What About New Passenger Depot?

For some time it has been rumored around that the Illinois Central railroad contemplated moving the passenger depot to a location near the new yards. No doubt railroad officials as well as citizens of Fulton feel the need of an improvement, but as to moving the depot out of the city brings about more talk.

In keeping with the progressive spirit of Fulton, a modern passenger depot of sufficient magnitude to assure adequate service to the city now and for a long time in the future, is the thing and we know of no better location than the vacant lot in the rear of the present depot making the main entrance on Fourth street with subways leading to the tracks. But the city should cooperate with the railroad and lend their assistance in providing adequate avenues of ingress and egress for the prospective traffic at this location.

To go into detail about the need for a new station would be a waste of time and space. The urgent need is generally conceded. The present ancient structure, the pride of the Fulton of 25 years ago, is so palpably inadequate, inconvenient and incongruous with the progressive spirit of Fulton of today, is readily apparent to the most casual observer. Everybody agrees that a new station is long overdue. The popular demand for a new building that would be an architectural credit to the city, as well as offer adequate facilities to the traveling public, has been in evidence for a long time, but our people, having been aware of the serious problem involved in replacing the old station with the proper depot structure and track system, have exercised patience, and indicated their willingness to grant the I. C. ample time in which to mature its plans for the improvement, all the while feeling assured that at the opportune time, the railroad company would erect a station that would be a wonderful asset to the city for a long time in the future and we hope we are not to be disappointed.

FAIR BOOKS ARE BEING DISTRIBUTED

Large Premium List Attracting Attention

Premium lists of the 1928 Fulton County Fair are ready for distribution and President J. W. Gordon and Secretary R. H. Wade would like to place a book in the hands of every interested exhibitor. No other fair in this territory is offering as much money in prizes. Everything in the catalog is arranged for practical purposes and it will surprise you to learn of the variety of articles for which premiums are offered.

There are premiums for the best known standard breeds of live stock, for all standard breeds of poultry and for practically everything produced on the farm. If you are a woman, you may be handy with the needle or you may excel at canning fruits and vegetables or baking cakes, or you may have a home garden in which you have grown something of particular merit, or you may be interested in the work of the children at school or on the farm. No matter what it is you are most interested in, you will find a prize offered for it in the premium list. The fair this year will be better than ever.

For a short time we will accept subscriptions for this paper and the Memphis Weekly Commercial Appeal—both papers one year for only $1.25.

FERGUSON AND GREGORY WILL SPEAK IN FULTON MONDAY NIGHT

Fulton voters will have an opportunity Monday, of hearing State Senator Garth K. Ferguson and Congressman W. Voris Gregory in one of the hottest political debates ever pulled off here. Both are out for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the First District. Both candidates are fluent speakers and for more than a week have thrilled the voters throughout the district with their oratory and cutting remarks.

They will first speak at Hickman in the afternoon at 2 o'clock and at night in Fulton at 8 o'clock.

Each and every voter in the county should avail themselves of hearing the issues in this campaign, so you may be able to more intelligently vote for the one you want to represent you at the national capital.

DEATH CLAIMS BELOVED WOMAN

Fulton was saddened Sunday morning, July 22, when the death angel entered the Beadles home on Carr street and carried away the gentle spirit of Mrs. Lena Stubblefield Beadles, beloved wife of George T. Beadles, cashier of the First National Bank. All that loving hands could do to prolong life was done, and today a happy household is bowed in grief and deepest sorrow.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the First Methodist church, conducted by her pastor, the Rev. B. J. Cantrell, of the First Christian church, who paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of the silent sleeper, assisted by the Rev. H. B. Vaught. Interment followed in Fairview cemetery, beneath a mound of fragrant and beautiful flowers, contributed by friends and loved ones, paying their last respects to this good woman.

Mrs. Beadles was born in Calloway county, near Murray, in 1867, and moved to Fulton many years ago. In 1888 she was united in marriage to Geo. T. Beadles, who survives her. Two sons, Larry and Frank, of this city, and two nieces, Mrs. Jack Thorp, of Mayfield, and Mrs. Winfrey Shepherd, of Fulton, also survive.

The deceased was a loyal member of the First Christian church and lived a consecrated Christian life. During her long residence in Fulton she made many warm personal friends who today are bowed in grief and who deeply sympathize with the bereaved husband and family.

