Citizens Want Streets Paved

One of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held in Fulton for improving the city was called by the Chamber of Commerce for last Tuesday night to get the consensus of opinion as to whether the property owners were in favor of continuing the street improvement program this year. The crowd in attendance was so large that the Chamber of Commerce room was too small and the meeting was held in the court room at the city hall.

President A. M. Nugent presided and gave each one present all the time desired to express themselves. The street improvement program was discussed from every angle and not one was against it.

Just before closing, Mr. Nugent called on Mayor Shankle for an expression. In his talk, the mayor said he and his council were heartily in favor of continuing the street improvement program, but was frank to say that the city was financially embarrassed and asked that some one suggest a way for the city to get the money to pay their part after the work was done.

Suggestions were made by several, and a vote was taken that petitions be circulated on various streets by those interested and turned over to the council signed up at their meeting tonight, Friday, March 16.

No one in attendance at Tuesday night's meeting will say but what the citizens of Fulton want the street improvement program continued this year. Practically every property owner present voted for it, and a big majority made good talks on the subject.

It is our honest opinion that the street work will begin as quickly as possible and that 1929 will find practically every street in the city paved, and maybe some of the alleys.

Tonight the council will hold a meeting especially for the purpose of getting the census of those who really want good streets for Fulton. You are invited to attend the meeting.

OBION COUNTY KILLING ANGERS CITIZENS

Specials sent out from Union City Sunday, stated that a mob of nearly 300 men searched the Obion county jail there Sunday night for Johnnie Vaughn and Edward Daniel, charged with the fatal shooting of Roland Bell, 21, of whom Vaughn was jealous, Saturday night, while he was buggy riding with his sweetheart, Miss Angie Stone.

The search was unavailing, as Sheriff J. R. McCain had spirited the two men away some hours earlier, when he learned that a lynching was contemplated.

Bell, a young farmer living at Crockett, 10 miles south of Union City was found shot to death about 6 o'clock Sunday morning in a field near Rives. His body was found by a searching party that had been formed when details of the tragedy had been told by Miss Stone, Bell's sweetheart, to her parents, who live on a farm 12 miles south of Union City.

Vaughn and Daniel were arrested after the finding of the body.

Stepped Him in Road
According to an account given by Miss Stone to officers, her playmate and childhood lover back far as grade school days, had come to her boarding house to take her home for the weekend. Miss Stone is employed at the Brandeas store in Union City.

They started home in Bell's buggy about midnight. When about a mile south of Rives, Daniel and Vaughn appeared in the road and ordered Bell to stop. As he stopped, Miss Stone says, Vaughn began firing at Bell, who was climbing out of the buggy.

Bell screamed to her that he was shot and began running into a field by the side of the road. She says that she started to follow him, but was caught by Vaughn, who forced her into the rear seat of an automobile and took her to the home of her parents.

Victim Climbed Fences
Bell climbed three fences in his flight from Vaughn and crossed two large fields, falling dead near a deserted farm house on the Clements farm.

The trouble is said to have started when Vaughn accosted Bell, who had escorted Miss Stone to her boarding house, where she had gone to pack her traveling bag preparatory to going home for the week end. Vaughn is said to have told Bell that if he was seen with Miss Stone any more he would kill him, and that he might start to take her home, but he would never get there. The noise of the argument aroused the owner of the home and she ordered Vaughn from the premises, threatening to call the police.

Miss Stone said that Vaughn had tried to force his attentions upon her at times, but that she had always treated him coldly. It is said that he had threatened Bell prior to Saturday.

Vaughn Arrested at Home
When Vaughn was arrested at his home Sunday morning he is said to have admitted shooting Bell and asked the officers if Bell was dead. Daniel was arrested at his rooming house. He denies any knowledge of the shooting.

ANOTHER PRODUCTION RECORD

Herbert Howell, a prosperous young farmer of near Crutchfield, called at The Advertiser office this week and reported that he is getting 40 eggs daily from his flock of 50 Barred Rocks. If any one can beat this record, tell us about it. Mrs. Howell shares the honors with Herbert in raising poultry.

MORE IMPROVEMENT AT THE ORPHEUM

This week carpenters are building a balcony in the Orpheum Theater to provide larger seating capacity for the anticipated crowds at this popular photoplay house. The lobby has been lately beautified, and Mr. Chisholm says he will continue improvements until his show house is perfection within itself.

WILL GRAVEL ROAD

The Hickman County fiscal court has accepted a proposition submitted by citizens of the eastern section of the county, by which the present Clinton and Mayfield road via Dublin is to be graveled from the foot of the Wilson Hill across the bottom to what is known as the Jim Campbell corner. Fiscal court is to pay one-half the cost, while citizens of the community will pay the other half. Work on this road began Monday.

Older Boys' Conference

Open Three Days Session in Fulton Today

The third annual Older Boys' Conference of the Purchase District will convene in Fulton on March 16 for a session of three days. This meeting is under auspices of the State Y. M. C. A. and a splendid program has been prepared. The Chamber of Commerce and the civic clubs of the city will give a banquet to the visitors on Friday evening at 6:30 in the Methodist church. On Saturday the exercises will be held in the Baptist church, and in the afternoon all will go on an auto trip to Hickman, Sunday morning the boys will attend the churches of their respective choice, and in the afternoon there will be a mass meeting in the Baptist church at which the principal speaker will be C. W. Barkley, state Y. M. C. A. secretary of Illinois.

Interesting programs have been arranged for each day's meeting.

PLAN SCHOLASTIC MEET

High schools all over Western Kentucky will send their honor students to Mayfield on March 17, to compete in the annual contests of the inter-scholastic league.

At least 80 high school students are to be entered in a dozen or more speaking, musical and scholarship contests here on that date.

The affair is to be in charge of the girls of Mayfield High School and working committees will be composed of the young ladies of the school.

In planning the day the girls are arranging a hearty welcome for the visitors and will serve a luncheon to the contestants and their coaches. The contests will be staged at the high school auditorium during the day. Mayfield will have two bands in the contest and will have entrants in each of the competitive divisions of the annual event. About 25 schools will be represented.

AMBULANCE SERVICE DAY OR NIGHT

Fulton Undertaking Company Adds Latest Model Invalid Car to Equipment

The new ambulance just added to the Fulton Undertaking Company's equipment is being admired by all who see it. The new invalid car is the very latest model manufactured by the Sayers & Scovill Company, and can well be called a "palace on wheels." It has little of the outward appearance of an ambulance, there is nothing at all sombre about it; rather, it suggests good cheer, comfort and competency.

In this quiet, smoothly floating "hospital on wheels," a trip can be made with the utmost comfort and security. The large and spacious invalid chamber is cheerful and inviting; the car rides with marvelous ease; and it is in charge of trained attendants who are courteous and considerate. It is fully equipped with every need. The invalid couch with snowy linen, makes it restful; removable seats are provided for attendants, and there is a first-aid kit, also hot and cold water, electric fan to regulate the temperature in warm weather and an efficient heater for cold days. Sanitary drinking cups are encased in glass containers.

There have been times when a rush trip to the hospital meant a better chance of recovery—even the life of a loved one saved.

Messrs. Lowe and Stubblefield are to be congratulated on their new ambulance equipment. They say the new car is now on regular duty, affording the community professional invalid car service.

CHILD HEALTH CONFERENCE

Dr. Myrtle Lee Smith, Louisville, and Miss Florence Houswald, nurse, announce a Child Health Conference for preschool children will be held on March 16 at Fulton Health Office from 9 to 12 a. m., and 1 to 4 p. m.

The purpose of the conference is to help mothers keep little children well and to give them the advantage of a physical examination and health instruction to mothers.

