THE COMET HIT DIDN'T HURT.

If Anything Unusual Occurred Here No One Is the Wiser Today.

The tail of Halley's comet came within 100 miles of the earth. It didn't hurt. If any damage resulted to any inhabitant of the world, other than a scare to the superstitious and the afraid, it is not known.

Hundreds of persons throughout the county spent the greater part of the day Wednesday, and until the wee small hours of the morning awaiting the coming of the terrible "swish" that never came. Through smoked glasses many saw the "stars falling" during the day, while the fellow with a mind to grasp the eternal fitness of things prepared a long funnel-shaped tin telescope and as each gazer was viewing the terrible phenomena the other fellow dashed a cup of water down the funnel and the "falling star" was very visible, and in some low instances the cyanogen gases of the cuss words were, also, easily detected.

The comet came, the comet went, and this old earth is no worse and no better and thus far very little wiser.

There was no collision, as the superstitious and ignorant feared. The earth did pass through the tail of the comet, but none of the auroral effects which some netrometers were willing to concede might be visible, were in evidence.

Nor did anybody suffer from the deadly cyanogen gas.

Friday the comet will become visible again, headed away from us, with the tail sticking straight up out of the western sky, a little above the spot where the sun sinks. There will be no light from the rising sun to dim the glory of the spectacle and it is likely to be far more majestic than in the stages of the approach.

At the end of the month, goodbye, for another 75 years.

An Ideal Husband.

LAST SIDE CITIZENS

IN SHOOTING AFFAIR.

Robert Henry and Clem Roberts, citizens of the Spoon Grove section of the east side, engaged in a difficulty last Saturday near the home of Henry in which Henry fired several shots from a revolver at Roberts. No damage resulted to either belligerent other than a mare belonging to Roberts being struck by one shot, inflicting a serious wound in the neck. It is stated that Roberts was at Henry's home inquiring about a hog when the trouble arose.

Henry and his mother, who is charged with abetting the act of her son, were both arrested and brought to town and placed under bond to appear today for examining trial. When the examining trial was called the accused waived trial and were placed under bond to await the action of the grand jury.

2,500 DOLLARS SUBSCRIBED.

TWO THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS is the amount of stock that has been subscribed up to this hour for the purpose of establishing the Calloway County Fair Association. The mass meeting at the court house last Saturday was not largely attended but those who were present expressed and manifested quite a degree of interest in the enterprise.

The enterprise has now reached a state of almost certainty, and if the interest that has been manifested in the two mass meetings is continued there is nothing to prevent the success of the undertaking. A committee on organization was appointed upon motion of the mass meeting last Saturday and the chairman, Nat Ryan, announced the appointment of the committee Monday and this committee has had several meetings, dividing the county into four sections for canvassing and solicitors will start today and will push the matter rapidly. The entire capital stock of $25,000 must be raised by June 10. It is now up to the people of the county to encourage the enterprise by subscribing for as much stock as they will, and lend every assistance possible in securing the names of others to take stock.

The Ledger hopes to be able to report not less than $10,000 subscribed by this day next week.

The fair is to be a county institution and every progressive citizen should feel a pride in the success of the undertaking.

MAY BE CALLOWAY CO. BOY.

Young Man Murdered at Paducah Last Month May Be Wit Wilkins.

Was the young man who met death in or near the city Paducah the night of April 9th or morning of the 10th Wit Wilkins, of Calloway county?

Quite a sensation was caused in Paducah the 10th of last month by the discovery of the body of a young man near the city limits on Pool road. After several days the body was identified as being that of "Red" Thompson, of Decatur, Ala., and so complete was the identification that the mother of Thompson came to Paducah from her home in Birmingham, Ala., and claimed the body and returned with it to Decatur where the burial took place.

Some several days after the finding of the body two young men who were suspected of being guilty of the murder were arrested in Paducah and after an examining trial were held to the grand jury charged with the murder of the supposed "Red" Thompson.

After Mrs. Thompson had taken the remains of her supposed son to Decatur and seen them laid to rest, and had returned to her home in Birmingham her son, "Red" Thompson, alive and well, showed up at the mother's home and proved his identity and the further fact that he was very much a live man. The suspected murderers were liberated at the Paducah and the identity of the murdered boy is now a greater mystery than ever.

The description of the boy corresponds with that of the son of S. A. Wilkins, a well known citizen of the Lynn Grove section of the county. Wit Wilkins is the boy's name. He had been attending school here in Murray for some time and on the morning of the 24th of March he sent a delivery wagon to the home of Mr. W. A. Chambers, where he was boarding, and loading his trunk into the wagon went to the depot where he boarded the south bound train due here at 9 o'clock p. m., leaving no information regarding his destination. Nothing has been heard from the young man since.

His father read an account of the finding of the body of the boy at Paducah in April and immediately left his home and went to Paducah. After boarding the train here he was informed that another passenger was aboard the train en route to Paducah upon an identical mission, that of identifying the remains of the dead boy. He met Mrs. Thompson and engaged with her in conversation until the train pulled into the union station at Paducah. Mrs. Thompson was met at the station by the police authorities and was at once escorted to the undertaking establishment where the remains were being held. Mr. Wilkins arrived at the same establishment some several minutes after Mrs. Thompson reached the place and after she had identified the body as that of her son. The body had been placed in a casket preparatory for shipment and Mr. Wilkins was not permitted to view the remains.

Since it has been proven beyond question that the dead boy was the son of S. A. Wilkins, and that Wit Wilkins has not been located or heard from after much inquiry and search, his father entertains the fear that it was his son who was murdered in Paducah. Wit Wilkins was a splendid young man, of good moral character and has many friends in Calloway who would be glad to learn that he is as much alive as the supposed dead "Red" Thompson.

