FULTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1936

NUMBER THIRTY-EIGHT

LOCAL PHONE USERS OBJECT TO RAISE

With the announcement last week by the Kentucky Public Service Commission of increased telephone rates for Fulton, the city council of Fulton and South Fulton, and the Chamber of Commerce went on record voicing their dissatisfaction with the proposed raise in telephone rates, scheduled to become effective November 1.

In special session last Friday, the council and Chamber of Commerce indicated that they would fight an increase in rates, and sent word to that effect to the state commission and C. A. Sawyer, district manager of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co.

This week many telephone users have declared that they would have their phones removed if increased rates become effective. Others have stated that they can not do without phone service and will keep their phones.

Fulton was the only city in the state to receive an increase in telephone rates, while cuts were made in many other communities. The raise was granted, the commission said, because of recent installation of a battery system to replace a magneto hand crank system, stating that the new charges would be in line with other common battery systems.

Steve Wiley, city attorney, and Mayor Paul DeMyer declare that the increase is unwarranted, and indicate that the new rates will be fought by the council and various civic groups. The commission granted a 50-cent raise on one-party residence phones at $2.50, and 75 cents on one-party business phones, at $4.25.

District Manager Sawyer and F. H. Riddle, local manager of the telephone company, state that the increase is in line with other exchanges throughout the state, with the same rates prevailing in Fulton and Mayfield given as an example. The phone officials state that two-party service will be $2.00 a month for residence and $3.75 for business, and that four-party service is available for residence at $1.25 a month which is even cheaper.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY HELD AT CAYCE

The first big Democratic political rally of Fulton county was held Thursday night at the new high school, Cayce, located centrally in county, halfway between Fulton and Hickman. Political leaders composed of the county Democratic Chairman Bailey Huddleston, precinct committeemen members of the Young Democrat Club, and other staunch Democrats gathered there to banquet and lay plans for getting out the Democratic voting strength of this county.

Following the banquet which was served by the Cayce P. T. A., to approximately 120 people, the keynote speeches of the evening were made by Attorney H. T. Smith and Steve Wiley, city attorney of Fulton. Mr. Smith in resounding words, called upon the Democrats of Fulton county to be sure that they are properly registered before October 10th as required by Kentucky's new election law, so that they will be able to vote in November and the primary next year. Precinct committeemen were delegated to definite territories to make final check ups on voters who are yet unregistered, and must appear before the clerk before the deadline it was pointed out by the circuit clerk O. C. Henry that 5225 votes in the last sheriff's race, but only 2295 appeared at the polls in the last election, and that this indicated the approximate number not yet registered. It is the task of the committeemen to see that all Democrats are properly registered, and to appear to complete this work started today.

"In 1931-32 I sold corn as low as $1 a barrel, cattle at $1.75 to $3.75 a hundred, and other crops in proportion," Mr. Smith stated. "The farmer is obtaining a great deal more today, and the present administration came to his aid when he needed it most. This is a poor man's campaign — and Roosevelt has proven himself a friend of the common people. The Liberty League, the big interests spending millions of dollars to defeat our president, don't give a damn about the people of Cayce, Fulton, or the plain people who should be given equal rights and privileges. What we want now is a federal government is good law that treats all people alike, taxes equally distributed and an honest administration, which we didn't get for 12 long years during the Republican administration. Hooverism. The great common people must go to the polls and support their nation's savior, Franklin D. Roosevelt and continue recovery, or return to Hooverism and uncertainty."

City Attorney Steve Wiley said: "Many friends of the election will be a walk-away for Roosevelt, but it won't be as easy as all that. It is not a fight between Republicans and Democrats, but a battle between the big money interests who are pouring millions of dollars to defeat Roosevelt and the common people. Untold falsehoods, detestable enough within themselves but unfair advantages are being taken without presentation of one sound, reliable proposal to aid the country which has not already been done, are being used to paint colorful pictures against Roosevelt. To me our president is one of the greatest in the history of our country. He is a great humanitarian, seeking to bring the greatest good to the greatest number of people. This is the most important election of the 20th century which will decide whether dominant interests of the plain people shall control the country. A vote for Roosevelt is a vote for farmers, laborers, everyday plain working people like you and myself. Democrats and believers in fairness and justice to all alike sound rally to the cause and vote Democratic on November 3rd.