CUBAN WARFARE REPEATED FOR "THE ROUGH RIDERS"

"They tried to catch us with their bare hands," said one of the amazed enemy of the Rough Riders after the battle of Las Guasimas.

And truly, the events before, during and after the first baptism of the famous regiment, as depicted faithfully in "The Rough Riders" coming to the Grand Theatre Monday and Tuesday, have never been duplicated in any war.

Picture the shouting troops landing at Daiquiri in an enemy's country like a crowd of schoolboys on a picnic, whooping and singing around camp fires, paying as scant attention to the danger of the Spanish forces nearby as though the latter were not there, laughing and dancing and howling with triumph and glee.

After three hours of troubled rest they arise and go forward with the dawn, seeking battle with the foe, still shrieking, throwing off the restraint of older, wiser soldiers.

Roosevelt rides along remarking, "This looks like good deer country." Colonel Wood, at the head of his column, has sent out an advance guard. In the advance are Captain Capron and Sergeant Hamilton Fish, those two gallant men who gave their lives in Cuba.

"Pass the word back to keep silence in the ranks," orders Col. Wood, portrayed by Col. Fred Lindsay. Roosevelt, impersonated by Frank Hopper, can barely conceal his anxiety to get into the thick of the expected encounter. Only when a sudden fire is drawn from the enemy and a bullet splinters the bark of a tree three inches from his nose does he settle down to a joyous calm.

And—that's just a glimpse of what "The Rough Riders" holds in store for every man, woman and child in the world. It's a historical document that must be seen!

BELOVED WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Friends of Supt. H. W. Williams deeply sympathize with him in the loss of his devoted mother, Mrs. Anna Housman, who died at her home in Mayfield, Tuesday morning, after an illness of several weeks, where she was loved and esteemed by all who knew her. She was a consecrated Christian woman and her passing will be keenly felt by her wide circle of friends.

"The field is white unto the harvest."

Sunday, 9:30 a. m.—Sunday school, Geo. Roberts, General Superintendent.

10:50 a. m.—Sermon by the pastor.

6:30 p. m.—All B. Y. P. U.'s.

7:45 p. m.—Sermon by the pastor.

The regular routine announcements for the week will give way to the series of meetings beginning Sunday morning at 10:50. Dr. Gibson, pastor of the Walnut Street Baptist church, Louisville, Ky., will arrive in the city Monday evening and assist in the meeting. He is expected to arrive in time to preach his initial sermon Monday night. Dr. Gibson comes to us as a man with great zeal for the Master, a fluent speaker and consecrated worker. He will be accompanied by his wife, who will assist in the personal work during the series of meetings. The members of all churches of the city, as well as the public in general, are invited and urged to come and work and worship with us.

The Associational B. Y. P. U. of the West Kentucky Association of which W. C. Valentine of our local union, is President, held its semi-annual meeting with the First Baptist Church, at Clinton, Ky., on last Friday afternoon and evening. This was a meeting out of the ordinary when it comes to enthusiasm and the spirit of cooperation shown in the work. A large delegation attended from Fulton, and splendid programs were rendered at both the afternoon and evening sessions, with a delightful social hour at six o'clock. The next Association meeting will convene with the First Baptist Church at Arlington, Ky., some time in September, the exact date to be decided upon later.

Miss Annie Lucile Goldsby has assumed her duties as Church Secretary and choir director. With the hearty cooperation of our splendid church choir delightful, inspirational special music is being furnished for both services every Sunday.

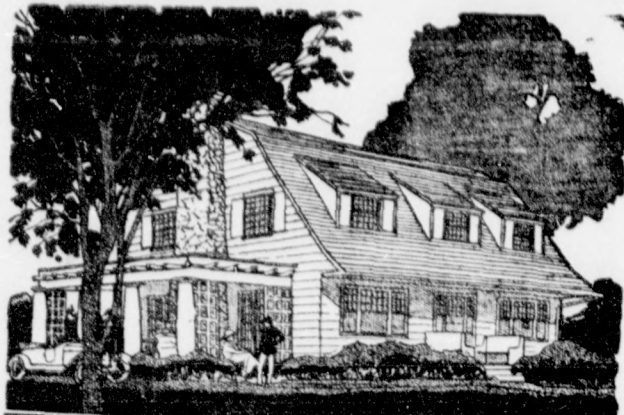

The V. I. S. Sunday school class held its monthly business meeting with James Warren at his home on Second Street, last Monday night, at which time the following class officers were elected for the next six months: Alton Wade, President; Charles Arnn, Vice-President; Ward Johnson, Chairman Service Activities; James Warren, Secretary-Treasurer.

TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS

Now that the gladsome springtime is here and there are so many good news items to report, we hope our correspondents will send in a nice news letter each Monday. In your news items tell who have made plant beds and how many acres of tobacco they will grow this year. Also include in your items those who are raising poultry and what breeds. If the flocks are increased and what success each one is having with their poultry. How many hens has your neighbor set? How many chicks already hatched? Maybe your neighbor has a fine lot of pigs. Tell us all about them, also let us know what progress is being made in your neighborhood with dairying.

It is not necessary to tell it all in one letter—save some for the following letters each week. Always keep in mind that your community is alive and active, and that you enjoy telling The Advertiser readers about it. We appreciate your nice letters each week, so do our readers.

CITY ADMINISTRATION FAVORS MORE STREET IMPROVEMENT

After finishing the regular routine of business at Monday night's session of the City Council, Mayor Shankle gave all visitors present an opportunity to express themselves regarding the street improvement program for this year. It proved to be an exceedingly popular and interesting subject without a dissenting voice, with the council going on record unanimously favoring more street improvement if the property owners so desired.

W. E. Lehman, of the Carey-Reed company, was present and made an interesting talk in which he explained why it would not be as necessary to build as expensive streets in the residential section of the city, as in the downtown section.

A. M. Nugent, president of the Chamber of Commerce, heartily joined in the discussion and stated to the council that the matter of street improvement would be taken up and considered the outstanding feature of Tuesday night's meeting when every citizen of Fulton would be invited to participate in the discussion in order to get a fair census of opinion as to whether the people really wanted the street improvement program continued in the residential section this year and report to the council at Friday night's meeting. Mr. Nugent's talk was followed by favorable expressions from Ex-mayor R. H. Wade, Joe Davis, Arch Huddleston, Walter Williamson, Ernest Fall, Walter Butt and E. C. Hardesty.

FULTON TO BE HOST TO BOYS' MEETING

Arrangements have been completed whereby the older boys conference, composed of boys of the ages of 14 to 19 years, will hold its annual convention in Fulton, March 16, 17 and 18 at the First Methodist church and the high school. A banquet will be given Friday evening at the Methodist church for the visitors. Vest C. Myers, head of the local schools, will serve as general chairman, with an executive committee composed of R. H. Wade, A. M. Nugent, T. M. Franklin, the Rev. B. J. Cantrell, the Rev. C. H. Warren, the Rev. H. B. Vaught, and Joe Davis.

LITTLE CHILD CALLED TO ITS HEAVENLY HOME

The death angel entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Patrick at Cayce, Sunday, and carried away the spirit of their darling little son, Elvis Leon. He was tenderly nursed and everything was done by the devoted parents and loved ones to prolong life, but he fell asleep to awake on the resurrection morn.

Funeral services were held Monday at Rock Springs church conducted by the Rev. Mr. Cooley, interment followed in the church cemetery. The Fulton Undertaking Company had charge of burial arrangements.

A host of friends deeply sympathize with the bereaved parents in the loss of their little son.

