First Meeting Of New Year

City Council Holds Busy Session—Old Business Finished—New Business Taken Up

Appointments Feature Session—Officers Elected

• Bailey Huddleston, Chief of Police.
• Heber Finch, City Attorney.
• Lee Roberts, Chief of Fire Department.
• Geo. T. Huddle, City Treasurer.
• Bertie Pirue, Water Works Treasurer.
• Thos. H. Chapman, City Clerk and Tax Collector.
• Fulton Advertiser, City Printer.
• Dr. D. J. Jones, City Physician.

Committee Appointments

• Finance—W. P. Murrell, chairman; L. S. Phillips, Joe Bennett.
• Streets and Sidewalks—Paul DeMyer, chairman; Ed Hannephinn, L. S. Phillips.
• Cemetery—L. S. Phillips, chairman; Ed Hannephinn, Joe Bennett.
• Street Lights—Joe Bennett, chairman; Paul DeMyer, W. P. Murrell.
• Sanitary Sewers—Ed Hannephinn, chairman; Paul DeMyer, Smith Atkins.
• Water Works—W. P. Murrell, chairman; L. S. Phillips, Joe Bennett.

After making his committee appointments, Mayor W. O. Shankle briefly addressed the council and citizens.

"I have been so busy during the past year and the city is about in as good condition financially as when we started," said the Mayor. He also expressed his confidence that strict economy should be maintained during 1928. He was not impressed on burdening the people with an auto tax.

In starting the new year, the Chief Executive and his Cabinet can review the past with pride and satisfaction. Various improvements were made, featuring a complete sewer system; all the downtown business streets hard surfaced with reinforced concrete and a good start made in the residential section; hundreds of feet of new water mains laid; a substantial and beautiful concrete bridge constructed across Harris Fork creek; the city fire department equipment brought up to the highest standard of perfection; new white way system installed. Truly it can be said it was a year of construction work for the city—the greatest in its entire history.

The Council adjourned wishing for each and every one a happy and prosperous new year.

GLIDEWELL-MCCUAN

Miss Opal McCuan and Mr. Dewey R. Glidewell were quietly married Christmas Day at 4 o'clock at the McLemore Avenue Christian church parsonage, the ring ceremony being said by the Rev. W. M. Baker. The bride wore an ensemble costume of beige georgette and gold lace with a hat and accessories to match and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Owing to the recent death of the bride's father, only a few relatives and friends witnessed the service. Mr. and Mrs. Glidewell will be at home at 323 East McLemore avenue on their return from a short trip.

The above will be of interest to many friends of the bride in Fulton. Mr. and Mrs. McCuan formerly lived here, and their family grew up among the Fulton people, but have been in Memphis for several years.

"PROSPERITY" AT
O. K. LAUNDRY

Best Equipped Plant in This Section of Country

For many years the O. K. Steam Laundry, of which J. J. Owen is proprietor, has attempted to develop a system which would combine happily the fine points of speed and care. In order to achieve that goal, Mr. Owen has expended regularly large sums of money for new equipment which has made the laundry one of the best in this section of country.

Through the acquisition of labor-saving machinery, the establishment has been able to offer unexcelled service on family washings and dry cleaning. On a visit to the laundry Tuesday, to pay our respects to the genial proprietor and his co-workers with new year greetings, our attention was attracted to a complete set of "Prosperity" pressing machines being installed, the latest models manufactured by the Prosperity Company, of Syracuse, N. Y. With this addition, the O. K. Laundry is now equipped with eleven pressing machines, assuring satisfactory service to their patrons in every branch of the industry.

The new model Prosperity shirt pressers installed are driven by air, relieving the operator of the burdensome task of operating the machine by foot. The finished work is more even and unexcelled.

Every form of laundry and dry cleaning service is offered by the O. K. Laundry which has served Fulton and vicinity for more than a quarter of a century.

The O. K. Laundry is depended upon also by a large majority of Fulton homes for cleaning rugs, lace, curtains and blankets. Fulton folk experience no apprehensions in placing their most delicately-handled garments in the hands of Mr. Owen for they know they will be handled intelligently and returned in splendid condition.

WELL KNOWN CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

After an illness of several months' duration, Guy Floyd Irbey, well known and highly esteemed Fulton citizen, passed away at his home on Carr street Thursday afternoon, December 29.

Mr. Irbey was a native Tennesseean, born at Whiteville, December 12, 1876. In 1895 he came to Fulton and engaged in the drug business with his brother, Mr. T. H. Irbey. In 1906 he was united in marriage to Miss Maude Elizabeth Earle, of Bardwell, Ky.

After selling his interest in the drug business, he engaged in several businesses in and near Fulton. He was a man of pleasing personality and with his genial disposition, made many warm friends who deeply regret his passing and sincerely sympathize with the bereaved.

He is survived by his widow, his mother, a nephew whom he reared, Lee Elden Earle, one sister, Mrs. Ola Seddons, of Whiteville, Tenn., and a brother, T. H. Irbey, of Fulton.

