

Ahaz foolishly called for the help of Assyria and Egypt against Israel and Syria. Isaiah rebuked him for this, showing him clearly that his only help was in God.

II. Judah Invaded by the Assyrians (Isa. 36).

1. Rabshakeh meets a deputation from Judah (vv. 1-21).

He represented Sennacherib, the king of Assyria, whose mission was to induce Judah to surrender. His method to accomplish this was:

(1) Intimidation (vv. 4-9).

He tried to bully them into submission.

(2) Misrepresentation (v. 10).

He asserted that it was useless for them to put their trust in God and even declared that the Lord had sent him to destroy Egypt.

(3) He tried to create a panic among the people (vv. 13-21). Fearing such a panic the deputation of the Jews urged Rabshakeh not to speak in the Jews' language.

(4) He promised them plenty in another land (vv. 16, 17).

2. The report to Hezekiah by the deputation (v. 22). They rent their garments in fear and dismay over their perilous condition, for the crisis long before predicted by Isaiah had now come upon them.

III. Hezekiah's Behavior (Isa. 37).

1. Resorted to the House of the Lord (v. 1).

This is a sure retreat for God's people in time of distress (Ps. 73:16, 17; 73:13). This action was prompted by faith, for God had promised that whoever in time of distress resorted to His house would be heard by Him (II Chron. 7:15, 16).

2. Sent to Isaiah (vv. 27).

The natural and logical thing for the king to do under such circumstances was to send for God's prophet.

3. Hezekiah's prayer (vv. 14-20).

Rabshakeh, who seems to have withdrawn from Jerusalem for a little while, now returned from Sennacherib with a letter warning Hezekiah against trusting God for deliverance, for no God was able to stand against the Assyrian army. He spread the letter before the Lord and prayed.

(1) He recognized God's throne, making it the ground of his plea (v. 16).

He reposed his faith in the lordship of Jehovah, knowing that all power and authority resided in Him.

(2) He recognized the peril which threatened the people (vv. 17-19).

(3) He asked for deliverance (v. 20).

4. Isaiah's message to Hezekiah (vv. 21-35).

(1) That Sennacherib's sin was blasphemy against the Holy One of Israel (vv. 21-23).

(2) That Sennacherib had forgotten that he was an instrument in God's hand (vv. 24-28).

(3) That judgment upon Sennacherib was imminent (vv. 29-35).

IV. The Assyrian Army Destroyed (vv. 36-38).

The angel of the Lord went forth and slew in the camp of the Assyrians 185,000 men, so Sennacherib was turned back by the way he came.

The Bible as a Foundation

I have always found in my scientific studies that when I could get the Bible to say anything upon a subject it afforded me a firm platform to stand upon, and a round in the ladder by which I could safely ascend.—Lieutenant Maury.

God's Giants

All God's giants have been weak men, who did great things for God because they reckoned on His being with them.—Hudson Taylor.

Your Suit and Overcoat need the Wrinkles taken out

You know what a beauty shop can do for faces—how it can remove wrinkles from cheeks and grow's feet from eyes. But did you ever visit a "beauty shop for suits"—a modern dry cleaning and sanitary pressing establishment? Here, again, is a "fountain of youth"—this time for clothes. For example, take one of your own suits to the O. K. Steam Laundry—one you've worn often. If it's a light suit, the grime is plainly visible at collar and cuffs; perhaps there is a bit of grease on it from your car. If the suit is dark, the dirt may not show—but it's there. One cannot ride in automobiles and taxis, and not gather dirt.

But see what your dry cleaner, the O. K. Laundry, can do for this suit.

First, it is tumbled in warm, drying air; the moisture is removed, the dust shaken out, obstinate spots loosened. An expert "spotter" then goes over the garment by hand—stains and spots vanish before his skill. Next, the suit is soured gently, thoroughly, back and forth, in the purest of cleaning fluids. Soil embedded in the fabric is filtered out; grime and grease are dissolved away. After most of the moisture has been whirled out, the suit is carefully dried in a breeze of fresh, warm, sterile air, then with the warm air sifting thru it, it is fluffed softly. The nap comes to life, the cloth becomes fresh and smart again.

Nor is this dry cleaning "magic" limited to men's suits and overcoats, hats and gloves, women's coats, suits, dresses and blouses, children's clothes—almost every article of wearing apparel can be given this same renewing, refreshing treatment. And how much longer clothes wear when they receive it. Truly dry cleaning pays its own bills.