CRIPPLE SHARES IN BIG ESTATE

John Dick Ward, of Hickman, Sought to Clean Up Father's Will

Hickman, Ky., March 5. — John D. Ward, better known to his friends as Dick Ward, is heir to one-fourth of the estate of his father, J. W. Ward, who died in this city 10 days ago and left a big estate. The son doesn't know his father is dead and the family doesn't know the son's whereabouts, so they are making every effort possible to locate him in order to get the estate settled. The son's signature is necessary. The family had not heard from him since 16 months ago, at which time he was somewhere in Ohio. He was with a traveling show and has since been reported with a carnival but he severed all connection with his family so far as letter writing was concerned.

Ward, who is about 27 years old, is a hunchback, is deformed in both hands and arms and in both feet and legs, and walks with a stick. He is only about four feet tall. Although he is deformed, his health is good and he is active. Before joining traveling shows, he was located in Detroit, Mich., where he sold shoestrings and lead pencils on the streets and was seen there by a number of Hickman people. He left home about six or eight years ago and has not been back since. Although his father was one of the most wealthy men of this vicinity, the boy left home to wander. He is now heir to a good farm and much other property, but the estate can't be settled until he is located. His mother and three brothers live in this vicinity. The family thinks he is possibly dead as they have not had a line from him in so long.

HAPPY AND INDUSTRIOUS FAMILY

J. T. Watkins, secretary of the Fulton Poultry Association; Hunter Whitesell, and the editor visited the home of C. J. Bowers, route 6, Monday afternoon, to inspect Mrs. Bowers' flock of fine White Leghorns. We not only had the pleasure of seeing the chickens, but enjoyed meeting Mr. and Mrs. Bowers' lovable and industrious family of boys and girls, five of whom were at home assisting mother and father with their household and outdoor work. The oldest son is engaged in business in Fulton, member of the firm of Coulter & Bowers. There are six children. The younger ones attend school at McFadden near their home, the older ones, Fulton high school.

Mr. Bowers was busy preparing his tobacco plant bed. Said he would probably grow two or three acres of tobacco this year, twenty-six acres of corn and soy beans, and some cotton. He also has a lot of fine hogs and stock on the place.

FRANK BEADLES ELECTED EXALTED RULER OF ELKS

"Cross fence into ten acres"

"I can get more pasture from four 10-acre lots than from one forty," says G. W. Hewer, Cape Girardeau, Mo. "Grass is fresher, cattle eat more."

Flour Newman, Creighton, Neb., crossed fence into 15-acre field for hogging down. He writes: "Hogs did better, corn lasted longer, no waste, manure was left on the field and I saved picking expense." For fencing hog-tight we recommend

MONARCH Hinge Joint

With it you can hog down corn, run stock after harvest, rotate crops, keep weeds down, fertilize the land, etc. It hangs over under stock and strain but springs right back again. Copper mixed in the steel, plus a heavy zinc coating, keeps rust out for longer than ordinary galvanized wire. Come in and look this "Red Brand" fence over.

POULTRY

MILK FEEDING IS CONSIDERED GOOD

Most milk feeding of poultry is considered a good thing and a money-maker if people have a little time in the fall, and are close enough to a town where the hotel, or meat markets will buy the fowls at a special price. These people plan to have the springs and younger cockerels grow up with good-sized bones, and usually feed them up a few weeks before Thanksgiving. Young birds weighing from 3½ to 4½ pounds are the best, as they make tender meat and take on flesh quickly.

Pen fattening is the best way of feeding them on the farm. The birds are placed in a coop where they will not exercise much, and the change in food is made gradually for two or three days. The following ration is recommended as giving good results:

- 2 pounds ground corn
- 1 pound ground whole oats
- 1 pound flour middlings
- 8 pounds liquid buttermilk

This is mixed just before each meal, using skim milk if there is no buttermilk available. When fed it looks like pancake batter. Feed in troughs twice each day, and leave only enough before them so that they will clean it up in ten minutes for the first few days. If they are not hungry, do not force the feeding. It takes about eight pounds of feed for one pound of gain per chicken in four or five days. Sometimes it pays to stop in ten to twelve days, if they are not gaining rapidly enough.

Grain Ration Valuable for Fattening Turkeys

Some turkey raisers feed equal parts of wheat and oats during the first part of the fattening season, gradually changing to corn as the weather becomes cooler. The common practice, however, is to begin feeding heavily on corn about November, and since turkeys are not accustomed to such heavy feeding, scours often result, especially if new corn is used. This practice of a sudden start with heavy feeding is to be discouraged. Old corn is a much better feed than new corn, but the old corn must be free from mustiness.

The best results in fattening are obtained when a grain ration of oats, wheat and corn is provided. A number of growers have tried fattening turkeys by confining them to small enclosures during the process, but with very little success. Turkeys confined to a pen usually will eat heartily for two or three days, but afterwards lose their appetites, and consequently, begin to lose flesh rapidly. On allowing them free range again, they pick up rapidly and are soon eating as heartily as ever, which seems to indicate that a certain amount of range is necessary to keep them in a good, healthy condition so that they are always eager to be fed.

Find Hostess to Pests Makes Poor Egg Layer

A hen cannot feed worms and lay eggs. Poultry infested with worms are thin, droopy and emaciated and walk with an abnormal and stilted gait. On examination four kinds of worms may be found. They are: Large and small round worms, long tapeworms and nodular tapeworms. G. S. Vickers, poultry specialist at the Ohio State university, says:

All of them live in the intestinal tract of the hen. Treatment suggested for round worms is nicotine sulphate. If the hens are heavily infested it is recommended that each bird receive a nicotine sulphate capsule. In other cases 2 per cent of tobacco dust in the dry mash for a month is satisfactory. This should be repeated every other month.

Kamala is the most satisfactory treatment for tapeworms yet discovered. The University of Wisconsin recommends half-grain capsules for individual treatment. Birds weighing a half to one pound should be given one capsule, those weighing one to two pounds two capsules, three capsules to those over two pounds.

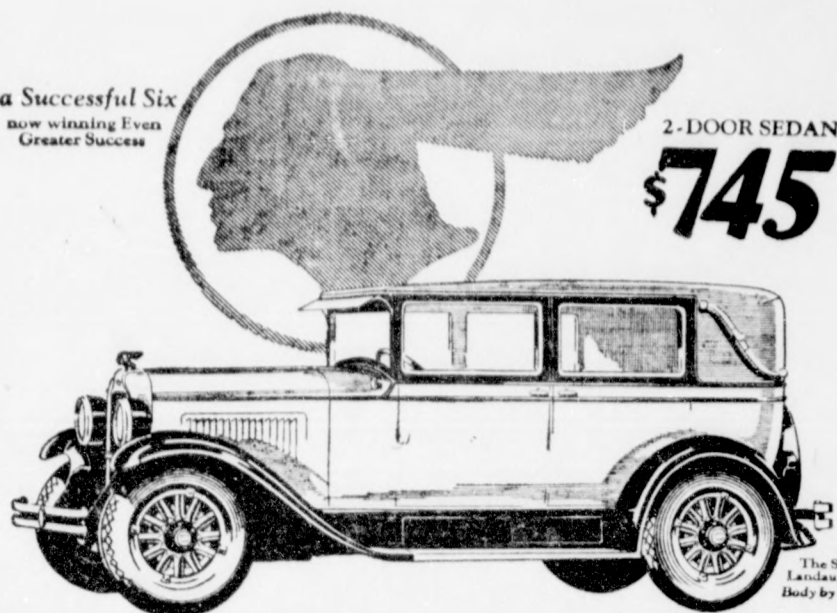

High Protein Feed

Meat meal or meat scraps are high protein feeds and are found in most chick mixes or laying mashies. They are used in connection with dried buttermilk in many feeds to furnish the animal protein which is lacking in grains. Experiments have shown that chicks or laying hens do better when supplied with animal protein to balance up the protein and other ingredients found in grains. Be sure that these products are all clean, fresh and sweet.

