FULTON, KENTUCKY. FRIDAY, MARCH 12, 1937

NUMBER EIGHT

YOUNG BUSINESS MAN NAMED GOLF HEAD

Ernest Fall Jr., one of Fulton's young and progressive business men, was named president of the Fulton County Club, at a meeting held Tuesday night to elect officers and formulate plans for the new year. He succeeds G. G. Bard, who served as president for the past three years and refused to stand for re-election. Other officers chosen were: Frank Beadles, vice-president; Bud Davis, secretary-treasurer.

From the membership the following Board of Directors was named: G. G. Bard, Joe Browder, Joe Davis, John Earle, R. H. White, Frank Carr, Ernest Fall Jr., J. J. Hall, J. J. Hill, Vodie Hardin, Frank Beadles, Hoyt Moore, L. T. Bugg, L. H. Weeks, Dr. M. W. Hawes, and J. E. Fall.

Ernest Fall Jr., the new president, is a graduate of the University of Kentucky, and is associated with Fall & Fall of this city. Club dues were set the same as last season, except that green fees were increased on Saturday, Sunday and holidays from 75c to 50c.

DADS HONORED TUESDAY

Tuesday night, March 9th, was Dad's Night at the Science Hall when the Parent-Teachers Association entertained about one hundred and fifty guests. At seven o'clock a delightful pot-luck supper was enjoyed, each family having brought a covered dish.

After the supper the evening was spent informally. Mrs. Smith Atkins was in charge of the program, presenting the following:

Reading, "Waiting for the Circus," by Joe Treas.

Chorus—composed of six small children directed by Miss Ruth Fields.

After this program games of bingo were enjoyed for the remainder of the evening. At the end of the games several prizes were presented to the high scorers.

Drive Against Mad-Dogs

All dogs in Fulton county, if allowed to run at large, are required to be licensed and muzzled. This rule was made this week by the County Health Department and the county officials. Dogs not licensed and muzzled should be tied up. Any dog found roaming the streets and highways without muzzles and license will be killed.

Owners of dogs were given until noon March 11 to comply with the ruling. The rapid increase in the number of rabid dogs in this county during the past few months has necessitated this measure.

Six people in Fulton county at this time are being given anti-rabies treatment. During the past six months 14 people have been treated. In most cases the head of the dog biting the individuals was sent to the State Board of Health laboratories for examination. In all cases except one these animals were found to have rabies.

A. & P. Food Store Gives Pay-Holiday To All Employees

Good news was spread to employees of A. & P. Food Stores this week when an announcement was made that they will receive a half-holiday each week with pay, as has heretofore been customary for managers. This step was taken to encourage the program of better working conditions with better pay, which plan is being adopted by A. & P. Stores throughout the nation.

Employees of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company are granted two weeks vacation each year with pay, which has been a policy adopted by this company for some time.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES SWINE 4-H CLUB MEETING THURSDAY, MARCH 28TH

J. B. Williams, County Agent. Since the demand for good hogs has increased to the place where local breeders cannot fill all of the orders, an effort is being made to get 4-H club members to buy some pure-bred gilts for their club work this year. A meeting will be held for all the club members who are interested in this project at the Cayce school building Thursday morning, March 18th, at ten o'clock. H. C. Brown and Grady Sellards, swine specialist from the Experiment Station will be present and discuss the possibilities of buying and help to locate the animals. Adult farmers that are interested in securing some good breeding stock should also attend.

Letters have been sent to all of the club members that have indicated that they want to raise hogs for a project, inviting them and their parents, but if there are other boys and girls that think they would like a project of this kind we would be very glad to have them bring their parents and come.

Applications for Emergency crop and feed loans for 1937 are now being received at Hickman at the office of the County Agent by R. A. Tweedy, field supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration.

These loans will be made only to farmers who cannot obtain credit by any other source, as provided by regulations issued by the Government of the Farm Credit Administration. The money loaned will be limited to the farmer's immediate and actual cash needs for growing his 1937 crops or for the purchase of feed for livestock.

Farmers are not eligible for these loans if they can borrow from an individual, production credit association, bank, or other concern. Emergency crop and feed clients of the Resettlement Administration whose current needs are provided for by Resettlement.

As in the past the security for these loans will consist of a first lien on the crop financed if the loan is for the production of crops, and if for the purchase of feed for livestock, then a first lien on the livestock to be fed.

Landlords, or others having an interest in the crops or the livestock to be fed, will be required to waive their claims in favor of the lien to the Government, of the Farm Credit Administration until the loan is repaid.

Checks in payment of the approved loans will be issued by the Regional Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office at St. Louis, Mo.

Mary Ann Reynolds, infant daughter of Elder and Mrs. J. Reynolds, died in the Fulton hospital last Thursday night. Following a short funeral service held at the home by A. J. Dixon and L. A. Winstead of Clarksville, Tenn., Winstead, Jones & Co. in charge.

JANICE RAWLEY
Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon for Janice Rawley, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Rawley of the Harmony community, near here. The child died in Chicago Sunday. Services were conducted by Rev. Walker, and interment followed in the Harmony cemetery.

A. C. BROOKS
A. C. Brooks, 80, who died here Sunday, was buried Monday afternoon from Chapel Hill Church, services being conducted by Rev. Paul Cates. Mr. Brooks is survived by his widow; one daughter, Mrs. Bob Fortner of near Fulton; four sons, Billy, Elwood, and Luther of near Fulton and Garland of Detroit, Mich.

FORMER FULTON
CHIEF DIES
W. Y. Eaker, 60, former citizen and chief of police of Fulton, died Sunday at his home in Jackson, Tenn. Funeral services were held Tuesday at Franklin, Tenn. Mr. Eaker had been in failing health for several months.

He is survived by his widow; one daughter, Miss Virginia Young; one brother, Ed Eaker of Water Valley, Ky.; three half-brothers, Boyd Alexander of Fulton, Lucian of Covington, Tenn., Quintan of Los Angeles, Calif.; a half sister, Mrs. Darr Legg of this city.

The Milk Ordinance
As a consequence of the repeal of the Fulton milk ordinance, Dr. A. B. Rowntree, Fulton County Health Officer, made the following statement this week regarding the object of the milk ordinance and the improvement that has been made in this community:

"The Drysdale Dairy is producing grade 'A' milk at the present time. Four other dairies, City, DeMyer, G. J. Houston and Rose are in process of remodeling. New milk houses are being built, and new equipment added to Caldwell Dairy and H. B. Houston Dairy will begin building immediately.

"As soon as the standard required by the standard milk ordinance has been reached, the Fulton County Health Department will permit the use of Grade A labels on this milk, thereby assuring the consumer that the milk is being produced under the regulations imposed by the United States Public Health Service.

"No dairyman will be allowed to label milk according to grade without permission from the health department. The County Health Department is empowered to permit labelling of milk in Fulton under the ruling made last fall by the County Board of Health.

"The purpose of grading milk is to make it possible for the consumer to know whether the milk is pure and produced under sanitary conditions. Persons buying grade A milk are thereby assured that this milk is produced in compliance with the requirements of the United States Public Health Service. Anyone using ungraded milk has no such assurance."

BUSHARTS WILL OPEN HOSPITAL, CLINIC

The old Whitehead homestead on the corner of Carr & Third streets, has been purchased by the Drs. R. Glynn and Ward Bushart, which is to be remodeled and enlarged for a new hospital and clinic.

The new hospital will contain sixteen rooms. On the first floor will be located the clinic and nurses' quarters, and the second floor will be conveniently arranged for surgery, X-ray room, operating and the hospital proper.

Work on remodeling the building is expected to be completed about the middle of April, and the hospital will be equipped throughout with modern furniture and fixtures. The hospital and operating room will be available for doctors of Fulton and other places.

Dr. R. L. Bushart, 30 years a practicing physician; Dr. Glynn Bushart, formerly with the Louisville city hospital; and Dr. Ward Bushart, formerly with the Nashville city hospital, compose the Bushart trio opening the new hospital.

POLICE NEWS

Fulton police put in a busy week-end.

