Good Business

"Every man who understands and appreciates business principles realizes that those with whom he deals must make a fair profit in order to give him the right kind of goods or service," writes President L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central System in making a comparison with the railway situation under the heading of "Good Business" in his February 1 letter to the public.

The concern that is markedly out of line on the side of cheapness either will not remain long in business or will be forced to skimp with the railroads, President Downs contends. Furthermore, the service the railroads sell is so intimately related to the success of every other business that the price of the service is much less important to the buyer than is its character.

"If railway service were non-existent or scarce, it would be cheap at any price," President Downs continues. "Fortunately, however, railway service is plentiful, it is good and it is so efficiently produced in volume that it can be and is sold at incredibly low rates." Despite that fact, President Downs concludes, "it must be remembered that it is not good business to force the price of any product so low as to impair its quality, and that principle applies with all the greater force in the case of a product which is so essential and national well-being as the service the railroads perform."

FULTON BOY HAS WONDERFUL TRIP

Tom W. Beadles of the U. S. Air Corps has written his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Beadles, that he has arrived at Crissy Field, California, and begun his second year's training. Tom transferred from Chanute Field via the waterways. He hopped to New York via Niagara Falls where he spent a few weeks. His transport sailed from Brooklyn yards, Dec. 20. A day was spent in Havana, also at Colon and Balboa; passing through the Panama canal, there was a three days' stay at Panama City, thence to Angel Island, through the Golden Gates to San Francisco and Crissy Field. It was a wonderful trip.

Signing a contract for the erection of a new church building a year ago today, members of the First Methodist church of Fulton will hold the formal opening of the new building on Sunday, February 5. An elaborate program has been prepared for this opening and the chief speaker will be Bishop H. M. DuBose of Nashville, Tenn. Ten former pastors have also been invited to take part in the formal opening.

The new church, which is one of the finest and most modern in the Memphis Conference, has been completed at an approximate outlay of one hundred twenty thousand dollars. Work of construction has been in progress steadily since Mar. 1, 1927, when ground was first broken for the new edifice. For the past few weeks services have been held in the lower floors, but the main auditorium was finished only this week.

Plans for the building were drawn by the Memphis firm of Spencer & Phillips, and the contract was awarded to Walker Brothers & Co., of Birmingham, Ala. During all the construction there has been not the slightest hitch between the building committee and the contractors, and there has been strong harmony throughout the entire membership. The building committee was made up of Joe Browder, T. J. Kramer and T. M. Franklin and these men have devoted a great deal of their time to the work.

Fulton Methodists had been planning for a new church for several years, but not until November, 1923, did the work begin to assume real seriousness. In that year Rev. J. V. Freeman came to the local church as pastor and he at once announced that he intended to push this project. He remained here four years and during his third year it was decided to build during the next year. In January, 1927, the contract was signed and work was started the following March. The cornerstone was laid on Sunday, September 25, 1927. Rev. J. V. Freeman is now pastor of the Highland Heights church in Memphis, and he is expected to be here next Sunday to take part in the opening.

The church has a total membership of six hundred forty-four, with an enrollment in the Sunday school of six hundred and twenty-five. T. J. Kramer is the superintendent of the Sunday school, and has 85 officers and teachers in the organization. 43 Sunday school rooms have been provided for in the new building and the Sunday school is now operated in the modern departmental manner.

Rev. H. B. Vaughn is now the pastor of the church. He transferred into the Memphis conference from the Holston conference last year, and came here from Etowah, Tenn. He has taken a strong hold on the church and on the entire town, and the church is very hopeful of the future.

DICK BARTHELMESS HEADS AN ALL-STAR CAST IN NEW FILM

An all-star cast of exceptional merit supports Richard Barthelless in "The Drop Kick," First National's production of Katharine Brush's story of college football life which comes to the Grand Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

Playing opposite the star is Barbara Kent, a Wampas baby star, who has developed into a young lady of high promise.

An important role is played by Alberta Vaughn, who was a star in her own right in several films. Dorothy Revier, dark, exotic villainess, enacts the role of Brad Hathaway's wife, while Brad is played by Eugene Strong—who was starred in several pictures several years ago.

Hedda Hopper enacts the role of Barthelless' mother and Barbara's mother is played by Mayme Kelso. James Bradbury, who appeared with the star in "Classmates," has the role of "Bones" Allen, and Brooks Benedict, who was with Barthelless in "Ransom's Folly," does the part of Ed Pemberton. The part of the dean of Shoreham College, the locale of the story, is played by Geo. Pearce.

Ray Rockett produced the picture, and it was directed by Millard Webb. Camera Work was done under the chieftainship of Arthur Edson, and Jack Hyland, famous Stanford football star, acted as technical advisor. Some of the most thrilling football scenes ever photographed are to be viewed in this latest Barthelless feature.

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL

The Southern Hotel, known as the Meadows Block, changed hands Tuesday when the Guaranty Investment Company, of Memphis, purchased the property of Mrs. E. J. Penny.

J. Frazer Smith, architect, of Memphis, is in Fulton representing the Guaranty Investment Company and perfecting plans of remodeling the hotel property at an approximate cost of $50,000.00.

Mr. Smith stated to an Advertiser representative that the property would be converted into a modern hotel and apartment building with attractive lobby, elevator service, ground floor dining room and all other modern conveniences to bring the property up to the highest standard of perfection.

The plans for remodeling will be completed today and work will shortly begin. It will probably require about three months to complete the work.

The new owners are one of Memphis large investment concerns and Mr. Smith is a member of the firm of J. Frazer Smith and H. M. Burnham, architects, of Memphis, the same firm that we often read about in the Commercial Appeal's industrial section when a skyscraper or some other big building project is mentioned.

For a short time we will accept subscriptions for this paper and the Memphis Weekly Commercial Appeal—both papers one year for only $1.25.

Enthusiastic Poultry Meeting

Modern methods of poultry raising, keeping the birds in good physical condition by proper feeding and the flocks culled, were the main points stressed by County Agent McPherson, in his talk Friday afternoon at a meeting called by Secretary Watkins, of the Fulton Poultry Association at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. A number of chicken fanciers and breeders were in attendance, including several ladies who showed a keen interest in the talks made.

