Farm Bureau Elects Bard; Cooper Says County Record One of Best in Nation Today

At the fifteenth annual meeting of the Fulton County Farm Bureau held at Cayce on Wednesday approximately 300 members of the organization gathered to review the accomplishments of the year and to hear Owen Cooper, Executive Director of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation say "Fulton County typifies the rewards of farmers who work together for a common goal."

Cooper complimented the Fulton Farm Bureau on their wonderful organization and on their state and national leadership in many fields.

Cooper dwelt at length on the so called "pressure group," which farmers through their farm bureaus maintain in Washington to see that farmers get a square legislative deal. He emphatically defended this action.

The newly-elected board of directors elected Roy Bard as the new president; Lucian H. Isbell, vice-president and Jim McGehee was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Charles E. Wright, retiring president, was given an overwhelming vote of confidence, but declined to run for re-election.

Directors-at-large include J. T. Lawson, east end; John P. Wilson, middle; E. W. Yates, west end of county.

In other fields of farm work John B. Watts, county agent reported to the News the magnificent work done in agriculture in this county. The report follows.

Through cooperation with the local Farm Bureau and Agricultural Conservation Association more than 7,900 acres of land was treated with 10,500 tons of agricultural limestone, 700 tons of 20 percent phosphate, 1,200 tons of rock phosphate and 12,500 tons of commercial fertilizer. This is about the amount needed to do a complete job of liming and phosphating all of the crop land every ten years.

Corn

Eight farmers produced more than 100 bushels per acre in the Kentucky Corn Derby contest. They were as follows:

Robert Adams, Cayce community, 117 bushels; R. B. Watts, Fulton, 114.7 bushels; Paul Williams, Crutchfield, 109.4 bushels; E. W. Yates, Western, 106.5 bushels; Avery Hancock, Fulton, 105.4 bushels; Billy Campbell, Cayce, 101.6 bushels; A. G. Campbell, Cayce, 101.6 bushels; Parnell Garrigan, Sylvan Shade, 100.6 bushels.

R. B. Watts of Fulton spent $30 per acre on six acres or $180 and produced $1,560. worth of corn which was valued at $260 per acre. Charles Wright of Fulton produced four hundred bushels of certified U. S. 13 hybrid seed corn, while Ralph Adams of Cayce produced 215 bushels of certified Kentucky 23 white corn.

Meadows and Pastures

Local farmers have more than seven thousand acres of ladino clover. About one thousand acres of this has been seeded with Kentucky 31 fescue, which promises to make the best pasture used by farmers in this section. This combination seems to make a good pasture ten months during the year.

Six farmers; R. B. Watts, Glyn Bard, W. P. Burnette, Charles Adams, John Wilson and Wayne Yates are producing foundation seed of kenland red clover for the Kentucky Seed Stocks Association. Kenland is a new perennial variety.

Cotton

More than 90 percent of the cotton was planted from delta-pine seed. Two demonstrations on the E. D. Johnson and Roscoe Stone farms proved that coker-100-wilt-resistant variety to be less susceptible to blight than delta-pine. Three fertilizer demonstrations on the E. W. Yates, E. D. Johnson and Roscoe Stone farms gave good results on land that had been run hard, while little results could be noted on the good land.

Dairy

Through cooperation with W. P. Burnette of Fulton a Junior Dairy Club was organized with twenty-three boys and girls as members.

Beef Cattle

Fourteen club members fed out twenty-three beef calves which brought $6,748.06 for an average of $29.07 per cwt. The county show was won by a Hereford steer fed out by Dwayne Williamson, while Tommy Jones' calf placed second and Buddy Perry's third. The first placed steer was purchased from the Bob White herd of Fulton, while the second and third placed steers were from the Justin Attebery Angus herd near Cayce. Several new pure bred herds were started during the year.

Swine

John P. Wilson and Lyle Shuck used a sanitation program as outlined by the county agent and specialist from the college to produce $5,024. worth of pork from eight sows. All of the grain was produced on the farm, so the total cost of this project was $215.37, which included portland cement, salt, scum, grinding small grain, oil and trucking. This left a net profit of $4,808.63. The sows were washed and moved on clean pastures before farrowing. The pigs were farrowed on ladino clover pastures and were used and most of the hog went to market at six months of age weighing more than two hundred pounds.

Fulton Cooperative

More than seventy thousand pounds of Green Acres ladino clover was produced in Fulton county during 1947. The Fulton Cooperative handled more than thirty thousand pounds of seed which netted the farmers $138 per pound. Many farmers sold their seed at harvest time at $1.25 per pound. This seed crop brought Fulton county farmers over $100,000 this year.