Sometime after midnight Saturday night, entrance was gained to the Fulton Hardware Company, by smashing the plate glass of the front door, and three pump guns valued at $150.00 were stolen. Police in neighboring communities were notified and Randolph Wilson, negro, of Dyersburg, was apprehended at O-bion and brought back to Fulton. He had in his possession one of the guns, and after questioning by police here, revealed he had hidden the others. He will be held for trial at the May term of the grand jury.

An overcoat stolen from the car of J. H. Provove of Hickman while attending the basketball tournament here Saturday night has been recovered. A local man gave a hobo a dollar for it so the vagrant could eat, and then learned it was a stolen coat and returned it to its owner.

Burglars visited R. S. Williams' printing office sometime between Saturday night and Monday morning. Mr. Williams made the discovery when he opened his shop Monday. The thief had pilfered the shop, taking about $40 worth of numbering machines, some fountain pens and stamps. Chief Huston is investigating the robbery.

Clarence Bagsby Jr., South Fulton negro youth, was arrested early this week on charge of breaking into and robbing a box car near the freight depot several weeks ago. Several jars of face cream were stolen. The negro boy was taken into custody when Tennessee officers found evidence pointing to his guilt.

A negro man and negro woman worked the old "corn" game on a Mayfield resident early this week and then fled before they could be apprehended by police. Officers here were notified, and were on the lookout for the "fleeceers."

FULTON COUNCIL IN A SPECIAL SESSION

Fulton city council in special called session Monday afternoon rescinded a milk ordinance passed by this body on January 4, 1937.

The ordinance provided for the grading of milk according to standards set up by the State Board of Health, and for labeling of milk cans under the grade as indicated by regular inspection by the county health department.

Thomas Browder, proprietor of the Whiteway Service Station, located on Paschall-st in South Fulton and West State Line, in Fulton, Ky., is completing installation this week of 2100 feet of pipe line, lead from his State Line station to an Illinois Central spur near the freight depot.

He will pump his gasoline from a tank car from that point to his reserve tank at the station, selling gasoline at competitive pipe line prices.

POULTRY - DAIRYING

EARLY POTATOES
Early potato planting time is approaching. For the region about Lexington, the best time to plant potatoes lies between March 15 and April 10; for the counties along the Tennessee border, two weeks earlier; and for those facing Cincinnati a week later. By this is not meant that potatoes cannot be planted after this time is past, for they can be, with good success, but special procedure should be followed, as later explained.

To be successful in producing a good crop of potatoes, the land must be good. It must be high in humus, so that enough moisture will have been stored, to be released as the potatoes need it. It should be capable of being broken deeply, for, the deeper the seed bed, the more moisture there will be. Deep breaking will permit the potatoes being deeply planted, thus putting the feeding roots in moister, cooler soil, and making it unnecessary to throw moisture-wasting ridges or "hills" to the row. Also, the tubers lying deep will be subject less to becoming strong and losing quality because of the heating rays of sun. This is of benefit especially to potatoes that are left in the ground until the autumn, when they are lifted and stored for the winter. An additional reason for omitting to ridge potatoes is that labor is saved.

Good breaking depth is 10 inches, and planting depth, 4 inches. If planting is done at the beginning of the season, a light ridge should be thrown over the row, but as time progresses, less and less ridge, until, at the end of the normal planting interval, the soil surface is left level. If the potatoes remain to be planted after the later date recommended above, the furrows should still be laid off deeply, but the seed pieces covered with only enough soil to insure them against freezing, the filling of the furrow to be completed as the potatoes grow out of it. The beginning of a crop of potatoes is made when the first green leaves appear.

Potato land should contain some natural fertility, but this is not particularly important because plant food can be supplied through using commercial fertilizer. In fact, may it be said, that no matter how "rich" the land is, fertilizer should be used because eland that has been enriched with manure is not balanced for potatoes. Any standard analysis that carries 3 percent of nitrogen is satisfactory, but of procurable, 4-8-6, 5-10-5 or even 6-10-6 is preferred.

The fertilizer should be sown in the furrow, at the rate of one pound for 25 to 35 feet of row, depending on the fertility of the land. It should be mixed with the soil but kept in the bottom of the furrow so that the roots will stay deep.

Word is timely concerning seed. To plant any but dependable seed potatoes is to invite risk of losing Win $2,100 In Cash Prizes By Building Boys Town And Checking Crime!

Unique Town Has World's Youngest Mayor And City Commission; $1,000 First Prize; Other Big Cash Prizes Too!

AMERICA has the most unique town in the world—it is Boys Town! Boys Town is not the biggest town in the country—but in many respects it's the most important for Boys Town has been the home of 4,446 homeless boys of all races, colors and creeds—from the 48 states of the Union.

Yes, Boys Town is a real city and is located 10 miles west of Omaha, Nebraska. All of the 220 young citizens now living at Boys Town are homeless boys between the ages of five and seventeen. Race, color or creed mean absolutely nothing at Boys Town—just so it is a Homeless Boy in need of help.

WORLD'S YOUNGEST MAYOR

Boys Town has its own mayor and city commission—the youngest in the world. Danny Kampman, the mayor, is only 17. Recently Danny went to New York as the official guest of the world's largest city and Mayor LaGuardia. While there Danny was accorded all the honors and courtesies which the American metropolis extends only to world celebrities. Mayor LaGuardia's official motor cavalcade, with smartly uniformed motorcycle officers flanking all sides, met him at the railroad station and with screaming sirens clearing his way through the heavy New York traffic, escorted him to the city hall for a big public reception. From coast to coast the great newspapers of the country emblazoned the story of his visit in headlines, as though he were some important world celebrity.

Ten miles west of Omaha, Boys Town may be better known to you as Father Flanagan's Boys' Home. In the past nineteen years of its existence Father Flanagan's Boys' Home has made good American citizens of 4,446 homeless boys of all races, colors and creeds. But time, labor, land and fertilizer; the way to insure these four items is to use none but certified seed, but making sure always that what is offered is truly and genuinely certified. The slight margin in price will be reflected at digging, often to an unbelievable degree.

All seed potatoes, certified and not certified, should receive the treatment that cleanses them of the germs of scab and scurf, two bothersome troubles of potatoes. This treatment will be described in this column next week.

As for varieties, Irish Cobbler is 10 million dollars annually or $1.50 a day every day of their lives for every wage earner in this country. That's what Crime is costing the wage earners in this community—$1.50 a day, every single day of their lives. Think of it!

MAYOR OF BOYS TOWN GUEST OF NEW YORK AND MAYOR LA GUARDIA

Seventeen-year-old Danny Kampman, mayor of Boys Town, was the official guest of the mayor of the world's largest city recently—and they talked about budgets!

recently the Federal government chartered a postoffice there because of the immense volume of mail. And now it appears officially on the map as "Boys Town."

4,446 BOYS IN 19 YEARS
Boys Town is famous the world over because of the splendid work it has done for America in making good citizens of 4,446 homeless boys. Were it not for Boys Town, a vast majority of these boys would have become criminals, preying on society, or at best purposeless idlers and misfits. J. Edgar Hoover, head of the nation's G Men has called Boys Town "an outstanding check on Crime in America today!"

This newspaper knows what Crime costs America every year—

made good citizens in 19 years. But there's another side to the story. Because of lack of room Boys Town has been forced to refuse an average of 500 poor helpless boys every year. What's going to happen to those boys? Boys Town just doesn't have the room to care for them now. The 220 boys now living there tax its capacity to the utmost.

Boys Town needs a new dormitory building to care for the boys it must now turn away each year. This newspaper is proud of Boys Town, it knows how much America needs it, and it is going to do its part to help secure funds for that new building.

Among other things this newspaper will turn over to Boys Town 25 Cents for every new yearly subscription, two-year renewal or two-year past due subscription paid-up received between March 11 and April 15, the length of the contest. This money will go into the Big Build Boys Town fund for erection of the new dormitory building.

SEE RULES INSIDE

Inside you will find the simple rules for taking part in the easy contest for the Big "Build Boys Town" Drive. The contest is so easy and simple anyone can take it and you'll have a lot of fun doing it too. And think of the splendid work you're doing—helping check Crime. And remember, if you're a wage earner, Crime is costing you $1.50 a day every single day of your life. If you don't pay all of that, somebody else pays part of it for you.

