THE LISTENING POST

● I often admire certain men who have a casual sort of courage which refuses to be daunted by the hazards of life, and to tell the truth, I rather envy them. For my life is so bound up by inhibitions, fears of the unknown, that I envy those persons who refuse to allow things to stand between them and the things they may wish to do.

● For example, I have little desire to get entirely away from civilization. I guess that long years of being in constant communication with people has softened me to such an extent that I do not dare do things which people take in their stride and without a thought. For example, I hate a telephone thoroughly and at times wish I had never had to use one. But I could not do without one, and on a few nights when my telephone happened to be out of commission I was uneasy over the matter all night long.

● Likewise, these camping and fishing trips, in which other men delight, leave me cold and uninterested. Here there is a double reason, for I do not care greatly for camp life or fishing, and the other reason is that I fear to get completely away from civilization for days at a time. I wonder what might happen to me in case of sudden illness or accident, and also wonder what might come if I happened to be urgently needed at home and there was no way of finding me by the quick methods which we use today. My favorite fear in such circumstances is a sudden attack of appendicitis, or an accident which might require the immediate services of a doctor.

● I read a few days ago of a father and son who evidently do not share my feelings in this respect. A Memphis father and his son, the latter evidently about seventeen or eighteen years of age, wrote a letter back to Memphis friends which required 3 weeks to reach its destination. For the father and son were deep in the wilds of the South American jungle, and had been for weeks. The father is the head of a great cleaning firm in Memphis, and the son is a student in Culver Academy. Shortly after school closed the two set off on this jaunt to the jungles, expecting to be gone all summer.

● This particular letter was written from the compound of some native chief among the South American Indians, and it traveled by pack mule, by canoe, by various other primitive methods until it finally reached the coast, where it was taken aboard one of the swift air clippers and whisked across the seas to this country. There was no way that any person might answer the letter, had they desired to do so, for the father and son were traveling steadily over unbroken trails, down tropical rivers, hunting big game and studying tropical flowers and plants. They expected to finally emerge on the coast somewhere by the end of summer and make their way back to the United States.

● Well, such a trip must be a glorious adventure. It must be worth while, for I can imagine no way to make a son draw closer to his father than by going with him on such a journey as this. Day after day and night after night they are together. They see new and strange sights, they experience danger, they are alone among strange tribes of people. Surely the son will never forget a father who can travel such a trail with him, and they should remain very close to each other in years to come.

● But I could never take such a trip. If I had to do it I had rather take it alone, for the responsibility of a son, plus my own fears, would prove too much. A sudden illness, or an accident, with perhaps the son's life involved and no help to be had—that would be more responsibility than I would want to take.

United States, Britain Talk Defense Trade

Government Seeking Bases To Protect Panama Canal

Washington, —Placing his emphasis heavily upon the "defense of the American hemisphere,"—and especially the Panama Canal—President Roosevelt announced today he was negotiating with Great Britain for the acquisition of naval and air base sites, presumably in the Southern Caribbean.

And, although he simultaneously cautioned newspaper correspondents against coupling the deal with proposals to deliver American over-sea destroyers to England, he said a quid pro quo (something for something) was under discussion.

At the same time, Mr. Roosevelt told newsmen that the government was discussing, separately, with Canada questions of hemisphere defense. Some thought this might have to do with bases in Nova Scotia or at a point between Seattle and Alaska.

Marshall Endorses Idea

A few hours after he spoke, General George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, endorsed the idea of acquiring bases and, in addition, told reporters that the United States faced a "critical" situation as a result of developments in the European war.

At a press conference, the general explained that he referred to "the possibilities of the next month in the Western Hemisphere."

In discussing the pending bill for conscription, he said: "No one can say with certainty, the way things are going abroad, that we won't need the additional manpower without delay."

"Time," he declared, "is the dominant factor, and time is fleeting."

Late in the day a Senate appropriations subcommittee gave its approval to a supplemental defense fund of more than $5,000,000, including cash and contract authorizations.

