THE LISTENING POST

Idea are elusive things, difficult to come by, hard to understand and extremely difficult to set down in written or spoken words.

I asked a preacher the other day if he ever suffered from this lack of ideas. I never wrote or delivered a sermon and had a sort of curiosity about how the job was done.

Those who write stories know something of the difficulties of securing ideas and developing them. These people know that at times an idea comes almost full-blown and nothing is left save the actual writing.

There are times, however, when one sees a story correctly and can write it easily. I remember one such case personally. At the time I was writing a series of stories and had written four and had them accepted.

This was at the time when bonus marchers were going through the country, and one late afternoon I heard that the railroad yard here was filled with a veritable army of these men.

Seated at the typewriter a few minutes later I began to type that yarn. It grew swiftly, the ideas, the plot, the situation unfolding almost mechanically.

9 Blasted To Death As Army Bomber Falls

Effort To Save Sister Ship Is Blamed For Crash

Denver, --An Army bomber headed into a lightning-streaked cloudbank to avert possible collision with a sister ship--carried nine men to death on a prairie 23 miles southeast of Denver.

Tonight, nearly 24 hours after the craft disappeared on a routine bombing mission, Army officers poked through scattered bits of wreckage in attempt to determine the cause. Lightning was eliminated.

Two officers and seven enlisted men were aboard the twin-motored B-18-A Douglas medium bomber as it fell near the bombing range it had headed for after taking off from Lowry Field, Air Corps technical school here.

At the controls was Second Lieut. Wilbur A. Champagne, 34.

Second Lieut. Blair M. Sorsensen, co-pilot of the second plane, said Lieutenant Champagne radioed that he could not see the lights of the companion bomber and therefore was following the Army practice in such a situation--flying straight ahead.

Caution Urged In Arms Plant

Washington, --Secretary Perkins urged all precautions today against the disabling, crippling and fatal plant accidents which take skilled mechanics away from their jobs in the defense construction program.

In an address to the International Photo-Engravers' Union convention, the Labor Secretary said that under the ordinary operation of American industry annually accidents cause 16,000 deaths and 1,500,000 disabling injuries.

War Keeps Swiss People Hustling As Radio, Mail And Traffic Grows

Bern, --Drama flows day and night through the Alpine stronghold of democracy which is now the last neutral State left in Western continental Europe north of the Pyrenees and south of the Kattégat.

It comes in the 35,000 letters a day which flow through the offices of the International Red Cross Prisoners' Bureau in Geneva.

It comes in thousands of letters, telegrams and word-of-mouth messages to Swiss and foreigners living in the neutral land.

It reaches hitherto unimportant legations in Bern where wartime staffs have been swollen to many times their peacetime strength and are still swamped with work.

Trains bring it across the Swiss frontiers where some of Europe's crack expresses now pin their Western terminus.

It comes by air with special planes winging into the mountainous little State with men aboard who risk a forced landing in countries where certain prison and perhaps worse await them.

It crackles out in coded radio messages across oceans to continents from which war-weary Europe draws both strength and life.

For Switzerland has become the communications center of Europe, the letter box, telegraph office

Harry Hopkins To Quit As Commerce Secretary Soon

Washington, --It was learned tonight that Harry L. Hopkins will tend his resignation soon as secretary of commerce. President Roosevelt is expected to accept it reluctantly.

The President and Hopkins friends for some 16 years, have been co-workers in New York and Washington for the last decade. The widower secretary of commerce makes his home at the White House and Mrs. Roosevelt has been a second mother to his eight-year-old daughter, Diane.

It has been known that Hopkins has felt for some time that his health prevented the application to his position that it deserved. He was sick for many months last year and although there has been a steady improvement in his health recently, he remains far from rugged.

As relief administrator, Hopkins was the target of some times severe criticism and a Senate fight was made on his confirmation as secretary of commerce. However, he was confirmed by a vote of more than two to one.

The resignation of Hopkins will leave the two top places in the Department of Commerce vacant. Edward J. Noble, undersecretary, resigned recently and this place has not been filled.

Persons close to Hopkins say that he will not enter business.

Truck Damaged By Fire Last Night

A truck, belonging to W. M. Warren of near Austin Springs, caught fire last night in front of A. C. Suits Grocery and considerable damage was done to the wiring and the cab before the South Fulton Fire Department was able to extinguish the blaze. The fire was caused by a shortage in the ignition. There was no insurance on the truck.

FARMER BLAMES BOMBS, GETS BY WITH THIN MILK

London, --Farmer Charles James, of Barry, Wales, who argued that his cows gave thin milk because German bombs scared them, was acquitted today of selling milk deficient in butterfat.

