THE LISTENING POST

It seems quite a pity that some plan could not be devised by which our amateur strategists, in sports and in war, could try out their ideas and see what comes from them.

The Tigers had a couple of men on base, with one down. Quackenbush, a pretty fast man, was at bat, with runners on first and second.

I see this same characteristic regarding the war, too. We have in Fulton many men who could win the war for England if given the chance.

Speaking about baseball, I always get a tremendous kick out of Hugh Wise when he really gets angry over an umpire's decision.

Would Confine Draftees To Hemisphere

Only 900,000 Men May Be Trained Simultaneously

Washington.—The Senate restricted the service of conscripts under the peace-time draft bill to the Western Hemisphere tonight after rejecting, 39 to 32, an opposition proposal that the service-area be limited to the continental United States and its possessions.

Working at its first night session in many months—overtime demanded by the administration leadership in an effort to push the measure through to a final vote by the end of the week—the Senate previously had adopted or rejected numerous amendments.

Those approved included one limiting the number of conscripts simultaneously in training to 900,000, a restriction which administration leaders readily accepted, confident it would not interfere with newly announced War Department plans for a trained army, including reserves, of 4,000,000 by 1945.

No Restrictions As presented to the Senate, the bill contained no restrictions on where the one year of service pre- scribed for the draftees should be spent.

Substitute, Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.), of the military committee and Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, accepted the Lodge amendment, but a roll call vote was demanded.

Senate Votes Highway Bill

Washington.—Legislation authorizing appropriations of $327,000,000 for the Federal highway program for the fiscal year of 1942 and 1943 was approved unanimously by the Senate today.

A major item was $200,000,000 for grants to States for construction of secondary roads.

The House originally had voted $357,000,000 for the two-year period and the Senate $321,000,000. The House must act on the compromise figure recommended by a joint committee.

Tangles Delay Appointment Of County Election Officials

Frankfort, Ky.—The State Board of Election Commissioners formally certified the Democratic and Republican nominees for the November 5 election Monday, but ran into some tangles in naming county election commissioners and put that over until Tuesday.

Charles K. O'Connell, Appellate Court clerk and ex-officio chairman of the Senate board, said some of the Democratic contests might be referred to the party's State Central Executive Committee meeting here Tuesday afternoon.

He did not name the counties involved, but it was evident the Governor's office was busy during the day making last-minute checks on the Democratic lists.

Plea For Draft Made By Head Of V. F. W.

Los Angeles.—Adequate national defense, a "constant program of education in patriotism" and "encouragement of social, political and economic reforms to strengthen democracy" were advocated Monday by Otis N. Brown, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He spoke at the opening session of the annual encampment. "We veterans have been clamoring for adoption of a universal service plan ever since we learned from personal experience that winning a war is a job for trained men," he said. "It's the obligation of all citizens to train."

Excess Profits Tax Measure Is Stalled In House

Washington.—Despite various administration demands for quick action on some provisions the administration's excess profits tax bill appeared today to be caught in a House committee controversy as to whether proposed levies fall with equal weight on small and large corporations.

As a result some members of the ways and means committee renewed talk of splitting the measure in an attempt to obtain separate passage for those provisions designed to speed up industry's defense production.

One provision urged by Army Navy and defense commission officials would permit manufacturers expanding their plants for defense purposes to write off the expansion cost against their taxable income over a five year period. The other would suspend present limitations on profits on government contracts.

The argument over the relative effects of the excess profits tax on large and small corporations, tax experts said, grew out of the fact that a small corporation might be charged heavily for making a few extra thousand dollars, while a big corporation making several million dollars a year might pay a smaller tax on an equal amount of profit.

Court Orders Capone To Pay

Chicago.—A Federal court Monday ordered Al Capone to pay $201,347 to the Government.

A summary judgment for that amount, representing unpaid taxes of the former booze baron's 1924-29 income, plus interests and penalties, was approved by Judge John P. Barnes.

Capone's attorney, Abraham Teitelbaum, argued in vain for a continuance on the ground that his client couldn't afford to pay the bill now and that a compromise was still pending before the Internal Revenue Department.

Defense Outlay May Bring To United States Greatest Boom

New York.—America's potential industrial giant—the manufacture of arms—has begun to flex its muscles and show its business power.

Some economic analysts are describing the gram-visaged young off-shoot of a war-disturbed world as destined to grow into the mightiest industrial stalwart the United States has seen since automobile transformed the business scene.

