The train will carry freight from Chicago via the Illinois Central to Edgewood, thence over the cut-off to Fulton, where it will go over the Illinois Central to Memphis.

MISS GLOVER IMPROVING

Miss Adrien Glover, 16, who was run over opposite the American Cigar company by a car driven by Carl Williams, of Oakton, Ky., is improving, according to advices from attending physicians. Miss Glover had left her place of employment at the noon hour and was attempting to cross the street, when she was struck by the car driven by Williams and thrown beneath the front wheels. According to witnesses, the car passed over body, breaking her collar bone and badly bruising her. It appeared that the girl became confused and could not escape being struck.

W. L. HAMPTON ANNOUNCES FOR JUDGE OF FULTON COUNTY

In this issue of The Advertiser we publish the official announcement of W. L. Hampton, announcing his candidacy for the remainder of the term of the office of Judge of Fulton county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held on August 4, 1928.

In his announcement Mr. Hampton briefly states his plan and purpose to give the people a safe business administration if elected and we believe he will do it.

No man in Fulton county stands higher in the esteem of the voters than W. L. Hampton. He was born and reared in this county, near Fulton. Everybody knows him. From his youth to the present day he has been eyed with admiration. His sole ambition has always been to see his native county stand out ahead of all others. He loves his county and the people in it, and we may add, that the people have the same kindly feeling towards him.

Having served two terms as Circuit Court Clerk and one term Representative of Fulton and Hickman counties, he is well qualified to fill the office of County Judge. He is thoroughly acquainted with the conditions of county affairs and if elected we believe he will distinguish himself in the office of Judge the same as in all other offices to which the voters have honored him.

He will appreciate your vote and support on August 4.

LEE MCCLAIN & SON COMPLETE DECORATIONS AT USONA HOTEL

The handsome and elaborate decorations recently completed at the Usona Hotel by Lee McClain & Son, are being admired by all who visit Fulton's popular hostelry. It is decidedly the prettiest interior decorated hotel in this section of the country, and Mr. P. C. Ford the genial proprietor, is to be congratulated on the improvement. The work is done in textone, finished in Spanish colors and gold trimmings, while the wood work is finished to resemble marble. Added decorations in the lobby are colorful awnings over the windows, exceedingly restful to the eye from the glowing light. New lighting fixtures have been installed in keeping with the other decorations.

It can truly be said that Mr. McClain and son, Willie, are master minds in the art of decorating. They returned to Fulton some months ago from Florida where they completed several large contracts, gaining an enviable reputation with their artistic work.

It is a thrill of pleasure to visit the Usona and eye the lovely decorations.

BURFORD-BUTLER

A wedding of unusual interest to a large number of friends was solemnized Wednesday April 25, in St. Louis, when Miss Lula Burford became the bride of Samuel Tilden Butler.

The bride is a young woman of winsome personality and has scores of friends who will welcome her back after several months' absence from the city. Mr. Butler is one of Fulton's prominent business men and he and his bride will be at home to their many friends at their beautiful new residence on Third Street.

ALEXANDER-LANE

A wedding of unusual attractiveness was that of Miss Vera Alexander and Mr. Glenn W. Lane, which was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock Thursday, April 19, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. G. Nall, in McKenzie, Tenn., in the presence of near relatives and friends.

Lilacs, purple iris and ferns, with six tall white candles, formed the bridal altar, while cut flowers brightened the other rooms.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. W. G. Nall. The bridal party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March and during the ceremony "Melody of Love" was softly played by Mrs. C. F. Young.

The bride wore an ensemble of blue georgette with beige accessories, and her flowers were a corsage of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Mary Lane, who was maid of honor, was gownned in a rose beige georgette, and her flowers were a corsage of sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Dudley Smith, of Fulton, acted as best man to the groom. Willette Nall, little niece of the bride, dressed in orchid, was ring-bearer, bearing the rings in iris blossoms.

The bride is a social favorite of McKenzie, and the groom is assistant cashier of the Farmers Bank of this city.

After a motor trip to Jackson, Nashville, and other points in middle and eastern Tennessee, Mr. and Mrs. Lane arrived at home in Fulton amid showers of congratulations.

