THE LISTENING POST

● From long experience I have become able, in a majority of cases, to more or less accurately classify the strangers who come into the office. Glancing through the door, particularly if I happen to get a good look at the person before he actually enters the door, I can usually guess whether it is a salesman, a solicitor, a beggar, a tramp printer or a man who is likely to give me some business. For a long time I have been able to recognize printers and newspaper men, although they may be strangers, for there is something about them which tells the story. Naturally I know most of the salesmen, although once in a great while men come who make the territory infrequently and I do not know them at first.

● But mistakes can be made, and when a wrong classification is used it leads me into embarrassed moments. For example, if I know a person is coming in to solicit funds, and I have no intention of giving funds to that particular cause, I have an entirely different manner to the manner I use when I think the stranger is coming to give me some business. In other words, one manner is openly defensive, somewhat reserved and distant and above all things else, I am determined not to let the solicitor actually get to work on me. I am naturally a pushover for hard-luck stories, and there are many times when a man can talk me to such utter distraction that I may succumb and give him a small amount of money in order to get rid of him. So I have built up a defense mechanism against such folks that doesn't contemplate letting them get very far into their patter.

● With the man I suspect of probably having some business to transact--well, I meet him more than half way. I gladly go through the formalities of shaking hands, talk joyously of the weather and in general make the man feel at home. Thus, it can be seen that when I make a mistake in classifying I have left my flanks uncovered and the enemy can rush in and make a capture. I made a mistake like this the other day.

● I happened to see this man before he reached the door, and sized him up, not as a solicitor, but as a man who might be a salesman, or a man who might be the advance agent for a show. Many times I get several dollars from such a man as this. He walked briskly, he was well dressed, he carried a zipper bag that seemed as though it might have some advertising contracts in it. At best, this was what he looked like, and at worst, he seemed to be a traveling salesman. These latter I greet warmly, for I have many good friends among them, and find them usually interesting and filled with information about various subjects. So up I rose when he entered the door and put on my best manner. I was not going to buy anything, it was quite certain, but I had no objection to talking about it, and there was no premonition that I had left my defenses down.

● But I had, and is less than three minutes the man had me listening to about the best soliciting speech I ever heard. Worst of all, he was collecting funds for an organization I have always admired, and he gave me the best talk I have heard in many a day. Caught with my guard down, I had to take it, for I had opened up the flanks and he certainly poured through like a blitz army. What hurt was that I believed in his cause, but it was nearing the end of a five pay day month, going into the dullest month of the year, and I simply could not come across. Oh, I could have given a dime or a quarter, but this lad was gunning for the five dollar men and the ten dollar men. I was not in that class, and so I was embarrassed, after listening to his talk and then having to refuse him. I must polish up a bit on observation.

Measure Now Goes To House

Party Lines Split At End Of Long Fight

Washington. — The peacetime draft bill, subjecting the Nation's young manhood to compulsory military training, was approved by the Senate Wednesday night at the end of prolonged controversy.

The Senate added to the measure Wednesday an amendment providing for drafting industrial units as well as men if defense officials deem it necessary.

A smashing vote of 58 to 31 sent the measure to the House. There the Military Committee was already deep in dispute over a similar bill.

To Take In 12,000,000

In broad outline, the Senate's measure requires all male citizens between 21 and 30 inclusive to register for the draft, some 12,000,000 in all. All these would become liable to one year of training to be spent at any point in the Western Hemisphere.

By declaring an emergency to exist, Congress could hold them in service for a longer period.

In addition, all between 18 and 35 might volunteer for a one-year "hitch," as Army men call it, of training and service. No more than 900,000 draftees might be in the service for training at one time.

Although the bill apparently will not become law for a fortnight, at least, advocates said the War Department long has been ready with specific plans for putting the measure in operation.

The details of these preparations were reported to the Senate Wednesday night, a few hours before the vote, by Senator Minton (D., Ind.), who said he had them from an officer of the General Staff.

Fifteen days after the measure becomes law is to be registration day, and forty days later the first of the conscripts are to be in the training camps, according to Minton's outline.

Vichy, France. —The French Government disclosed today what it called a British-inspired rebellion in France's African empire.

U. S. Shippers Bow To Censor At Bermuda

New York. —Virtually all European mail carried on American ships is being subjected to British censorship at Bermuda as a condition of permission to pass through the British blockade, it became known today.

While British consulate officials denied American shippers were required to agree to censorship, they declared a stop at Bermuda "might be one of the conditions" under which a navicert, or passport through British contraband control, would be granted.

One U. S. Line Running

The only U. S. operators of ships plying between this country and Lisbon, Portugal—Lone European outlet open to American ships—is the American Export Lines, British embassy officials in Washington said they had told the line its ships would have to submit to the blockade at some point and that the line had chosen Bermuda.

