THE LISTENING POST

● The next time you register at some hotel and are escorted to a handsome room which becomes and remains your as long as you pay for it; a room where you can have the utmost privacy and be served by trained men and women as though you might be some king or emperor as long as you remain, it might be a good idea to reflect that it has only been a little more than one hundred years since a person could rent an entire room at a hotel. Before that time hotel rooms were more or less communal affairs, and it was customary to place four guests in a room, all sleeping together in one tremendously large bed.

● The development of hotels, and the early history of these hostilities, has always been an interesting study for me, and I read with interest all literature on hotels which I happen to run across. Whether any books have ever been written on the subject I do not know, but if one is in print or is ever printed, I will read it if I can manage to find in some library or borrow it from a friend. At a pinch, if it appeared interesting, I might buy a copy, although this would be the last resort. I never like to buy books, for I have always been accustomed to getting free reading matter.

● But back to the yarn I started to tell. It appears that the Tremont Hotel in Boston, opened in 1829, was the first American hotel which ever offered an entire room to any guest. Prior to that time it had been customary for at least four persons to occupy a room, all sleeping in one mammoth bed. It must be remembered that this was quite early in the life of the American republic, and probably there was not a great deal of traveling. Such traveling as was done was by steamboat, stage coach, canal boat and on horseback. Most of the hotels were merely scattered inns built along the routes of travel and used by those travelers who had to remain overnight. I do not suppose there was any great amount of traveling done for pleasure, nor was there any great army of traveling salesmen. Along the stage coach routes and the waterways, small inns were built, and here the travelers would stop for a night to break the hardships of traveling. For traveling in those days really meant hardships. There could have been no luxury about it.

● Naturally those small inns did not care to build any larger houses than necessary, and so they built a few big rooms and packed their guests in as closely as possible. I have no idea what the charge might have been, but chances are that a man could stop overnight at these inns for a modest sum. Indeed, I can remember when the hotels in this section were called "dollar houses," and later "two dollar houses." This meant that a man could stop overnight and get three meals for one dollar or two dollars. I remember with what bated breath I used to hear of a certain person taking a trip and staying several days at a "two-dollar house."

● It must have been a shocking thing when the Tremont House in Boston decided to rent an entire room to one guest. Such a thing had never been tried before, and I imagine that there were many wisecracks at the beginning of such an innovation. For this was many, many years before people ever dreamed of our present huge hotels which will shelter one or two thousand persons, and which can take in from five to ten dollars per day for a single room. Modern hotels today provide more luxuries and more comforts than any king has ever had. They charge for it, but even at the apparently high cost I have never been able to see how they can pay for all the expense of one of these huge, sky reaching buildings which house our travelers today.

Britain Wants More Material From America

Suggests Dovetailing Defense Programs To Insure Victory

London.—Great Britain must dovetail her own military effort with the American defense program to win the war, Parliament was told today.

The government spokesman, Arthur Greenwood, pictured American factories—guided by war-trained technical experts from Britain—in the role of supplementary producers of war material for British fighting forces.

His comment raised the question of immensely increased shipments of arms from a country girding for her own defense.

"The need to supplement our own production by drawing upon the vast and invulnerable capacity of North America has immensely increased since the fall of France," Greenwood said. "While but a few months ago we were placing orders with American industry to supplement the deficiencies in the combined Allied production, we now need to embark on a much more extensive program which must be related to the American defense preparations."

Dovetailed Orders
The declaration of the minister without portfolio was taken to mean that British orders for war material—now under negotiation for tremendous increases—would be dovetailed with the United States' own orders to American plants.

Standardization of some supplies to permit mass production and buying by both governments already has been proposed.

In fields of combat with Germany at sea and in the air, the British reported:

Sinking of the 9,337-ton British freighter Accra, torpedoed in convoy off the west coast of Ireland, with 9 persons missing. Some 450 survivors were picked up and the submarine attacker was believed sunk.

Sinking of the 4,360-ton Greek ship Pindos off Ireland Sunday night. Three of the 32-man crew were killed.

Sinking by mine of the mine-sweeping trawler River Clyde. Sporadic air attacks on Scotland and Southwestern England.

Nazis Expect To Clear Jews From Europe, Paper Asserts

Berlin.—A German peace will mean a Jew-less peace, Das Schwarze Korps, mouthpiece of Adolf Hitler's Elite SS Guard, proclaimed Wednesday.

Once the war is won, some area remote from Europe will be set apart for Jewish colonization, the paper said, and then the Continent will be cleared entirely of Jews.