When James was arrested last week he pleaded that he wasn't responsible for the milk. A commission was appointed to check up on his claims.

William E. Abell Suffers Fatal Injuries When Car Plunges Thru Fence At Old Car Derby Friday

Thirty-Six Year-Old Driver Dies Early This Morning At Fulton Hospital

Death marred the Ken-Tenn Exposition, when William E. Abell, driver of a car in the Old Car Derby which was run here yesterday afternoon on the fair grounds track, received fatal injuries when his car plunged through the fence on one of the turns of the track receiving injuries which caused death at 4:45 this morning at the Fulton Hospital. Abell was on his 15th lap, when he lost control of the car on the southeast turn of the track, and the car crashed through the fence, tearing the braces from the scoreboard at the ball park. Abell was thrown about 15 feet from the car, and his skull was fractured and he was badly crushed.

Mr. Abell, who was 36 years of age, was employed as mechanic in the Little Motor Company here and is survived by his wife, Edna Brown Abell; three children, Virginia Ann, Earl Douglas, Norman Ralph; his father, John Abell of near Columbus; two brothers, George and Leonard Abell, both of Columbus and one sister, Mrs. N. M. Woolsey of Beardstown, Ill.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the First Baptist church, with the Rev. Woodrow Fuller in charge. Hornbeak Funeral Home will have charge of interment. The body will be taken to the family residence on Holman avenue, where it will lie-in-state until funeral time.

The deceased, who was born near Columbus, February 28, 1904, was the son of John William and Stella Hollingsworth Abell. He was married to Edna Brown January 19, 1929, and since that time has resided in Fulton. During his 11 years of residence in this city, he has made many friends, who regret to learn of his untimely death. He has worked in the various garages in Fulton and for the past seven months has worked for the Little Motor Company. Previous to this he was employed at the Auto Sales Company and also for the Thomas Browder Garage.

Air Defense Strides Seen

Los Angeles -- William S. Knudsen, chairman of the National Defense Advisory Commission, told reporters after a tour of aircraft plants here:

"These factories are booming and expanding under the accelerated program. Their methods appear exceedingly efficient and their ships, I am assured, are second to none."

With him was Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, Army Air Corps chief, who declared:

"It is encouraging, very encouraging. Nevertheless, American aircraft factories will have to keep digging if they are to reach the production numbers set for the deadline next April 1."

NEGRO SUPERSTITIOUS HIS ATTORNEYS ASK TRIAL POSTPONEMENT

Tampa, Fla. --Attorneys with a superstitious Negro client took time by the forelock to ask postponement of a trial set for Friday September 13.

Said the petition filed today by Attorneys John R. Parkhill and Manual M. Garcia, in behalf of the defendant:

"Defendant is of a highly superstitious nature and does not believe he can safely go to trial on Friday, the 13th."

"Moreover, Friday the 13th has been a decidedly unlucky day for one of the attorneys for the defendant, John R. Parkhill, for on said dates he had suffered divers and sundry misfortunes, such as breaking his arm and suffering financial loss."

Judge John R. Himes, presiding, reserved decision.

One hundred and five Still county farmers have signed for rural electric service.

Snake Handlers Want Court Protection From New Statute

Harlan, Ky. --An injunction to prevent indictment or prosecution of its members under a 1940 State law banning use of reptiles in religious services was sought today by Harlan County's snake-handling sect.

The petition, filed in Circuit Court here by G. W. Henaley, 50, freight train conductor and "teacher" in the Holiness Church, attacked the law as an unconstitutional "violation of religious liberty."

Sept. 23 Set For Hearing Rail Pay Plea

Washington, --A minimum wage proposal for the Nation's railroads, calculated to give more than 60,000 workers pay increases totaling about $7,180,000 a year, will be submitted to a hearing September 23 before Col. Philip B. Fleming, wage-hour administrator.

The proposal has been made by a majority of the Railroad Carrier Industry Committee. Under it, the hourly pay minima would be 36 cents for trunk line railroads and 35 cents for short line roads.

The committee majority comprised four members representing the public and four representing the employers. The minority, comprising labor's four representatives, held out for a 40-cent minimum.

After the hearing, the administrator may approve or disapprove the majority recommendation.

U. S. Moves To End Alien-Smuggling On South Coast

Tampa, Fla. --Uncle Sam moved today to combat alien-smuggling by throwing a stronger defense line around the Florida coastline and along the Gulf Coast to the Mississippi River.

Frank Hornyak, chief of the Southeastern Immigration Patrol, disclosed that key points would be strengthened by an enlarged force.