Pan-American Airways is the only other American carrier of mails operating in the European service. Hundreds of sacks of mail have been removed from its clipper at Bermuda in the last eighteen days. The company instructed its pilots to avoid Bermuda when weather conditions did not require a landing.

French Charge Plot To Britain

Vichy, France. —The French Government disclosed today what it called a British-inspired rebellion in France's African empire.

The Government declared that "all necessary dispositions have been taken to localize the situation."

(Gen. Charles de Gaulle, recognized by Britain as the leader of "free Frenchmen," announced the Governor of Chad, French territory in the heart of Africa, had notified him of a decision to fight on at the side of the British.)

A communiqué said that this was not the first time that Britain had attempted to influence French colonies in Africa, referring to a British offer of protection for all parts of the French empire which sided with her after France's armistice with Germany and Italy.

Over 20 Scouts Will Go To Cave

At the regular meeting of Troop 43 of Boy Scouts, held last night at the Scout cabin, plans were completed for the trip to Mammoth Cave this week-end. Twenty boys have already made arrangements to make the trip and others are expected. Boys making the trip are to be at Lowe's Cafe Saturday night at 11 o'clock, promptly.

Traveling in a 1-1-2 ton Ford V-8 truck and chaperoned by their scoutmaster, William Henry Edwards, the boys will go through Mammoth Cave and will go on up to Harrisburg, Illinois.

U. S. Expecting To Construct Planes Faster Than Germany

New York. —A program for the construction of air armament factories at a rate far exceeding even that of Germany, the world's leading air power, apparently is in the making in official Washington.

That was the deduction drawn today in American aircraft circles from a statement by the Information Director for the National Advisory Defense Commission that the nation's plane output would be up to 36,000 a year by December, 1941.

Would Match Nazis

Production of that proportion would telescope into one year what Germany accomplished in four years of intensive effort.

The most optimistic estimate of the nation's ability to boost its airplane output—from industrial and not administration sources—up to now was a figure of 36,000 planes a year in annual production by the spring of 1944.

Here is some data to bring the problem into focus:

Industry sources estimate it would require a plant investment of $390,000,000 for airplanes, propellers and engines to produce 36,000 planes a year.

Output $2,670,000,000.

The annual output at that rate would be worth $2,670,000,000. That would be $370,000,000 more than the wholesale value of all the automobiles and trucks produced in the United States and Canada in 1939.

As against 100,000 persons employed in all phases of aircraft production today, more than 500,000 would be necessary to turn out 36,000 planes a year.

Nevada Cavern Yields Artifacts 2,000 Years Old

Fallon, Nev. —A hidden cave, near the Lincoln Highway, has yielded relics indicating that man inhabited Nevada at least 2,000 years ago.

Exploration work has been progressing at the cave for weeks, which S. M. Wheeler, archaeologist, carrying on the project and camping near the cave.

Many artifacts, including parts of baskets, clothing and sandals, believed to date back 2,000 years or more, have been found. They are believed to antedate the use of the bow and arrow and were found buried under the cave's floor.

Caves Asked To "Behave"

Glasgow, Ky. —The managers of Mammoth Cave and its arch-competitor, Onyx Cave, were under orders of Circuit Judge L. B. Handley today to stay on "good behavior" until he rules on their legal fight over methods used in drawing in tourists.

After both sides in the "battle of the caves" had presented their cases, each charging the other with unfairly trying to hog the tourist trade, Judge Handley took the case under advisement and said he would give a decision next week.

Until then, he directed, solicitors for Onyx Cave must not flag down motorists on the highway and representatives of Mammoth Cave must not come onto Onyx property to hand circulars to motorists urging them to disregard solicitors.

The Judge used the term "good behavior" and smilingly waved aside requests of attorneys for more detailed instructions.

Mrs. W. P. Cox, Onyx manager, had testified that men from Mammoth Cave parked across the road from her "information" office on leased property on the highway between Mammoth Cave and Cave City and crossed to throw the handbills into cars here solicitors stopped.

National Guard Mobilization Expected To Begin Sept. 15th

Washington. —The War Department plans tentatively to begin mobilization of the National Guard, under legislation signed by President Roosevelt last night, by calling up 55,000 officers and men Sept. 15 for a year of intensive training.

The men, comprising four infantry divisions, four aircraft squadrons and numerous Coast Artillery units, are expected to enter camp barely two weeks after completion of the last of summer maneuvers on August 31. This would give them a brief period to settle personal affairs.

Tentative War Department plans also call for ordering out 175,000 more Guardsmen by December 1, along with 393,000 conscript soldiers who would be drafted by December 15, should the compulsory service bill become law at that time.

War Department authorities told Congress recently that Guard mobilization was an essential preliminary to the compulsory training program. Conscripts would be trained

Nazis Strike At London In Worst Raid

Hundreds Of Planes Bombed Wide Areas Of English Isles

London. —(Thursday)—Roaring waves of German warplanes lashed London overnight with explosive, incendiary and "scream" bombs in the longest and heaviest air attack of the war against the world's largest city.