Methodist Church.

At the eleven o'clock hour the pastor will preach a companion sermon to that of last Sunday, the theme being: "The Lost Image", Genesis 11:27. At the close of the service another class will be received into the church. Those who have not been instructed as to membership will meet at the parsonage on Friday and Saturday afternoons at three o'clock.

Last Sunday night Rev. R. C. Whitnell, Martin, Tenn., occupied the pulpit and preached a most excellent and forceful sermon.

The special music for the morning will be:

Voluntary—Selected—Mrs. Joe Ryan.

Offertory—Anthem—"Praise Ye the Father"—Gounod—Choir.

Postlude—Selected—Miss Gladys Owen.

A cordial welcome awaits you. All persons who can entertain one or more delegates during the Epworth League conference June 1, 2 and 3 will kindly report to the pastor or to any of our Leaguers.

HORACE BOYD'S REMAINS ARRIVED LAST TUESDAY.

The remains of Horace Boyd arrived Tuesday morning from Chico, California, where he was killed last Tuesday by the explosion of saw mill engine. The body was conveyed to the home of his father, W. E. Boyd, of near Farmington. The burial will take place Wednesday at Beech Grove, south of Farmington, the funeral to be conducted by Rev. D. W. Fooks, of Paducah.

The deceased was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and several of the members met the corpse here and took it in charge.

Several months ago just before leaving for the western coast, Horace Boyd paid up his Woodman of the World dues until May 1st, 1910, and ten days after the time had elapsed he was killed. Mayfield Messenger.

The Comet Still Visible.

Halley's comet appeared in the west Thursday evening, and presented its largest appearance to the earth. On account of its setting, however, so soon after sunset, its radiance was rather dimmed.

On Friday evening, perhaps the best view obtainable will be had, if the weather man will only clear up the atmosphere, for the comet will be far enough away from the sun to show a great brilliance. The moon alone, which will be quite bright at that time, will interfere slightly.

The comet after the 26th of this month will begin to recede perceptibly, but it can be seen, it is thought, with the naked eye through the greater part of June. It can possibly be located with the aid of a telescope until the latter part of August, or even later.

Mr. J. M. Crawford and Miss Lula Province were married Sunday afternoon at 3:30, at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. J. M. Crawford, Rev. W. P. Pritchard, officiating. The ceremony was a simple one. Hazel News.

NEW BISHOPS ARE ELECTED.

College Is Complete by Election of Seven Divines at Conference.

THE NEW BISHOPS.

Dr. Collins Denny, Nashville, professor of moral philosophy, Vanderbilt University.

Dr. John C. Kilgo, Durham, N. C., president Trinity College.

Dr. W. B. Murrah, Jackson, Miss., president Millsaps College.

Dr. Walter R. Lambuth, Nashville, secretary general conference board of foreign missions.

Rev. E. D. Mouzon, Georgetown, Texas, dean Theological Faculty, Southwestern University.

Dr. R. G. Waterhouse, Abingdon, Va., president Emory and Henry College.

Dr. J. H. McCoy, Birmingham, Ala., president Birmingham College.

Asheville, N. C., May 17—This morning's session of the general conference of the Methodist church, south, will go down as an epochal day in the church's history. Four members of the body were elevated to the episcopacy, three of these being elected on the first ballot. Tennessee was specially honored in the election of bishops in the selection of Dr. Lambuth and Dr. Waterhouse. The former is a member of the Tennessee conference and while having been born in China has always been regarded as a Tennessee boy, as most of his life has been spent in Nashville. Dr. Waterhouse is a member of the Holston Conference and a resident of Emory, Va. Yet he is a native of Tennessee.

Another thing about the election is that the seven selected, five are college presidents, one a professor and the other a confectionary officer of the church. The discussion over the report of the committee on Episcopacy passing the character of Bishop H. C. Morrison but at the same time in a supplemental report sustaining complaints against "the efficiency of the bishop's administration," brought on a spirited debate. The committee in view of the fact that the bishop had promised to correct the points complained of recommended that he be retained on the effective list and that he be given light work. Judge O'Rear of Kentucky made an eloquent appeal in behalf of the bishop, contending that the recommendation of him an injustice, that it was intended and meant as a penalty.

The prerogative of his office is curtailed and his duties restricted, not as a proper regard for his health, but as a punishment. If he has offended the law of the church, he demands a right to face his accusers and a fair trial.

Judge O'Rear raised a protest from several members of the committee on Episcopacy when he said that he understood that Bishop Morrison was not the only bishop whom the committee had on the grill, they insisting that he should confine his remarks to the bishop under discussion. The report of the committee, however, was adopted and an incident which has caused much comment and discussion was closed.

The ordination of the new bishop, to succeed the late Dr. Morrison, will take place at the annual conference at Nashville, Tenn., June 1st.

KENTUCKY'S NEW CAPITOL.

Senator Bradley Will Make Principal
Speech at the Dedication.

Frankfort, Ky. The plans for the dedication of Kentucky's new capitol and the committee who will have charge of the dedication exercises and the entertainment of the people have been announced.

Although the capitol was built and the money for it is furnished by the contribution of former city residents, there is not a member of his administration of the program.

They were placed on committees, and will participate in the exercises.

It is understood that some of the members of Gov. Beckham's administration were asked to take part in the program, but they declined. The principal speech will be made by Senator Bradley, who will be introduced by Gov. William.

PANTED LIKE DOGS

POPPERS AND YATER BUNPEPO FOR WANT OF OXYGEN.