Chairman Adams (D-Colo.), of the subcommittee said figures were not yet complete, but that the group had boosted the House total of $4,963,151.87 by about $60,000,000 because of supplemental requests which had been sent by President Roosevelt.

Edwards Attends Scoutmasters' Meet

William Henry Edwards, scoutmaster of Fulton, will be among scout leaders over this district attending the Boy Scout Pilgrimage being held in Paducah today and tomorrow. This meeting is held every year and attended by scout leaders.

Roy C. Manchester, Scout Executive of the Paducah Area, will conduct the training program.

Survey Finds That Indianapolis Is Worst Spot For Hay Fever

Chicago — If all the ragweed pollen that floats in the air in the United States during an average season were gathered and placed in a pile, it would:

1. Form a cone 1,035 feet around the base and 345 feet high.
  2. Meet with the unanimous approval of hay fever sufferers.
- But, inasmuch as it isn't possible to imprison all the pollen and prevent the annual sneeze epidemic now getting under way, a Chicago laboratory and the United States Weather Bureau have done the next best thing.

Indianapolis Is Worst Spot

They have determined through research what parts of the country have the highest percentage of pollen-polluted air and can warn sufferers to beware of those places.

Their tests showed that Indianapolis and Peoria, Ill., were the worst spots for pollen in the United States, with indices of 124 and 113, respectively, while Sacramento, Calif.; Miami, Fla.; Reno, Nev.; Portland, Ore.; and Seattle had a pollen index of zero.

Dick Bard Dies Friday After Brief Illness

Dick Bard, prominent citizen of Fulton for many years, and a former merchant here, died at his home on Jefferson street yesterday afternoon at three o'clock after a brief illness. He had been in his usual good health and was suddenly stricken Tuesday night and grew rapidly worse, his death coming as a great shock to his family and his host of friends.

The funeral service will be held tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock from the First Methodist Church, with Rev. W. H. Saxon in charge. Burial will follow at Fairview Cemetery in charge of Hornbeak Funeral Home. The active pall bearers will be Louis, Roy, Albert, John E. Cleveland and Irvin Bard. Bud Browder and Lucian Browder. The honorary pall bearers are all members of the Busy Men's Bible Class of the First Methodist Church of which Mr. Bard was a faithful member for many years.

The body will be taken to the family home this afternoon to remain until tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Bard, the youngest of a family of nine children, was born near Fulton, to the late Taylor and Mary Ann Bard. Only two of the children now survive, this being Jim Bard and Mrs. Mattie Sullivan. He was married in January, 1901, to Miss Margaret Holland, who survives.

For several years the deceased was in the mercantile business in Fulton operating one of the largest men's stores in the city, and later he was employed as a traveling salesman for a tailoring concern. During these years and later he also operated farms near the city. He had been a member of the First Methodist Church for many years and served as a member of the board of stewards, and also took an active part in the work of the Busy Men's Bible Class.

A kindly, affable man, interested in his fellow men, Mr. Bard made friends readily and held them as easily. He came from the old pioneer line which believed in the old fashioned virtues, and Mr. Bard had all these in great degree. When he pledged his word it had the same meaning as a bond, and to all his principles he ever remained true and steadfast. In his going away the town loses one of its best citizens, and he will be missed by all. The hundreds of friends sorrow the devoted wife who is left to mourn his going. The world has been blessed by his life here and his memory will not be forgotten.

France's Fate Is Termed Worse Than Belgium

Vichy, France, —The plight of France, in the words of Richard Allen, European delegate of the American Red Cross, "now is worse than Belgium" after the World War and is growing still worse.

The German occupied areas need milk, sugar, fats and canned meats immediately, he declared adding that France could provide sufficient meat and wheat if given access to her colonies.

Navy Morale Plot Charged

Los Angeles, —Charges that girl members of the Young Communist League were instructed to "provide every possible enjoyment and entertainment" to sailors in an attempt to undermine their morale have been presented to a grand jury investigating Communist activities here, District Attorney Byron Fitts' office has announced.

