Roundhouse Round-Up

By Alice Clark

While you're doing that last minute bit of shopping and planning for a great big Christmas, don't forget that safety at this time is more important than ever before. Haven't got much time or space to tell you how necessary it is, but will take time to thank you all for reading my little column every week and that yours will be the very merriest Christmas you ever had.

And now for a little news, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Steele and son, Al, of Lexington are here to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Steele.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. C. L. Grissom wife of car inspector is getting along nicely in Haws Memorial hospital.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Stanley Parham and baby are getting along nicely in Haws Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Smith are moving to Ashley, Ill., to make their home. Their many friends in Fulton regret very much to see them leave. Mr. Smith has retired due to bad health.

Mrs. J. H. Pond was hostess to a going away party Wednesday afternoon at her home on Fairview avenue honoring Mrs. C. H. Smith.

W. M. Blackstone was in Jackson Monday to attend the suggestion meeting.

We are sorry to hear that Laborer J. T. Milner is still on the sick list. We are sorry to hear that T. F. Cursey is ill at his home on Pearl street.

Ruth Milner is the guest of her mother, Laborer Elizabeth Morris.

Mrs. V. J. Voegeli Jr., has returned home after a visit with friends and relatives in Birmingham, Ala.

Winky and Jack Voegeli have returned home after a visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Voegeli of Jackson, Tenn.

Mrs. W. R. McKenzie and children have returned from a visit with relatives in Jackson, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Smith spent the week end in Dresden, Tenn., with Mrs. Smith parents.

Mrs. Raymond Pewitt is all smiles as she packs her suitcase for a trip to Nashville, Tenn., to visit her daughter and family.

Caller M. C. Bugg is still off account being on the sick list.

Mrs. M. M. Matlock and children spent Saturday in Paducah shopping.

Engineer L. Braswell and James Matheny are on their vacation.

Elect Foreman W. C. Jacobs has returned to work after his vacation.

Elect Appr. James Davis has returned to work after his vacation.

A. T. Carter has returned from Paducah after a visit with his wife and daughter there.

Mrs. G. A. Thomas and daughter Betty has returned from Jackson, where they visited friends.

So long folks, hope you have a merry, merry Christmas and remember to be careful.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Finch and son, Larry, Mrs. A. M. Roberson, Jimmy Rogers, Mrs. R. N. Belew, and Miss Betty Howard attended the Finch, Craig wedding in Cape Girardeau, Mo., Sunday.

Little Phoebe

Twice the night before Christmas And all through the town Little Phoebe was prancing to do it up brown

She doffed her old playsuit with rips down the seam And donned a red rig for she had a new theme

She sprang to a tree to the tune of a whistle And sat her little self on the down of a thistle

Laugh and laugh she did not at all But yelled out so sweetly a Merry Christmas to all

Local Boy On President's Selected Honor Contingent

H. Bonds, storekeeper, third class, USN, of Route 2, Fulton, was selected from the crew of the submarine tender USS Howard W. Gilmore to be a member of the honor guard for President Harry S. Truman at his departure from the submarine base, Key West, Fla., after his visit there. Joining with similar contingents from the Submarine Base, the Atlantic Fleet Sonar School and the local detachment of Marines, the honor guard lined the walks from the gates to the Commandant's Quarters, depicting the traditional "Manning the Rail" ceremony familiar to all seafaring people.

FORGIVE US AT CHRISTMAS, PLEASE!

"To err is human to forgive divine," has been written by folks wiser than we are, so today since we are making a mistake or two are asking your forgiveness.

We have lots of good news on our desk that would make good reading, but we are trying so hard to get the paper out and give our staff a much needed rest after a very busy month.

We have a wonderful story from Mrs. Cecil Burnette about the Victory Club party, Mrs. McClanahan's party for the Crutchfield Homemakers, the Girl Scout party Monday night at the Woman's Club, Mrs. Harrison's party for Margaret Lee, and a host of others. We just haven't the time now to space to run them this week, so won't you please forgive us and give us another chance next year.

Fulton County News;
Fulton, Kentucky

I read in your paper of the sad case which occurred in Fulton during Thanksgiving near the ICCR yards.

It stated in your paper that the woman was carried to Mayfield, and entered in a hospital there. I would like to know why it was necessary, to carry a dying woman 21 miles when she could have ridden 1 mile and entered a hospital. This doesn't sound right to me and several more.

I certainly don't think its good advertisement for Fulton.

Certainly it couldn't be true that the doctors and hospitals of Fulton are so dollar-conscious that they forget the humanitarian side of life. If it is a charity ward should be started, and I think if a drive was made everyone would donate, it is my understanding that a certain company donated a nice lump sum for charity purposes last year, what became of this?

Everytime you turn around some one has something for you to donate to for charity purposes. What becomes of it? If we can't help a poor dying mother its a darn poor town, because there's been rich people go broke over night, and it could be you. No one ever knows if the person you're helping might have at one time done more than you for charity, or maybe later will do more as it has been known for some poor creature falling heir to millions.

And remember this could be you, your mother, father, son, daughter, wife or husband.

And think of those five poor little children who were cold and hungry. Think of your own children and how you would feel if you were dying and knew that your five babies were hungry and cold and not old enough to get out in this world and make a living for themselves.

So come on you Fulton people lets think about this and don't just think.

Lets do something about it not tomorrow, but today.

Season's Greetings

Since this is the final issue of the current year, we pause to think of all those friends who have made our year better and happier for having known them.

The sincere friendship, the loyal support and the patronage you have shown us are indeed so worthy that we feel hardly capable of finding the words to express our hearty and most sincere thanks.

You have been good to us in Fulton. We came here strange folks in a strange land, but the days were few until we felt that we were a part of your very own Fulton family. Your acceptance has meant much to us and we are indeed grateful.

We have found that this friendship has counted for a lot and while we have tried ever so hard to be worthy of your support, we have pledged ourselves to greater efforts to help you and ourselves make our little city the very best place on earth to call home.

Fulton is our home and at this time let every member of our "household" wish you and yours a very happy Christmas and a prosperous and bountiful 1948.

BETTY LOU BRASHEARS WINS $5.00 REWARD FOR BEST LETTER TO SANTA OFFERED BY NEWS

Young Lady Wants Santa To Remember Poor Children Before Visiting Her Home

A little girl, whose heart was full of human kindness and charity and who put love of others before selfishness was selected by the judges to receive the $5.00 award offered by the News for the best letter to Santa Claus. The winner is Betty Lou Brashears, seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wardell Brashears, who wanted her mother and Santa to remember the underprivileged children before taking care of her needs.

The letter was selected from more than 75 received by the Santa Claus Editor.

Judges for the contest were: Mr. and Mrs. Yewell Harrison and Mrs. W. L. Durbin.

The letter follows:

Dear Santa Claus,

I am a little girl 7 years old, I am in the second grade, I read two lines in "The News," "No toys at Xmas, Looks like it."

I can't read big words so my mother told me what was under the two lines in the paper. She says it's about underprivileged children.

Santa, I was going to ask you to bring my little 3 year-old sister and me something to make music with some color books and new clothes for our dolls and a plastic pencil case, fruits, nuts and candy.

But if you don't have enough to go around you go to see the underprivileged children first and wait till last to come to our house. We want you to see our Christmas tree and pretty lights anyway.

Your little friend,

Betty Lou Brashears

XMAS CHEER PREVAILS IN VA HOSPITALS; VETS TO SEE 'THE TENDER YEARS' FIRST

The warm friendly spirit of the Christmas season now is aglow in the 10 Veterans Administration hospitals in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

At each hospital, volunteer workers and VA Special Services personnel are busily engaged in preparations which will insure that none of the 11,500 veteran patients is overlooked during the Yuletide.