Keep Roosters in Jar

Male birds running with the poultry flock will keep the eggs fertile, but the fertile eggs will not keep. The hens will lay just as many eggs if there are no male birds running around. Excepting in cases where high priced male birds have been purchased to use this past season in the flock, it will be cheaper to dispose of all the male birds than to feed them until the next breeding season. One of the best ways to handle them is to can them.

YOU MUST HAVE GOOD LAYERS TO GET EGGS

Poultry raisers who have good laying pullets next fall and winter are going to make big profits. A number of well known poultry raisers in this vicinity believe this so strong that they are going to keep their pullets to produce eggs next October, November, December and January. They believe we will see better prices next fall and winter for eggs than we have seen in many years. The reason is because eggs are cheap now and thousands of people are selling all their chickens to the market and there are not going to be as many chickens raised this year as there were last year. Those who have the courage and foresight to provide themselves with good layers next fall are sure to make good money.

Every business has its depressing times, but the poultry business adjusts itself more quickly than any other business known. If prices are low, a great many who keep chickens get discouraged and dump their hens on the market, causing a shortage in layers, therefore a better price for eggs.

You must have good layers to get eggs in the fall and winter, when eggs always bring a good price. They must be properly bred in order to lay good at that time of the year. We know of no better strain of fowls in this vicinity that will lay better, in cold weather when eggs are high, than the Latta Brothers' strain of White Leghorns, of near Crutchfield, or Hunter Whitesell's White Leghorns of Fulton. Their White Leghorns have the winter egg laying habit bred into them and will make you a profit even if eggs do sell cheap. Now is a good time to obtain a few of them.

The poultry industry is developing fast in this vicinity. Tom Kimbro is specializing on Barred Rocks, while Aubrey Carver's favorite is White Leghorns. He has just completed a modern poultry house and will enlarge his flock this year. Mr. Kimbro has recently added 900 baby chicks to his Barred Rock family. Both live near Crutchfield and are successful farmers.

OUR EVERYDAY SWIFTNESS

The world today is made up of a mass of people whose chief aim in life apparently is centered on speed.

Everything today is done with an idea in mind of doing it as quickly as possible. Our everyday life starts early in the morning at a high speed, and we continue that pace until a late hour.

Many people, especially those who have grown older, assert that we are living the pace that kills. In order, however, to keep pace with modern day progress, it is necessary to a certain degree, that we must speed on, or else we drop to the side of the road.

Few persons you meet on the streets nowadays, are leisurely going about their work. They seem to have something ahead of them, as they go briskly down the street. Few persons driving an automobile today would be satisfied to slow down to the pace of "Old Dobbin."

This haste extends into business, as clerks and customers most usually make rapid bargains and business deals of all kinds are consummated much more rapidly today than they were a few years ago.

Our demand for speed is found in all branches of service today. A few years ago a letter required days to go across our country. Today only a matter of hours is needed. Messages across the country and between continents also have been speeded up, along with travel to meet these demands.

Even in death, our speed craze seems to prevail, as we watch a passing funeral cortege blazing the right-of-way in fast driven cars toward the final resting place for some loved one.

So after all, in this busy world today nothing seems to stand in the way for rapid progress. It has reached a point, where you must hurry along with the rest or else drop to the side of the road and watch the rest of the world go by.

BRICKS IN OUR GARDEN

Everyone grows an imaginary garden.

There is no individual but what thinks some time during the day of his garden.

When everything runs along smoothly, this imaginary garden of ours is filled with beautiful flowers, and most beautiful flowers are sweetly scented.

In these gardens of ours, however, there are also brick piles. We have a tendency to permit these bricks to accumulate. The first thing you know these bricks begin to crowd out the flowers, and cultivation ceases.

If more people would stop piling up these bricks, then there would be fewer bricks to crowd out the flowers, than bricks! Bouquets are appreciated by the least of mankind, and these flowers from our imaginary garden today need a special effort of cultivation.

Kind words to those who deserve them are only roses from our garden. Constructive criticism in business instead of bricks tossed from our garden usually brings the best results.

The biggest knocker or the heaviest hammer may have no effect upon a genuine diamond. The best sport in the world after all, is the best loser.

The individual who cultivates the best imaginary garden, does so with fewer brick piles.

AUTOS BRING UNITY

The automobile has been charged with many things, most of which probably are not true, but at any event there is something to be added to the credit side of the ledger. Figures prepared by government statisticians show that during the past fifteen years 600,000 miles of highway have been built in the United States and another million miles have been made more serviceable. There are still a great many small communities in certain parts of the country which are not on railroad lines, but these are now being connected up more closely with the outside world through the medium of motor transport lines. It is now possible to travel from Maine to California and from Oregon to Florida by motor without any discomfort because of impassable roads. And the highways are being constantly improved.

Now of course all of this is costing money and the automobiles which skim over these roads are costing money. But aside from the economic benefit, which is by no means small, the roads are worth the entire cost because of the effect they are having on the unity of the country.

Northerners are motoring south and southerners are motoring to New England. The westerner tours in the East and the easterner drives through the west in his more or less trusty car. The man from one section is finding that the people in another section are a great deal like the folks at home after all. He is beginning to appreciate the magnitude and the many advantages of his country, and to see that after all, north and south, east and west we are a homogeneous people. As one motor expert put it:

"The political effects of motor transportation are startlingly evident. If we could have visualized the United in possession of motor transportation in 1861, can any one doubt that there would have been no Civil War? Such a political consequence, we can readily understand, would have been impossible if our people had had the facilities of travel, of business and the social and educational advantages we now enjoy through motor transportation."

Perhaps some people are driving automobiles who ought to be farming, or going to school or attending to business. But this does not lessen to any extent the value of good roads and motor transportation to the country. We have always had the shiftless with us and always will have. And if these persons who cannot afford to spend so much time motoring, had no motoring facilities, they would probably be fishing or doing something worse to kill time.

At any rate good roads and gasoline are rapidly making us one united nation. The day of sectionalism is passing. May its departure be speeded.

The Breaking Point

The doctor had taken the temperature of the stockbroker who lay seriously ill.

"It has gone up to 104," he announced in a solemn voice.

"Come up to 104!" shouted the stockbroker. "Then sell out, man, sell out!"

Vital

"I'm all in the dark about how these bills are to be paid," said Mr. Hardup to his wife.

"Well, Henry," she said, as she pulled out a green one and laid it on the top of the pile, "you will be if you don't pay that one, for it's the gas bill."

Not Trustworthy

Mrs. Bizzy—I had to let the new maid go. She neglected the children when I attended my club meetings.

Mrs. Milde—Is that so?

Mrs. Bizzy—Yes. Positively, she couldn't have thought less of them if they were her own!

OUT OF SIGHT

"Your wife manages to make my money go far you say?"

"Yes, out of sight."

Soon Forgotten

Lives of heroes all remind us of how the fickle peer!

Then belated, now forgotten,

As, for instance, Harold Grange.

League of Strangers

"I was in your new apartment house."

"Well?"

"Ideal. Everybody is determined not to know anybody else. It is a trifle irritating, but after all, ideal."

Sophisticated Dog

Cinema Attendant—Sorry, lady, you're not allowed to take your dog inside!

Patron (thoughtfully)—How absurd! What harm can the pictures do to little Nero?