The announcement revealed what it described as the transcript of testimony before the inquisitorial body by John L. Leach, former Communist leader, and quoted him as saying:

Favors Immoral Acts

"I do not recall a specific direction on the part of the leadership of the Communist Party where the girls were told to participate in immoral activities, although I know the party does not frown on that. In fact, it favors it."

"We (the Communists) have had a policy of knowing that no revolution in this country could be successful without undermining the morale of the naval men."

Ohio Mystery Stream To Be Explored By Radio In Ball

Tiffin, Ohio, —A blind man intends to explore the underground river which runs under this section of Ohio—by means of a radio transmitter built into a rubber ball.

The underground caverns of this area—and particularly at nearby Bellevue—long have been the subject of speculation by scientists.

The famous "Blue Hole" near Castalia is a deep crater from which water, cold and clear, wells to the surface. After flowing on the surface for some distance the stream disappears.

"The underground river never has been charted to any extent," said Henry J. McFerren, who was blinded 15 years ago by a Fourth of July explosion. "I am sure my plan will permit thorough exploration of the mysterious channel."

Signal To Be Continuous

The transmitter which the blind scientist is building will not weigh more than two pounds, he said, and will transmit a continuous signal.

"I hope to give these signals a distinguishable tone," McFerren said. "This will enable us to trace its course easily."

The ball will be dropped into the underground river in one of the funnel-like "sink holes" in the Bellevue area.

McFerren described the ball-transmitter as about a foot in diameter, with an antenna extending from its top.

"We'll inflate the sphere with gas to make it extremely buoyant," he said. "Tiny fins on the bottom of the ball will catch the river's currents and cause it to spin, thus preventing it from catching."

"Hams" To Listen In

"I have obtained permission from the Federal Communications Commission to conduct the experiment. On the day I release the ball, amateur radio enthusiasts throughout the district—the 'hams' as they are called—will tune in on the tiny set with directional antennas. That will enable us to chart the course of the ball."

McFerren may also place a microphone in the ball to pick up the sounds of the currents and thus indicate the nature of the stream.

Previous attempts to chart the underground river have been only partly successful. Residents of the district—some of whom use the stream for drainage merely by drilling a well-like hole down to it—have put dyes and corks into the sinkholes. These later have turned up in the Blue Hole, Mills Creek, and Sandusky Bay, on Lake Erie, where periodic reports of a "sea monster" have been made.

River Crabs Blind

Six years ago, a section of the river near Bellevue was explored and named "Old Misty River." Tiny blind crabs, which swim as well up side-down as right side up, were found.

The blind scientist is known widely for his ingenuity and self-reliance. He was nearly killed by the accident which caused his blindness—when sparks from a Roman candle fell into a pan of powder.

Nevertheless, he started a small shop to manufacture door springs. This grew into a sizeable business for which McFerren travels thousands of miles each month as a salesman.

He became interested in radio, and W. H. Henderson, Shreveport, La., operator, sent engineers to Tiffin to aid him in building the set.

Munitions Plant Hit By Blast

Joplin, Mo., —Five men were killed this morning in an explosion at the Atlas Powder Plant six miles east of Joplin.

The blast occurred in the dynamite unit of the plant which has been working near capacity because of war orders. Over half of the production is going to Britain, officials said.

The explosions did not strike the new T. N. T. plant, built on the same reservation since the outbreak of the European war.

The plant's office in Kansas City, Kan., said the Joplin unit in Southwestern Missouri, was a large one, employing about 400 men. Two other powder plants also are located in this area.

At Kansas City, Dwight Brantley, chief of the area office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said, "Unless there is evidence of sabotage we will not investigate."

Negro Fined For Reckless Driving

Richard Hamilton, colored, was fined $44.50 by Magistrate Homer Roberts yesterday on a charge of reckless driving and driving without an operator's license.

