FLULGHAM NEWS
By Miss Dolly Jones

There are increasing numbers of people who are making a change from their old homes to newer, more modern ones. This is especially true in town and country. Many people are being drawn to the rural areas, to the beauty of the countryside, and to the convenience of new homes with modern amenities.

Mrs. and Mrs. M. L. DeMyer of Clinton visited Mrs. Helen Dean Beard here last week. Mrs. Beard is quite well after her recent surgery.

New Arrival
Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Morgan of St. Louis, Missouri, are visiting relatives here.

Mrs. J. T. Morgan of St. Louis, Missouri, is visiting relatives here. She is accompanied by her son, Mr. J. T. Morgan Jr., and his family.

Mrs. Emma Bone, after a few weeks' stay in Wickliffe, returned home.

Several "striking posters" found in the county today are calling attention to the importance of home ownership. They are encouraging people to buy homes and to become homeowners.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Henderson of Trinidad, Colorado, are visiting their friends and relatives here.

Looking Ahead
No man can ever get ahead who does not look ahead. Our plans are filed with cases of men who looked ahead and made some handsome homes as a result.

"We feel that we are really rendering a community service in making home ownership possible for so many people," said one of the home owners.

"If you have hoped to own a home now is the time to make that hope come true. Our plan is safe and easy to understand, and the payments are arranged to meet your needs while maintaining your credit standing."
Harry Wasn't Even In Ice Show, But Boss Won't Let Him Quit

New York—One of the busiest hustlers in New York doesn't have time to stop long enough
to come stage playing "Pokerface".
Harry walked across the stage, but didn't catch a smile
on anyone's face. The audicence cheered.

The reason was that the audience was trained to expect
the quartet to step out of the room. The call him Pokerface and scrapes off the ice after each performance of the ice show in a New York show really doesn't try to be tunny.

'Harry Wasn't Even In Ice Show',
the first night he came out all red in the face. He's the chap who comes out after the quartet plays Mendelssohn's Spring Song. The audicence roared. 'Harry asked to be taken off the ice, but the management said no—
We're still looking for something to do.

Harry began stepping up the ice showers and dumping them into the water. He turned it means a 'loss to all dairy-ges to return these bottles in order to prevent this increase.

'The Maranon county farmers have
'businessAnalyzer' with the audience of their county agent. One example varied, was reported from one area to another. A farmer was able to make a profit of almost 100 to 500.

But war is still a young man's game and scraping. The audicence broke into laughter.

The dairymen of Fulton are confronted with a shortage of bottles and are asking that all customers make arrangements to return bottles as soon as possible. If bottles are not returned it means a loss to all dair-men, and if this loss continues it will make an increase in the price of milk inevitable. All milk customers are urged to prevent this increase by returning bottles in order to prevent this increase.

We're Proud of Our Heritage!

In the days when our forefathers blamed the traitor
to this great democracy, flour milling played an important part in our community. Now we have more than ever before. They helped develop her great spirit. The old mill will be used as an asset to the community—the "honest old miller" a highly reputed citizen.

Yes, we're proud of our heritage—as Americans and as a part of a vast industry that dates back more than 1,000 years. Even in this modern age we hold to some of the traditions of the "honest old miller." No today, nothing proves more than the privilege to
to serve a community wherein we have gained confidcence, good will and respect.

HOW A NEW WORLD CAME OUT OF A VACUUM

W HEN Thomas A. Edison popped all the air out of his laboratory bell jar, through a rubber stopper, he did not invent the vacuum, but merely demonstrated its properties. The word "vacuum" is derived from the Latin "vacare", meaning "to be empty" or "to be free from air".

However, the invention of the vacuum pump, and the subsequent development of vacuum technology, have had a profound impact on many fields of science and technology. The vacuum pump was first invented in the 17th century, but it was not until the 20th century that vacuum technology became widely used.

Today, we are used to the vacuum cleaner, the vacuum tube, and the vacuum flask, among other things. But the invention of the vacuum pump has also led to the development of many other technologies, such as the laser, the electron microscope, and the microchip.

Today, we live in a world that is full of vacuum-related technology. From the vacuum cleaner to the vacuum tube, from the vacuum flask to the vacuum pump, the vacuum has played a crucial role in our daily lives.

Waves of German Bombers
Driven Away from London

LONDON-Germany's latest effort to bomb London was foiled yesterday by the Royal Air Force. Although the Germans dropped 15 planes on the city, only 12 actually reached the ground, and were shot down by the RAF. The fighting continued all night.

The RAF's efforts were complimented by the British Government, which said that the attack had been a complete failure. The government also announced that it would continue its efforts to strengthen the RAF's defenses against future attacks.

In other news, the United States has agreed to supply the British with 500 fighter planes. The planes will be delivered over the next six months and are expected to bolster the RAF's already formidable air force.

The situation in Europe continues to be tense, with tensions between the Allies and the Axis powers increasing. However, the British and American governments remain confident in their ability to defeat the Axis powers and bring about a lasting peace.

Today's summary:
- The Royal Air Force was successful in repelling a German attack on London.
- The United States has agreed to supply the British with 500 fighter planes.
- Tensions between the Allies and the Axis powers continue to increase.

Additional notes:
- The RAF's success is a testament to the bravery and dedication of its pilots.
- The delivery of the fighter planes from the United States will greatly boost the RAF's capabilities.
- The situation in Europe remains volatile, but the Allies are confident in their ability to emerge victorious.
