THE LISTENING POST

● The quest for human happiness is practically universal, and almost every person who has thought at all on the subject has some definite ideas. Some people appear to achieve happiness more than others, but at best it is difficult to properly appraise happiness or to say with certainty that one person is happy and another is not. Happiness comes and goes in such varying degree that it is a difficult thing to define.

● I have read a lot about happiness and have heard many persons speak on the subject. Off and on, I have also done quite a lot of thinking about it and about the only thing of which I am certain--insofar as my own experience is concerned--is that it is hardly reasonable that any person can ever be completely happy at all times. Some may dispute this, but remember I am not laying down a law for all humanity. I am merely speaking of happiness from my own experience.

● The basic law of happiness, as I see it, must be contentment. For contentment stems from the many other qualities which must be found in happiness. Contentment brings peace, and without peace there can be no happiness. Contentment brings the deep inward satisfaction of living in a good world, inhabited by good people and sets up a shield against the disturbing things which must always come in this world of ours.

● I have long since decided that happiness is a thing which comes and passes, and perhaps it is sweeter that we do lose it and regain it from time to time. Did we possess it at all times we might undervalue it and it would become a thing which we take for granted and not properly value. One will notice this is the course of a single day. One sometimes greets a new day with joy and goes down to daily work with a song in the heart. Within an hour or so something may come along which drives this song away and brings trouble in its place. An hour passes and again something may bring that song back, and thus it goes from hour to hour and from day to day. Too much happiness, too long continued, might be like too much sunshine. If we had sunshine every day in the year we would not value it so highly. No, it requires the occasional dreary day to properly set a value on the sunshine.

● Where does contentment, if it be the basis of happiness, come from? It comes from many places and under strange circumstances. It can come like a lightning flash and be gone as suddenly. It flashes on and off like an electric current, and is as mysterious. I feel it under varying circumstances. Sometimes I feel it as I write this column when the words come out like magic and I feel that I have phrased a certain sentence well. I feel it at times as I roll down a highway and look far off at green fields and rolling hills. I see it in the shape of summer clouds as they tumble across my vision, looking like battlemented towers or great inland seas. I feel it in looking at a dew wet rose, and in the sudden sweetness of a bird song. I feel it in the splendid dawns or the fading sunsets. I feel it in the peal of an organ or the marching lift of words of a splendid verse.

● Even when those things which brought peace and contentment have passed long ago, the magic of memory is such that the same contentment and peace may be recaptured suddenly and without conscious thought. Unbidden, unexpected, those memories will return to bless some moment or some hour when one may be burdened with trouble. I had such an experience the other day. I was not feeling so good at the time. The weather was terribly hot and I had to carry on some work that

Senate Kills 'Draft Wealth' Amendment

House Committee Declines To Delay Draft Until War

Washington, —On a constitutional point of order, the Senate squelched an effort today to make the conscription bill draft money as well as men.

Senator Clark (D.-Mo.), at once asserted stormily that the chamber might "dodge" the issue now but would be forced to vote upon it later.

The question was raised in an amendment by Senator Lee (D.-Okla.), proposing that in time of war the President have power to compel citizens to purchase, in accordance with their means, government bonds bearing low interest rates.

Senator Ellender (D.-La.), challenged the proposal because the Constitution prescribed that revenue-raising legislation must originate in the House. The Senate, sustained Ellender, 54 to 23.

Kentuckians Agree
Senators Barkley and Chandler Kentucky Democrats, voted with the majority.

The House military committee, working on its version of the manpower conscription bill, voted to increase the basic pay of Army enlisted men from $21 to $30. The action was taken over the opposition of Chairman May (D.-Ky.), who said it would cost $400,000,000 and that the White House was opposed to it.

The committee defeated an amendment to defer the draft until the United States went to war. It also deleted a provision under which men who were not called into the Army could be formed into home defense units. Instead, it stipulated that the units could not be created until Congress passed legislation ordering such action.

Trotsky Dies Following Attack With Pickax By Former Friend

Mexico City, —Leon Trotsky died tonight after whispering an accusation that his pick-ax assailant, "most likely" was a member of the OGPU, Soviet Secret police.

A savage attack by a confident fellowed the 60-year-old guiding genius of the Russian revolution in his home late yesterday. An emergency operation and administration of oxygen were futile. He died at 7:35 p. m. (C.S.T.) before brain surgeons from the United States could reach him by chartered planes.

The attacker was identified by police as Jacques Mortan Vandendriehoed, 36-year-old native of Iran. Bodyguards beat him off from the assault but not until he had driven the ax into the exiled revolutionary's skull.

Attached At Residence
Scene of the attack was Trotsky's fortress-like residence in the nearby village of Coyoacan, where a machine-gun attack on Trotsky

This Circus Must Have Had Only One Ring

Portland, Ore., —Mildred Acree, 26, daring young woman on a flying trapeze, lost her circus. She found it Wednesday with the help of police from two states.