Best results have been obtained when the spray for the control of peach leaf curl has been made before March 1. In any event, it is recommended that growers try to spray their peaches during the next two weeks.

Emphasizing that dormant sprays are used to control scale on all fruit and that peaches must be sprayed in addition to control leaf curl, Mr. Olney says that sprays used against scale are liquid lime sulfur, dry lime sulfur, manufactured oil emulsion and home-made oil emulsion. For peaches, a spray effective against both San Jose scale and leaf curl is desirable.

The word "cleave" has directly opposite meanings. It means to adhere closely, and also means to cut apart.

Dormant Spray for Leaf Curl Control

Peach trees need to be sprayed for control of the San Jose Scale, as do other kinds of fruit trees, but in addition they should be sprayed in the dormant season for the control of leaf curl. Lime sulfur may be used to control both scale and leaf curl, but an oil spray will not control the leaf curl unless a fungicide is used with it, according to A. J. Olney, of the horticultural department of the Kentucky College of Agriculture. Bordeaux mixture is the fungicide it is recommended for use with home-made oil emulsion.

Growers are cautioned not to use Bordeaux mixture with the manufactured oil emulsions or miscible oils on the market unless the manufacturer advises its use and gives directions for mixing. If peaches are to be sprayed with oil emulsion alone, a separate spray using Bordeaux mixture should be made. In this case, it is better to apply the Bordeaux spray first. Usually it is preferable to make one combination spray rather than to spray the peach orchard twice. Directions for making the combination Bordeaux-oil emulsion may be obtained by writing to the College of Agriculture at Lexington.

World-Wide Tobacco And Commerce News

Distribution of the tobacco of the United States is world wide, and embraces more than 150 separate countries and colonies. Distribution of manufactured tobacco products surpasses that of unmanufactured tobacco in point of customer countries and colonies, but the value of unmanufactured tobacco sent overseas far surpasses the value of the overseas trade in manufactures. The ratio in values is approximately 10 to 1.

Shippers of the United States during 1936 sent into the overseas trade American manufactured tobacco products with an aggregate value of $18,172,419, compared to the 1935 value of $15,888,727. The leading commodity in 1936 was cigarettes.

Poland instituted a two week embargo on the exportation of rye in order to check the rapid increase of domestic prices.

So great is the current demand for iron and steel products in Great Britain that the local industry is experiencing difficulty in filling orders despite record production.

France's population increased by approximately 70,000 in the five-year period between 1931 and 1936.

Television is a subject of considerable discussion in Japan at the present time, and a laboratory for television research near Tokyo will be completed in March.

A noteworthy development in South Africa's import trade in 1936 was the sharp increase in arrivals of complete passenger automobiles which advanced from 16,900 in the first nine months of 1935 to 22,000 in the corresponding nine-month period of 1936.

Notable improvement was shown in Portugal's trade in port wine during 1936.

Petroleum production in Venezuela reached the highest level on record during 1936 despite the sharp curtailment in December resulting from labor difficulties.

Exports of raw cotton from the United States in December amounted to $39,620,000, compared with $46,192,000 in November and $55,- 740,000 in December 1935.

The recent devaluation of Switzerland's currency has notably stimulated its foreign tourist traffic.

The chief products of New Zealand and dairy products, meat and wool—are commanding good prices and the current season is expected to yield the greatest production in the country's history.

Tourist travel to the Hawaiian Islands established an all-time record in 1936 with a total of 22,199 visitors estimated to have spent approximately $11,000,000.

Portugal's export trade in canned sardines registered sharp improvement during 1936. Germany is her largest foreign market.

Loss of a large part of its foreign business has served to accentuate the difficult position of Germany's mineral water industry. Exports in 1935 were valued at $6,000,000, declined in 1936 to only $600,000.

The past year was a period of striking industrial expansion in the Irish Free State, and unemployment was approximately 18 percent less than in the preceding year.

The Government of Australia is reported to be considering the erection of a high-power short-wave radio broadcasting station capable of disseminating throughout the world an Australian official news service.

England is now engaged in conducting a "paint-up" campaign which will be complete prior to the coronation ceremonies.

The application of the 40-hour week in French industry is progressing slowly but steadily.

Contrasts In Government

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

A famous historian has recently pointed out a series of striking contrasts between government by the many—as in America—and government by the few, or even by one—as in some nations of Europe.

Comparing the two, he shows that in nations where the people actually rule: Wars are less frequent.

The standards of individual well-being and of living are higher. Freedom of religion, of speech and of the press has been preserved.

Individual energy and progress are greater.

Science, art, literature and other high forms of human endeavor have made swifter strides.

Life, personal safety and general stability are more secure.

These contrasts he draws not from the dim past, but from the present, with the picture of what is actually happening on the broad front of world events clearly before him.

The picture is not only for the eyes of the historian. Constantly it flashes before all the American people in headlines, in news photographs, in reports from many authoritative sources.

It stands a constant refutation of those champions and admirers of the new dictatorships abroad, who would have the American people swap their power and independence for the desperate experiments now developing in Europe.

If the American people want to see what the democracy established by our Constitution means, let them consider the progress in national development and individual well-being achieved by the United States during its century and a half of history.

If they want to understand what Dictatorship, or Communism, or other denials of government by the people can bring, let them look at the nations now suffering under such experiments abroad.

$912 From Acre Makes Boy State Tobacco Champion

A yield of 1,828 pounds and a profit of $492 from slightly less than an acre of burley gave the Kentucky 4-H Club tobacco production championship to William L. Sears, a 16-year-old Allen county boy, it is announced from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The crop sold for $59.37 per hundred pounds, bringing a total of $1,093.30. Expenses were $155.44, which left a profit of $942.86. The land had been in alfalfa four years. To make it more productive, seven tons of manure and 500 pounds of superphosphate were applied. Needless to say, careful attention was given to the stand, cultivation, control of pests and curing.

Second place in the state-wide 4-H club tobacco production championship went to William Watts, Anderson county, who grew 1,352 pounds on an acre, third place to Thompson, Shelby county, with 1,280 pounds on an acre; fourth place to Junior Wakefield, Christian county, with a production of 1,317 pounds on an acre, and fifth place to James Chaney, Warren county, whose acre yielded 980 pounds.

Yield, quality, cost of production, records and other factors were taken into account, in making the awards.

U. S. Tobacco Export Trade Up $5,000,000 in 1936

Exports from the United States of raw tobacco manufactures, including both domestic and foreign products, were valued at $156,526,025 in 1936, compared with $150,828,881 in the preceding year, according to figures just received by the Louisville District Office of the Department of Commerce. Shipments abroad of American unmanufactured tobacco during 1936 totaled 427,435,624 pounds, valued at $137,714,140, compared with 398,329,592 pounds, valued at $134,454,382, in 1935. Exports of products manufactured from American tobacco in 1936 had an aggregate value of $18,172,419, compared with $15,888,727 in the preceding year. Cigarettes were the leading commodity in this trade during 1936 and was followed in order by smoking tobacco, chewing tobacco, cigars, nicotine and tobacco extract.

Orchard Men to Hear What Farm Program Offers

Members of the Kentucky State Horticultural Society, in their annual meeting at the Experiment Station at Lexington, March 11, will hear what the new agricultural conservation program has to offer. The subject will be discussed by O. M. Farrington, administrative assistant in the program.

Another subject of special interest at this time is the flood damage to orchards, which will be discussed by Ben E. Niles, Henderson, secretary of the society.

What the cold winter of 1935-36 and the drought of last summer did to fruit trees will be the subject of Prof. A. J. Olney, head of the department of horticulture at the College of Agriculture and Experiment Station.

Dr. W. D. Valleau, plant pathologist at the Experiment Station, will discuss disease control; Prof. H. H. Jewett, the replacing of last winter's losses in bee colonies; W. W. Magill, orchard fertilization and soil management, and Prof. W. A. Price and others the 1937 spray program.

New officers will be elected. Present officers are Dr. J. B. Jordan, Jefferson county, president; Frank Browning, Fleming county, first vice-president; M. Y. Nunn, Union county, second vice-president; E. C. Hoagland, Oldham county, third vice-president, and Ben E. Niles, Henderson, secretary-treasurer.