It Is Thought the Rubber Air Mattress

in Bottom of Balloon Basket Prevented Broken Backs.

Allegany, Ky. By the side of a wrecked car attached to a huge inflatable balloon which dropped from the sky near the little town of Coler, Metcalfe county, 30 miles from Wirt, two men, A. Holcomb Forbes and J. C. Yates, of New York, were found unconscious.

The flight of Forbes and Yates was not without its complications, as was indicated by a statement made by Forbes.

The balloon broke the ascent record, it is declared, and some valuable photographs of the coast were secured at an elevation of 10,000 feet.

The balloon reached the extreme altitude of 20,000 feet, which is 2,000 feet higher than any flight.

Discussing the more remote circumstances which brought them to the top of the world, Forbes explained that they were unable to carry more than 31 forty-pound bags of sand, which together with the great height to which they ascended, rendered the trip very dangerous.

They should never have started the flight with less than 50 bags of ballast.

The trip did not mind the low temperature so much, as both of us were prepared for it. We suffered for want of oxygen, though, when we went higher than 10,000 feet. The pressure at that height is not more than three or four pounds, and it seems that one can not get enough air.

We panted like dogs and my car drove and over cooled me greatly. Yates suffered in the same manner.

"Some aeronauts take tanks of oxygen with their supplies, but we did not think we would need it."

It can not be described the sensation of that first drop to the ground. It came so suddenly, that I have a faint recollection of seeing men below me in a plowed field, and of subconsciously trying to climb up the basket, but Mr. Yates and I managed to spring free from the rigging when close to the ground. The basket did not fall as it would have done under ordinary circumstances, was the cause of our injury.

It is believed the only thing that prevented the breaking of our backs when the basket fell, bottom squarely down under the weight of the bag was the rubber air mattress which we had placed in the bottom of the basket that we might be comfortable when we went to the ground.

"For a moment I was stunned by the impact. Then I recovered and saw two or three men coming to our aid. They extricated us and in improvised litters we were carried to this house."

Forbes is naturally proud of his achievement, regardless of the fact that it came so near costing him his life, as well as that of his companion.

Forbes and Yates, both of whom are cheerful, and will leave for home, Mrs. Forbes will join her husband on route.

Yates has little to say of the trip, but becomes interested when the subject is mentioned. He describes his view of the coast as grand.

TWO YEARS IN PRISON.

Verdict Against Delbert Osborne At

Calhoun, Ky. A jury in Circuit court here in the case of Delbert Osborne, charged with the murder of William C. Hays, aged fifteen years, found his punishment of two years in the penitentiary. Osborne is sixteen years old. This was the second trial of Osborne on the charge of killing Hays. The first trial, in a hung jury, Hays was killed by being struck over the head with a baseball bat in the hands of Osborne. The trouble between the boys occurred at the Peter schoolhouse in this county.

Calhoun, Ky. James H. Hays, at Elmendorf farm, continued the report that the great Hays del. Hays stock farm of 14,000 acres in California, near Sacramento, which was owned jointly by Mr. Hays and the T. H. Hays, has been sold to a Mississippi syndicate headed by George W. Butler. Mr. Hays says the deal for the formal transfer of the property is being prepared. He did not state the price, but it is understood that the deal involves nearly $2,000,000.

Marion, Ky. Miss Lucy Kate Wallace, of Sullivan, died, from having swallowed a chicken bone. She was 15 years old and the daughter of John Wallace, one of the best known farmers of Union county. About four months ago Miss Wallace had a fall and was injured, and since then she has been in bed, and was unable to swallow food. She was found dead in bed, and the cause of death was a chicken bone.

London, Ky. The story went out from this city that Alma Keller, the Louisville girl, who had last winter, had been found at Gray, Knox county, the cause of a great fortune. She has been investigated and found to be without foundation.

Franklin, Ky. The story went out from this city that Alma Keller, the Louisville girl, who had last winter, had been found at Gray, Knox county, the cause of a great fortune. She has been investigated and found to be without foundation.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—her health. Health is neglected. The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health we have no power to do anything. We have no power to do anything. We have no power to do anything.

Womanly health when not impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 30 years, been curing delicate, weak, worn-out women, by the hundreds of thousands.

Medical Adviser, newly revised, up-to-date, and this is the only book of the kind, without their having to submit to expensive examinations and attendance at expensive examinations.

Black women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held in strictest confidence. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

Summer Resorts

Broadens Working Girl's Mind Besides Affording Much Pleasure

By THURDE RAYLE BRUCE

WHATSUMI, the young girl and reformer, may take to the summer resort, the working girl will always have a warm corner in her heart for it. The poorer she is, the harder she has to work for her money, the more removed she is from society, from pleasure and amusement, the more she craves the more she craves the summer resort to her and the more fun she gets out of it when she goes there for the first time of one or two weeks.

The reason for this love which the working girl bestows upon the summer resort, together with her hard earned money, is the fact that the summer resort is becoming a valuable social asset to her. In addition to the large amount of recreation and fun which the girl crowds in her week or two weeks' sojourn at such a place, which make her life lighter and happier the rest of the year, she gains new interests in life, she makes new acquaintances and new friends.

A week's stay at a summer resort it is wise women the girl's attainments. She sees and meets different people with different views and a different outlook in life; she has new things to think and to talk about.

"The summer resort," said a woman who has given much time to the study of the conditions of working girls in large cities, "is becoming a factor in the girl's life in proportion to the lack of pleasure and enjoyment, to the lack of home atmosphere and home feeling which she has, or rather does not have, in the city."