Mr. McPherson is a forceful speaker and is easily understood. He is thoroughly familiar with every phase of poultry breeding and contends that the breeders' hope for profit depends upon efficient production. He thoroughly explained how to get production by modern methods, keeping the birds in good physical condition by proper feeding and the flocks culled. "Nothing on the farm will pay bigger returns for the money invested than poultry," said Mr. McPherson.

Mr. Hunter Whitesell, proprietor of the Whitesell Hatchery, made an interesting and instructive talk, reiterating what Mr. McPherson had said with numerous additional and instructive features, especially along his line of work and observations.

Mr. Whitesell said he didn't know everything about the poultry industry, but was willing to impart the knowledge of what he did know. (If the editor is not badly fooled, he knows a lot more about the game than he pretends.) The information he imparted in his talk at the meeting Friday will have a tendency to make the poultryman pay closer attention to the marketing of his products for better prices. With a sack of eggs from his own farm he demonstrated and explained minutely the value of selecting eggs to market for top notch prices, stating that one or two dirty, undersized or oversized eggs in a case would lower the price on the entire lot.

Secretary Watkins closed the meeting with an inspirational talk on prize winners and breeding purebreds for success. He announced a meeting of the Fulton Poultry Association to be held in May when officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Mr. Watkins is strong for community cooperation and is anxious for Fulton county to produce show birds for exhibition at the State Fair in Louisville this fall, as well as at our county fair. Mr. Watkins said.

the Fulton Poultry Association stood ready at all times to render service to the community as a whole, in breeding better poultry and developing the industry generally, and to foster a spirit of cooperation. With such support the community can accomplish wonderful results. The whole problem is to get the people of this community interested in the breeding of better poultry and developing the industry to a point where it will be a safe and sound investment.

"WHAT PRICE GLORY" KEPT NEW YORK LAUGHING FOR FULL THEATRICAL SEASON

New York rocked with laughter for more than a season at the comedy scenes in "What Price Glory," the William Fox screen version of the celebrated stage success by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson, which will open a two days' engagement at the Orpheum, Monday.

The critics of the metropolitan dailies were unanimous in their commendation of this supreme motion picture achievement. Following is a brief reproduction of their views:

Quinn Martin, of the World, says:

"What Price Glory" becomes a film play of vast and inseparable entertainment qualities. It is terrifically funny, vitally hard-boiled and triumphantly free, for the most part, from the sticky slabs of sentiment which heretofore have featured and marred the efforts of those makers of the cinema who have striven to prepare for us in celluloid something of what once happened in the fields of France.

"I can only bend low in acknowledging to a fine and gifted crew my appreciation for one of the grandest evenings I have ever spent before a motion picture screen."

TENNESSEE GOVERNOR SEEKS FULL TERM

Governor Henry H. Horton of Tennessee, has announced that he will be a candidate for governor on a platform pledging the continuation of the policies of the late Governor Austin Peay.

Gov. Horton declared for the complete abolition of the state tax on land and an amendment to the constitution which will permit an equitable tax on personal property. He revealed that this amendment will be drafted by a tax commission to be named soon and composed of the most representative men in Tennessee.

The announcement, which is subject to the Democratic primary of next August, pledged the candidate to the retention of the gasoline, excise and tobacco taxes, to speedy highway construction, extension of the public health system, to increase the gasoline tax one cent which will be devoted to rural road building, to the quick development of the state hydroelectric power and other resources, civil service for state employees and to greater aid for the educational system.

Governor Horton took occasion to endorse the candidacy of Congressman Cordell Hull, a native son of Tennessee, for president.

Governor Horton declared that he will enlarge the state highway system and carry it through even more rapidly. "During the year 1928 I promise that there will be more miles of road built than has been built in any other 12 months in the history of the state," he said.

The elimination of the state tax on land, Gov. Horton pointed out, will be a great aid to agriculture. Real farm relief can be accomplished through this reform coupled with a plan for the installation of a better system of cooperative marketing.

STEWARDSHIP

By Rev. C. H. Warren,
Pastor First Baptist Church

Before any proper conception of Stewardship can be had
there are three other matters, germane to this idea, which must be considered, viz:

Ownership, Lordship and Authority.

Ownership

"The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof, the world and they that dwell therein."
"The beast of the forest is mine," and the cattle on a thousand hills. I know all the fowls of the mountain; and the wild beasts of the field are mine. If I were hungry I would not tell thee, for the world is mine and the fullness thereof." "Behold the heaven and the earth; of heavens is mine; the earth with all that therein is." "The gold and the silver is mine," saith the Lord.

As between us and other men
we may be said to own all that we hold legal title to, but as between us and God we own nothing.
No absolute title can be vested in us. This is as it should be for man was not created for this world; he is of it, but not for it. Even we ourselves do not belong to ourselves. Our owner is the one who has bought us and "We are not our own for we have been bought with a price." We are God's possession even though we may recognize and accept another master. But whoever and whatever holds the mastery over us he, or it, is also God's possession because God is the Creator of all things and all things are subservient to His divine will.

The title of ownership is vested jointly in God, as Father and in His son, Jesus Christ, for they are one. Man holds only a third title to what he holds;
God holds first title; Jesus Christ holds second title and man holds third. In his letter to the church at Corinth, the Apostle Paul emphasized this fact in this language, "All things were made by Him and without Him none of the things that are made were made," and
"All things were made for Him," and "In Him all things consist."

Lordship

The idea of Lordship is in-separably bound up with Stewardship. The declaration of His Lordship always hold pre-eminence in the full title name of the Savior, "Our Lord Jesus Christ." This the unfailing order of His title. A conscientious recognition and acceptance of the ultimate Lordship of Jesus Christ is man's highest conception and faithful service in such a relationship is man's highest attainment.
There are two persons and powers of superhuman magnitude that are striving for the mastery of man. They each make their appeals through ideals. Ideals master men. Every man is the willing subject of his master. This is more true in the realm of the spiritual than in the realm of the physical. Jesus appeals to man's highest nature through the finer things of life, while Satan makes his appeal to man's baser nature through the coarser things. All we have to do to be a good servant of Satan is to follow the lines of least resistance in life. Man's depraved carnal nature makes him an easy victim of evil suggestions.