Of course, we make a specialty of dry cleaning draperies, rugs, etc. Don't overlook this

"ENGAGED BY WEDNESDAY"

Don't miss "Engaged by Wednesday," which is to be given at Chestnut Glade, Friday evening, December 16. This is a comedy that teaches more lessons in love than can be gained in a lifetime, and gives more laughs than a Harold Lloyd special. It's full of amusing situations that seem almost impossible, but nothing is impossible to the four rollicking young couples who plot so cunningly among themselves. You can't afford to miss seeing this play.

Christmas will soon be here, and we urge all who contemplate having their names engraved on Christmas cards, to place their order without further delay and avoid disappointment.

EARLY HOLIDAY SHOP-
PING IS IN FULL SWINGPatrons and Merchants Benefit
by Movement

Christmas shopping was in full swing in Fulton Saturday. A check-up of stores indicates that the early Christmas shopping movement, which is now sweeping the country, has hit this city with a bang.

This corresponds with reports received from the larger cities throughout the country. It indicates that the movement, launched by club women to place their holiday gift-buying on a common-sense basis and eliminate much of the eleventh hour hysteria, has gained a firm foothold.

Action of Fulton merchants, in meeting this new popular demand with an earlier display of their full Christmas merchandise stocks undoubtedly has accelerated a movement in this city. Those who visited the stores Saturday found complete stocks from which to make their selection. The selling was under the guidance of regular store employees who had plenty of time to give their customers adequate attention.

Merchants Prepared

"The great trouble with the shop early campaigns in previous years was the fact that the stores were not prepared to meet the public's early-season demand," one merchant explained. "The stores got in a habit of waiting until the big Christmas rush started. Surveys by our state and national retail associations last year proved to us that thousands of people liked the idea of making their gift purchases in November or early in December, providing they could make their selections from the complete holiday stocks. This year Fulton merchants changed their usual plans and made this merchandise available several days in advance. The result has been very gratifying to all concerned."

Those employed in the stores are particularly gratified by the new twist in the Christmas shopping season. Many of the older employees remember vividly Christmas shopping seasons of former years which were periods of horror to everyone connected with the store. Where the total volume of gift-buying was crowded into the few days immediately preceding the holiday, it meant long hours behind the counter, of dealing with harassed customers whose nerves likewise were frazzled. The old system was unsatisfactory to the store owners as it meant that many of their customers were dissatisfied with the treatment they received.

Fulton merchants, who this year are watching with satisfaction the demand on the part of the people for an early opportunity to make their Christmas selections, plan, next year, to open their Christmas stocks even earlier. One merchant, who some years ago spent considerable effort in an endeavor to induce his patrons to shop early in the Christmas season, and who then failed dismally in the attempt, said yesterday: "I have contented right along that no one could force the public into early Christmas shopping. I tried it for years and they kept on waiting until the last minute, filling my store to the suffocation point in the week just before Christmas. Now it seems, probably because the club women of the country have been studying the matter from the viewpoint of household economics, they themselves have arrived at the conclusion that early Christmas shopping is the smart and intelligent thing to do."

For a short time we will accept subscriptions for this paper and the Memphis Weekly Commercial Appeal—both papers one year for only $1.25.

FULTON COUNTY FARMERS
SEE HOPE OF A NEW STAR

That Fulton county farmers will start the new year off with bright hopes of an unprecedented progress is evident through the usual activity of Secretary Motley who is now working every day among the Fulton County farmers in the endeavor of organizing the Fulton County Improvement Association.

This effort has been made in our community several different times but failed to meet with success. This is because we did not have a Motley to go out and stay on the job until it was fully accomplished. It will be recalled that during the whole year when Secretary Motley starts a thing he puts forth his efforts in an uncompromising manner and never quits until the battle is fully won.

Insofar as Fulton community progress is concerned, we cannot think of anything that will be of more interest to our farmers than to have a real practical agricultural agent to work with our farmers. It is quite true that we have had county agents in previous years whose work was not entirely satisfactory, we are not able to say that it was on account of the agent himself wholly or in part, it may have been on account of insufficient cooperation upon the part of the farmers, and it may have been partly the agent's fault, but we are now able to see several features of improvement which will all likely change the situation entirely. People have learned a great deal of the importance of organization and cooperation in the last few years.

On account of the fact that we have a well organized Chamber of Commerce and a full time Secretary who is willing and does spend a great deal of his time with the rural problems of our community and now to couple his work with that of a real well trained agricultural agent, makes us feel that we have a right to expect an unusual progress in the agricultural progress of our community for another year.