4-H Club

Five hundred and twenty boys and girls were enrolled and more than four hundred completed their projects. More than two hundred and fifty parents, leaders and members attended Spring Rally Day Program Friday night, May 16. Three demonstration teams were trained with the county winner, Joe Bondurant and Cecil Lee Wade, winning the District Contest and placing third at the State contest with their demonstration on "Managed milking." Ten club members and three leaders attended Junior Week on the University of Kentucky campus. Forty-three club members and leaders attended the District Camp at Murray State Teachers College the week of August 22nd. Two medal campers from Fulton county were Bobby Roberts and Cecil Jackson, while star ribbon campers included Ralph Adams, Martha Coffey and Wanda Stallins. In District Achievement Contest held at Paducah on October 23rd, Dan Adams of Cayce won first place in beef cattle with his report on two beef calves fed out which weighed 2,500 pounds and brought $806.07 with a net profit of $127.50 per calf for seven months feeding.

Musings by GEORGE ALLEY

SALUTE TO SCOUTS

Borrowing briefly the stilled, imitable pen of the lovable, late editor, Hoyt Moore, who loved the members of his fine family so devotedly and wrote about them so charmingly, I wish to write a story about boys, my own in particular.

It is an outdoor story. We had knocked a squirrel from a high hickory in the woods on the back side of the Adams farm. In putting it into the pocket of his game coat, George Jr., then a youth in his early teens, forgot the cardinal precaution of first making certain that the squirrel was dead. The long, chisel sharp, front teeth cut deep into a forefinger; blood spurted and his boyish scream was pitiful.

My handkerchief made an effective tourniquet and we set out for the nearest farm house, a long walk through several wide fields. With my arm around him, I could feel him, as we walked leaning more and more upon my shoulder. Tears were streaming down his pale face and I could see, in spite of every encouragement, that he was about to faint. I told him of the Spartan boy who, hiding the stolen fox in his tunic, unflinchingly denied its possession till his own entrails were gnawed out by the fox.

"A little blood on a finger—why what's that to make a boy faint? A man now big enough to shoot a Winchester pump!"

But still the face grew paler. The tears were wetting the knotted, Scout scarf about his neck. The pressure on the shoulder grew. Then an idea struck me, another angle of approach.

"A Boy Scout never faints."

The reaction was instantaneous. There was almost a jerking away from my supporting arm. The color was coming back into his face. Tears ceased. He asked to pack his own gun. Now he was walking alone. The idea had clicked.

Soon we reached the home of Frank and Mary Lou Gibbs who lived upon the McDade farm. Mary Lou dressed the finger with cool, soothing mentholatum salve. The little trickle of blood that stained the first folds of the bandage had dried and apparently went unnoticed.

This little story came vividly to my mind a few months ago when an outdoor magazine published a well meant but misleading and unfair attack upon the Boy Scouts of America.

I asked Judge Kelly of Memphis if she had ever had a case of Boy Scout delinquency. She looked at me in amazement.

Called on for an infinite variety of participation in every patriotic drive, no one has ever known a troop to fail in its response. No organization in the whole of America answers the call for free service more frequently and underpaid school teachers of our country.

Their success has not depended upon the kind of clothes they wear, or whether their shoes were too low or their socks too short. In the thousands of rescues they have accomplished an article of apparel ever seemed to be a hindrance to life saving!

Nor has their success depended upon whether they were led by crack outdoorsmen. Which leader would you have chosen for your son, Daniel Boone or Abe Lincoln? Boone killed a "bar" and pioneered a wilderness. Lincoln assuaged the grief of gold-star mothers, emancipated a race of people and preserve a nation, one became a legendary hero, the other became immortal.

They may not always know what's best in firewood. But I have never heard of a Scout freezing; while the trails through frozen terrain are marked by the frost bleached bones of mighty hunters.

It's character Scout leaders are building. It's not all knots and fish hooks. Inspired by leaders chosen for their ability to instill a sense of what's wrong and what's right in manliness, they learn that which is noble, that which is honest, that which is ethical, that which is fair and unselfish, that which is courteous and patriotic.