Miss Acree left the circus at Florence, Ore., a week ago, intending to rejoin it at St. Helens. When she reported at St. Helens it had disappeared.

She asked Oregon State Police to help her find it. Their search was fruitless. They asked the Washington State Patrol for help. After nearly two days at police headquarters here, the disconsolate performer left to rejoin the troupe—at Chinook, Wash.

On Saturday night, August 31 the Boy Scouts of Troop 43 and their Scoutmaster, William Henry Edwards, will leave Fulton for a trip to Mammoth Cave and other places of interest in the state. At the meeting this week plans were completed for the sale of programs at the Ken-Tenn Exposition the remainder of this week, this work being carried on by the Scouts.

Death Strikes Out Poet Who Wrote 'Casey At The Bat'

Santa Barbara, Calif., —Death Wednesday struck out Ernest Lawrence Thayer, 77-year-old author of the famous poem, "Casey at the Bat."

Dashed off in a couple of hours in 1888, "Casey" first appeared in print in the San Francisco Examiner where Thayer launched a brief writing career. The poem was his best known contribution.

Later it was made famous by Actor DeWolf Hopper.

Born in Lawrence, Mass., of a wealthy New England woolen manufacturing family, Thayer was one of the leaders of the Harvard class of 1885 and also was an Ivy orator and Lampton editor. He attended the fiftieth year reunion of his class in 1935.

Water Rescue Staged By Lad Unable To Swim

Los Angeles, —Unable to swim, Vincent Monsano, 7, leaped into Echo Park Lake and rescued his brother, Richard, 5. Both nearly drowned before Vincent tugged Richard to a shallow place. An in-halator crew worked more than fifteen minutes on them. Hospital attendants praised Vincent. He said: "Richard's my brother and I didn't want to see him die."

U. S. Already Has Plans For Use Of Leased British Lands

Washington, —The United States has plans ready, it was learned today, for quick establishment of new naval and air bases to close vital gaps in hemisphere defenses as soon as negotiations are completed for leases of strategic British territory.

President Roosevelt was expected to press the detailed negotiations following the announcement of Lord Halifax, British foreign secretary, that agreement in principle already had been reached for 99-year leases of military sites stretching from Newfoundland to the Caribbean approach to the Panama Canal.

Mr. Roosevelt, who announced last week that the negotiations were in progress, apparently planned to follow a precedent established by President Theodore Roosevelt and acquire the bases by executive action rather than by formal treaty which would require Senate ratification.

The site for the American naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, was acquired by Theodore Roosevelt in 1903 at an annual rental of $2,000 through executive action alone. Cuba retained sovereignty over the territory but the United States gained complete control of the naval base area.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in announcing the British offer to lease suitable sites to this country, said there was no intention of transferring sovereignty.

The amount or form of American compensation for the leases apparently remained to be worked out. In some quarters, the negotiations continued to be linked with the proposal to transfer over-age destroyers to Great Britain.

Mr. Roosevelt last week, however, emphasized that destroyers were not involved and again cautioned newsmen at Hyde Park yesterday against speculating on the destroyer proposal.

The location of the proposed bases remained undisclosed.

Paducah Franchise Is Passed

Paducah, Ky., —The city's three-year-old power franchise fight was brought to an end Tuesday night when the Board of City Commissioners passed the twenty-first franchise ordinance to be offered since the controversy began in the spring of 1937.

Drawing and passage of the contract resulted from conferences between city officials and Kentucky Utilities Company officers. Mayor Eugene J. Leckey, advocate of municipal ownership, said he thought the franchise provided amply for the city's protection.

Will Be Advertised Twice
Ten days after the ordinance has gone into effect, which takes another ten days, the contract will be advertised for sale twice. It is generally understood that the Kentucky Utilities Company will be the only one bidding for the $1,000 minimum price.

Super Highway Paving Completed In Pennsylvania

Harrisburg, Penn., —The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission called an executive meeting today following the completion yesterday of paving the last segment in the $70,000,000 super road.

Still pending is an official dedication date for the 160-mile road between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh.

President Roosevelt has been asked to dedicate the road and Democratic State Chairman Meredith Meyers said the President told a Democratic delegation he had accepted. Meyers said the President indicated he expected to come to Pennsylvania about October 1.

Wind Sinks Woman Skipper's Schooner

Norfolk, Va., —The 58-year-old one-time West Indian schooner with which D'Arcy Grant launched her feminine adventure in the shipping trade some months ago lay at the bottom of the Chesapeake Bay today.

Miss Grant, who sought thrills as well as trade, was not in on the last big adventure because the cargo of oyster shells destined for fertilizer was "dirty and nasty." She was at her Gloucester, Va., cottage yesterday when the crew of three on the Fannie Inez fought a losing battle against a wind that toppled both masts and sank the ship off Tangier Island.