Hamilton was arrested Thursday afternoon on Route 51 by Patrolmen Chumley and Barclay.

He was unable to pay the fine and was taken to the county jail at Hickman.

Coal Price Minimums Are Delayed

Washington, —The Interior Department coal division today ordered a postponement until October 1 of the effective date for minimum prices for sale of bituminous coal at the mines.

The postponement came with an announcement by Secretary Ickes that time for filing appeals from the price findings, which range from 10 cents a ton for low grade Indiana coal dust to $25 for best Washington lump coal, had been extended to August 30.

Findings Are Revealed

Under extension of the appeal date only three days, one a Sunday, would have been left before September 3, the original date of effectiveness of the minimum price schedules.

At the same time the division made public "findings of fact" upon which Director Howard Gray based his price schedules for sale of soft coal at the mines in an attempt to stabilize the industry and prevent price cutting by competing producers.

Noble Reveals He Will Aid Willkie Fight

New York, —Edward J. Noble, wealthy Connecticut Republican and manufacturer who resigned Thursday as Under-secretary of Commerce in the New Deal Administration, announced Friday that he would work for the election of Wendell L. Willkie.

"In resigning my Government post," he said in a statement, "I felt I could be readily helpful in the field of National defense."

"It is my conviction that a change in administrations will be a vital factor in the unification of the Country and the acceleration of Defense measures."

Germans Say New Bomber Put Into Action

Berlin, — (Via Radio)—A new Dornier bomber was shown for the first time to a group of invited people today, the German radio said today, and then "employed in actions against England immediately afterward."

The new plane was described as the DP215, "an improved design of the DP17 which sometime is called the 'Flying Pencil'."

The new plane, in its demonstrations, showed ability to rise in a steep ascent from the ground to the ceiling "in an amazingly short time," the radio said, and with "incredible speed" swoop down until but a few yards from the ground when it "appeared suddenly to stand still in the air."

That radio said the pilot slowly steered the plane around the field until he shot it forward "like an arrow."

POSTPONE CERTIFICATION OF NOMINEES BECAUSE RETURNS UNREPORTED

Frankfort, Ky., —Formal certification of the August primary nominees for Congress will have to be postponed because of failure of a number of counties to report their official returns, Charles K. O'Connell chairman of the state election board, said today.

Small Torpedo Boats Found To Give Beating To Member Of Crew

Washington — The tanned commander of the American Navy's newest squadron calls his three trim vessels "distinctly a sandwich navy."

Pounding through the seas as fast as sixty miles an hour, the eight men aboard one of the new motor torpedo boats "eat all their food in their hands."

Vibration of the boat—which looks like an oversize speedboat—prevents the cook from setting up a mess table. "If 'soup's on,' the men drink it out of coffee cups."

Crew Takes Tough Beating

A terrific pounding and beating is the crew's major complaint against the boats which have been making experimental runs to determine their usefulness for American defense.

Under way, the one officer and seven or eight men who handle each torpedo boat continuously hold to the grab rails to steady themselves in their battle st.

There's a small deck atop each ship, but nobody ventures on deck when the ships are under way. Wind and waves would throw him into the sea. Instead, he passes back

Berlin Says Damage Heavy Along Thames

Claims Britons Fought Back With 3,000 Fighters

Berlin, — Authorized German sources proclaimed tonight that wave after wave of Bombers had hurled lavish destruction on the London environs late today, lining both banks of the Thames with fires, bomb craters and the wreckage of industrial plants.

The British fought back with 3,000 or more planes and with every weapon at their command. Their fury was that of men who know their very existence is in the balance.

But the mass scale German attack, unprecedented in all history, is designed to prove that "no power on earth can stop the Nazi air forces," declared German sources. They claimed the destruction of 65 British planes and acknowledged that 15 of their own were missing.

Battles Over London

Violent air battles raged over the heart of London, while the thunder of cannon reverberated in the mighty city that re-echoed with the incessant, eerie shrill of air raid sirens.