Authority

That there is somewhere an authority that is final is logical and reasonable. Ownership and Lordship mean authority.
Stewardship presupposes the same.

First of all the Bible must be recognized and accepted as the final word of authority as the revealed word and will of God.
It is God speaking through His written word. It was communicated to us through "Holy men of old" who "wrote as they were moved by the Holy Spirit" and was given to us for our good and well being. If the Bible is accepted as the authoritative word of God then the authority of Jesus is established for He said "All authority is given unto me both in heaven and on earth."

Stewardship

If God is owner and Jesus Christ is Lord it must follow that man is only a steward or trustee.

A steward is one to whom goods or property or affairs of another have been entrusted.
A steward is not one who serves as a repository or keeper simply. The significant thing about a steward is that he is to "use" whatever has been committed to him. This thought is borne out in the parable of the pounds and talents. Jesus told of these two circumstances to emphasize the fact that we as stewards are not to hide away
in a napkin the thing committed to us but we are to use for the benefit of the owner and Lord. Nor is our privilege to waste what has been committed to us. This is emphasized in the parable of the "Unjust Steward" in Luke's gospel, the sixteenth chapter.

The Bible is saturated with the stewardship idea, both by implication and specification.
God's will in every human life involves a stewardship. We may accept it willingly or unwillingly or perhaps not at all;
but we should remember that whether accepted and used, it is ours and we must answer for whatever disposition we make of it. In one of his letters the great apostle to the Gentiles
said concerning his ministry,
"If I do this thing willingly I have a reward but if against my will a stewardship has been committed to me." The chief requirement of a steward is that he be "faithful." In the Gospel of Luke 12:42 Jesus said "Who is that faithful and wise steward whom the Lord
may make ruler over His House"

The word used in the Greek to express the idea is "oikonomia" which means chief steward of the household. From this Greek word has evolved
the English word "Economics."
So it can be seen that stewardship has to do with the economic affairs of our lives.

Briefly stated Christian stewardship involves everything that we have received from God. This means life with all that life means, time, talents,
influence, money, property, body, mind and soul. If we separate life into its various departments of activity: social,
moral, industrial, political, cultural, etc., we will see how important it is that due consideration be given to the claims of each so that we will not use one element of our stewardship in such a way as to abuse some other element of the same
stewardship.

Some requirements have been laid down which will help us greatly to make the proper use of our stewardship if they are accepted and lived by.
One tenth of every man's income belongs to God and should be brought "into His storehouse." We are not personally stewards of that one tenth. Our stewardship of money is the other nine tenths which are left with us to use and invest. One seventh of our time belongs to God, for the use of which He has given directions. We are not stewards of that time. Our stewardship of time is the other six days.
Let us take great care that we do not exercise liberties with these six days that would prostitute our stewardship. All of man's influence belongs to God. Influence is a very sacred thing and should be so recognized.

A proper recognition and acceptance of our stewardships
by every citizen and church
member throughout the land would be a sure cure for all the ills of every nature known to us.

LAUNDRYMEN AND CLEAN- ERS FORM NEW ASSOCIA- TION

Paris, Tenn., Jan. 21.—Laundrymen and cleaners of West Tennessee and West Kentucky
formed an association in Paris
at the Greystone Hotel Friday night. Forty-eight representatives of the business were present from Jackson, Union City,

Mayfield, Murray, Fulton, Mc-Kenzie and Paris. W. L. Scott of Union City was named president of the association. Ed Clark of Paris was named secretary and plans to hold the first meeting of the association in Fulton in April were made.

"How to Take the Most Advantage of the $4,000,000
Laundry Advertising Campaign" supplied the chief topic of the Paris meeting, which was in the form of a banquet.
Speakers were W. L. Scott, Union City; W. J. Holman, Ed Clark, Paris; W. S. Long, Mayfield; J. J. Owens, Fulton; J.
V. Clemmons, Jackson. Entertainment was furnished by a Jackson quartet composed of F. B. Oliver, J. D. Barnwell,
Babe Skillern and James Sheets.

H. J. MOORMAN, WELL KNOWN MAYFIELD ATTORNEY, IS DEAD

Harry J. Moorman, 78 years old, died at his on South Seventh street in Mayfield, Thursday night, January 19, following an illness of heart trouble, from which he had suffered a number of years.

For years one of the leading members of the Mayfield bar,
Mr. Moorman had served Graves county as county attorney, being elected in 1886 and serving two terms. He was elected commonwealth attorney for the First Judicial district
in 1897, and served six years, beginning the first Monday in January, 1898. He later was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late R. L. "Bob" Smith, who had been elevated to circuit judge on the death of Judge R. J. Bugz. He was a good prosecutor, and for years enjoyed the distinction of being the orator of the Mayfield bar.

MORMAN B. DANIEL (From the Cincinnati Enquirer)

Morman B. Daniel, Democratic member of the Kentucky
House of Representatives from Hickman and Clinton counties,
the youngest member of the State Legislature, is dead at 26.
A sudden heart attack removed him from the plane of this life's activities. He had not won to high renown, but he was entitled to heroic rank, nevertheless, for he was of true heroic mold, fashioned in the form of greatness.

This lad entered the University of Kentucky without financial resources, having only $2.75 when he reached college.
But he earned all his college
expenses and in addition saved $3,000.

Upon entering the university
he at once began his search for work. He mowed lawns, sold papers, waited on table in a boarding house, served in an ice cream parlor, worked in a creamery and in a garage. At one time he was holding down five jobs while going to school and taking a full schedule of work.