Light Pruning for Fruit Trees Best

The purpose of pruning young apple trees is to train them into desirable forms, consisting of well-placed branches strong enough to support large crops at maturity. The smallest amount of pruning that will accomplish this end is best, says A. J. Olney, head of the horticultural department of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

As there are two types of cuts, thinning, in which the entire branch is removed, and heading, in which only part of a branch is removed, the owner must decide which is best in each case. In the bearing tree, a light yearly pruning is desirable. The fruiting wood of old trees may be invigorated by light thinning and heading back.

To the peach tree, pruning is more important than to the apple tree. If they are neglected during their first years they become very thick, with too many scaffold branches. As a result the crop is produced in the top of the tree, making spraying, thinning and harvesting expensive, reducing yields and causing the breaking of limbs.

Peach trees may well be pruned and trained to a bowl-shaped form in this State, Mr. Olney believes. A system of thinning and light cutting back is probably best. Usually, pruning is done in late fall and winter. Summer pruning is confined to special corrective work, thinning of two-year-old and three-year-old trees, and of bearing trees which were severely cut back following loss of a crop from winter or spring freezes.

"KENTUCKIANA" FOLKS EATING LOTS MORE CANDY

Sales of confectionery during December were valued at $25,615,342, compared with $21,928,014 in December, 1935, an increase of 16.8% according to reports to the Louisville District Office of the Department of Commerce, by 294 identical manufacturing firms. The high level of such sales maintained during the August-December fall season has resulted in business during the five-month period valued at $119,612,000 compared with $106,432,000 in the corresponding period of 1935, an increase of 12.4 percent. Increased sales of 14½% were reported for the fall season just closed. Increases were shown in every state or group of states with the exception of one, that being the territory comprising Kansas, Nebraska, and Oklahoma. Among those showing the greatest increases the fall season comparison were Indiana and Kentucky combined, up to 31 percent.

TESTED RECIPE

By Frances Lee Barton

SOME cottages may be tumble-down and neglected, but I know of other cottages which are trim and charming. And that goes for Cottage Puddings as well.

I've eaten cottage puddings which were carefully made—and the less said the better. Then I've eaten cottage puddings which were little more than a good deal of chocolate contributed in no small degree to this honey reef.

Chocolate Cottage Pudding.

1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 egg yolks, well beaten, 1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup milk, 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and mix again. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream well. Add egg yolks and beat thoroughly; then chocolate and vanilla. Add flour, alternately with milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Fold in egg whites. Turn into greased pan, 8x8x2 inches. Bake in water bath (225° F.) 50 minutes, or until done. Remove from pan. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream. Serves 12.

FIRST MONDAY BRINGS BIG CROWD TO FULTON

First Monday, March 6th, brought a good crowd of farmers and tradesmen to Fulton. Early in the morning cars, trucks, and wagons started arriving. Many fine mules, horses and other livestock were found on the lot jockey yard here, where considerable trading was done during the day.

The first Monday in April is expected to bring even larger crowds as the weather improves.

Burned Lime May Be Best Source

There are communities in many counties in Kentucky where both lime rock and wood occur in abundance. In many of these communities burned lime can no doubt be made the cheapest and most convenient source of lime, especially since burning lime does not require special machinery and since also the farmer can do all of the labor and will need no cash outlay.

If burned lime is used for taking up his Agricultural Conservation Program Allowance, the farmer will receive $3 per ton for burned lime where used in compliance with the program. He can in many instances burn lime for less than $3 per ton, according to S. C. Jones of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Under specified conditions, farmers are paid $2.50 per acre for thinning or pruning trees on woodland for forest. Refuse wood resulting from such improvement of forest might be used in burning lime, thus increasing the profit from burning lime still further.

There was a marked increase in the tonnage of burned lime used by Kentucky farmers during 1936. County Agents' reports show that 947 men in 31 counties used 7,454 tons of burned lime during the year. This was an increase of more than 100 percent over the tonnage used in 1935. Agents' reports show that 200 limekilns were burned in 23 counties.

Revised circular No. 247 is available to farmers who plan to burn lime. Copies may be had from County Agents or from the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

U. S. Tourists Spent $11,838,142 in Mexico

That Mexico is attracting an increasing number of American tourists is indicated in a report to the Louisville District Office of the Commerce Department. Official records show that in 1936 a total of approximately 99,000 tourists from the United States visited Mexico compared with 73,000 in the preceding year. Of the 1936 total, 50,000 visited Mexico City compared with 30,000 in 1935. The American tourists visiting the Capital during 1936 remained on an average ten days within the Republic and spent approximately $200 per capita. The aggregate expenditures of classified American tourists who visited Mexico in 1936 amounted to $11,838,142 compared with $10,028,224 in 1935.

The decline in imports of unmanufactured tobacco into Denmark during 1935 as compared with 1934, amounted in volume to 5.3 percent.

Reports from auctions held during December reflect a considerable demand for German-grown tobacco.

By the end of December 1936, exports of Bulgarian leaf tobacco to the United States reached approximately $700,000, representing part of the choice grades of the 1935 crop.

During the nine-month period of 1936 the United States accounted for 80 percent of Greece's gasoline imports, 80 percent of the fuel oil imports, 59 percent of the lubricating oils and greases, and 8 percent of the kerosene compared with 28 percent, 9 percent, 66 percent and 9 percent in the corresponding period of 1935.

The International Exposition for Coal Consuming Appliances which the Turkish Government had planned to hold at Ankara from January 16 to February 17 has been postponed and will be held during the period from March 26 to April 26.

Canadian imports of anthracite coal from the United States registered a decline in 1936 while receipts from other countries increased.

Production of silk cocoons in Italy during 1936 registered an increase of approximately 80 percent as compared with the preceding year. Canadian chemical production is estimated to have increased from 5 to 25 percent in 1936 compared with 1935 on the basis of output recorded in the Province of Ontario. FOLK TYPES
THE HILLBILLY

Permit me today to defend and... the hillbilly. The radio, summer visitors to Kentucky who go away and write whole books on what the hillbilly is like, and not-oriety-seekers have exploited the type until something should be done about it. That there is such a person as a hillbilly is obvious to every body; that he is strictly a creature of our mountains or any other mountains is not true. Everywhere the type of lanky, somewhat shiftless "feller" is found. He is nowhere numerous, however, and has unfortunately been too much associated by our writers with the mountains, particularly in recent years. So eager are feature-article writers to find this strange creature that they create mountains to house him when they find him. Not long ago a metropolitan newspaper carried in its Sunday edition an account of picturesque hillbillies in the "mountains" just south of Louisville, in Hardin and Bullitt Counties. I cannot deny that the writer might have found his characters or assumed that he had found them in that area, but he needs a course in geography.

Early in our literary history this rural type of philosopher-professional pioneer received attention from several admirable writers. Baldwin and Longstreet found him in Georgia; Sidney Lanier knew him intimately in the foothills of the Great Smokies; George Horatio Derby found him plentiful on the West Coast and practically handed the type full drawn over to Bret Harte. John Hay found him in the Middle West. He has been called by numerous names; cracker, Pike, and what not. Derby's character was called a Pike, because of the early settlers of California came from Pike County, Missouri, and had brought their dust-covered families and possessions with them. They were nasal of talk, mighty chewers of tobacco, inclined to be lazy, in spite of their having endured the long trek from Pike. Many of Harte's characters are of this type, though most of his distinctive ones are single men, often with a past.

Since professional pioneering has ceased in the years after the end of the frontier, our attention is now directed toward the same type of person who no longer goes West or to the newest land but seeks instead the outskirts of centers of population, moving about once a year from one community to another. If there were another frontier, he would be right there with his household and his household goods; the romantic time for him must largely be a memory of what "Pap" or "Granpap" did in the days when the West was calling.

