BECKHAM TALKS ON CITIZENSHIP AT CHAPEL HOUR

CANDIDATE DELIVERS NON-PARTISAN SPEECH

Hon. J. C. W. Beckham, three times governor of Kentucky, spoke on citizenship in a brief address in chapel at Murray State College July 29. Although Mr. Beckham was a candidate for United States Senator, his address in chapel was non-partisan and he expressed pleasure at an opportunity to get his mind off of politics.

Dr. James H. Richmond, president, in welcoming the distinguished visitor, introduced Senator Beckham as a man "who needs no introduction to a Kentucky audience." Dr. Richmond expressed his opinion that only one other Kentuckian has won and kept the confidence of Kentuckians as had Beckham—Henry Clay.

Education concerned only with the teaching of arithmetic, history, and geography is not a complete education. The object of public education is to build up citizenship, stated the visiting speaker.

The state finances its schools and students and teachers should discharge this obligation by doing all they can to develop citizenship, according to Senator Beckham, adding this can be accomplished by training the young in the home and in the school.

An unselfish regard for the rights and principles of others will serve to promote the struggle to achieve a government of equal opportunities for all, the ex-governor averred.

This Kentucky statesman, who was instrumental in the establishment of the normals at Richmond and at Bowling Green, told of one of his early experiences as a teacher. At the age of 19 he was principal of the school in his home town. Feeling it necessary to appear as old as possible, he wore whiskers and a mustache. He says that his older sister told him that he looked like one of the oldest monkeys.

"I wish you success," Mr. Beckham said in congratulating Murray students.

Dr. Richmond introduced Highway Commissioner Robert Humphreys and Senator T. O. Turner. He also announced students would be excused to go home to vote in the primary election, without penalty for missing classes.

The college band played two numbers at the beginning of the chapel hour.

Mrs. Miller Is First Candidate for M. A. Degree

The first Murray graduate to complete work for her master's degree at Murray State College is Mrs. Reba Brown Miller, Murray, who will attend the graduating exercises in August at the University of Kentucky, through which she will receive her honors.

Mrs. Miller, a native of Calloway county, and a graduate of Murray High School, received her bachelor of science degree at Murray and formerly was employed as an instructor in the Training School.

According to Dr. G. Turner Hicks, education department head at Murray College, eight students have filed their applications for master's degrees from Murray since graduate work was established in the teachers colleges.

Mrs. Miller, in holding the unique distinction of being the first Murray College graduate to complete the master's degree requirements, also completed her work at the end of the first summer term and is now doing research work while waiting for the graduating exercises at the University.

Candidates for the master's degree who did their work at Murray will receive their formal degrees from the University of Kentucky since such work will be discontinued at the close of the summer term in all teachers colleges by order of the state department.

Elected at Boaz

Miss Virginia Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Crawford of the college addition, has accepted a position to teach Home Economics and English at Boaz, Ky. She will receive her bachelor of science degree this summer with a major in home economics,

Colonel "Fats" Everett of Kentucky Is Now Squire in Tennessee

ty, Tenn., in the recent election. This is the first office the Colonel, an ardent Democrat and a loyal Roosevelt supporter, has ever sought, and his many friends in Murray wish him success in his first tremendous task.

Everett, who was a graduate of Murray in last spring's class, is now employed in the school system of Obion County.

While in Murray, Everett was active and probably did more than anyone else in organizing the Young Democrats Club, and was an active member and ex-president of the International Relations Club. He was one of the sidelines of every Murray football game, and had a "reserved" seat on the stage at all basketball encounters. He was appointed to the office of "Colonel" on the staff of ex-Governor Ruby Laffoon.

Rhodes Scholar Talks in Chapel on Oxford Life

Prof. Shepard Jones

Prof. Shepard Jones, former member of the faculty, and a graduate of Oxford, spoke briefly in chapel Wednesday morning, August 5, describing the Oxford manner and customs. He is now a member of the faculty at Harvard.

Termining his speech as "rambling," Mr. Jones, who is a brother-in-law of Prof. A. F. Yancey, of the physics department, took up the various phases of Oxford life. He expressed it as if one had come out of "Eddyville" after a sojourn there, to be back in Murray. "The walls have bits of ground glass, and steel spikes protrude from the stones, so as to discourage anyone in top hat, white tie, and tails, from climbing over after the gates close at ten."

"Sports are given a prominent place in Oxford life," the Rhodes Scholar stated, "and dinner will insult any American." Mr. Jones attributed this to the fact that if anyone had a full stomach, he would not be able to traverse a tennis court, or play rugby as it should be played.

"Life is both formal and casual at Oxford," Mr. Jones related. "There is the utmost formality in some things, and the most informal doings at tea that I have ever seen." He closed by urging Murray students to beware of the teacher that gave "Oxford Examinations."

As a preliminary to his speech, the music department of the college presented Maurice Brausa in a baritone solo, and Ruth Elaine Crawford and Roy Darnell in piano solos.

TO GIVE BANQUET

President and Mrs. J. H. Richmond will give a reception for all graduating seniors of Murray State College in the lobby of the men's dormitory Wednesday evening, August 12. According to Miss Alice Keys, administrative secretary, invitations have already been sent to each senior.