This brave young American is dead—dead in the first flush
of promising young manhood,
but his life struggle and achievements are worthy of unstinted admiration and praise.
It was no fault of his that he bowed to an inevitable and invincible power which summoned him from his field of labors.
He had done his part, had more than demonstrated the fine quality of the fiber of his soul.
In his brief career the youth of America may find—should find —inspiration for eager emulation. Kentucky should mourn the passing of Morman B. Daniel, for had he lived he most certainly would have added laurels of distinction to the fame of that historic commonwealth.

There are two very necessary essentials that are right-fully required of every undertaker.

FIRST IS SERVICE

We have so arranged every detail of our business that our service is equal to that of any of the larger cities and far beyond many of them. Our motor equipment is of the latest design, and built for the greatest comfort and service. Our funeral home is arranged for the utmost comfort of the family of the deceased, should they need it, without any additional charge whatever.

SECOND IS THE CHARACTER OF THE PROFESSIONAL WORK DONE BY THE EMBALMER

As much care should be exercised in selecting the embalmer to render professional service after death as is used in selecting the physician during the illness. Our embalming is done by Paul Hornbeak with Mrs. Yates as lady assistant, and we believe there are none better prepared for this work than they are.

GOOD BUSINESS

The chief interest in railway rates manifested by a good many shippers and receivers of freight is that of having rates on their shipments made and kept as low as possible. Is that good business?

Every man who under- appreciates those principles that those with whom he deals must make a fair profit in order to give him the right kind of goods or service. He could not afford to place orders with them if he had reason to believe that their prices were impossibly low. Such logic is self-protection. The concern that is markedly out of line on the side of cheapness either will not remain long in business or will be forced to skimp on quality or service in order to "get by."

So it is with the railroads. Furthermore, the service they sell is so intimately connected with the success of every other business that the price of it is relatively much less important to the buyer than is the character of the service. If railway service were non-existent or scarce, it would be cheap at any price.

Fortunately, however, railway service is plentiful, it is good and it is so efficiently produced in volume that it can be and is sold at incredibly low rates. Where else in the world can a ton of freight be moved as expeditiously, as safely, as reliably, and as conveniently for a small fraction more than one cent a mile? Yet that is the average American freight rate, which means that many shipments are moved even more cheaply than that.

Such service would seem nearly the ultimate in economy, yet there are those who would whittle railway rates even lower than they are, ignoring their own interests in having the railroads realize such a profit as will enable them to produce service having the important virtues of speed, safety, reliability and convenience.

It is not good business to force the price of any product so low as to impair its quality, and that principle applies with all the greater force in the case of a product which is so essential to individual and national well-being as the service the railroads perform.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The county board was very fortunate in securing Miss Pauline Allison to fill the vacancy in our high school. Miss Allison comes from a well known family of the Fulgham community and has had work in both the Murray State Normal and Bowling Green Colleges. She is a very competent young lady with three and one-half years of college work. Though we were sorry to lose Mrs. Kirksey we feel sure Miss Allison will fill her place well. We're counting on doing great things in the next four months, making more progress even than we have in the past.

Prof. D. D. Crisp, who did not attend school the latter part of last week on account of illness, was able to return to his work Monday morning. We were very glad to have him back with us.

The preliminary debate was held last Monday night in the auditorium and the following were chosen to represent Beelerton:

The first debate will be held at Fulgham, Feb. 10. Beelerton debating team will meet Shiloh before February 18.

Beelerton High school will attend an invitational tournament to be held at Bardwell by the high school of that place on February 21 and 25. All associational teams from Carlisle, Hickman and Fulton counties will take part. We are certainly glad that some one has the means of sponsoring a district tournament for it creates a school spirit, and gives the schools a chance to mix and mingle with one another.

Hickman Man's Car is Hit By Bullet Fired by Unknown Man

Hickman, Ky.—John Pyle, cashier of the Hickman Bank and Trust company, had an unusual experience and narrow escape while driving with his family on the Fulton-Hickman highway last week when an unknown man raised a gun and fired at their car. The affair occurred near Willingham bridge in the middle of the afternoon. Mrs. Pyle, who was in the rear seat, saw a man raise up near a barn and point a gun at them. She told Mr. Pyle and Mr. Pyle speeded up the car, but not quick enough to get out of the way. There was a report and the side window nearest Mr. Pyle was shattered by a bullet.

Mr. Pyle said that if he had not been going fast the bullet would have struck him in the back of the head. No one was injured but the occupants of the car were showered with broken glass. Mr. Pyle came on to town and told Chief of Police Sid Hamby and they returned to the scene but were unable to locate the person who did the shooting. Mr. Pyle cannot account for the shooting unless it was some one who intended to shoot at a tire or shoot over the car.

Making Long Distance Calls is a simple matter.

Long distance telephone service is now used universally because it is easy and convenient to make all classes of calls.

To make a station-to-station call, you merely tell the operator the number of the distant telephone. The charge begins when the called telephone answers.

To make a person-to-person call, you tell the operator the name of the party to whom you wish to talk. The charge begins when communication is established with the person called.

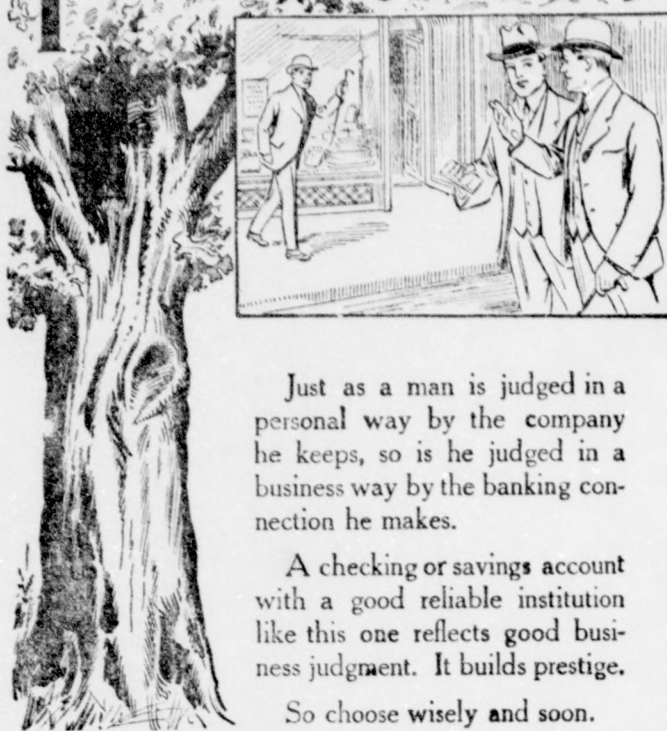

If you do not know exactly how to make a long distance call, let the operator help you. She will cheerfully give you all the necessary information.