Funeral services were held at the home Friday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. C. H. Warren, pastor of the First Baptist church. Interment followed at Fairview cemetery.

The beautiful floral offerings fully attested the love and esteem in which the deceased was held by his associates and loved ones.

The Hop Off

Snow-White Motor Company In New Home

Celebrating the beginning of the New Year in the automobile business, the Snow-White Motor Company, authorized Ford dealers, this week moved into their handsome new building on Fourth street, adjoining their old location.

Built at a cost in excess of $30,000, containing a department to furnish service for every part of the automobile and covering more than 18,000 feet of floor space, the new home of the Snow-White Motor Company is the largest structure of its kind in the city and one of the most magnificent in the state.

Tandy Smith, Jr., of Paducah, was the architect, and L. H. Howard, of Fulton, supervised construction, while W. M. Hill & Sons did the brick, stone and concrete work. The handsome lighting fixtures were installed by the Kentucky Utilities Company; wiring by Louis Roberts; painting by Boaz & Boaz.

No Expense Spared
Expense has not been spared in the construction and equipping of the structure. Modern furnishings have been provided everywhere and the building is a credit to the city and its builders.

There is a special department for each phase of the business. The interior is unusually well lighted and ventilated, while neatness is an outstanding feature. The completeness of the equipment is shown by the fact that even shower baths and modern conveniences for the employees have been provided.

The Snow-White Motor Company is owned by the Snow-White Motor Company, with J. Ramsey Snow and Robert White at the head.

All modern comforts and conveniences of intrinsic value have been provided. The large show and display room enclosed in practically one thousand feet of glass. The large general office, parts department, ladies' rest rooms, with all modern conveniences, are provided with a driveway at the main entrance leading to the quick service room, machine shop, wash racks, and returning to the street on the south side outlet.

famous remark, "Go west, young man, go west!"

Hank Monk was the most famous of all who drove the stagecoach back and forth across the continent. Six horses were used, and mail and passengers were carried.

The stagecoach is now the property of Hosen Steelman, of Newhall, Calif. The seat where Alene Ray sits is right where Greeley sat some seventy-five years ago, and the top, from which Walter Miller fights off an Indian attack, is the same as used on several other genuine cases by the renowned old Indian fighter, Hank Monk.

Truly this is Fulton's beauty spot and we tip our hat to Mr. R. H. Wade for the improvement.

W. M. Hill Will Take a Month's Vacation

W. M. Hill, well known brick manufacturer and contractor will leave Sunday for the southwest where he will visit relatives and points of general interest. His first stop will be at Holdenville, Okla., to visit his sister-in-law and nephew, thence to San Antonio where he will visit the Alamo, old Missions and other historical places, thence he will go to Del Rio, where his brother John Hill, whom he has not seen in 26 years will greet him with a warm reception. Then John and Will will go to El Paso, where they will talk over the past when they were associated together in business in Fulton. Then we can almost hear W. M. say, "John you wouldn't know the old town now, she has grown into the city."

Concrete effects, beautiful white wax system, hundreds of lovely modern homes. Well, John, let's go to bed, it's late, I will finish to-morrow."

Horace Greeley once rode in this coach. A vehicle with a record in the stagecoach used by director Spencer Bennett in Pathe serial, "Hawk of the Hills," starring Alene Ray and Walter Miller, and showing every Saturday at the Orpheum Theatre, beginning January 7.

It is the identical coach used during the middle of the last century by the Butterfield line running between St. Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento, Calif. It is the very same outfit which carried Horace Greeley between the east and the west, after which he made his still Lower End Lake Street. Outstanding in its achievements, marked by its simplicity of operation, unexcelled for its durability and general features, and conspicuous for its beauty, the new Chevrolet, bigger and better, has arrived in Fulton, and is on exhibition at the salesrooms of the City Garage, Lake Street.

Each model is finished in a color adapted to that particular body type. The richness of the finish gives these models a custom-built appearance. All of the models are finished in DuPont Duco, which will last indefinitely.

Chevrolet, assisted by the tremendous testing and research facilities of the General Motors proving ground and research laboratories, has produced another outstanding automobile achievement in the bigger and better Chevrolet. The new models offer striking new beauty never before associated with a car priced so low.

The beautiful new radiator, the longer hood, and the beautiful Fisher bodies, with gracefully rounded roof construction, offer an amazing new beauty of line and color. The lines are continuous and pleasing, and each model offers rich, substantial beauty, in good taste throughout.

The new beauty found in Chevrolet models is enhanced by a newly designed radiator, that follows the lines of the newest and highest priced cars. It is high and narrow with a non-rusting airplane metal shell.

New roomier Fisher bodies, with wider doors, make easier to get in and out of the car. Beautiful upholstery material blends with the handsome durable Duco finish. The sedan body is three inches longer and the coach 5 inches longer.