The seventy-eight-foot vessel, for which the former advertising company employe paid $800, was bound from Crisfield, Md., to Alexandria, Va.

They were accused of stealing a trunk from the trailer of one of the carnival men. The arrested men claim that they found the trunk in the weeds. Most of the clothing and articles contained in the trunk were missing.

After a thorough investigation they will be given a hearing in Fulton Police court.

Nazis Won't Guarantee Safety Of Ships With Refugee Children

Berlin, —Germany is unable to guarantee safe conduct for vessels carrying children out of war zones, the official news agency, DNE, said tonight in commenting on United States proposals to amend the neutrality law to permit American ships to carry British children westward.

DNE added that the United States move "isn't practical because it assumes all warring nations would guarantee the security of such vessels."

Infested With Mines
The agency said Germany was unable to give such assurance in view of the fact that the seas about England are infested by mines.

Germany has declared a total blockade of the British Isles, and recently urged that the troopship American Legion, bearing refugees from Petsamo, Finland, to the United States, avoid the northern coast of Scotland because of the unsafe waters. The ship's course was not changed but she now is believed out of danger.

(The United States House today completed congressional action on

Coast Houses Are Smashed; Many Killed

German Bombers Adopt Hit Run Tactics Over Isles

Germany unleashed a fearsome weapon—aerial torpedoes—against land objectives in Great Britain last night, smashing an entire row of houses with the propeller-stemmed explosive usually used only in attacks on ships.

It was the first time torpedoes were reported used effectively against land objectives in this war. Use of the aerial torpedoes on land immediately posed the question whether the Germans finally had turned to their vaunted "secret weapon" but there was no authoritative indication that this was the unveiling of the carefully-guarded mystery.

The torpedoes, accompanied by scream bombs, were hurled at one southeast town after a day of "hit and run" attacks. The row of little worker cottages immediately was turned into a shambles, burying an undetermined number of persons.

London, —Aerial torpedoes—propeller-stemmed cylinders of destruction—were loosed by Nazi bombers tonight in attacks which smashed houses by the row and buried uncounted victims in the ruins.

The torpedoes were hurled, along with shriek bombs, at one southeast town after a day of coasted hit-and-run attacks by lone Nazi raiders while the Royal Air Force kept up its steady counter-punching at German bases.

A whole row of eight little worker cottages was smashed into a tangle of debris where the torpedoes were launched horizontally. Numerous other residences were wrecked.

One old woman just put to bed by her son was in a house ribbed to splinters by the explosion. The son alone crawled from the wreckage.

Not one brick was left upon another where the adjoining house had stood.

Industry Ready to "Keep 'em Rolling" for Defense

Graphic illustration of the way in which one of America's greatest industries gears its activities with the United States Army for national defense is found at Little Falls, Minn., where the greatest peacetime maneuvers in the history of the country are being held Aug. 3-Aug. 24. To "keep them rolling," Chevrolet, one of the largest suppliers of motor transport equipment to the nation's armed forces, has set up through one of its dealers, the Bert Baston Motor Co., of Minneapolis, a complete parts and service headquarters in the military reservation at Little Falls. More than $10,000 worth of parts is maintained at this depot, where three service representatives are on duty 24 hours daily to service Chevrolet equipment in use. The $5,000 troops in actual combat maneuvers will use 1,180 Chevrolet transport units, including officers' cars, reconnaissance cars, hundreds of trucks adapted to special uses, and military ambulances.

Nine-Day Sale Of Tires Aid To Safe Roads

Announced this week nationally by Goodyear dealers in every city and town is an unusual tire merchandising event, centering around the product of a large manufacturer, in the opinion of Bob White Motor Co., local dealer, who says that for nine days, starting August 22, Goodyear G-3 All Weather Tread tires are being offered at new, low prices in an out-of-the-ordinary type plan.

"Few people need an introduction to the tire, which for years has been used by thousands, appeared as original equipment on many cars and has wide acceptance among car owners, who for years have been familiar with its attractive qualities and long wearing abilities," Mr. White said. "That's why this opportunity is all the more interesting to motorists."

Asked about the price on a 6.00-16, the size tire which 70 per cent of the cars in service now use, Mr. White said this would be $9.99 for the nine days of the sale, adding that it would be the only time this year the tire would be sold at that figure.

Pressed for a reason as to why the tires were being offered at the price, Mr. White said:

"All of the G-3 All-Weather tires are affected during the sale, with prices varying from $9.99, but at considerable savings. Reason for this sale is to contribute to the safety of highways, to give motorists a break in buying tires with treads that will really stop a car."

Nazi Fugitive Trail Hidden

Somewhere in Ontario. —Police investigated today the possibility that a 28-year-old German naval lieutenant who escaped from a Northern Ontario internment camp Monday is in Toronto or headed for the United States border.