DAIRY

ORGANIZATION IS NEED OF DAIRYING

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Effective organization in the production and distribution of dairy products, and the development of new markets, are necessary if the American dairy industry is to maintain a satisfactory economic position. Lloyd S. Tenny, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture, told members of the Co-operative Pure Milk Association at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. Tenny outlined the marked expansion in dairy production and marketing in leading foreign dairy countries in recent years. There is a tendency, he said, for foreign production to increase more rapidly than demand, as a result of which producers in the United States are facing increased foreign competition and importation of greater quantities of dairy products. On the other hand, with the exception of concentrated milk, the United States is not producing dairy products sufficient for domestic needs, and present tendencies in this country are for demand to increase as rapidly, if not more rapidly, than production.

Reviewing the world dairy situation, Mr. Tenny declared "the most important of the war developments has been the great expansion of production in new countries of the southern hemisphere. This expansion has continued since the war, and is being maintained in the face of falling prices. Since the seasonal production of these countries places the largest volume of their annual output on the winter markets of the northern hemisphere, this development in the southern hemisphere is equivalent to a great shift to winter dairying by producers of the northern hemisphere."

"This tends to take the peak from our winter market prices, thus reducing the profits of winter dairying. A second outstanding development in production is the rapid recovery and continued expansion in old country production, including the Netherlands, Denmark and other Baltic states." Exports of butter and cheese from the United States have gradually disappeared since the early '20s, Mr. Tenny said. The export of the surplus of cheese, and then of butter, has given way to a net importation. The exportable surplus of concentrated milk also is being rapidly reduced. The disappearance of our export surplus of cheese is attributed in part to the rapid expansion of the dairy industry in the United States, as the elimination of the export surplus of butter is due in part to the expansion in the domestic demand for milk.

Sanitation Important in Managing Dairies

One of the reasons for the high quality of butter that is manufactured by the Iowa brand creameries is due to the care which farmers take of their milk and cream in those communities, according to R. G. Clark, chief of the dairy and food division of the Iowa department of agriculture, in discussing the progress that has been made along dairy lines in Iowa.

"Sanitation is the backbone of high quality in dairy products," said Mr. Clark. "Most of the increased prices which Iowa brand creameries are able to pay over other creameries is due to the improvement of quality. The creameries and their patrons are true examples of cooperation as they work together to secure the highest net return out of the farmer's product. Cleanliness, plus proper cooling of the milk and cream, are the highest essentials in delivering a high quality product to the creameries. Unless the farmer has the best quality cream, he cannot manufacture the best quality butter. It is the quality butter that brings the premium on the market."

Occasionally an Entire Herd Is Unprofitable

Only very occasionally do testations find an entire herd of cows unprofitable. In the records now available, a case is rarely found where the best cows in the poorest herds are less productive than the poorest cows of the best herds. These records do show, in a very high percentage of cases, a wide margin of difference between the high and low producing animals in any herd. Through careful selection, the use of a good sire, properly balanced feeds, and intelligent care, it is altogether possible to develop the best animals on the majority of our ordinary farms into paying herds.

Cow Losing Her Cud

There really is no such thing as a cow losing her cud. Animals such as the cow and sheep swallow their food in a very coarse condition while eating and later this food is brought back into the mouth for further mastication and then passes back into the true stomach and from there into the small intestine at a time and swallowed. Hence if a cow should lose the cud which she was chewing, another would be available in a short time.

POULTRY

CHICKS CAN'T LIVE WITH COCCIDIOSIS

Coccidiosis is one of the most destructive of all young chick diseases, and if the disease has once gained headway in the flock the chicks must die. The disease may be prevented next year by disinfecting the brooder house and rearing the chicks away from the older fowls.

The symptoms of this disease, according to Dr. Leonard W. Goss of the college of veterinary medicine of Ohio State university are loss of appetite; the young birds sit around with drooping wings, eyes closed, and it sometimes may be noted that the droppings are streaked with blood.

"On opening the chicks," the doctor writes, "it is observed that there is considerable inflammation of the intestines, some just back of theizzard, but the most inflammation is found in the ceca or blind gut. Hemorrhages occur in these parts, and they may be well distended with blood or in the more advanced stages the blood may be washed out, leaving a cheesy-like mass."

"In this mass are the coccidia which are the cause of the disease and are passed out in the droppings."

The best method of curing the disease is to prevent it, so sterilize the brooder house before the chicks are again put into it, using strong concentrated lye, which will dissolve the coccidia, and move the house to a clean, fresh sod away from the other fowls."

Mites Are Different in Habits From Lice

Mites are entirely different in habits and modes of living than lice, and different methods must be employed to destroy them. Both reduce the vitality of the fowl to such an extent that they easily succumb to disease, writes Michael K. Boyer in the Farm and Ranch.

The louse is a very small insect that cannot suck blood. It lives on the body of the fowl, feeds on filth, dried blood scales from the feathers, and scurf of the skin. It breathes through the pores in the sides of the body.

Lice are killed by suffocation, consequently, insect powder or even dust will destroy them.

The mite belongs to the spider family, and attacks fowls by sucking the blood. The louse does its damage by biting.

Mites have eight legs, the have six. The former live in cracks and crevices of the building, and visit the fowl at night.

Turkeys on Farm Means an Additional Revenue

Turkeys on every farm will mean additional revenue for the many necessities needed on the farm. An increased production will not lower prices, for during the past three years in all of the large cities campaigns have been put on by the leading produce men urging the consumption of turkeys during the entire winter season and not just a holiday feast. The success of this campaign last season shows that people are anxious to eat turkey any time, for on August 1 there was less than two and one-half million pounds of turkey in storage. Most of this will be consumed before the 1927 crop is sent to market. With the same demands of last season turkeys should bring an exceptionally high market price this fall and winter.