All bodies have greatly increased leg room and offer the maximum in restful riding comfort. Equipped with large, rugged, dependable four-wheel brakes the driver is enabled to stop the car almost as quickly as the thought flashes through his mind. The front wheel brakes are the internal expanding type and the rear wheel brakes the external contracting type. The total braking area of the service brakes is 189 square inches. In addition a complete, separate brake mechanism furnishes seventy square inches of braking area on the rear wheels as an emergency brake, making a total of 259 square inches.

A new steering gear has been provided in the new models in which two ball thrust bearings are used, one above and one below the worm gear on the steering shaft. A ball thrust bearing is also used in each steering knuckle on the front axle. This combination results in an ease of steering which makes it possible to drive the car hour after hour with no apparent effort.

The gear is of the semi-reversible type which gives the greatest safety and driving comfort. Seven models are offered at low prices. They are the roadster, touring car, coupe, coach, sedan, sport cabriolet and imperial landau. Each model is finished in handsome, striking colors.

Popular Banker Is Now With A. Huddleston & Company

H. H. Murphy, one of the most popular young bankers of Fulton, has resigned his position at The Farmers Bank and is now associated with the well known hardware firm of A. Huddleston & Co. Mr. Murphy is a general favorite in business circles and while the Farmers Bank regretted to give him up, he will continue as a valuable asset to Fulton's business life.

Glenn Lane, of Clinton, succeeds Mr. Murphy as assistant cashier at the Farmers Bank. We welcome Mr. Lane's return to Fulton.

New Machine and Repair Shop.

M. I. Boulton, the genial proprietor of the Fulton Marble Works, has leased the Chisholm building on Fourth street, recently vacated by the Snow-White Motor Company and will open up a general repair and machine shop. Also dealing in automobile accessories, tires, etc.

Hickman News

Hickman, Ky., Jan. 3.—O. C. Henry, nominated circuit court clerk in the August primary, which is the equivalent of election in this county, as there is no Republican ticket, took charge of that office Monday. Mr. Henry succeeds W. L. Hampton, who has been circuit court clerk for the past three terms and who was not a candidate in August. Mr. Henry is one of the best known men of Fulton county. He served as county court clerk two terms.

Hickman's most youthful suicide ever known was buried today six miles beyond Martin, Tenn. Not quite 15 years old, Miss May Bowers, only daughter of Mrs. Linnie Bowers, drank carbolic acid yesterday in an outhouse in their backyard and was found dying by her mother.

The mother has no idea why the girl committed suicide and the coroner has been unable to discover any cause. It has not been learned as yet where she procured the poison as she had scratched off and destroyed the labels on the bottles to hide their source.

NOTICE FROM CITY TREASURER

WHEREAS, the Board of Council of the city of Fulton, Kentucky, has by ordinance adopted on December 21, 1927, and published in the issue of The Fulton Advertiser of said city of date, December 30, 1927, assessed and levied local taxes against the property abutting on certain streets and parts of streets in said city, improved under an ordinance of said city adopted May 13, 1927, entitled "An ordinance providing for the improvement, construction and reconstruction of certain streets and parts of streets, including curbing and guttering, in the city of Fulton, Kentucky."

THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that all persons upon whose property said local taxes have been assessed and levied shall pay same in cash without interest, within thirty days from December 30, 1927, or, at their option, they may pay same in ten annual installments as follows: One-tenth of the tax, with interest on the entire tax, at the time fixed by law for the payment of general city taxes occurring next after the expiration of the thirty days allowed for payment in cash, and annually thereafter one-tenth of the entire tax, until the whole is paid; at the end of each six months from the time the first installment of the tax becomes due, interest shall be due and payable for such six months on all unpaid installments of the tax, provided that any person may, at any interest-paying period after the fifth annual installment of his tax becomes due, pay the entire assessment of tax against his property with accrued interest.

However, any property owner who desires to exercise such privilege of payment by installments shall before the expiration of the said thirty days allowed for payment in cash enter into an agreement in writing with said city, and filed with the City Treasurer, that in consideration of such privilege he will make no objection to any illegality or irregularity with regard to the taxes against his property, and that he will pay the same in the manner herein set forth with specified interest. Forms for such agreement may be obtained from the City Treasurer or City Clerk of said city.

In all cases where such agreements have not been filed with the City Treasurer within the time limit of thirty days allowed for payment in cash, the entire tax shall be payable in cash without interest before the expiration of said thirty days; and such tax not paid within said thirty days shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from December 30, 1927.

This December 20, 1927.
GEO. T. BEADLES,
City treasurer.

Lesson for January 8

JESUS AND THE SICK

LESSON TEXT: Mark 1:21-45.
GOLDEN TEXT: He hath done all things well. He maketh both the deaf to hear and the dumb to speak.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Makes Sick People Well.
JUNIOR TOPIC—John Welcomes and Baptizes Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Shows His Sympathy and Power.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus' Power to Make Whole.

The purpose of Mark in this section is to show Jesus Christ the Divine Servant bearing God's message and clothed with the power to save lost souls. Coupled with His superhuman strength is revealed His unswerving sympathy, giving itself out in helpful and saving service.