WILL THE SOLID SOUTH "STAND PAT?"

It now looks like Gov. Al Smith of New York will be an easy winner at the Houston convention June 26. Reports being sent out state that with additional dry and hitherto antagonistic constituencies flocking to his standard, Al is already in gunshot of the Democratic nomination for President.

At the close of last week, Smith had 349 out of the 1,100 delegates who will sit in the Houston convention. When those delegates are added which it is known are yet to be instructed for him, there will be back of Smith an aggregate of not less than 558 delegates, seven more than a majority of the convention, and 172 1-2 short of the 733 1-2 constituting the two-third majority necessary to a nomination in the Democratic party.

The question now is not so much whether Smith can be nominated, as whether Smith can be stopped short of nomination by acclamation on an early, if not the first, ballot at Houston.

The problem of McAdoo and the other anti-Smith leaders at Houston is going to be the marshaling of at least 115 delegates outside of the solid south who will stick to the bitter end and go into the last ditch with Dixie against the choice of the outstanding personality in the Democratic party today. This will be no easy task.

Despite the fact that the convention will be held in the solid South for the first time since Civil War days, the psychology of the situation will be favorable to Smith. Here you will have a man of extraordinary popularity, a man of such vote-getting prowess that he has the Republican party in New York fighting with its back to the wall, the only Democrat who, as matters now stand, would seem to have a chance of being elected, and this man will go into the convention with a majority of the delegates.

With the wish to win surging strongly in the souls of the Jeffersonians, they will be more than human if they long resist the temptation to join the chorus of "The Sidewalks of New York." It is under such circumstances in national conventions that the band wagon starts with a hurrah and a rush of erstwhile irreconcilables to clamber aboard.

But it is being whispered about that a good many Democratic leaders in the Solid South are already falling over each other to assure Smith of their friendliness, and incidentally, to remind him that a little matter like their inability to vote their delegations for him at Houston should not stand between them and proper recognition at the pie counter in the event of Al's election. These southern bosses want Al nominated as much as do their northern brethren, because they feel that with him they have a chance of regaining power in the national government, and they are full of assurances that the Solid South will not bolt Smith in November, for all his wetness and his Romanism.

The recent acceleration of the Smith candidacy is the result of the friendship to the New York governor manifested by the Democrats in parts of the west that constituted the McAdoo stronghold in 1924, and were being relied on by the dries to join hands with the solid south in blocking Smith this time. Iowa, Idaho and Washington, which voted solidly against him to the last, four years ago, are solidly Smith today. Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota, which were divided at Madison Square Garden, are going to Houston solid for Smith. In Oklahoma, which voted unanimously for McAdoo on every ballot in 1924, a majority of the delegates this time are favorable to Smith. A similar situation exists in Nebraska.

The right-about face executed by Iowa, is typical of the change of sentiment among the western Democrats in four years. Iowa was so devoted to McAdoo and so bitterly opposed to Smith at Madison Square Garden that its delegation refused even to vote for John W. Davis as a compromise candidate on the last ballot. It went down with the McAdoo flag defiantly held aloft by Ed Meredith, who, within the next hour, refused the nomination for Davis' running mate.

A few months ago Meredith was going to rally the west to block the advance of Smith. But the prairies failed to take fire for Meredith. Then he was going to hold Iowa inviolate against the blandishments of the tempter of Albany. When the primary was held, a preponderance of sentiment for Smith with disclosed. Meredith predicted that the state convention would choose a delegation preponderantly against Smith. But the state convention was overwhelmingly for Smith and instructed the delegation to vote for him at Houston, till the cows come home. Meredith is not even a delegate.

The fate of Meredith is that of several other McAdoo leaders in the west, while others have saved their political skins only by climbing on the Smith band wagon well in advance of the primaries.

EVERY PASSENGER COUNTS

The Illinois Central System is equipped and organized to provide good passenger service for small as well as for large requirements. The larger items in passenger service, such as excursion and long-distance travel, attract the most attention and provide the bulk of present-day railway passenger revenue, but the smaller items—the movement of individual passengers for short distances—play an important part in the success of railway passenger business. Both kinds of patronage are needed and wanted.

