Editor-in-Chief

Volume 10 for 2018 is finally completed and closed. This year, actually 2019, we have finally mastered the software for editing and publication so we expect to be closer to our target date in publication henceforth. We appreciate everyone's patience more than we can tell you.

There are some exciting new changes in the journal. Articles will now be published as soon as the review and editorial processes are complete. This means there will be access to articles as soon as the article is uploaded. We also have renamed the notes section to teaching articles, administration articles, and field education articles to give these publications the gravitas they deserve. We have had article downloads in 2019 from more than 80 countries of which the predominant number, 3014 downloads, come from the United States, followed by Japan, Canada, Singapore, and the United Kingdom. Every year the number of people accessing the CRSW Journal increases.

A hearty thank you to the reviewers and the other editors, and especially to Erin Stinchcomb, M.A., our copy editor, for all their hard work this year and Murray State College of Education and Human Services for their support.