Ten new inspectors from Border Patrol School at El Paso, Texas, are now receiving a month's training in the field preparatory to assignments.

A 500-watt short-wave station will be built here to maintain two-way contact with patrols in the southeastern district.

Two Lost Sisters Live 18 Years 24 Miles Apart

Lancaster, Penn. --It was indeed a small world that separated Mrs. John Wagner and her sister, Miss Norma Heffly.

They lost track of each other eighteen years ago after adoption by different families.

Reunited through a chance meeting arranged by a mutual friend, impressed by the resemblance, the sisters discovered they lived only twenty-four miles apart.

Ambassador Bullitt Makes Plans For Active Campaign For FRD

Washington -- Ambassador William C. Bullitt withheld a reply to his congressional critics today but informed sources said that he had plans for active participation in President Roosevelt's campaign for re-election which would afford him ample opportunity at a later date.

If plans carry through, these sources said, the Ambassador to France may appear in the role of the chief Administration spokesman on questions of foreign policy.

Cudahy Aid Expected Working closely with him, it was reported, would be John Cudahy, Ambassador to Belgium, and Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Ambassador to Poland, who are cut off from the countries to which they are accredited.

Bullitt was said to have received numerous invitations to follow his Philadelphia speech of last Sunday, although it brought sharp condemnation from some Senators as "inflammatory," and a charge by Senator Clark (D-Mo.) yesterday that the State Department had violated the criminal code by distributing copies of the address at Government expense.

Bullitt received thousands of letters and telegrams on his speech which were said to have been overwhelmingly favorable.

Opponents Of Measure Seek More Study

President Argues Delay May Hold Up Program Full Year

Washington, --President Roosevelt demanded quick passage of conscription legislation today--lest, he said, the national defense program be seriously delayed--but his appeal had no discernible effect upon the Senate's ardent band of anti-draft members.

To the latter, in fact, Mr. Roosevelt's statement constituted a challenge, promptly accepted. They rushed to defend their tract of exhaustive debate. They asserted that no filibuster was in progress but that such a "revolutionary" proposal demanded thorough examination. One of them, Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), said that three more weeks' discussion would hardly be too much.

A Year Of Delay

But, as the President saw the problem and outlined it to a press conference, postponement of conscription would mean nearly a year of delay in building up an adequate army. Volunteering has been at a high rate, he added, but is still insufficient. Conscription had been under discussion in Congress since June 20, he said, and the legislators were still talking about it with no action in either house.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), delivered a speech highly critical of the civilian draft bill, and Senator Nye (R-N. D.), denounced the measure as an "insult to our American boys," a "serious departure from the American way," and a proposal that might "help crack our democracy."

Mr. Roosevelt delivered his appeal slowly and earnestly. Defense preparations had concentrated this summer, he said, on orders for new equipment, much of which would be delivered this fall and early next spring. It had been said many times, he observed, that manpower without equipment would serve no good purpose, and now it was equally true that equipment without manpower would be of no use.

RUSSIA'S LONG ARM

Time was when the name of Leon Trotsky meant a great deal in the Russia which emerged from the old time land of the Czars. More than any other man, perhaps, Trotsky played a bigger part in this great change—the Russian revolution which swept aside the old rulers and in theory set Russia on the road to freedom and independence. Trotsky's death in Mexico at the hands of an assassin proves merely that there is little hope in such revolutions, and that the arm of the Russian secret police is long and the brain of that organization never forgets and never ceases to plan.

Stalin is the by-product of Trotsky's dream and Lenin's dream. For it is the usual history of dictators that they fall out among themselves. None of these men can long get along with their associates, and when Stalin finally waded through bloodshed and murder to the number one post in Russia it was known that Trotsky's number was up, in the gangster vernacular. The latter fled Russia and apparently made his escape, but Stalin never forgets and never ceases plans to exterminate his enemies. The world will never know how many men have died at Stalin's orders, for many of them have died secretly and no news has ever appeared of them or their fate. A few years ago, suspecting treachery in the Red Army, Stalin purged the leadership so thoroughly that for years the army has had no adequate leadership. This may explain, in part, Russia's disinclination for war at the present time. Years are required to train competent army leaders, and in a few months Stalin virtually wiped out the entire leadership of his Red Army.

One might think that when Trotsky managed to escape Russia and take up his abode in a foreign country, thousands of miles from Russia he would be safe. But not with men like Stalin. On the day he rose to power Trotsky was marked for destruction and that aim has never been forgotten. Naturally Trotsky continued to plot and scheme against Stalin, for he was of the same type as the Russian dictator. It is not probable that his scheming would have amounted to anything, for Stalin holds his nation in a grip of steel. But the latter does not believe in taking any chances whatever when a simple case of murder will relieve the situation. No doubt the Russian secret police had permanent orders to erase Trotsky from the scene.