What lusty strides it has begun to take across the industrial stage was evident last week in such items as these:

1. Federal awarded for defense works dominate construction contracts, totaling nearly 80,000,000 in the week ended Thursday.

Aircraft Additions Increase 2. Financial quarters estimate the aircraft industry alone may spend as high as $500,000,000 for additions to its productive capacity.

3. Curtiss-Wright, among aviation expansion plans, announces a site at Lockland, Ohio, near Cincinnati, for a huge engine factory to employ from 12,000 to 15,000 workers.

Payrolls in aircraft, engines, shipbuilding, explosive, tools and aluminum plants are estimated to average about 45 per cent higher than in 1937, the last peak year of industrial activity before the world began its frenzied shift from the plow to the sword.

For some years, at least, the building of plants and a two-ocean Navy, the equipping of Army and Naval forces and maintenance of these increased fighting arms are expected to dominate the domestic business trend.

Woman Wins $9,535 Verdict By Whispering

Omaha.—If Mrs. Ruth Ursikian doesn't talk above a whisper for the next nine and a half years she can collect compensation estimated at $9,535, Judge Lawrence Welch of Compensation Court ruled Monday.

He found her suffering from "hysterical aphonia" and ruled she is totally and permanently disabled.

Mrs. Norsikian already has collected $3,800 in a suit arising from an automobile accident in which she was injured. Judge Welch said this amount must be credited on payments by her employer and until it is used up the employer need make no payments.

"In the meantime," Judge Welch decided, "if she talks out loud her employer will have to pay her nothing."

"I feel that if she keeps quiet for a period of nine and one-half years this will be a true practical test of whether she lost her speech as a result of the accident."

Women Quizzed In Murder Ring

New York.—A woman known as the "Red Rose of Williamsburg" and her daughter figured today in disclosure of a second murder ring in Brooklyn's underworld.

District Attorney William F. O'Dwyer said Mrs. Rose Pantiel, 40, and her daughter, Sylvia, 22, were arrested last week and questioned about the 1936 slaying of Rubin "Ruby the Mock" Shapiro, believed an execution for double-crossing the ring in loan shark racketeering.

2nd. Member Of Snake Sect Dies Of Bite

Hazard, Ky.—A second member of Eastern Kentucky's snake-handling religious sect died of snakebite Monday, four days after the first such death occurred in an adjacent county.

Dennis Wooton, County Attorney, said Jim Cochran, 39, an unemployed mechanic, died at his home in nearby Duane eighteen hours after he was bitten on the right hand Sunday morning.

Wooton said Cochran, married and the father of several children, handled snakes during services at the Holiness Church in Duane. After his death, three men were arrested and fined $50 each on charges of violating a 1940 Kentucky law prohibiting the use of snakes in religious meetings.

British Troops Quit Shanghai For Singapore

Shanghai.—Six hundred seaforth highlanders left Shanghai Sunday enroute to Singapore, it was reported, completing withdrawal of British armed forces from Chinese soil except for a few soldiers left behind to supervise shipment of equipment.

Several British vessels postponed sailing for Haiphong, French Indo-China, because of persistent Shanghai rumors of a Japanese naval concentration off Indo-China waters rumors which were discounted by dispatches from the French colonial possession.

One dispatch from Handi said there was no unusual Japanese activity along the Indo-Chinese shores and also denied Chinese reports that thirty French war vessels had gathered at Haiphong, prepared to resist possible Japanese attack.

New Cavern Is Discovered

Horse Cave, Ky.—A yet unnamed cave was discovered last week near this city while WPA workers were blasting in a quarry on the property of V. B. Gossett.

Cries Free Man After He Is Jailed As Door Slams

New York.—The cell door unaccountably slammed behind William Colton, a cleaner, as he worked on a seldom-used floor of Brooklyn Criminal Courts Building—and made him a prisoner.

"I'm locked in," he shouted out the window to a man across the street. "Get somebody to let me out."

"G'wan back and sit down," the man shouted back. "You're crazy."

Three hours later Colton's cries brought a clerk who released him.

J. B. Hudson Is Appointed Defense Aid

Washington.—John B. Hudson, native of Murray, Ky., and former Assistant A. A. Administrator, Sunday was appointed a Deputy Commissioner of the National Defense Advisory Commission. He will assist Chester C. Davis, member of the seven-man board, whose particular job is to co-ordinate agricultural problems to the defense program. Hudson will assume his duties Monday.