No Time for Politics Now

Men and Women Are For Smith

Not since the channel of the famous Harris Fork Creek was changed has politics in Fulton and Fulton county weighed so heavily on the minds of the people. All one can hear is "Smith—Smith—Smith" with the election many months off and really too early for the campaign to start.

The women voters have taken up the Smith slogan and declare he is the logical man. In fact, they are laughing at the men for losing their political shrewdness after once casting their net in the political sea for a game candidate who can stand firmly before the searchlight of publicity without a blemish. They say the men try to drive a candidate instead of leading him. They also claim at the proper time Smith will declare himself by yielding to the wishes of the people. He is too big a man to be caught in the dragnet of political ambition unless he can render a real service to the people as a whole. They feel, too, that the office of sheriff of Fulton county is a real man's job and are only too glad to lend their assistance in cooperating with the men in asking Albert Smith, the well known restaurant man of Fulton, to make the race.

The friends of Mr. Smith in Fulton believe he is now giving the matter serious thought and at the proper time, probably about the first of the year will announce himself a full-fledged candidate for the office of sheriff, subject to the action of the 1929 Democratic primary.

The big noise became so loud a few weeks ago that many throughout the county and some at Hickman thought he had already announced and on a recent visit to Hickman where he is well known, many friends met him and clasped his hand for the usual handshake, with the assurance that they were "for him." At first he didn't understand what it was all about, but he was not in the capital city of Fulton county long before he was wise to the fact that his Hickman friends were as anxious to see him sheriff as his Fulton admirers.

Biarritz, the World's Playground, Filmed for "No Other Woman."

Historic City on Bay of Biscay Which Has Been the Background of Many Famous Careers Seen in Drama Directed by Lou Tellegen

Dolores Del Rio in Colorful Story.

Biarritz, on the Bay of Biscay, is the local of the Fox Films photoplay, "No Other Woman," which Manager Chisholm announces he has booked for showing Monday-Tuesday. This is the production directed by Lou Tellegen, with Dolores Del Rio, the Charmain of "What Price Glory" in the feature role.

The French city came into its full glory and power during the reign of Napoleon III, when it was the favorite of fashionable society. The Empress Eugenie had a particular fondness for Biarritz and it was her custom to spend a part of each summer there. The finest structure in Biarritz, for a long time, was the Villa Eugenie, built by the Emperor for his wife.

It is against this colorful background of gorgeous homes, with their beautifully furnished interiors, that Fox Films has brought to the screen what is said by critics who have previewed the play, to be one of the most stirring, dramatic and powerful dramas of continental life ever pictured.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

Brick work on the new school building addition will start Monday. The Jack Cole Contracting Company, of Paducah, will rush the job thru to completion as quickly as possible. The foundation work is already completed. W. M. Hill & Sons are now delivering brick on the ground for the structure, and Pierce, Cequin & Co., will furnish the lumber. John Huddleston was awarded the plumbing and a Jackson, Tenn. firm, the heating contract. The building will cost around $38,000.00.

FINE PEACHES

The editor was the recipient of a luscious sack of peaches from Mr. Hunter Whitesell Saturday. Mr. Whitesell has proven himself to be not only an expert chicken raiser, but an artist when it comes to growing fine peaches. We appreciated the delicious treat.

CAREY-REED COMPANY AWARDED CONTRACTS

For New Six Inch Reinforced Concrete Streets and Laying New Water Mains

W. M. Hill & Sons Awarded Contract for Filtering Tank at Water Works Plant

Contracts Total More Than $200,000—Work to Begin August 3

The Carey-Reed Company, of Lexington, Ky., was the successful bidder on constructing Fulton's residential streets, their bid being the best and lowest at $188,464.17. The type of street to be constructed will be six-inch reinforced concrete, the same as was constructed in the business section of the city last year by the same contractors. There are fifteen streets included in the contract, something over five miles of paving.

Others who submitted bids were Moore Brothers, Harry Tidd Company, Forcum-James Company, Southern Roads Company and Southern Paving Company.

Bids were submitted on several different types of material but the difference in price was so small until it was wisely agreed upon by the Mayor and Council that six-inch reinforced concrete was the best streets to build for the money.

Water Works Project

Carey-Reed Company and W. M. Hill & Sons were the successful bidders on the water works project. Carey-Reed Company was awarded the contract for laying new water mains and making connections at $11,669.25. W. M. Hill & Sons was awarded the contract for constructing the concrete filtering tank at the water plant, 48 by 67 feet, 12 1-2 feet deep and connections at $9,239.40.