I. Jesus Teaching With Authority (vv. 21, 22).

1. The place (v. 21).

It was in the synagogue in Capernaum where He with four disciples received "sanctuary" upon His entrance into the village. He availed Himself of the regular channel of instruction. Though many abuses had crept into the synagogue service, He chose to associate the new with the old order.

2. The time (v. 21).

His faithfulness in observing the Sabbath brought Him to the place where the people assembled to worship and to hear the Scriptures expounded. He came not to destroy but to fulfill the law, even the law of the Sabbath.

3. The impression (v. 22).

The people were astonished. Two things about His teaching impressed the hearers.

The substance of His message. The scribes, the professional teachers of the law merely quoted the authorities, but Jesus with first-hand knowledge set forth the truth with the enthusiasm of freshness and personal conviction. This distinction was quickly detected by those who heard Him.

II. Jesus Conquering Demons (vv. 23-28).

1. The entry of the demon-possessed man (v. 23).

Perhaps he interrupted Jesus while He was teaching. When the power of God is manifested there is bound to be an entry of the evil spirits.

2. The demon's confession (v. 24).

"Thou art the Holy One of God." The one whose chief business it was to waste and destroy human life was in such miserable state as to desire to have nothing to do with Christ, and was now forced to confess Him as the Holy One.

3. Christ's attitude toward him (v. 25).

He asked and accepted no testimony from him, but sternly rebuked and cast out the foul spirit. He not only is Himself pure but is able to deliver others from impurity. Christ wants confession only from pure lips.

4. The obedience of the demon (v. 26).

The spirit was reluctant to leave the man and malicious to the end, for he tore the man whom he had to leave. He had to acknowledge his defeat and went out in a howling rage.

5. The impression made upon the people (vv. 27, 28).

The news of Christ's power spread rapidly over Galilee. The people were startled by two things:

(1) The new doctrine which He brought.

(2) His authority over demons.

III. Jesus Heals Peter's Mother-in-Law of Fever (vv. 29-31).

This scene lies in the home of one of the disciples. He went home with Simon and Andrew who told Him of the condition of Peter's mother-in-law. He came at once and lifted her up and the fever departed. She immediately ministered to Him.

IV. Jesus Ministering to Many (vv. 32-34).

Though the day was strenuous in its labors, He came unwearied even when the sun had set, to meet the needs of the multitudes who had gathered from all parts of the city. He healed many of their diseases, cast out demons, not allowing them to speak. The demons knew Him, but the poor, blind people knew Him not.

V. Jesus Cleansing a Leper (vv. 35-45).

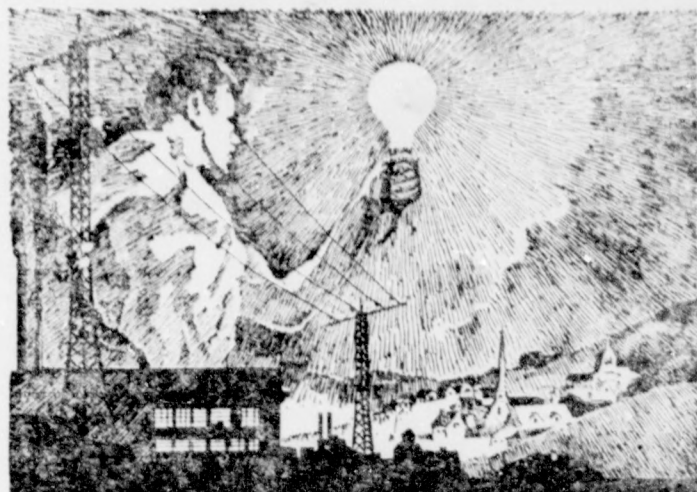

As Jesus preached in the synagogues of Galilee and cast out demons, His power became known. A leper came to Him saying, "If Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean." Jesus put forth His hand and touched him, saying, "I will, be thou clean," and immediately the leprosy departed and he was cleansed.

Beauty of Bible Thoughts

I am of the opinion that the Bible contains more true sensibility, more exquisite beauty, more pure morality, more important history, and finer strains of poetry and eloquence than can be collected from all other books, in whatever age or language they may be written.—Sir William Jones.

Absence of occupation is not rest; a mind quite vacant is a mind distressed.—Cowper.

Reliable Electric Service Aids Kentucky's Progress

Spanning mountains, valleys, forests, farmlands, rivers, creeks and swamps—from end to end of the state—the electric power transmission lines of this company cover 1,600 miles.

These power lines carry electrical energy from several large generating stations to 183 cities, towns and villages, lighting streets, homes, stores and offices.

This energy also turns the wheels in more than 2,000 factories, mills, mines and other industrial plants, and operates labor-saving machinery and appliances on hundreds of farms.

Wherever it goes, this flow of electricity increases wealth, encourages industry, speeds progress, provides comforts, reduces drudgery and hardship.

The single aim of the company is to supply excellent service at a fair price. It is enabled to do so by steadily improving operating efficiency and constantly investing more capital in expansion and equipment.