The sprawling capital and heart of the empire was in a state of siege for more than seven hours as the raiders dealt death and destruction on into the pre-dawn hours.

The all clear signal finally was sounded shortly after 4 a. m. (10 p. m., C.S.T.).

(As always, censorship forbade approximations of destruction and casualties.)

Bomb Other Areas

The Nazis carried their attacks to other parts of the British Isles throughout the night and, when final reports are in, they might prove the worst yet experienced by the British.

One raider dropped six high explosive bombs over a northeast town, killing one woman and injuring several persons seriously; four bombs were dropped in one northwest town and 20 bomb explosions were counted in one Southeast England point.

The bombers also raided Wales. (The intense bombing came—perhaps as emphasis of Axis air power—on the eve of the four-power conference in Vienna at which Rome and Berlin hoped to settle a dispute between Hungary and Rumania over Rumania's province of Transylvania and thus avert possible trouble in Germany's backyard.)

War Department authorities told Congress recently that Guard mobilization was an essential preliminary to the compulsory training program. Conscripts would be trained ed in the ranks of the Guard and regulars, they explained, rather than as separate units. Congress passed the Guard bill last week.

All told, some 386,000 Guardsmen and reservists were made subject to call by the mobilization act. Included are 110,000 active reserve officers, 30,000 regular Army reserves, 3,500 enlisted reserves and 243,700 National Guard officers and men.

The act provides for the automatic discharge of Guardsmen under 18. Those below the rank of captain who have dependents will be allowed to resign 30 days after being called.

Employers will be required by the act to re-employ soldiers who apply 40 days after completing service, unless the employers find it "impossible or unreasonable."

The Guardsmen and reservists may be sent to any place in the Western Hemisphere, to United States possessions outside the Western Hemisphere or to the Philippine Islands.

FULGHAM NEWS

By Miss Docie Jones

Fulgham High school opened its 28th. school term Monday, August 25, 1943, with 8 teachers and the biggest enrollment in the history of the institution. Well over 250 were enrolled, after losing 25 or 30 children, mostly in the grades, due to a change in the county bus route system. Our first high school here was in 1913 with one teacher and less than a dozen and a half students.

Judge H. H. Crowder of Mayfield was the speaker of the morning following the devotional exercises by Rev. H. C. Jones of Clinton.

The high school teachers, headed by Professor M. B. Rogers, re-elected principal for his 6th. consecutive term, are: Mrs. Agnes Pharis Walker of Beelerton, Miss June Gossum of Sedalia, Mrs. Jimmie L. Moore of Fulgham and a newly elected commercial teacher, Miss MacFall Gossum of Sedalia, added this year. The latter has been teaching at Trenton, Tenn., for the past 4 years and resigned to accept the position here, made vacant by the resignation of Rector Jones of Dreyfus, Ky.

Grade teachers are Mrs. Jack Vaden, Miss Addie Bone and Miss Evie Jackson.

A large crowd of both patrons and friends were in attendance. Following the opening exercises Fred Hopkins, president, called the P. T. A. into session for reorganization. Dick Calbert was elected president, Mrs. E. E. Armbruster was named vice-president, Mrs. Renick Armbruster, secretary, and Vernon Humphreys, treasurer. Regular meetings will be held on the third Thursday night of each month.

There will be a called meeting Thursday night, however, for transaction of important business. The program committee is composed of Mrs. R. Armbruster, Mrs. Dewey House and Miss Docie Jones.

Teacher Convalescing
Thurman Paris, teacher elect at Central Hl. is convalescing nicely at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pharis, following an appendicitis operation at Fuller-Gilliam Hospital on August 12.

Three School Patients
Already have there been three high school students absent due to serious illness. Ernie Farmer, freshman, son of Elmer Farmer, is in the Fuller-Gilliam Hospital, following a very serious operation which was performed last Friday. A late report from the attending physician is that he is "doing as well as can be expected."

Grover Burkett, junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Burkett, who underwent an appendectomy in the Ful-Gilliam Hospital on August 15, returned home last week and is doing nicely.

Guy Woodson, freshman, who received a broken leg in a car accident August 3, was dismissed Wednesday from the Fulton Hospital. The injured leg is not yet ready for the cast but his condition is satisfactory.

COLLEGE STUDIES

WONT BE DISTURBED BY CONSCRIPTION

Murray, Ky., — Dr. James H. Richmond, President of Murray State College, revealed this week that reliable information from Washington has convinced him that students who are pursuing their education in college would not be disturbed immediately by the impending conscription program, "unless the situation becomes more critical and the United States becomes involved in war."

President Richmond who is looking forward to Murray State College's largest enrollment in history this fall, said that letters from President Roosevelt and John W. Studebaker, commissioner of education, had clearly stated that it was not the purpose of the proposed conscription plan to upset the careers of college students, but rather, they would encourage students to continue their education.

