NEW SEAWALL SAVES RAIL-MAIL SERVICE HICKMAN FROM FLOOD RETURNS TO NORMAL

Hickman, a city normally 2,500 in population, has been a thriving metropolis with 5,780 refugees from the flood areas making it their home. Nestling far below the muddy waters of "Old Man River" Hickman looks back to the 1927 flood when it, too, was experiencing a great disaster with the business district flooded to a depth of 10 to 15 feet.

But in 1937, behind the new $325,000 seawall, every store in town has been dry and business is booming. Mayor C. P. Mahy points to the wall which saved them from the worst of all floods. County Judge C. L. Walker also praises the wall and urges all river cities to build similar barriers.

Last week Governor Chandler, making a personal inspection tour of "flood" cities in Kentucky, told Hickman citizens that "you have the finest arrangement for protection against a flood of any city I have visited and I am proud that you are not one of the many who are experiencing this crisis."

Hickman has been busily engaged erecting barracks on the order of CCC camps, which will accommodate 1,500 refugees. The city, anxious to reopen their schools, had been unable to do so because refugees were housed in the buildings. With the help of the WPA and the Red Cross a "refugee city" has been built, and schools reopened Monday.

Mrs. M. Gwynne, with the help of Miss Ruth Barrett, executive secretary of the Fulton County chapter of the Red Cross, said that the health of Fulton county was excellent and that only 49 patients were in the hospital. Fred Stokes, chapter chairman, said that Dr. Grady Rosecrance, county health officer of Fulton county, could be in charge of the barracks.

Mail and express deliveries are becoming more regular this week. Trains are returning to their normal schedules. During recent weeks due to flood conditions, north and eastbound mails have been greatly delayed, but much improvement has been made in deliveries this week.

Passenger service has been re-established over the Illinois Central System between Chicago, Memphis, New Orleans and Florida, and St. Louis and Memphis, since it was interrupted on January 22. Rail traffic is expected to be back to normal in a short while, according to Supt. J. W. Kern, who has established temporary offices here.

Mail and express normally arrive on 14 trains every 24 hours, but in recent weeks mail service has practically paralyzed. The express and freight offices here have been busy handling shipments as traffic has been interrupted. Considerable merchandise and materials are being shipped through here to Paducah to make repairs on telephone and light systems, and to use in rehabilitation.

The factory building, with a $44,000 addition, will be occupied by the Henry I. Siegel Company, garment manufacturers.

During the session it was decided by the group that a benefit bridge party will be sponsored by the club each month.

HISTORIC COLUMBUS AIDS IN RELIEF WORK

Historic Columbus, Ky., virtually wiped out in the 1927 flood, suffered no damage in the 1937 "super flood," as the town, now on a hill 12 feet above the swirling Mississippi, was moved by the Red Cross after the flood ten years ago.

But the Columbus chapter of Red Cross did not forget. When the flood came, Columbus sent out its boats and barges and brought in the farmers of Wolf Creek, No. 3, and in the Lucas and Belmont in Missouri, and boats and barges went into the spillway and brought out all the people and thousands of head of livestock.

The people were placed in homes and all were filled and then 200 tons of food were sent to the high school gymnasium. Here they were made warm and comfortable. In the meantime, Miss Phoebe Gregg, Red Cross representative, arrived to take charge of relief work.

An organization for flood relief was set up and Marion Rust, veteran of army relief struggles, took to the river on the boats with Leon Muscovally, ferryman, and spent five days in bringing out lowland people. The boats were made of partitioned metal and carried refugees to the town where relief workers took charge of immediate needs for flood sufferers.

COUNTY AGENTS' NOTES.

Alfalfa that was sown last fall has stood the winter with practically no damage and has made as much growth as red clover, grass or crimson clover on most farms which indicate that alfalfa is as easy to grow on well drained land that has been limed and phosphated as red clover.

Farmers should examine the card on sacks of Red Clover seed in order to learn where the seed were grown and then examine the seed for color and size. Alfalfa and Red clover from Canada are good and have one percent purple but most agronomists report that European seed will not yield 80 to 70 percent as well as Canadian or local grown alfalfa and red clover since the Agricultural Adjustment Administration will not make payment for sowing European seed, farmers should be on guard and watch for seed that are painted green or red.

MRS. BARD REACHES HER 97TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Eugenia Paralee Bard, one of Kentucky's oldest citizens, celebrated her 97th birthday here Wednesday. She has lived at her home on Park av. for the past 25 years.

She was born in 1840 in Wesley County, Tenn., about six miles south of Fulton, the daughter of Mrs. J. Roberts. Her mother died when she was six years old, but even at that tender age she had been taught to love a Christian life.

Grannie Bard's schooling was obtained in an old log school house with the seats made of split logs held up by pegs. Reading, writing and arithmetic were about the only subjects taught then, and she declared she was just as well off as she would have been with a "high class graduation."

