The basic law of happiness, as I see it, is that we have to believe in a world where there is love and warmth. Because as long as we can believe that there is love and warmth in the world, we can always find happiness in our lives. This is the key to happiness, I believe. It is not about achieving happiness more often, but it is about the way we see the world and the way we react to it. I believe that the way we see the world is the key to happiness.

“CLEAR SAILING”

In the old days, the ancient captain realized the danger that lay outside the fairway; he kept to the lighthouse for clear sailing.

This month we launch out on our 23rd year in milling here in Fulton. We’ve endeavored to keep up the “true course” of Homey, Friendly Service and Fair Dealings and, as a result, we have enjoyed comparatively “Clear Sailing” during the past 23 years.

Again, let us insist that you stick to Browder’s Flour...there’s always clear sailing abroad.

ENGLISH DETERMINATION

Among high officials in Washing-ton there is extreme pessimism over the chances for British victory in the current Battle of Britain. High officials there make no secret of their concerns over British chances and many have openly expressed the opinion that the British have no chance what-ever. Certainly the facts are with such an opinion, for the British must be at- taking a terrible beating from air as Germany attempts to knock them out, until an invasion can be launched. Probably also the British are ex-speriencing a fearful toll in their air raids, and certainly both sides are minimizing their losses. Admittedly the factor of the Channel remains a great British blessing. They have so far it cannot be said that they have been engaged in major, and it is still to be hoped that they can cope with air fleets. Likewise, it must be shown whether or not they can cope with a German air fleet invasion in the narrow confines of the English Channel.

Strangely, the British say that it is only in the United States that they find any escape from pessimism. In the British Isles there is supreme confidence in ultimate victory. It is said that Brit-is hush remains unbroken, that de-mise is unthinkable. In a recent issue of the Baltimore Sun an article appeared from James Bone, editor of the Manchester Guardian. Mr. Bone is said to be of all propaganda and writes as he sees it. Within a month's span of a trained British writer. Mr. Bone says: "There is no panic in Britain. Here we shall be able to successfully resist all attacks. There will be blood and tears, but not pain. He may have surprises for us, but we shall have more serious ones for him. The weeks will show."

Then Mr. Bone quotes that thrilling final sentence from Mr. Churchill's speech of last June. Reprints of which can be read on the walls of offices and rooms all over England. Said Mr. Churchill: "We shall fight them at sea, we shall fight on the seas and on the oceans; we shall fight with growing confidence in the air; we shall defend our island whatever the cost; we shall never surrender."

Such confidence as that is some- thing which really gives an armament. It is something spiritual, something which does not stop to count the odds and sometimes march through obstacles as though they did not exist. The English say that the odds are against them and the odds appear that they will. But when a nation that has such a leader as Churchill and such national confidence as it has are ready to have the odds undoubtedly shortened.

Mr. Churchill stated a day or so ago that British plane production was now less than production in Ger-many, but that still greater than in Ger-many. The German planes still vastly outnumber
"Stubborn Man" Is Blamed For Sending Ship To Danger Area

WASHINGTON—The Bible forewarns an accusation today that a single "stubborn man," Senator Franklin D. Roosevelt or someone in his State Department, had failed to change the course of the replacement American League and German ships that might have precipitated the war.

The answer, Senator Heney (D-Wis.), spoke while the Army transport bearing 897 passengers was mined in the mined area in the Ohio River near Lawrenceburg, and the crew was unaware of his death by a German submarine. The vessel was blown skyward.

"Someone is risking the lives of many people, and we are anxious to reverse this trend," Senator Heney said. "We feel that we are really rendering a community service in making home ownership possible for many people, and we are anxious to continue this service. If you have a home now, it is the time to purchase it. Collapses have been reported by a German submarine. The vessel was blown skyward."

"BLACK SHANK" REPORTED

Again the black shank disease of tomatoes has been reported in Kentucky, this time from Owen county, according to Dr. W. D. Vallance of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. The disease is very destructive, and every effort should be made to check its spread. When black shank is present, the entire plant must be destroyed, taking on the appearance of yellow leaves. A shank and in the plant, and when split, the stalk is black.

Suspicious cases should be reported to the county farm agent, or directly to the Experiment Station.