In his book "Mark Right" in his essay, "Here's How in Quail Shooting," Nash Buskingham, an outdoor writer himself and a genuine outdoorsman, if there ever was one, has this to say about the prowess of the regular run of outdoor writers:

"Incidentally, I've been amused while hunting with a few men recognized as 'outdoor' writers. Pretty fair shots, but as to knowing the rudiments when put to the test—oh! my dear sir! The rookie bobwhiter is easily and pleasantly outshone by the expert. One such memory is definite. One, a noted shooting critic's easing off his magazine, 'wasted' (halloo!) (him), and sneaking catlike toward

TVA For Fulton Again Faces City Council; Power May Be Available Now, Letters Say

Henry Whitnel, George C. Hall, T. J. Smith, Harry Reeves, John T. Price, C. A. Stephens, Gilbert DeMyer Moore, Rube McKnight, and H. H. Pierce.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Fulton Woman's Club presents Dr. C. S. Lowry, head of the Political Science Department at Murray State college who will speak on the United Nations Tuesday night, February 10, at 7:30 at the Woman's Club.

This feature is open to the public and it is hoped that a large group will attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Myrick, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Forrest left Monday for a short vacation in Miami, Fla. They will return by New Orleans and attend the Mardi Gras.

History is repeating itself. Ten years ago, in 1938, the hottest issue in the November elections of that year was the question of TVA power for Fulton. Today that topic is again "current event No. One" as the City Council appoints a committee to investigate the matter of TVA power for the city.

Appearing before the City Council on Tuesday was Vernon Owen, avid exponent of TVA power for the city, and Maxwell McDade prominent contractor. The issue was introduced by Ward Johnson.

County AAA Office To Close On Saturdays

Homer Weatherspoon, chairman of the Fulton County Agricultural Conservation Association announces that beginning with Saturday, February 7th, the office will be closed all day on Saturday, with the exception of February 14th, which is the last day farmers can report their 1947 ACP performance. That day will be the only Saturday the office will stay open from now on, and he states that those who have not recorded their practices even though limestone or phosphate they received through the 1947 Program has not been applied, should do this before its too late.

Positively no performance can be recorded after that date, he states, and if some are not careful they might lose their 1947 payments. The office will now be open on all Wednesday afternoons with the exceptions of holidays, Mr. Weather'spoon added.

I acknowledge receipt of your letter of February 14 addressed to Dr. Martin Glaeser.

Under our Act, we are expressly directed to give preference to municipalities and other public agencies in disposing of our surplus power. The only qualification necessary is for the City to own its distribution system and to be within economic transmission distance of the Authority's facilities.

Preliminary investigation indicates that Fulton could be served without much difficulty, and should you desire to enter into negotiations with the power company for the acquisition of your local distribution system, we are reasonably certain that TVA will be willing to serve you with power.

The letter was dated February 17, 1938.

Later however other citizen contacted the Tennessee Valley Authority and received discouraging reports, but the tenor is changed today by the completion of Gilbertsville Dam nearly three years ago.

From J. A. Krug, present cabinet member as Secretary of the Inter-ior, who at that time was Chief Power Planning Engineer of TVA to Vernon Owen:

Dear Mr. Owen:

This will acknowledge your letter of October 21 wherein you inquire as to the availability of TVA power for the City of Fulton.

The Authority is reserving most of the power to be generated at Gilbertsville Dam for the use of communities in Kentucky. The power output from the dams in Tennessee and Alabama will be required for the most part by communities in Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia. Accordingly, the Authority is deferring the extension of transmission lines into Kentucky to serve any sizeable loads until after the completion of Gilbertsville Dam.

In 1938 however, the issue was somewhat different from the proposal as it stands today. At that time a resolution was passed at a special meeting of the Board of Council to purchase a distribution plant to serve the residential subdivisions and railroad and industrial customers in the immediate vicinity of the city. The issue was put to a referendum and passed favorably by a vote of 606 to 420.

Mere reporting of the circumstances of that period does not begin to tell the real controversy that was raised as a result of the issue.

Also to be investigated by the committee are the resulting "benefits" of TVA power. While the News staff is doing considerable research on comparable rates, it is believed that in many categories large savings are possible. One large consumer of industrial power reported that a saving of nearly $200.00 to him per month can be made under TVA power. Lesser savings, but comparable percentage-wise, have been reported in other categories.

In the meeting of the City Council on Monday evening it was revealed that Kentucky Utilities is believed operating locally without a franchise. In August 1933 the city granted the utilities company a franchise to operate for five years. In 1938 the company asked for an extension, but there is no record of a further extension being granted.

In his fight for local TVA power Vernon Owen lives by a creed he saw printed many years ago and his efforts are motivated by the message of that creed:

It follows: "TVA is not only a saving of dollars, but a great editor has said, it is life itself, it is health, cleanliness, sanitation, and safety. When a Utilities fights TVA they are fighting against the health, happiness and even against the lives of Fulton people."