CITY COUNCIL HOLDS MONTHLY SESSION

Fulton city council held a rather busy session Monday night, with Mayor Paul DeMyer and all councilmen present. Several matters of importance were discussed, including the proposed raise of telephone rates by Southern Bell company, parking on Lake Street of the remainder of the old Meadows building, corner Church Street and State Line.

Dr. Roundtree, Fulton County Health Officer, Harry Barr, county sanitary supervisor, appeared before the council, presenting arguments favoring pasteurized milk for distribution in the city of Fulton by dairymen. The council agreed to hold a conference with dairymen looking toward provision of a high standard in the milk supply here.

Opening of the new Third Street extension connecting with Lake-st at Badridge's corner, was discussed at length, and work will start on the project soon. J. Ray Graham proposed to sell land to city for right-of-way for the new street near Harris Fork Creek, where a bridge will cross. No agreement was reached between Mr. Graham and the council, however, and this matter was left for further discussion.

Following a survey of business firms on Lake Street and automobile owners this week, the council thought it advisable to extend parking limit from 30 minutes to one hour on the north side next to the stores. It is believed that this will be more suitable for shoppers. No parking is to be permitted on Commercial-Ave. between Mears and Lake Street.

Mayor Lowe of South Fulton appeared before the Kentucky body and talked briefly on the proposal to raise telephone rates here. He said South Fulton is in sympathy with the protest against increased rates, and showed that users of the service on the Tennessee side were in accord with those on the Kentucky side.

The council passed a resolution condemning the remaining two rooms of the old Meadows block, which was gutted by fire a few years ago, and are requesting the state fire board to condemn this property.

During a special session Friday of Mayor Paul DeMyer, the council and the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce voiced a vigorous protest against the proposed increase in telephone rates here by the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. It was pointed out during the meeting that all the company's 138 exchanges in Kentucky, with the exception of Princeton, Danville and Mt. Sterling, where rates remain the same, are to receive reductions in monthly rates.

WHY WRECK IT ALL?

"We are out of the depression, why wreck the program at this time?" said Senator M. M. Logan, in his opening address at the great rally of Democrats in Covington. With his usual ability to go directly to the heart of his subject, Senator Logan has given us a pithy summation of the multitude of reasons that may be advanced for the reelection of Franklin D. Roosevelt and a Democratic Congress.

We are out of the depression. That fact may no longer be denied, with any measure of truth, in the fact of the daily gains of industry, increased bank clearings, augmented sales of all kinds of merchandise, better prices for farm products. Far from "lumbering with recovery," as the candidate of those who would have us return to the old dog-eat-dog era charged in his opening address, we have recovered.

It but remains for the American people to approve the brilliant record made by the President bulwarked by the support of such men as Senator in rescuing from the maelstrom of economic chaos a Nation that in the closing days of Hoover's inept and groping administration saw ruin approach and tasted bitter despair.

Surely no reasonable man would have us return to the bleak hopelessness of the early days of 1933; surely no one would cast away the tremendous gains made by this administration and return to those days when prosperity lurked behind ever-receding corners and news columns were black with lists of bank failures.

Then why London? Why an "unknown quantity?" It is unthinkable that Americans will be so swayed by partisan leanings as to permit the gains made in less than four years to go for naught and return to a theory of government which holds that "prosperity filters down from the top." To the old dog-eat-dog system of business ethics, which resulted after twelve years of smug complacency, in the worst depression this Nation has ever known.