In 1858 she married at the age of 18. She likes to remember her girlhood romances, declaring that she "had so many sweethearts that she just had to get married to get rid of them all." Grannie must have been a very attractive girl, for she was with her seven petcoats (and they weren't any too warm) her lovely white silk dress of 6 or 7 widths, her huge skirt with whale bone hoops, her bustle of long newspapers, her crown and long white veil.

After she was married she went to her home which was directly across the road from Enon church. She was the mother of three children, Lenora Bard Hall who died last May, July Bard Bryant, who died 14 years ago, and Fennie Bard her only son, who died 40 years ago.

Grannie remembers going to two movies in her lifetime and seeing two circuses. The first circus she ever attended was in 1869 and she had plenty of fun when a storm came up, the rain and wind beat against the great tent until it was torn down. She has never played cards, and doesn't know one card from another. She prefers her photograph to the radio. She has never used "paint or chalk" on her face. Her father never permitted her to read magazines or trifling stories. She never danced, even though she thinks there's no harm in dancing. In her young womanhood, a young man who came to a party with whiskey on his breath was turned away by her father.

When asked what she considered the greatest fault with this young generation she replied, "People now worship clothes too much. Why, I had one good dress in the summer, and one in the winter. And if I had one good calico dress (one I had spun on my loom at home) it was as good as silk to me. People are just too clothes crazy."

Grannie Bard has lived through three wars—the Civil War, Spanish-American and the World War. Her great grandfather was General Love in the Revolutionary War. She was his oldest grandchild.

She is a very staunch Methodist holding membership now at Mt. Moriah, that church being established in 1848 with 12 charter members. She has never voted anything but a Democratic ticket, and went to the polls last year and voted for the re-election of President Roosevelt.

She saw her first automobile at the age of thirty, when one came here from Paris, Tenn. It not only like to have scared teams to death, but she was so frightened by the sight of it that she gave her a fright. When asked if she had ever desired to ride in an airplane she emphatically said, "No, sir! I had a chance to ride in one once with S. B. Smith of Mayfield, and I told him that I'd keep my feet on the ground until God sent his plane down, and then I'd step in."

The doctors must be wrong about snuff killing a person, Grannie contends, for she has been "dipping" since childhood, and it hasn't killed her yet. She believes there is no harm in ladies smoking, and has a clay pipe given her on her anniversary four years ago. She learned to smoke with her mother's pipe when she was a little tot.

She enjoys immensely a big snow storm, and still believes that when the first snow of each winter comes there will be as many snows as the moon is days old at the time.

Usually Mrs. Bard has about 100 visitors on her anniversary, and her birthday cake is always made for her by Hornbeak bakery. Four years ago it was three feet high. Since the death of her daughter, Mrs. Hall, she has been living with Ida Poe.

At 8:30 Wednesday morning and 11:15 Wednesday morning birthday greetings were extended her over radio from Memphis and Cincinnati.

He was a prominent business man and real estate owner. For a number of years he engaged in the mercantile business here as a member of Powers & Willingham, but in recent years he had operated the Fulton Motor Co., having been connected with the business, civic and social life of the community for nearly a half century.

He is survived by his widow, daughter, Mrs. Hal Taylor, Crenshaw, Miss.; one grandson, Thomas; one brother, Tom Willingham, of Oyersburg, Tenn.; and three sisters, Mrs. E. M. Lucas, St. Louis; Mrs. Kelly Charleston, Houston, Texas; and Mrs. Turner Creedle of this city.

DON GERLING

Don Gerling, well known poultry and hatchery man, and operator of the Fulton Hatchery, took his life here Monday night by hanging himself at his place of business on Church-st. As it was customary for him to remain on duty at the hatchery overnight, no worry was occasioned by his wife. The body was found Tuesday morning by Mrs. Gus Donoho when she went to the hatchery to see about some baby chicks. She called in the police immediately. The deceased had apparently been dead for several hours.

Mr. Gerling came here several years ago as manager of the Swift & Co. hatchery. Some two years ago he took over the Fulton Hatchery which he had been operating. His death came as a shock to the community. No message was left by him.

He was a graduate of the agricultural department of the University of Iowa, Ames, Iowa. It is believed that he was dependent upon ill health and other worries. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Madge Taylor Gerling and one small daughter.

G. L. ROBERTSON

G. L. Robertson, dispatcher for the Illinois Central System, who died of pneumonia in the Fulton Hospital Sunday night, was buried at Fairview cemetery here Wednesday, with funeral services being conducted by the Rev. George Heas, pastor of the First Baptist church, Paducah, and Rev. Woodrow Fuller of this city.

Mr. Robertson, formerly of Fulton was transferred to Paducah when the division office was discontinued here, came to Fulton on January 24, after high waters had forced abandonment of railroad offices at Paducah. After working only three days here he became ill and was taken to the hospital.