Bombers Raid British Airports
Hitler's air force and raiding warships, meanwhile battered against the only obstacles to a German peace—the island fortresses of England and British sea power.

The Nazi High Command announced a German raider had sunk 30,000 tons of British merchant shipping "overseas" and that German bombers had raided airports near Tynemouth and St. Athan, the Vickers-Armstrong airplane factories in Chester and munitions plants in Swansea.

Night-raiding British planes dropped bombs in Holland and Western Germany but failed, the High Command said, to inflict any "damage worth mentioning." As Europe waited for the long-heralded grand assault on Britain, Hitler signed decrees bringing portions of the Continent closer to annexation by the Reich.

Engine Derailed Near Station This Morning

Illinois Central Engine 2975 in charge of messenger engineer C. E. Siler, enroute from Paducah to Jackson, was derailed this morning about 3:45 near the passenger station. The engine was backing up through the crossroads South of the station, mounted the guard rail and was derailed.

It was necessary to call out the derrick to re-rail it. Considerable damage was done to the tracks by the derailment. Trainmaster H. K. Buck and Supervisor W. H. Purcell were in charge of re-railing the engine and crews worked all morning getting the job done.

Interest Increases For Kenn-Tenn Show

With interest growing each day by leaps and bounds, the Young Men's Business Club has employed Miss Elizabeth Williamson as office secretary, beginning Saturday August 10. Miss Williamson will be at the YMBC Headquarters of the Ken Tenn Exposition, which is in the Puckett's D-X Service Station Building, on the corner of Carr and Lake streets.

The catalogs are now ready for those interested in entering livestock or poultry and one can be obtained by calling at YMBC headquarters. This is a nice 50 page catalog showing the premiums given on livestock and poultry of the Ken Tenn Exposition and also the premiums and awards given on the 4-H Club Fat Hog and Cattle Show as well as the awards on 4-H girls club work.

Miss Williamson will be in the office to answer your questions, assist you in filling out entry blanks and explain any set up of the Exposition. She will also take entries for the bicycle races for white girls and boys and a boy negro race. Old Car Derby, Mule Race, local horse races, Model Airplane Show and the many other events that are on the daily programs.

Get your entries in as early as possible and prepare to be a winner in whatever you enter. A full list of the events as well as the daily program will be at the office.

J. H. Jonakin Dies

House Approves Use Of Ships For Refugees

Washington.—With only a few scattered "Noes," the House passed Neutrality Act amendments Wednesday which would permit American ships to enter belligerent waters to bring back refugee children from war-torn nations.

The legislation, which now goes to the Senate, would authorize the transportation, by unarmed and unconvoyed American ships, of youngsters under 16, provided the vessels are proceeding under safe conduct assurances from belligerent nations.

U. S. Flags Required

The ships would be required to carry painted American flags on their sides and superstructure, along with statements that they are refugee-children rescue ships of the United States, "so that night or day there can be no mistake as to the identity of such vessels."

Although sponsors argued that the bill contained all necessary safeguards, the House at the last minute wrote in two amendments which drew the fire of Foreign Affairs Committeemen.

Responsibility Fixed

One, by Representative Schafer (R., Wis.), would require that any adult who accompanied the children must be an American citizen. The other, by Representative Taber (R., N. Y.), would require families which accepted the refugees to take the same responsibility for them as they would for their own children.

Taber argued that unless such precautions were taken, the United States might be required eventually to build institutions to house the youngsters who might be released by their benefactors after the "first few months of excitement."

Church Of Christ Revival Continues

The meeting at the Church of Christ continues with growing interest as people from Mayfield, Water Valley, Cuba Mt. Pleasant, Pilot Oak, McConnell, Martin, Dresden, Union City, and other places are attending the services. The singing is excellent, conducted by J. B. Cox, with many taking part in the congregational singing.

Wednesday night Evangelist Flavil L. Colley's subject was "The Gospel Paul Preached," in which the preaching and writing of the Apostle Paul were used to show how one becomes a Child of God. The text was from Romans 8:17 and the form of doctrine that the people in Rome obeyed from the heart was given as an example for people today.

The lesson tonight will be "Except a man hate father, mother, wife, he cannot be my disciple." Services 3 and 8 p. m. All are invited to attend.