BANQUET IS GIVEN FOR DR. RICHMOND BY MEN OF MURRAY

Over 60 Citizens Attend Appreciation Fete at Hotel

JOE LOVETT SPONSORS GATHERING ON JULY 29

Dr. James H. Richmond, president of Murray State College, was honored by the citizens of Murray at a dinner given at the National Hotel, July 29. Joe T. Lovett, editor of the Ledger & Times, was sponsor and toastmaster of the banquet.

More than 60 men gathered in the dining room to honor the man who is actively directing the educational progress of the school.

Dr. Richmond spoke of plans for the purchase of a farm to be used for the students now unable to attend college, for the teaching of better agricultural methods and at the same time for the production of food supplies for the college. He also stated that at the next meeting of the board of regents a suggestion will be made to offer pre-vocational courses, enabling students to attend Murray three years, go to a standard professional school the fourth and receive a degree from Murray.

To these suggestions, the citizens gave indications of approval and cooperation.

A series of short talks were made by representatives of the various civic and college groups. A. B. Austin, former dean of men of the college, suggested that the slogan for Murray be "On With Richmond." Luther Robertson, president of the Rotary Club, pledged the club members support to Dr. Richmond's program. Dr. Charles Hire, representing the college faculty, spoke as a citizen as well as a faculty member.

T. H. Stokes, member of the board of regents, reviewed the history and discouraging beginning of the college. Max Hurt welcomed Dr. Richmond as a citizen to Western Kentucky "where the pastures are greenest."

Mr. Lovett paid tribute to the leadership of Dr. Richmond and pledged to them the support of the entire community.

Ralph Churchill and R. H. Fallwell sang two solos each.

FOWLER PLAYS SAW AT CHAPEL PERIOD

CCC Official Presents Unusual Program for Murray Students

Edgar Fowler, a soil agronomist at the CCC camp in Murray, presented a "saw music" program in chapel August 3. Mr. Fowler had for his instrument a common carpenter's saw and a violin bow. The instrument had the effect of a muted violin.

Mr. Fowler was accompanied at the piano by Letcher Melton, a sophomore at Murray State College.

The first part of the program was taken up by Mr. Fowler in explaining how to make the different musical notes on the saw.

He played the following numbers: "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes"; "Sweet Mystery of Life"; "Miserere"; "Lonesome Road"; "The Rosary"; and "The Road to Mandalay."

Dr. Hire, acting dean of the college, added much to the merriment of the audience by inspecting the saw after the musical program.

Turner Arrives at Village in Alaska

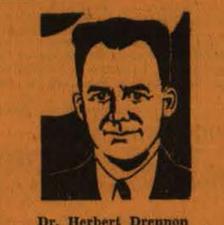

Billy Turner, brother of Ruyayne Turner, a student in Murray State College, has just recently arrived in Klawock, Alaska, a small Indian village on the western shores of one of the Prince of Wales Islands 900 miles north of Seattle, Wash. Turner, whose home is in Wingo, has a contract with a government packing company there.

Mail service at Klawock, according to Turner, is by air, and comes once or twice per week. The climate at this time of the year, Turner said, is ideal. His next station which he will reach by airplane will be a small town 10 miles from the Pacific on the end of a narrow bay surrounded by mountains and trees, and there he will inspect the fishing grounds.

Turner left Kentucky eight years ago and since then has spent two years in Detroit; four years in San Jose, Calif., and two in Seattle. Before that time he was a student in Murray State College,

PROF. F. D. MELLEN SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

Discusses "The Techniques of the Stage" at Assembly Hour.

Prof. F. D. Mellen, English and public speaking instructor, addressed the student body and faculty of Murray State College in chapel Monday, July 27. The Murray instructor, who was introduced by President James H. Richmond, had for the subject of his address, "The Techniques of the Stage." He was assisted in his address by Miss Dove Anna Crass, who gave a reading, "La Guillotine" which illustrated some of the points in his speech.

Mr. Mellen pointed out in his talk several of the masteries that the speaker or reader must have and Miss Crass illustrated some of these masteries in her reading.

The instructor showed that one who would master the acting of a play must know the general meaning intended by the author and, hence, must have the historical background of the play and the meaning of every sentence and word in the play. He must also know the details, the scenery and the stage accessories, and the art of lighting, make-up, costumes, dancing and music.

Miss Crass, a sophomore, who has had only one course in speaking, read an excerpt from the last chapter of Dickens, "Tale of Two Cities," describing the execution of the heroic villain on the guillotine.

11 States Found Represented by Summer Students

Eleven states are represented on the campus of Murray State College this summer. From as far north as Wisconsin and west as Texas, students have selected Murray as their summer college home for 1936.

The states represented are as follows: Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Texas, Ohio, Oklahoma, and Wisconsin. Kentucky and Tennessee lead in the number of students and high schools represented. A check of the enrollment cards shows that graduates from 145 different high schools are enrolled. Ninety-nine are Kentucky schools; 20 are Tennessee; 9, Illinois; 5, Missouri; and 4, Arkansas. Schools represented from other states number from one to three.

A still further check reveals that approximately half of the students attending Murray College this summer have had previous teaching experience. This is quite a contrast to the personnel of the student body of the fall and winter months.

Many of the present enrollment will assume their teaching positions after completing the summer's work. Others will remain here to work toward degrees.

Prof. G. B. Pennebaker to Work on Doctor's

Prof. G. B. Pennebaker, instructor in the biology department of Murray State College, has received a year's leave of absence effective in September to do work on his doctor's degree, the College News learned today.