"The homeless woman is rather new. She has risen with the rise of industry in the last fifteen or twenty years. But wherever the homeless woman is found her problems and her difficulties are great. In Chicago a working girl is a thousand times more lonely than she is in a small town, unless she has a large family and many acquaintances there."

To make acquaintances in the city, when you have to be constantly on the guard that your expenses do not exceed your earnings, is mighty difficult. A large city offers fine chances for homeless women and homeless men, who have a thousand more places to go, a thousand more ways to make friends, than a girl has.

"It is for this reason that so many working girls save and skimp and economize all the year around in order to be able to go out for a couple of weeks to a summer resort. The atmosphere there is conducive to making friends and acquaintances. For two weeks at least people at the summer resort throw aside a good many of their conventionalities."

But fond as is the working girl of the summer resort, the working girl's mother is still fonder of it not for herself, but for her daughter. Many a mother who is deliberate and cautious with every cent that she spends will willingly part with $300 which she has saved with difficulty in order to send her daughter for a two weeks' vacation to a summer resort. It is not pride, either, that makes her do it, but prudence. More than one mother could scarcely recognize her daughter when she came back from such a two weeks' outing. The girl who had hitherto lacked all interest in life suddenly aroused herself. Meeting other people she discovered her own qualities.

Fashions Change With People's Progress

By MRS. EZRA A. BATES

From the standpoint of an old-fashioned woman it would seem that the women of today have grown a little away from the simplicity of the styles of 50 years ago. And yet I should hesitate to say that they have developed a spirit of immorality.

Life itself has changed in the last 50 years. It has become more rapid, more intense, more free in every way. It is natural that dress, the expression of an individual in a very decided way—should change, too.

Modesty, however, is but a comparative term. What would seem modest now would seem shockingly immodest in another period. Excessively low neck dresses were worn in the streets at one time and during that period women wore flounces and all sorts of puffs about their hips to disguise the natural lines. It would not have seemed one degree more startling for a woman to wear a décolleté street gown today than for a woman to wear the closely fitting skirts that we see in these days.

The fashions change to fit the times and they probably always will change. It may be that we will have uniform dress for women some time, but it will not be seen in the next 50 years, I am sure.

Make It Hard for Census Taker

By HERBERT T. GEORGE

Census enumerators, as I know by experience, always have a hard time with two classes—foreigners in our big cities and farmers.

The newly arrived foreigner is plainly suspicious of the federal official who comes around to ask him questions. At home he knew their mission had to do only with relieving him of money in the guise of taxes or was related to his military duty.

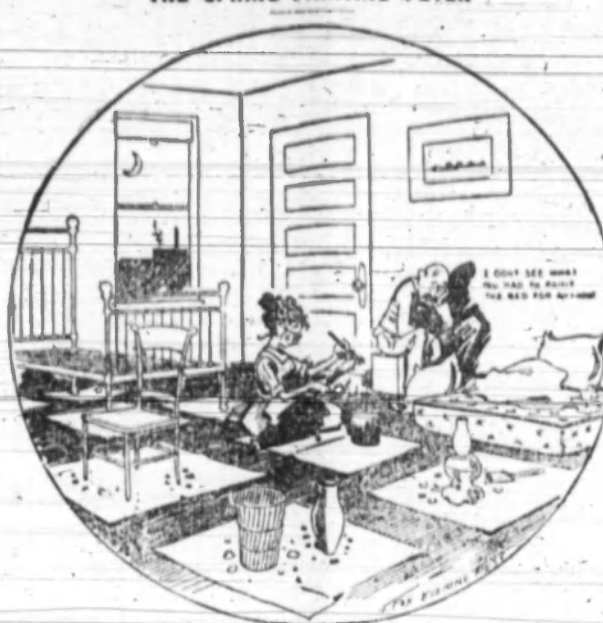

He does not know that in this land of the free and home of the brave Uncle Sam is collecting data for purely economic and scientific reasons and has no designs on his purse or his person. Accordingly, he is slow to give information.

Then there is the native American tiller of the soil, who ought to know better, but who is nearly as hard to deal with as the alien.

He opines that the man from the census bureau who wants to know about values of land and crops and cattle may be a spy emissary whose real intent is to squeeze more taxes out of the rural denizens, as well, maybe, as to depress the price of farm products.

If they were only better informed they would know that assessors and collectors of taxes are not allowed to act as census enumerators and so, instead of under-estimating the output of their fields and ranches, they would give the correct figures and thereby put their localities in the rank justly belonging to them.

Brother Calls Attorney Wise a Liar and Is Ejected From Court—Accused Issues Statement of His Future Plans

New York City Frederick Augustus Heinze was acquitted of the charge of misapplying the funds of the Mercantile National bank, while he was president of the institution in 1907, and was cleared of the charge of misappropriating the funds of his brother's firm, Otto Heinze & Co.

A jury in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court, after a trial lasting nearly three weeks, found him not guilty and he was discharged.

Thus failed the attempt of the government to hold Heinze responsible for high finance during the panic years of 1907, and was cleared of the charge of misappropriating the funds of his brother's firm, Otto Heinze & Co.

Charles W. Moran got 15 years for "bank wrecking," but Heinze's transactions were held legal, notwithstanding the prosecution's vigorous attempt to prove him a gambler with millions not his own.

John H. Stanchfield defended the young millionaire, Henry A. Wise, United States district attorney for this district, sought to convict him. Mr. Stanchfield summed up for the defense, and Mr. Wise denounced the defendant for over three hours.

Heinze issued this statement: "I have been ready for trial every day since the first indictment was returned, two years and a half ago. This delay has cost me between four and five million dollars. The ruination of my credit seems to have been the object most violently aimed at."