Not His Fault

Judge—The accident could have been avoided! What did you see when you looked into your rear-view mirror?

Motorist—My wife's nose with a powder puff going over it.

Unpardonable

"What makes you say Mabel is disagreeable? I never found her so."

"She always sticks up for some one I want to talk about."—Boston Transcript.

Her Choice

Jerry—Does your wife kick if you come home late?

Henry—Not if she can find something handy to throw.

STAND BY YOUR TOWN

If you think your town is best, Tell 'em so.

If you'd have it lead the rest, Help it grow.

When there's anything to do, Let the fellows count on you—

You'll feel bully when it's thru, Don't you know.

If you're used to giving knocks, Change your style;

Throw bouquets instead of rocks

For a while, Let the other fellow roast,

Shun him as you would a ghost, Meet his hammer with a boast

And a smile.

When a stranger from afar Comes along,

Tell him who and what you are —Make it strong.

Needn't flatter, never bluff, Tell the truth, for that's enough;

Join the boosters—they're the stuff,

Sing your song!

SPANISH WAR VETERANS
ORGANIZE CAMP

Veterans of the Spanish-American war from West Kentucky and west Tennessee met at the City Hall Thursday night, March 8, and organized a camp of the United Spanish War Veterans.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, veterans were in attendance from Bardwell, Clinton, Mayfield and Paducah, Ky., and Martin, Tenn. These men who had faced death in various forms while following the flag in '98, in Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines and in camp in the United States were not to be bluffed by a rainstorm.

The objects of the United Spanish War Veterans, stated briefly, are:

To unite in fraternal bonds those men who served under the United States flag during the war with Spain and the campaigns incidental thereto.

To honor the memory and preserve from neglect the graves of the dead.

To assist former comrades, their widows and orphans.

To perpetuate the memory of the war with Spain and the campaigns in the Philippine Islands and in China.

To inculcate the principles of universal liberty, equal rights and justice to all mankind, of loyalty to our country, reverence for its institutions, obedience to its laws and respect for its magistrates.

As soon as the necessary arrangements can be made, the new camp will be set to work by the officers of the Department of Kentucky, U. S. W. V., under the name of Ken-Tenn. camp.

All veterans holding an honorable discharge for military service during the war with Spain, the Philippine Insurrection and the China rebellion are cordially invited to become members of the new camp.

The following officers were elected and appointed:

Commander, Geo. C. Hall; Sr. Vice-Com., Albert Graf, Jr.; Vice-Com., W. H. Simmons; Officer of the Day, Deck Porter; Officer of the Guard, Harry A. Greene; Adjutant, James K. Wood; Quartermaster, R. H. Cowardin; Patriotic Instructor, Jones W. Brown; Historian, Chas. Harton; Chaplain, R. E. Pierce; Serg. Major, Thos. E. Ryan; Quar. Serg., Forrest E. Averitt.

TIME TO ACT

We don't want to appear in the role of a "knocker," but we believe everyone will agree with us when we say that it adds nothing to the credit of the United States to approach another spring season without a single hand turned toward averting another tragedy in the Mississippi Valley.

Last spring when 100,000 people were rendered homeless by the fury of flood waters, our government made a great ado about immediate work toward forestalling another calamity. But here we are, on the edge of another flood season, and the Mississippi is in the same position to go on a rampage that it has always been. Congress has done a lot of talking about flood control and small fry politicians have crept into the limelight to speak their little pieces about it. But the real work of building higher and stronger levees and reservoirs, dredging channels and changing the courses of small tributaries hasn't even started.

Under what is said to be the most feasible plan before congress, it would require an expenditure of $700,000,000 to give the people of the Mississippi the protection they are entitled to. When we realize that we make billion dollar appropriations for battleships, the cost of flood prevention looks like a drop in a bucket. But what is most needed now and what everyone would like to see is actual work toward preventing a flood that is sure to come if we sit idly by and wait for it. The cost secondary. The American people are willing to foot the bill. What they want is flood prevention, and it is our guess that there are going to be a lot of new faces in the next congress if they don't get it.—Greenfield Gazette.

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The debate last Monday night with Fulton was very interesting. Beelerton, who had the negative side, won. Both teams had good arguments. We have won two debates of the four and this was the last one for this year. We were glad such a large crowd attended. Don't forget to come to the operetta next Thursday night, March 22. This is a good program and well worth your time.

On last Monday the agriculture class set out fifty shade trees on the campus. This had been neglected in past years, and we were badly in need of shade. This grove will add much to the beauty of the campus besides furnishing cool shade.

Several members of the faculty spent last week end at the Regional Basketball Tournament at Murray. They report interesting games and a good time.

On Monday morning, chapel was conducted by one of the Senior girls, Alma Bushart. She gave an interesting program. Next Monday another senior will have charge of the program.

FINE CORN

J. F. Bard, well known farmer and good citizen, of Route 6, called at The Advertiser office Saturday and presented the editor an ear of corn which measured 13 inches in length, with 18 rows of perfectly developed grains. We are not an expert judge of corn, but we venture to say that it would capture the blue ribbon at the county fair. Mr. Bard only cultivated 26 acres of corn last year with other crops, but says he will plant 35 acres of corn this year and 6 or 7 acres of tobacco. He is a firm believer in diversification and will also grow some sorghum, potatoes, etc. He has some fine stock and hogs. The Duroc is his favorite, no wonder his success.

HIGHWAY TO SUCCESS

The highway to success and independence is paved with more than good intentions. To achieve these natural goals of human ambition, one must lay out a sound financial policy and adhere to it.

One of the most important features of a sound financial policy is sound investment as found in Fulton Building & Loan shares. To live on less than one makes, to lay by a surplus systematically, are essentials of success.

To those who feel financially embarrassed and have a desire to become home owners or to make improvements about their home can get financial aid through the Building and Loan Association by joining the happy throng of shareholders.

Your Suit and Overcoat need the Wrinkles taken out

You know what a beauty shop can do for faces—how it can remove wrinkles from cheeks and crow's feet from eyes. But did you ever visit a "beauty shop for suits"—a modern dry cleaning and sanitary pressing establishment? Here, again, is a "fountain of youth"—this time for clothes.

For example, take one of your own suits to the O. K. Steam Laundry—one you've worn often. If it's a light suit, the grime is plainly visible at collar and cuffs; perhaps there is a bit of grease on it from your car. If the suit is dark, the dirt may not show—but it's there. One cannot ride in automobiles and taxis, and not gather dirt.

But see what your dry cleaner, the O. K. Laundry, can do for this suit.

First, it is tumbled in warm, drying air; the moisture is removed, the dust shaken out, obstinate spots loosened. An expert "spotter" then goes over the garment by hand—stains and spots vanish before his skill. Next, the suit is soured gently, thoroughly, back and forth, in the purest of cleaning fluids. Soil embedded in the fabric is filtered out; grime and grease are dissolved away. After most of the moisture has been whirled out, the suit is carefully dried in a breeze of fresh, warm, sterile air, then with the warm air sifting thru it, it is fluffed softly. The nap comes to life, the cloth becomes fresh and smart again.

Nor is this dry cleaning "magic" limited to men's suits and overcoats. Hats and gloves, women's coats, suits, dresses and blouses, children's clothes—almost every article of wearing apparel can be given this same renewing, refreshing treatment. And how much longer clothes wear when they receive it. Truly dry cleaning pays its own bills.

Of course, we make a specialty of dry cleaning draperies, rugs, etc. Don't overlook this.

DAIRY TALK

DAIRYMEN CHANGE
VIEWS ON FEEDS

Dairymen now favor moderate protein feeding, says E. J. Perry, New Jersey state extension specialist in dairying. Mr. Perry reports that a number of the leading dairymen have found that rations containing too much protein are likely to cause udder troubles and sometimes breeding difficulties.