For Turkey Fattening Ration Use Much Grain

The North Dakota experiment station gives a good home mixed turkey ration which consists of 100 pounds ground barley, 100 pounds ground oats, 100 pounds ground wheat and 50 pounds of meat scraps. If this ration is kept before the turkeys in a self-feeder at all times with a feeding of grain at night, it will do much toward increasing the returns at market time.

Milk makes a fine food, and if available, meat scraps, unskipped or dried buttermilk are the protein foods. The animal protein fits in best with other feeds at the rate of 15 per cent to 25 per cent of ground feeds.

Cull Flock Closely

Culling the flock closely will not only save feed and labor, but it will also help to remove crowded conditions that often prevail on account of the growing young flock. The disposal of cockerels is often advisable for a similar reason. It is better to keep a small flock of birds that pay their way than to keep a large flock in which there are a lot of drones that eat up the profit made by good birds. Birds that should be culled are sure to show a loss in the future.

Laying Supplements

The best supplement to any ration to direct sunlight and green feed, according to tests conducted by the Ohio experiment station. Successful feeding for egg production depended largely upon the use during late fall and winter of alfalfa, clover, soy bean hay and cod liver oil as supplements. Grains and their by-products and packing house by-products do not usually make a complete ration. The same hay improved the hatchability of eggs.

MILLIONAIRE FOUND GUILTY OF VOTE TAMPERING

Frankfort, Ky.—James A. Wallace, former state treasurer and millionaire coal and timber dealer of Irvine, Ky., must serve twelve and one-half years in the penitentiary for tampering with election returns in the August primary, a Franklin circuit court jury held Friday afternoon in finding him guilty of the five charges against him.

For three hours and five minutes the 12 jurors, seven of whom are farmers and the others merchants, deliberated the case before they returned their verdict of guilty.

A murmur of surprise prevailed throughout the courtroom when the verdict was read, but the 61-year-old defendant did not display the least emotion. Turning calmly to his attorney, Leslie W. Morris, he declared, "I am innocent."

Morris then filed a motion for a new trial which was overruled by Judge Ben G. Williams. He then indicated the defense would appeal the case and Wallace was placed under a $10,000 bail, which was signed by his brother, C. C. Wallace, of Richmond, Ky.

The jury found Wallace guilty of the five charges of changing the county certificates, and fixed his penalty at two and one-half years in each instance. One of the jurors said that the jury was for conviction on the first ballot and only the fixing of the sentence delayed them with their verdict.

When the verdict was read it came as a surprise to many of the spectators who sat for three hours waiting for the jury to report. Many ventured the guess prior to the verdict that Wallace would be acquitted, and when the jury remained in their room as the hours passed, the word went round that the case would be a mistrial.

Wade Hampton Whitley, commonwealth attorney, pleaded with the jury to "protect the voters and the liberties of all Kentuckians" by convicting Wallace, expressed satisfaction with the verdict.

Warns Against Tampering.
Whitley in his argument issued a warning to any person holding office in the state capitol that during his term as commonwealth attorney he would appear before the grand jury to have it bring indictments against any persons guilty of tampering with election returns, and asked the jury to make Wallace an example.

Morris and William L. Wallace of Lexington, counsel for Wallace, said their appeal would be based on the theory that the evidence in the case did not support the verdict and that the introduction of testimony regarding the Rock Castle incident was incompetent.

Wallace was convicted of changing the election returns of the counties of Fulton, Kenton, Knox, Shelby and Lincoln, netting him a total of 1,500 votes, which would have given him the Republican nomination for auditor over John M. Perkins, who was successful by 495 votes.

He also presented a certificate from Rock Castle county which purported to show he should have 1,228 votes in the county, whereas the original returns gave him 228. An investigation proved this certificate false and that the records in that county had been tampered with. This incident was contained in the five indictments and was allowed over the objection of the defense.

The Most Efficient Hog Feed Combination

HERE'S HOW TO BEAT HIGHER FEED COST

"Back Up" Corn With Other Feeds to Grow Pigs for Market Quickly.

"Backing up" corn with other feeds containing elements lacking in corn in order to grow pigs to marketable size quickly, is the one way to beat the narrower margin of profit on hogs indicated for the coming year because of higher feed costs, says the Blue Valley Creamery Institute.

For many years, says the Institute, the agricultural colleges have been working on the problem of getting the most pork out of a bushel of corn. Practically every one of the thousands of hog-feeding tests that have been made show that no more efficient feeds than corn, alfalfa, skim milk, tankage and minerals can be found. Corn alone is a poor feed for hogs because fed alone it takes a lot of corn to make a "little pork." Supplemented with plenty of skim milk it reduces the feed cost per 100 pounds gain to a place where hogs can be profitably fed high-priced corn. A little tankage and minerals added to the ration helps make the ration even more efficient by aiding to form "protein combinations" that are hard to beat, while alfalfa, green or dried as hay, practically stands alone as an aid in supplying the feed elements a hog needs under modern full-feeding methods. With corn as the basis of a ration, supplemented with skim milk as a liquid protein supplement—with a little tankage and minerals to add variety to the protein supplement, and with alfalfa as pasture in summer and as clean, well-cured hay in winter, it will very likely be possible to produce and make a profit on hogs even if prices should drop far below present prices during the coming season.

It must be remembered that skim milk is the cheapest and best protein supplement for growing pigs. Not only is it the most easily obtained protein on the farm, but 100 pounds of

Good Breeding Makes The Egg Yield Climb

HEN'S EGG YIELD IN HER BREEDING

Use of Pedigreed Maies Insures Greater Yearly Returns From Flock.

Good management gets eggs out of hens, but let's not forget that the better-bred hen has the most eggs in her, says the Blue Valley Creamery Institute, in a list of reasonable suggestions to poultry keepers.