ASK INVESTIGATION OF ST. LOUIS BOYCOTT BY SOUTHERN ILL. CITIES

Washington, — Rep. Padjo Gravens, ID-Ark., said today he has asked Attorney General Robert H. Jackson to investigate a reported boycott of St. Louis, Mo., business firms by Southern Illinois cities, and to prosecute those responsible if any federal law violations are involved.

Gravens said he had reports that some cities were instituting a boycott because the St. Louis council passed an anti-smoke ordinance which tends to exclude from the St. Louis market some coals mined in Southern Illinois.

Arkansas coal production, he said, had been expanded as a result.

"Any part of the country has a right to go after any business it can obtain," Gravens said. "No section has a right to use illegal means in obtaining business or in damaging another section."

He did not explain what federal statutes might be involved. In his opinion.

We're Proud of Our Heritage!

In the days when our forefathers blazed the trail to this great democracy, flour milling played an important part in every community. Flour mills did more than feed America; they helped develop her great spirit. The old mill was looked upon as an asset to the community—the "honest old miller" a highly reputed citizen.

Yes, we're proud of our heritage—as Americans and as a part of a vast industry that dates back more than 4,000 years. Even in this modern age we hold to some of the traditions of the "honest old miller." Today, nothing pleases us more than the privilege to serve a community wherein we have gained confidence, good will and respect.

---SPORT NEWS---

It seems improbable at the present time that the Tigers can do as well for the second half as they did in the first. At the close of the first half the team was in a hot streak and played first division baseball to almost reach the .500 mark. The team won 30 games and lost 33 in the first period, but, barring a miracle, the team cannot hope to win 30 for this half. The season closes on Sept. 8, and a majority of the games to be played are with the top flight teams. Beginning today the Tigers must play five games in a row with the pennant-hungry Bowling Green Barons, and the Barons have been tough for all comers this season. With a weakened pitching staff, it seems unlikely that the Tigers can win more than one or two of these five. Gentry and Sanford might come through with a victory, or the Barons might start a pitcher who could not hold the Tigers and a lead might be grabbed that could be held. On form, however, the Tigers cannot hope to win more than two of the five games, and this seems a most hopeful estimate.

After the Barons have finished their business with the Tigers the latter team takes on Mayfield, Paducah and Union City for the final games. These games are to be played hither and yon, under the staggered system and the season winds up on Labor Day with a double bill against the Union City outfit.

After watching Huge Wise nurse a jittery team and shaky pitching staff through three one run victories here, many fans agreed that this may be the year for the Oilers to win the last half championship. Wise has a weak pitching staff, but seems to have an uncanny idea about when to pull a pitcher and what pitcher to put in, and while this tears his staff apart practically every game, he is winning ball games by this method. With another strong hitter in the lineup the Oilers should have won all three of these games, but the needed hit was not forthcoming when men were ready to come across with the winning runs. The schedule seems to favor Wise, too, although he can't be blamed for that. The Oilers go back home, only a step away from the leadership, with nine games to play at home, and several of them against Hopkinsville. However, these games may not be easy, for the Oilers have a team that is likely to start knocking the ball around at any moment. They can bombard the best pitching in the league now and then, and it is well known that hopeless tallenders have a habit of knocking off the top flight team. A year ago the Oilers practically ruined Owensboro's chances by sweeping a three game series here. The Oilers came to town ready to clinch the championship and the Oilers were going nowhere at all. But they proceeded to mow the Oilers down three straight times, spoiling Wise's chances. The Oilers might do the same thing.

Harry Sprute showed that he had the stuff in the final Oiler game. Going into the game with a five run deficit, the big southpaw proceeded to show local fans that he really does have the stuff. With a blazing fast ball and a curve that really curved, he held the Oilers to three hits in five and one third innings, and many fans believe that with proper support and cooperation he would have won. He started the rally which tied the score with a slashing double and time after time blazed a third strike through to the best of the Oiler hitters. Sprute has never had a great deal of luck and his usual wildness gets him into a lot of trouble. Nobody has ever denied that he has the fighting heart and the willingness to pitch, and perhaps by next season he is going to start going places. He looks like a ball player and his flashes of good pitching show that he has the stuff in his head and in his arm. Local fans were pulling hard for him to win the game here, but his usual hard luck came along to rob him of victory.

There is a lot of discussion right now as to whether there will be a Kitty League next year. No one can answer that question now, for it depends upon too many elements. Of course, if the draft bill goes through and the nation starts building an army of four million men, there will not be many boys of Kitty League age available for baseball. They will be in the army by next spring. Too, it is never possible financially to say whether a town will operate the next spring. Right now, most of the towns would say "never again," for most of them have lost a lot of money.