The practice among the most successful dairymen is to get a considerable part of the protein needed in the ration from alfalfa, clover, soy bean or other legume hay. With hay of this nature a grain mixture containing 10 to 15 per cent total crude protein has given excellent results. When corn stover, timothy or other hay low in protein is used, the practice is to furnish the animals with a grain mixture containing 24 per cent total crude protein.

Experience has shown, says the specialist, that variety is helpful in keeping dairy cattle in good condition and in their highest production. The old two-grain mixtures are being superseded by feeds composed of four or more kinds of grains. Biochemists report that where a variety of grain is used, the animals are more likely to get the different vitamins and other constituents needed by the animals.

Observation of thousands of dairy animals on farms and under tests at experiment stations has shown that no set rules can be given controlling the quantity of roughage and grain needed by individual animals. The needs of various cows differ according to breed, weight, production, temperament and season. By weighing both the milk given by the animal and the feed supplied to her, the leading dairymen experiment until it is found what amount of feed-stuff causes the animal to give the largest amount of milk. To assist dairymen in solving feeding and other dairy problems, the college of agriculture maintains a staff of experts whose assistance is furnished free.

Dry Cows Require Good Feeding and Long Rest

If dry cows are to produce well during the coming lactation period it is necessary that they receive proper feed while they are dry. Dry cows should not be fattened, but they should receive sufficient feed so that they become sleek and vigorous in appearance. When cows are bred for high milk production, they have a tendency to use up some of their body tissues in producing milk.

In order to prepare cows for their next period of lactation they deserve a rest period of six weeks. During this time they should receive feeds that will tend to develop their bodies and make up for any deficiencies that developed during the time when they were producing milk. When this policy is adopted in handling dry cows the rest period can be put to profitable use.

Commercial Mixed Feeds of Several Ingredients

Commercial mixed feeds usually contain a wide variety of ingredients obtained from several different plants. These feeds are especially convenient for the small dairyman who must buy most of his concentrates or who finds difficulty in getting the ingredients for mixing a good ration at home. They may be mixed with ground corn, hay or oats to good advantage, the proportions depending on the amount of protein in the commercial feed. Each feeder must exercise his judgment in this regard. The most important point to consider in buying a commercial feed is the reliability of the manufacturer.

Dairy Notes

Alfalfa develops healthy growth in young stock.

Separators do not operate efficiently if the bowl is not properly balanced.

The greatest loss to the dairy cow keeper is caused by improper feeding.

Protect a cow from cold drafts for a few days after calving, as her vitality is low.

Get ready for winter. Production is bound to fall off in winter unless the cows are comfortable.

New alfalfa hay is very palatable and the cows will eat it with a relish even if the pasture is in fair condition.

The richer the cream, the easier it is to churn. But have it fairly cool—about 70 degrees—or else you'll lose a good deal of butter.

The program on every farm should provide for the growing of all or most of the dairy herd, as this is necessary to insure the most profits.

The more skim milk used to flush the bowl, the thinner will be the cream. Therefore, always use the same amount. Always use skim milk and not water for flushing the bowl.

WILLIE THE MANAGER

132 Lake Street, Fulton, Ky.

There are two very necessary essentials that are right-fully required of every undertaker.

FIRST IS SERVICE

We have so arranged every detail of our business that our service is equal to that of any of the larger cities and far beyond many of them. Our motor equipment is of the latest design, and built for the greatest comfort and service. Our funeral home is arranged for the utmost comfort of the family of the deceased, should they need it, without any additional charge whatever.

SECOND IS THE CHARACTER OF THE PROFESSIONAL WORK DONE BY THE EMBALMER

As much care should be exercised in selecting the embalmer to render professional service after death as is used in selecting the physician during the illness. Our embalming is done by Paul Hornbeak with Mrs. Yates as lady assistant, and we believe there are none better prepared for this work than they are.

KLANSMEN WORK FAST

The Ku Klux Klan has occupied much space in the public press of recent months. You've heard of how fast Klansmen work, but Mysterious Smith, in his remarkable illusion, "The Klansmen," which he will offer during his six day engagement at the Orpheum Theatre, starting Monday evening, March 19, shows you how they work. This illusion not only provides some happy moments of humor, but carries a punch at the finish that will leave you gasping.

You will also be highly entertained by the amazing mental tests of Madame Olga, one of the many clever persons who assist Mr. Smith in making his show the sensational success that it has proven everywhere.

Matinees will be given on Thursday and Saturday only, and the prices for this attraction are 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Route 4, Fulton, Ky. (New Hope Community)

Mr. J. B. Phillips and daughter, Serrilla, were called to Latham, Tenn., Friday, by the illness of his brother, Mr. George Phillips.

Mrs. J. A. Eskew returned home from St. Louis, Tuesday, where she spent a week with her mother, Mrs. Sallie Walker.

Mrs. Ruth Gore is visiting Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Moore in Crutchfield for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Massey, at Spring Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Finch and daughter, Doris, of Ruthville, Tenn., visited Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Watkins Sunday night and Monday.

Mr. C. E. Edwards, who has been very ill with infection resulting from his thumb which was amputated a few weeks ago, is greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Moore spent the week end in Crutchfield with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Elliott, the former of whom has been very ill for several weeks.

Mr. J. P. Moore accompanied Mr. J. R. Elliott to the Mayfield hospital, Monday, for an examination.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Benedict and family of Clinton, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gwynn and daughter, Elsie, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Finch.

Miss Elizabeth Craddock was the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Everett, Sunday and Monday.

Messrs. J. P. and Paul Moore attended the funeral of Mrs. Lucy Carter at Oakwood, Tuesday.

A Few Little Smiles

EASIER TO CHOOSE

Shop Girl—A pair of silk stockings, sir? Certainly. We have them in every fashionable shade. Do you prefer beige, pale fawn, champagne, pearl, blush, atmosphere, froth, grain, sawdust, melon, straw, oyster, bleached mauve, gunmetal, moonlight, or shadow?

Young Man—I-I never thought of that. Perhaps I'd better buy her a bracelet instead.

Flippancies

"Aren't your remarks sometimes rather flippant?"

"Perhaps I am overdoing my pose," confided Senator Sorghum. "Sometimes a man has to try to be funny in order to convey the impression that he is not scared."

Hub!

"I'll be able to make a good Frenchman," remarked the sheik.

"Howcum?" asked his sheba.

"Well, kissing you boyish-looking flappers is so much like kissing regular boys, I'll be able to kiss men without batting an eye," he replied.

DOESN'T PLAY WITH FIRE

"Dearest, can't you see my heart's on fire?"

"Well, do I look like a fire extinguisher?"

Guest Towels

That guest is always welcome who by instinct seems to know which of our towels are meant for use, and which are meant for show.

Dance Celebrities

He (discussing a mutual acquaintance)—Had the dashed impudence to tell me I didn't know the difference between Menu and Teum.

She—Really! How provoking for you—let's see, where are they dancing now?

Unmusical

"Are you fond of music?"

"Not very," confessed Senator Sorghum. "I never yet saw a brass band or an orchestra that wouldn't play as energetically for one side of an argument as it would for the other."—Washington Star.

Immune

"Doctor, will you get this splinter out from under my thumbnail?"

"My dear man, we no longer waste time extracting splinters. I will give you an injection of our new antispinner serum and you can forget about splinters for the next seven years."

STRATEGY

"A burglar broke in my house the other night when I was all alone."

"Well, how did you handle him?"