Mr. Glynn Bushart has been elected to head the medicos of Fulton county for the ensuing year. The meeting was held in the office of Dr. J. G. Hancock. To serve with him are: Dr. Sydney G. Dyer, secretary and treasurer, Dr. J. G. Samuels, delegate to the State Medical Association, and Dr. Russell R. Rudd, alternate delegate.

The ball is rolling right along on the new National Guard unit for the city. The VFW expressed themselves as favoring same at their meeting the other night. Frank Clark, who is serving as commander since the departure of Paul Durbin says that a meeting will be held on Monday night, Feb. 9 for an election of officers.

And speaking of Paul Durbin would like to see Fulton's favorite son in his good-looking officer's garb a-sporting out there in San Francisco. Some folks say Paul may be coming back here soon to wind up his affairs, and we shore hope so.

Mighty glad the City Council has appointed smiling, accommodating, congenial Ray Driskill as assistant chief of police. Somehow he makes getting a parking ticket a little painless . . . like heck. Derndest centipede you ever saw. Makes no difference where you park ole hawk-eye Ray is here watching that meter. Anyhow congratulations Assistant Chief Driskill.

The PTA of the Cayce school will hold an important meeting tonight (Friday) at 7 o'clock. All members are invited to attend.

Mrs. C. Andrews Hostess To Church Guild Monday

Mrs. Charles Andrews was hostess to the Guild of the First Christian church Monday night at her home on Jackson street.

The president, Mrs. Norris Dame, called the meeting to order and presided over a short business session. The secretary's and treasurer's report were given. The Bible study of famous women in the Bible followed this. Mrs. Leroy Latta told the story of "Hannah."

Two grand and valuable settlers pointing into the straw. He actually stalked them. His weapon, clutched droopingly, hovered over the low foreground. Henry, my companion, bawled from his saddle. "Hev, so and so, hold your blankety-blank gun up and keep it up—'you're fixin' to bump off a good dawg."

Our notable didn't know straight up about quail shooting, but he could sure write it and pack a great line of bull and scenic effects.

The other memory: Discussing covey contacts with a nationally aced columnist, I asked him to show me his system of putting up a bevy. Tossing his piece into a high "present arms" and with "eyes front" he all but goose-stepped into a tense advance. A trip or slip would have set off the fireworks, and a scattered bunch of feeding bobs would have left him flat footed at the post. You can't sleep to such about their systems. But watching them is a great comedy act.

Scouts and Scout leaders, it was probably such an expert that made his attack upon you. Ignore him and go on leading the blind and heavy laden across the streets, and do the myriad of good deeds that have made your organization famous in the world over. On your 38th anniversary, we stand with hands over hearts and proudly salute you.

Little Phoebe

"Water Question Finally Settled: South Fulton citizens will continue to enjoy the elixir of life from the deep wells of her big brother across the line," January 27, 1923.

But Big Brother's getting mighty old, and little Phoebe just laughed and laughed because the good folks of the little city across the way have been in a modern water system since 1939 and poor Big Brother . . . just an old has been.

A Medal For Bravery

Since today inaugurates Boy Scout Week in Fulton and over the Nation we think it apropos to bring to the attention of the Carnegie Institute a matter that is close to our heart. It is a matter of bravery that we think merits recognition by that venerable institution.

Two weeks ago a fire occurred here that seriously endangered the lives of an aged couple. It would have been a different story today had it not been for three young boys, all Scouts. Yes, Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Nolen, age 96 and 81 years old respectively, may have suffered the worst if Donald Mac Speight 14, Billy Nelms 12, and Don Wright 11, had not risked their own lives to rescue the couple who were virtually trapped in that smoke-filled flame-eaten house.

The boys didn't think of their own lives. They didn't stop to ponder the consequences of entering a house that was well on its way to destruction by fire. No, they only thought of their duty, their Boy Scout training, their inherent good qualities and entered the home and brought the couple to safety.

They weren't looking for glory either. Their act was much like the soldier who realizes his duty, and he does it. That's exactly what Donald and Billy and Don did. They were only told that people were in that burning house, they were prepared to do the rest.

Perhaps it has already been done, if not, we want to go on record as heartily recommending that these three boys be awarded the Carnegie medal for bravery. Undoubtedly the thought has occurred to many others since their act of heroism was performed, but let us add this humble editorial to the application in recognition of their bravery and the inestimable value of Boy Scout training.

They did their duty. They were prepared.