"However, I still have some of the best copper properties in the world, and I intend to devote my whole attention to them."

Arthur P. Heinze, a brother of the defendant, called Mr. Wise a liar in court, thereby furnishing the only spectacular incident of the trial. For his remark he was ejected from the court room.

Representative Smith Introduces a Measure With View of Stopping Views of Pugilistic Bouts

Washington, D. C.—A whole-sale interdiction against the publication of descriptions and pictures of prize fights, which would apply to the coming Jeffries-Johnson mill, is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Smith of Iowa.

The bill would make it unlawful to send by mail or in any other manner from any state, territory or the District of Columbia, or to bring into this country from any foreign country any picture or description of any prize fight or encounter of pugilists under whatever name, or record or account of betting on the same."

The measure, which was referred to the interstate commerce commission, would penalize violations under a maximum of one year imprisonment or a $1,000 fine.

LAWYER GETS ADMISION OF HIS BARKEN FROM SECRETARY

Shows Existence of Interior Department Rulings Which Must Have Been Violated

Washington, D. C.—The existence of rulings in the interior department which Mr. Ballinger must have violated in appointing before the general land office in behalf of the United States coal claimants, after his retirement as commissioner, was brought out by Attorney Brandeis in cross-examination of the secretary of the interior in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation.

Mr. Brandeis got an admission from Mr. Ballinger that he had been barred from appearing before the land office by a similar ruling in another case.

As a result of his testimony in the Commission cases and prior to his becoming secretary of the interior.

HEINZE ACQUITTED, LOST $5,000,000

JURY FINDS COPPER KING NOT GUILTY AT END OF LONG TRIAL

SENSATION IN THE COURT

Crowd Cheers Verdict and Hysterical Woman Are Only Restrained From Kissing Him by Crowd of Strangers Present

New York City—Frederick Augustus Heinze, the copper millionaire, was acquitted of the charge of misapplication of the funds of the Mercantile National bank in this city, while he was president of it and of the accusation of overvaluation of the checks drawn on it by his brother, Charles W. Heinze.

For two years the indictment on which he was tried has been hanging over his head. He still has one more slaking general conspiracy, to answer.

but it was said that in view of the outcome of the first trial it was unlikely the latter would be pressed. As a result of these charges and the delay in getting a trial he declared he had lost about $5,000,000.

The verdict was greeted with cheers that would have done credit to crowd at a baseball game.

Heinze had tears in his eyes as he shook each jurymen by the hand. He could not trust himself to speak. Friends and relatives, women and men, overwhelmed him with congratulations. Some flung their arms around his neck and were restrained from kissing him only by the crowd of strangers present.

Sensation in Court. Earlier in the day another sensational scene had been enacted. Arthur P. Heinze, brother of the accused, had interrupted the district attorney as the latter was addressing the jury, to call him a liar and had promptly been ejected by order of the court.

The acquittal of Heinze was contrasted with the conviction, in the same court room and before the same judge, of an associate of Heinze, Charles W. Moran, who was also charged with violation of the national banking law. In Moran's case the accusation of false entries in the books of his bank had been added to that of misapplication. It was on the false entry charges that Moran was found guilty and sentenced to 5 years in prison.

Outside the court room Heinze made the following statement: "I am naturally pleased with the verdict, but not at all surprised. The thing I most regret is the long delay in bringing the case to trial. I have been ready for trial every day since the first indictment was returned, two years and a half ago. This delay has cost me between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000."

"Possibly some persons who were very anxious to see me convicted will be almost as well satisfied with this as though I had been found guilty, for the ruination of my credit seems to have been one of the objects most viciously aimed at."

LINK ADMITS CONFESSION Denies Reported Denial of Confession of Bribery Charges in Lorimer Vote "Jackpot."

Springfield, Ill.—Representative Michael Link, whose confession before the Cook county grand jury that he had accepted money to vote for United States Senator Lorimer, was denied in a Chicago paper on the authority of a telephone conversation with Link, arrived in Springfield from his home at Mitchell, and his attorney, Frank Reid, who met him here, promptly denied the interview.

"Link has made a confession before the Cook county grand jury," said Reid. "It has been taken down in writing and he has made no effort to deny any part of it. He tells me he was called on the telephone, but could not hear what was said to him and refused to talk. He says he did not say what is placed in his mouth."

THE MURRAY LEDGER.

O. J. JENNINGS, EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Murray, Kentucky, for transmission through the mails as second class matter.

THURSDAY, MAY 19, 1910.

Good morning; did you get your share of the comet's tail.

There was but little more tail flying about Murray last Wednesday night about 11 o'clock than has been noticed here regularly for 75 years.

Anyhow the comet was instrumental in getting a few old sinners to their knees the past few days that have not been there before for the same purpose since the comet was here upon its last visit.

Rev. J. Henry Ballance, of near Paducah, has been nominated for congress upon the prohibition ticket. The reverend gentleman has about as much chance of election as the tail of Halley's comet has to wipe the sun out of existence.

The Arlington Baptist church seems to be in a muddle. As we understand it, some 35 of the members petitioned Pastor W. C. Taylor to resign, and then the other members of the church, who want Taylor to remain as pastor, held a church meeting and voted to expel all those who had signed the petition. Clinton Gazette.

If Calloway county citizens will manifest half the interest in the county fair project that has been manifested the past few days in the comet this county will witness a far more interesting entertainment this fall than was witnessed here Wednesday night. Let's brush the comet's tail aside and get down to business and get the fair stock subscribed within the required time.