The Watch Night

By FRANK L. STANTON
in Atlanta Constitution

A HAPPY time 'twas round about
With peace and joy to win,
We watched the Old Year go out,
The New Year come in.

A glad experience meetin'
A halleluia throng,
Amazing grace was in the place,
The shingles shook with song!

We saw the Old Year go,
And gave it heart and hand,
And told the old, sweet story
Of home and Promised Land.

The troubles and the trials—
That tried us through the year,
Twice good to tell 'em over,
And shout the victory there!

To meet, and know each other
There with the lifted head,
To feel that friend and brother
Traveled the self-same road.

We told it in the singin'
And in the joyful ward,
And as the song went ringin'
I know the angels heard.

Oh, there the New Year found us—
We heard his glad bells toll,
But the light that shone around us
Was the light of soul to soul!

There was Land of Promise:
We heard the New Year say:
"It isn't far to heaven
To hear that know the way!"

TO PLAN NATIONAL PARK CAMPAIGN

GOV. FLEM D. SAMPSON

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 5.—A conference of a few prominent persons of Kentucky has been called by Governor Flem D. Sampson in behalf of the National Park for Kentucky project. It is to be held in the Capitol building in Frankfort, on Wednesday, January 11 at 2 p. m. The Governor is sending forth letters to a group of representative Kentuckians asking them to consult with him in person at the time specified; to give careful consideration to the subject, and further plan the operation of the National Park campaign. This gathering is expected to bring together one of the most interested representations from the viewpoint of Kentucky's welfare, that has ever been assembled in the state. Because the activity will be of tremendous benefit to every portion of Kentucky, those who attend will see all every section. East, North, West and South. It will see all Kentucky united for one great progressive movement. The governor is asking men of many walks of life, and of every view point, to give him support and assistance in the effort.

Governor Sampson is very much interested in the National Park project, believing it offers a program that will be most helpful to the state. The forthcoming conference is to place the significant facts before a few representative citizens, so that they too will see the need of definite and active participation. The state's chief executive calls attention to the efforts being put forth by the Mammoth Cave National Park Association, the agency officially designated to sponsor the movement and raise funds for its consummation.

By this action the governor is taking his first step in the great constructive program for the state which he outlined in his inaugural address, and to which he has since been giving much thought. He feels that the establishment of a National Park is of vital importance to Kentucky, will benefit the entire state, and have the hearty support of every man and woman in Kentucky.

Louisville and other cities are laying plans to follow the governor's meeting with intensified drives to raise the money needed. Mayor William B. Harrison, of Louisville has called a meeting of leading citizens of that city. He intends to place the matter before them and ask their assistance in developing Louisville's share in the campaign.

Jim Mason of Graves County, Died in Field from Stroke of Apoplexy

Jim Mason, 75, one of the best known residents of the Dublin section of Graves county, residing near the Hickman county line, was found dead alongside a path leading thru his farm, Saturday morning. He was last seen alive about 10 o'clock Friday and was apparently in the best of health at that time. When he was found missing from his home Saturday morning, a search was started.

The aged bachelor had been afflicted with a kidney affection for a number of years. Coroner O. M. Merritt was summoned. His findings were to the effect that the aged man came to his death from a stroke of apoplexy, the jury so deciding. He was out in the rains of the night, and was frozen stiff when the searchers discovered his body.

Co-operate to Make

Mail Boxes Attractive

"Things usually noted not to be," missed Edward N. Hines of the board of county road commissioners, in pointing to a letter he had received from postmaster Charles L. Kellogg. In it the postmaster complimented the board on the attractive arrangement of mail boxes along the paved roads of Wayne county.

"We were the pioneers in the movement to get rid of unsightly bill boards, dilapidated shacks and unattractive mail boxes on public highways," Mr. Hines said. "Wayne county is one of the outstanding counties in the whole country for its good roads, and our board will not suffer that the beauty of the countryside be marred by such unsightly things. As soon as a road is completed, we approach the property owners along it to co-operate with us in grouping the mail boxes attractively and to do all in their power to enhance the beauty of the territory through which the road is passing."

Postmaster Kellogg's letter was in pursuance of a county-wide campaign recently inaugurated by the United States Post Office department at Washington by which postmasters and carriers were requested to "make earnest effort, without incurring expense to the department, to secure the co-operation of patrons of rural routes with a view to effecting the grouping of boxes wherever possible. . . . The improvement which may thus be made will result in the equipment being a credit to the service and to the communities as well,"—Detroit News.

Beginning to Realize

True Value of Parks

People have come to realize the value of parks. They are no longer considered merely a pleasurable adjunct to a community, but the public has awakened to the realization that parks have a vital influence on personal and civic growth. They are shock absorbers that help to keep us normal and happy. They are good for our souls, our minds, and our bodies. We find that we need these stretches of natural beauty to counteract the confining life of a city which narrows our horizon to stifled bits of green and occasional patches of sky. This is proved by the fact that not only is there a growing tendency to spend more leisure time in these outdoor places, but that homes are built overlooking parks. In an effort to make their beauty a permanent part of everyday life, parks are as necessary as our public libraries, our art institute, or our symphony orchestra. They are one of our most valuable civic institutions.—Exchange.