Real Public Service

Polls have indicated that a remarkably large number of people labor under the delusion that stores commonly make twenty-five to fifty per cent profit on the goods they sell. That belief should have been thoroughly dissipated by the Congressional inquiry into prices which was held a short time back. Retail stores presented documented, factual evidence, in language which any layman could understand—and they emerged with a clean slate.

One fact developed by the inquiry is that retail profits, on each dollar of business done, are much smaller than most of us realize and in many instances are declining. As a typical example, a department store chain presented a breakdown of its costs for the first six months of 1947 as compared with the same period in 1946. Raw materials, operating expenses and all other costs had risen. But profits had dropped, and amounted to less than 3 cents of the consumer dollar.

Retailing hopes to maintain adequate total profits by increasing the volume of business done, not by trying to squeeze the last penny out of each transaction. It is one of the most directly competitive of all enterprises, and the inefficient storekeeper, who tries to gouge his customers soon sees his business going down the street or to the next town. Had it not been for retailing's competitive efficiency, the country would have witnessed price increases far greater than those which have actually occurred. And that, in these days of the dwindling dollar, is a public service of a high order.

About Farming From Washington

Don't Cut Taxes

At a time when cuts in taxes are being advocated both by the administration and the republicans, American Farm Bureau Federation is taking a firm stand against such action on grounds that with incomes high now is the time to help pay off the national debt with the money.

President Allan B. Klaine's statement was filed January 19, 1948 with the House Ways and Means committee which has been holding hearings on Federal taxation. "The national debt of over 256 billion dollars cannot be taken lightly," the Federation declared. "Drastic debt reduction—not merely token payments on the debt—would have significant effects in reducing the inflationary pressures we are now experiencing."

"If we cannot materially reduce the debt now, during the greatest period of peacetime prosperity we have ever experienced, how are we ever going to reduce it under more normal conditions?"

"At the present time we are giving a great deal of consideration to military preparedness. Is not a greatly-reduced national debt also essential to keeping this Nation in a strong position to meet any eventuality?"

Two Recommendations

AFBF recommended that Federal income tax privileges now extended to married couples in States with community property laws be extended to give all citizens equitable treatment in all Federal individual taxes.

"We feel that this is a matter of equity which should be corrected," the Federation explained.

Another recommendation was that Federal tax on transportation and communications be repealed.

"While this is in the nature of an excise tax, it is a tax upon business which, if repealed, would tend to permit the lowering of prices on many essential commodities. We favor limiting Federal excise taxes largely to amusements and taxes on so-called luxury goods, including alcoholic liquors and tobacco."

Oppose Remount Bill
Opposition to the bill (H.R. 3484) transferring the army re-registered by AFBF with the Senate. Following up the recommendation made by its National Livestock committee, the Federation has asked the Senate Agriculture committee to give consideration to the measure which passed the House and was reported by the Senate Armed Services committee last year.

Farm Bureau claims there have been "no demands of any consequence from bona fide farmers" for continuation of the service or any justifiable need for continuation of remount stations. In studying the proposal, the Senate Agriculture committee should look into disposal of the facilities in a way that will serve the welfare of agriculture.

Have something to say; say it, and stop when you've done.—Tryon Edwards.

Grace Noll Crowell

I USED to seek a crowd to find delight,
And this they gave me—laughter and brief song,
Bright powdered wings that dusted off in flight,
And bubbled beauty, nothing lasting long.
But once I found a pathway down my heart:
A dim, untraversed way I had not known.
I walked it timidly, a thing apart,
Bewildered that I found myself alone.

But now I seek that beautiful retreat,
And find such cool, deep peace, such sheer delight:
Cold springs of water welling at my feet,
White flowers by day, white guiding stars by night.
The old crowd's laughter falls upon my ear;
I am exploring, and I do not hear.

Other resolutions of the KACSS concurred in the conclusions of the report made by the President's Commission on Higher Education regarding the necessity of an expanded program of higher education. The hope was expressed that "scholarships may be made available to all worthy students who otherwise would not get a college education."

KASS CONSIDERS TEACHER SALARIES AT U OF K MEET

Among the major recommendations of the Kentucky Association of Colleges and Secretary Schools made at the annual educational conference at the University of Kentucky Jan. 23-24 was one calling for salaries for teachers that will permit them "to enjoy freedom from want and to maintain their proper social and economic positions in the community."

Attended by school teachers and administrators from many sections of the state despite unfavorable weather and road conditions, the KACSS meeting in addition to adopting resolutions concerning education in the state, elected new officers.