Will Replay Game

President K. P. Dalton of the local baseball association was notified today by President Ben Howard of the Kitty League that the protested Paducah game, played here some time ago and won by Paducah, must be played over, beginning at the point where the protest came up, and with the same players in their respective places. The protest occurred early in the game, with no runs having been scored and Manager Poole protested when he was called out by an umpire after time had been called. President Howard upheld the protest at first, then, on protest from Manager Fanning of Paducah, allowed the matter to be settled by the club president. They supported Manager Poole.

The game will be played over on August 13th.

TAXPAYER SPENDS $10 ON CONSCIENCE BALM

Frankfort, Ky.—Some citizen who apparently felt he hadn't paid all he owed, sent State Treasurer Ernest E. Shannon two $5 bills today. An unsigned typewritten note mailed yesterday from Louisville with the money said:

"Please put this money in your income tax fund. It is for taxes due. Please use same."

Ward J. Oates of the revenue department, to which Shannon turned over the money, said it would be credited as requested.

Wanderings To Save 100 Planes Told

Ottawa, Ont.—Canadian fliers, returned from the French West Indies island of Martinique, today said they had wandered the seas for sixteen days aboard the French aircraft carrier Bearn attempting to find a port not occupied by Germans so they could land their cargo of 100 American planes.

The planes were left at Martinique.

French Approve Departure
Squadron Leader Adelard Raymond, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, said French authorities raised no objections to their departure when a British cruiser arrived at Martinique to take them off. At one time British warships were reported patrolling waters near Martinique to prevent departure of the Bearn.

Sailed for Brest
Raymond said the Bearn sailed from an East Coast Canadian port for Brest. When word was received of the evacuation of Dunkerque, the carrier was rerouted to Bordeaux, then to Casablanca, Morocco, as Bordeaux fell the day before she was due to arrive. Yet later, the Bearn was ordered to Martinique.

Throughout the voyage, the Bearn was accompanied by a large French cruiser, which, along with other vessels of the French fleet, is now at Martinique, Raymond said.

Raymond and his detachment of Canadian planes to instruct French aviators in their operation.

Misstatements Laid To Reeves By Meredith

Frankfort, Ky.—"Contradictions" and "misstatements of fact" were charged to Revenue Commissioner H. Clyde Reeves by Attorney General Hubert Meredith today as Meredith reiterated his claim the State had lost "more than $40,000" in settlement of a tax suit.

Answering Reeves' proposal that Meredith make bond to guarantee the State would collect at least as much if the case were reopened, Meredith declared he would resign if Reeves could show and constitutional or statutory requirement that the Attorney General do that before taking steps to recover money and "prevent the Commonwealth from suffering material financial loss through fraud and collusion."

Mine Student Apprenticeship Plan Discussed

Frankfort, Ky.—Coal operators, labor leaders and State officials today met to work out what Industrial Relations Commissioner W. C. Burrow termed and apprenticeship program for students at the Mayor State Vocational School, Paintsville.

Burrow said it was hoped to formulate a plan for the students, who receive training in mine mechanics, carpentry and other trades, to work part time in coal mines and part time in the school.

Under contracts the operators' associations hold with the United Mine Workers of America, Burrow said, there is no provision for apprenticeship training.

Hundreds Of Millions In New War Orders Britain's Offer

Washington.—American manufacturers today were offered "hundreds of millions of dollars" worth of new British orders for tanks, artillery and other weapons heretofore not bought in this country.

The important expansion of British purchasing was announced almost simultaneously in London by Arthur Greenwood, Laborite minister, and in Washington to Arthur B. Purvis, chief British purchasing agent.

Purvis laid the proposals before Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, official coordinator of British and American war material purchases.

Afterward Purvis told reporters that he and other British officials were shaping a long-range program to purchase many weapons British formerly bought from only its own

Voluntary System Is Voted Down

Conscription Fight May Follow Bill's Passage Today

Washington.—Leaders of the Senate anti-conscription bloc found themselves on the losing side today when they supported a plan to muster the National Guard upon a voluntary rather than a compulsory basis.

The Senate, by a vote of 47 to 36, rejected the plan, which had been offered as an amendment to a pending bill empowering the President to call out the militia and the Army reserve forces for twelve months' active service anywhere in the Western Hemisphere.

The chamber pushed the latter legislation to a point very near final passage, which leaders expect tomorrow. Then the Senate is scheduled to take up the conscription bill itself, subjecting all men between 21 and 30, inclusive, to selective compulsory military training.