He was born in Milan, Tenn., and came to Fulton in 1902. He married Miss Inez Ayres. He was a member of the First Baptist church, Paducah, and a Knights Templar. He leaves his widow, two children, a son, Mrs. J. C. Shelton, of Paducah, N. M.

RUSSELL LEE TAYLOR

Russell Lee Taylor, age 22, died at 9:30 a. m., Thursday, Feb. 11 in the Fulton Hospital, from accidental gunshot wound inflicted by himself with an automatic pistol the night before while handling the weapon. The bullet entered his body just below the heart, penetrating his spleen, and coming out between the lower ribs. He was rushed to the hospital by ambulance where Dr. Ward Bushart performed an operation for removal of the bullet. But the wound was too serious and he died early the following day.

Russell was the son of Smith Taylor of Texas, and had been residing in Fulton with his uncle, Ethel Scott. He was employed at Buck's lunch room, and is survived by his brother, James Taylor of the Chapel Hill neighborhood. Funeral services were conducted from the Chapel Hill neighborhood on Friday afternoon by Rev. Woodrow Fuller, with interment there in charge of Hornbeak Funeral Home.

NEGRO "MAMMY" SAVES $1,000 ALL TO BE USED FOR FUNERAL

All the pomp and ceremony that $1,000 could buy was furnished at the funeral of "Grandma" Matilda Elizabeth Harkness, 98-year-old negro mammy. She was buried near her native home at Freeport, Ala., on Union City last week.

In her will she specified that everything she left was to be used for her funeral, a fine casket, other way for all who wanted to go with the body to Alabama for the burial. She left $1,000.

Several car loads of Union City negroes attended the burial service. They were all friends of the aged negro woman and had helped care for her since her illness several weeks ago.

CHAMBER COMMERCE IN ANNUAL MEETING

Fulton Chamber of Commerce held its annual banquet and election of directors at the Methodist church here Monday night. President J. E. Fall presided over the meeting with a good attendance present. The following board of directors was named: R. H. Wade, Ira Little, Leon Browder, Hoyt Moore, Joe Davis, Smith Atkins, Ernest Fall, Raymond Peoples and T. J. Kramer.

Leon Browder, who recently returned to Fulton from Oklahoma, expressed his pleasure in being back and a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Leslie Weeks urged that steps be taken to clean up the Harris Fork Creek, before it floods the city again. A committee has been appointed to attend to this matter.

Warren Graham talked on the importance of getting the Middle Road to Hickman open for all-weather traffic, and urged that the State Highway Department be contacted immediately. This road is much needed as in time of floods, Route 94 to Hickman is under water at one point and impassable.

Fulton Bulldogs Win Over Sedalia 27-26

Fulton Bulldogs defeated the ace Sedalia five Tuesday night at the Science Hall gym by the score of 27-26, in a hard fought and thrilling game. The last five minutes of play the score was tied 23-23. Dunn went off the floor on fouls and three minutes later Genung fouled out. Edwards left guard for Sedalia made the foul which put Sedalia one point ahead at 1-1-2 minutes to play. Nanney then made a brilliant field goal from center line and Parker was successful in making a crisp shot, putting Fulton three points in the lead. Mathis, center for Sedalia, who has a shot which cannot be guarded, made a field goal and was set for another when the final whistle blew.

This was probably the hardest and fastest game the Bulldogs have played this season.

Hickman Reopened Its Schools Last Monday

After an enforced vacation of three weeks due to flood conditions the Hickman High School and 8th grade resumed classes Monday. Supt. Calvin states. During the flood the school buildings were used to house refugees fleeing the bottom lands and West Hickman.

COUNTY JUDGE

In August we will nominate a full set of county candidates, from County Judge down.

The County Judge and the four magistrates compose the fiscal court, and it is this court that spends the county revenue. In my opinion Judge Claude L. Walker has made this county the most economical County Judge it has had in 25 years. It takes a County Judge with courage to say NO to any and all who are inclined to impose on the county and the taxpayers. It is not probable that he will have opposition, but whether he does or not, I call your attention to the fact that during his term he has kept the county expenditures well within the revenue collected.

During his term the revenue each year was about $42,000; during the terms of several county judges preceding him the revenue was about $2,000, and in addition they went in debt $90,000 or more. When he went in office county warrants were worth not more than fifty cents on the dollar, and no one had any idea when they would get the cash on the warrants. Now the county pays cash or is on a cash basis and a county warrant is worth its face value. The county is getting as nearly as it is possible, one hundred cents on every dollar it spends and the tax rate is the same, and valuations have not been increased. He has reduced very substantially the cost of maintaining the county jail and county farm, and in fact has reduced the expense materially of conducting each and every branch of the county government. This county owes all told about five hundred thousand dollars, all created before he went into office. He is working on a refunding plan, which if successful and it probably will be, will save the taxpayers at least two hundred thousand dollars. The law requires every county to live within its revenue for the current year. If several previous county administrations had observed this requirement this county would not now be so overwhelmingly in debt. I hope that Judge Walker will be renominated without opposition and that the taxpayers will see that he has a fiscal court imbued with the same ideas of economy he has.