The hillbilly may be a philosopher and often is. He has had his share of seeing the big old world and is entitled to his say. If he could really find a tongue, he could reveal why the restless of spirit have always been with us and have found new lands and new ideas on the borders of occupied territory. When the genuine hillbilly finds that life anywhere is a fine game of pioneering he often becomes as genuine a part of our tradition as anyone else; most of us have friends and relatives who have been hillbillies and who have waked up. Some day the hillbilly will discover himself in literature and will tell the world what has moved him along for ages of restless living.

READ and REMEMBER

The ordinary pins, so commonly used today, were once so expensive that only the wealthy people could afford them. The term "pin money" dates from that time, referring to the allowance a husband gave his wife to purchase pins.

The highest and lowest places in the United States are both in California, and only eighty-six miles apart. Mt. Whitney is 14,496 feet above sea level; Death Valley is 276 feet below sea level.

It has been estimated that in a day the average farmer walks twenty-six miles, a letter carrier twenty-two, police fourteen, boys fifteen, girls eleven and a half, and housewives eight.

A frown demands a greater expenditure of energy than a smile, fifty muscles being brought into action when frowning, while only thirteen are required for a smile.

Indianapolis is the largest city in the world not located on navigable water.

If all the land in the United States were to be equally divided, there would be between sixteen and seventeen acres for each inhabitant.

The word "news" originates from the letters of the word for the four directions of the compass, North, East, West, and South.

The average height of men in America is five feet and eight inches, and of women, five feet and four inches.

Approximately three hundred words make up seventy-five percent of all the words used in ordinary speech and writing.

It would take more than nineteen hundred years to spend one billion dollars at the rate of one dollar a minute.

The average curvature of the earth is two inches per mile.

Bobby's FLOWER SONG

As a singing waif on the streets of Old New Orleans with flowers for sale, young Bobby Breen continues his meteoric career in RKO Radio's "Rainbow on the River," which is showing Thursday and Friday, March 18-19 at the Orpheum Theatre, a Principal Production directed by Kurt Neumann. Bobby's sales song is "The Flower Song," by Dr. Hugo Riesenfeld and Selma Hautzik. He also sings eight other numbers. May Robson and Charles Butterworth head the supporting cast.

More Reports of Big Tobacco Pay

W. G. Marshall, a Montgomery county farmer, cooperated with County Agent Floyd McDaniel in making a demonstration of the use of complete fertilizer in growing tobacco. Using 400 pounds of high phosphate fertilizer to the acre resulted in the production of 3,144 pounds from two and three-tenths acres. The selling price was $52.98 per hundred pounds, the total amount received being $1,665, or nearly $725 an acre.

Cliff Chaney, Powell county, reports a yield of 1,492 pounds of burley tobacco from nine-tenths of an acre, which sold for $460.

The program for the remainder of the year has been scheduled as follows: Minstrel, April 2; Medal contest among the lower grades, April 9; County Health Day and Junior Play, April 16; Grade Program, May 7; Senior Examinations May 10 and 11; Senior Play, May 14; Commencement Sermon, May 16; Final examinations, May 17 and 18; Graduation Exercises, May 21.

In this way the program will be presented over a considerable period of time and the usual strain and rush of commencement week will be lightened.

The girls had better luck this season in the district basketball tournament than the team of last year. On a basis of points per game the present team is seventeen points weaker than last year's team. Yet the present team found its way to the finals and will play the strong Blue Cyclone team of McKenzie in the regional tournament at Jackson. Rosa Mae Bell, who played irregularly throughout the year as a substitute, suddenly found herself a regular when she set the scoring pace throughout the tournament. Rosa was the lone Red Angel on the All-Star outfit named by officials at the tournament. Katie Margaret Allen was given honorable mention in the eighteen places named as all-time. This gave the finalists two of stars or honorably mentioned.

SOCIALS

UNEDUS CIRCLE

The Unedus Circle of the First Methodist Woman's Missionary Society met Monday night, March 8th, at the home of Miss Margaret Bard with Mrs. Melvin Simon, co-hostess.

The meeting was opened with the Lord's Prayer in unison and the chairman, Mrs. L. C. Adams, presided over the brief business session. A report was given by the treasurer, Mrs. Frank Wiggins, and the minutes were read by Miss Mary Swann Bushart, the secretary.

Mrs. Ernest McCollum led a very interesting devotion. The program on "Missions in China" was in charge of the program chairman, Mrs. William Blackstone. She was assisted by Mrs. John Daniels, Mrs. Robert Bard, and Miss Dorothy Granberry.

At the conclusion of the program the meeting was closed with prayer and a social hour was enjoyed. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostesses to the twenty-one regular members, one new member, Mrs. Harvey Bondurant, and one visitor, Mrs. James Carter.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Homer Wilson with Mrs. F. H. Berry, joint hostess.

WOMAN'S CLUB
The Woman's Club met in regular session Friday, March 5th at the club rooms, with the members of the Junior Music Club as guests.

Pages were Misses Sara Nell Alexander, Donna Jean DeMyer, Betty Sue Houston and Mildred Mount. The meeting was presided over by the vice president, Mrs. Charles Gregory, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Warren Graham, who is ill. During the lengthy business session reports were made by the various chairmen of committees. Mrs. V. L. Freeman, chairman of the Garden Department, announced that this club has been invited to present a program before the Hickman Woman's Club in April.

The chairman of the music department, Mrs. R. S. Williams, announced an exchange program with the Jackson, Tenn. Woman's Club. An announcement was made by Mrs. Hendon Wright of the benefit bridge party to be sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club of Fulton.

At the end of the business session the program was in charge of Miss Elizabeth Butt, director of the Junior Music Club, who presented the following:

"Invention in A Minor" Bach—Miss Charlotte Terry.
"Voice, The Lamplight" and "Luxembourg Gardens" Miss Kathleen Winter, accompanied by Miss Agatha Gayle.

"Dark Eyes," arranged by John Thompson—Miss Phyllis Kramer.
"Morning Moon" from Pergylt and "Suite," Greig, two pianos, Misses Sara Nell Alexander and Mildred Mount.

A resume of the opera was presented by the following cast: Misses Maurine Ketcham, Marjorie Kelton, Martha Ellen Duley, Carolyn Atkins, Ida Lucille Edwards, Mary Mozelle Crafton, Dona Jean DeMyer, Jane Dallas, and Betty Sue Houston.

After the program the members of the Junior Club served delicious sandwiches, cookies and tea.

CLUB THURSDAY
Mrs. Hendon Wright delightfully entertained her bridge club Thursday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. M. L. McDade in Highlands.

Four tables of guests were present which included three tables of club members and one of visitors. At the conclusion of games of contract high score among club members was held by Miss Mayme Bennett who received beautiful hose as prize. Mrs.

Robert Bard held visitors high score and received a potted plant.
At a late hour the hostess served delightful salad course to the twelve club members and these visitors: Mesdames Robert Bard, W. C. Thompson, Wallis Koelling, and Miss Louise Hill.

CLUB WITH MRS. SAMS AND MISS ALLEN

Mrs. Ardelle Sams and Miss Lily B. Allen were joint hostesses to a well planned bridge party Thursday night at the home of Mrs. I. M. Jones on Central Avenue, entertaining their regular weekly bridge club and several visitors.

Four tables of players were present which included these visitors: Mesdames Felix Segul, Howard Strange, and I. M. Jones; Misses Monette Jones and Essie Aikin.

At the conclusion of serial games of progressive contract high score was held by Miss Adolphus Mae Latta who received a lovely lamp as prize. Miss Eunice Rogers held second high score and the prize was a lamp. Miss Ruby V. Yarbrow held third high and received lingerie. Miss Betty Norris held fourth high score and was presented lingerie. An attractive smoking set was the low score prize which was received by Mrs. Jones.

After the games the hostesses served a delectable salad course.

MR. AND MRS. WILLINGHAM ENTERTAIN BRIDGE CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Gid Willingham were host and hostess to their bridge club Thursday night at their home on Carr Street. Three tables of club members were present with one visitor, Mrs. Harvel Boaz, who enjoyed several games of progressive bridge.

At the end of the games high score among the ladies was held by Mrs. Bob White and George Doyle held high score for the gentlemen. Both received lovely prizes.

Late in the evening a salad course was served carrying out the St. Patrick motif.