Home guards and mounted police continued, however, an intensive search of the area around the camp, indicating belief that it is still a chance the fugitive, Werner Goche, might be hiding in that vicinity.

Reports that the officer had been seen in dense bush country were denied by officials. A wooded area was surrounded yesterday but author-

Hits Set Fire At Gibraltar

Gibraltar. —Britain's great fortress of Gibraltar was raided by enemy planes twice today.

Bombs started a fire which was brought under control, a communication said.

"During the night enemy aircraft bombed Gibraltar twice," the communication declared. "In the first raid bombs dropped in the sea, but an aircraft was brought down in the sea off Europa Point."

"In the second raid bombs dropped on the rock, causing a small fire which was quickly brought under control. There was

How much easier it is to keep well than to get well. In these strenuous times so many people have fagged out "feeling." They are tired all the time. They think they are all run down when they are more apt to be all wound up. And they do not recognize this as nature's danger signal that something is wrong.

AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR

The Kentucky College of Agriculture again will have large exhibits at the Kentucky State Fair, to be held September 7-14 at the Louisville Fair Grounds. Educational displays illustrating various phases of the college's work in agriculture and home economics will be shown at the Grandstand building, under the direction of L. C. Brewer.

Four-H club members will have entries of dairy and beef stock, swine and sheep, as well as of hundreds of jars of canned goods and displays of baked foods. Sports clothes and other garments made at home at minimum cost also will be shown. Premiums will be given to those entering outstanding products. Also there will be held judging contests of stock, foods and demonstrations, for 4-H club members.

All of Kentucky's 120 counties are expected to be represented in some way. The 4-H displays and contests will represent "the cream of the crop" as far as the work of approximately 49,000 4-H'ers are concerned. Home demonstration work will be represented by an exhibit of desirable home furnishings.

Frankfort, Ky. —An increase of 53 per cent in driver license revocations and suspensions for a year was reported today by the State Revenue Department. In the twelve months ending July 31, 753 permits were revoked and 628 suspended, as against 592 revocations and 309 suspensions the year before.

DUKE FIRED AS NAZI FRIEND HAS LIBERTY

London. —No restraint has been placed on movements of the Duke of Buccleuch, 46, removed last May as lord steward of the royal household in the widespread drive against Fifth Columnists, the Home Office said today.

It was revealed last night the Duke, one of Britain's richest landowners, had been removed from his palace post. It had been reported that Buccleuch, related by marriage to the royal family, was confined to his estates in Scotland. His dismissal on grounds of sympathy with Nazi doctrines was accomplished quietly when Winston Churchill became Prime Minister. His post was not a Cabinet appointment.

DONALDSON RESTS HIS RESIGNATION WITH CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

Washington. —J. Lyter Donaldson, Kentucky commissioner of highways, said today that he would resign as chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee if the Civil Service Commission convinced him the Hatch Act prohibited his holding both positions.

Donaldson said he wanted "unbiased opinion as to the proper interpretation of the Hatch Act in my case" and expected to obtain it from the commission.

"I don't intend to resort to any subterfuge to get around the act," Donaldson said. "If the Hatch Act requires me to refrain from political activity and to shelve myself politically, I will resign as chairman of the state committee."

His decision, he added, would be announced at a meeting of the state committee next Tuesday.

The Hatch Act requires state employees whose salary is paid in part from federal funds or who administer federal funds to refrain from political activity.

Donaldson also conferred with members of the Kentucky House delegation and Senator A. B. Chandler.

---SPORT NEWS---

The baseball season is nearing its close, and the local team faces the finish with a problematical chance to finish as high as sixth place. If the same lineup could be held until the finish it might be easily possible to displace Union City, but two pitchers finished their job here last night and are now on their way back home where they will take up their teaching jobs for the fall.

Dave Read, right hander and Lloyd Yeager, left hander, are both school teachers and these two were due to work the double header in Jackson last night. Each was to leave Fulton as soon as the team came back after the games. While Read's record has been spotty this year, his last game against Mayfield showed that he still had the same magic in his right arm, and Yeager has been most impressive in many games. It will be difficult, practically impossible, to replace these two pitchers. Harig, former Oiler hurler, has been signed, but he is practically a grab in the dark and no one knows how he will fit into the Tiger lineup. One bright spot in the picture was that Harry Sprute came through with a whale of a game against Jackson, losing 4 to 2, and being the victim of errors in several crucial plays. Had these errors not been committed, or had the Tigers worked on Killa Kinder a bit stronger, Big Harry might have had another game to his credit. If he can keep up that sort of pitching he can win some games in the fading days of the season. Big and strong as a horse, Sprute works as hard as any man ever worked to win games, and if ever gains control he will certainly travel in faster company some of these days. It would be a fine thing if he could begin to win now, for he is going to be needed, and could work every other day if it happened to be necessary.