Professor Pennebaker will attend the University of Wisconsin, at Madison, Wis., from which he received an honorary scholarship, and he plans to complete his requirements for his Ph. D. degree by June 1937. He will major in genetics, and minor in zoology.

The Murray instructor received his A. B. and M. S. degree from the University of Kentucky, and in 1931 did a year's advanced work at the University of Wisconsin, that also being the result of a scholarship.

56 Seniors Apply for Degrees at Commencement

"The Vision of the Scholar" will be the subject of Dr. Herbert Drennon's commencement address Friday evening, August 14, at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium. Fifty-six seniors have applied for degrees.

Dr. Drennon is the head of the English department of Murray State College. He received his Ph. D. degree from the University of Chicago, and took his master's degree from Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn., where he taught two years. He came to Murray in 1928 and delivered the commencement address for Murray State on May 31, 1934.

Contributions which Dr. Drennon has made to scholarly and professional journals have won recognition by eminent scholars in the United States and abroad.

The Rev. Carroll Hubbard will give the invocation and benediction, and will also receive his A.B. degree with a major in English. Mr. Hubbard is pastor of the Baptist Memorial Church of Murray.

The college band and the girls' quartet will be in charge of the music.

Dr. James H. Richmond, president, will preside at the address and will confer the degrees upon the graduates.

TRAVIS LEADS MUSIC SCHOOL

Howard and Walker Aid in Providence Study Center.

The Travis Summer School of Music at Providence, Ky., is being taught by three former Murray State College students. The instructors are John W. Travis, Providence, voice and piano; the instructor, Phil Howard, Smith, Ky., who is teaching piano; and Bonnie Walker, Alamo, Tenn., teacher of wind and string instruments.

According to Travis, founder of the school, the three plan to return to Murray College this fall to continue their studies here. Twenty-seven students are enrolled for music studies under their supervision. The school building, a 5-room structure rented by the teachers, is well-equipped for music instruction, according to Travis, and pianos are in three of the rooms.

On Friday, July 10, the school presented a successful recital, a feature of which was the singing of Travis, Howard's piano playing, and Walker's trombone solos.

In addition to their work as instructors in the school, Travis, Howard, and Walker tune pianos, and regulate and repair instruments.

Physics Club Has Last Meeting of Summer Session

The Nathan B. Stubblefield Physics Club held its last meeting of the summer semester Monday night, August 3, in the physics lecture room of the liberal arts building. President Walter Wuster presided over the program and business meeting.

One of the most interesting programs of the summer was given, with Vernon Gresham, Mayfield, and Prof. A. F. Yancey, of the physics department, appearing on the program.

Gresham spoke on the "Transmission of Power as a Challenge to Experiments." He brought out the fact that man produced by muscle power only 10 per cent of the power used today. Also he quoted Thomas A. Edison to the effect that this country will soon be using direct current for household use instead of alternating current.

Mr. Yancey discussed Planck's "Quantum Theory" and Planck's "Constant." According to Mr. Yancey, the Quantum Theory is the most logical and recent explanation of the radiation of light energy.

Before adjourning the meeting, Wuster appointed Vernon Gresham, Herman Hogan, and Ocie Mae Owen as a committee responsible for the organization of the club on the second Monday night of the fall semester.

Bill Orr of Paducah, former student of Murray, was a visitor on the campus August 4.

DR. RICHMOND'S AGRICULTURE APPEAL

Our college president, Dr. James H. Richmond, and the business men of Murray should be praised in their efforts to establish a college farm at Murray.

The most important reason for a college farm at Murray is the employment of college students. There are hundreds of students who are eager to attend Murray College if they can find means to take care of part of their expenses while here. These students do not have the funds to attend Murray unless they have some aid. Many of these students could be employed on a college farm in overseeing the production of eggs, vegetables, fruits, and dairy products for college consumption, thus making it possible for the college to be largely self-sustaining.

Another reason for the establishment of a college farm is that most of the students at Murray come from farming areas, and many of the students at Murray will be farmers. Others will teach agriculture or they will be associated with farmers after graduating from Murray. So it would be nothing but practical to give them experience on a college farm at Murray. Agriculture is the chief means of livelihood in Western Kentucky. In fact, all of this territory depends indirectly upon the farmer. At least, all of the students should be acquainted with agriculture.

As Dr. Richmond says, this would provide for a diversified curriculum at the college as well as up-to-date farming methods in Calloway and adjoining counties. The citizens of Murray and Dr. Richmond have already cooperated in making the Gilbertville Dam almost a certainty. We believe they will again display this same energy in making a college farm at Murray.

profound enjoyment throughout the performance. We judge the performance to have been unusually successful, and we congratulate the play production class, its instructor and those persons not in the class but still interested in dramatics who contributed to the making of the play so signally a success.

Dorm Doings

By Seth Boaz

I should be good at this type of column—the one where one says goodbye in as many different words and languages as possible—for this is the severalth time that I have promised my readers that I was leaving, fate being unkind to all of us after each attempt. But somehow the words are even more elusive at this setting than at the previous trials, and I am still at loss.

It is really unkind of a person to expect a college student to write a column during the last two weeks of school, anyway. There is always the realization, about this time, that all of the semester's work must be done within the next few days; this on top of the studying for exams that must also take place. It really shouldn't be asked. But then, come to think of it—who asked me to write this, anyway?