The home paper is always interesting to you, whether you take it or not. Some people who do not take the paper, borrow it from their neighbors, and while this inconveniences the neighbors and themselves, it cannot help but make us feel proud that they really care enough for our paper to walk half mile each week to get it and also save three cents. It shows that these people are economical and that when our advertisers put an ad in our paper they will be sure to read it carefully and take in all bargains.

FOR RENT—I have for rent a good 3 room house in west part of Calloway county, near Coldwater, with or without telephone Cumberland and Independent, good garden planted and growing, good orchard, truck patches, good cistern of water, good pond plenty stable room, pasture, about 3 acres of land that may be cultivated. Can give renter work on farm at fair wages. Possession given at once. Write, telephone or call to see, W. H. FINNEY, Murray, Ky. Both 'phones 59.

Wool Carding.

I will be in Murray every 4th Monday receiving wool for carding and deliver wool rolls. Yours very respectfully, J. E. EASTWOOD.

BODIES CARRIED DOWN STREAM INTO EDDIES.

Paducah, Ky., May 17. That most of the bodies drowned with the City of Saltillo may never float far from the scene of the wreck and come to the surface after a time, was the opinion expressed by Pilot Charles Street, who arrived in Paducah this morning. Mr. Street is one of the survivors of the Saltillo but was not at the wheel at the time of the accident.

Mr. Street said there are numerous eddies near where the boat sank and these may keep the bodies from floating downstream and finally force them to the surface.

Mr. Street had not retired when the boat struck the rocks and said he could have escaped sooner. In an effort to help save the passengers who were drowned he was forced to the hurrican roof from where he escaped.

Pilot Street and Ed Pell arrived yesterday from St. Louis to take the City of Savannah to St. Louis to enter the Saltillo's trade at once. The engineers and carpenter of the Saltillo are here and as soon as necessary repairs are finished the Savannah will depart. She is exactly the same size of the Saltillo although the latter boat was more attractive.

The body of Mrs. J. T. Harris was taken to Nashville by her nephew, William Weaver, of Paducah.

Captain Koger has divers working on the hull today in the belief that bodies are buried under hardware which slipped in when the plank twisted. Mr. David Koger left yesterday for St. Louis where he will assist his father, Captain James Koger, in the work of recovering bodies from the river. Mrs. Isaac Rhea and daughter, Mrs. Anne Rhea, of Nashville, were related to Captain Koger, while Mr. Rhea is president of the pack company.

Rewards have been offered for the recovery of the body of Fowler Post, and notices have been sent down the river for the river men to be on the lookout. His lantern was found, between the shore and the boat Saturday while the cap of Clerk Col. Baker was found near the boat.

Joe Jenkins Killed.

Sunday near Whitlock, Joe Jenkins, a Paris negro, was shot and instantly killed by Andy Caldwell, of the Cottage Grove neighborhood.

According to information a number of negroes were "shooting craps" near Whitlock when some disturbance arose and Jenkins shot Caldwell in the thigh, the latter falling to the ground.

Jenkins pistol then refused to work and Caldwell, still on the ground drew his revolver and fired. The ball entered Jenkins's body raining upward through the heart.

as cool and white as a dairy. No smell, no smoke, no heat, no dust. No old-fashioned contrivances. The is the latest practical, scientific cook-stove. It will cook the most elaborate dinner without heating the kitchen.

Boils, bakes, or roasts better than any range. Ready in a second. Extinguished in a second. Fitted with Cabinet Top, with collapsible rears, toilet rack, and every up-to-date feature imaginable. You waste no cause it will cook any dinner and not heat the room. No heat, no smell, no smoke, no coal to bring in, no ashes to carry out. It does away with the drudgery of cooking, and makes it a pleasure. Women with the light touch for pastry especially appreciate it, because they can immediately have a quick fire, simply by turning a handle. No half-hour preparation. It not only is less trouble than coal, but it costs less. Absolutely no ashes, no smoke, and it doesn't heat the kitchen.

The nickel finish, with the turquoise blue of the enamel chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 4 and 5-burner models can be had with or without Cabinet.

IN TRUE LATIN-AMERICAN STYLE OF ARCHITECTURE

VIEW OF PATIO, NEW BUILDING OF THE BUREAU OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLICS, WASHINGTON, D.C.

WASHINGTON.—During the week that has elapsed since its formal opening the new building of the Bureau of American Republics has been a center of attraction for all visitors in the national capital. It is especially interesting because of the Latin American style of its architecture, and its most attractive feature is the typical Spanish-Archaic courtyard at court. Exploring this patio, with its exotic plants and open corridors and stairways, one leaves the climate and locality of Washington behind. The pavement reproduces well known archaeological fragments from Mexico, Guatemala and Peru, and in the center is a beautiful fountain that was designed by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

FLOCK OF CHILDREN

One English Woman Successfully Manages 384 Children.

Miss E. E. A. Beattie, Employed by Government Trustee, Acts as Official Parent to Nineteen Score of Youngsters.

LONDON.—A woman who can successfully manage and look after 384 children—a task few mothers would like—has been discovered in London. She is Miss E. E. A. Beattie, the official "mother" on behalf of the public trustee, and her duties consist of attending to the daily wants and cares of the children whose financial affairs are in the hands of that official. While the public trustee sees that the money or property of the child is properly invested or managed (until he or she is 21), Miss Beattie is the "human" trustee—she attends to the happiness and creature comforts.

Miss Beattie was seen in her neat, businesslike office at St. Clement's Inn. Instead of looking very tired and careworn—as one might reasonably expect—Miss Beattie was smiling and optimistic.