"Yuh see, I was in the next room and I said real loud 'Now fellows we'll all be on hand next Monday for football practice,' so he beat it."

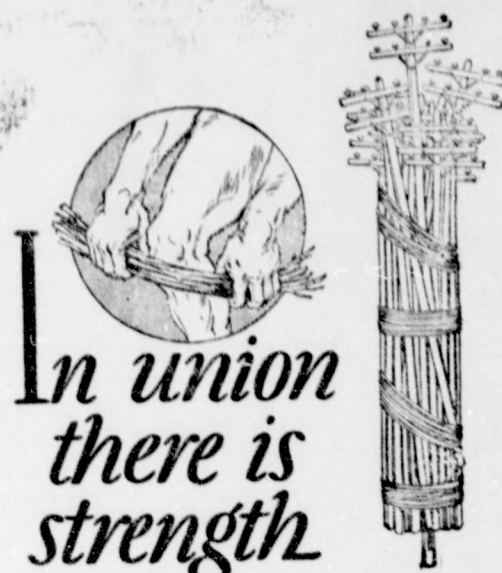

Swat the Rooster

I've always been a blithesome bird. A leader and a booster. I think this movement is absurd. To swat the poor old rooster.

Remembered

Henry—Did your aunt remember you in her will?

Tom—She certainly did! She directed her executors to collect all the money she had loaned me.

In union
there is strength

Thousands of years ago human families roamed the wilderness alone. Later families became tribes, then tribes formed nations. In America we have a union of forty-eight states, composing the world's strongest nation.

You can ride from New York to San Francisco without changing cars, cheaply, comfortably and rapidly, because scores of small, weak railroads have been welded into a few great systems.

You can telephone from coast to coast, from Canada to Mexico, and even to Europe, because hundreds of little local telephone systems have been interconnected.

Just a few years ago only cities and large towns in Kentucky had electric light and power service. It was produced in isolated generating stations and was neither dependable nor cheap. Small towns, villages and farms had no service at all.

The Kentucky Utilities Company has changed those conditions. Scores of isolated local electric systems have been interconnected; large modern generating plants erected; hundreds of miles of high voltage transmission lines built; two huge "pools of power" formed.

Today this company supplies at moderate rates dependable electric service to 185 communities, 2,100 industrial plants (including 200 coal mines), and to 2,600 rural customers. A thousand skilled employees work steadily to improve it.

This Electric Service Helps Industry,
Creates Prosperity, Fosters Progress.

Teaching You Thrift

Practice makes perfect. Schoolmasters of today as well as yesterday constantly repeat that truth. Pupils learn by applying it.

Application of that principle to our everyday habits proves its practical help. We learn by practicing, whether it be a good habit or a bad habit.

This bank teaches you thrift by leading you to practice it. The lesson is easily learned once it is begun. To become perfect in it requires constant practice. A savings account is the most consistent method of practicing thrift.

Railroad News

Flooded regions in the South are not the only places where the Illinois Central System engages in rescue work, according to the March issue of the Illinois Central Magazine. The latest case reported is that of the rescue of motorists snow-bound in a farmhouse near Dimmick, Ill., during a recent blizzard. Twenty-six adults and six infants, suffering from exposure and shortage of food, were brought to LaSalle, Ill., by a special Illinois Central train consisting of a caboose and an engine equipped with a snow plow. The relief train was hastily organized by Agent J. M. Egan of LaSalle, when he was informed by telephone of the motorists' plight.

From switching cars to converting sinners is the step which has been taken by the Rev. George Tucker, of Memphis, Tenn., a former employee of the Illinois Central System, according to the March issue of the Illinois Central Magazine. Mr. Tucker himself was converted in 1915. Since entering the evangelistic field he has conducted revivals in nineteen states, with 32,000 conversions to his credit, but he still holds his membership in Chickasaw Lodge No. 347, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, just as he did when he was a switch engine foreman. One of his favorite sermons in railway centers is entitled "God's Emergency Run."

The successful raising of four crops on the same land in less than a year is reported in the March issue of the Illinois Central Magazine by a farmer living in southeastern Mississippi. The crops were cabbage, Irish potatoes, corn and cowpeas. The same farmer boasted of strawberry shortcake from March to June, fresh peas, turnips, mustard, green onions, radishes and the like in November. $16 worth of satsuma oranges from one tree, 167 bushels of Irish potatoes to the acre, a hay crop worth $48 an acre and 250 pounds of pecans from a single tree.

O. K. LAUNDRY HAS COMPLETE SERVICE

The modern laundry of today is an expression of complete service for the whole family. Laundering has become the approximation of an exact science. Laundrymen of today are specialists and have learned the secret of improved cleaning in the most sanitary way, and the way that will have the least wear on linens is taught every employee in the modern laundry.

This class of laundry cleans more thoroughly, makes garments look whiter, with less wear and tear than the washer-woman in the own home. Different clothes need different methods.

The laundryman sorts the family bundle and each article goes thru the process of cleansing that will give the owner the best result, both in wear and cleansing. The O. K. Steam Laundry is modern in every department and has kept abreast of the progress made in improved cleansing for every garment. They give every article you send to them a special care, which is part of the routine of their work.

They have the most up-to-date equipment to handle laundry for the whole family and teach every employee to be a specialist in cleansing, neatness and carefulness. The family bundle will receive expert laundering in their hands as well as promptness in delivery.

Now is the time to send your curtains, draperies and rugs to the O. K. Laundry for cleaning. Just telephone No. 130 and your troubles are over. The O. K. will do the rest.

Big Development Seen In Ambulance Service.

Transportation of Sick Greatly Facilitated Through Use of New Invalid Car.

It isn't so long ago that an ambulance was rather a hit or miss affair, little more than a shed on wheels. Practically no provision was made to ease either the mental or physical condition of the patient.

It is a far cry from the ambulance of that type to the splendid new invalid car which the FULTON UNDERTAKING COMPANY of this city has just added to their equipment.

This new car has little of the outward appearance of an ambulance; there is nothing at all sombre about it; rather, it suggests good cheer, comfort and competency. Inside, the car is a revelation of luxurious comfort. The invalid chamber is roomy. Walls and ceilings are upholstered in a warm tone. The windows are fitted with mechanical regulators.

There is an electric fan to regulate the temperature in warm weather and an efficient heater for cold days. The invalid couch, with its snowy linen, makes it restful; removable seats are provided for attendants, and there is a first-aid kit set flush with the front wall. The new car is now on regular duty, affording the community professional invalid car service.

Children Learn Value of Clean Home Town

In Pensacola 2,000 school children joined in a clean-up campaign. It is another impressive example of what children may do to make life cleaner and better in urban centers. Children have been playing in all the progressive cities of the country in recent years, and it is properly looked upon as a very important part of their practical education. It teaches them many useful lessons in civics, and at once brings them face to face with the vital fact that health and beauty go hand in hand.

It is interesting to note also that in these clean-up efforts children often are very much more efficient and thorough than are grown persons. Youth is wide-eyed. Youth sees more, and sees more accurately, as a rule, than age, when it comes to rubbing out the ugly spots in urban centers. The range of vision seems to narrow, and the eyes become slower and duller as we age. Youth sees many things not picked up by the eyes of older persons. Children are not likely to overlook anything in these clean-up campaigns where they are interested in what they are doing.

It is useful work, useful from the standpoint of the health and beauty of the city, and useful, too, from the standpoint of the children who take part in it, for it helps them to acquire the habit of keeping the home town clean, beautiful and healthy.—Atlanta Constitution.

Building Cost Shown by Experts' Figures

Labor constitutes 62 per cent of the cost of building the average dwelling house while materials represent 38 per cent, according to a study of construction made by the United States Department of Labor.