Trains are a virtual necessity for long trips. Here are some reasons why they should also be used for short trips:

Travel by train is pleasant and cheap. The person who rides ten miles as well as the person who rides a thousand will find clean and comfortable cars on Illinois Central trains. The Illinois Central organization has a reputation for the kind of courtesy which goes far to make a journey pleasant. Then, too, the price of the service is much less, as a rule, than the cost of operating an automobile an equal distance.

Patronage of the train helps to insure a continuance of its essential, all-weather service. The passenger service of a railroad is, in one way or another, an always-important asset to communities along its line. Trains are just about indispensable for the carrying of mail, baggage and express, and for the carrying of passengers. They have no equal in safety and dependability. Lack of patronage, however, imperils not merely one but all of these advantages.

Good service and low prices, on the railroad as well as in other lines of business, are made possible by mass production. The greater the volume of business, therefore, others factors being equal, the more the railroad and its patrons stand to benefit therefrom.

No matter what the length or the frequency of their journeys, travelers on the Illinois Central System are assured of a cordial appreciation of their patronage and a sincere desire to merit its continuance.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. DOWNS,
President, Illinois Central System.

GREATNESS THROUGH SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 9:33-37; 10:35-45.

GOLDEN TEXT—For even the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto but to minister and to give his life a ransom for many.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Doing as Jesus Did.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Way to Be Great.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Be Truly Great.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus' Standard of Greatness.

Jesus with His disciples was on His way to Capernaum for the last time. He was soon to leave for Jerusalem where He was to die on the cruel cross for the sins of the world. He sought retirement in order to make clearer to the disciples the meaning of the cross. They were yet unable to understand Him. It was a most pitiable sight to behold the Son of God facing humiliation and death for man's salvation and even the disciples failing to understand the meaning of His suffering.

I. The Disciples Disputing as to Who Should Be the Greatest (Mark 9:33-37).

1. Jesus' searching question (v. 33). His omniscience enabled Him to discern their secret thoughts. The fact that the disciples were wrangling about official position while Jesus was facing humiliation and death shows how completely He was alone in the world.

2. The silent disciples (v. 34). The revelation of the selfishness of their hearts made them ashamed in His presence. The realization that the eye of the omniscient Lord is over us is the sure and only cure for selfish wrangling among Christians.

3. The stinging rebuke (v. 35-37). (1) "If any man desire to be first the same shall be last of all and servant of all." True greatness expresses itself in being willing to take the last and least place and to be a servant of others.

(2) His teaching illustrated (vv. 36, 37). This He did by an acted parable of placing a little child in their midst. A little child is a symbol of dependence and ignorance. By word and example He showed that true greatness is expressed in willingness to serve the weak, instruct the ignorant, and serve the needy.

II. The Ambitious Request of James and John (Mark 10:35-45).

1. What it was (v. 35-37). It was for the positions of pre-eminence in the kingdom. Christ had told them of the awful agony of the cross and also of the glory which should follow. While their request reveals pride and selfish ambition yet faith in their Lord and a right desire were not wholly lacking. It was not entirely for their personal glory that they made this request, but because of their personal desire to be with their Lord.

2. Jesus' reply (v. 38-45).

(1) To James and John (v. 38-40).

a. Their misconception rebuked, "Ye know not what ye ask."

b. Positions of glory in Christ's kingdom are earned, not obtained through favor or arbitrary assignment. The way to honor is through suffering. The cup which they were to drink was all that was embraced in the agony of the cross. Christ conceded that the positions which they craved were obtainable, but in a different way from what they thought. The way to places of glory in Christ's kingdom is through lowly, self-forgetful service and suffering.

(2) To the ten disciples (v. 41-45).

a. Their displeasure (v. 41). The ten disciples were displeased with the request of James and John. Their displeasure was because they were not free from the same selfish ambition; their action was not prompted by righteous indignation.

b. True greatness declared (v. 42-45). To minister to others is greater than to be ministered unto (v. 43). Among the Gentile nations, greatness was conceded to those who exercised authority over others. This is the world's conception today. Among the followers of Christ a different standard prevails. The standard of Christ's kingdom is to forget self in devoted service to others, even to the giving of one's life. The supreme example to be followed by all is Jesus Christ Himself. His whole life was spent in going about doing good, and on the cross of Calvary He made the supreme sacrifice in providing a ransom for many.