Surely no one would wish to return to those days. It is difficult to believe that even those few, "whose business life President Roosevelt has saved," to quote Senator Logan, and who are "now most bitterly opposed to him by reason of his denial of their right to take all they can from the general public" are willing to risk the very real dangers which are inseparable from a return to that system under which a few fattened at the expense of the many.

SELF-RELIANCE ON THE FARM
American agriculture, like American industry, goes through bad times as well as good and must face plenty of serious problems—but the average farmer is far from the week sister that some of our professional "farm relievers" seem to think. Self-reliance still is his foremost characteristic.

Proof of that is found in the statistics showing the growth and development of agricultural selling co-operatives. These co-ops were in their infancy fifteen years ago—today they are "big business" and tomorrow they will be bigger business still. They grew rapidly during depression. They are owned by their members, who appoint executives precisely as do stockholders of a corporation. And these co-operatives, loyally and enthusiastically backed, are fighting the farmers' battles and getting results.

Fifty years from now, then, the history of agriculture in the twenties and thirties is written, it will probably be the cooperatives, not the farm relief laws, which will be given the main credit for farm achievements of the period.

WEALTH IN TREE PLANTING

Planting of the 2,000,000 tree seedling distributed to farmers for woodland shelter-belt purposes in 40 states, in 1935, makes the whole country richer, today and in the future.

This seedling distribution is carried out through the federal Forest Service by federal-state cooperation, and has nothing to do with plantings in state or privately owned timberlands.

They are trees furnished farmers at cost to plant in windbreaks along his farm yard, to reinforce his farm woodlot, or to anchor his soil against wind or water erosion. Then for 100 years or more, these trees will work for all of us, holding the soil firm, raising the water table, providing grateful shade, and at last falling to serve men as lumber or fuel.

Building continued at a brisk rate with remarkable gains being shown in a number of cities as compared with the like period of 1935.

Pittsburgh reported that large orders from automobile manufacturers were being booked with fourth quarter production to plate glass anticipated to be very active due to the same cause.

In New York City trade conditions were somewhat spotty but on balance were substantially better than a year ago. Retail volume was higher though still lacking briskness. Machinery and machine tool agencies in the same city reported excellent business. While much of this increase came from the automobile industry, there was a vast variety of miscellaneous replacement business being booked daily. New York also reported that foreign concerns, particularly British, are placing heavy orders for equipment. Railroad equipment concerns, it was revealed, are receiving a steady stream of parts business based on the need of full utilization of rolling stock.

The principal cities of the Pacific Coast gave favorable reports of local conditions. Carloadings in San Francisco, for example, last week jumped to the highest level since 1930, lifting the Pacific Coast business index to 95.4% of the 1930 average compared with 86.1% last year. Turnover on accounts receivable in San Francisco department stores was reported better than at any time during the last two years. Memphis reported that cotton was being harvested at a record rate under favorable conditions with grades high due to little rainfall since maturity. Reports from 121 Southern Pine mills for the week showed a 23% increase in orders over the corresponding period last year.

HICKMAN TO HAVE SCHOOL BAND SOON

With 27 students signed up and prospects for several more, a high school band for the Hickman school is assured. J. M. Calvin, superintendent of Hickman schools states, Russell Shriner, Chicago, graduate of Murray State Teacher's College, has been named director of the band. He will manage both the Hickman and the Fulton bands if there are enough students in the Fulton schools desiring to participate in a band.

Up until this week only about ten students had indicated that they wish to join the band, and about twenty-five are needed, according to J. O. Lewis, superintendent of the Fulton city schools. Parents of children attending school here, who wish to participate in a band for the school are urged to get in touch with Mr. Lewis at once. Mr. Shriner is a very able band master, and can be expected to build a good band with proper support from patrons of the school.