The status of the Fulton County Farm Improvement Association is not confined to a few things as the ordinary mind may conceive but covers a multiplicity of vital problems that directly stimulate agriculture generally. It means more than the proper selection of farm seeds and the proper time to plant. It means better organized farmers, better prepared farm programs, better bred stock, bigger and better county fairs and more community pride in our young folks thru the various clubs which are organized from time to time. It means better boys and better girls who will soon grow into better men and better women to carry on the affairs of tomorrow.

FULTON BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

A large number of stockholders of the Fulton Building & Loan Association met at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Main street, Tuesday night, December 6, to elect directors and officers for the ensuing year.

President T. M. Franklin opened the meeting with an enthusiastic talk. After the reading and adoption of minutes of previous meeting, Secretary J. E. Fall read the financial statement, showing the phenomenal growth and the excellent condition of the Association.

Assets October 31, 1927—Real estate first mortgage loans, $159,775.00; Stock loans on stock certificates, $24,170; Furniture and fixtures, $150; F. C. R. R. bonds, $4,884.12; Liberty Bonds, $15,131.26; Missouri Pacific Bonds, $14,987.50; Seaboard Airline Bonds, $19,310.05; Union Pacific Bonds, $6,805.00; Canadian Pacific Bonds, $24,562.50; Southern Pacific Bonds, $5,012.50; Cash in Bank $10,835.95; Total $585,623.88.

Liabilities—Due stockholders dues and earnings credited, $566,752.15; undivided profits, $16,446.73; Reserve fund, $2,425.00; total $585,623.88.

Capital stock of Association, $1,500,000.00; stock in force to date, $1,426,800.00; Stock sold past six months, $50,000.00.

An interesting feature of

Tuesday night's meeting was the splendid talks.

In the election of directors, the stockholders displayed the utmost confidence in the conduct and management of the Association by unanimously re-electing all of the old officials to serve for the ensuing year, as follows:

Directors—Arch Huddleston, P. P. Pickering, J. D. Davis, I. H. Read, W. P. Murrell, J. E. Fall, A. M. Nugent, T. M. Franklin and Joe Browder.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

The directors called a meeting immediately and re-elected all of the old officers as follows:

T. M. Franklin, president.
I. H. Read, vice-president.
J. E. Fall, secretary.

Promoting thrift and assisting in building homes is the keynote of this gigantic institution.

A good home has many appeals. It gives you pride of ownership. It induces you to save money. It gives expression to your desire to design and build. It affords pleasant memories for the children. It brings comfort to your life. It creates an estate for old age or a "rainy day." It makes you a better citizen.

Any of these appeals is sufficient reason why you should become a home owner. To be assured of a home that you will enjoy, build it through the Fulton Building & Loan Association and stop handing out your good money for scraps of paper, better known as rent receipts.

Perhaps you own a house and a little remodeling would convert it into a real home, but you haven't the cash to remodel it with, just step into the office of Fulton Building & Loan Association on Main street, and J. E. Fall, secretary, or Smith Atkins, his valuable assistant, will explain matters in detail how easy they can assist you in making improvements or building a "love nest," a real home for your own, where direct results of environment breed contentment and happiness.

PUT IT THAT WAY

"How did you play today?" asked the wife of the world's worst golfer.

"I'm terrible; I lost 144," replied the husband sorrowfully.

"What does a good player like Bobby Jones do around in?" asked the wife.

"It's nothing for him to get a 72," was the reply.

"Well, you shouldn't feel so blue. He ought to be twice as good as you, hadn't he?" inquired the sweet creature.

Marvelous Nature

Squire (who is missing pleasant eggs)—Where have you been getting your eggs lately, Brown?

Brown—From my hens, sir.

Squire—But I hear you've been hatching out pheasants.

Brown—That's right, squire. Ain't nature wonderful—and puzzlin'?

Passing Show.

What Shall I Give For Christmas?

This very pertinent question is answered—exhaustively, thoroughly, comprehensively, suggestively. We mention gifts appropriate for every member of the family—father, mother, brother, sister, relatives, friends or sweethearts. And with the selection as varied and attractive as it is this year at this store, Christmas shopping and gift selecting is more of a pleasure than a drudgery. You come into this store and see so many beautiful things that are suitable gifts for the loved ones in mind that you are happily perplexed in not knowing which ones of the hundreds to buy. We offer you the result of months of buying and looking around for Christmas goods. While we are always desirous of selling just as low as we possibly can, yet quality is our foundation, and you can rest assured that any article bought for a present will give satisfaction and pleasure to the recipient every time he or she has occasion to use it.

