Will you give a Penny for its Life?

It costs one cent more per chick to feed Purina Poultry Chow for the first six weeks than to feed uncertain unbalanced mixtures. Of the chicks fed average mixtures 50% die. Purina mixtures 90%. It costs a lot more to let chicks die than to save them. The best feed you can buy is by far the cheapest. You can save a cent — or a life. Which will it be?

MAKES POOR EGG LAYERS

For Fattening Turkeys

Grain Rations Valuable for Fattening Turkeys

Some turkey raisers, fed one kind of food, well enough for raising good eggs, but not nearly so well for fattening fowls. The low priced

Grain Rations of the Purina Mill, while the best for raising eggs, are also the best food for fattening fowls. Try them and see. They are sold at the lowest prices through our dealers,

Turpin & Co., 214-216 East Main St.

The best results in fattening are obtained while the turkeys are young. On the other hand, turkeys that are old at the time

they are put to feed, cannot be fattened so quickly or completely as when they are younger. Turkeys confined in small pens

for a short time do not gain rapidly, nor do

those that are fed the same but feed only satisfactorily. A good grain ration makes white meat, the best of all meats. The range turkey is a type of turkeys that should not be merely a question of marketing. This should be repeated monthly.

White Turkeys, 50 lbs. $2.40 per ft.

For orders less than 100 add 10c per ft.

YOU MUST HAVE GOOD LAYERS TO EAT EGGS

Poultry raisers, who have good laying pullets and cocks, are paying to make the profits. A number of well-known poultry raisers in this country believe this is along the right line to go. They find that by raising good layers the men who have more feed in the form of eggs, and that by raising them in their own gardens and feeding them the way nature intended it, they save a lot of money, and there is not a person who does not want to be as good a farmer as they are. Every farmer has a certain degree of profit from the raising of good layers, and the poultry raisers, who are raising them in their own gardens, find that by raising them in this way, they save a lot of money. The poultry raisers are also getting a lot of profit from the raising of good layers, and the poultry raisers, who are raising them in their own gardens, find that by raising them in this way, they save a lot of money. The poultry raisers are also getting a lot of profit from the raising of good layers, and the poultry raisers, who are raising them in their own gardens, find that by raising them in this way, they save a lot of money.

In union there is strength

Thousands of years ago human families roamed the wilderness alone. Later families became tribes, then tribes formed nations. In America we have a union of forty-eight states, composing the world's strongest nation.

You can ride from New York to San Francisco without changing cars, cheaply, comfortably and rapidly, because scores of small, weak railroads have been welded into a few great systems.

You can telephone from coast to coast, from Canada to Mexico, and even to Europe, because hundreds of little local telephone systems have been interconnected.

Just a few years ago only cities and large towns in Kentucky had electric light and power service. It was produced in isolated generating stations and was neither dependable nor cheap. Small towns, villages and farms had no service at all.

The Kentucky Utilities Company has changed those conditions. Scores of isolated local electric systems have been interconnected; large modern generating plants erected; hundreds of miles of high voltage transmission lines built; two huge "pools of power" formed.

Today this company supplies at moderate rates dependable electric service to 185 communities, 2,100 industrial plants (including 200 coal mines), and to 2,000 rural customers. A thousand skilled employees work steadily to improve it.

This Electric Service Helps Industry, Creates Prosperity, Fosters Progress.