PLANS FOSTERED TO SURFACE FULTON-UNION CITY HIGHWAY

During a recent joint meeting between A. L. Burrus, Ohio county highway supervisor, with T. C. McEwen, division engineer of the Tennessee highway department, and Kentucky high officials, plans for surfacing the Hickman-Union City highway were discussed. The conference was held for the purpose of taking steps to get both states to place this road on their state road systems.

Briggs Smith, Tennessee commissioner, has given Mr. Burrus assurance that this state will place the Tennessee end of the road on the state system if Kentucky will do likewise. In event both states do this the road will then be subject to surfacing by the states.

Mr. Burrus expressed the opinion that the road will be surfaced by next spring.

The Republicans can talk all they want about a "new day" for Kentucky and the nation but they ought to leave Bob Lucas and John Robison at home when they say it.

POULTRY

THINGS TO DO DURING OCTOBER

1. Select your best hens and mark them for your breeding pens.
2. Select or order breeding cockerels. From the breeding standpoint, your males are half the flock. Don't select males on "looks" alone—check the breeding records behind them.
3. Feed a wet mash to the old hens and use all night lights to get the last few eggs. Increasing the protein in the mash by adding 5 percent more meat scrap is practiced by some poultrymen with their hens at this time of year.

4. Do not get discouraged because of high feed prices and "sell your self short" in numbers of layers. Grit your teeth and tighten your belt—the price of eggs this winter will bring back your smile.

5. Be sure that every pen of layers has a feeder containing oyster shells or limestone—and hard grit before them at all times.

6. Cull out all pullets that the diseased, poorly developed, or show no signs of attaining sexual maturity. Feed is high, and it is more important to eliminate invalids and boarders than usual. Such culling also may prevent much of your winter mortality.

7. If you want to market on the high market that prevails for a few days before Christmas, they should be started not later than the first week in October.

8. Begin using lights with the pullets. Increase the feeding day to 12 or 14 hours of light (including daylight) for well matured pullets and all night for late and poorly developed pullets.

9. Make a final check of the laying house windows, doors, roof, etc., and make all necessary repairs.

10. All of your pullets should be housed, and a check up should be made to see that they are not too crowded. Allow 3 to 4 square ft. of floor space, and 7 to 10 in. of perch per bird and one nest for each four birds.

11. Special attention must be given to the problem of supplying vitamin D to laying hens. Vitamin carriers in the feed and glass substitutes in the windows will take care of this problem.

12. If your pullets are molting, it is probably due to mismanagement. Check your methods of management and find out the cause in order that you can prevent this trouble next year.

AVOID OLD TURKEY RANGES

Many persons make a failure of turkey-raising because they try to raise them on old ranges. Chickens and adult turkeys carry organisms which cause disease, especially blackheads, and these germs live for considerable periods in soil and houses. Turkeys cannot be successfully raised where chickens or turkeys have ranged or their droppings placed for three previous years, poultry experts claim.—Pathfinder Magazine.

COMMUNITY FARM BUREAUS TO BE ORGANIZED IN DISTRICT

Organization of individual community farm bureaus is under way in Fulton county this week, following a banquet last Friday night of the Fulton County Farm Bureau at Hickman, at which the Rev. W. O. Parr, Paducah, organization director for the First District, was guest speaker.

Meetings were set and organization of community bureaus to co-operate with the county organization was begun in six communities: Palestine, Tuesday, Sept. 29; Crutchfield, Wednesday, Sept. 30; Sylvan, Thursday, Oct. 1; Graves, Monday, Oct. 5; Sasafra Ridge, Tuesday, Oct. 6. At the meetings officers were to be selected for the respective community units.

Fifty-two members of the county bureau attended the banquet at Hickman Friday night, representing various sections. From these, community organization committees were appointed. Cecil Burnette, president of the Fulton County Farm Bureau, introduced the District organizer.

BOB WHITE PRESIDENT OF YOUNG DEMO CLUB

Bob White, president of the Young Democrat Club of Fulton county, has been working jointly with the county democratic committee, in an effort to bring out the full voting strength of the Democratic party at the polls in November.