Clean heat

No black kettles to scour!

How much pleasanter cooking is, when there are no black pots and pans to scour afterward! Every woman who cooks with a Perfection Oil Stove is spared that horrid nuisance.

There is never a speck of soot. For in the long chimneys, every drop of oil is completely burned before the heat reaches the cooking.

Perfection flames stay at the height you set them, so you need never fear they will "creep up" and make the kitchen sooty.

Soot, as you know, is half-burned kerosene—just wasted heat. With Perfections you have real fuel economy, as all the oil is changed into cooking heat. They burn only kerosene, the safe household fuel.

Miss Allen says—

"Utensil bottoms are free from soot when cooking is done on the Perfection Stove."

DAIRY FACTS

BIG FACTORS IN PRODUCING MILK

Because of the prevailing high prices of feeds much stress has been laid on weeding out the poor cows and keeping only those that produce at a profit. "This is sound policy, only if the cows have been properly fed and cared for," states E. A. Gauntt, assistant dairy specialist at the New Jersey College of Agriculture.

"Two factors must be considered in milk production, namely, inherited ability of the cow to produce milk, and feed and care. The importance of proper feeding was proved recently by the Minnesota experiment station, which purchased four poor cows from a member of a cow-testing association. This man thought he had fed his cows properly. He bought large quantities of mill feeds. He fed a mixture of 90 parts of bran, 80 of middlings, 18 of ready-mixed feed and 4 of oil meal. He fed five pounds of this to each cow daily. The cows were on pasture six months. This feed cost him $89.16 a cow and the average milk production was 4,622 pounds of milk and 182 pounds of fat. His net profit was $37.90 per cow.

"After the college purchased them their feed was changed to a balanced ration and instead of feeding each cow five pounds, they were fed according to the amount of milk they produced—in other words, the more milk they gave, the more feed they were given. The cows were kept on pasture only five months instead of six, and got alfalfa hay and corn silage instead of timothy. This change boosted the average to 6,375 pounds of milk—an increase of 56.7 per cent. The butterfat increase was 77 pounds per cow. The feed cost was $61.42 instead of $89.16, but the profit per cow was $62.90 instead of $37.90. This means that by proper feeding the owner could have increased his net profit $25 per cow, which would not have been a bad investment."

Staff Cheap Insurance in Handling Dairy Bull

A few days ago a Fort Collins man was killed by his Holstein bull. He was leading the bull into the barn by means of a halter and lead strap when the accident occurred. This is only one more added to the great list of people who have been killed or seriously injured by bulls, states L. P. McCann of the animal husbandry department, Colorado Agricultural college, who adds that this accident, like many others, could have been avoided if the handler had not trusted the bull.

Every dairy bull, warns Professor McCann, should be regarded as a potential killer and handled accordingly. The great number of accidents occurring from careless handling proves this to be true. In spite of this men and women continue to risk their lives every day, thinking that their bulls are different from the others that have already taken a toll of lives.

For the man who handles one of these animals, the small amount of money required to buy a good bull staff is about the cheapest life insurance in which a man can invest.

Self-Feeding Cows Not Profitable at Illinois

Tests were recently made at the University of Illinois on eight dairy cows to determine the value of self-feeding. The practice was not economical nor were the milk yields appreciably increased.

For a short period after calving the amount of feed consumed was too small. Later it was too large, and the cows increased in weight. The animals were not injured by the practice because they were gradually accustomed to it.

The chief purpose of the test was to determine the relative palatability of different feeds. Corn proved most palatable of the low protein concentrates. Complete details may be obtained by writing for Bulletin 280 published by the Illinois experiment station, Urbana.