Of course none of you will believe me, but I thought of a good paragraph only a moment ago, while I was writing the one above, but now it's gone, and I suppose I shall go on through life without becoming famous, since opportunity knocks but once. Funny that I am always out at the wrong time. Funny thing about fortune, too, as I once hear. While she only knocks once, her daughter, Miss Fortune, is a persistent caller.

I've tried every known stimulant, (nearly), and still the idea refuses to reappear. Guess I'll just have to keep on stippling throughout this whole area. And for the benefit of those students who have not had biology—stippling is what one does to a drawing when there is space to be filled in an object. It denotes the presence of something, but no one is able to tell from the drawing just what it is. In other words, when stumped, stipple.

I keep writing and writing and writing, (me and Gertrude Stein) and still the end of the page won't come into sight, and I don't get anywhere. (Me and Gertrude Stein).
 The play Thursday night proved interesting. She is living in Farmington, Mich., at present.
 Such was the quality of the acting, the delineation of character, the strength of individually-interpreted iambic dialogue, that the rather large audience sat in

Wells Hall is described in our college annual as "massive dignity of stately columns relieved by lifting laughter, singing, cheering groups, excited nonsense of dates called for and delivered, windows darkened one by one as studious co-eds drift off." This slogan will be appreciated more next year by the old and new students, when they enter the doors and behold the new furniture, walls redecorated, floors re-worked, and new draperies.

Red leather divans and chairs are arranged artistically in the beautiful lobby. One parlor will have blue curly mohair, overstuffed furniture with matching accessories and the other in red of the same materials. The sun-parlor will be in Early English maple with colorful cushions resembling autumn leaves. No doubt there will be a penalty on the usual wall covering of the average American college girl, which consist of signs, such as: Curve, drive slow; stop, look, and listen, railroad crossing; beware, bad dog; no smoking; pictures of favorite movie stars, and the like. The hum of the electric polisher which started yesterday morning in the office proved that the long talked of improvement of our college home has at last come into realization. Tap, tap, tap go the hammers

NOW, and THEN

By Edward Freeman

Of the 58 candidates for degrees August 14, several have shown marked aptitudes in certain departments, enough so that the mention of their names immediately strikes connotations of their specialties.

Roy Darnall is perhaps the most talented pianist to be graduated from Murray since Paul Bryant; William Crawford is almost inseparable with the biology department; Seth Boaz, Jr., climaxed his collegiate career with the editorship of the College News; Joe Horrell gravitates toward literature; Carroll Hubbard is a Latin scholar and pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church; Katherine Bondurant hobbyed in dramatics; Ethel Quarles was the first Junior-Senior Prom Queen; Dixie Moore was football cheer leader; and Elizabeth Christine Johnston of late has become the down-town theatre ticket-sales girl.

The 27-year old Shepard Jones, Rhodes Scholar, Oxford graduate, holder of a master's degree from Vanderbilt, former instructor in social science at Murray State College, one-time student at Harvard and class-room instructor there next year, possesses the rare combination of athletic ability, vivacity and enthusiasm, and a marvelous knack for retaining information. Campus recollections (not my own) include the summer he was tennis champion at Murray State and indulged in other sports with the spirit of a Greek Marathoner.

Post-election I - told - you - soers adorn conspicuous passages waiting for prey. Loud self-satisfied laughs peel from the throats of the knock-it-all. The Post-office and the book store in the library basement seem to be the melting pot for the glib-tongued, flashing-eyed parasites of the right of suffrage. Only the self-styled republicans are immune, and their quips are the most biting since most of the pre-election supposition was concerned with the democratic party.

Irrelevancies: Seth Boaz, upon being congratulated by a staff member on his editorship to the College News, returned with characteristic wit: "I congratulate the College News." watching and umpiring the intramural must think it's still spring, ala the Tennyson epigram... The vivacious Virginia McDowell transmits her conversation with brilliant cleverness... Professor Pennabaker, biology department instructor, will leave for Madison, Wis., in September to complete his Doctor's Degree work at the University of Wisconsin. A year's leave of absence from duties at Murray permitted him to accept a scholarship there.

Vignette: She flounced down at a table in the magazine room, gave a book a sideways fling, tore a letter in bits, and sat with elbows on the table propping her chin while with lips puckered she gazed straight ahead. Suddenly with a defiant flip of her hair she got up and ankleed prettily out.

Fuqua-Thomasson

Attractively arranged garden flowers made a delightful setting for the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Fuqua, Farmington, Ky., parents of Lillian Fuqua who became the bride of Boyce Thomasson June 13. The ceremony was conducted in the living room by the Rev. J. R. Scott, Union City, Tenn., in the presence of a few close friends and the immediate family. Libburn Fuqua, brother of the bride, was best man. Mr. Thomasson, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Thomasson of Lowes, Ky., graduated from Murray State College in June, 1934. He is now principal of the Fairbairn school. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Thomasson left for Memphis, Tenn., for a few days.

"Happy" Freeman Talks in Chapel on "Americanism"

"My Idea of True Americanism" was the subject used by Wayne "Happy" Freeman, senior from Symsonia, Ky., in a chapel address Friday morning, August 7.

Freeman, a member of the August graduating class, lashed the critics who he said were "undermining American Democracy." The purpose of democracy, he said, is "to achieve, preserve, and protect liberty, democracy and the pursuit of happiness."