Several meetings have been held by Democratic leaders in the county and interest is picking up fast as the election day approaches. All voters who have not registered are urged to do so at once, in order that they may enjoy the privilege of voting their choice at the polls in November.

THOROUGHBREDS WIN FIRST FOOTBALL ENCOUNTER

Murray, Ky., Sept. 28.—In the first football game ever played between the two institutions, Murray drove to a 27-6 victory over Georgetown's Tigers on College Field here Friday night, September 25.

Coach Stewart's Blue and Gold warriors were slow in getting away from the post and trailed 6-0 at the end of the first quarter, but after that the Tigers ate the dust all the way down the stretch. The count was 14-6 at the midway for the Bluebirds.

The biggest crowd ever to attend a Murray opener here witnessed the SIAA victory of the Murray eleven over a team hoped to be heavier and more dangerous than any foe ever looked for the starter.

Captain Julian Henderson and Fightin' Bob Miller led the assault through gaps made by Murray's lunging forward wall. Miller scored three touchdowns for Murray and Finley one. Organ booted two extra points and Thompson one.

Murray gained 220 yards from scrimmage to 84 for the Georgetown Bengals, and the Stewartmen piled up 18 first downs to 7 for the visitors.

Employing straight power plays that clicked with machine-gun precision, Murray never took to the air once. Georgetown attempted 13 passes and completed 5 for 32 yards. Two were intercepted.

The Thoroughbred's next home game will be with Ouachita College from Arkadelphia, Ark., Saturday, October 10, the closing date for the First District Education Association meet here. The Racers meet Morehead next week-end for their second SIAA start of the season.

STEAMER CAPITAL AT HICKMAN, OCTOBER 15

The sternwheel Steamer Capital, which recently concluded a successful season at St. Paul will stop at Hickman on Thursday, Oct. 15 for an excursion before resuming its long cruise to New Orleans, where it operates in the winter. Gay excursion crowds turn out to greet the big all weather Streckfus pleasure craft at every port she visits on her way to Dixie, according to Captain Roy Streckfus, master of the popular steamer, who reports his current season one of the best the Capital has ever made.

The largest sternwheel passenger steamer on the Mississippi, the Capital has two glass-enclosed decks which make it comfortable in any kind of weather. Boasting one of the largest and finest ballrooms to be found on river excursion steamers, and furnishing music by one of the best known steamboat dance bands—Sidney's popular "Mississippi Hickenders"—the coming of the Capital always means a day out for river city dance devotees.

On its excursion here the Capital will leave Hickman 8:30 P.M. and return at 12:00 P.M. The excursion is sponsored by the Elks Lodge No. 1234 and ticket sales are in charge of Mr. Ben F. Briggs, Secretary.

HIGHWAY CONTRACT WILL BE LET OCTOBER 2

HICKMAN, Ky., Sept. 30.—The contract calling for surfacing of the Myersburg road from Catlett Street, Hickman, to the Tennessee state line, a distance of five miles, will be let Oct. 2, Judge C. L. Walker disclosed here today.

Work on the road is expected to begin before bad weather sets in, Judge Walker said. His announcement preceded disclosure that at least four other roads in Fulton County, both state and WPA projects, have been completed, while several others are now being rushed.

Roads in two districts, out of the four here in which state rural highway improvement is under way, have been completed, with work nearly ready to begin on the third, comprising the section around Hickman.

Gravel is now being spread on Henry Addition WPA road in South Hickman. Troy road has been completed to the Tennessee line, and three other WPA roads are under construction in the lower bottom west of Hickman.

Obion Bottom road to Crutchfield, Fulton County, is nearing completion. Beauty Switch road has been completed, while Union Church road is expected to be finished within the next few weeks.