Various community groups are taking an active part in the holiday arrangements.

While each hospital is making its own holiday plans, the festivities generally will follow the same pattern.

One of the Christmas Day features will be the world premiere of the picture, "The Tender Years," starring Joe E. Brown. The film will be shown simultaneously in 127 VA hospitals where facilities are available, including Ft. Custer and Dearborn in Michigan; Crile (Cleveland), Dayton (hospital and domiciliary) and Chillicothe in Ohio; and Lexington, Louisville and Outwood in Kentucky.

The traditional Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" also will be featured at each of these hospitals, with a special holiday community sing and cartoon.

Each hospital will be gaily adorned with decorations and illuminated Christmas trees. Parties will be held in recreation halls and on the wards, with Santa Claus distributing gifts among the patients. Refreshments will be served. There will be recorded music throughout the day. Ambulatory patients and VA personnel will sing carols in the hospitals and throughout the grounds.

Populace patients will see or hear the holiday festivities by means of hospital radio equipment and portable motion picture equipment. Blind patients will have an opportunity to join the carol singing, with the words of their favorite carols in Braille.

Chaplains will conduct religious services in each hospital.

Special Christmas menus are planned. Most of the hospitals will serve roast turkey with all the trimmings.

The veteran-patients are getting their Christmas shopping completed early and easily this year through the cooperation of volunteer groups which have sponsored free gift shops in most of the hospitals.

In these shops, patients may select gifts, at no expense, to be sent to families or friends. Hospital recreation personnel and volunteer workers assist in the selection—gift wrap, address and mail the presents. In addition, mobile gift cards are taken to the wards, enabling bedfast patients to participate in this novel Christmas shopping service.

Mrs. Dana Carpenter and little daughter, Ann Price, of Webster Springs, Va., are the holiday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Price.

Miss Peggy Scott of Art School in Nashville has arrived to spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Ruth Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Joyner and children, Joan and Jerry of Macon, Ga., arrived Monday night to spend Christmas with their mothers, Mrs. Walter Joyner and Mrs. J. J. House.

THIRTY PERSONS CONTRIBUTE TO BLOOD BANK SPONSORING GROUP PLEASSED BY NUMBER

Cards Showing Type And RH Factor To Be Mailed To Donors; Bank At Bellevue In Memphis

Huddleston Motor Co. Is Host To Employees Party

The employees of the Huddleston Motor Company and their guests were entertained Wednesday night, December 17 at the Rainbow Room with a turkey dinner.

Dinner was served at seven p.m. to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Huddleston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holloway, Mr. and Mrs. Russ Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bondurant, Mr. and Mrs. Olive Frank Laird, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Garvin Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Price A. Kimble and Miss Sue Wright, and Sgts. Nicholson and Avolon.

Afterwards the group was shown Army films, "Tank Mission World War Two," "G. I. Ambassadors" and "Hawaiian Holiday" by the sergeants.

Although only thirty persons signified their intentions to become investors in Fulton's Blood Bank, organized last Friday, the sponsoring organizations and the medical profession are well pleased with the initial efforts to get a supply of blood to store for exclusive use of city medics.

In an early report to the News this morning, Mrs. M. W. Haws, president of the Woman's Club, which sponsored the local donations, said that the laboratories would send a card to each donor, specifying their blood type and RH factor. A complete list of donors and quantity donated would also be sent to the local hospitals.

"Though the number is small in comparison to the population, we are pleased with the results in view of the many other interests of local persons at this time of the year," Mrs. Haws said.

The Woman's Club made an arrangement with the Bellevue Clinical Laboratories of Memphis to bring a mobile unit of the laboratories to Fulton on Friday to receive blood donations from local citizens to be kept on deposit for local use. The unit, attended by a physician and staff, stationed at the Woman's Club however the hours of 9 a. m. and 9 p. m. to accept donations.

The blood was taken to Bellevue in Memphis where it will be typed, stored and on call only to people of Fulton.

Jr. Woman's Club Gives Children's Party Friday

A Christmas party was given Friday night by the Junior Department of the Woman's Club at the club home for underprivileged children. Mrs. J. H. Patterson told a Christmas story and afterwards games were enjoyed. Little three year old Diane Gene won the prize in the pinning the tail on the donkey contest.

A pretty lighted Christmas tree was laden with gifts for all present. Candy and ice cream was served to 25 children. Following the children's party 20 members and their sponsor Mrs. Elizabeth Snow enjoyed a party and exchanged gifts.

TASTY MOVIES ARE PLANNED FOR HOLIDAYS

While folks are busy at home planning the Christmas meal Joe Brown, manager of the local theatres long ago planned his entertainment dish for the holiday season. He announces that a neat little musical entitled "Copacabana" has been dished up by United Artist starring Carmen Miranda and Groucho Marx and will be served on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. The musical has received a good press wherever it has played and Chef Brown has added other motion picture trimmings to make the holiday showings a real feast.

On New Year's Eve a midnight show is planned starring Franchot Tone and Lucille Ball in "Her Husband's Affair." The show will begin at eleven o'clock.

The regular showing on New Year's Eve and New Year's Day will be the Dorsey brothers in the "Fabulous Dorseys."

Jimmy Carter of Norfolk, Va., is spending the holidays with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Carter.

MORE CLEAN MILK OBTAINED WHEN COWS KEPT CLEAN

Clean cows mean more clean milk, a fact that dairymen should act upon especially during times when food is in such demand, say Extension Service dairy specialists. Cleanliness of the cow is one of the most important factors in the production of clean milk. Regular clipping of the udder and hind quarters keeps cows free of long hairs, thus reducing the amount of dirt, etc., above the pail or teat cups. Clipping makes these parts easier to clean, resulting in less sediment and thereby increasing the amount of marketable milk.

GAS TAX IS COSTING AVERAGE CAR $253.50

"Old Bus" is a 1940 Model With 58,000 Miles On It

The State and Federal governments have collected $253.50 from the average Kentucky motorist in taxes on the gasoline he has used in the automobile he now owns, according to Eugene Stuart, Secretary-Manager of the Louisville Automobile Club.

Mr. Stuart based this figure on a recent survey made by the Crowell-Collier Publishing Company, New York, which found that the speedometers on cars in communities of over 2,500 population registered an average of 58,000 miles. The $253.50 figure does not include State automobile registration fees, it was pointed out.

The survey, according to Mr. Stuart, shows that the average car is a 1940 model. "But," he explained, "this is no way means that new car purchasers are stepping into a bright, shiny vehicle that is unencumbered by taxes. At present rates of taxation the new car purchaser has to pay out $112.05 in special taxes before he can shift gears. Of this amount, $70 represents the average excise paid to the Federal Government, tires and tubes account for another $4.50 in taxes, the State charges an average of $37.50 in the 3 per cent usage tax and an average of $4.22 to register it.

"That's only the beginning, however," Mr. Stuart continued. "The minute the new car owner purchases his first gasoline he starts paying more taxes—five cent to the State, on every gallon and one and a half to the Federal Government. The average Kentucky motorist consumes 688 gallons of gasoline in a year's time which costs him $44.72 in taxes. This brings the total automotive tax bill to $160.99 in the first year of operation.

"Despite the fact that the older models have a head start of more than twice the distance around the world," Mr. Stuart concluded, "it shouldn't take the new buggies long to catch up with their elders at any rate, as far as taxes are concerned."