Dr. Omer Carmichael, superintendent of Louisville City Schools, was named president succeeding Dr. James Boswell, president of Cumberland College, became vice-president and Dr. L. E. Meece, professor of education at U. K., was continued in the post of secretary-treasurer. The Association's annual "Award of Merit" for outstanding service to education during the year was not made because of inability to decide

WHY

GENERAL ELECTRIC
PUT LOWERED PRICES
AHEAD OF OTHER THINGS

General Electric lowered prices because we wanted to do our part to stop the present spiral of inflation.

General Electric lowered prices on electrical appliances in greatest demand—because that is where lowered prices on General Electric products will do the most good and have the greatest effect.

General Electric lowered prices regardless of the fact that G-E profits are not high—are not at present levels high enough.

We did this because we know that in the long run General Electric can prosper only as the people of this country prosper. We believe that producing more goods for more people at less cost is the soundest way of running a business. And we feel that inflation in this country has reached a dangerous level—for the wage earner, for the man with savings, and for industry alike.

Do you know what inflation can do to you?

As money buys less and less, your savings lose their buying power. Life insurance policies dwindle in value. Money saved to take your wife to the hospital won't pay the bill when the time comes. Pay checks buy less and less. Retirement money won't pay for retirement.

This applies to the man who brings home a weekly pay check, to the man with a little savings in the bank or a life insurance policy, and to companies that have to build new plants and buy new machines to fill future needs and provide future jobs.

Inflation is a sinister thing. It steals up on a country and its economy in a gradually accelerating two-step of prices and wages—each trying to get one step ahead of the other—and there is no red line to show when the danger point has been reached.

Inflation is like a fire. Once it gets well under way, it can never be checked until everything is destroyed.

Self-restraint by industries and individuals the best check

You as an individual can do most by buying less and saving more—thus avoiding bidding up the prices for scarce goods. Business and industry can do much by lowering prices whenever and wherever possible—voluntarily.

General Electric put lowered prices ahead of other things because we believe it is a step towards licking inflation.

We Must Destroy Inflation or It Will Destroy Us

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 8, 1948.

The Golden Text is: "Ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you." (Rom. 8:9.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness." (Ps. 143:10) All are welcome to our services.

Deadline For Reporting ACP Practices Nearing

The deadline for reporting conservation practices carried out in the 1947 Agricultural Conservation Program is February 15, 1948, M.D. Royse, chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration's State committee, announced today.

The 1947 program year closed with the calendar year on December 31st.

A large part of the reports expected have been filed, Royse said, but the announcement is made so that those who have not filed may know that no cash payments can be made on practices reported after that date.

Reports are to be filed with county ACP committees, and the farmers themselves are responsible for supplying receipts and other evidence of practices carried out last year.

When one has no design but to speak plain truth, he may say a great deal in a very narrow compass.—Sir Richard Steele.

1948 Chevrolet is Massive

The over-all simplicity and massiveness of the new, 1948 Chevrolet is well shown in this three-quarter view of the Fleetmaster Sport Sedan. Fenders, hood, body and door panels all blend; and the crease moulding, below the windows, is wider than that used in previous models. Note the new T-shaped chrome center bar on the radiator grille.

NEW VACCINE PREVENTS PNEUMONIA, VIRUS TYPE STILL NOT CONQUERED

You can guard against pneumonia, thanks to a new vaccine which will protect you against all types except the deadly virus, according to J. D. Ratcliff. Writing in McCall's for February, he tells the exciting story of how the vaccine was developed and tested.

"Pneumonia is still the chief murderer of children under five. It is a major destroyer of people over 55—and is a sullen threat to all ages in between. By the end of this winter, it will have taken the lives of over 50,000 people—a respectable toll for a disease which most of us think is conquered.

"These figures are only given to indicate the importance of a new vaccine, which was made ready for the public just as the present pneumonia season opened. Present evidence indicates that mosquito-bite shots of this vaccine have the power to save at least 30,000 lives this winter.

"The story of this vaccine began inauspiciously enough, at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York in 1923. Two investigators—Drs. Michael Heidelberger and Oswald T. Avery—were studying Diplococcus pneumoniae, the microbe which causes pneumonia. They were particularly interested in the capsule, the shell, of the microbe. They hoped this shell might contain antigen. From the shells of countless billions of pneumonia microbes, they extracted a polysaccharide, a sugary stuff distinctly related to common table sugar.

Four years later, two German workers—Schiemann and Casper—picked up the trail. Two American workers—Drs. Thomas Francis, Jr. and W. S. Tillett—took the next step. They shot this material into a man. The subject's blood responded magnificently. This clinched the case. The sugary stuff was antigen, a chemical stuff, which when it enters in the blood stream, jolts blood into producing the antibodies that protect us from disease. This antigen offered the basis for a vaccine which would protect against pneumonia.