The Tigers are in Hopkinsville for the remainder of the week and if the Hoppers continue to roll over and play dead for them as they have for the other teams we might come home with three straight victories over them. However, on the last visit to Hopkinsville the Tigers dropped three in a row, and of the eight which the Hoppers won three came of the Tigers. On the last visit of the Hoppers here the Tigers romped on them for three games, and local fans are hoping to see the thing repeated this week.

The Tigers come home for a difficult task. Owensboro comes here for three games, and then Bowling Green, the latter team as hot as a couple of firecrackers and with pennant fever burning all over them, comes for four days, with probably one double header to be played. Seven games in six days against top notch teams is what the Tigers face for the final straight week here. Following those games the Tigers take on Mayfield, Paducah and Union City in some of these crackerjacked series when nobody quite knows where the team will be the next day. Three games with Mayfield, two or three with Paducah and a couple with Union City will wind up the season, and anybody with one eye and half sense can see that the Tigers are coming down the stretch against formidable opposition.

A lot of interest is being manifested in the tournament for the city golf championship and some good matches have been played and will be played. Twenty players have qualified for the tournament, and from this number the city champion will emerge. Several matches have already been played, but few of the favorites have been eliminated as yet, and when the final thirty-six hole match is played it is evident that the best two players will be out there battling.

CONSERVATION CAMP FOR 4-H CLUB BOYS

Conservation of health, wild life, soil and other natural resources will feature the program of the annual 4-H Club Conservation Camp at the Boy Scout grounds at Prospect, Kentucky, August. Approximately 100 boys from 45 to 50 counties will attend.

Sponsors and cooperating agencies include the 4-H club department of the State College of Agriculture; Charles L. Horn, Minneapolis, Minn., sportsman; county sportsmen's clubs; the State Fish and Game Division; the State Board of Health; the Soil Conservation Service; the Tennessee Valley Authority; the Boy Scouts; the American Trappers' Association; the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, and the Federal Fish Hatchery and the Sutcliffe Company of Louisville.

LEAFSPOT DEVELOPS WHERE SOIL IS POOR

Most of the dark tobacco soil where leafspot occurs, is low in fertility. Tests which the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station made in 109 tobacco fields showed that about 80 percent of them were too low in phosphorus and potassium for satisfactory growth of tobacco. The investigators said that tobacco growing on such deficient soils would be more liable to damage by leafspotting organisms than that growing on rich land.

Potash hunger, caused by lack of readily available potassium in the soil, was more prevalent than usual in both dark and burley tobacco last year. Because of the large, dead, marginal spots that occur on maturing tobacco where potassium is deficient, potash hunger often is confused with wildfire. It is stated in 16 fields where potash hunger symptoms were striking, tests showed soluble potash to be low.

Blaze Makes Chief On Time To See Dentist

Puyallup, Wash., —Fire Chief Chester Brakefield had twelve minutes to make his 2:30 appointment with the dentist. The alarm rang.

He raced to the fire—at the office of Dr. M. R. Thomas, dentist. The small blaze extinguished, the chief looked at his watch, climbed into the chair and said: "Right on the dot, eh, Doc?"

EXTRA GOOD EGGS BRING NO REWARD

Farmers who produce high-quality eggs should be paid for them accordingly, says Stanley Caton of the Kentucky College of Agriculture in a new circular called "Good Eggs for Market." The trouble seems to be that they often are not paid on a quality basis. Buyers count the eggs and that is all there is to it. All of which is discouraging to farmers who try to produce quality products. Copies of the circular may be had from county or home demonstration agents or by writing to the College of Agriculture.

BURLEY TOBACCO HIGHEST IN 1936

War did not bring Kentucky Burley tobacco growers their best prices, according to a new bulletin of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station called, "Thirty Years of Farm Prices and Production in Kentucky." The highest average price was $35.70 a hundred, paid for the 1936 crop. In 1919, during the war boom, the price averaged $34.23.

Highest average price for early spring lambs was $14.86, paid in 1918. Second highest was in 1922—$13.90. Highest average in recent years was $10.37, received in 1937.

The bulletin contains 116 tables of price and production statistics, mainly for the past 30 years. Its purpose is to provide agricultural economic data for Kentucky useful to farmers, county agents, agricultural students, teachers and others interested in agriculture.