SHOPPING BAG! NO JES LOOKIN' AROUND A BIT

Women go to their grocer's to buy bags full of flour every day, so that's commonplace. But when hundreds of women flock to their grocers to buy empty flour bags, that's news.

Such is the case in Indianapolis, report 267 grocers who recently put in stock empty, laundered cotton flour bags. The women are gobbling up the empty cotton bags to make dresses, children's clothes, curtains, slip covers, and dozens of other useful household articles.

These city women are following the example of their country cousins, who long ago found that the large flour and feed sacks which were purchased for the farm could be thrifty and attractively converted into many articles they needed.

For the first time, metropolitan housewives have an opportunity to obtain cotton sacks in the large sizes from their local grocery stores the National Cotton Council says. An arrangement with wholesale bakeries makes it possible for local grocers to purchase and re-sell the laundered flour bags in their stores.

The flour bags, which are available both in white and printed designs, are displayed on special stands near the checking counter along with free instruction booklets giving customers instructions for sewing with the cotton bags.

GRAIN-WASTING RAT FINDS

It takes 200,000 farmers producing an average of 1,000 bushels of grain per year to support the rat population in the United States, according to estimates of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Rats destroy or damage 200 million bushels of grain per year.

As an effective grain-saving measure, however, rat numbers are being reduced in scores of counties and communities of Kentucky. Many county agents, in cooperation with the Fish and Wildlife Service, have organized rat extermination drives on a county-wide basis. Several West Tennessee counties in particular have outstanding rat-control programs under way, and thousands of "man's worst animal enemy" have been destroyed.

Five points stressed for rat control are: Do not shelter rats; do not feed rats; kill rats regularly; organize community rat-control projects; follow a year-round program.

Rats may be killed by poisoning, fumigating, or trapping; and all these means should be combined on almost all rat-control jobs, with major emphasis upon poisoning. Red squill is the safest bait for use by the general public. Antu is also good, but both should be kept away from dogs and other domestic animals.

County agents can assist with rat control drives, both in the planning, and in the handling of various poisons and baits.

World War II veterans have purchased 247,664 of the 485,144 surplus automotive vehicles sold to date by the War Assets Administration.

Over $7,000,000 worth of surplus property has been purchased from the War Assets Administration by the Ford Motor Company.

The Philippine government will get about $10,000,000 worth of U.S. surplus property that is presently located in the islands.

CARE IS KEYNOTE TO CHECK HOLIDAY FIRES AND DEATHS

"Don't let Death Take Your Holiday!"

With that slogan as a keynote, the National Safety Council announced today a nationwide campaign to check the huge annual Christmas holiday toll.

The Christmas-New Year holiday season is the most hazardous single period of the year, according to Council statistics. In traffic accidents alone, three times as many persons are killed during a Christmas holiday period than on the same days of the preceding two weeks.

Heavier travel and the festive spirit of the holiday season increase the normal winter hazards, such as bad weather, slippery roads and more hours of darkness.

More than 130 national organizations, city and state officials, safety councils and civic leaders have joined forces with the Council in the year-end campaign. Together they seek to create in the public mind an awareness of the special holiday hazards, and to enlist voluntary cooperation on the part of every individual to hold accidents to a minimum this Christmas.

The Council emphasized that the campaign is the final effort of the year to hold the 1947 traffic death toll below the 1946 total of 33,700.

At the end of the first nine months of this year, there was a small reduction in traffic deaths—4 percent from the same period of 1946. But the final quarter of the year always is the one with the most traffic deaths.

"Christmastime is family time, the season of reunion, of joy in one's children, of drawing even closer the most fundamental ties that bind us together—truly a season to be merry," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council.

"But it is a season to be wary, as well. The tragedy of an accident becomes even more poignant during the Yule season. It takes only a little forethought, a little extra care and, often, just a little extra courtesy to make certain a Christmas celebration of joy and festivity unshadowed by accidents.

"Remember—don't let death take your holiday!"

HUNTING SEASON IN HOME

While the game hunting season covers only a few weeks, the hunting season for the homemaker frequently runs throughout the year, say Extension home management specialists of the U-T College of Agriculture and Home Economics. But this need not be the case, it is emphasized, if ample storage space is provided, and everything is kept in its place.

Many old farmhouses were built without provision for closet space, specialists point out. Remodeling plans should give top priority to plenty of storage space throughout the house. Modern homes, however, have a coat closet near the front entrance, a closet in each bedroom, linen closet and cleaning closet in the hall, storage space for towels and other supplies in the bathroom; and perhaps a closet for work clothes on the back porch.

A good plan, specialists say, is to make a list of the various articles needed in each room, then either remodel or build storage space accordingly.

Feed Lower Grade Cattle, Save Grain; Advises U-T

Tennessee cattle feeders can effectively cooperate in the Nation's grain-saving efforts by feeding cattle to lower grades rather than using the extra percentage of feed required for top grades, say animal husbandmen of the U-T Agricultural Extension Service.

Younger cattle gain more in live weight per pound of feed consumed; but they cannot eat as much bulky feed as mature cattle, and therefore are not as efficient users of farm roughages. It has been found that a choice feeder steer calf requires about 400 pounds' gain to make a good carcass. An additional 200 pounds is required to life the same feeder calf to a choice carcass grade. A Choice yearling steer requires 270 pounds' gain to make a good carcass, and an additional 170 pounds to produce a Choice carcass.

Experiments have shown, livestock specialists say, that corn required to put a Choice feeder in Choice slaughter condition will put two Choice feeders in Good killing condition, and thereby produce about 80 per cent more edible meat. Similarly, Good grade feeders were found to require even a greater percentage of grain when carried on to a Choice slaughter finish.

It therefore appears advisable, livestock specialists say, for the commercial cattlemen not only to feed cattle of the age and weight which can most easily and effectively utilize the grains and roughages available on his farm, but also to carry these cattle to slightly lower slaughter grades (average Good to low Choice) for greater grain efficiency.

Added Compensation Given A & P Employees

Local employees participated in the additional compensation totaling more than $1,800,000 which has been distributed to employees of The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company before Christmas, it was announced today by John A. Hartford, president.

All A & P employees throughout the country, with six months or more service with the company, participated in the cash distribution. The company's employees were voted $1,750,000 compensation last year.

The Stanford Homemakers Club in Lincoln county cooperated with other agencies in an anti-mosquito campaign.

"Cliftcrest" Is Scene Of Lovely Party As Mrs. L. A. Clifton Entertains Homemakers

Mrs. L. A. Clifton threw the doors of her remodeled, re-decorated colonial home "Cliftcrest" wide open to the Victory Homemakers Club on December 16, 1947.

The entire house had been artistically decorated with holly magnolia, cut flowers and Xmas trimmings by her nephew, Henry Jakob, Bonne Terre, Mo., who is an art student in New York City.

The food leaders, Mrs. Roy Carver and Mrs. Tom Wade and their assistants had a delicious Xmas dinner prepared which was served in the dining room and in the adjoining rooms. The center decorations on each table consisted of red carnations and ferns illuminated by tapers flanked by holly and other greenery as well as from the beautiful lamps which were placed so appropriately for correct illumination.

Mrs. H. P. Roberts chairman, was in charge of the program and gave a beautiful reading, the thought for the day. Mrs. Clifton led the devotional.