"Toward the end of the war, an ideal situation for testing the vaccine presented itself. Pneumonia was taking particularly vicious swipes at the Army Air Force Technical School at Sioux Falls, S. D. Checks showed Types I, II, V and VII were causing nearly three-fourths of all the trouble. Since each type has its own antigen, this meant that four vaccines had to be made and combined into a single shot. This was done and four physicians went to work. A total of 8,558 got vaccine, and 8449 got valvless saline solution.

"For seven months the researchers watched—throughout the winter of 1944-45. Finally the score was added up. In the unprotected group there were 26 cases of pneumonia. In the group that got vaccine there were but four cases of the disease. This piece of work clinched the case.

ONLY ONE IN SIX HAS CHANCE TO GRADUATE—UK

The situation now faced in the elementary schools of Kentucky is so critical that "the chances that a six-year old child will graduate are only about one in six, and, on the average, not more than one half of those children entering the first grade will even complete the eighth grade."

Thus a report of the Kentucky Committee on Elementary Education, released by Dr. Charles R. Soain, director of the University of Kentucky Bureau of School Service and committee chairman, interprets the "continuing crisis" in the elementary schools of the state.

Declaring that in most communities "interest has been focused upon the high schools and corresponding efforts to improve the quality of the secondary schools," the report pointed out that as a consequence, "elementary schools—

A Good Hunter

A GOOD SPORTSMAN: Most hunters come under the classification of a "good sportsman" and it is only a few whose give a black eye to the hunting fraternity. A "good sportsman" makes these rules as much a part of his gear as the rifle or shotgun:

1. Observes the game laws and assists in their enforcement.
2. Is careful and does not jeopardize the lives of others.
3. Does not leave a wounded animal in the woods to die.
4. Does not waste wild meat.
5. Respects the rights, privileges and property of others.
6. Does not let his match, campfire, or warming fire start a blaze and thus destroy the homes of our wildlife.
7. Leaves a clean camp and a dead fire.

the basic foundation of all public and higher education—have become progressively more neglected."

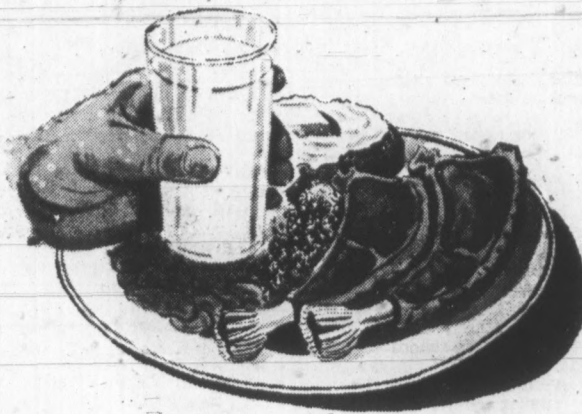

In illustration of the critical situation, the following factors and conditions were cited:

1. "The number of emergency teachers in elementary schools is still increasing, whereas the past school year showed a decline for such teachers in high schools. During the past school year there were approximately 4,900 teachers in Kentucky elementary schools with emergency certificates and about 300 high school teachers so certificated.
2. "The percentage of college students in teacher education programs who plan to become elementary teachers has declined steadily since 1940. Although there are approximately two and one-half times as many elementary teaching positions in Kentucky schools as secondary, more college students plan to become high school teacher than plan to be elementary teachers.
3. "The teacher load tends to be much heavier in most Kentucky elementary schools than in high schools. For example, during the past year the average number of pupils per teacher was about 32 in the elementary schools and about 22 in the high schools.
4. "Almost one-third of all pupils who enter the first grade each year are 'failed' during their first year of school. This rate of retention gradually decreased to a negligible percentage in the twelfth grade.

Miss Bennett Honored With Shower Thursday

Miss Betty Boyd Bennett was surprised Thursday evening with a miscellaneous shower given by her Sunday school department, Young Peoples department of the First Methodist church at the home of Mrs. J. D. Davis on Eddings street. Teachers of this department are Mrs. Norman Terry, Mrs. George Doyle, Mrs. Leland Bugg and Paul Durbin, Superintendent.

Miss Bennett's home was recently destroyed by fire. Besides the members of the department there were many of Miss Bennett's school-mates and friends present.

A delightful evening was spent playing games, singing songs and playing the piano. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening.

The honoree received many lovely and useful gifts which she appreciates very much.