Nazi squadrons broke through the British defense zone to the south, the Germans said, and burst into the iron ring of London with great blows at airports, arsenals, arms factories and industrial plants.

"Bomb hits, fires, bomb craters, destroyed houses, planes, tremendous detonations and high columns of fire show the work of the German bombers," declared the official German news agency, DNB, in a proud running description.

"There is air alarm after air alarm, the howl of sirens and the thunder of cannon in London."

"Extensive fighting is in progress. The British are exerting every effort to halt the German attack. One recognizes clearly in the English defense that they know everything is at stake—their very existence."

DR. RUDD TO GIVE PICNIC

Dr. R. T. Rudd informed the Leader a few days ago that he has made plans for a picnic and barbecue, to be held on Tuesday, September 3, at the Fair Grounds, for all the people who came into this world under his ministrations. At the time of the announcement he stated that the oldest of these babies was now forty-five years of age and the youngest one day. For Dr. Rudd has been practicing medicine here since 1895, and in these years has been the doctor at almost 2500 births.

The good doctor is making every effort to secure the attendance of as many of these "babies" as possible. Naturally he will not be able to get all of them, for many of them have moved away to other places, and some have died, but he feels certain that several hundred will be present at the barbecue. An interesting program is in process of preparation, and will be announced later. One feature which will prove worth while is that Doctor Rudd will give a free birth certificate to all those babies who were born under his care between the years 1895 and 1914. It will be remembered that prior to 1914 there was no bureau of vital statistics in the State and therefore many persons who were born prior to that time have no birth certificate. These birth certificates are becoming more and more important these days, as it is practically impossible to qualify for Social Security benefits without such a document. These birth certificates are also important in many other ways, and any person who does not have one should secure it if at all possible.

Forty-five years is a long, long time to follow any occupation or profession, and to be a doctor for that many years is somewhat remarkable. For a doctor never heard of the wage and hour law and is on duty practically twenty-four hours per day. He is the slave, one might say, of his patients, and it is an axiom among doctors that the favorite time for patients to get sick or become sicker is in the middle of the night or later, and particularly on cold or rainy nights. Doctor Rudd has been caring for sick folks in this community for that length of time, and appears hale and hearty under all the strain that must have rested upon him for all these years. He knows more about the lanes and byways, the short cuts across fields, the location of houses far off the main roads, and more about the hopes and fears of many people than any man in town.

Not many nights in the forty years have been nights of perfect rest for this good man. Back years ago he was accustomed to hearing heavy feet on his porch and the sound of knuckles against his door. That meant trouble somewhere and like a fireman, he slept with his clothing nearby and with one eye open. In the early years it meant riding in a buggy or on horseback over muddy roads; in later years it was the sound of a telephone bell in the night and then a swifter trip in an automobile. He has seen and watched the development of Fulton, he has kept abreast of his profession and he has been drawn very close to many

SANITY IN SOUTH AMERICAN SALES

Funk fulminates in Koenigsburg and Molotoff mutters in Moscow.

Both misrepresent the American ideal of trade relationships with South America. Funk wants the world to believe that the United States seeks to monopolize South American trade by embargoing and boycotting others out of that field. Molotoff wants the world to believe that the United States plans to exclude others from South American trade by conquering and dominating countries down there. Both have amply demonstrated their own familiarity with the technique which they charge against the United States. But—

The United States, as we understand it, has no wish to exclude anybody from South American trade. That goes for Germany and Japan, as well as for everybody else in the world. The United States doesn't even object to a straight barter deal which is made on an even steven basis and leaves no aftermath of later control in the form of balances useful trade with only one country.

The United States is ready to meet all competition in the South American and all other fields, provided:

1. That it is not a "dumping competition," subsidized by some state regardless of loss for the sake of achieving other objectives that pure trade such as political infiltration.
2. That it is not based on agreements which exclude others, and is not arranged in such a way as to make the American country a permanent economic vassal of the European or Asiatic country.
3. That trade is not used merely as a club to compel political and economic concessions.