Particularly did the speaker emphasize the urgent need of a more thorough and diligent study of the social order so that the country might be made to realize the absolute necessity of "independence of the press, free discussion and freedom of thought." Loyalty, courage and independent thought were said by the speaker to be the outstanding characteristics of a true American, and in no uncertain tones he challenged those critics who would establish a "different government."

In reviewing the different leaders of America, Freeman showed how "Human rights must be protected if a greater and brighter day can be expected for America"

Mrs. Robert Fox, a former student of this college, is visiting her sister, Mary Ellen Brown, in Wells Hall. Mrs. Fox was formerly Miss Emma Lou Brown and while attending Murray was outstanding in the music department.

Murray Expects Strong Cage Team Next Season

Seven Champs Will Be in Varsity Lineup

Judging all future records by the past, Murray should have one of the nation's outstanding basketball teams again next year.

When Murray opens her season in the John Wesley Carr gymnasium, there will be seven of last year's record-breaking squad back for more record-breaking. Capt. Willard Carroll, the newly-wed "Lulu" Graham, "Slim" McKeel, "Red" Burdette, "Sad Boy" Fowler, Bourke Mantle, and Wilms Keifer will be back to frolic on the hardwood once more.

Charley Vance, former Heath star who is reputed to be the best guard Heath ever turned out, Gene Bland, captain of last year's Frosh, and James Pierce, tip-off man on the same aggregation will help out a lot. Buck Hurley, John Jasper, Hugh Finley, Woodrow Burlison, and Dale Deibert should also greatly aid the Cutchmen's chances toward another SIAA championship.

As yet no schedule for the team has been released, but it is a known fact that this year's schedule will include several major opponents and, of course, Western, and Union, Murray's arch-rivals.

No Traffic Allowed Yet on New Concrete Road Thru Campus

Although the dirt is now being removed from the new concrete road, the first in Calloway County, no traffic will be allowed for 15 days, officials stated today. During this time the shoulders will be made and all work completed.

This road will make the intersection between the boulevard in front of the boys' dormitory and the Mayfield highway at "Five Points". No definite date has been given for the completion of the boulevard in front of the boys' dormitory. One may see the sign still there, however, "Men at Work".

Miss Haynes Elected in Winchester, Va.

Miss Gwendolyn Haynes of Marion, Ky., former public school teacher, has accepted the position of city supervisor of public music in Winchester, Va.

Miss Haynes, who has been in school this year, received her B. S. in music education from the school of music at the University of Louisville in June.

She will leave September 1 in order to assume her duties in Winchester when school opens in the fall.

Buildings Rapidly Nearing Completion On Murray Campus

Workers on the new building are in a big way of laying brick, according to officials in charge. The steel construction is near completion and the building will be ready for use by March.

The seating capacity of the boys gym will be 1500 to 2000. The steel construction of the seats for the swimming pool and boys gym is already completed.

The home economics practice house will be finished by November and will be furnished and ready for use by the beginning of the spring semester, the College News learned today.

This house will be fire proof and air conditioned.

WPA Projects Have Offices at College

Two state wide projects, the American Guide and Historical Record Survey of Kentucky, have opened a district office in the library building of Murray State College. These projects are operating under the Works Progress Administration with state office in Louisville.

Dr. U. R. Bell, state supervisor of Writers Projects at Louisville, and O. B. Wilder, district supervisor of Historical records survey at the University of Kentucky, are directing these projects.

The purpose of this work according to Mrs. Virginia Landfer, supervisor for this district, is to cover all phases of Kentucky life and history including folkways, type of people, origin and meaning of names of the counties and towns.

Maps have been made showing geological surveys, schools, roads, and boundaries of each county.

Gentry Visits

Robert Cecil Gentry, president of the student organization for the coming year and a senior at Murray State College, was a visitor on the campus last Friday, July 31.

Gentry was elected first official president of the Student Organization last April. He is an outstanding student at Murray State and is an active member in a number of different clubs on the campus.

Dr. U. R. Bell, state supervisor of Writers Projects at Louisville, and O. B. Wilder, district supervisor of Historical records survey at the University of Kentucky, are directing these projects.

DR. CARMAN WINS TENNIS TITLE BY TOPPING WELLS

Professor Comes Back to Triumph 6-0, 4-6, 6-2, August 5

CHAMP REGAINS 1928 STATUS IN TOURNEY

Maybe "Once they're gone, they don't come back", but Dr. M. G. Carman, professor of mathematics in Murray State, on August 5 regained the championship title that he held in 1928 by defeating O. C. Wells Jr., Murray, Ky., in the Murray State College tennis tournament in a grueling 2½ hours match 6-0, 4-6, 6-2.

In reaching the finals, Dr. Carman defeated Ralph Brausa and Vernon Smith. In gaining his place in the finals, Wells beat James Lassiter, Seth Boaz, and Earl Smith.

The final was played in a driving wind causing attempted placements to be a bit erratic. In the second set Wells kept Dr. Carman deep in his back court with his smashing drives which gave him the set. Dr. Carman's net game was his greatest asset and in the opening and final sets he used it so effectively that he won both sets decisively.

Curran, Putnam Are Injured on Highway

Edwin Curran, a senior at Murray State College, and Lyle Lee "Fat Boy" Putnam, a freshman, were injured early Sunday morning, August 2, on the highway between Hardin and Murray, just this side of Dexter in Calloway county, while returning to Murray to visit some friends at the college.