GROUP B OF WMS

Mrs. Joe Davis and Mrs. L. O. Carter were hostess to Group B of the Methodist Woman's Missionary Society Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Davis on Eddings street. The meeting was presided over by the chairman, Mrs. M. V. Harris and Mrs. T. J. Kramer gave the Bible lesson. After the program a social hour was enjoyed during which time the hostesses served refreshments to the seventeen members present.

GROUP A OF WMS

Group A of the First Methodist Woman's Missionary Society met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Ward McLeellan at her home on Eddings street with Mrs. Don Hill joint hostess. The chairman Mrs. Hoyt Moore called the meeting to order and presided over a brief business session.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Roper Fields who conducted a very interesting Bible study. After the program the hostesses served delightful refreshments to the fifteen members present with three visitors, Mesdames W. E. Baucum, Sam Campbell and Alden Smith of Little Rock, Ark.

CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN SOCIETY IN MEETING

The Woman's Society of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church met in monthly session Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. R. Ladd.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. E. O. Deweese, followed by the devotion. The program was in charge of Mrs. Deweese, the topic of discussion being "Loyalty." After a brief talk by her Mrs. Bob White gave an interesting and instructive article on

"How and To Whom We Owe Loyalty."

After the program a business session was held presided over by Mrs. E. R. Ladd, vice-president. Reports were made by the secretary, treasurer and the standing committees. Mrs. G. G. Bard and Mrs. Fred D. Worth were elected as delegates to represent this society at the annual convention which will be held in Dyersburg, Tenn. Tuesday and Wednesday, March 16 and 17.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Ladd.

A certain young man was seen back in Fulton this week, after having journeyed to a distant city to work. No doubt a dashing young Fulton charmer had something to do with "the return of the prodigal."

EAST FULTON CIRCLE

The East Fulton Circle of the First Methodist Woman's Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. Lynn Taylor at her home on Cleveland Avenue.

Fifteen regular members were present and one visitor, Mrs. Anna McElwath of Dresden, Tenn. The chairman, Mrs. W. E. Bell, presided over the business. The Bible Study was given by Mrs. E. M. Mathis. The meeting was dismissed with prayer.

TUESDAY NIGHT CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Vester Freeman were host and hostess to their bridge club Tuesday night at their home on Third Street.

The three tables of regular club members were present who enjoyed a well-planned pot-luck supper before the games of progressive bridge. At bridge high score among the ladies was held by Mrs. Charles Binford. Abe Jolley held high score for the gentlemen. Both were presented hose as prize.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hester will entertain this club next week at their home on Eddings Street.

TUESDAY LUNCHEON CLUB

Mrs. Tom Franklin delightfully entertained her luncheon club Tuesday at her home on Fourth Street. At nine o'clock a lovely luncheon was served to the seven club members and one visitor, Mrs. Vester Freeman. An attractive bouquet of spring flowers formed the centerpiece.

After the luncheon games of contract were enjoyed throughout the afternoon. At the conclusion high score was held by Mrs. J. E. Fall who received a dainty prize.

The St. Patrick motif was carried out through the luncheon and bridge.

FIELDS-McLAURIN

A wedding of much interest to her many friends in Fulton is that of Mrs. Martha Ann Fields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hunt, to W. E. McLaurin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McLaurin, of Meridian, Miss. The ceremony was performed Sunday morning, Feb. 28th at nine o'clock at the home of the bride's parents with Rev. Joseph A. Smith officiating.

The wedding occurred before an improvised altar with floor baskets of foliage and soft lights against a background of tropical plants and spring flowers. They were attended by Miss Karlene Kline and Billy Stallworth.

The bride, a lovely blonde, wore a suit of continental blue with silver fox trim and gray accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of orchids. Her attendant wore green crepe with brown accessories and a shoulder bouquet of camellias.

Mrs. McLaurin attended Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus, having graduated from the Meridian High School.

The groom attended Millsaps College and Tulane University and is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is connected with the J. C. Penny Company.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a honeymoon in Florida. They will make their home in Meridian.

Out-of-town visitors at the wedding included the bride's uncle, R. C. Peoples of Fulton. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Charlie Fields of Fulton and has many other friends and relatives here who wish her much happiness, having visited here quite frequently.

NIMBLE THIMBLE MEETING
The Nimble Thimble Sewing Club was entertained Monday afternoon by Mrs. Boyd Bennett at her home on Eddings-st. Eleven members were present with these visitors: Mesdames Charles Binford, I. R. Nolen, Sterling Bennett and J. D. Parham.

After an afternoon of sewing and contests, a prize was presented to Mrs. Milner Harpole. The hostess served a delectable salad course in shells to her guests, and carried out the St. Patrick motif in decorations and refreshments.

The Nimble Thimble Sewing Club of Fulton met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Rupert Stillely at her home. The afternoon was spent informally and delightful refreshments were served present, two visitors and one new member, Mrs. N. T. Morse.

The club will meet next week at the home of Mrs. Boyd Bennett.

GROUP C OF WMS

Group C of the Methodist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sue Stoe on Green-st with Mrs. Vodie Hardin and Mrs. Roscoe Wilkins, assistant hostesses. Twenty regular members were present with one visitor, Mrs. Norman Terry. Mrs. Hazel

Scruggs, chairman, presided over a brief business session and the Bible lesson was in charge of Mrs. Louis Weeks. Mrs. Weeks was assisted by Mrs. M. W. Hayes.

Delightful refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

CIRCLES IN JOINT MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

The Lottie Moon Circle and the Annie W. Armstrong Circle of the First Baptist Church met Monday night in a joint meeting at the church with thirty-five members and one new member, Miss Willette Cooke, present.

The meeting was opened with prayer. The business sessions were held separately with officers of each group making reports. The offering for the home missions was taken.

The topic of the program was "Sound Forth the Word," a book which is being studied in observation of week of prayer. The Annie W. Armstrong had charge of the first two chapters of the program which was in charge of Mrs. J. A. Hemphill. She was assisted by Mesdames Clifton Hamlett, Leon Hutchins, John Reeks, Hughie Rushton, and Miss Mary Kate Hewitt. A very interesting devotion was given by Miss Mrs. Seacoe.

Mrs. Clyde Fields, program leader for the Lottie Moon Circle, was in charge of the remainder of the study course. Those who participated were Mesdames Woodrow Fuller, Tom Beadles, Malcolm Smith, Miss Elizabeth Williamson and Mignon Wright. The devotion was given by Miss Ann Lee Cochran.

Between the two sessions of the program a well-planned pot-luck supper was enjoyed in the kitchen of the church.

The Lottie Moon Circle will meet Monday night, March 22nd, at the home of Miss Mignon Wright with Mrs. Tom Beadles, joint hostess, and the next meeting of the Annie W. Armstrong will be held at the home of Mrs. Leon Hutchins with Miss Adelle Rhodes, co-hostess.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pickle announce the birth of a fine baby girl, Donna Jane, born last Saturday morning at their home in East Fulton.

Mrs. Harry Jonakin and little son of Helena, Ark., have been visiting for two weeks in Fulton.

JOAN CRAWFORD, WILLIAM POWELL AND ROBERT MONTGOMERY CO-STAR FOR FIRST TIME IN "THE LAST OF MRS. CHEYNEY" AT THE ORPHEUM STARTING SUNDAY.

"The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," opening Sunday at the Orpheum Theatre, brings together for the first time the three stars who, singly, have contributed to the screen three of the year's most successful and outstanding pictures.

Joan Crawford direct from "The Gorgeous Hussy."

William Powell, from "After the Thin Man."

Robert Montgomery, whose "Piccadilly Jim" still remains one of the high spots of 1936 screen entertainment.

To this triple-star cast Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer also has added an outstanding supporting cast that includes Frank Morgan, Jessie Ralph, Nigel Bruce, Colleen Clare, Benita Hume, Ralph Forbes, Aileen Pringle and Melville Cooper.

Lawrence Weingarten, who was of the producer's helm on "Labeled Lady," of the producer of the new picture.

Based upon the famous Frederic Londale play of a few years ago, Leon Gordon, Samson Raphaelson and Monckton Hoffe completely adaptation that promises to establish the screen version as an outstanding story with a deft standing riot of laughter and complicated situations.