Buying Dairy Cows

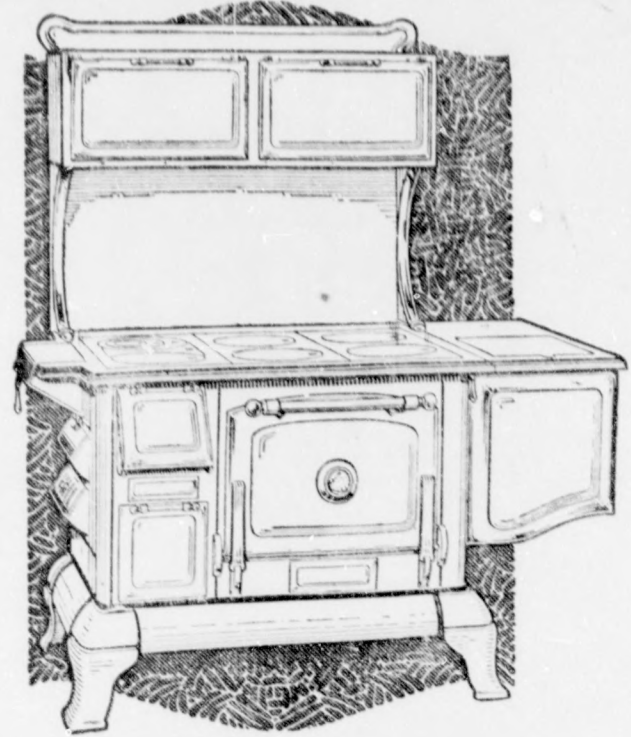

When buying cows at a closing out sale of a man who has been in a test association, one gets a chance at cows that have records. The better cows are mostly worth the money they bring, especially if they have not had the best of care. If one buys such a cow that has the earmarks of a dairy cow and has a fair record with ordinary care, and takes her home and feeds her and makes her comfortable one may venture to say the cow will do her part.

Danger in Warm Cream

It is a common practice among farmers to keep cream too warm even in winter. Cream should never be allowed to freeze, because it is then hard to get representative samples. In order to avoid this, some producers keep their cream near a stove or in a place so warm that it is likely to sour or to absorb bad odors or both. In order to produce the highest quality cream, it is necessary to be provided the year around with a cool place, free from all contaminations.

Railroad News

It is estimated that one out of every seven persons in the United States is directly or indirectly dependent upon the railroads for his livelihood.

A merchant at Springfield, Ill., pays less than 26 cents for freight on a complete outfit for a man, from hat to shoe, from points of manufacture in the East to Springfield, according to computations made by the Illinois Central System in cooperation with a leading men's furnishing store in Illinois. This assumes that the hat is manufactured in Philadelphia, the suit and overcoat in Rochester, N. Y., the shoes in Boston, and that other items are manufactured at various points in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The Illinois Central System handles more cotton and cottonseed products than any other railroad in the country. Approximately one in every eight carloads of cotton, cottonseed and cottonseed products handled by railroads of the United States is loaded on the Illinois Central System.

More than half the strawberries marketed in the United States come from states in which the Illinois Central System operates. Tennessee and Louisiana lead all other states in the production of strawberries.

The railroads of the United States employ approximately 61,000 women. Eighty per cent of them hold clerical positions. Among the remaining 20 per cent are 3,330 cleaners, 1,400 telegraph operators, 800 station agents, 144 supervisors, 295 roundhouse workers, 192 watchwomen and 53 elevator operators. Two are employed in train service.

Numerous rate adjustments on the Illinois Central System, small individually but large in the aggregate, lowered the average freight rate on the system from 9.19 mills per ton per mile in 1926 to 8.86 mills per ton per mile in 1927. This decrease amounted in the aggregate to $5,320,000 on last year's freight traffic.

Nearly a million carloads of fruit and vegetables move annually over the railroads of the United States. If they were all under load at one time, they would form nine solid trains reaching from Chicago to New Orleans.

The Illinois Central System claims the distinction of having had in its service and the service of its predecessor companies more outstanding civil and military leaders of the Civil War, both North and South, than any other railroad in the country. Among these were Abraham Lincoln, General George B. McClellan, General Ambrose E. Burnside, General Nathaniel P. Banks, General Grenville M. Dodge, Allan Pinkerton, chief of the secret service, General Thomas E. G. Ransom, General John B. Turchin, General Mason Brayman, General Rufus Polk Neely, General P. T. G. Beauregard, General Wirt Adams, General G. W. Smith and Hon. John S. Mendenhall, a principal with Mason in the Trent affair. Judah P. Benjamin, secretary of state of the Southern Confederacy, was one of the organizers and promoters of the Illinois Central line between New Orleans and Canton, Miss.