Curran, of Decatur, Ill., is suffering from cuts and bruises about his head and shoulders. Putnam, also of Decatur, is suffering from a fractured wrist and cuts about his body.

Edwin has played football for Murray for the past two years, and will finish his excellent gridiron work this fall. He is majoring in biology and minoring in physics and chemistry.

"Fat Boy" played center on the Murray freshman team last year, and is expected to show up well on the varsity next fall.

Mrs. Richmond Improves Following Operation at Louisville Hospital

The operation was probably performed by Dr. H. C. T. Richmond, Mrs. Richmond having previously expressed her desire to that effect. Dr. H. C. T. Richmond is an eminent surgeon of Louisville and the brother of Dr. James H. Richmond. At 1:30 p. m. Saturday, Dr. James H. Richmond wired his secretary, Miss Jennie Breckenridge the following news:

"Mrs. Richmond stood operation fine." Later, in a telephone message, Dr. Richmond again indicated that Mrs. Richmond was getting along nicely.

McClellan Named Football Trainer

Hal McClellan, a senior at Murray State College, will begin his duties as football trainer for the Murray Thoroughbreds at the beginning of the fall semester.

McClellan, better known as "Slim" to the students on Murray campus, is the only football trainer Murray College has had since 1922. "Slim" will receive his B. S. degree next June, with a major in biology and a minor in physics and chemistry.

While attending Murray State College, he has been a member of the Chemistry, Physics, and the Pre-Medical clubs. For the past three years McClellan has been employed as student assistant to the Murray College physician.

Around The RACETRACK With The THOROUGHBREDS By Wollek

Well, folks this is the last issue that will come out this summer, and the last time that you will have to take up time reading this superfluous bit of warm atmosphere put out by this non-de-plume . . . "Put", Murray's sophomore center from Decatur, Ill., has been in the journalism office, and informs me that you will probably hear a lot about Ernest Gentry, 180-pound end, who will probably be in the Frosh lineup this fall. He was graduated from high school in '34, being all-state end in '33 for Illinois. . . . There will be another six-foot-pluser on Murray's varsity basketball squad this winter. He hails from U. T. Junior College and it is said that Burdette sat on the sidelines so he could be in there. If he's this good, Murray should really go to town. . . . And speaking of basketball, let's drift over to schedules. McKeel wants Murray to schedule the University of Arkansas Razorbacks for a couple of games next season. If you remember, it was Arkansas that beat Western in the spring's Olympics competition, dubbed as the "Southern champ" or champ of the South-West. Mac says that he will guarantee Murray of 20 points. (He says he'll make that many himself). . . . Burdette wants Murray to schedule University of Tennessee, and he'll beat them by himself he says. If Murray were to do this, there would be a good schedule, as Carroll and Graham would want Kentucky added (this would probably be impossible since they were challenged last year and no go). . . . and Fowler, the University of Illinois. Yep, Murray players would have a nice schedule if they were allowed to make their own choice. . . . And that is all for this time, this semester, and I'll see you next fall, maybe.

The greatest deficiency at present seems to be the lack of kickers and passers. Coach Stewart is developing men to fill the gap left confronted with the problem of the graduation of last season's kicking and passing artists. With that problem solved Murray will begin the season with a very promising group of footballers.

Four formidable tackles, all 200-pounders, Snyder, Cook, Wright, and Land, will face Murray's opposition. Applegate, a replacement from last year's frosh, will also contribute to this phase of the "Breds' attack.

Prospects are that running and blocking will be better than they have been since 1933, when the Thoroughbreds raced to the championship of the SIAA. Julian Henderson will captain the squad, and Burnette Miller will serve as alternate captain.

Players eligible from the '35 squad include Julian Henderson, Jones, West, Yarbrough, Neese, Thompson, and Miller, backs; and Gunter, Organ, Fowler, Cochran, Herndon, Land, Russell, and Wright, linemen.

Possible additions from the freshman ranks include Jasper, Nunn, banks; Deibert, Bland, and King, ends; Applegate, a tackle, Herlander, guard, and Putnam, center.

The complete schedule follows: Friday, September 25, Georgetown College at Murray (night). Saturday, October 3, Morehead College at Morehead. Saturday, October 3, Morehead College at Morehead. Saturday, October 3, Morehead College at Morehead.

College at Murray. Saturday, October 17, Mississippi College at Murray (Homecoming).

Friday, October 23, Middle Tennessee at Murfreesboro. Friday, October 30, Union University at Dyersburg, Tenn. (night) Saturday, November 7, West Tennessee at Memphis.

Friday, November 13, Tennessee Tech at Cookeville. Saturday, November 21, Western Kentucky at Murray.

Atwell Gets Draw in Hazel Bout

Tommy Atwell, a sophomore halfback in Murray College, took a bow in a new athletic profession Saturday night at Hazel, when he entered the amateur boxing ranks with a draw in his fight with C. T. Herndon, semi-finalist in the Golden Gloves Tournament at Paducah this spring.

The good-looking, head-haired Racerhorse went to work on Herndon's body in the early part of the fight and was on the verge of a knockout in the second round. Atwell, a Missouri product from Portageville, announces that he will probably enter the Golden Gloves Tourney in Paducah next spring.