The program conductor, Mrs. John Dawes was in charge of the Xmas tree, by her request, Mrs. Cecil Burnette sang the lovely sentimental Xmas ballad "Christmas Candles," by Laveen, Brun and Sampson in the same Xmas spirit aglow in the hearts of all those who were present. "Silent Night" and "Hark The Herald Angels Sing" was beautifully sang by all with Mrs. Dawes leading the singing. She presented two games "Xmas Shopping" and "Xmas Jigsaw" which were enjoyed very much.

The genial Mrs. H. P. Roberts was appointed to take the place of Santa Claus in the distribution of the useful presents exchanged.

Mrs. Harold Copeland offered interesting and beneficial suggestions.

Mrs. E. A. Carver had the pleasure of opening the "Hearts Desire Box" which Mrs. Dawes had filled.

Mrs. Charles Pruitt, visitor joined the club. The members present were Mesdames H. C. Brown, Cecil Burnette, E. A. Carver, Roy Carver, L. A. Clifton, Dean Collier, Harold Copeland, Jim Dawes, John Dawes, Gene Dowdy, Lubie Howell, H. P. Roberts, Tom Wade, James Holt Elzie Cook, Mrs. Gus Paschall was a visitor of the club.

The next meeting will be held in the home of the chairman, Mrs. H. P. Roberts on January 13, 1948. The subject will be slip cover construction.

Thursday Night Bridge Club Has Dinner Party

The members of the Thursday Night Bridge Club enjoyed a progressive dinner Thursday evening.

Members and one guest, Miss Ruth Graham, met in the home of Miss Mary Homra for the first course. The Homra home was decorated in keeping with the season. The salad course was served at the home of Miss Helen King on Middle Road. Greenery and other Christmas decoration added a festive air to the King home.

From the King home the group went to Mrs. Paul Durbin's home on Middle Road for the main course. Places were laid for 13, with each place marked with Santa Claus, angels and Christmas tree candles. The table was centered with pine boughs encircled with lighted candles casting a soft glow over the festive scene. The last course was served in the home of Miss Martha Moore on Maiden street. The dining table was beautifully decorated in all white, centered with a tiny silver tree with crystal balls and encircled with white glowing candles.

Members attending were Mrs. Clyde Williams, Jr., Mrs. Clyde Hill, Mrs. Fred Homra, Miss Marv Homra, Miss Andy DeMyer, Miss Nell Warren, Miss Charlene Martin, Mrs. Morgan Omar, Mrs. Durbin, Miss Helen King, Miss Martha Moore and Miss Ann Goodfrey. Gifts were exchanged from a pretty lighted Christmas tree.

Joe Williams of Nashville is home for the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Williams.

Jack Moore of Bowling Green, college is spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Hoyt Moore.

Miss Kathrine Homra of Louisville is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. Homra.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cantrell of Covington, Tenn., are the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. Homra.

Christmas, the glorious season, has shed its radiance over the world since the Star of Bethlehem illuminated skies as a beacon, calling to mankind to witness the blessed Babe. And in God's own Heaven, herald angels' voices sweetly ring out in unison with the voices of Church choirs wherever they are free to sing His praises. The wonder of Christ's coming enralls us: yet His most precious gift is the true spirit of Love which finds its strongest expression in the democratic way of life to which we are dedicated. ## DON'T LET DEATH TAKE YOUR HOLIDAY

On the front doors of too many American homes this Christmas the gay holly wreath will be replaced by a somber funeral wreath.

That is a dark thought—one we hesitate to put into words. But we believe that we cannot give effective support to the National Safety Council's holiday accident prevention campaign if we refuse ostrich-like, to face grim reality.

The facts are there. Year after year the accident toll hits a peak in December. The holiday period, coupled with the seasonal hazards of early darkness and bad weather, is to blame for the increase.

Traffic accidents go up because people do more driving during the holidays and there are more people on the streets. Another important reason is that there is far more drinking than at any other time of the year.

The accident toll is swelled by other seasonal hazards, some of them within our very homes, such as fires resulting from careless decoration of Christmas trees.

So to those persons who may say, "why bring up the idea of death and tragedy at Christmastime?" we reply, "What better time is there to bring it up?"

A what time would an accident fall more heavily upon us? Always tragic, an accident is doubly tragic at Christmastime. All around us are joy and merrymaking, bright lights and warm hearts, family happiness and friendly goodwill.

Why jeopardize all this in one moment of carelessness?

It certainly is the time to think about safety—not morbidly, but with firm resolve that you will not be the one to bring a black Christmas to your family or friends, to a stranger or to yourself.

To keep death from taking your holiday costs nothing, takes no time and requires only a little effort—refusal to take the drink you can't handle, yielding the right-of-way, waiting for the light to change, discarding a string of Christmas tree lights with worn insulation.

Little things—but they pay off big in happiness. They will keep the lights burning in your home.

GAY NINETIES ARE STAGING COMEBACK

Shades of Grandma! History repeats itself—pantaloon and camisoles will be back in style this spring, West Coast fashion experts say.

They predict that these ruffy, feminine garments will be as popular for spring wear in 1948 as they were back in Grandma's day.

Pretty pantaloons of cotton will give another ruffle to show beneath wide-cut skirts. And bloomers are back too, ruffled all over. These probably will be worn under active sports dresses and play clothes. Both dress and sportswear markets are showing versions of these fashions for resort and spring. worn to increase the width of flaring skirts. They'll be made of starch cotton print fabrics, the color of the print picking up the color of the dress with which it is worn.

GOOD SELECTION SAVES GRAIN IN PQLTRY FEEDING

Farm flock owners can make a great contribution to the grain-saving drive by adopting three simple practices in their management program, say poultry specialists of the U T Agricultural Extension Service.

The three points are:

Select at least one inefficient or low-producing hen or pullet out of every five birds in the flock.

Select so that the flock will contain at least 80 per cent of pullets.

Utilize on the farm some of the hens and pullets selected from laying flocks by eating them immediately or by canning or freezing them for future use.

The War Assets Administration has disposed of more than $4,000,000 worth of surplus sulfa drugs since the end of the war. About $2,500,000 worth remains to be sold.

keep the holly wreath on your door, and preserve for you and yours the delight that is America at Christmas.

War Assets Administration is looking to the nation's educational institutions to take over about three million textbooks which were declared surplus by the armed forces.

Hay Curing Systems Help Farmers To Write Off Bad Weather Worries

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Modern farmers are taking Mark Twain's celebrated remark for a hay ride. Mark once said: "Everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it." It's not so today. Scores of farmers are doing something about it. They're making hay while the sun isn't shining. Hay curing equipment has put the farmer a jump ahead of the weather. Its use enables him to cut hay in the morning and put it up in the afternoon. Sure it's green when he puts it in the barn. And it stays that way.

BARN HAY CURING INSTALLATION—ready to receive first layer. Blower is located at far end.

Also it retains its leaves and high protein feed value. Curing is accomplished by blowing air through the hay, which may be long, baled or chopped. In barn mows, air generally is forced into the hay by means of a duct system, which includes a main duct and several lateral ducts. A slatted floor may be substituted for the side ducts, with air directed under it from the main duct in the same way as it enters lateral ducts. In average size barns, blowers or 36-inch fans provide the necessary air. Usually they are operated by 5 horsepower motors. Hay is cured in 8 to 12 foot layers. One layer can be cured at a time to a total depth of 20 to 25 feet. Because the hay is kept cool, the danger of barn fires is practically eliminated. Special hay curing structures with forced ventilation also have been developed recently. Made of metal, they contain central, horizontal ducts. Generally, hay is chopped and blown into such round structures, settling around the central duct. Vents in the sides of the structure permit air being blown into or drawn out of the hay by a blower placed at the top or bottom of the building. Another comparatively new hay curing aid is the hay drier. These self-contained units employ air heated to temperatures ranging from 240 to 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit and are particularly useful in drying large quantities of wet hay and for commercial use. Equipment has been developed to handle either long or chopped hay. Electricity powers the blowers and conveyors, which move the hay through the driers, and also operates the oil burners which provide the necessary heat. Only a few minutes is required to dry the hay, which enters one end of the drier wet or freshly cut and emerges at the other ready for storage. Similar but smaller units that are practical for the average farmer are also coming into use. They require a day or two to dry hay in the mow, as air temperature is raised only 10 to 20 degrees Fahrenheit.