ENGLISH DETERMINATION

Among high officials in Washington there is extreme pessimism over the changes for British victory in the current Battle of Britain. High officials there make no secret of their deep concern over British chances and many have openly expressed the opinion that the British have no chance whatever. Certainly the facts are with such an opinion, for the British must be taking a terrible beating from air as Germany attempts to soften resistance until an invasion can be launched. Probably also the British are exacting a fearful toll in their air raids, and certainly both sides are minimizing their losses. Admitting, however, that the British are bringing down more planes than they lose, the fact remains that Germany, being the attacker, expects heavier losses and is prepared to stand these losses. From all information which is available it seems reasonable that Hitler might lose three for one and still win mastery of the air. The one unknown factor of the struggle remains the great British fleet. Thus far it has engaged in no major struggle, and it yet has to show whether it can cope with air fleets. Likewise, it must show whether it can cope with a German land invasion in the narrow confines of the English Channel.

Strangely, the British say that it is only in the United States that they find all this pessimism. In the British Isles there is supreme confidence in ultimate victory. It is said that British morale remains high and confidence is unshaken. In a recent issue of the Baltimore Sun an article appeared from James Bone, editor of the Manchester Guardian. Mr. Bone is said to be free of all propaganda and writes as he sees things. With the smooth phrasing of a trained British writer, Mr. Bone says: "There is no thought here that we shall not be able to successfully resist all attacks. There will be blood and tears, but he shall not pass. He may have surprises for us, but we shall have some nasty ones for him. The weeks will show."

Then Mr. Bone quotes that thrilling final sentence from Mr. Churchill's speech of last June, reprints of which can be read on the walls of offices and rooms all over England. Said Mr. Churchill: "We shall not flag nor fail; we shall fight on the seas and on the oceans; we shall fight with growing confidence in the air; we shall defend our island whatever the cost—we shall never surrender."

Such confidence as that is something which is really greater than armament. It is something spiritual, something which does not stop to count the odds and which marches through obstacles as though they did not exist. The English may be beaten, and the odds appear that they will be, but when a nation has such a leader as Churchill and such national confidence in him as the English appear to have, the odds undoubtedly shorten.

Mr. Churchill stated a day or so ago that British plane production was now greater than production in Germany. If this is true, it is a hopeful sign, but one must remember that German planes still vastly outnumber

THE NATURAL SEQUENCE OF CHICAGO EVENTS

Conviction of Moses Annenberg and the suppression of his racing news service are followed in due course by a Chicago gang killing. Police had no difficulty in identifying the victim as a handbook operator or in establishing a motive. They understand that peace will be restored as soon as the constituted powers choose sides and extend protection to one of the factions contending for Annenberg's concession. The crisis is self-liquidating.

The news service having been nation-wide, the scramble for its business is nationwide. Harry Bloom mentioned in The Louisville Times the vengeful wrecking of a racing information agency's office at St. Matthews. That reprisal and the Chicago assassination followed in natural sequence the dislocation of an integrated racket. A New York newspaper correspondent at the front during the peak of the Chicago gang war a few years ago shrewdly remarked that the difference between the two cities was that New York had only one gang and Chicago several. But when Mayor LaGuardia withdrew police protection and Dewey's grand jury went into action, the metropolis witnessed a little blood-letting.

Monopoly, not competition, is the life of underworld trade. The "wide-open town" of the Gay Nineties was sealed tighter than a super-vacuum can to presumptuous outsiders. Reduced to an economic equation, protected monopoly was to the affluent "horse parlors" of the Annenberg era as free competition is to itinerant "bookies" with their pencils and pads.

Sometimes the dominant political powers are in doubt about the line-up of underworld keymen. In such cases it is discreet to await further developments in the process of elimination. Premature anxiety to protect the weaker or less resolute faction could prove embarrassing.—Courier-Journal.

Danville, Ill.—Two turkey gobblers, obsessed with "motherly instincts," have been making life miserable for a guinea hen on the Cy Payne poultry farm. Payne said he discovered the male turkeys had evicted the hen from her nest and were taking turns hatching her eggs.

the embattled British. The hopeful thing, as many people see the situation, is that when German ships are shot down over England the trained pilots are either killed or captured and are thus lost to the Germans. Many of the British pilots who are shot down manage to bail out and land safely and live to fight again. Many experts agree that a shortage of pilots may prove to be the turning point of the war. No matter how many planes a nation has, if there is a shortage of trained pilots, full value of the planes will not be realized.

Frankford Arsenal sent out a call Saturday to other states for the 3,000 craftsmen "urgently needed" under the intensified national defense program.

The Arsenal recently advertised for skilled workers, but, said Maj. Ulysses J. L. Peoples, Jr., commanding officer, a two-week registration found only seventy qualified men. He declared:

"In spite of the Federal Government's orders to double our capacity by going on twenty-four hour production, we haven't been able to do anything but remain on a five-day, forty-hour week.

Cora Tinscher, of Portsmouth in Breathitt county, has a garden with 32 different varieties of vegetables in it. "This is far in excess of the run-of-the-mill garden, usually specializing in corn, potatoes and beans," comments County Agent J. C. Felner.

After extensive experiments, Grant county farmers have found that the "hillside ditch" has a place in local drainage work. This type as well as the small terrace fills conditions the more elaborate ditches or terraces cannot. It is reported.