"My work is absorbingly interesting," she said. "Every day I have to solve some new problem of human interest, to decide a child's home or education or arrange his or her future."

Travels All Over England. "Since Christmas I have traveled all over England, personally inspecting my 'flock' or looking after children whose financial affairs are to be placed under the care of the public trustee."

"Naturally in interviewing parents, guardians, etc., one has to exercise a certain amount of tact and diplomacy. One is also expected to possess an expert knowledge on all sorts of out of the way subjects."

Some of the every day duties of Miss Beattie are as follows:

To decide a career for a headstrong youth of seventeen.

Unique Plan is Devised by Health Department of Chicago—How to Rear Children.

Chicago.—Notary Clerk Haas when a baby is born in your family and get a pamphlet telling how to rear children.

That is the opportunity provided for every father and mother in Chicago by an arrangement between the county and the Chicago health department that is exploited as the very last word in municipal zeal for the welfare of the community.

Mr. Haas is the custodian of the daily list of births registered, and under the arrangement sends the list to the health department. Thereupon a pamphlet printed in the language indicated in the list to be that of the parents is mailed by the health department to the proud mother.

Each what is the best diet for the new arrival, if the natural supply falls short necessary in the matter of sanitation, how the baby may be protected from contagious diseases, and many other matters with which mothers, especially young mothers, may be supposed to be unfamiliar.

The pamphlet arrangement is more than a mere step in a long campaign announced in the weekly

To persuade widowed mothers to let their sons go away from home to enter a profession or trade.

To keep a watchful eye on a child's home life and find out its likes and dislikes. Severely to admonish unkind or thoughtless guardians.

Here are a few of the human problems which this wonderful government "mother" has had to solve.

A kindhearted woman left a settled sum of money to be invested for her five young nephews, but the mother of the boys wished to spend the money in her own sweet way, not caring about the boys' future. The money was successfully tied up and invested for the boys.

Five young ladies, after the death of their father began squandering money and got into debt. Established them all comfortably in positions.

Sixteen-year-old girl determined to run away to "become a milliner" with out finishing education. She went back to school.

Young man, in coming into money, was successfully tied up and invested for the boys.

Use No More Towels. Houghton, Mich.—Towels have been tabooed at the Michigan College of Mines.

This does not mean that soap also has been put under the ban, but that faculty has decided that towels are relics of barbarism and are insanitary and expensive.

Now when a student washes his hands and face, he uses a big sheet of paper for a towel purpose, and then throws it into a waste basket.

Water Under Texas. Vast Quantities Are Found by Sinking Wells Deeply.

Supply Shows No Signs of Exhaustion Despite Increasing Drain That Is Continually Being Put Upon It.—Perseverance Rewarded.

San Antonio, Tex.—That practically the whole of southwest Texas is underlaid with artesian strata, found at depths of from 600 to 2,000 feet, is being established by the boring of a large number of wells now going on in every part of the country.

Up to a few years ago the extent of the artesian areas was very problematical, and many failures were reported by well drillers. Failure of a health bulletin which has been taken for the summer by the health department and the United States of Chicago. Another step mentioned in "the hardest fight ever made to get the milk clean."

The warm weather causes the children to congregate for play. If there is one child in a group who has a light sore throat or a mild scarlet fever, all will be endangered.

The danger to the children when the child is very sick is slight indeed. It is the mild case and the convalescing child that is dangerous. A bad neighbor, one who receives ordinary precautions, is a very dangerous person.

Half Million for Sanitarium. New York.—Russians here have received advice from St. Petersburg that John D. Rockefeller has agreed to donate a sum of $500,000 to build a sanitarium for tuberculosis sufferers at Altamira, a charming place in Transcaucasia. At the Rockefeller offices at 26 Broadway, no one could be found who knew anything about the reported gift.

The fear that the artesian strata in southwest Texas might become exhausted through excessive demand is gradually making room for a more optimistic feeling. In several cases the water has been sunk to the same level, within a very small compass, without affecting the flow of others.

HIS POST OF DUTY

PRESIDENT'S PLACE IS IN THE EXECUTIVE MANSION

Not the Idea of the Framers of the Constitution That He Should Tour the Country Making Personal Speeches.

In the second article of the Constitution of the United States, section 3, it is written:

He (the president) shall from time to time give to the congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

The congress is the people of the United States assembled by representation. The authors of the Constitution contemplated no recommendations to the people by the president except as they should be addressed to their chosen representatives.

Following a bad example, Mr. Taft has been conferring and making many of his recommendations to the people at large. He is on the road a good deal of the time. He has more engagements at this minute than most of the popular features or actors or singers. His public utterances are a strange mixture of personal complaint, appeals for sympathy, suggestions as to legislation and interference with the undisturbed political rights of his fellow citizens.

The chief duty of the president of the United States is to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed." He cannot do that at fairs, banquets, receptions, dedications, parades, cruises, commemoations or clamorings. No man ever lived or ever will live who can at the same time be a real president and a glib public lecturer and showman.

The greatest administrative office on earth has become of late a top-liner for advertisements, a sure thing provider for gate receipts, a powerful aid to selfish local enterprises and an object of gaping wonder to life and curious crowds.

It is foolish, it is indecent, it is disrespectful of congress, it is increasingly demoralizing to the public service and it is subversive of true dignity and authority to have the president of the United States, much of the time on wheels, voicing his personal grievances at crossroads, arranging the press and his critics at banquets and urging his "policies" upon a curious and noisy crowd.

The seat of government is at Washington. The president belongs to Washington. A president on wheels is apt to be no president at all.

LOSING CONFIDENCE IN TAFT

Voters Beginning to Believe He is Unduly Influenced by Aldrich and the Trusts.