DUCK HUNTING SEASON NOW OPEN; RULES GOVERNING HUNT REVEALED BY COMMISSION

The duck hunting season in Kentucky began at noon on December 8, and will continue through January 6, according to information received by the Division of Game and Fish from the National Fish and Wildlife Service. The federal regulations, which will be enforced by U. S. Game Management Agents and state Conservation Officers, permit shooting on all hunting dates, except the opening day, from sunrise to one hour before sunset.

Reports received by the division from throughout Kentucky indicate that the duck hunting picture is not so drab as was indicated by a federal wildlife survey conducted earlier in the year.

Regulations by which the duck hunter should abide are: Migratory birds may be taken with or by use of—shotgun not larger than 10 gauge fired from the shoulder; by bow and arrow and by dogs or from a blind or floating craft other than a sinkbox, motorboat or sailboat.

Ducks may not be taken with or by use of an automobile, aircraft, sinkbox (battery), motorboat, sailboat or any craft towed by a motorboat or sailboat. Use of a rifle is prohibited as are automatic-loading or hand-operated repeating shotguns with a capacity of more than three shells in the magazine and barrel combined. All repeating shotguns must be plugged with a solid metal or wooden plug, so that not more than three shells are permitted. Live duck or goose decoys are prohibited. An outboard motor may be used to power boats to the hunting site, but the motor must be detached from the boat when shooting starts. Also motors may not be used in retrieving birds.

Waterfowl may not be hunted by means, aid, or use of cattle, horse or mules (as blinds or to enable the hunter to approach the birds). The game may not be stirred up or rallied by means of a motor-driven land, water or air conveyance or sailboat.

In addition to the regular Kentucky hunting license all hunters 16 years of age or over must have a signed migratory bird hunting stamp which may be purchased at Post-offices. Failure of a hunter 16 years of age or over to have this signed stamp will subject the offender to a fine or not more than $500, imprisonment for not more than six months, or both.

Daily bag limit for ducks is four of any kind or in any combination of all kinds (except American and red breasted mergansers), but including in such limits not more than one wood duck. Bag limits for geese shall be four including in such limit either one Canada goose (including Hutchins or cackling geese) or one white fronted goose. Daily limit for American or red breasted mergansers is 25 singly or in aggregate. There is no possession limit.

Not more than eight ducks of any one kind or in any combination of all kinds may be possessed at one time. This possession limit excepts American and red breasted mergansers while not more than one wood duck in the aggregate of eight may be held.

Locally taken fowl may be kept in a frozen food locker for a period of 90 days after the end of the season, but not more than the above two-day bag limit may be held at any one time in locker or otherwise. Coot limit is 25 for one day with possession the same. "Illegal transportation of waterfowl from one state to another constitutes a federal offense under the Lacey Act. The federal regulations define "take" in its rules as to hunt, kill, or capture, or attempt to hunt, kill, or capture.

The regulations further state that a commercial guide may not participate in the take over more than the legal limit of the person he is guiding.

Army To Intensify Leadership Courses

The four new Potential Leaders Schools, conducted by the Regular Army for selected new recruits who show evidence of superior intelligence and leadership potentialities, have been expanded to train a total of 1,200 potential leaders every six weeks, it was announced here today by Captain Philip L. Stern, Commanding Officer of Recruiting in this District.

Designed to mold recruits with no previous military experience into enlisted leaders who can serve as non-commissioned officers in the Infantry, Artillery, and other combat arms, the leadership courses already have been extended from four to six weeks, according to Captain Stern.

The four schools are at Camp Jackson, S. C., Fort Dix, N. J.; Fort Knox, Ky., and Fort Ord, Calif. Army officers report although the first graduates did not complete training until last April, some already have been promoted to the grade of Staff Sergeant, while others are serving as Corporals and Sergeants. Graduates are appointed immediately to Private First Class. Only recruits who volunteer are enrolled. Prerequisites include average or higher intelligence, satisfactory physical condition, and completion of basic military training, Captain Stern said.

Clean cows mean more good, marketable milk which in turn means more returns from the amount of feed consumed.

WE DESIRE

May the next twelve months bring to each of you all the good things you deserve.

Mrs. Franklin Hostess To Bridge Club Tuesday

Mrs. T. M. Franklin was hostess to the members of her bridge club and two guests, Mrs. Ann W. Hornbeak and Mrs. Vester Freeman Tuesday afternoon at her home on Third street.

Games of contract were enjoyed during the afternoon with Mrs. G. G. Bard receiving high club prize and Mrs. Hornbeak, high guest at the close of the games.

This was the clubs Christmas party and following the games gifts were exchanged from a pretty decorated tree. Lights refreshments were served by the hostess.

Members attending were Mesdames Bair, J. E. Hall, Sr., Abe Jolley, J. D. Davis, Clanton Meacham, J. C. Scruggs.

Tobacco sales are marching along, but they'll keep in step better when handling practices are more uniform.

WE WISH YOU

Electricity Comes to Aid of Farmers In Battle Against Winter Problems

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

It's time for those farmers removed from the Sunny South to air out the old sheepskin and hunt up the felt boots, for cold weather and snow shoveling time are just around the bend. Winter presents several problems for those who annually must face the prospects of ice covered stock tanks, frozen water pipes, cold milk houses, damp poultry houses and barns, inadequately heated homes and flickering coal oil lamps.

In the past, only stop-gap measures could be suggested by agricultural engineers to help farmers meet these discouraging problems. Today, however, electricity, new equipment and the use of old equipment in new ways have done much to overcome winter drawbacks to production, stock and building care, and personal comfort.

WATER PROBLEMS: Farmers know that an adequate year-round water supply is essential to maintain milk and egg production and to continue stock gains. Electrically heated stock waterers now on the market include 1,000 watt immersion heaters intended to keep the entire surface of the tank ice free; a 300 watt heater which floats on the surface of the water and provides stock with an open drinking hole in sub-zero weather, and a newly developed electrically heated drinking cup. This last device, similar to a drinking cup in a dairy barn, is housed in a metal cylinder which can be buried in the ground to the right depth for stock. One cup serves 10 or more cows. Immersion heaters also are available for poultry. All recommended heaters are thermostatically controlled, low cost and economical to operate.

Soil heating cable is used to keep pipes from freezing. It can be wrapped around or attached to pipes with tape. Pipes and cable then are covered with insulation. A thermostat is located at the coldest spot on the line to maintain an above-freezing temperature.

HEATING: Work areas in milk houses can be warmed by portable electric heaters, or by a desirable number of 250 watt heat lamps placed so that water will not strike them. Thermostatically controlled oil burners or stoker-fired furnaces will help solve the farmer's house heating problems.

VENTILATION: Electric ventilation of dairy barns and poultry houses will preserve the structures and help to maintain top milk and egg production. Fans for barns should have a capacity of 60 cubic feet of air per minute per horse or cow, while those for poultry houses should have a capacity of about 1 cubic foot of air per minute for each bird housed. Fans should be located to draw air from near the floor. Fresh air enters through intakes near the ceiling.