The quickest, easiest and least expensive way to get eggs bred into the average flock is through the use of strong vigorous males whose mothers have trap-nest records of 250 eggs per year or better. It is now possible for any farmer to own a pedigreed male from a trap-nested, high-record mother and sired by a male whose mother also made a high record for egg laying because the prices of such males are only one-half to one-third as much as they were five years ago.

The Creamery Institute recommends farmers using only pedigreed males from trap-nested, standard-bred flocks. Such breeding flocks can now be found in practically every state. To show what such males can do in adding profits to the average farm flock, the Institute cites results secured on Missouri farms and tabulated from records sent the state colleges of agriculture. The fowls on two groups of farms had practically the same care and management. On one group of farms, average quality male were used for breeding. On the other group of farms, more attention was paid to breeding, and on these farms, after the use of better males for three seasons, the egg production per layer was 20 eggs more per hen. Breeding alone made a difference. In a 100-hen flock, according to an estimate by the Institute's experts, the value of the better males in the Missouri test added about $50 more profit to yearly returns from the flock.

to a road speed of 15 miles an hour. The Internal Economizer, by means of a sleeve valve inside of the carburetor and operated by the throttle valve, gives a lean mixture at average driving speeds and increases the mixture as the foot throttle is depressed.

Cold weather driving is made more easy through re-designed intake and exhaust manifold. The three-port intake passages are an eighth of an inch larger and the exhaust manifold follows the design of the Oakland All-American Six manifold, which carries the heat from all six cylinders around the intake riser. The amount of this heat carried to the intake riser is controlled by an adjustable valve.

An important factor which contributes greatly to the efficiency of the New Series Pontiac Six engine is the G. M. R. cylinder head, pioneered and proved on the Oakland All-American Six. Through its higher compression, more complete cooling of the gasoline mixture and its elimination of "spark knock" or roughness, the G-M-R head has permitted the automatic advancement of the spark to the highest point of efficiency and has increased the power of the new Pontiac by approximately 12 per cent with no change in cylinder displacement.

Your Suit and Overcoat need the Wrinkles taken out

You know what a beauty shop can do for faces—how it can remove wrinkles from cheeks and crow's feet from eyes. But did you ever visit a "beauty shop for suits"—a modern dry cleaning and sanitary pressing establishment? Here, again, is a "fountain of youth"—this time for clothes.

For example, take one of your own suits to the O. K. Steam Laundry—one you've worn often. If it's a light suit, the grime is plainly visible at collar and cuffs; perhaps there is a bit of grease on it from your car. If the suit is dark, the dirt may not show—but it's there. One cannot ride in automobiles and taxis, and not gather dirt.

But see what your dry cleaner, the O. K. Laundry, can do for this suit.

First, it is tumbled in warm, drying air; the moisture is removed, the dust shaken out, obstinate spots loosened. An expert "spotter" then goes over the garment by hand—stains and spots vanish before his skill. Next, the suit is soured gently, thoroughly, back and forth, in the purest of cleaning fluids. Soil embedded in the fabric is filtered out; grime and grease are dissolved away. After most of the moisture has been whirled out, the suit is carefully dried in a breeze of fresh, warm, sterile air, then with the warm air sifting thru it, it is fluffed softly. The nap comes to life, the cloth becomes fresh and smart again.

Nor is this dry cleaning "magic" limited to men's suits and overcoats. Hats and gloves, women's coats, suits, dresses and blouses, children's clothes—almost every article of wearing apparel can be given this same renewing, refreshing treatment. And how much longer clothes wear when they receive it. Truly dry cleaning pays its own bills.

Of course, we make a specialty of dry cleaning draperies, rugs, etc. Don't overlook this

GAS PUMP ON PONTIAC SIX

New Method of Assuring Proper Fuel Introduced on Oakland Six and Adopted by Pontiac Six

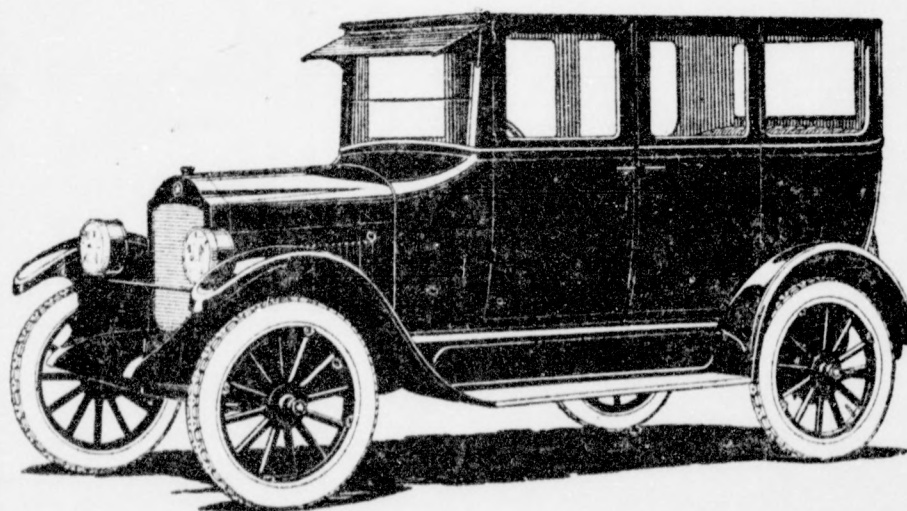

Continuing the policy of keeping its engines up to the latest developments in engineering, the Oakland Motor Car Company this year has equipped the New Series Pontiac Six with the pump-feed type of fuel supply. This with the G. M. R. cylinder head, a new carburetor and improved manifold, brings to the Pontiac Six new advantages in economy, reliability and performance.

Flooding of the engine is guarded against, fuel supply is conserved and easy starting is insured. Maximum power with a high degree of economy has been worked out to bring to the motor car owner that enviable combination—economical and dependable transportation.

Exactly the amount of gasoline needed is provided by the new fuel pump, which is driven directly from the camshaft. Thus, when the starter first turns over the motor, just the required amount of gasoline is forced into the carburetor. Then in the carburetor an ingenious device automatically shuts off the gasoline when the proper quantity has been injected, preventing flooding. The gasoline pump is of exactly the same type as was introduced by the Oakland All-American Six.