Asked when the work would start, Mr. Carey said on August 3. Mr. Hopkins, resident engineer of the firm of Black & Veatch, consulting engineers will be on the job as he was last year.

Fulton is fortunate in having the same men constructing the residential streets who built our business streets. With six inch reinforced concrete streets Fulton can proudly "strut her stuff," as having the best paved streets in this section of country.

The Mayor and City Council are to be congratulated on their wise selection. However, rock asphalt surface with concrete base would have made a good street, but the difference in cost was too small to adopt it.

GRAND THEATRE, MON., AND TUES., JULY 30-31

"The Way of All Flesh;" Jannings Proves Master of Characterization

Stark tragedy, realistic to the nth degree, not unminged with touches of symbolism—a character portrayal that shows a depth of human understanding possessed by few artists—a performance that runs the gamut of human emotions—all on view in Emil Jannings, first American-made production. Unlike "The Last Laugh," this picture will intrigue the interest of the masses because its story depicts the actions and reactions of a type of man with which they are more familiar; it is not the abstract character study that was Jannings' hotel doorman; it will satisfy the devotees of intellectual entertainment and appeal to the elemental senses of those who must have sentimentality in their screen fare; so is the tale constructed.

"The Way of All Flesh," is one of the best pictures of the year. The cast: Emil Jannings, Belle Bennett, Phyllis Haver, Donald Keith, Fred Kohler, Philippe de Lacey. Story by Perley Poore Sheehan. Directed by Victor Fleming.

ROCK ASPHALT WINS PRAISE OF OFFICIALS

Considered Superior to Other Paving Material

Nashville, Tenn., July 14.—City and county officials of Tennessee almost unanimously use and endorse rock asphalt for paving, according to telegrams received by the Tennesseean from such officials in reply to a questionnaire.

Since opponents of Gov. Henry Horton have attempted to make the use of rock asphalt by the state highway departments on some of its highways an issue in the gubernatorial race, there has developed a public interest in this type of pavement, and curiosity as to its relative merits. Therefore, the Tennesseean telegraphed officials of cities and towns in the state which have used rock asphalt for paving in order to get expert testimony. The replies given below were those received up to Friday night.

"I consider Kentucky rock asphalt superior to any other material for paving in lasting qualities and cost of construction after many years experience."—S. I. Alexander, city engineer, Clarksville.

"Have used Kentucky rock asphalt exclusively on city streets for six years with absolute satisfaction. This year's program calls for about one mile of street improvement and same is now being constructed of Kentucky rock asphalt on gravel base."—A. H. Barnett, mayor, Humboldt.

"Winchester well pleased with their Kentucky rock asphalt pavement."—E. C. Mowry, mayor, Winchester.

"Kentucky rock asphalt most satisfactory paving material we have used. Paving laid nine years ago in fine condition. Needs no repaving."—W. J. Davidson, mayor, Tullahoma.

"Gallatin's experience with Kentucky asphalt as a pavement material has been very satisfactory."—E. B. House, ex-mayor, Gallatin.

"We have about eight miles of streets of Kentucky rock surface."

"Our streets are indeed very satisfactory. Surface smooth. Does not roll. Streets appear better now than when first paved about one year ago. Our experience warrants the statement that Kentucky rock is a good road material."—E. K. Wiley, McKenzie.

"Answering your inquiry as to our experience with Kentucky rock asphalt for city paving, at this place, will say that we have been using same for the past eight years and have gotten splendid results, and are very much pleased with the service given. It is laid cold on a suitable base and will not roll or crawl in the hottest of weather. One pleasing feature is the low cost of maintenance and the ease and simplicity in making repairs when required. In our years of experience with this type of paving, I have heard no adverse criticism from our taxpayers as to its usage." (Signed) J. A. Shelton, mayor of Covington, Tenn.

At Harriman
"The Kentucky rock asphalt used for paving in our city has been perfectly satisfactory."—C. G. Baker, mayor, Harriman.

The efforts of political opponents of the state administration to discredit rock asphalt because it has been used on some of the state highways along with other approved types of road material are shown up in a bad light by an investigation of this situation.

Reports have been received from reliable sources that the McAlister campaign managers in some sections have told uninformed persons that the ordinary tar surface placed on many roads on a secondary class is Kentucky rock. There has been a persistent effort to mislead the voters about the matter.

Rock asphalt is in use and specified in the following states:

New York, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Massachusetts, Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

There are over 500,000 square yards of Kentucky rock in the city of Nashville, which Mr. Southgate, city engineer, states has never cost the city of Nashville any maintenance cost whatever. Mr. Southgate says some of this paving has been in use since 1915.