BARN LIGHTING: Mrs. O'Leary's cow started a whale of a fire in Chicago by kicking over a lantern. Other cows can and have done the same thing on scores of farms. Electric lights in barns prevent such costly accidents and provide farmers with the best kind of illumination.

SOUND MOVIE MADE TO SHOW BARN HAY CURING PROCESSES

"Green Hay" a new full-color sound movie, showing the methods of barn hay curing, and depicting an actual installation of a hay drier from start to finish, will soon become part of the General Electric Company's "More Power to the American Farmer" program. The educational film will be shown to farm audiences throughout the country by G-E farm and home dealers.

The film shows the experiences of Harold Stewart, a farmer near Ballston Lake, N. Y. In the film, he loses a good hay crop as a result of rain. His county agent then tells him about curing hay in the barn, and takes him to a neighbor's farm to show him a typical installation. Thus convinced of the advantages of barn hay curing, he decides to put a system into his own barn. The steps Stewart takes in buying and installing the equipment are shown in detail. The advantages of the system, once it is installed and in operation, are explained by showing exhibits of various types of hay that have been cured in the barn and comparing them, both as to appearance and nutritional content, with field-cured hay. That hay can be put into the barn the same day it is cut is also demonstrated. Much of "Green Hay" was filmed on Mr. Stewart's farm. The statistics used by the film's narrator are based on tests conducted by many agricultural colleges.

IC OFFICIAL BACK AFTER LONG TRIP TO LATIN-AMERICA

Press conferences at New Orleans and Chicago have welcomed home Robert H. Brown, general agent, export-import traffic, Illinois Central Railroad, who has just completed one of the most extensive individual studies ever made of Latin American trade—a 7-month commercial tour of twelve Latin American countries.

Informed and cheerful regarding the prospects for expansion of such trade, Brown reports the greatest need he finds is for a balanced flow of goods. The dollar situation will be no drawback, in his opinion, if only the people of the United States will increase imports to set up a reasonable basis of exchange.

Brown's extensive tour was undertaken to acquaint consuming

Latin Americans with the producing capacity of the mid-continent area of the United States and to make known in Latin America the tremendous market likewise available here for the things Latin America produces.

Brown has talked with hundreds of Latin American business men, bankers, importers, newspaper people and government representatives since his departure from New Orleans on June 3.

As a result of his trip, Brown, spent considerable time gathering and has brought home—information on Latin American products that might possibly develop a new or increased market in the mid-continent area of the United States.

Plans are being made by the Illinois Central for Brown to travel extensively throughout the mid-continent area to make available to business men and others interested the facts he has developed concerning trade possibilities with Latin America. He will shortly embark on a speaking tour of principal cities.

Hollywood Style Shorts

Splurge on bracelets, if you can, suggests actress Judith Anderson who has a strong role in "Tycoon," RKO Radio Technicolor picture co-starring John Wayne and Laraine Day. Bracelets spark glamour into the plainest outfits, turn a shirt into a blouse, circle wrists with grace, give deep drama to hands. The spotlight is on multiple bracelets, and the rule calls for as many as you deem appropriate to achieve the desired result.

Are you one who can't resist a pretty blouse and who must have a wide assortment to go with a limited collection of suits? Then your solution is the dicker. It's easier on the budget than a blouse, is a perfect, artful substitute and easier to launder. This one of pastel wool and large navy coin dots was selected by Barbara O'Neil who snared a fine role in the George Stevens production of RKO Radio's "I Remember Mama." It has a turtle neck and cinched waist that show to advantage under a jacket.

Limited clothes budgets have inspired clever money-saving ideas that extend a working girl's wardrobe and make it seem larger than it actually is. Margaret Lindsay, in RKO Radio's "Seven Keys To Baldpate," advises girls to have a reserve of white collars because they give a fresh angle to last season's basic dresses. This one of white pique is round with long tabs and invites mated jeweled pins.

Rush Creek Homemakers Club Hold Good Meeting

The Rush Creek Homemakers Club met December 9 in the home of Mrs. Rob Adams.

Mrs. Donald Mabry, presided in the absence of the president. Nine members, five visitors and three new members. Mrs. Ray Adams, Miss Kathryn Adams, and Mrs. Charles Everett were present to answer the roll call with a family tradition which has meant much to them.

The devotional was conducted by Mrs. Rob Adams.

Just before lunch, the club had an auction sale with Mrs. Frank Henry acting as auctioneer. Five dollars was made for the club with some little article each member brought to sell.

Lunch was served at the noon hour. The decorations carried out the Christmas colors of red and green.

Immediately after lunch the leaders, Mrs. Maurice Bondurant and Mrs. Harvey Bondurant, gave a most interesting lesson and illustrations of accessories in the home, using vases, pictures, lamps and clocks.

After the business session Mrs. Charles Adams had charge of the recreational program. Each guest was handed a Christmas gift from under the tree. All stood in a circle in the center of the room. When the music started each started passing the gift to her left. When the music stopped each kept the gift she held.

Everyone left the club meeting with the Yuletide spirit.

Mrs. Grant Bynum is indisposed due to asthma and under the care of Dr. P. J. Trinca. Mrs. Clifton Cherry, who has been in bed several years for a rest is now enjoying a hospital bed donated by VFW. She remains about the same.

Work is going forward on the brand new home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rickman formerly the late C. C. McClain place. It is modern in every respect and Mr. Rickman is assisted by carpenter, Grover True.

Earl Mitchell and son, Don of Paducah visited here Sunday among relations. Mr. Mitchell succeeds his father, H. C. Mitchell Jan. 1 as Supt. of Paducah Water Works. Earl has served in capacity of Supt. of Filtration of plant for several years and is now commanded on his promotion. His father is now retiring from the plant due to health.

Miss Margarette Bynum is doing nicely since being removed from Haws Memorial the past week. She is now sitting up some.

Net proceeds from the program presented by Good Willers of Good Springs C. P. church at Welsu school the past Friday were enough that all sick and underprivileged of this section will receive much cheer by the efforts of this cast.

We have news that Mrs. Paul Cavender is doing as well as expected after undergoing two major operations at St. Louis hospital the past week. Many friends here hope she will respond satisfactory and be restored to health again.

EXTRA CANDY BAR FOR BRITONS THIS YEAR BUT NO CHRISTMAS TREES TO ADORN HOMES

Britons are to get an extra candy bar this Christmas. But few of them will be able to hang it on a Christmas tree or eat it under mistletoe. These, along with other nonessential festive trimmings, have been axed by recent cuts in imports. No mistletoe is coming from France this year. No Christmas trees are being imported from Europe. And it is too early to cut trees on Government plantations growing up under recent afforestation schemes.

But Minister of Food John Strachey has made extra food allocations, which mean that Britons will get a little more to eat than usual over the holiday. The extras, however, are not likely to cause them to let out their belts.

For each adult there will be 10 cents' worth more fresh meat during Christmas week, and 24 ounces of extra sugar for cakes or pies over a four-week period.

Two Chocolate Bars Extra

Everybody gets four ounces of extra candy—equal to two five-cent chocolate bars. Last year eight ounces of extra candy was given to persons under 18 and over 70. This year there is to be a share of extras all round.

Even this small additional ration is welcome, since the normal candy ration recently has been reduced to three ounces for each person weekly. In other words, Britons may buy the equivalent of 1 1-2 Hershey bars each week.