But come February or March, after the hurt has healed too a certain extent, it might bring a different picture. Money might be easier to secure, and interest will be keener than it is right now.

If there is a league team here next year, the writer sincerely hopes that we will not have a schedule calling for six games away from home and six at home. Either way it is too long, for one gets tired of going every night for a week, and likewise gets tired of waiting a week to see the home team. Three or four days is plenty for either at home or abroad, although exceptions should be made in playing in the faraway towns.

FALL CHECKUP OF TIRES

URGED BY LOCAL DEALER

For years it has been the custom of many a motorist, looking toward Fall driving to use the period just preceding Labor Day to get his car ready for bad weather, since vacations for the most part are over and with them the long Summer drives have ended. Looking to his car's battery, cables, ignition system and especially to tires, has become an annual routine.

Coupled with this is the fact that tire engineers have proved through road and laboratory tests and observations, over a period of years, that when new tires are applied to automobiles in cool weather, their owners gain as much as 20 per cent longer wear from them, than would be the case were the tires applied in hot weather. Besides this, new tire treads are sharp and clean-cut, providing necessary protection against skidding on wet pavements prevalent in Autumn.

Important news to car owners this year, Bob White Motor Co., local Goodyear dealer told The Daily Leader in an interview today, is that for a nine-day period only he will be able to offer Goodyear G-3 tires with the All-Weather Tread, that is protection against wet pavement skids, at a special price for the 6.00-16 size, which is what 70 per cent of the cars in service use.

"When they learn the price, which is but $9.99, and that similar reductions apply to other G-3 sizes, those discerning car owners who want quality and appreciate it the more at lower prices, will certainly be interested."

"The tires," Mr. White explained, "are protected by a lifetime guarantee, and the price includes turning in the customer's old tires."

"Despite the increase in tire prices which took place in July, this nine-day offer is a very unusual departure in merchandising," said Mr. White, "but is being made to give car owners an opportunity to do their part in helping make Fall highway driving safer, preventing those dangerous skids which are a big factor in the total accident toll."

Cayce News

Miss Lois Mayfield of New City, N. Y., and Shelley Kay Brooks of St. Louis are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Mayfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Cruce visited Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Cruce in Union City Sunday afternoon.

John Marvin Fleming of Benton spent last week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Stephenson and Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Fleming.

Cecil Cruce returned last Tuesday from Nashville, Tenn., where he received his Master of Arts degree from Peabody College.

Madden Endorsed For Reappointment To Labor Board

Washington, —Senator Thomas (D., Utah), Chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, expressed the hope Sunday that President Roosevelt would reappoint J. Warren Madden as chairman of the Labor year term expires Tuesday. "I think Mr. Madden has done Relations Board. Madden's five-a very good job," Thomas told reporters, "and all things considered, I believe he has earned reappointment."

FAMILIARITY BREEDS CONTEMPT

It is certainly true that when people grow accustomed to certain things, horrible though they may be, they manage to get along pretty well and even make a sort of show out of these things. When we think of England, under bombing fire from planes day and night, with sudden and horrible death falling from the skies in never ending streams, we vision a people cowering in caves and cellars and coming to the surface only occasionally.

However, judging from press reports, and these may or may not be quite accurate, the English are not living that way at all. Rather, they are making a sort of show out of these daily and nightly bombing raids and appear to be enjoying the show. A press report the other day told of collections being taken up for the privilege of remaining above ground and seeing an air fight. Air raid precaution wardens (this is a mild word for such a terrible job) must urge all people to take shelter during an air raid, and they do this promptly and thoroughly. But for those who prefer to remain in the open and see the show, the wardens have adopted the habit of taking up a collection for this privilege, the money going into a common pool to buy more planes for England's growing fleet. About a dime is the cost of such a show, and it is said that hundreds of people prefer to pay the admission price and see the show.

Another way the stolid Britons have of raising money is to put captured or destroyed Nazi planes on exhibition, charging a nominal fee, and this money also goes into the defense fund. Women who are compelled to spend considerable time in air raid shelters put this time to good account by knitting needed things for soldiers and sailors. In one air raid district air wardens are raising a crop of winter cabbage on top of the various shelters, and in general the British seems to be carrying on a more or less normal life. The amusements may be somewhat restricted and subject to violent interruptions, but they are being continued through these dark days. Only the other day a bomb struck a moving picture show while the show was going on, and some people were killed, but the showhouse is being repaired for future showings.

It might be well to discount a lot of claims and counter claims which are made by the English and Germans of bombings of hospitals and churches and moving picture houses. It is likely that such things have occurred, but not from malice. Both sides know that destroying a moving picture house does not even pay for the cost of the bomb, for these bombs cost lots of money. It must be remembered that most of the bombs are dropped from dizzy heights, and aim, at best, is more or less of a guess. The plane flies at dizzy speed, the target can hardly be seen, if at all, and the plane must drop its load and get away from that locality before it spotted by searchlights or fighter planes. Therefore, the bomber makes his calculations, hopes he is on the target, presses his triggers and the load of death is on its way. Perhaps the entire setup is barbarous, but it is modern war, and no pilot can ever know with certainty that he has struck any certain target.