The Kentuckian has had a distinguished record in agricultural work ever since he was a farmer in Calloway County. He taught in Kentucky rural schools and later did extensive research in the tobacco industry. He was made head of the Tobacco Section of the A. A. A. in 1933, and subsequently became assistant to his present chief, Mr. Davis, who then was A. A. Administrator.

U. S. Base To Be In Bermuda

Hamilton, Bermuda.—The great sound of Bermuda will be made available to the United States for an air base and possibly for a naval base, on a 99-year lease, Major General Denis Bernard, governor of Bermuda, informed a special session of this British colony's assembly today.

The legislature first had received assurances that the unprecedented step would have no effect on Bermuda's status in the British Empire.

(This was the first specific indication of where United States bases on British territory in the Western Hemisphere might be established.)

(British Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons last Tuesday that Britain was discussing such bases with the United States and Foreign Minister Lord Halifax told the House of Lords that agreement already had been reached "in principle" with Washington.)

(It was intimated then that Bermuda, Newfoundland and points in the West Indies all might become sites for United States bases for Western Hemisphere defense.)

Engineer Claims That 3 Men In Boat Could Cripple Alaskan Port

San Francisco.—Three men with a fishing boat, operating on a dark night, could paralyze the United States, Alaska defense machine in less than an hour, in the opinion of Donald MacDonald, Alaska Highway Commission engineer.

Mac Donald, en route home from Washington where he conferred with military leaders said in an interview that within ninety days after the three men had done their work the Alaskan population would be facing starvation.

Seward Most Vulnerable The most vulnerable point, he said, is Seward, the Territory's only all-weather entrance.

House Group Okeh's Heavy Profits Tax

Amortization Plan Included To Speed Contract Letting

Washington.—Breaking a protracted deadlock, the House ways and means committee approved today a 20 to 50 per cent tax on corporations "excess profits" and a plant amortization plan designed to speed up the letting of defense contracts.

The measure, asked by the administration, is designed to prevent the creation of "war millionaires" while not discouraging manufacturing companies from making plant expansions needed for the national defense. Small corporations, making no more than $5,000 a year, are exempted from the tax.

The committee made a number of changes in the proposals of its tax subcommittee, headed by Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn.). Generally speaking, these changes were designed to make the tax stiffer on corporations with high earnings and lower on concerns earning small profits.

Revenue Increases

It was estimated unofficially that the changes would increase the prospective revenue from the measure this year from $190,000,000 to more than $300,000,000.

Thus the changes were designed to meet complaints by both Republican and Democratic committee members that the tax, as originally proposed, would fall hardest on those least able to pay and also would raise little revenue. This controversy had kept the bill in committee since last Tuesday.

Calling it "one of the finest things I've ever known," Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.), announced that the legislation was agreed to unanimously. It will be considered in the House Thursday.

The measure includes a provision for suspending the Vinson-Trammell Act's limitations of 8 and 7 per cent on profits from warships and military aircraft. The suspension would be applicable to all years during which the excess profits tax now in force.

U. S. Declines Site Of Fair

New York.—A proposal to turn the New York World's Fair site into a military training ground appeared today to have been squelched by the Navy and War Departments.

Navy Secretary Knox told The New York Times by telephone from Manchester, N. H., yesterday that the Navy was not interested in the plan and added he had been informed the Army "turned it down flat."

The paper said War Secretary Stimson declined to comment, saying the matter had been presented to his department only "casually" and he had not had an opportunity to study it.

Seward Most Vulnerable The most vulnerable point, he said, is Seward, the Territory's only all-weather entrance.

The little town of 4,000 would be asleep and the first intimation of invasion would be a series of explosions. One would be the oil tanks near the only wharf. Alaska's entire gas and oil supply is there, with no reserve anywhere.

Editorial

THE COMMON SENSE VIEW

In these days, when many people are rubbing their eyes in amazement at German military successes and some are wondering if, perhaps, the German way might be better, it is refreshing to hear a man who calls a spade a spade and tells the literal truth about the present situation. Robert E. Sherwood, noted playwright, made a radio address the other night, addressed chiefly to listeners in Canada, and his talk was heartening.