The issues involved in this bill were tangled again today in the discussion of the National Guard bill, and the intensity of the controversy led again to a bitter exchange of personalities between Senators Holt (D-W. Va.), and Minton (D-Ind.). Meanwhile, the Senate military committee, which approved the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill 13 to 13 several days ago, issued a report on the measure urging its enactment "for the adequate protection of the cherished heritages of a nation." It would "be criminal," the document said, "to give the nation a false sense of security by the mere possession of defensive armaments and a corresponding lack of trained men."

Senator Danaher (R-Conn.), who has not yet declared his position on the Burke-Wadsworth bill, brought up the issue of putting the mustering of the National Guard upon a voluntary basis. He proposed an amendment under which all men affected would be given the option of resigning within 30 days after the bill becomes effective.

76 AMERICANS LEAVE DENMARK ON WAY TO U. S.

Copenhagen.—Seventy-six Americans, including nineteen children and eleven married couples, left Denmark for the United States today by way of Finland's Arctic port of Petsamo.

Eight more are scheduled to leave tomorrow, after which no Americans will remain in Denmark except those whose duties keep them here and those who, for personal reasons, are determined to stay.

They will be joined in Petsamo by other Americans being repatriated from the Scandinavian and Baltic States, and will sail with them August 13 on the U. S. Army transport American Legion.

Hundreds Of Millions In New War Orders Britain's Offer

He hinted that this might be a precaution against the crippling of British plants by Nazi air raiders.

While he declined to give exact figures, Purvis' statement that the new orders would amount to "hundreds of millions of dollars" indicated that they might raise the British total in this country since the war began past $1,000,000,000.

He said that tanks and field artillery were important items in the new program. That, he said, explained the presence with him of Brigadier General D. H. Fox and Michael Dwyer, British tank experts. Also present was Admiral R. E. Evans, British naval commander, to advise on technical matters of naval supply.

Northern French Cities Are Battle-Scarred Ghost Towns

Luxembourg. — More than a crete bunkers facing each other month after the end of fighting, the once populous communities of Northern France still are ghost towns in a battle-scarred, almost deserted countryside.

In the backwash of blitzkrieg are left unharvested crops. A handful of scattered farm families toiling silently, long after dark, to salvage what they can. City pavements plowed by Stuka bombs. The strong smell of ashes from the ruins of shelled towns.

Such were the scenes I saw with a party of foreign correspondents taken by German guides on an airplane and automobile tour of Northern France and Flanders.

We entered France from Karlsruhe where the French frontier bulges farthest east. The signs of war became noticeable everywhere as we passed the two rows of con-across the Rhine. Strasbourg, Alsatian capital which once had 200,000 population, was not severely damaged but housed barely 20,000 persons.

It was evident that families are streaming back to the city now reincorporated into the Reich but elsewhere the repopulation of Alsace and Lorraine is at a snail's pace.

The Belgian population seemed to be returning more rapidly, and Brussels has become a hive of activity.

That is probably due in part to the presence of numerous officers and soldiers at the large hotels, buying freely, living well.

In Northern France, however, we went mile after mile without seeing a man, woman or child. Occasionally we passed a soldier on guard.

The sharpest contrast was at Givet, little town on a tongue of France reaching sharply into Belgium. Of 80,000 normal population, barely 300 have returned. Yet, immediately across the frontier, Belgian towns seemed well on the way back to normal.

It was plain that the French in some places fought bitterly as they were shoved back yard by yard, town by town. Hastily built machine-gun nests could be seen in old barns and at crossroads houses. Roads were blasted with craters from heavy bombs.

In other spots where the retreat was quickened, whole fields stretched untouched by signs of war and emergency trenches dug at the outskirts of towns show almost no use.

First Work Of Franklin Believed Found

Boston. — A Boston lighthouse keeper's son has unearthed a document which is believed to be a copy of Benjamin Franklin's first literary work, a ballad entitled "The Lighthouse Tragedy," lost for 175 years.

Maurice Babcock, Jr., son of the keeper of Boston Light, said he found the tattered, yellowed, single sheet—in Old English characters—in the pocket of a rotting leather packet in the ruins of an old house on Middle Brewster Island, in the harbor.

The ballad was mentioned in Franklin's Autobiography, but Franklin students never have been able to find a copy. In the story of his life, Franklin relates that he wrote it as a boy of 14. It was inspired by news of the drowning of George Worthylake, first keeper of Boston Light, his wife and their daughter, Ruth.

SUIT SEEKS PASTOR HALL FILM DAMAGES

New York. — Counsel for the late Ernest Toller, writer, filed an action in Federal Court Tuesday asking for an accounting of profits and damages in connection with the anti-Nazi motion picture, "Pastor Hall", released by James Roosevelt through United Artists.