The Curse of Progress

Just Informal

A dumb little girl and her chum were discussing the boy friend of the former.

"The only thing I don't like about him," said her friend, "is that he's too rough."

"He isn't rough," replied the young man's sweetie. "He's just informal."

Sounds Like It

"How long does the train stop here?" the old lady asked of the guard.

"Stop here?" answered the functionary. "Oh, four minutes. From two to two to two-two."

"I wonder," mused the old lady. "if that man thinks he is the whistle?"—Exchange.

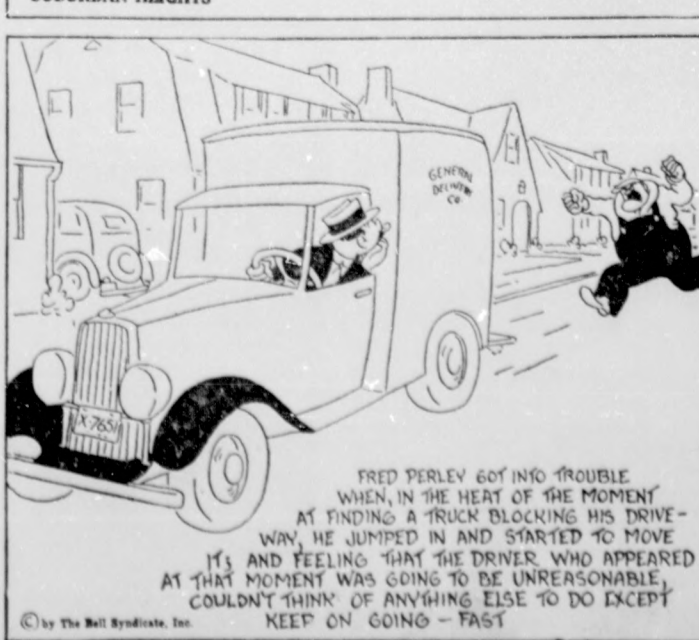

Explained

Brown (visiting friend in hospital)—By Jove, old man, I couldn't believe it when I heard you were in hospital! Why, only last night I saw you with a very pretty blonde.

Victim—Yes—so did my wife.—Stray Stories Magazine.

SUBURBAN HEIGHTS

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

Manhattan Side-Show: Bob Benchley . . . pausing by a theater marquee which is advertising his latest movie short. . . and critically inspecting his photographs displayed there . . . Sylvia Sydney and Douglas Montgomery lunching at the Algonquin. . . Katharine Carlisle toying with Swedish hors d'oeuvres at the Valhalla. . . A cute, but sad-eyed lass at the Edison Green Room bar bemoaning her inability to land a job in the theater. . . "My mother's so darned old-fashioned she won't let me work for the Minskys," she complains bitterly. . . Francis Lederer and Margo applauding at the debut of Eva Ortega at Club Guacho. . . Minor and Root, two of the town's better ballroom dancers, walking along Fifth avenue out of step!

Short Story: She came to New York from away out West at the beginning of the fall. Her ambition was to go on the stage and like so many others, she had star dust in her eyes. Again, like so many others who come here similarly blinded, her purse was thin. Back home, she'd worked in a millinery shop. Weary of tramping from agent to agent, she got a job making hats. One of the shop's customers is an actress, somewhat well-known. When the youngster learned her identity, she had a heart to heart talk with her. At the conclusion the actress asked her how much she got and was told $35 a week. At that the actress wanted to know if there wasn't another opening in that shop. In the last five years her earnings have averaged less than $15. The little girl from the West is plying her needle contentedly since back home her weekly pay was $15.

Names and Events: Early this year the name of rooms—his identity seems to be a closely guarded secret—at the Hotel Montclair bestowed on the new banquet hall, the title of "Spanish Room." When the decorators were about halfway through with their work, the Spanish civil war broke out and good taste made such a designation taboo. Accordingly, the room name decided to redecorate and call the hall the "King Edward VIII Room." And when the room was about finished, King Edward abdicated. So someone else took a hand and supplied a name, which pays unintentional tribute to a modern prophet of coming events. It's now the "Crystal Room."

Pet Peeves: Ripe olives. . . Long-winded commercial radio announcements. . . Latecomers in theaters. . . Cauliflower. . . Writing "Mama-roose" or "Hamtramck" on the typewriter. . . Bridge hand post-mortems. . . Theater hat checkers. . . Red fingernails. . . Press agents who try to wisecrack and don't quite make it. . . Dirty post card peddlers. . . Autoists who race their motors as I am passing. . . Doormen who slam taxi doors when no tips are forthcoming. . . Shifty waiters.

Single Tracks: There are many specialists in New York. A big downtown establishment handles nothing but celery. There are stores where only pork is sold and others that deal solely in sausages. On the Stock Exchange, there are operators in single lines of securities. In the wholesale district, I spotted a store that sells buttonholes. But over on Ninth avenue, I found a real specialist. He deals only in garlic.

Yelling for Dear Life: Included in the foregoing list should have been Phyllis Bolce. She makes her living screaming. As a federal theater project player, she screams only once a performance and for that receives $23.87 a week. She has earned $50 a scream, however. That was in a Joan Crawford picture of years ago. What with retakes and all, her screams brought her $1,000. © Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

Wildcat Stows Away London.—It took 14 men and a bottle of chloroform to subdue a wildcat which was found in the hold of the Royal Mail Line cargo steamer Highland Brigade when the vessel arrived here. It is believed the cat boarded the vessel and hid in the hold while the ship was in Buenos Aires.

Hat Gets Red Ribbon to Cap Wanderings

Mt. Vernon, O.—E. W. Long, Mt. Vernon theater manager, wears a red ribbon around his hat because it has been taken from a restaurant three times by mistake. Each time it was taken by a traveling man who returned it on his next trip here. The first time it went to New York, next time to Columbus, and the next time to Chillicothe, O.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruckart

Washington. — I suppose most members of congress will deny it, but there certainly is every evidence of an agreement, an understanding, to let President Roosevelt's radical court reform legislation stew until the country is heard from. There is no doubt in my mind nor in the minds of other observers here that representatives and senators are anxiously awaiting word from their constituents because if any issue ever was loaded with political dynamite, the plan to pack the Supreme court of the United States with six additional judges surely contains highly explosive elements.

The facts I have mentioned in the above paragraph explain largely why there are so many senators and house members who remain non-committal on the issue. They want to know which way to jump. Actually, I believe as many as half of them are going to try to determine which band wagon they ought to ride—whether they ought to go against the President or for him. In other words, the spot they are now on is not nearly so hot as the one upon which they may find themselves if they guess wrong at this time. No politician will ever jump from the frying pan into the fire knowingly.

In the meantime, the debate rages. Out and out supporters of President Roosevelt, the kind of men who follow him blindly because he is their leader, and the extreme opposition type who are against the President regardless of his position are battling for public attention. The radio is being used to an extent as great, if not greater, than occurred in the last campaign. Those who are committed for or against the President's reform proposition are anxious to sustain their positions and the remainder of the national legislature is egging on the more bold members in order that those who have not made up their minds can take advantage of word from back home.

In the meantime, as well, there are proposals and counter-proposals seeking a compromise. Few of them have any definite merit. Most of them, I believe, are purely and solely representative of floundering minds. Their sponsors entertain hopes that somehow, somewhere they will gain a streak of light that will guide them through to a proper answer politically.

There has been only one plan for giving the federal government more power that can possibly be described as sound. That is the original proposition by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader of the senate, who announced early in the session of congress that he favored an amendment to the Constitution. While Senator Robinson did not then say so, nor has he said so since, the truth is that he and many others would like to see the people of the country have an opportunity to pass upon any program that would change the country's judiciary. The President regards this method as too slow. He thinks that any changes which he desires ought to be made at once and holds that the tremendous majority by which he was re-elected gives him authority to do so. Yet, as the picture now stands, there is every prospect of considerable delay and from the way I analyze the circumstances, delay will provide the vast majority of voters with an opportunity for determination of the question which is vital in this case: Does the country want to keep an independent system of courts or does it want to establish a precedent by which this administration or any other administration can influence those courts to do the bidding of the nation's Chief Executive?