The carburetor is of an entirely new vertical type, built especially for the Pontiac Six, and embodies two distinctive features—the Venturi Choke and the Internal Economizer. The Venturi-Choke develops high velocity at the carburetor nozzle, making starting easy and reducing crank case dilution. By means of a new interconnection between the choke and throttle levers the speed of the motor is raised automatically when the motor is started to an idling speed corresponding

A FARM WAGON THAT IS GUARANTEED

The amount of satisfactory service that a wagon will give depends entirely upon the material and skill the manufacturer puts into it. We want to show you a wagon that is built of the best materials by men who know how—

THE JOHN DEERE WAGON

The Wagon That is Guaranteed

A special machine automatically measures the inside of the skin of the John Deere farm wagon and shapes the axle to fit accurately. The skin is set in red lead under high pressure. It has exactly the right pitch, and the axle has the right gather to make the John Deere wagon run lighter than other wagons. With the John Deere sand- and dust-proof skids there is no wearing of bearing surfaces—the oil stays in—the wagon is always smooth-running and light-pulling. Only carefully-selected oak and hickory are used in the John Deere Wagon, and every piece of wood is air-seasoned under cover in our own yards for at least two years. The tires are set hot under hydraulic pressure and under a gauge that assures proper dish—the load is always carried on plumb spokes.

And don't forget this other big feature—the heavy malleable fifth-wheel with corrugated coupling—no bending or breaking of kingbolt—bushings does not get out of line and rock—no danger of tipping when handling large, top-heavy loads.

Come in and see this wagon—read the guarantee on the tool box. Let us explain the many fine points embodied in it.

Sunday School Lesson

(BY REV. P. H. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean Moody Bible Institute of Chicago)
(C. 1928 Western Newspaper Union)

Lesson for February 5

JESUS MISUNDERSTOOD AND OPOSED.

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:19-25; 6:1-6.
GOLDEN TEXT—He came unto his own and his own received him not, but as many as received him to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Friends Misunderstand Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Friends Misunderstand Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Facing Unavoidable Opposition.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Misunderstood Jesus.

I. Jesus Misunderstood by His Friends (2:19-21).

1. The occasion (vv. 19, 20).
A series of important events in the ministry of Jesus had followed each other in rapid succession. The twelve had been chosen, and He with His disciples had just returned from a trip of preaching and healing in Galilee. Such great interest was aroused that though Jesus was weary and hungry He did not have time to eat.

2. What His friends purposed to do (v. 21). They went out to lay hold on Him. They saw Him giving Himself with absolute abandon to His work so they attempted to rescue Him forcibly by taking Him from His work.

3. What they said (v. 21). "He is beside himself." His passionate devotion to saving the lost seemed to them a kind of insanity.

II. Jesus Opposed by the Scribes (vv. 22-24).

1. Their charge (v. 22). They charged Him with casting out demons by Beelzebub. According to Matthew 12:22-24, the Pharisees joined the scribes in this charge. The occasion which provoked the charge was the healing of a man possessed with a demon. Unable to explain His unswerving service for needy men by attributing His zeal to religious frenzy, they accused Him of being in league with the devil.

2. Christ's reply (vv. 23-27). He exposed their folly by a question and by parables.

(1) "How can Satan cast out Satan?" If after Satan gets control of a man, he should voluntarily relinquish that hold he would thus become his own enemy. In view of the nature of the devil, this is unthinkable.

(2) "If a kingdom be divided against itself that kingdom cannot stand (v. 24). Civil war is national suicide. A living example of this folly is seen in China today.

(3) If a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand (v. 25). House here means family. The family that wars against itself will surely perish.

(4) No man can enter into a strong man's house and spoil his goods except he first bind the strong man (v. 27). Satan here is the strong man, the house is the world, the goods of the house are the human beings whose welfare and happiness Satan is seeking to destroy.

3. Christ's charge (vv. 28-30). Since He was doing the works of God (for before their very eyes He had driven the demon from the man). He was undoing the works of the devil. He went about doing good. Wherever He went men were blessed. The eyes of the blind were opened, deaf ears were unstopped, the lame were made to walk and the dumb were raised. Having with unanswerable logic met their accusations, He charged home upon them most awful guilt, that of blasphemy against the Holy Ghost. Blasphemy against the Holy Ghost is attributing the works of the Spirit to the devil. For this great sin there is no pardon.

III. Jesus Misunderstood by His Family (vv. 31-35).

His brothers and mother came with the object of getting Him home because they thought He had lost His reason. Of course His brothers did not believe on Him as the Messiah, but their filial interest moved them to try to get Him home. No doubt this was most painful to Jesus. Their motive may have been right, but they were used of the devil to hinder Him.

IV. Jesus Misunderstood by His Fellow Townsmen (6:1-6).

The citizens of Nazareth were unable to question the reality of Christ's work and the power of His words, but because He was one of them they were offended at Him. This is a marvelous example of the blighting effects of prejudice. Because of this attitude of soul on the part of the people His wonder working was very limited among them. And He marveled because of their unbelief.

Vanity

Vanity of vanities saith the preacher; all is vanity. And moreover, because the preacher was wise, he still taught the people knowledge; yea, he gave good heed, and sought out, and set in order many proverbs.—Ecclesiastes 12:8-9.

Life

Life is not a man's personal property. It is a loan from the Almighty for which he is responsible.—F. B. Meyer.

NICHOLS LOSES SUIT TO RETAIN OFFICE

In circuit court here Saturday in the case of Jess Nichols against the city of Fulton, it was held that the present city council was within its rights in appointing Heber Finch as City Attorney to succeed Mr. Nichols. Mr. Finch was elected at the January session of the council and sworn into office. It was contended by Mr. Nichols that he was the regularly elected officer, having been elected by the voters at the November, 1925 election, and that he should hold the office. It is recalled that in July, 1925, the council passed an ordinance taking the matter of the election of a city attorney out of the hands of the voters, making the position appointive by the council.