A FEW LOOSE FEATHERS

By J. T. Watkins

Many a farmer carries his horses daily, rubs down his cows, puts patent oilers where his hogs can keep themselves greasy, and will allow his hens to fight their own battles against lice.

"What is all that racket about out there in your barn?" asked a neighbor.

"Ma's trying to get a hen," replied a small boy swinging on the gate, and you know pa's county agent, and he's trying to tell her how."

(Apologies to McPherson)

For greater profits in poultry these points are worth remembering:

1. Use a good laying strain of hens.
2. Keep only high production males.
3. Provide a comfortable house.
4. Feed a well balanced ration.
5. Strict sanitation.
6. Close culling throughout the year.

Some one asked the other day what 4 H stood for in this membership the boys and girls are going into. I don't know unless it means HENS, HOGS, HEIFERS and HUSTLE. Any how, that is a darn good combination to work on.

Mr. McPherson, the county agent, like myself, is as busy as "a nigger in a bumblebee's nest," getting out his part of the premium list for the fair. I am glad my part is about done, all but get the MONEY.

Wanted: 100 members to join the poultry association and pay one year's dues.

Would like to see 100 entries from the following breeds at the show this year. Barred Rocks, Reds, Bl. Minorcas, White Leghorns, White Wyandottes, Buff Orpington and any other breed that can come in that strong. Let's adopt the slogan "Show more birds at more shows" and make the show of 1928 one to be remembered for a good many years to come.

There will be a call meeting of the poultry association in the near future to make arrangements for the show. Watch the papers for the notice.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR COUNTY JUDGE

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of W. L. HAMPTON for the remainder of the term of the office of Judge of Fulton County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held on August 4, 1928.

THE ANNUAL CROP OF COMMENCERS

This is the month of high school commencements in Fulton County, when the boy and girl graduates are either leaving the eighth grade to enter high school, or those in the high school will receive diplomas entitling them to go into some higher educational institution, or settle down in life.

Along with the spring flowers comes the annual crop of good advice to the graduates. The keynote for the next few weeks will be "success." The world receives its yearly accessions of school-trained youngsters with somewhat the same sense of hopes and fears and responsibilities that it feels for the babies.

The average boy and girl graduate wonders why such exercises are called "commencement." Many of them believe that the word should be "Finished," because it represents an end to their education. It is true for some of the graduates it means an end, but the real significance to the word is in its application to the "Commencers."

The youth who graduates at this time of the year is just commencing upon his life, whether he goes into other branches of learning, or whether he decides to take up work and just set down to business.

"Success" at this season of the year should carry much weight with the graduates. There is no specific direction making straight the road to success. The elders never can persuade the boys and girls at commencement that they are to tread paths marked with footprints. The optimistic, eager, adventurous spirits, who for a whole year have been accustomed to the dignity of being called "seniors," are bent on nothing less than the conquests of new worlds. Commencement means to commence, not to finish.

It is well. The wisest who have lived have not made the world what it ought to be. The job has not been very well done. Take a chance on the "commencers." There is much that needs commencing. We need better cities and better farms, better government and better citizens; better business and better recreation, better industries and better arts—in the whole category of what has been accomplished there is nothing that could not be better. Turn the graduates loose without too much hampering advice. After all, each must create his world for himself.

EVERY PASSENGER COUNTS

"Every passenger counts," declares President L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central System in his May 1 letter to the public. "The railroads provide good passenger service for small as well as for large requirements. Excursion and long distance travel attracts the most attention and provides the bulk of present-day railway passenger revenue, but the movement of individual passengers for short distances plays an important part in the success of railway passenger business. Both kinds of patronage are needed and wanted."

Why should trains be used for short trips "Because," President Downs explains, "travel by train is pleasant and cheap, the expense being much less, generally, than the cost of operating an automobile an equal distance. Then, too, patronage of the train helps to insure a continuance of its essential, all-weather, safe and dependable service, including its transportation of mail, baggage and express."