LIME IS AVAILABLE FOR FARMERS

Lime is available for farmers, who are interested in earning their soil building payments by using lime, can do so by spreading lime before Nov. 1st. It is possible to get lime delivered to Cayce for $1.03, Crutchfield and Fulton for $1.95 per ton. The Farm Bureau members can get a 10% reduction on the cost of the lime which would enable them to get at the above mentioned places for a saving of $5.70 on a 60 ton car. This is more than the membership for a year.

The prospect is that this is less than what the cost of lime will be next year.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Five lime pulverizers operating in Barren county are preparing lime for farmers at the rate of 200 tons daily.

Approximately 250 homemakers and friends attended the Union county annual meeting.

H. T. Derickson of Powell county filled a 60-ton silo from a 2-acre corn field.

Approximately one-half of the sheep in Madison county were drenched last month.

Many McCreary county farmers have seeded alfalfa, using both lime and phosphate applications.

Forty-three carloads of limestone have been used in Marshall county this year.

Russell county farmers have about a 10 percent increase in poultry laying flocks this year.

The number of acres seeded to lespedeza and other grasses has doubled in the past year in Knott county, reports County Agent J. W. Michael.

A good stand of root-rot resistant tobacco was obtained by Clay county farmers.

Many Logan county farmers attended beef cattle meetings held last month.

In Johnson county freight rates have been so lowered that limestone can be delivered to Paintsville for $1 a ton.

Ten ridge-roof ventilators have been built on tobacco barns in Fleming county.

TIME TO DESTROY APPLE TREE PEST

This is a good time to destroy round-headed apple tree borers, a pest which has done much damage in recent years particularly to young apple trees. Prof. W. A. Price of the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky suggests that the soil to a depth of about 2 inches be removed from about trees and the bark examined for burrows. When the worms are found they can be cut out with a sharp pointed knife or probed with a piece of flexible copper wire. The burrows

ADVISES SEEDING GRASSES IN FALL

Grasses, with the exception of orchard grass, for new meadows and pastures do better in Kentucky when sown in the fall, points out Dr. E. N. Fergus of the State College of Agriculture. Orchard grass sown in the fall roots under winter-kills. Seedlings of other grasses do better in cool weather than in hot weather, especially if moisture is deficient. They also stand winter temperatures better than those of midsummer. Dr. Fergus believes farmers would do well to give more attention to fall seeding for meadows and pastures.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30.—The Works Progress Administration in Kentucky has prior to September 1, released to the channels of industry a total of $3,593,868. This amount has been expended for supplies, materials and equipment. Expenditures continue at about the same rate.

All of these supplies and materials, George H. Godman, administrator pointed out, go into construction of a highly permanent nature. All are bought as near to a given project as is possible, thereby giving a spread of buying power felt throughout the State. Of the total amount expended to date the Federal Government's part has been $1,975,504 while that of sponsors has been $1,518,364.

It is interesting to know that $529,221, has been expended for lumber and mill supplies, more than has been spent for any other class of materials. Cement ranks next with purchases amounting to $475,552. Crushed stone, used on farm to market roads and for other purposes, accounts for $254,226, while $273,543 has been used for sand and gravel. Brick, hollow tile and other clay products have cost $211,476. Other supplies used in the vast construction program follow: Stone and glass products, $62,732; structural and reinforcing steel, $112,328; other iron and steel products, $85,505; paving materials and mixtures $130,220; petroleum products, $133,850; chemicals and explosives, $78,518.

A Member of the Family

IT WAS A DOUBLY welcome telegram that permitted one tense-nerved passenger to relax as he faced the remaining journey to his old home town. It gave him the news he had not dared to hope for: "Your mother is much better. Don't worry."

The message was signed, oddly enough, by a stranger. That stranger, who constituted himself for the moment a member of the traveler's family, was an Illinois Central representative. He telegraphed promptly when an inquiry concerning arrival time revealed that the threatened pneumonia had begun to respond to treatment.

In thanks the passenger wrote: "I will always be a great booster for your road."