Through many years and in every year there has been constant criticism of congress for delay in reaching conclusions. It is fortunate, in my opinion, that these delays constitute a part of our governmental system. They allow time for cooling off.

I think it will be generally agreed that every time legislation is rushed through congress ahead or as part of an emotional wave among citizens, there has invariably resulted unworkable, if not entirely unsound, statutes. Such is bound to be the result when men and women fail to think things through—when they fail to examine all of the phases of any problem.

President Roosevelt moved quickly, and I believe sincerely, in proposing the NRA and the farm relief plan under the agricultural adjustment administration. Yet, neither of these reform measures stood the test of workability; neither had been drafted upon a proper knowledge of the ends they were to serve and neither did justice to all of the people. It was only natural, therefore, that they should fall by the wayside.

These two laws are cited because they are the outstanding examples of emotional legislation. There are many others, most of them not as bad. But lately one offshoot of the NRA has arisen to plague the administration. I refer to the so-called Walsh-Healey law.

In order to refresh memories, let me explain that the Walsh-Healey law prohibits the federal government from buying products of mills, or factories, or any fruit of labor, unless the supplying contractor has complied with the same minimum hours and wages that were a part of the old NRA codes. Unless the contractor agrees to produce the material which the federal government is buying in accordance with those terms, his bid must be rejected under the law.

When the Walsh-Healey law was passed, there were comments heard in several quarters that the time would come when the government itself would regret the legislation. That time has arrived.

Everyone is aware, of course, that Great Britain has started on a naval building program under which it will expend approximately seven and a half billion dollars in the next five years. American policy always has called for matching the British navy ship by ship. Fifteen years ago when the Harding disarmament program was written into treaty form, we destroyed ships so that our tonnage was the same as that of Great Britain. Now, with the world in a turmoil, with Great Britain announcing an unprecedented building program in order to protect its vast colonies and dominion from aggression, the need arises for a building up of our navy again. At least that is Mr. Roosevelt's view and he has wide support for it.

To build up the navy requires vast amounts of steel and other products of industry. Much of the naval building will be done in the navy's own yards. Thus, it has come to pass that the navy has been unable to obtain steel and other equipment since the manufacturers of the needed equipment are not willing to subject themselves to the terms of the Walsh-Healey law. In some instances where the navy has sought to buy material, the manufacturers have refused even to make an offer or state a price at which they would sell the required material and there is a very real possibility that unless the Walsh-Healey law is repealed or dodged, our navy building program may have to come to a halt.

The reason for this condition is that the Walsh-Healey law, with its prescription on minimum hours of labor and wages would place a burden on industry that it cannot bear and return its cost of production. The government, as a buyer, is a tough customer in any event. Its specifications are always more difficult than is the practice in industry. Add to that, then, the requirement that men may work only 30 hours a week and that their pay shall not be reduced from the rate of their compensation when they were working 40 hours a week and you have burdened any manufacturing establishment with a load that will break its back.

Right now, the Navy department is trying to find a way to get around the provisions of the Walsh-Healey law. President Roosevelt has said nothing publicly concerning his attitude but there are many who believe he himself feels the law is not working out the way it was intended.

It is quite a distance, of course, from the Walsh-Healey law to the present controversy under Mr. Roosevelt's plan to pack the Supreme court with six new judges if one stops his examination of the two questions at the surface. It is not difficult, however, to see a direct connection. The Walsh-Healey law was driven through congress in haste. The bad effects of it are coming now two years after its enactment. If the Supreme court reform proposal is driven through as quickly and with as little examination as the Walsh-Healey law, we will reap the reward sooner or later and probably for many years to come.

Experiences of Life—

Their Significant Interest and Some Ways to Meet Them

THE journey through life is filled with experiences from the time we are born to the day we die. Without them life would be dull and uninteresting. The more experiences are crowded into our lives the fuller and more interesting they become.

When we are in the midst of events that have elements of danger or when they are of momenvelopment would be retarded. There is no age limit to the series of experiences.

Learning by Experience.

The benefits of our life experiences come through our way of taking them, and on our wisdom of decisions when these require of ourselves only we become selfish, hard, and difficult. If we decide with a larger vision of results, and of the best good to others as well as to ourselves, we become fine and strong characters. By the exercise of good judgment and by making the best of things we learn to develop well by experiences.

tous proportions with matters at stake that may be disastrous, should things turn out differently from our wishes, the mind is too excited or too much engrossed with results to grasp anything but the immediate moment.

Reviewing Experiences.

However, on looking back over the past, we discover what thrilling times we went through, and how the experiences stand out as dramatic and of significant interest. Often we find ludicrous features entered into the experience but we had no eyes to see them at the time. We can laugh over them and actually enjoy the remembrances of what were breath-taking events when they happened.

No Age Limit.

Since life is so full of experiences some of which turn out felicitously, and others not so satisfactorily, there must be a good reason for our having to go through the events. I remember when I was a little girl and there was something which, to me, seemed very important to decide rightly, how I envied grown-ups. They always knew just what to do! The fallacy of this assumption we all know, but we do not all appreciate how dull life would be if it were true, and how de-

Well-Dressed at Little Cost

IT WAS some job, Ladies of The Sewing Circle, to get these three lovelies together to pose for the camera this week. They're under the strict tutelage of Dame Fashion just now, learning the latest lessons on how to be well turned out this Spring without benefit of a private mint. You can understand, then, why the co-ed above, center, sort of jumped the gun, so to speak, and was already on her way when the camera clicked.

A Frock That Clicks.

Speaking of things clicking, don't think that new princess gown she's wearing isn't doing it in a big way. Can't you see from where you're sitting that it is simple to sew besides being a figure-flatterer of the first order? The buttons half way and a neat little collar in contrast are all its lively lines need to complete the perfect balance—chic vs. simplicity. Take a tip from this stylish student and figure it out for yourself in cashmere or velveteen. The style is 1202 and it can be had in sizes 12-20 (30-38). Size 14 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material plus 3/4 yard contrasting.

Go Print for Spring.

The charming young lady above, left, has chosen to model a very dainty and rather picturesque little frock for she believes you'll be interested in this style as a fitting gesture to Springtime. Especially in a modern print, featuring, say, pussycats or deep-sea flowers, would this frock be tempting. The skirt is bias-cut for artistic reasons, and the circles of contrast aid and abet its gracefulness. Let yourself go print then, come Spring. Style 1257 is designed in sizes 12-20 (30-40 bust). Size 14 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material. Eleven yards of bias binding is required for trimming as pictured.

Gay House or Street Frock.

Let's you begin to think every day is Sunday for our starring trio, the trim-looking young lady above, right, wants you to concentrate now on her new gingham gown. Not an ordinary bread-and-butter cotton version, but a beautifully cut, carefully planned dress for general service. The linked button front is enough to give it first place on your Spring sewing list if Sew-Your-Own designers know their clients as well as they think. However, there's more to recommend it: a young becoming collar, a simple yoke-and-sleeve-in-one construction, and a slender action-built skirt. Put them all together they spell CHIC—that little word with a vast meaning. Style 1267 is for sizes 34-48. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 35 inch material plus 1 1/4 yards contrasting.

When cream will not whip, add the white of one egg and thoroughly chill before whipping.

Horseradish Sauce—This condiment gives the tang to hot roast beef. Mix together two tablespoons of grated horseradish, one tablespoonful of brown sugar, a good pinch of salt, a teaspoonful of made mustard and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Lastly, add a quarter-pint of cream, or the yolk of an egg and a little milk.

Chocolate stains may be removed by washing in cold water or by soaking in boiling water to which borax or a little glycerin has been added.

When blankets are to be washed for the first time they should be soaked over night in cold water and then rinsed. This is to remove the sulphur used in bleaching. After this they should be soaped until clear in a lukewarm lather made with boiled soap and water, and then rinsed well in clear water.

Dishes that have contained sugar or greasy articles should be soaked in hot water before washing.

Don't treat your stockings carelessly. Put them on carefully, and be sure that feet and leg seams are straight. The slightest twist will alter the position of reinforced