"Added to these reasons, good service and low prices are made possible by mass production. The greater the volume of business, other factors being equal, the more the railroad and its patrons stand to benefit therefrom."

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL

DAIRY SITUATION

By H. A. McPherson, Co. Agent

When we think of cream being the second largest farm commodity shipped from Fulton county we at once think of the importance of the dairy industry and wonder if we are doing all we can to promote this great work.

Dairying has entered the south to stay, the natural advantages are far greater than those in the east, north and west, and our people are just now beginning to take advantage of what they have been missing for the past 50 years.

Fulton county has many natural advantages over most of the southern counties for the development of the dairy industry, which might be listed as follows:

1. Dairying will fit in with the regular system of farming.

2. Pastures are far better than those found in the cotton territory.

3. The farmers are experienced in the growing and feeding of live stock.

4. The market conditions are better than in most places.

5. Adequate buildings can be found on most farms.

6. The county is well adapted to the growing of legumes, which is of vital importance to the dairy industry.

Our banks have started a movement, if properly steered, will mean a great deal towards the development of the dairy industry of the county.

The four banks are going to invest around $6,000.00 in bred registered Jersey heifers.

These heifers will be placed with worthy boys and girls who are members of the 4 H club. Every boy and girl who wants a heifer must first join the club and get the consent of their parents before they will be eligible for a heifer. The banks will send a representative bunch of farmers and business men to purchase these heifers and they will be placed with the boys and girls who have qualified.

These heifers will cost about $150.00 each and I understand the club members will be given from 12 to 18 months to pay for them. In some counties boys and girls who are able to pay cash for their heifers are urged to do so, in that way the county is able to get in more heifers. This movement is a worthy one and I would like to see every worthy boy and girl in the county who wants a calf get one. If you haven't signed up for a calf, do so at once as we are going to purchase these calves at an early date.

Several communities are going to purchase a good bull and if your community has not a good registered bull I would suggest that you try to get one in your community. I believe a good registered Jersey bull could be placed in every community in the county with a little extra work, and if I can be of any help in this work, be sure and call on me.

Now is the best time to outline your dairy program for the year. You can plant sufficient legumes for your cows and you can figure how much grain you will need for your live stock, which is very important. It is well to remember one thing in your farm operations and that one thing is, you can always market your hay and grain through your live stock at a better price than you can sell it otherwise.

SOUTH FULTON

The concrete paving on Central Avenue in South Fulton has been completed from State Line to the bridge, and from that point to the city limits, south, has been paved with red gravel, and the entire length of Central Avenue will be open to traffic in a few days. This is quite a valued and much needed improvement for South Fulton and it is probable that some other streets intersecting Central Avenue will also be hard surfaced in the near future. The new concrete bridge under construction on Paschall street is now taking on the appearance of a massive structure, and with favorable weather it will most likely be pushed to completion very soon.

NEW CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH EDIFICE COMPLETED IN UNION CITY

Sunday, May 6, will be a day of great rejoicing by the members of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in Union City. Cunningham, pastor for the past twelve years, will conduct both morning and evening services.

The handsome new church building is constructed of buff brick and stone. The windows are of leaded glass of exquisite design. It is heated by an automatic heating system. The interior is finished in oak; the seating capacity of the auditorium and balcony is one thousand. A number of Sunday school rooms have been provided and handsomely finished and equipped. A fine pipe organ has been installed.

Union City is justly proud of their beautiful new church edifice and Contractors W. M. Hill & Sons and Frank Merryman, of Fulton, are being congratulated on their splendid workmanship.

When death enters your home you want a service that is complete; and you want that service rendered by those who are competent, and who hold the confidence placed in them, as a sacred trust.

Our ambulance service is the best that can be had, and has been for the past four years. Our hearse is the most modern in this community. Our funeral home, located at 218 Second Street, is by far the most beautiful and complete in this section, with ample sleeping rooms for family of deceased should they be needed.

Our embalming is done by Paul Hornbeak, with Mrs. J. C. Yates as lady assistant.

We answer ambulance and death calls for any distance.