Woman's Club Meets In General Session

The Fulton Woman's Club will meet in general session at the Club Home Friday afternoon, February 6, at 3 o'clock as guests of the Art Department.

At this time Mr. Hershel R. Giles, State Director of the Division of Recreation, will present the program.

Mr. Giles is well-known to the people of Fulton, having served as coach of the Fulton high school from 1940-1942, when he resigned to enter the Navy where he served as physical director.

In 1946, as the result of public demand and the recognition of governmental responsibility by far-sighted state officials and legislators, the Division of recreation was created within the Department of Conservation for the purpose of assisting, upon request in the planning and development of wholesome and adequate recreation programs throughout the state. Since the Division began its work in September, 1948, with Mr. Giles as director, many new programs have been established.

Friday afternoon, Mr. Giles will present a recreation film, entitled, "Playtown, U. S. A." and he will discuss the "value of recreation to the City of Fulton." The film is an outstanding fast-moving human interest picture that does an excellent, well dramatized job of showing how a community can organize to promote community wide, all age, year-round recreation. It presents public and voluntary agencies pool their resources to achieve a common objective. It is a colorful and entertaining story.

Representatives from all the Civic clubs of the town have been invited to attend this program.

J. Edgar Hoover has said, "An investment in youth in providing recreation facilities and supplying leadership of a proper type during leisure hours, is an insurance of American democracy." Believing that the civic leaders of our town have a definite responsibility in this regard, the Fulton Woman's Club, with Mrs. J. L. Jones, Jr., as chairman of the committee on Youth Conservation and Recreation, hopes to work in conjunction with other civic groups to see that this need is met.

Well folks, we have really been having our winter. The roads are covered with ice and the children have got Aunt Mary's hill sled coasting down with their sleds. My boy and I enjoy playing with Daddy's big sled when the snow was on the ground when we were children.

400 STEEL HOPPERS NOW IN IC SERVICE

The railway ideal of less car weight and more paying tonnage is being approached experimentally by the Illinois Central Railroad as it places in service at the rate of eight cars a day, an order of 400 lightweight Cor-Ten steel hoppers of new design and welded construction. The new model takes five and one-fourth tons off the car weight and adds a corresponding amount to the revenue loading capacity.

The cars are being produced in the East Chicago, Ind., plant of the General American Transportation Corporation.

A hundred-car train of these new hoppers will transport approximately 525 tons more coal at maximum loading than will a standard train of the same number of cars—roughly the difference between 6,175 tons and 6,700 tons. This is a gain of roughly 9 per cent in maximum revenue capacity. The weight of the new car, empty, is 84,900 pounds, as compared with the empty weight of 45,400 pounds for the standard hopper.

Part of the capacity gain in the new design is through the use of exceptionally thin sheets of the low-alloy, high-tensile steel, which are electric-arc welded instead of riveted. This markedly reduces the weight. The further gain is made through the new design of the car, the load-carrying space of which is longer, higher and slightly narrower than that of the standard car. The new car is smooth and clear inside, with all the reinforcing braces welded on the exterior. The change in dimensions and design makes the car sufficiently bigger to accommodate the added load that will be carried.

over the hump

THROUGHOUT the entire United States. Men who operate electric companies were watching the approach of the "Christmas Peak," the year's highest point in the use of electricity.

They watched it approach with misgiving, and watched it pass with relief. Here in Kentucky, engineers at Kentucky Utilities Company power plants watched the steady climb of the needles that told how much electricity was being used. With the exception of the wartime brown-out, never in K. U.'s history had it been necessary to ration electric customers, or curtail industrial operations. But never before—even during wartime—had the use of electricity climbed so high.

The peak would be reached late in an afternoon just before Christmas. That much was known. Anxious eyes watched the demand meters as their needles came closer and closer to the system capacity. Men remembered the struggle it had been to get Tyrone Plant's 30,000 kilowatts on the line—delays, shortages, strikes—and they thanked Providence that it was on.

The peak passed—with some capacity to spare. Foresight had paid off again, the foresight of management and the engineers who helped to make more capacity available by building new plants and lines, and by making interconnections with other electric company power plants.

But it was no time to relax. Another year was in sight. More plant capacity had been planned and was to be installed in 1948, more lines built. More people wanted electric service than there were material, manpower, or money to serve.

There was another "Christmas Peak" coming in 1948—a peak that would be higher than 1947. And there was another turbine to install at Tyrone.

There was plenty of work ahead for 1948—work that somehow had to be done in spite of a thousand and one construction problems, and interminable post-war delays.

K. U. went back to work.