Thoroughbreds Expect Good Record on Gridiron in 1936

VARSITY IS BLESSED WITH MANY ENDS

Present indications are that the Thoroughbreds will enjoy an unusually successful football season next fall. Murray will open her season with Georgetown here September 25.

Murray's varsity will be blessed with a splendid group of ends, Herndon, Keifer, Curran, Jones, Allison, and Alderson will all report as ends September 7 when fall practice begins. In addition to these veterans two splendid recruits from last year's freshman team, Deibert and Bland, will also be available.

Did you know that people don't put their names in their books? Look in yours if you don't believe it. Also there are three bullet holes in one of the lamposts on the steps of the library.

It is said that a certain co-ed sleeps with colored glasses on and leaves the light burning. J. Samuel Shelby, who played "Macbeth," some time during the performance "gigged" himself on the thumb with his sword. Accidentally, of course. Shelby, incidentally, made an excellent fall when he died after being stabbed by "MacDuff," Alton Thacker.

Joe Horrell and L. C. Litchfield are selling vest-pocket pants pressers. Joe has said something about getting rich.

Recent visitors included Col. R. A. Everett, candidate for magistrate in Obion County, Tenn., and instructor to be in Cloverdale High School, Harold Edwards is back up here still trying to sell belts; Elmer Cochran is working on the health building. I guess that's about all except a lot of prospective freshmen.

If you have never seen an English instructor watching a softball game, by strolling toward the athletic field some afternoon about 4 o'clock, you will find Dr. Drennon taking much interest in what is taking place.

If you think that they look like tombstones there in the moonlight you may be right, however they are stone trimmings for the Health Building. (No, I haven't seen them. Someone told me that one).

If you don't know: Russell Shriner has a scholarship from the Sherwood school of music in Chicago and is attempting to get one from L. S. U.

They just will come back—"Pete" Wright, Henry "Sputter" Hillard, "Romeo" Walker, Lyle Putnam, Ed Curran, Cecil Gentry, Joe Mullins—mostly to see the boys I suppose.

Prospects Good for Foreign Debate Says Coach at Murray

The prospects for Murray State College's varsity debate team's meeting the University of Cambridge, England, in an international debate here this year are very favorable, in the opinion of L. J. Horton, debate coach at Murray.

Word was received here last week from Miss Sylvia Sugerman, secretary of the New York book-club agency, confirming tentative arrangements. This will be the sixth international debate and the second one with Cambridge, Eng., in which Murray has taken part.

Miss Sugerman declared that the names of the Cambridge debaters and questions for debate will be sent out this month. Murray in all her foreign debates has never lost one.

Thirty colleges and universities are chosen from among 300 colleges and universities in the area in which Murray is listed. There are three areas in the United States to which England will send teams.

Murray College's debate team in its seven years of varsity debating has won 80 per cent of the 150 debates in which it has engaged.

Laud Wells Hall

Two co-eds from Peabody College, Miss Beck from Clovis, N. M., and Miss Smith, Savannah, Ga., visited Wells Hall Thursday night and according to Mrs. Mary Gardner, matron, they were very favorably impressed with the Hall and think that it deserves all the credit of the slogan that it is the "Most Beautiful Dormitory of the South."

Torrence and Muse To Teach in Davidson County Schools '36-37

Joe Torrence and Bennie Muse will teach in Davidson County schools in Tennessee this fall.

Joe will teach and aid the present athletic director at Cumberland High School, while Muse will have similar work at Goodlettsville, Tenn.

Both Muse and Torrence are Murray graduates. Torrence in the class of '35 and Torrence in the class of '36.

While at Murray Muse was outstanding in the sports field, taking part in football, volleyball, basketball, baseball and also acting as senior editor of the "Shield".

Torrence, better known at Murray as "Smoky Joe", took his B.S. in social science. He served as a freshman in '32, varsity in '33, '34, and '35. He was a member of the varsity "M" club and Henry Clay Debating club.

At present Muse is playing professional baseball with the Hopkinsville Kitty League and Joe is working with an engineering concern in Nashville.

Two From Murray State Take Part in Mayfield Program

Prof. W. M. Caudill, of the geography department of Murray College and Mrs. Mary Ed McCoy Hall, of the art department, made talks before a meeting of elementary school teachers of Graves County Friday, July 31, at Mayfield, Ky.

The meeting, which had for its theme the "Improvement of Elementary Teaching", was held in the courthouse and was in charge of W. H. Baldree, county superintendent.

Declaring that happiness is the goal of every man, Professor Caudill stressed the view that "people without vision perish and those without hope live in bondage."

Mrs. Hall's address was concerned with "Aids to Elementary Teaching."

Church Group Has Last Meet of Term

12 STUDENTS GET MURRAY DEGREES IN CLASS OF 1926

Group Was First Ever to be Graduated From Murray State

MISS EVELYN LINN WAS CLASS PREXY

By Kathryn Stephenson
In 1926 Murray State College, or Murray State Normal School, as it was then called, graduated 12 students. This was the first graduating class of Murray College and since that time the number of graduates each year has increased steadily until in 1934 the number reached 122.

Miss Evelyn Linn, president of the 1926 class, taught high school mathematics in the Murray Training School from the time of her graduation from Murray College until 1931 when she received her master's degree from Vanderbilt University after studying there. Since that time Miss Linn has been employed in the mathematics department of Murray College.

M. O. Wraether served as principal of the Hazel High School during the years 1926 to 1930. In 1930 he was elected county superintendent of education for Calloway County and will serve in this capacity until 1933.