Anybody with half an eye knows that there are vast regions of South America which must trade with Europe. Vast quantities of South American products are needed in Europe and not needed in the United States. It is desirable and inevitable that such products in one way or another find their way to the place where they are needed.

Nobody questions this; nobody considers it an evil. Even if the United States could corner the whole of South American trade it would not be desirable. The United States has never had any thought of trying it.

What the United States is interested in is this: it wants to assure that no South American country is placed in a position where it must of necessity barter away its economic and political independence with its beef, coffee, wheat or bananas.

Had the totalitarian countries not exhibited such a wolfish insistence on mixing into the internal affairs of countries with which they trade, nobody would have minded the trade itself.

Any time, they want to give up intrigue and go back to hoss-tradin', Uncle Sam is willing.—Bowling Green News.

SUNSHINE AND SHADOWS

Grand Island, Neb.—A stray dog chose the municipal bathhouse for a maternity ward. It wasn't exactly suitable so police were called.

When Officer Chet Moore arrived he found three new puppies nuzzling their mother.

When Moore took them to the police station there were four.

By the time he deployed to the dog pound the count was five.

And when City Poundmaster Walt Geiss took charge it was a half dozen.

people as he ministered unto them in time of trouble.

Not only that, he has managed also to be a good citizen in many other ways and has been a tower of strength to his church and to his community. The Leader hopes that his picnic will be a real one and that hundreds of his "babies" may be present to rejoice with him that life has indeed been full and worth while, and may continue to be through the years to come.

COLLISION INSURANCE

You are a good driver, no doubt, but the hazards of the road today are such that good drivers should have adequate insurance to meet all contingencies. For in a single second emergencies may arise which will seriously endanger your property, as well as your life.

We write all forms of liability and collision insurance and can advise you fully as to your needs. We will be glad to talk over the matter with you.

"CLEAR SAILING"

In the old days the ancient captain realized the danger that lay outside the true course; so he kept to the deep waters for clear sailing.

This month we launch out on our 33rd. year in milling here in Fulton. We have endeavored to keep to the "true course" of Honesty, Friendly Service and Fair Dealings... and as a result we have enjoyed comparatively "Clear Sailing" during the past 32 years.

Again, let us insist that you stick to Browder's Flour... There's always clear sailing ahead.

REVIVAL OPENS AT MOBLEY'S CAMP

The Mobley Camp meeting, north of Water Valley, opened last night with a good attendance. Rev. Bone Fleming delivered a forceful sermon on "Prayer," taking as his text the 11th chapter of Luke, 1 to 13 verses, "Lord, Teach Us To Pray."

Rev. Fleming stressed the fact that many who try to pray, do not. One's undivided mind and entire thoughts must be given to prayer. Hail, God heard this mother's prayer and saved her son.

The public is cordially invited to attend these meetings each afternoon and night at 2:30 and 7:45 o'clock.

Nature's Danger Signal

How much easier it is to keep well than to get well. In these strenuous times so many people have fagged out "feeling." They are tired all the time. They think they are all run down when they are more apt to be all wound up. And they do not recognize this as nature's danger signal that something is wrong.

Hero Snuffs Clipper Fire

New York—A quick thinking mechanic who smothered with his hands a blaze that threatened to destroy the Yankee clipper and the British flying boat Clare was here of LaGuardia Field today.

Richard E. Ditty, 32, leaped to the port sea wing of the plane and placed his hands over a ventilation aperture from which flames spouted shortly after midnight as a crew was making routine repairs of the ship following its arrival yesterday from Lisbon. He stifled the blaze so thoroughly that the aluminum paint on the wing was unscorched.

Another mechanic suffered superficial face burns.

While a national wartime tax of 40 percent of worker's overtime pay was removed, all overtime, which is not permitted to exceed 75 hours yearly, now will be paid at the same rate as ordinary hours.