A few months ago we saw one of these efforts which failed. Trotsky's home in Mexico was riddled by machine gun fire. That must have been an elaborate plot, well carried out, but for some obscure reason it failed. With a hail of bullets whining through his home Trotsky managed to escape injury. Now comes the final chapter. Inside his own home Trotsky is killed by a man he believed to be his friend. Taking no chance whatever of failure, this man drove a pickax into Trotsky's brain. In Moscow a check mark is made in a certain book of the Russian secret police and the case of Trotsky is closed. The long arm of Russia has spanned the seas and continents to accomplish its purpose.

True there is no great loss to the world involved. Trotsky, as is Stalin, was a born revolutionist and in Stalin's

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

What kind of an unholy alliance is this?

In New Jersey several hundred members of the Ku Klux Klan are reported foregathering with several hundred German-American Bund members at Camp Nordland, the Bund's 200-acre camp.

Klan officials denied that there was any merger in sight of the two organizations—they met together, well, just because they met together.

The Klansmen were met by the ineffable Augustus Klapprott, successor to Fritz Kuhn, now unfortunately prevented from attending by the fact that he is in jail. Bund "storm troopers" took charge of things and made the sheeted Klansmen welcome. English was spoken.

What sort of a connection, if any, between these two organizations is presaged by this meeting, we can't imagine. Will Father Coughlin, for instance, who views the Nazi Bund with large toleration, welcome also to his arms the Catholic-baiting Klan? Does the Klan, whose origins, and even whose later development, were at least American, now welcome to its bosom devotees of a foreign system? Will the swastika be sewed on the Klan nightshirt, and Nazi "storm troopers" swish about in trailing robes of white?

What common ground can be found for organizations of so diverse origins, so utterly different antecedents and apparent object? There must be such a common ground, for it is birds of a feather, we are told, which flock together.

It seems possible to find only one: hatred.

The German government to which the Bund defers got its start by peddling hatred of groups. The Klan did the same. Today they may not even unite on precisely the same groups but this they have in common—they build upon hatred, they exploit hatred, they create and inflate hatred for their own ends.

America has no time for this kind of nonsense today. We have a big job on our hands. We have a splendid, beautiful country, and a free way of life to defend. We purpose to defend it.

We have no ears for those who would make a profession and a calling of inciting hatred that would disunite and enfeeble us.

America belongs to all of us: to Protestant and Jew and Gentile and Catholic and those without defined religious belief; to white and black; to rich and poor and all the millions who struggle daily for their bread with no wish but to enjoy it in peace and quietude.

For the stirrers-up of strife and distrust and hatred there is no room today, nor is there need for any organizations but those devoted to the republic and to government of the people, by the people, and for the people—all of them.—Bowling Green News.

NEGROS SEE PRODUCTIVE GARDENS

Negro farmers, in a recent tour in Warren county, saw many gardens that were furnishing a complete family supply of vegetables during the growing season and a surplus to can for winter consumption. In addition to the usual vegetables, Fint Potter's garden contained head lettuce, brussel sprouts, celery, swiss chard, cauliflower, broccoli, parsley, garlic and horse radish. A hotbed at the Potter garden is heated with circulating water. Another outstanding garden was seen at the farm of Haden Shobe.

Deaufort, S. C.—When a rescue party in the recent hurricane found an old Negro woman in the loft of her inundated cabin with a 150-pound pig in her lap, she explained:

"Ah bin t'rough de storm of 1893 and me and mah family most starve to death so dis time ah ain' mean to starve."

position would adopt the same course. The incident merely bears out the truth of the saying "those who live by the sword will perish by the sword."

Nature's Danger Signal
How much easier it is to keep well than to get well. In these strenuous times so many people have lagged out "feeling." They are tired all the time. They think they are all run down when they are more apt to be all wound up. And they do not recognize this as nature's danger signal that something is wrong.

MEN WITH COURAGE TO PICK WIVES DESERVE PROTECTION

Atlanta.—Married men who buy their wives rings without personal selection by the missus need all the protection the law affords, a three judge tribunal of Fulton county (Atlanta) Civil Court ruled today.

"Few men are possessed with the ability to make proper selections for the feminine sex and those who have the courage to attempt it should be given every protection the law affords, ruled Judges Ralph McClelland, Clarence Bell and T. O. Hathcock.

The court reversed a trial court in a case brought by an Atlanta jewelry store against W. C. Dunbar, who contended he bought a ring and signed a title retention contract subject to the approval of his wife. She disapproved. The jeweler denied the conditional part of the contract and won a verdict in the lower court for the price of the ring.