This reasoning applies with equal

CANADA TAKES LEAD IN DEFENSE ACTION

Though the joint Canadian-United States defense board is losing no time in getting down to work on the problems of safeguarding the North American continent from possible attack, Canada takes the lead in independent action. Quietly and methodically, the Dominion sees to it that Germany does not acquire a strategic air and naval base in the northern mid-Atlantic. Without fanfare, it announces that Canadian soldiers are now on guard in Iceland.

That Germany has had its eye on the tiny Danish republic there is not the slightest doubt. Before the war Nazi "scientists" visited the island. Negotiations were opened for a German air base in the little dependent State. Air Marshal Herman Goering was particularly interested in the country for the development of the ancient art of falconry, or so it was announced.

Since the conquest of Denmark and Norway, the future of Iceland and the defense of America have become more precarious. The island just north of the Arctic circle is an ideal stepping stone between the old World and the New. It is 1,000 miles from the British Isles and 1,800 miles from Halifax. It is tied to conquered Denmark, at least by allegiance to the Crown and Germany, if the opportunity presented itself, would try to seize it. In the march toward world revolution it would be a long stride toward Canada and the United States.

One of the first acts of the Washington Government following the collapse of the Denmark was to strengthen the ties between Iceland and the United States. Ottawa, however, went the United States one better. It arranged for the strengthening of the island militarily by sending troops to the sparsely settled but highly progressive and extremely democratic little country.—Courier-Journal.

THE BERING JOINS TROUBLED SEAS

As we hasten to fortify Alaska, the Bering Sea takes its place belatedly among the earth's historical "troubled waters," the Mediterranean, Caribbean, South China and North Seas.

The Bering was long immune to human discord; because it lies outside the routes of commerce. The Bering's straits lead nowhere but to the wrong approach to the North Pole. Viewed from that point of vantage, however, the Bering is a considerable body of water. It covers some 800,000 square miles between the Aleutians and the continental tips at the straits.

Alaska forms a vulnerable angle of our Pacific defense.

The Aleutians extend like stepping stones for plane hops across the Pacific to Kamchatka whence the Japanese archipelago continues the "steps" down the Asiatic coast. Russia is said to be constructing an air base on its side of the straight, but that is a remote outpost of little danger after we build out own. Thousands of miles of mountains and continental arctic climate separate it from Soviet supply bases by land and 2,000 miles by sea. Our Pacific defense contemplate other serious threats.—Exchange.

POLIO VICTIM IN LUNG GIVES BIRTH TO SON

Indianapolis.—An 18-year-old victim of infantile paralysis, Mrs. Ruby Cook, Darlington, Ind., farm wife, fought the disease in an "iron lung" today after leaving the respirator long enough to give birth to a three-pound boy.

The child was born prematurely last night in a Caesarian operation. It died at 5 a. m. today.

Unable to breath, Mrs. Cook was given oxygen through an inhalator during the operation. She is in a critical condition.

Mrs. Cook became ill a week ago. She has lived in the respirator since last Thursday.

logic to both sides in the great air struggle, and it hardly likely that either Germany or England would waste costly bombs merely to damage buildings which have no war value.

Nature's Danger Signal

How much easier it is to keep well than to get well. In these strenuous times so many people have fagged out "feeling." They are tired all the time. They think they are all run down when they

Shortage Of Labor Now Appears Probable As Defense Work Starts

New York. — Present trends, with the talk of universal military training and quickened production of implements for defense, are changing the emphasis from a chronic alleged surplus of human labor to discussions of shortages in specialized and skilled crafts.

Thus, the major depression illusion that the Nation had too many workers is tending to disappear, and there is a growing recognition that leadership in the modern world is closely related to the capacity to produce.

As the enlarged defense program was getting under way, I queried Dr. Isador Lubin, Commissioner of Labor Statistics and former staff member of the Brookings Institution at Washington, concerning prospective basic charges in the market place for human services.

"It is a little difficult to say," Dr. Lubin responded, "what the effects of the enlargement of the national defense program will be on job possibilities because we do not know at this time in what industries the defense program will be concentrated."

"It is obvious that the defense program will involve a substantial increase in employment in aircraft manufacture and in shipbuilding. Both of these are industries operating at a high level of capacity, as will be indicated by their employment figures. The requirements for aircraft are going to involve considerable expenditures for machine tools, which is another industry already operating at levels well above those which prevailed at any time in the 1930's. In general, it is also fair to assume that there will tend to be a heavy concentration of expenditures in the metal industries for other types of supplies."