Reduction in sugar consumption is a dollar-saving measure. It is unwelcome, since even Britons who did not eat "sweets" before the war have acquired the habit since sugar was rationed in other ways.

A food agreement recently concluded with Eire means that more Britons will eat Turkey—though some Christmas dinners will be delayed until New Year's since the Irish supplies of turkeys are not expected in Britain before then. The Ministry of Food hopes to get from 2,000 to 3,000 tons of turkeys from Eire.

Excluding Irish turkeys, supplies will be better than they were last year—11,700 tons, compared with about 9,600 in 1946. There will be 7,450 tons of other poultry, compar-

Australia, South Africa, and other sterling areas where Britain still can afford to buy food. First proximity-fused anti-aircraft to destroy a Japanese plane was fired from the cruiser USS Helena.

Win Trip to Chicago 4-H Congress

TRIPS to the 26th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, will be given four Kentucky club members as rewards for their outstanding records in the 1947 Food Preparation, Girls' Record, Dress Revue and Poultry awards programs. Brief outlines of their records follow:

Mildred Gerhardt Billy Humphrey

Mildred Gerhardt, 18, of Crestwood, is the state's top 4-H home maker in 1947. Her achievements during nine years in club work as shown in the National 4-H Girls' Record activity include preparing and serving 1,233 meals, and 2,078 dishes; sewing, making over or mending 1,000 garments, and canning 2,467 jars of foods. She also cared for a 1/2-acre garden for five years and in a six-year poultry program raised 1,025 birds. Her work record shows 1,620 hours of farm labor and 3,388 hours of housekeeping. Her exhibits won 159 ribbons of which 96 were blue. Mildred won prizes totaling $252.70 including a $100.00 Fire Underwriters' scholarship. Estimated value of all projects was $7,962.35. Her Chicago trip award is provided by Montgomery Ward.

Billy Humphrey, 16, of Lexington, wins the Chicago trip award provided by Swift & Co. for his top ranking 1947 4-H Poultry Achievement record in the state. During five years in club work Billy raised 1,165 fowl. He won $148.00 in cash prizes on exhibits, which brought his estimated income from 4-H poultry projects to $3,111.00. He has learned the value of culling chickens and better methods of feeding and watering the flock. He has served as vice president of his local club and secretary of the county organization and has given seven talks on 4-H.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

three of which were broadcast. Mary Jo Ridley, 18, of Beaver Dam, receives the Chicago trip award provided by the Simplicity Pattern Co. for making and modeling the top rating outfit in the State 1947 4-H Dress Revue. Her winning outfit is a blue cotton party dress, made of balloon cloth. The bodice is made with low round neck and cap sleeves. The skirt is gathered at the waistline and tied with a narrow black velvet ribbon. Mary also made a white nainsook slip and an evening bag of black ribbon. The total cost of her costume including accessories was $24.44. State winners who participate in the National 4-H Dress Revue Presentation at the Chicago Club Congress will each receive a $25.00 U. S. Savings Bond. Shirley Porter, 17, of Liberty, receives her trip award, provided by Serval, Inc., for having the best 1947 4-H Food Preparation achievement record in the state. During six years in club work, she planned, prepared and served 1,600 balanced meals, and put up all lunches for her mother, a rural school teacher. She completed 29 projects, six of which were in food preparation. Shirley's food exhibits and demonstrations in county, district and state competitions won her many top honors, including two trips, a $50.00 bond, a dinner ring and six medals. She served her club as president and junior leader.

TIDBITS

HARD TO KILL

While I was camping out in the summer of 1947, I overheard a workman telling some of his friends of a marvelous event that took place at his neighbor's "he night before. The neighbor had suspected that a rat had been rummaging around in the stovebox and had set a steel trap for it. What he caught was a snake, the like of which it would take Baron Munchausen himself to duplicate. It had a horn on its tail and another one on its head. "I've seen plenty of hoop snakes," said the truthful farmer, "but that was the first 'time I ever saw a snake with a horn on its head." I listened in assumed ignorance for more marvels, but this was all I heard. But what more would you want?

Very cautiously I asked about the hoop snake and was told this yarn. The narrator had seen a hoop snake strike its horny tail into an oak tree, which forthwith died. What amused me most was his assertion that more than hundred and fifty people came to see the tree. Of course, that settled it. If a hundred and fifty people see a thing, it is so; good men and true in such numbers as that cannot lie. All this scientific stuff about hoop snakes as pure myths is slapped head over heels by such testimony. I made no effort to dispute his words but let him say all he would say just as naively as he could talk. I wanted to get some more evidence of folk psychology.

Just how long hoop snakes will take their tails in their mouths and roll furiously toward a person or an animal or a tree is more than I, a mere mortal can guess. Evidently Pliny the Elder, with his collection of old wives tales about nature, would be perfectly at home in south-central Kentucky right now, though he died in the eruption of Mount Vesuvius in 79 A. D. The medieval moralists who wrote marvelous things about animal conduct and its moral symbolism would also be at home in many of our side hollows. It sounds alluring to find such philosophy in an old, old book, written back in ancient Rome but it is hard to know how to evaluate such folk knowledge when it is delivered by a fellow who drove to work in a car, who has electric lights and a telephone, and who takes a daily paper.

This marvelous snake story makes me remind my readers again that none of us are very far removed from primitiveness. The presence of quackery in many fields is an evidence of our gullibility. I am told by my students every year that the odorous asafetida bag still exists, that many people they know keep a buckeye in their pockets to ward off rheumatism, that all sorts of expedients are resorted to prevent or cure disease. As long as our primitive religionists handle snakes, it would hardly be fair for you and me to brag about living in a great modern age where superstition means little or nothing.

So long as superstition harms no one, I see no especial reason to get hot and bothered about it. Eminent people, even, have their pet fears and practices. They are hedged in by restrictions of their own making and are fearful of the unseen power. If they get a delight out of their primitiveness, let them have it. I have no quarrel with my acquaintance for his marvelous superstition. His observation of hoop snakes provided he works well and supports his family. I could wish him to be a little less gullible, but he probably will remain the simple child he has always been. His children may escape much of this superstition by being thrown with people above the level of their father and his very primitive background, but it may be that they will so revere his memory that the hoop snake will live on another generation or two, to drive its poisonous spike into inoffensive oak trees.

U. S. CORN CROP YIELD IMPROVED BY INBREEDING AND CROSSBREEDING

Charles Dienhart, chief breeder for Edward J. Funk & Sons, Kentland, Indiana, making hand pollination, creating an inbred to be used in the production of Super-Crost Hybrids. A similar picture was illustrated in LIFE MAGAZINE in their story on hybrid corn to the Edward J. Funk & Sons' breeding program.

The U. S. corn crop is in a crucial stage at this time. Government forecast yield estimates have been coming down as the season progresses. Farm folks in many sections of the country will have to depend upon a late frost to have fully matured corn. Farmers are grateful to have hybrid corn which gives them better chances for a crop because of the extra vitality that is bred into it.

Full Farm Output Seen Biggest Need In 1948

Full scale farm production on an efficient basis is the main point in the 1948 outlook given this week by economists of the U-T Agricultural Extension Service.

All-out production will be needed to meet record demand for farm products, which is expected to continue well into 1948, and very likely throughout the year, economists say. This high demand is supported by record levels of employment, record incomes, and heavy calls for food from foreign lands.

Farm production in the coming year is likely to be slightly lower than in 1947, it is pointed out, because of decreased numbers of livestock on farms, and a reduction in the supply of feed grains. With continued strong demand for foods, prices are expected to hold at current high levels, or possibly increase somewhat further. Farmers' production costs are likely to experience further increase, regardless of the trend in farm product prices.