Named defendants with President Roosevelt's son were the Charter Film Productions. Let, the producer; Grand National Pictures, Ltd., British branch of the American company; United Artists and the H. E. R. Laboratories, Inc.

Mrs. Roosevelt introduces Film Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt made a short introduction for the film, which is James Roosevelt's first motion picture presentation since he left the White House secretariat to enter the movie industry.

The suit was filed by George Garfield, as administrator of Toller's estate. It alleges Toller wrote a "dramatic composition" known as "Pastor Hall" in April, 1939, and copyrighted it.

The action further alleges that the Charter Film Productions infringed the story late in 1939 and early in 1940 by making a film entitled "Pastor Hall," using much of Toller's material.

LILLIAN COOKE COMPLIMENTS VISITORS AND BRIDE-ELECT AT BRIDGE LUNCHEON

Complimenting her two house-guests, Misses Archille Pratt of Murfreesboro and Miss Mary Page of Russellville, and Miss Sarah Helen Williams, bride-elect, Miss Lillian Cooke was hostess to a lovely bridge luncheon yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at her home on Second street.

Six tables of players enjoyed games of progressive contract during the morning, at the conclusion of which Miss Pratt held high score and received cognac as a prize. Mrs. Clyde Williams, with second high was given hose and Miss Rosemary Chenlae was given bath powder for low score. The honorees each received a lovely gift.

He declared that Britain's "Moat" (The English Channel and North Sea) is "now immeasurably defended and her ramparts are far higher and broader" than they were when the Battle of France ended.

"There has been much talk about war aims," said Alexander, a leader of the Labor Party. "Here is one which brooks no denial or delay."

State Lays

To Defense

Frankfort, Ky., —The Revenue Department said Wednesday the National defense program played a part in raising July revenues 48.5 per cent over the Department estimate.

State Controller Frank D. Peterson reported Tuesday that general fund receipts in July totaled $2,686,495—or $244,237 more than the Revenue Department anticipated.

Usage Tax Receipts Soars

For instance, Ward J. Oates acting revenue commissioner, said the automobile usage tax increase ($80,000 more than the estimated $70,000 was received) was due to a desire on the automobile buyers' part to "beat the deadline" of the increased Federal defense taxes and to "rumors" that in the National emergency a moratorium might be declared on automobile manufacturing.

Most of the taxes were collected in June and turned over to the State in July.

In the alcohol taxes group (up 39 per cent) large stocks of liquor were purchased in June before the "fair trade" law and increased defense taxes on liquor went into effect, Oates said.

U. S. Chemist

Shows Up In Bucharest

Bucharest, —Albrecht Douglas, 43, German-American chemist from New York, who disappeared July 18, turned up at the American legation today with his Chilean wife, the former German Baroness Maltzahn.

He denied he had been arrested by the Rumanian secret police as the legation had been told by the Rumanian High Command, and said he had been "in hiding" with friends outside of the city because his residence papers were not in order.

United States Consul William Scotten said, "We are not satisfied with his story and are investigating further."

The legation said Douglas' passport would be validated for return to the United States only.

Why everyone likes to go to the Bartons'

FIRST of all, people like to go because the Barton home is such a bright, cheerful place. It's the kind you enjoy being in. You can tell at a glance that the Bartons are proud of it and happy in it, and that they do their best to keep it looking fine and friendly.

P. S. One big reason the Barton home is so attractive is that it's just about the best-lighted house in town. Every fixture and lamp has the right-size bulbs. There's plenty of light for card games. Guests don't have to fumble in dark, unlighted closets for their hats and coats. There's a porch light to welcome you and start you safely home.

But the biggest reason is the Bartons themselves, especially Mrs. Barton. You'd never guess she has a grown daughter and two boys in high school; she's young-looking, full of fun. With a home and family to take care of she still finds time to make herself one of the best-informed, most entertaining persons in town. And is her husband proud of her!

P. S. Mrs. Barton gets a lot of work done quickly and easily with devices like her electric ironer, washing machine and vacuum cleaner. The radio brings her information and entertainment all day long. She says it's easy with all those things, to stay young and active and well-informed.

... and Mrs. Barton's right! Electric service improves life in millions of American homes. Best of all, electric service is one of the cheapest things you buy! Rates are so low that what they were twelve or fifteen years ago. You can now use about twice as much electric service as you did then for the same money. You could use about four times as much for only twice the cost.