Fosters Nature Study

The move made by Rev. Joseph Murgas, pastor of a Slovak congregation in North Wilkesbarre, Pa., to bring the children of the parish, and all others who care to avail themselves of the opportunity into closer touch with nature, is worthy of special commendation. The pastor, says Nature Magazine, has secured a tract of 20 acres where bird and plant life are to be propagated and encouraged, and all phases of nature fostered for their educational inspirational value.

Benefit in Consolidation

Throughout the country there seems to be a tendency to consolidate small towns and communities into cities. Better streets, fire and police protection, water supply, sewage disposal, park facilities and zoning law administration are only a few of the advantages that follow such moves. Furthermore, consolidation makes for harmonious thought and action in areas the needs of which are similar. —Chicago Post.

Utilize All Ground

Real estate is sold by the foot, and should be utilized by the foot. On the small lot there is especial need to conserve space. In any case, use what is needed to accommodate proper planning. Trees and shrubs not only increase in intrinsic value as they grow, but every year of growth adds to the charm, and therefore to the salability of the property.

Beauty Brings Joy

The power of beauty to transform the lives of men has been demonstrated in the mining town of Carlinville, Ill., where an annual garden contest has raised the standards of living of the families of the miners.—Exchange.

Factories and Newcomers

Some of us are always urging more factories. Which is the right thing to do. But it doesn't occur to some of us that being neighborly and friendly toward newcomers also helps a town.—Arlinson Globe.

Build Solidly

One builds a home for all time. It is not wise to erect a house to endure but a few years. Home-builders who use proper foresight do not "build upon the sands."

Looking Forward

The beginning of a new year finds the railroads of the country functioning smoothly and efficiently, providing the American people with the speediest, the most reliable and, considering the relative value of the dollar, the cheapest railway service they have ever known. That condition has an important bearing upon the forward look with which it is customary and appropriate to start the new year.

At this period of inventory-taking and plan-forming, when sober second thought comes natural to all, no one needs to be reminded how largely modern civilization depends upon the railroads. Few could live through the coming year in any degree of comfort without them. All who benefit from production, manufacturing and distribution—whether as owners or as employees, as producers, or as consumers—are beneficiaries of railway service. When that service is good and cheap—as it now is—their benefits are greatest.

It is therefore important to everyone that the railroads are able to provide the kind of service with which we are entering 1928. But will they always be able to maintain it at this standard?

In order to keep on providing indefinitely the kind of service which we now enjoy, the railroads must have the assurance of an adequate and stabilized earning power. Their receipts must consistently be large enough to pay running expenses and taxes, with enough left over to assure improvement and expansion through the investment of earnings and through the payment of interest and dividends that will attract new capital.

Both the gross and the net earnings of the railroads as a whole in 1927 were less than in 1926. This condition was due to three principal reasons—a decrease in traffic, a further decline in the level of rates and the award of wage increases to large groups of employees. It is unfortunate that these developments had to be simultaneous. Their combined result should arrest attention and engage serious thought. A weakening of railway earning power, whether or not it is immediately reflected in the character of the service, ultimately affects every business in every part of the country and all our people, however occupied.

The continued patronage and good will of those whom it serves are always an inspiration to the Illinois Central organization, but never more so than in the face of temporarily adverse conditions. In a spirit of gratitude for these and all its other blessings, this railroad starts the new year with a resolve to render during 1928 a service with which every patron may be satisfied and of which every employee may be proud.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. DOWNS,
President, Illinois Central System.

NOTICE FROM CITY TREASURER

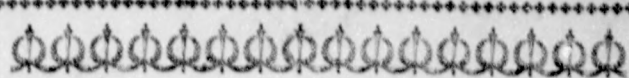

WHEREAS, the Board of Council of the City of Fulton, Kentucky, has by ordinance adopted on December 21, 1927, and published in the issue of the Fulton Advertiser of date, December 30, 1927, assessed and levied local taxes against the property abutting on Carr street in said city, improved under an ordinance of said city adopted September 19, 1927, entitled, "An ordinance providing for the improvement, construction and reconstruction of Carr Street, including curbing and guttering, in the City of Fulton, Kentucky;"

THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that all persons upon whose property said local taxes have been assessed and levied shall pay same in cash without interest within thirty days from December 30, 1927, or at their option, that may pay same in ten annual installments as follows: One-tenth of the tax, with interest on the entire tax, at the time fixed by law for the payment of general city taxes occurring next after the expiration of the thirty days allowed for payment in cash, and annually thereafter one-tenth of the entire tax, until the whole is paid; at the end of each six months from the time the first installment of the tax becomes due, interest shall be due and payable for such six months on all unpaid installments of the tax; provided that any person may, at any interest-paying period, after the fifth annual installment of his tax becomes due, pay the entire assessment of tax against his property with accrued interest.