The verdict of the country is that the Aldrich tariff is all for trusts and nothing for the people.

No amount of denial on the part of President Taft, members of his cabinet, or crooked senators and congressmen who put that law on the books will change the people's verdict.

They know that the price of every article of household necessity has been increased by operation of the Aldrich tariff law, and they know that trusts get the benefit of the increased prices.

It is not creditable to President Taft's statesmanship that he should continue to defend that law after the people have condemned it. He should realize that in this free country even presidents cannot defy public sentiment and retain the regard of the people.

Mr. Taft's popularity is shrinking fast in a few months there will be much of it left. The opinion polls ground rapidly that he is outlived by Aldrich, a loan shark in the senate. Regret is general that President Taft should have allied himself with that evil influence, instead of with some friend of the people.

Broke Its Pledge. Defending the Aldrich tariff bill comes Secretary Nagel declaring it to be "the best ever passed." We are still eating with inexhaustible patience the advent of any respectable authority with the assertion that the bill conforms to the pledge given the country in the national platform of the Republican party.

No one in office or out, by letter or speech in congress or on the stump, has yet assented that the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad was the measure of protection in the framing of the Aldrich schedule.

And yet the Republican party pledged itself to make that difference the measure of protection in revising the tariff. Special privilege and private interest proved stronger than its sense of honor. It broke its pledge.

Platform That Will Win. "The Democratic party demands the extermination of every vested wrong. It calls on all men for public and private economy." Governor Marshall to Indiana Democrats.

Mr. Aldrich is to retire from the senate next March, but possibly he has arranged to stick around and aid the Aldrich tariff in an advisory capacity.

ALL AGAINST THE CONSUMER

That Organization Central Practically by Every Commodity Has Been Proved Beyond Dispute

It appears from the testimony given at the Cincinnati hearing that there are food combinations everywhere. Chairman Williams, in summing up the results of the testimony, said:

"All the testimony proves conclusively that all traders, dealers, manufacturers, producers, wholesalers, etc., are either thoroughly organized or are in the process of organization. The entire list of traders is organized against the consumer. Nearly all these organizations are the outgrowth of the last ten years."

We believe the above testimony represents conditions as they exist at the present writing. That they are in tolerable good without saying that the crisis is approaching and that the question will remain uppermost until settled right, is quite clear. A variety of causes may be added to explain the crushing burdens, and among them we would enumerate the high tariff wall which keeps meat and all classes of foodstuffs, clothing and house material out, while the domes the seller exploits the consumer, speculation in wheat and cotton, speculation in land, which makes it more difficult, because of the high prices for the real producer to get at the land, to produce; extravagance and waste; high and low, the country over, and last, but not least, a crafty dodging of the real situation by a clique of lawmakers at Washington, who are ever ready to get up a hullabaloo about appropriations for river "improvements" and a big navy, but have almost to be dragged up to inquire such are now on.

Politicians of little minds and representatives of "interests" should get out of the way or join the cry for real relief. If they do not they may get hurt in the publicly resultant upheaval—Financial World.

Tariff and Cost of Living. It is comparatively easy to gather from the statistics the added cost of foreign goods from tariff taxation that goes as revenue into the federal treasury. This money is used to defray the cost of government. It is indirectly collected from the ultimate consumer. He doesn't know when he pays it, and doesn't grumble, however much it adds to the cost of living.

But there is no means of getting at the actual sum of money paid by consumers for goods on which the tariff levies prohibitory duties. On such goods the protected monopolies and combinations levy taxes, every dollar which goes into their own pockets.

Their own greed is their only limit. Some slight measure of the extent of the knowledge of the excessive profits and the vast wealth accumulated by favored interests. Nothing enters so heavily into the cost of living as this merciless drain on the pockets of the mass. But no government inquiry will draw forth the facts or set forth the remedy. What the government gets is duly accounted for. What the people pay to their legitimate plunderers is a matter of guess.—Philadelphia Record

"A Criminal Tariff." Any tariff which assists in creating an artificial price for an article of food or clothing, or for other necessities of ordinary living, is a crime. If it is true that prices are high are due to the fact that the United States production and supply is unequal to the demand, any import duty on foreign supplies of this sort is a crime, and an inexcusable folly. It does not serve to keep out foreign supplies. It is a failure and has no place in a protective schedule. It does serve to keep out foreign supplies. It is an imposition on the consumer.

The first attack of tariff reform must be against the duties on food products and the necessities of living. Huston Herald

Explaining Wickham's Statement. Attorney General Wickham is early in the field with a statement that matters may so shape themselves as to require the resignation of another term of President Taft. No one has imagined for a moment that all the policy and power of the administration would not be used to promote a second term. That has come to be a regular and a demoralizing feature of our presidential administrations. But it is early for a member of the cabinet to come out publicly in favor of such a proposition. Possibly the overshadowing approach of another individual makes the statement necessary.

Must Seek Justice From Democrats. The real reason for Aldrich's refusal to permit the passage of the stateship bill is that he fears the election of a senator would aid Aldrich and at that Aldrich is a Democrat.

With a Democratic congress the territories will not need to knock long at the door, and two more stars will shine on the flag.

Denial of Stateship to Arizona and New Mexico is a disgrace to the Republican party and its propitiation. Not even William Aldrich, both territories are growing rapidly, and are entitled to be admitted to full membership in the Union.

If there really is a conspiracy to discredit the stateship bill, it is a disgrace to the Republican party and its propitiation. Not even William Aldrich, both territories are growing rapidly, and are entitled to be admitted to full membership in the Union.