The following towns in Tennessee have their streets paved with Kentucky rock: Union City, McKenzie, Covington, Humboldt, Dickson, Clarksville, Gallatin, Pulaski, Harri-man, Kingston and Carthage.

What is said to be the finest road in the state of Tennessee is the highway from the Federal cemetery in Davidson county to the Sumner county line. This is Kentucky rock asphalt on concrete base.

There are approximately 100 miles of rock asphalt surfaces on the highways in Tennessee. The major part of this was laid in 1921 and 1922.

Investigation shows that the city of Chicago purchased 20,000 tons of this material this year for surfacing some of its most important streets. The Kentucky Rock Asphalt Company recently shipped an entire train load, consisting of 50 cars, to Pensacola, for export to Brazil.

The Eighteenth street road, leading from the city limits of Louisville to what is known as Camp Knox, which was an artillery camp, was paved with Kentucky rock in 1912. It was estimated that this road carried a normal traffic of 15 years during the World War period. This traffic consisted of very heavy trucks, artillery and tractors. This road is intact today and County Engineer Merritt Graine of Jefferson County, Ky., makes the statement that nothing has ever been spent in the maintenance cost on this road, and that it is in perfect condition today.

The causeway across Biscayne bay at Miami, Fla., was paved with one inch of Kentucky rock in 1919. The results were so gratifying to the city officials of Miami that subsequently they paved a large number of streets in Miami with this material.

The entrance to Centennial Park in Nashville was paved with three-quarters of an inch to one inch of Kentucky rock in 1912. This pavement speaks for itself today and there has been nothing spent on it in the way of maintenance cost.

UNION CITY SLAYER BROUGHT TO MEMPHIS

Johnnie Vaughn Safe Behind
Shelby Bars

(Memphis Commercial Appeal)

Johnnie Vaughn, 20, Union City, Tenn., love slayer, who asserts that he had rather go to the electric chair than contend with the mosquitoes in the jail of his home town, is once more behind the bars of the Shelby county jail.

Vaughn, who led the sensational jail delivery at Union City ten days ago, arrived in Memphis at noon yesterday in the custody of Sheriff J. R. McCain and a squad of deputies. It was by sawing through iron bars that he escaped from the Obion county jail, surrendering to the sheriff at his father's home several days later. He will be held until the supreme court renders a decision on his appeal from a death sentence.

The county jail is not new scenery to Vaughn. Shortly after he had shot and killed his rival, Roland Bell, while he was buggy riding with the girl loved by both, it was feared that irate citizens would take Vaughn and lynch him. Vaughn was hurried to Memphis and held until the date of trial. Following his recent sensational escape the Obion county officers decided to return him to Memphis for safekeeping.

OBREGON, MEXICO'S PRESIDENT-ELECT, IS ASSASSINATED

Mexico City.—President-elect Alvaro Obregon, called 'Lucky' Obregon because he had so often escaped death on the battlefield or by assassination, died violently at last, Tuesday.

Like so many of those who have been president or have headed governments of Mexico, he was the victim of an assassin. He was shot down as he sat at a banquet given him by his political supporters at the little town of San Angel, near Mexico City, at 2:20 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Police said that the assassination was only one of the series planned and by which a number of the leading statesmen of Mexico were to have been removed.

The one-armed warrior president, with six bullet wounds in his body, died in a few moments without speaking a word, and in the greatest agony. His assassin, known as Juan Escapulario, was captured, almost torn apart by maddened friends of the slain general, and taken to jail where he confessed.

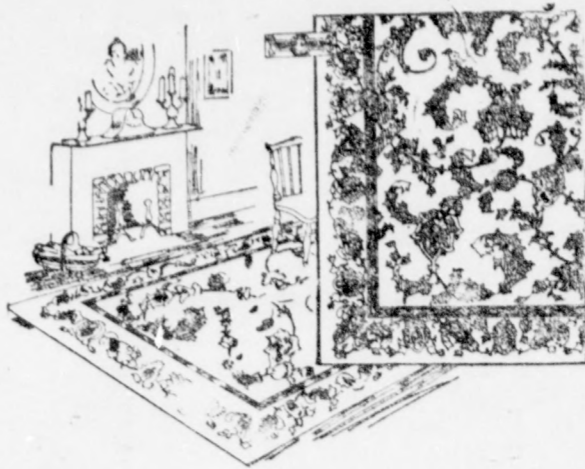

Tuesday night many of those who were known to have been opposed to Obregon had fled from Mexico City before the fury of his friends and supporters who were kept in bounds only by the stern vigilance of police and soldiers who patrolled the streets of the capital and the roads of the surrounding country. Mexico City was in a fever of excitement but there were no disorders.