FRENCHMAN TELLS U. S. TO WATCH OUT FOR 5TH COLUMN

New York.—An elderly Frenchman who identified himself only as spokesman for the "French man-in-the-street" arrived today aboard the British liner Hilary and warned Americans to "watch for fifth columnists."

The man said through an interpreter that he was "working for the deliverance of the French people." "As a liberty-loving Frenchman whose country is no longer a land of liberty and as a friend of America, I say: watch out for fifth columnists," he said. "You who are with England are the hope of the people of the world who still have the spirit of freedom. Be strong and united."

He blamed the French capitulation on the French Army General Staff which was "debauched in Fascism."

FRESH WATER SAILOR PLANS LAND CRUISE

Ashtabula, Ohio.—Samuel M. Sylvester, who estimates that he's sailed fifty times around the world but never left Lake Erie, has retired after thirty four years on the Car ferry Ashtabula.

Sam, as he's known to everyone on the lake boats, says he's crossed the lake an average of 350 times a year as chief engineer the equivalent to fifty times around the world. His sailing career began fifty-five years ago as a cabin boy.

He's going to tour the Middle West this fall.

Doc Sanford Pitches Tigers To 13 To 1 Victory Against Hoppers

Doc Sanford and his dispy-doodle ball proved too much for the Hoppers in Hopkinsville last night. The little lefty with the cunning brain held the Hoppers to six scattered hits, and while charged with five bases on balls, left ten men to perish on the base paths. In the meantime his mates were pounding Burgess and Smith with vim, vigor and vitality as well as with baseball bats, to pile up sixteen hits and thirteen runs. The big blowoff came in the eighth frame when eight men were sent clattering across the pay station.

Practically all the Tigers took a hand in this hitting exercise. Mathis and Gallo were the only ones to go hitless, while all other players had two or more. Quackenbush had two doubles and a triple, driving in three runs. Two double plays, in three runs, aided Sanford in his easy conquest. Sanford had a pair of hits, including a double, and Mullen drove in four runs with his two hits. Peterson continued his hitting rampage with three blows for the game.

The final game of the series is being played in Hopkinsville tonight and tomorrow afternoon the Tigers and Owensboro. The Oillers will be here for three days, and then the Bowling Green leaders move in for four days, during which time five games will be played. Night games after this date will start at 7:30 o'clock.

LISTENING POST

I had the acceptance and a letter which brought a real glow to my heart. A bit later, on another story, I had another of these full-blown ideas and thought it would click again. It did not and never did click. That one yarn must have been an exception, and I wonder at times how I managed to see and feel a complete yarn of around five thousand words.

ORGANIZATION HELPS IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Lacking organization through which farm people could work cooperatively, the Morgan County Farm and Home Improvement Association was formed in Eastern Kentucky. Each community in the county has a council, the chairmen of which make up the county council.

Membership of the county organization, now several hundred, is made up of "every citizen of the county who desires to have a part in the improvement of the farms and homes of the county and who is willing to cooperate with others in obtaining these goals," says the constitution.

More than 600 people attended a summer meeting of the association at a farm where phosphate and other means of improving fertility are being tested. Yandell Wraether, the county farm agent, is ex officio member of the county council.

DRUNKEN DRIVER DELIVERS HIMSELF TO POLICE STATION

Oakland, Calif.—When Oakland police receive a prisoner by "special delivery," that's progress.

But when the prospective prisoner does his own "delivering" via the front door of the police station that's news.

Sergt. Willay A. Meyer was seated at the desk when the screen door of the station suddenly was shattered.

Rushing out, Meyer found the automobile of Jack Scharpo, 32, parked on the front steps, with Scharpo at the wheel looking startled.

Meyer jailed Scharpo on a drunken driving charge, ordered the car removed from the steps, and repaired the screen door.

FOOD SHORTAGE IN FRANCE QUESTIONED

London—An authoritative British source, commenting on French Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin's charge that the British blockade is a hostile act, said today there is no reason why France should be short of food this winter since she is virtually a self-supporting agricultural nation.

This source added there were "vast stocks" of food stored in France and, if there were any interference with their distribution to the French people, the responsibility was not Britain's, but "of the power with which the French Government rushed to come to terms."

SENATE ACTION ON LABOR BILL CALLED UNLIKELY

Washington—House-approved amendments to the Labor Relations Act probably will not be considered by the Senate, Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) of the Senate Labor Committee said Friday.

Thomas said he did "not see how" it would be possible to obtain Senate action since his committee had failed to accept a suggestion for limiting discussion on the subject.
