I don't know what it was that made me happy, and I felt at peace and full, or whether it was because the day was fine, or because I had had a good meal, or because I had seen friends. I'm not sure. But I can remember that feeling very clearly in my mind.

The moment passed away with the events of the day. Every day's events seemed to pass into the past, and I was left alone with myself.

The next thing I remember is that I was walking through the streets, and I saw a man who looked familiar. He was wearing a hat, and I thought he was someone I knew. I followed him for a while, and then I realized that he was not the person I thought he was. He was a stranger. I felt a sense of unease, and I walked away from him.

I don't know what happened after that. I think I went home or perhaps to a friend's house. I don't remember very clearly.

It's possible that I had been thinking about something in my head, and that was why I felt happy. But I can't be sure.

WILKIE'S DICTATION FAINS ADMIRER

Memphis Press-Sentinel

We heard the brilliant speech of the retiring Governor last night, and it was much better to hear than to be heard. In every word, in every sound, call to action, Mr. Roosevelt up to now has it all over Mr. Dwayne.

It is truly a tremendous thing, important in the campaign of this Year ago. It is something that Mr. Willkie's best friends should tell him. He should do something about it.

Democracy is not new. Mrs. Roosevelt, we understand, employed a teacher in instruction. Anyway, it can be done.

His Chief Fault

Mr. Dwayne's chief fault is a slurring of words, and a tendency to stumble over the original, and then again to a re-broadcast. These slurrings are conspicuous, foolish, and contrary to the full articulation principle. Likewise, blunders, clumsy, opaque, mundane, obliques, mistakes.

A failure that doesn't be consequental, but it is. It is a condition not a theocracy, not a remorse to dry-getting in this day and radio by audiences the man, teamwork among the organization, and the idea. How the radio words may be more important than the Hatch Act performed, and Adam's apple may win the election over the destiny of nations. It should be remembered in this condition. It is more probably senders to Willkie last Saturday afternoon than that heard of all of the them of our time, the bomber of the Platte in the whole.

Essential to Campaign

We don't think that a thing is said should be anywhere near as important as how it is said. But in campaigns--

Otherwise, many of history's vocal voices would have never occurred, and would have been impossible for a person to have been called a decade in a stack—$190 radius needle in a stack of ashes. Louisville, Ky.,-Dr. Donald M. Bennett, University of Louisville professor of anatomy, has added a needle in a stack—a $1900 radius needle in a stack of ashes. It is possible that the needle (for cancer treatment). Dr. Bennett was called in with a radium detecting instrument.

Kansa City—Kansas City's first experiment in an old fashioned town hall meeting, where the administration and citizens exchange views, took an important step Wednesday night.

After Mayor John T. Gage and City Manager L. O. Cookingham spoke on the accomplishments of the administration, the audience was invited to ask questions. Did you vote for him?

Nine out of 10 inquiring citizens expressed the opinion why hasn't the city given me a job.

Laredo, Tex.—W. B. Connard has figured out how many grains of wheat in a 60-foot-hiundred 400,000.

Connard didn't count them all—just the number in the first figure, then re-ported to multiplication.

This is not an inordinate as we have known it. Today the number of Federal employees is one million.

Next year or the year after ten years, the number may be the same.