Tennessee WPA Worker Admits Part In Murder He Helped Bury

Paris, Tenn., —Clyde Atkins, 22, was charged here yesterday with the murder of a relative by marriage for whom he helped dig the grave Saturday.

The young former WPA worker confessed Sunday, Sheriff O. A. Jackson said, to taking part in the robbery of Cletus Clark, farmer who was found dead on his porch Friday morning with his hands tied behind his back with window cord.

An accomplice of Atkins whose identity is known is being sought by officers who finally broke down the denials of Atkins after almost continuous grilling since his arrest Saturday.

The crime netted $5 for the two who said they expected $1000. In a confession signed before the sheriff Sunday, Atkins said he and his accomplice went to the Clark farm, seized the 50-year-old bachelor, tied his hands and took the $5 from him.

They took him into the house and began a search for the money. Atkins said he was looking through some papers in an old tobacco sack, with his back turned to the others, when he heard a blast from a double-barreled shotgun. He turned to find the farmer wounded, but in the confusion he did not explain how the shooting was done.

The sheriff said he had found the shotgun in Atkins' possession. A neighbor reported hearing the bachelor call for help and then the sound of a shot.

Atkins' brother is the husband of the dead man's sister. Atkins went to a cemetery near Connersville, about 10 miles north of Paris, Saturday and aided in digging the grave for the murdered man. He declined to attend the funeral, however. He also refused to go into the funeral home earlier with other members of the family.

Officers noting his reluctance placed him under arrest at noon Saturday and began their insistent questions.

Officers aiding the sheriff in the case were Deputies Curtis Hall, Clifford Pennington and Homer Swayne, and City Patrolmen Jesse Vaughn and Bandy Brookshire.

CHURCHILL SAYS CASUALTY LIST TOTALS 92,000

London, —Winston Churchill disclosed to the nation today that Britain's dead, wounded and missing including civilians are 92,000 so far in this war.

Calling it, in fact, "only a continuation of the last" despite great differences in its character, Churchill said the earlier conflict of millions of men against masses of steel had been replaced by a combat of strategy, organization of technical apparatus, science, mechanics and morale.

British casualties in the first year of the great war amounted to 365,000 he said, adding:

"In this war, I am thankful to say, British killed, wounded, prisoners and missing including civilians are about 92,000 but of these a large proportion are alive as prisoners of war."

BRITAIN'S FLOATING ELEPHANTS RECEIVE PAT ON BACKS

London, —Britain's "fat friends," variously known also as "floating elephants" or "old floppies," or just plain barrage balloons have won a pat on their broad backs from military experts.

Once dismissed with a laugh by many observers, the great, cable-tethered sausages now are credited with causing Nazi bombers to miss countless targets and with aiding RAF fighters and ground gunners in bagging more than 500 German planes in the past week.

RAF officials point to the persistent attacks by German pilots on the big balloons in answering questions as to whether they are effective.

"They are not doing that just for the fun of it," one air expert pointed out.

They risk expensive Henschel fighters to bring down a bag of rubberized cloth that can be patched up in a jiffy unless it burns and put right back up in the air in a few hours.

"As a matter of fact the balloons with their trailing cables proved well worth their salt in the past week in doing their assigned job namely, protecting vulnerable points from dive bombers and in making raiders fly at the heights we want them to fly."

NAVY SUFFERS AS INDUSTRIES FAVOR BRITAIN

Washington, —A high Navy official's statement that "progress has stopped" on procurement of ship materials, partly because industry has found business with the British more profitable, was made public today by the Senate appropriations committee.

The statement, by Rear Admiral W. R. Furlong, was contained in testimony on a $5,000,000,000 defense appropriation. The committee released the testimony subsequent to its approval of the bill yesterday.

The admiral, chief of the Navy's bureau of ordnance, was quoted as saying that "I thought possibly this committee would be interested in knowing the facts and that progress has stopped on the procurement of materials that go into ships."

"The Navy had no trouble whatever," he continued, "until business picked up and the Army, having increased appropriations, began to buy guns without the operation of the Vinson-Trammell Act (limiting profit). This and the foreign nations' and other government departments' buying without the operation of the Vinson-Trammell Act has caused business from the Navy to be unattractive."

STATE GETS TITLE TO SEIZED ILLEGAL LIQUOR

Frankfort, Ky., —Harry D. France, state Revenue Department counsel, said today the state was given title to 169 cases of liquor and Albert Hageman of Covington was sentenced to a $500 fine and 30 days in jail at Burlington yesterday on charges of transporting liquor without a license.

France said the liquor was purchased at Bardonia by the Royal Distillers of Cairo, Ill., shipped to Jeffersonville, Ind., and then brought back into Kentucky and seized in Boone county.