"The age distribution in 1930 will indicate that obsolescence has considerably reduced the number of toll makers. We know as a matter of general information that there was virtually no apprentice training in the metal trade from 1930 to 1936. In the fall of 1936 and the beginning of 1937, a need for additional workers was felt in some of these industries and some apprentices were taken on."

"In a number of establishments the apprenticeship was discontinued in the latter part of 1937 or during the depression of 1938. There is every reason to believe, therefore, that a further substantial expansion in the metal working industries will involve a difficult problem as regards the supply of tool and die makers."

"To the best of our knowledge, such individuals actually have been found for existing production requirements, though a number of firms have standing orders with employment services for additional tool and die makers, largely in contemplation of their emerging needs."

Registration Of U. S. Aliens Starts Tuesday

Chicago. — Francis Biddle, solicitor general of the United States, Sunday reminded an estimated 3,000,000 aliens in this country that they must register some time between Tuesday and December 28.

He pointed out in a prepared broadcast that under the law every alien over 14 years of age must register and be fingerprinted, that the registration would take place at all first and second class postoffices and at all postoffices located at county seats, and that failure to comply "calls for severe penalties."

He informed aliens that the registration would require only twenty minutes on the average, that they would be "received" in a spirit of friendliness, that the information they gave would be kept secret and confidential, and that no fee would be charged.

The solicitor, related that after their identity had been established they would be asked how and when they entered the U. S., how long they intended to stay, whether they had any naval or military service the names of any clubs, societies or organizations to which they belonged, the nature of their activities in behalf of these organizations and whether these organizations promote "the interests of a foreign government."

up to midnight September 6, Assistant Attorney General Guy H. Herdman said Monday.

"While county clerks are not required by law to keep their offices open beyond their regular hours," he added, "many do so and registration is legal up to midnight of the last day."

Battle Of Rival Caves Is Now Being Fought Out In Courts

Glasgow, Ky. —A battle of the caves, brewing for years in the land of fantastic underground displays broke surface Monday in Barren Circuit Court as operators of two of the State's most famous caverns urged legal restraint upon each other's competitive methods.

Management of world-famous Mammoth Cave—under a publicly owned part of Mammoth Cave National Park—and management of Great Onyx Cave—under a private tract encircled by the park—are the litigants. Each has filed a petition seeking to make the other quit trying to hog business.

In the informal hearing in Barren County courtroom the principals, their lawyers and a score of witnesses gathered around Judge L. B. Handley, who took off his coat and loosened his galluses while witnesses accused each other of telling "packs of lies" and posing as people they weren't to lure tourists into their caves.

There's more beneath the surface in the cave business than just the stock in trade, it appears from Monday's account of how "observing" parties from one cave donned dark glasses and set out to learn what competitors were doing.

Barren County caves have been in court for many years, in condemnation suits, in tax disputes and recently as the root of a quarrel over location of a county line. But this is the first time forceful sales methods—which some witnesses said were like shanghaiing tourists from the highways—have become a judge's problem.

This was Onyx Cave day in court since it took from 8:30 a. m. until 4:45 p. m. to take testimony from the Onyx witnesses. Mammoth's inning is tomorrow. Meanwhile the management of a third cave—the Mammoth Onyx—has an "observer" in the courtroom to see how its like-name competitors came through.

Onyx Manager Testifies

Mrs. W. P. Cox, manager of Onyx Cave and one, she said, of its three owners, was first to take the stand. She described how her cave lies off State Highway 70, about three-and-a-half miles on a gravel road past the last entrance to Mammoth Cave. To reach either cave, tourists must go to Cave City, then take Highway 70, and to reach Onyx must pass both the first and second entrances to Mammoth, which conducts an information in the town of Cave City.

She told how, since Mammoth had first crack at the customers in Cave City and then they reached Mammoth first, she leased a strip of land between Cave City and Mammoth, and set up an office where solicitors "pull in" the cars to a gravel parking space to give "cave information."

AIR RAID FANS PAY ADMISSIONS TO WATCH BATTLES

London. — It costs sixpence (about 10 cents) to watch an air raid in Wembley, site of one of Britain's biggest football stadiums.

Air raid precaution wardens urge spectators to take cover when a warning sounds, and then take up a sixpence collection from those who prefer to watch.

The money goes to buy Spitfire fighting planes.

Britons also are turning German raids to account in these ways:

Nazi planes which have been shot down are placed on exhibition to raise defense funds.

Women are using the hours they spend in air raid shelters to knit "comforts" for service men.

In Chatham air raid wardens are growing winter cabbage atop their lookout post in an earthworks barricade.

STAINLESS STEEL RAILWAY CARS REACH PORTUGAL

Philadelphia. — Twenty-eight stainless steel railway cars, the first "streamliners" built in this country for export, are now in use by the Portuguese National Railway, it was announced by the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Company, Philadelphia.