In view of this situation, economists say, farmers should endeavor to produce as efficiently, and at as low cost, as possible. Suggestions for doing so include:

Use of better variety of seeds.
Increased use of labor-saving equipment.

Liberal use of fertilizer, and effective disease and insect control measures.

Feeding of balanced rations, and making full use of pasture and roughages.

More timely planning of farm operations to cut down labor peaks.

Let rats starve, not people; rats destroy or damage 200 million bushels of grain in the United States every year.

Simple Rules For Christmas Safety

TRAFFIC

1. Use extra care for the extra holiday hazards.
2. Put the Christmas spirit of "good will" into your attitude toward drivers and pedestrians.
3. Don't let Christmas packages obstruct your vision when walking.
4. Don't drive if you drink—and vice versa.
5. Start in time and take it easy. Allow for winter weather and extra holiday traffic.

HOME

1. Check your home for anything that might cause an accident.
2. Keep your Christmas tree in water and away from flames.
3. Use electric tree and window lights—no lighted candles ever. Don't leave tree lights on when you are out of the room for a considerable time.
4. Check your electric connections for shorts and worn-out wires.
4. Keep flimsy Christmas decorations and wrapping away from the fireplace.

It is more profitable, and cheaper, to feed a balanced ration than an unbalanced one.

CHRISTMAS

GREETINGS

It is the goodwill created by this joyous Christmastime that inspires us to send you a word of Cheer. May the spirit of the Yuletide season spread throughout the coming year and make this community a better place in which to live.

The Season's Best Wishes to each of you.

Christmas Tree Requires Water To Resist Fire

Keep your Christmas tree in water to keep it fresh, green, and fire-resistant, and to prevent needles from falling, say foresters of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Cut trees, like flowers, must have water to stay moist and fresh. The tree should be put in water as soon as possible after being cut.

As soon as the tree is brought in, cut off the end of the trunk diagonally at least an inch above the original cut and stand it in a container of water. Keep the water level above the cut surface as long as the tree is in use.

Although several chemical solutions have been suggested for "fire-proofing" Christmas trees, none have proved as successful as plain water.

May
this Christmas bring happiness as true, as that we have known in our relations with you!

Granddad Paid High Price For His "Loose-Board" Ventilating System

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Damp dairy barns and poultry houses never worried granddad. They were too well ventilated—and cold as all outdoors in winter. Cracks between boards and loose fitting doors and windows took care of his ventilation problems. They also accounted for piles of snow which sifted inside.

True, the passing winds carried away the excessive moisture given off by cows and poultry. This kept granddad's rafters from rotting. But he paid a stiff price for his primitive ventilation system. Winter milk and egg production slumped, the drafty buildings were unhealthy for stock, chickens and help. His high feed bill ate up his returns—if any—on cold-weather production.

That was yesterday. Today, scientifically designed electric ventilation systems put granddad's crude methods in the shade. Not only do they protect timbers, wiring, paint, piping and nailheads against dampness, but they do it in tight-sided buildings where doors and windows fit snugly. As a result, winter winds howl outside, rather than inside. Because such systems keep the atmosphere of the buildings dry and comfortable, cows and chickens housed in them are able to maintain milk and egg production at a high level during the winter months. Feed costs remain average, since stock and poultry do not have to eat an abnormal amount to keep warm. Efficiency of workers is maintained. Poultry litter stays dry longer and the danger of colds to chickens and stock is lessened.

Modern ventilation systems depend on fans, operated by small motors, to exhaust used air, and intakes near ceilings to permit entry of fresh air. Fans should be located so as to draw out used air from near the floor of the buildings. Intakes should be built to deliver air upwards toward the ceiling in order to prevent drafts.

Dairy barn ventilating fans are operated by motors of about 1/4 or 1/2 horsepower. Fan capacity should be 60 cubic feet per minute per animal. There should be one fresh air intake for each four cows. Ventilating fans in poultry houses usually are operated by fans powered by motors of 1/40 to 1/20 horsepower. They should have a capacity of 75 to 100 cubic feet per 100 birds housed. Tight floors and deep litter should be used.

SENATOR COOPER TO ADDRESS STATE FARM BUREAU MEETING AT LOUISVILLE JAN. 7-9

Senator John Sherman Cooper, Congressman Virgil Chapman and the former Congressman from California, Jerry Voorhis, headline the speakers to appear on the annual convention program of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation scheduled for Jan. 7-9 at the Brown hotel, Louisville.

Close behind them will be such notables as Wilfred Shaw, Chicago, American Farm Bureau secretary; H. E. Slusher, Jefferson City, Mo., Missouri Farm Bureau president; O. R. Long, Columbia, Tenn., Tennessee Farm Bureau secretary; and Mrs. Charles W. Sewell, Chicago, administrative director Associated Women of American Farm Bureau. Still others are Dr. Herman L. Donovan, Lexington, University of Kentucky president; Dr. Thomas P. Cooper, dean of the College of Agriculture; Harry W. Schacter, Louisville, Committee for Kentucky president; Clarence Miller, Shelbyville, and Hewel Blair, Bowling Green.

A new innovation at the 29th convention is to be an all-day tour of Louisville industries processing farm products and manufacturing farm equipment on Jan. 6, the day before the convention opens. About 300 delegates from all over the state are expected to make the tour.

More than 1,000 officials delegates from 110 counties will be qualified, but around 3,000 are expected to attend one or more of the three-day sessions.

The convention is scheduled to open at 9:45 Wednesday morning, Jan. 7.

The annual meeting of the Associated Women and the five commodity conferences, dealing with all Kentucky crops, and the meetings of affiliated organizations will be held that afternoon, as well as the final session of the Resolutions Committee.

Thursday there will be general sessions, with the official session of the House of Delegates scheduled for 3:00 p. m. that afternoon, followed by district caucuses when Board members for the ensuing year will be nominated. The annual banquet, with its overflow crowd, is set for that night.

Final session will open at 10:00 a. m. Friday, Jan. 9, with the election of officers and directors and the annual business session scheduled for 11:00 o'clock. Since the adjournment is expected to be at noon.

Perhaps the hottest subject to be discussed at the session will be "The Truth About the Fight Against Cooperatives" by Jerry Voorhis, executive secretary of the Co-op League of the U.S.A. His address is scheduled for 11:30 a. m. Jan. 7.

A panel discussion, set for 11:00 Jan. 8 on "Post-War Challenges" may lead to some spirited discussion. The job that lies ahead for Farm Bureau and the facilities needed to get it done will be covered here. On the panel are Wilfred Shaw, H. E. Slusher and O. R. Long. Senator Cooper is scheduled to speak at 10:00 a. m. Jan. 9 on "The Outlook for Agricultural Legislation," and Congressman Virgil Chapman is on the program at 1:45 p. m. Jan. 8 to talk about "Organized Farmers and The Congress."

The annual banquet address will be made by Mrs. Charles W. Sewell. "What Kind of University Shall Kentucky Have?" is the proposition to be discussed by Dr. H. L. Donovan at 10:15 a. m. Jan. 8, and "The Outlook for Kentucky Agriculture" will get a going-over by Dean Thomas P. Cooper at 10:45 a. m. Jan. 7.

Harry W. Schacter will tell the purpose of the Committee for Kentucky at 2:15 p. m. Jan. 8. Clarence Miller, Shelbyville, and Hewel Blair, Bowling Green, are on the program for 9:30 a. m. Jan. 8 to give their idea of "Local Services a Farm Bureau Member Can Get."