*For Jaded Breakfast Appetites Just Try
Bacon Broiled the Delicious Electric Way*

You'll go a long way toward having a vigorously healthy family... a husband who goes off whistling to work and children who do well in school... if you see that they start each day right with a nourishing meal every morning

A FEW days ago a brilliant English woman, one of the few feminine members of Parliament, was interviewed on shipboard in New York harbor as she was about to sail for home after a three months' tour of the United States.

The gentlemen of the press most wanted to know her impressions of this country. Politely she mentioned our beautiful public buildings, our great highway system, the luxury of our trains, the development of our free school program.

But two other things impressed her more deeply, the lady declared, than all these put together. One was our hearty American breakfasts. The other was our "charming kitchens with electric cooking stoves."

"Everywhere in Europe," she explained, "breakfast consists of one hard roll and a cup of tea or chocolate. Here in America you have fruit, cereal, bacon and eggs, toast or hot bread, and coffee."

"No wonder you are all so vigorous and energetic. No wonder you have accomplished so much in such a comparatively short time. I think your breakfasts do it. Spooning? Not at all!"

"By the way, as soon as I get home I'm going to equip my flat with one of those marvelous electric ranges like those so many American women have in their kitchens."

And you, Mrs. American Housewife, try this recipe for delicious broiled bacon in your electric range:

Dip strips of bacon in cream, then roll them in flour. Place on rack of smokeless broiler pan in second notch from top of oven. Turn switch to broil. Turn temperature control as far as it can be turned. Leave oven door slightly ajar. Broil, turning once, until bacon is crisp and brown on both sides.

SOUTH FULTON SCHOOL NEWS

James D. Hall
Concluding their 36-37 basketball season, the South Fulton teams won two flashing victories over the Wildcats and Wildkittens from Woodland Mills. The girls won by a score of 49-18. This was the last game for a number of Coach Priestley's first-starting players including Doran, Allen, Ross and Todd. Allen present, Ross did not participate in the game, not being fully recovered from a recent illness. The boys surprised the fans by defeating the top-rated teams in the county, 28 to 20. Both teams are confident that they will go places in the tournament.

The study of the Bible is being given as a regular course for all school students. This far, only four are regularly enrolled. There should be more than this, as this is indeed a worthy subject.

The old-fashioned person, that is one not conforming to the present idea, is the person who does not own a yo-yo.

The editor of S. Fulton School received a letter this week from a resident of Vallejo, Calif., stating that he had read part of the school news column in The News last week which particularly interested him. It concerned the absence of excuses for the ignorant man of today. He also stated that he had been born poor and left an orphan at the age of 7. He cited Abraham Lincoln as an example of a poor man who became a self-made man. The editor of this column will endeavor to establish an acquaintance with this man by correspondence.

Mrs. J. E. Thomas is still absent from school on account of the critical illness of her husband.

Personal nomination of "funniest Senior" goes to J. Edward Lancaster.

The Sophmores conducted assembly Thursday. Main features of the program was a one-act play using blackface characters.

Girls going to the county basketball tournament are: Allen, Bell, Brooks, Cardwell, Doran, Ross, Scott, Taylor, Todd and Vaughn.

WHY IS "YOU ONLY LIVE ONCE" CAUSING SO MUCH DISCUSSION WHY IS IT ATTRACTING SUCH RECORD-BREAKING CROWDS

IT IS BECAUSE—"It Shocks and moves you with its breathtaking excitement!" as Howard Barnes points out in the NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE?
IT IS BECAUSE—"It is paced at such brisk speed that its impact is breath-taking... so profoundly stirring, furiously exciting, unqualifiedly fine!" as Bland Johnson say in N. Y. DAILY MIRROR, who adds: YOU SHOULDN'T MISS IT.
IT IS BECAUSE—"One stirring sequence tumbles upon another... sinewy, well-knit, undeniably exciting!" as Robert Garland maintains in the N. Y. AMERICAN, who says, "a gilt-edge cast, if there ever was one!"
IT IS BECAUSE—"It is intense, absorbing, poignantly real... a brilliant compound of suspense and swift action!" as Frank S. Urgent exclaims in the NEW YORK TIMES.

IT IS BECAUSE—"As the Rivoli it is holding audiences tense according to Eileen Creelman, NEW YORK SUN, who adds, PICTURES ARN'T OFTEN AS GOOD AS THIS?"