Safe delivery of the cars was revealed after the Franco-Iberian freighter "Cypria" docked in Lisbon with the last of the shipment. The equipment embodies the same construction principles used in lightweight trains on American railroads, and will be used for passenger travel between Lisbon, Oporto and Trun on the French border.

TROTSKY ATTORNEY ASKS U. S. FUNERAL FOR BOLSHEVIST

Mexico City. —Leon Trotsky's attorney asked Friday for United States permission to take the old Bolshevik's body to New York for memorial services.

The attorney, Albert Goldman, filed his request with the United States Consulate, which said it would be given "due consideration." There were indications that American authorities had expressed no enthusiasm over the plan. Goldman said that if his request were granted the body would be cremated in the United States and the ashes returned to Mexico. Otherwise, it will be buried here "in a week or so," he added.

Spain Is Far From War, Behn Declares

Lisbon, Portugal. —Col. Sosthenes Behn, head of International Telephone & Telegraph Company, taking the Clipper Sunday for New York, expressed the opinion that Spain is "far from war."

He had just come from Spain, where he reached an agreement with the Franco Government for return of I. T. & T. properties in Spain to American management.

Behn, who had seen Spanish leaders frequently in recent weeks, expressed the opinion that Franco is determined to keep Spain out of the conflict as long as possible.

Tigers Break Losing Streak By Winning Opener From B. Green

After dropping four straight games, the last three by a one run margin, the Tigers managed to put a stop to their losing ways here last night. Behind the steady pitching of Jim Gentry they beat Bowling Green 6 to 3, and the game was not nearly so close as the score indicates. Gentry pitched five hit ball until the ninth and had the game won 6 to 3. In the final inning the Barons hit him for three hits and two runs, but Jim put the brakes on so abruptly that one could hear them squeal and fanned the last batter with his blazing fast ball.

Gentry had only one bad inning, the second, when one hit and grounded errors put the Barons into a brief lead. Three runs were scored in this frame, and the Tigers took back two of them in the second and third. In the fourth they worked over Harris and Longazel in good fashion for four runs, and after that Gentry held the Barons at bay in splendid fashion. He was a trifle wild, walking six, but he whiffed eleven men and was generally unhittable when men were on the unways.

Quickie Bush, Pawelek and Peterson, with two hits each, led the local hitters. Not an alien hitter managed to solve Gentry's pitching more than once.

Two games are being played tonight, the first starting at seven o'clock.

Girl Master Canyon Peril

Denver. —Two young Boston women are credited with being the first white women to make the hazardous thirty-one-mile hike through the Black Canyon of the Gunnison River in Western Colorado.

Hope Pearsall, 24, and Elizabeth Benson, 21, summer visitors at a ranch near Maher, were members of a party of six which walked, swam, waded and climbed down the route. The party entered the gorge August 19, and came out last Friday.

HEMISPHERE AID STUDIED

New York. —Executives who have been making studies for several years of industrial opportunities in Latin American have pulled their plans out of file drawers and are sizing them up again in the light of recent developments, says "Business Week."

With Washington apparently preparing to back up its Monroe Doctrine with force, at least in the rich countries of Latin America extending as far South as the "bugle" and with Government aid likely soon to be going to this area in the form of Export-Import Bank loans, it may be time now to reconsider the projects.

Though last week's developments are primarily matters of defense, the magazine states they will have an important influence on business. Within the next few weeks this country's defense authorities will know exactly what new bases will be at their disposal and can lay down a definite plan for hemisphere defense.

Britain Sets Example
The fact that a big nation like Britain, though admittedly in a tight spot, is willing to lease its property to the United States in an emergency, may set an example to some of the smaller nations of Latin America in whose territories naval bases and huge military air-dromes are needed, but who have until now refused to co-operate with Washington to that extent.

Gull Flies Away After Hitting Plane But Plane Doesn't

New York. —A seagull smashed into an airplane as it was about to take off from LaGuardia Field today and flew away under its own power, which was more than the airliner did.

The bird, flying blind through a heavy rainstorm, struck the plane's left windshield and chipped the glass. Stunned, it fell to the plane's wing, flopped around for a minute, got its wind back and flew away. The airliner, transferring its twelve Boston-bound passengers to another ship, retired to a hangar for repairs.

Appeasement Ends Carrier's Dog Problem

Lincoln, Neb. —When one of his carriers was unable to deliver mail at a certain address for ten days because of a vicious dog, Postmaster R. E. Fenton decided on appeasement.

Now the carrier leaves headquarters with a sack of dog food, and, says Fenton, all other carriers with dog trouble will be similarly armed.

2 In Florida Say They're Aliens From Georgia

Fort Myers, Fla. —Wayne Lewis, assistant postmaster, got all of his alien-registration machinery in order Wednesday and was all ready for business.

First "customers" were two Negroes.

"Are you aliens?" asked Lewis. "Yassuh," was the reply. "Where were you born?" he queried. "In Georgia."

P. S.—They weren't registered.