A national maximum of 48 ordinary work hours a week or nine a day, was fixed by a decree.

At the same time the government announced it would go ahead at once with a nationwide program of electrifying the railways and repairing war damages, thus giving jobs to many thousands of unemployed.

BANKERS ARE SEEKING AGREEMENT 'ESCHEAT' LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Frankfort, Ky.—A group of Louisville bankers and attorneys sought from Revenue Department today on "agreement" that the 1940 "Escheat" law is unconstitutional but no decision was reached.

Charles W. Miller, Louisville attorney, said after a two and one half hour conference with Revenue Commissioner H. Clyde Reeves and department officials that a suit would be filed to test the act's validity if the agreement were not reached. He said the department promised to give its answer next week.

The law requires certain classes of property, mostly bank-held, which has been unclaimed for a certain number of years and therefore presumed to be "abandoned," to be turned into the state treasury. Various estimates of the act's yield in one year range from $200,000 to $800,000, but the bankers minimized these estimates.

"We tried to get them to agree the law is bad, as they did two years ago on the old law," Milner said.

"When the Daltons Rode"

In an age of specialization, George Marshall, the film director, has specialized in creating new careers for feminine screen stars.

Already famous for directing Universal's "Destry Rides Again," which brought out Marlene Dietrich as a western heroine, Marshall has now accomplished the same feat for turnette Kay Francis in the new frontier action epic, "When the Daltons Rode," opening Sunday at the Fulton Theatre.

'40 MAY BE BEST YEAR IN 10 FOR U. S. FARMERS

Chicago. —With farm income running ahead of 1939 and prices of principal commodities higher than a year ago, analysis of market statistics today indicated that U. S. farmers' chances of receiving the best income in a decade depend on price trends in the immediate future.

Price developments in turn, depend partly on the war and world conditions. In the last four months of 1939 farmers benefited from sharp price rises due to the war. Now semi-paralysis of international trade and inability of many European importing nations to buy foreign farm commodities are affecting U. S. domestic prices.

Trade experts here said, however, that if restrictions on European demand are removed and some revival in export business is permitted American farmers should benefit. Certain so-called food deficit countries are believed to have substantial credits in the U. S., they said.

In the first six months of 1940 cash farm income from marketings, plus government benefit payments, totaled $3,824, 000,000, an increase of almost 9 percent compared with the first half of 1939. Exports pointed out that the margin of improvement over last year has diminished recently since the price break of May.

Tigers Drop First Game To Mayfield Last Night 8 To 1

Held to seven hits by Chief Bender the Tigers dropped the first of a three game series with Mayfield there last night 8 to 1. Yeager, Tiger left hander, gave up ten hits and two errors were made behind him. Not until the ninth inning did the Tigers get to Bender and then they failed to score, although five hits were credited to them in that frame.

Mayfield is playing here tonight and tomorrow afternoon the two clubs play in Mayfield. Following that game the Tigers will be gone for six days, playing three in Jackson and three in Hopkinsville.

DRIVERS' LICENSE SALES BELIEVED ON INCREASE

Frankfort, Ky. —Indications that more vehicle drivers' licenses are being sold this year than a year ago were given in reports to the Revenue Department today showing $65,740 to date compared to $70,587 on the same day a year ago.

A total of 527,249 licenses were issued during the license year ended July 31, and the department said it believed that figure would be topped this year.

A 1940 act imposing a ten per cent penalty on circuit clerks who fail to report sales of licenses within ten days and the fact that this year some clerks began selling them as early as June 15, were believed to be partially responsible for the larger number reported to date this year. An official said, however, it had been necessary to impose the penalty in "very few" cases as nearly all clerks had been co-operating.

Of the $527,249 taken in for the $1 licenses during the past license year, 80 per cent went to the state's general fund five to the license section's revolving administrative fund, and 15 to the circuit clerks who issue the driving permits.