According to the fallacy which is all too prevalent, Sherwood declared "the only way for the democratic states to survive is by imitating the Nazi-Facist-Communist type of machines." This he said was sheer nonsense. "Any one would be a fool to deny the extraordinary power of the German military machine," he said "But the success of that machine so far is no proof of the strength of such nations or the weakness of democracies. It is simply renewed proof of what the world has known for generations—that the Germans constitute a terrific, aggressive force. They have great military skill and their people are willing to accept regimentation. They are now doped up with the cocaine of world revolution and dream of world domination. They are armed with powerful weapons—especially the airplane, the tank and submarine—all of which were invented and developed by free men living and working in free countries."

Concerning the defeat of France, Mr. Sherwood says: "The Germans murdered France. They outnumbered the French two to one. But suppose the battle had been between democratic France and Facist Italy. Italy has had a rigid totalitarian regime for twenty years. But does any one believe that forty million Italians could have beaten forty million Frenchmen?" That thought is worth considering seriously. At the outbreak of the present war it was the earnest wish of the French high command that they be allowed to sweep into Italy, without waiting for any war declaration from Mussolini. This was denied by the British, but subsequent developments indicate that the French had by far the best plan for carrying on the war. England believed that Italy could be kept out of the war. The French had a more realistic belief and believed also that they could sweep into Italy within two or three weeks. The course of history might have been altered profoundly had such a plan been put into execution.

Mr. Sherwood also points to the certain factors which have brought Nazi success thus far. Says he: "The advantage on the Nazi side consists in total ruthlessness, total lack of humanity. They glory in their barbarism, which has carried them to the brink of victory, over the bodies of innocent people." That statement is more or less true. This writer does not entirely prefer the term "barbarism," for it smacks too much of the atrocity stories out of the last war, but it is a known fact that the Nazis have no regard whatever for the given word or the sanctity of treaties. Whatever appears necessary, when it comes to breaking such things, will be done in the thoroughly efficient German manner.

"But we can be confident of victory," Mr. Sherwood says. "Our common tradition of freedom has been tested on a thousand battlefields, from Waterloo to Gettysburg. It is now meeting its supreme test on the white cliffs of Dover."

UNDIPLOMATIC DIPLOMATS

There is no use being stupid about it. We know, from recent facts spread in large letters on the record, that diplomatic and consular representatives of many countries have been engaging in activities quite outside what has been always considered their regular duty. Europe crawls with example of such activities. So does South America.

There is only one thing to do about it. That is to see to it that every person in America under diplomatic immunity DOES confine himself to activities recognized as legitimate. To allow any country to get away with anything more than that is stupid and dangerous.

Our own precedents are old and distinguished. When the revolutionary government of France sent Citizen Genet to this country as its representative, Genet stepped immediately outside any reasonable interpretation of his duties. He appealed directly to the people to support France. He commissioned privateers to prey on British shipping. He organized pro-French leagues. In short, he tried to influence the foreign policy of the United States.

This is no part of the duty of a diplomat or consular officer. President Washington knew it. He also knew what to do. He demanded that the French recall Genet. They did.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles has shown himself equally able to tell a hawk from a handsaw. Backing up the All-American front established at Havana, he has ruled that the United States will not accept diplomatic and consular representatives here who have been found unacceptable in other American countries.

There is no reason why the United States should allow itself to be used as a catch-all for alleged diplomats from any nation whose activities, cloaked in diplomatic immunity, have been found objectionable in the other Americas. There is no sense in the American countries requiring 21 separate exposures of such undesirable activities. By the time the agent had tried his tricks in all 21 republics he would be too old to be of any further use, anyway. And a long career of unwanted activity would be behind him.

It would be helpful if all the other American nations would take the same attitude of helpful co-operation in nullifying the Fifth Column technique.

It is our aim to extend good will to all men of good will. But to be stupid about it is—stupid.—Bowling Green News.

A SIGNIFICANT TREND

One of the most significant trends of the present day is the manner in which the women of this country, as reflected through the activities of the various women's organizations are concentrating their efforts and abilities on the solution of serious social and community problems. Programs of women's groups are attaining sharper objectivity, reflecting a desire to get right down to business, to an even greater extent than has been apparent in the past.

The Board of Directors and 500 state committee chairmen of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., have subscribed to the conviction "that women must participate more vitally, more intelligently in the everyday mechanisms of government if the people's rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are to prevail—if they are to weather the storms coming towards us from within as well as without our country."