The efforts of your electric utility employees make electric service more useful, more reliable and more economical than ever, bringing you comfort, pleasure and good living. Today it is possible for you to be as happy and popular as the Bartons.

Barons Blast Harry Sprute For 18 Hits In 13 To 3 Victory

The Bowling Green Barons blasted Harry Sprute, Tiger left hander, for eighteen hits and a 13 to 3 victory in Bowling Green last night. This was the first of a three game series, the Tigers being due to return here Saturday night for a game with Union City.

There was not much to the ball game last night, as the Barons jumped Sprute for enough runs in the first inning to win the game. Four runs scampered across in the first inning, seven more were picked up in the fourth, and two more added in the fifth. The Tigers did not score until the seventh, when two runs were secured, and the final tally came in the ninth. Sprute walked only four men and fanned six.

Lindsay did the throwing for the Barons and did a neat job. He gave eight hits and fanned seven. Quackenbush had a triple.

OFFICE HOURS

ARE CHANGED

County RR Supervisor, A. M. Harris, with the Farm Secretary Administration announced that office hours will be changed from Thursday morning to Tuesday afternoon. Any one interested in making application for Tenant Purchase or standard loans or want to sell a farm will contact the representative of the Farm Security Administration at 1:30 p. m. at the County Agent's Office in the Post Office Building in Hickman. Farmers who live closer to Clinton may visit the office in the Clinton Bank Building at Clinton, Ky., any time except Saturday afternoon. Four out of every five farm families on the Farm Security Administration rural rehabilitation program in Kentucky are paying off their loans as payments mature. Earl Mayhew, Kentucky State Director of FSA at Lexington, announced this week that out of 17,067 farm families now on the rural rehabilitation program, only $3,543 or about 21 per cent, were delinquent on June 30.

FSA makes loans to low income farm families, tenants as well as small owners, for the purchase of tools, workstock, livestock, fertilizer, seed, and improvements, to farm homes and farm buildings. Each loan is made on the basis of an operating plan for the farm and home, which the borrower follows with direction and guidance of the FSA supervisor. Dual purpose of this farm and home plan is its subsistence for the family and conservation of the soil.

Mr. Mayhew said Kentucky now has 1824 "graduates" of the FSA program. That many borrowers have paid up their loans in full and presumably are making their own way, supporting themselves without help, since they have not applied for additional loans. A total of $5,426,619 has been advanced to low income farm families in Kentucky and $1,858,415 has been repaid. Since the loans are made for five years and most of the money is not yet due, the repayment record is considered good. Mr. Mayhew said. Some families have paid up ahead of time. The total amount repaid is about 78 per cent of maturities. Mr. Mayhew said FSA eventually expects to collect from 80 to 85 per cent of the loans.

CUDAHY LIKELY TO BE REPRIMANDED FOR FOOD TALK

Washington — John P. Cudahy, big-game-hunter ambassador to Belgium, faced a possible reprimand from the State Department tonight for an unauthorized interview in London in which he discussed food conditions and the conduct of German soldiers in Belgium.

Summer Welles, acting secretary of state, announced that he had cabled for a complete text of Cudahy's remarks, which provoked sharp criticism in the British press. Cudahy, who stopped in London to visit Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy before coming home, gave the interview yesterday. Welles said, without notifying the State Department or receiving permission from it. Welles declined to comment on Cudahy's remarks until he had seen an official text.

ARSENALS ARE ORDERED TO RUN THREE SHIFTS AND BOOST PRODUCTION

Washington.—Secretary Stimson ordered six army arsenals today to go on a three-shift basis August 10 in order to increase production of munitions at least 65 per cent.

The war department chief said the arrangement was authorized temporarily in order to obtain maximum production of needed war supplies from the six establishments.

The order was issued after conferences with Sidney Hillman, labor members of the National Defense Commission, Stimson said, and it was approved by President Roosevelt.

Officials said the step would make possible the employment in the arsenals of more than 8,000 additional skilled mechanics and of possibly double that number of semi-skilled and unskilled personnel.

While the program is in effect laborers and mechanics will be paid time and a half for time worked over forty hours per week. The result will be three shifts of 8 hours per day six days per week.

AMERICAN FRIENDSHIPS MAY HELP COWARD'S TRIP

tracts among certain sections of American opinion" ordinarily difficult for Britons to reach were cited today by Harold Nicholson, Parliamentary Secretary of the Ministry of Information, in defense of the playwright's current visit to the United States. Nicholson said Coward was invited to call on President Roosevelt, a friend of long standing.