FERGUSON AND GREGORY ENGAGE IN BITTER DEBATE

Princeton, Ky., July 16.—Meeting here this afternoon in joint debate for the first time in their second campaign for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the First District, State Senator Garth K. Ferguson of Ballard county and Congressman W. Voris Gregory, whom Senator Ferguson charged has been "trying manfully for two years to re-establish his residence in Mayfield" engaged in a battle of words unprecedented in its bitterness.

The debate took place in the circuit court room of the Caldwell county court house, before an audience of some two hundred men and women, who frequently applauded the oratorical thrusts of the combatants. The speakers were introduced by M. T. Guess, chairman of the Democratic committee in Caldwell county. Each speaker had an hour to present his case. Ferguson opening the debate with a forty-five minute speech, leaving fifteen minutes of his time for use in rebuttal.

At the conclusion of the debate it was predicted by the friends of Senator Ferguson that he would carry Caldwell county, as he did in 1926, and that it would be by a majority of two to one. He and Congressman Gregory left soon after the debate for Fredonia, where they were scheduled to meet again on the stump in the evening. Tomorrow they will continue their battle at Dycusburg, where they will speak in the afternoon. In the evening they will speak at Marion. Then will follow a series of meetings at twenty-four other points in the district, taking them to the close of the campaign at Lynn Grove on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 1.

Cream Increases Cash Income and Boosts Bank Balance — Skimmilk Lowers Production Costs —

FROM THE CREAM

FROM THE SKIMMILK

MIXED FARMING MOST PROFITABLE

Feeding Skimmilk and Shipping Cream Yields Greatest Cash Income.

On farms where diversified farming is practiced and the weekly cash income is largely derived from milking good cows, fattening hogs and producing eggs for more happiness and contentment can be found than on farms where other types of farm animals are raised or where cash grain crops are depended upon for quarterly or yearly returns. This is the conclusion of experts in the Blue Valley Creamery Institute of Chicago who have just concluded a careful study of diversified farming practices.

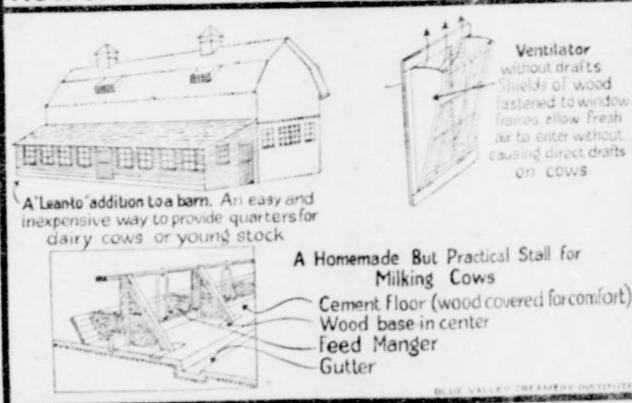

Profits on the products of the cow, the sow and the hen have been higher in recent years than those of any of the other farm crops, the Institute finds. Unlike many other farm products, cream, milk, pork, eggs and chickens have been relatively high and high enough to pay market value for the feeds used to produce other elements in the cost of production and return a fair wage for the labor expended. Farm owners who invest their money in good, heavy producing milk cows, in good producing brood sows and in good strains of heavy laying hens, and who will continue to use production-bred sires and who feed according to proven practices can feel assured of the reward of a dependable income.

On the farm where alfalfa and corn furnishes the bulk of the feed for cows and sows and where corn and skim milk feeds the poultry, the diversity of the system provides a complete and profitable farming job the year round. The manner in which these various enterprises conducted on the individual farm fit into each other has much to do with the success of the total operation. From this standpoint, farming with the cow, the sow and the hen is very nearly ideal. Milk cows consume hay, silage and other rough feeds in large measure, while hogs make use of much grain or other concentrates. The poultry flock gleans part of its living in the form of waste grain from the field and barnyard. Legumes, of which a substantial acreage must be included in any sound cropping system, are suitable for hogs, particularly in the form of pasture, and for milk cows. Skimmilk is the perfect protein feed for growing and fattening hogs and chickens and for laying hens. Family labor can be used effectively, particularly in caring for poultry. And the milk, butter, pork, eggs and poultry consumed on the farm make a large contribution to the family living in the form of the most desirable foods.