NAZIS CROD DOWN
FRANCE'S FAMED
"TREE OF LIBERTY"

Berlin. —France's "tree of liberty" in the Alsatian town of Zabern was chopped down Wednesday amid cries of "Sieg Heil" to Adolf Hitler and the roll of drums.

The French planted the tree in 1915 when Alsace was regained.

Nazi leader Hitler told the group of Hitler youth and other participating Nazi organizations:

"This tree was planted as a symbol of freedom as understood by the French. For Germany this tree is symbol of slavery and oppression. Now the tree must fall and the roots be torn out because everything foreign must be torn out of the homeland."

DESTROYERS COULD BE DISPATCHED TO BRITAIN
WITHIN ONE WEEK

Washington. —Fifty United States destroyers could be made ready to leave the east coast for England within one week should Congress accede to Prime Minister Churchill's plea for ships, a naval authority said today.

More than 100 of the 123 over-age destroyers owned by this country have been recommissioned and the remainder are to be returned to service shortly.

The destroyers, which had been lying idle under protective coatings of grease and red lead, were reconditioned for neutrality patrol, escort duty and other limited service after the outbreak of war in Europe.

SHIPS WARNED TO WAIT FOR CANAL INSTRUCTIONS

Balboa, Canal Zone. —An order requiring all vessels entering the ports of Balboa and Cristobal to halt for instructions near naval vessels stationed outside the entrances to the Panama Canal was issued Wednesday night by Gov. Glen Edgerton of the Canal Zone.

Otherwise, said the order, it would be "unsafe" to proceed on account of "changes being made from time to time in the channels."

TOWN TO LET TRAINS
"SPEED"—AT 15 M. P. H.

Dothan, Ala. —After more than thirty years the city fathers have decided to let trains "speed" through Dothan at fifteen miles an hour.

The commission rewrote Tuesday an old and dusty ordinance that limited train speed to six miles an hour.

Traffic officers had protested the snail's pace often resulted in traffic being blocked while trains chugged through downtown crossings. So the ordinance of "Horse and buggy" days went by the board.

This month we launch out on our 33rd. year in milling here in Fulton. We have endeavored to keep to the "true course" of Honesty, Friendly Service and Fair Dealings... and as a result we have enjoyed comparatively "Clear Sailing" during the past 32 years.

Tigers And Generals Again Break Even In Double Bill In Jackson

For the second straight time the Tigers and Generals divided a double header in Jackson, the games last night being the last to be played between the two teams. One of the games last night represented a game which had been rained out in Fulton and the Tiger management agreed to replay the game in Jackson. Fulton won the first game 11 to 5, getting to Carl Gaiser for sixteen thumping blows, and Jackson won the second game 6 to 2, getting nine hits off Lloyd Yeager. Read pitched the first game for the Tigers and Sprute came to his rescue in the seventh when the winds began to blow.

In the first game Merkel and Parker hit homers for the Generals, but the Tigers were in a hitting humor and slammed everything Carl Gaiser served up to the plate. The game was without errors. Peterson, with three hits, batted in five runs for the Tigers, his hits including a double and a triple. Mullen had a pair of doubles, while Males also had a double.

The Generals hit Yeager nine times in the second game, and kept in the lead all the way. Jess Webb was on the hill for the Generals and kept seven hits well scattered. He fanned seven men. Jones, Jackson short stop, had three for three.

These games marked the end of the road for Dave Read and Lloyd Yeager, both teachers, who left last night and this morning for their homes. The Tigers left today for Hopkinsville to play a series of three games and will start a long home stand here Sunday against Owensboro.

LISTENING POST (Continued from Page One)

I particularly detested, and the world seemed quite a dreary place at the moment. Unbidden came a sudden memory. I remembered an old water mill on a small stream many miles from this town. I knew the place as a child. I remembered the broad sweep of the mill pond, arched over with green trees and with water of a deep clearness. I remembered the lazy mill wheel as it turned slowly under the impulse of the running water. I remembered the speckled trout which swam about in the troubled water of the mill race. I remembered a spring which gushed out of a rock wall adjacent to the mill wheel. I remembered how the little river looked above the mill pond, as it turned and twisted through the valley. All of those memories came clearly, vividly and brought quick peace and contentment. Curiously I knew that the spot no longer existed. A few years ago I looked up the place and found the mill destroyed, the river moved, either through dredging operations or sudden floods, and the scene as I so vividly remember it, no longer exists. Yet it cannot be taken away from me, for it is preserved on the plates of memory as "if drawn with a tool of diamond."

● In any one of a hundred ways I feel contentment, but I know that it is but passing and transient. That feeling will not last. It must give way to darker moods, as the sun must give way to darker days, but I know also that the feeling of exaltation, or deep contentment, will come again. In direct proportion to the number of those high moments will be the number of happy days. For contentment is the first law of happiness.