However, any property owner who desires to exercise such privilege of payment by installments shall before the expiration of the said thirty days allowed for payment in cash enter into an agreement in writing with said city, and filed with the City Treasurer, that in consideration of such privilege he will make no objection to any irregularity or irregularity with regard to the taxes against his property, and that he will pay the same in the manner herein set forth with specified interest. Forms for such agreement may be obtained from the City Treasurer or City Clerk of said city.

In all cases where such agreements have not been filed with the City Treasurer within the time limit of thirty days allowed for payment in cash, the entire tax shall be payable in cash without interest before the expiration of said thirty days; and such tax not paid within said thirty days shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from December 30, 1927.

This December 30, 1927.
GEO. T. BEADLES,
City treasurer.

The DAIRY

GET RID OF ALL BOARDER COWS

Get rid of the boarder cows and make the good ones produce more milk is the advice of Prof. H. A. Hays at the State College of Agriculture to New York state dairymen.

The milk situation is largely in the hands of Empire state producers, he says, and if they take a few steps to insure plenty of milk during the next few weeks, the usual shortage period, they can do much to meet the demands of the New York market.

To increase milk production, dairymen should feed their cows more especially more protein; they should dispose of boarders and give their feed to the good cows; stable the cows when the weather is cold or rainy; be sure the cows get plenty of water, and take good care of cows that will freshen soon.

Cows that are on short pasture should have green fodder. Good second growth in meadows may be pastured if the cows are managed carefully. They should have a feeding of dry hay before they are turned into the meadow, and the grass, of course, should be dry, for they may bleed if they eat wet green grass.

To increase the protein cows get, they may be fed a mixture of 200 pounds corn or hominy, 100 barley, 500 wheat bran, 200 cottonseed meal, 100 linseed oil meal, and 100 pounds gluten feed. Dairymen who have peas, oats and barley may mix 1200 pounds of the ground mixture with 400 cottonseed meal, 200 gluten feed, and 200 oil meal.

Cows that will freshen soon should be in good condition; grain fed to them is well invested, Professor Hays says.

Nothing helps more nor is a better investment than a good supply of drinking water for cows. Milk is mostly water, but cows can't make milk without it. Buckets in the barn quickly pay for themselves.

Progress Being Made in Dairy Industry Is Good

Not so many years ago the milk production of the average cow was around 3,000 pounds a year. Now it is over 4,000 pounds a year and it will go higher. Last year 12,200 cows owned by 700 Illinois dairymen averaged 7,500 pounds of milk. The average feed cost of these cows was $7.75 and the average value of the product $37.65. These cows were "trained and operated" by men who were interested in their business, for they were members of dairy herd improvement associations. How would it do for some of our orators to go and tell them that we know enough about production, and that prosperity lies in something else?—Ohio Farmer.

Feed Green Soy Beans to Improve Milk Flavor

Experiments just reported by the United States Department of Agriculture show that feeding green soy beans to dairy cows just before milking them tends to improve the flavor of the milk. The soy beans were fed in quantities up to 50 pounds per cow. The soy beans were first fed when the plants began to form pods and were continued until the beans had reached full size, but were not hard. While soy beans improve the milk flavor, rape fed green just before milking had the opposite effect, imparting an objectionable flavor to the milk.

Dairy Facts

Always feed grain according to the amount of milk produced.

When calves are fed grain in stanchions, each gets its share.

Alfalfa has a high feeding value in that it is palatable and nutritious.

Three-leaf clover is as lucky as four-leaf, if the dairymen have enough of it.

Dairymen should feed all the legume hay and silage that a cow will eat up clean.

A good dairy cow probably consumes more water than any other domestic animal. The more feed consumed, the more water the cow requires.

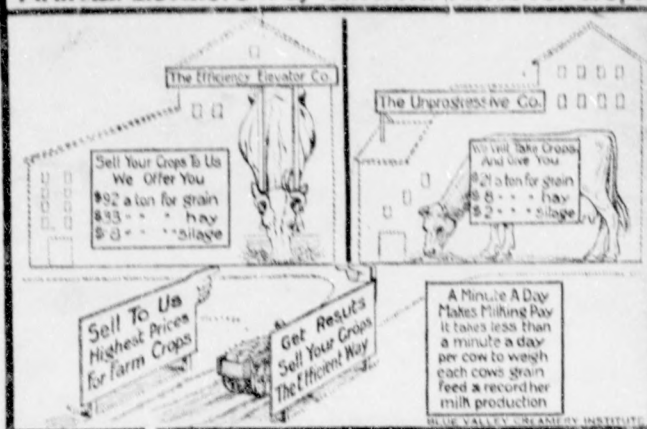

Provide silage for the herd. No dairymen can reach real permanent prosperity without a silo, or at least the silo will materially increase his stability and prosperity.

One form of cancer is chronic and "catching," and if you get that into your herd, the only cure is to sell off the affected cows.