What many persons, and perhaps men particularly do not appreciate is that the host of time and labor saving devices and better household products, the yield from American industry working under the private enterprise system, permits the American woman to accomplish her household duties better and much faster than was possible even a few years ago. The result is that the women of this country have an increasing amount of time available to accomplish those civic and social tasks that naturally fall within the scope of their special abilities. "Women's place is in the home" might to day well be altered to read: "Women's place is to be of the utmost helpfulness in her spare of life.—Mayfield Messenger.

Hugh Wise Squats And Squats Still Lower To Get Base On Balls To Win

Time was when Manager Hugh Wise of the Owensboro Oilers relished a chance to walk up to the plate with the bases filled and slam out a clean hit. But not any more, for Hugh's betting eye seems to be dim. Now he adopts other methods at such times. This latter method won a ball game here last night for the Oilers 4 to 3 in ten innings and even yet the fans have not forgotten it.

It was a tense moment. The Oilers had filled the bases on Sanford and he had managed to get two men out when Manager Wise came up. Hugh began to crouch on the first pitch, and on the second he looked like Tiny Gallo's youngest brother. Sanford hurried a couple more through which seemed good enough to be strikes, but by this time Manager Wise was practically lying down in the batter's box and Umpire Moore had no gauge to call the pitches by and, being a trusting soul, decided they must have been balls and so gave brave bold Hugh a base on balls to force in the winning run. Umpire Moore was lustily booed by the audience, but he gave no indication of hearing these boos, standing there in lone grandeur like Napoleon standing on the rocky ramparts of Elba or St. Helena or somewhere.

Well, it was a tough game to lose, and Lefty Sanford pitched a whale of a game. On the other hand Bud Sly pitched a whale of a game for the Oilers and was able to stand off a last inning rally which bled two men, with one down, and still come through with the victory. Neither team ever scored more than one run in an inning, and these were usually hard to get. Sanford gave ten hits, but kept them scattered save in one inning. In the fourth he was touched for three hits and one run. Sly gave nine hits, including a towering home run from Mullen in the first inning. Mullen incidentally fielded a couple of hits at third and flagged the runner at first. Gallo again covered everything from the right field fence to back of second, making several remarkable stops and catches. McElyea and Devault were the chief sinners against the Tigers, each having three hits, and the former brought in two of the enemy runs. Ray and Mullen were the only Tigers to hit Sly more than once, but Mathis crashed a timely double to bring in one run for the home cause.

Final game of the series is being played tonight and tomorrow the league leading Bowling Green Barons come here for five games.

FDR WOULD PERMIT JONES TO HOLD BOTH LOAN, CABINET POSTS

Washington. — President Roosevelt will ask Congress to permit Jessie H. Jones to retain his present post as federal loan administrator after he becomes secretary of commerce.
 Stephen T. Early, the White House press secretary, made this announcement today and said Jones was "very anxious" to accept the commerce portfolio. He will succeed Harry L. Hopkins, who resigned last week to recover his health.
 Jones' nomination would not go to the Senate, Early said, until the legislation allowing him to hold both jobs was passed. The request for the authority will be made after Jones returns next week from a vacation in Michigan.
 Present law forbids an individual to hold two federal positions at the same time. Under the proposed legislation, which will mention Jones by name, he would be limited to the single $15,000 salary paid a cabinet officer. He now receives

 Friends of Jones in Congress have expressed reluctance to see him leave the lending post. His handling of billions of dollars in federal loans has won him praise from members of both parties.

BRITISH FLIERS' PERFORMANCE IS REMARKABLE

New York:—A remarkable performance, remarkable in that it was not expected is being put on by Great Britain's Royal Air Force and any immediate turn of events in the Battle of England may well hinge on the morale of the opposing airmen.

England entered the war as an underdog in air power. The "shadow factory" system of aircraft manufacture by which scattered plants produced airplane parts had not been too successful, and Canada's air training scheme, by which 25,000 pilots were to be turned out annually, was slow in reaching its proper tempo.

The British claim that the isles are making more warplanes than the Germans now, a year after the outbreak of hostilities, is for the moment immaterial. Certainly they are making enough to replace their daily losses.

The important aspect of the air fighting in which Germany is making every bid for definite air superiority before launching other moves in the blitzkrieg, is maintenance of morale and pilot strength in the R. A. F.