Miss Emma Jane Helm has served in the M. S. T. C. Training School as sixth grade critic teacher since her graduation, except for time taken out for graduate study. She received her M. A. from Peabody College in the summer of 1931.

Mrs. Blanche Y. Martin was a teacher of home economics at Whitesville, Ky., in 1926-27. She served as Dean of Renhardt College, Waleska, Ga., from 1927-34. In 1934-35 she was employed as relief worker for the state of Georgia. For the past year, Mrs. Martin has taught home economics in the Barlow High School, Barlow, Ky.

Mrs. Carl Townsend, the former Miss Lucille Glasgow, taught in the Hickman City schools for two years after her graduation and then married. Since her marriage Mrs. Townsend has not been teaching.

Miss Murrel K. Moody served as principal of Cerulean High School for the year 1927-28. From 1928 to 1930 she worked as student teacher in the Bowling Green Business University, Bowling Green, Ky. For the past six years Miss Moody has served as commercial teacher in the Atlanta Commercial High School.

Mrs. Martha S. Carter has not engaged in the teaching profession. In 1930-31 and 1931-32 she did graduate work at the University of Chicago.

W. E. Morgan has served as principal of the Benton High

Elder Says Murray to Have Successful Football Season

"I think the prospects for Murray's having a successful football season next year are better than they've been at any time since 1933," declared Houston "Hound" Elder, graduating halfback from Murray State. Elder will get his B.S. degree in August, and will coach this fall at the Catlettsburg High School, Catlettsburg, Ky.

Elder came to Murray from Marion High School in 1922. He based his opinion of the excellence of next year's squad on the material for the different positions which is available, and the attitude of the players themselves. "Henderson's a great player," said Elder, "and a great captain. With him and the rest of the fellows going strong, the Thoroughbreds next year should make football history."

At Work

Field workers from the extension office are doing work in McCracken, Trigg, Webster and Caldwell Counties. Prof. Rue Beale is working Paducah and McCracken Counties. Prof. R. A. Sammy's Sayings

By Sam Boyd Neely

The only Murray State College student to appear in the amateur boxing tournament at Hazel was Tom Atwell. Atwell gave a remarkable exhibition, and fought C. T. Herndon of Gilbertsville to a draw in the main bout of the evening. Herndon was semi-finalist in the middle weight division in the amateur boxing tournament held at Paducah. No other than Bob Blaeser was Atwell's second. O. C. Wells Jr. was one of the promoters. Edd Kellow and Harold Story were others.

Biologists are always worrying because they are afraid that either the bees or the ants will conquer the human race. Physicists are afraid that someone will start changing energy into heat so fast that the world will catch on fire. Mussolini worries over the probability of the dark races conquering the world. But men, our biggest worry is to keep the women off the pinnacle of supremacy. After being granted the privilege of voting, they are trying to oust the men from the business world. As for me, I long for the good old days when man was a man, a spade was a spade, and a woman was a cooking utensil.

O. O. McIntyre says that Jack Dempsey who began his career by riding the rods has developed into an excellent after-dinner speaker. His only fault according to McIntyre, is his tendency to make grammatical errors. This reminds me of a statement by Will Rogers in regard to grammar. "There are a lot of people who ain't saying 'ain't' ain't eating." But I know the answer of English critics. There are several people who are saying "ain't" aren't eating.

I wonder how "Happy" Freeman feels over the election. He might follow the method employed by Max Schmeling's wife. Before each of her husband's bouts, she takes a sleeping potion. It wasn't necessary in Maxie's last bout with Joe Louis, but I would think it advisable in Freeman's case.

Snitches; Edd Kellow is now forming a tennis troupe. I wonder when the Young Democrats are going to have their banquet. L. C. Litchfield is gaining quite a reputation as an imitator. After a summer of softball, Edwin Gunter seems to be in fine shape for the gridiron next fall. Professor Pogue and Professor Lowry seemed to be in bad physical condition the day after the Murray citizens gave a banquet in honor of Dr. Richmond. Congratulations to Vernon Smith who received a scholarship from Vanderbilt.

Prospects Favorable for Dam, Says Logan

Things look favorable for the Gilbertsville dam project, according to Senator M. M. Logan, newly nominated to the Senate, and Dr. James H. Richmond, president of Murray State College.

In a letter to L. J. Hortin, secretary of the Lower Tennessee Association, Senator Logan stated that he would begin at once to push the proposed dam.

Preliminary work for the building of the dam, formerly known as "Aurora" dam, has already started. Dr. Richmond declared at a banquet given in his honor last week that the dam was sure to come. He also said that this would cause Murray State College's enrollment to double. To meet the needs of a larger enrollment the curriculum of the College will be altered, he said.

From One Great Institution To Another

Murray State College on August 14 will complete its thirteenth year of meritorious service to Kentucky. We commend the college's growth in those years as progress almost unparalleled. Only through splendid economic judgment by energetic men whose empire was educational universality could such results have been possible.

We believe in community good; we believe in Kentucky and America, because we are Kentuckians and Americans. And we believe in education.

Highways and conveniences are now composite parts of communities which are essentially rural. They were long in coming. They were results of worthy community aims. They turn and undulate and slope down to the far-separated homes of the heroic few who conquered over wilderness and savagery, and they symbolize a new era for America's youth—an era of amplified educational facilities.