The important thing for the dairymen is to provide a convenient place and an abundance of hot water for washing and rinsing all utensils.

Herd uniformity and beauty may seem to have an intangible value only. But when it comes to selling the offspring that view is quickly changed. Beauty is an asset.

"Animal Elevators" Pay Different Prices For Crops

MINUTE A DAY TO WEIGH FEED, MILK

Simple Record Shows Which Cows Are Most Efficient and Profitable.

Every farm cow is an "animal elevator" and every one pays a different price for the grain, hay and silage she eats, says the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. Some farm cows pay as high as $30 a ton for grain, and $33 a ton for hay, while other cows will pay $21 a ton for grain and $8 a ton for hay.

If there were two market places in a town, one paying $32 a ton for grain and the other $21, there is but little doubt which one could attract all the locally grown grain and hay farmers had to spare. Since every farm cow is the "market place" for the grain and hay she consumes, it pays to know which individual cows are the most efficient and most profitable. It takes less than a minute a day per cow to weigh each cow's grain feed and record her milk production. By keeping this simple record, a farmer is able to feed each cow according to profit above feed cost on each cow. This plan also makes it possible to secure maximum production from each cow and almost invariably the more a cow produces, the greater the profit she makes for her owner. Cow testing association records show that where cows produced 150 pounds of butterfat in a year, they returned $21.70 a ton for grain, $33.22 a ton for hay, and $22.22 a ton for silage; where cows produced 150 to 200 pounds of butterfat, they returned $18.04 a ton for grain, $30.54 for hay, and $3.25 for silage, and where they produced between 200-250 pounds of butterfat, they returned $12.42 for grain, $33.10 for hay and $3.70 for silage.

Pullets Produce More Eggs & Greater Profits Than Hens

PULLETS START LAYING EARLIER

Produce More Eggs Than Hens in Months When Prices Are Higher.

Pullets are bigger and more profitable layers than hens, declares the Blue Valley Creamery Institute, in its suggestions for a good poultry flock. The principal reason for the superiority of young birds as layers is that they start laying early and produce a larger number of eggs than old hens do during the months of November, December, January and February, when egg prices are higher.

A good example of the greater profitability of pullets over hens is furnished by the records of a New Jersey poultry man on his flock of good layers. He found that in November his pullets laid an average of 6.5 eggs per bird as compared to an average of only 1.1 eggs for each of his hens. In December, the pullets increased their production to an average of 9.3 eggs and the hens each presented him with an average of only one egg in return for one month's feed and care. The total number of eggs laid by the pullets in this flock during the four months starting with November averaged 41.2 and by the hens in the same period 15.7. During the summer the production of the young and old birds was about the same, as shown in the illustration above. At the end of the year, however, the pullets had a record of an average of 154.2 eggs per bird and the hens, 125.5 eggs.

The superiority of pullets over hens in this flock is still greater when the total value of all the eggs laid during the year is considered. Because the pullets laid more eggs in winter than the hens, the value of all the eggs they laid during the year was $3.81, based on average prices received by farmers in the United States for eggs during the year ending October 15, 1924. The total value of the eggs laid by the hens during the same year was $2.86—nearly a dollar less per bird or around $95 less per 100 birds.

Cost Of Producing Butterfat Lowered By Good Care Of Manure

ONE WAY TO CUT BUTTERFAT COST

Improper Care of Manure Means Loss of 5 Cents per Pound Produced.

Providing cows with proper feeds in accordance with their ability to produce and taking good care of the manure from each cow are the two sure ways for cutting down the cost of producing butterfat, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute.

It is estimated that a dairy cow will produce at least $25 worth of manure a year—one-half of which is lost by the usual methods of handling. As a good dairy cow will produce around 250 pounds of butterfat a year, this loss of $12.50 applied to the butterfat produced by the cow means a loss of 5 cents on each pound of butterfat produced. The best way to care for manure is to spread it on the fields as fast as it is made. Manure is most valuable when it is fresh, because none of its valuable solids have had time to decompose and waste away in the barnyard. Spread on the field quickly the goodness of manure gets into the soil where it is valuable.

Of all fertilizers farm manure is the oldest, cheapest and most popular. It is rich in organic matter and in nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. These plant foods must be returned to the land if good crop yields are to be maintained at lowest cost. Although farm manure is perishable, most of its fertility value can be saved by proper handling and care. Plenty of bedding will help soak up and save the liquid excrement.

Manure stacked in an uncovered pile suffers a big loss from rain which washes away its valuable constituents. If it cannot be hauled to the fields daily, it should be kept covered and then spread over the land as often as possible.

Happy Prosperous New Year

TO YOU ALL

Most heartily do we extend the Season's Greetings to you, one and all.

To our patrons and friends: For your loyalty and support during 1927, we thank. Our appreciation is heartfelt and sincere.

To All:

We are prepared to give you a lumber and building material service this year, larger, better and more complete than ever before.

May the New Year deal kindly with you all.