The Labor department's apportionment differs slightly from a new set of data worked out by contractors and which is now being studied by Washington officials. These data apportion to labor a cost of 60 per cent and to materials 40 per cent.

According to the new set of data the foundation and masonry work represent 36 per cent of the total cost of the completed job. The foundation is the largest single item of construction expense.

The second largest item of cost is 29 per cent and covers carpentry, both labor and materials. Plumbing fixtures plus their installation cost are reported at 10 per cent of the entire cost.

The heating plant is rated at 9 per cent of the total cost, while hardware is apportioned at 8 per cent, and painting, including materials, at 6 per cent.

Lighting fixtures and installation thereof represent about 2 per cent of the total cost of the completed job, according to the new report.

Association Worth While

The purpose of the parent-teacher associations is to interest parents in the work of the school and in matters pertaining to the proper care of children. It is the practice in most places to give exhibitions or receptions to which parents are invited, and as a part of the program educational topics are discussed. From reports received it is evident that the meetings have been successful in informing parents regarding new developments in school work and in securing support from the community in regard to the extension of educational advantages such as the establishment of gymnasiums, the improvement of the hygiene of public schools, the securing of playgrounds for children, and the like.

Aids Schoolhouse Planning

The general education board during the last year made an appropriation aggregating $24,234 to the state department of education of two states, payable in annual installments over a period of two or three years, to assist in maintaining divisions of school house planning in those states.

Provide Shade for Yard

It is to be expected that tree varieties will vary in their adaptability to the conditions in different regions of our country, consequently there is no one group of varieties that can be recommended as the best for use everywhere.

Garden Wall Beauties

The best kind of garden wall is one with cracks and crannies. Into these one need only rub some fine soil, sow the seeds and cover them with earth so that the birds will not readily make away with them. Nature pretty well takes care of the rest.

Advice to Home Builders

Wisdom seeks to impress strongly the need for considering your home building as a strict business proposition—a financial investment upon which you may expect a return of full value in service and satisfaction.

CONTRACTOR GETTING READY FOR WORK ON UNION CITY-FULTON ROAD

Laying of Concrete Will Begin Not Later than April 15

According to information received by the Lions Club, work on the laying of concrete on the Union City and Fulton highway will begin within the next few weeks, and not later than April 15. The contractors are now finishing up a contract between Jackson and Huntingdon, and as soon as that job is completed will begin work on the road here.

The contract was let last fall, but owing to the nearness of winter, the contractor was granted until this spring to begin the work.

Work on concreting the gap of road between Troy and Obion will also begin in the early spring.—Union City Commercial.

OAKLAND-PONTIAC PLANT EXPANSION AIDS PRODUCTION

Will Build 26,200 Units in February; New Oakland Assembly Almost Finished; Experimental Engineering Building Addition to Cost $350,000.

The recent completion of a third assembly line in the Pontiac Six factory several weeks before schedule has rendered possible a further increase in the record February production of Oakland and Pontiac Sixes, it is announced by Gordon Lefebvre, vice-president in charge of operations for the Oakland Motor Car company.

By the end of February, the company will have built more than 26,200 units, the new production schedule representing the second increase found necessary this month. The original February schedule called for 22,267 Oaklands and Pontiacs. Later this was raised to 25,000 and the early completion of third Pontiac Six assembly line at a cost of $250,000 has rendered possible the manufacture of 1,200 additional cars. The schedule increases were based upon signed orders received from Oakland-Pontiac dealers.

According to Mr. Lefebvre, the contractors erecting the $3,000,000 new Oakland car assembly building have promised that the structure will be ready for occupancy on March 24. The transfer of machinery and equipment from the present assembly building will require about one week and the new assembly building will be in operation about April 1.

Besides this gigantic project, the Oakland Motor Car company also is doubling the size of its experimental engineering building in which is conducted the experimental work for both the Oakland and Pontiac Sixes. This addition to the present experimental engineering building will cost $350,000. It is of steel, brick and concrete and will be ready for occupancy on March 1, less than a month after construction was started.

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

BY REV. P. H. FITZWATER, D.D., DORR Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, I.C. 1918, Western New York Union

Lesson for March 18

JESUS TEACHES SINCERITY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 7:1-23. GOLDEN TEXT—Keep thy heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Obeying God and Our Parents.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Honoring God and Our Parents.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Sincerity in Religion.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Denounces Formalism.

I. The Emptiness of Formal Worship (vv. 1-7).

The tendency of the human heart is to depart from the life and to choose the mere form which is calculated to express the life. The traditions and customs adopted by men for the temporary help of the spiritual life frequently are crystallized into laws and made to supersede the laws and institutions of God.

1. The charge against Christ (v. 2). This was that Christ's disciples ate bread with unwashed hands. The charge was not on the basis of physical uncleanness, but their disregard of custom which was to engage in the thorough washing of the hands before eating, as well as washing the pots and vessels.

2. Examples of empty forms (vv. 2-4).
(1) Washing of the hands before eating (v. 3). They not only washed their hands often but diligently and intensely.

(2) Washing of cups, tables, pots and brazen vessels. The ceremonial washing applied to the vessels as well as the hands.
3. Explanation demanded by the Pharisees (v. 5). They asked Christ to explain why His disciples ignored the tradition of the elders with reference to ceremonial cleansing.

4. Christ's answer (vv. 6, 7). He declared that worship which centered in forms was as empty and meaningless as was lip service where the heart was away from God. This He calls hypocrisy, even such as forced by Isaiah, the prophet. Men of his day made much of external observance and of religious rites, while their hearts remained unchanged.

II. Making the Word of God of None Effect (vv. 8-13).

1. How it may be done (v. 8). It was done by punctiliously observing the precepts of man, such as washing of hands, pots, etc., while ignoring the commandments of God. This is being done by those who make much of the externalities of religion but at the same time are indifferent to the moral requirements.

2. An instance cited (vv. 9-13). The law of God as given by Moses said, "Honor thy father and thy mother, and whose curse father or mother, let him die the death; but ye say, if a man shall say to his father or mother, it is Corban, that is to say, a gift, by whatsoever thou mightest be profited by me, he shall be free, and ye suffer him no more to do ought for his father or his mother." The law of God demands of children that they care and provide for parents in their need. According to an accepted tradition among the Jews, if a man should consecrate his goods or possessions to the Lord's service by pronouncing over them the word "Corban," which means "the gift," his goods would be thus dedicated to God, and would not be available for help to his parents. It was possible, therefore, for a man to be enjoying wealth while his parents were in destitution.

3. The Real Source of Defilement and Impurity (vv. 14-23).
1. Sin is moral and spiritual. Uncleanness before God is not of the body save as the body is directed by the soul. A man is not defiled by that which enters his mouth but by that which springs out of his soul.

2. That which springs out of the heart—the deliberate choice of the will—is the source of defilement (v. 20).
3. A list of evils springing out of the heart (vv. 21, 22). The awful list is as follows:
Evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness, which all come from within. This catalogue includes every possible form of evil. Every one of them originates in the heart and when they become acts of the will and life they defile the man. It is only when temptations and solicitations lead to indulgence by the deliberate act of the will that they corrupt a man.

Children's Needs

Children have more need of models than of critics.—Joubert.

Christian Giving

Our Father has so much confidence in us that He makes no hard, arbitrary rule for Christian giving, but leaves it to the filial love and loyalty of His children to determine how much of their possessions they will offer to relieve the pains and sorrows of the world.—J. H. Jowett.

Faith in God

A little faith in a great God is better than a great faith in mortal man.—Methodist Protestant.