We are mentioning a few of the appropriate articles suitable for Christmas and purposely omitting prices in order that you may forget all about the cost in anticipation of the pleasure of giving.

Proper Color Scheme Important to House

A large house on a small plot is best painted in unobtrusive colors, that is to say, colors that blend readily with immediate surroundings. Grayed blues or grayed greens show off such a house to good advantage. Neighboring houses should also be kept in mind in deciding upon a color scheme. The proper consideration of them may sometimes mean sacrificing a good color scheme already chosen, but it will pay in the end. It is far better to discard a certain harmonious combination than to have it killed by others which are not in keeping with it.

An example may be cited, wherein a house on the left has been treated a light salmon color, while a house on the right has been accorded a green treatment. A harmony of sequence could be very nicely established in this case by treating the house in the center with a colonial yellow.

After an examination of any exterior color problem it will be readily seen that a little thought given in the selection of proper colors will do much toward establishing a pleasing, harmonious and decorative result, that will be in keeping with both the house and its surroundings.

Benefit in Proper Planning of Village

City planning as practiced in metropolitan centers has its counterpart in the development of villages that serve as social and trade centers for farming communities. The automobile affords the farmer a wider range of choice in selecting his recreation and in selling his products and buying supplies. Some of the elements of good physical make-up of towns and villages, according to Wayne C. Nason, of the division of farm population and rural life of the Department of Agriculture, are convenient and pleasing exits and entrances, broad tree-lined streets, a common or village green as a civic center, park and playground space, sanitation, good architecture in private dwellings, as well as in public buildings, which should be conveniently located, and all set back from the streets and surrounded with ample lawns and clean and attractive borders. Villages that do not minister to the needs of the farming communities are likely to complain of the drift to the cities and of ruinous competition. Villages that are attractive, as well as serviceable, also profit from the ever-increasing army of summer tourists.

Oil Used Mechanically

Olive oil in ancient times had a medicinal use. The prophet Isaiah alludes to the use of oil as ointment in medical treatment. In his first chapter Isaiah describes the national corruption of Judah, and in verse six he states: "From the sole of the foot even unto the head there is no soundness in it; but wounds and bruises and putrifying sores; they have not been closed, neither bound up, neither mollified with ointment" — the ointment being oil. Its use as a medicine is also enjoined by St. James in his Epistle V. 14.

Olive oil in lamps was used for lighting purposes. How common was the practice is shown by the reference to lamps and oil in the parable of the virgins. The great lamps in the temple were fed with oil.

Possibilities in Brick

Of the many good qualities of common brick, one of special interest is its flexibility. Due to the small size of the units the possibilities are almost unlimited for the wide range of effects. Not only can a variety of shades be secured by differences in hands, joint and mortar color, but by selection, pattern work may be successfully accomplished. The use of "arch" or "lammy" brick assists in obtaining a ruggedness of surface, difficult of accomplishment with other materials. It may be obtained in varying degrees of irregularity, and has been successfully combined with the standard brick.

Open Fencing Best

High walls or the old-time, fortunately almost obsolete, board fence, shield so thoroughly that they have become a thing of the past.

Fencing with an openness of texture permits wide range of vision from without or within that is of great added protective value.

All the advantages to be derived from fencing are achieved easily by the installation of woven-wire fence with steel posts set in concrete. Built high enough, the woven-wire fence is undimable. Various types of this fence may be obtained which will harmonize with any style of architecture or landscaping.

Shingles Over Old Walls

By laying stained shingles right over old side walls in brown, gray, or colonial white, you not only improve the appearance and value of your property but you add insulation that means cooler summers and warmer winters.

TRAIN HITS CAR, 2 DEAD, 1 DYING

Tragedy Occurs at Railway Crossing in Murray Saturday Afternoon

Murray, Ky., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Silas Vaughn was instantly killed, her son, Casey Vaughn, fatally injured and her daughter Mrs. Fred McClure, thought to be dying as the result of the fast Memphis-Paducah passenger train hitting the car in which they were riding Saturday afternoon shortly after one o'clock. The three were coming into Murray in a Ford car and started across the track at the depot crossing just as the train came into the station.

The car in which they were riding was caught on the pilot of the train and carried about 400 feet with the occupants still in the car. Mrs. Vaughn, who was killed instantly, was about sixty years of age. Her body was mangled.

The son and daughter were carried to the Keys-Houston clinic where a desperate effort was made to save their lives. However, about three o'clock the son died. He was conscious for more than an hour after the accident, although his whole body was broken and crushed. The daughter, likewise, crushed, was seriously injured and is expected to die.