In counting the profits from "cream farming" with good dairy cows, the indirect forms of profit cannot be overlooked. Cream production does more than provide a regular cash income; it assures a bank account and greater buying power. It does more than supply a constant source of skim milk to grow calves economically and lower the cost of producing pork, eggs and chickens. Cream production makes agriculture permanent! It enriches the soil and maintains the high crop yields so necessary for profitable farming on the same fields year after year. The farm where there is an acre of alfalfa, growing for every cow and for every animal unit and where the crops leave the home place in the form of cream, milk and eggs—on such a farm so fertility is maintained to a high degree. The dairy cow also utilizes waste feed waste land and waste time and this adds to the productivity of the farm and farm family. These indirect returns make profits from dairying much larger than can be shown by direct calculation.

How To Build An Inexpensive Lean-to Dairy Barn

"LEAN-TO" ADDS TO COMFORT OF COWS

Inexpensive Addition to the Barn a Help During Cold Months.

An inexpensive "lean-to" addition on the south, east or west side of a farm barn, provides cow-comfort for six cold months of the year, says the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. A "lean-to" shed addition furnishes ample space for one row of cows in stanchions. In such a building, dairy cows should face towards the old barn for two reasons: the hay and grain supply will likely come from the old barn, and secondly, sunlight should pour in from the rear of the cows.

Location is important. An addition facing north is rarely satisfactory in the states north of the Mason-Dixon line. Sunshine and light should be secured whenever possible. Windows carrying one square foot of glass for every 20 square feet of floor space are the generally accepted rule. Windows, 32 by 42 inches, spaced six feet apart on easters along the south wall are usually satisfactory. Such a nine-pane window (glass 9 by 12 inches) can also be used to provide ventilation by fastening ends of wood to the window frames as shown above. The shields allow fresh air to enter without causing direct drafts on the cows.

Substantial, long-wearing roofing, well-built walls and tight doors, should be provided. Concrete makes the best floor except for that in the stall proper. It is too cold in the cow when she is not standing. Ordinary plank, wooden paving blocks or corrugated metal floors do away with cold floors. Slippery concrete floors can be eliminated by using coarse gravel in the mix in making the top layer of concrete to be used wherever cows are to be allowed to walk. Finish the floor, smooth as possible with a wooden float or wooden trowel. Use the steel trowel on the mangers if they too are to be made of concrete, because a smooth surface inside the manger makes it easy to clean.

Wooden stall and manger sides can be used by laying wood bases in the concrete to form anchors to which the sides can be nailed. The length of a "lean-to" addition depends on the length of the barn and the number and size of animals to be housed. Leading across the "lean-to" from the junction of the old barn to the south wall, these general measurements will fill all practical needs: Four feet wide from old barn to manger for feed alley; manger 2 feet; 6 inches width of base to which steel swinging stanchion is attached; 5 feet, length of stall floor; 10 inches wide gutter and 4 feet from edge of gutter to back wall.

EXPERIMENT STATION
BLUE GRASS TOURBy H. A. McPherson, County Agent

This has been a hard year. The farmers have worked hard. They have worried and the time has come when a little rest period or vacation would do a lot of good. The Extension Division of the Kentucky College of Agriculture has outlined a fine program for such an occasion, and I hope that at least twenty-five of our farmers will avail themselves of this opportunity and take a week off and not only enjoy life, but get some information that will be of help.

There are two ways we can make this trip. We can rent a bus out of Memphis and all go together for around $16.00 each, but the cheapest transportation is to load up your car with three or four other farmers and each one bear his pro-rata of the expenses. In this way the trip can be made at a very low cost.

Now I wish to appeal to every farmer who can possibly get away to make this trip. Talk it up and report to me or the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Fulton at an early date. We want to leave here early Tuesday morning, July 31, unless otherwise notified.

I have had several farmers to tell me they were going to make the trip. It would be a fine advertisement for the county to have a representative bunch of farmers.

Below is the outlined schedule and I must confess it is a good one.

The third annual Experiment Station-Blue Grass tour will start from the Union Bus Station, Louisville, at 7:30 a. m., August 1st. We will visit the Jersey herd of R. C. Tway and a Holstein herd on Echo farms in Jefferson county; R. J. Shipman's Jerseys and D. I. Woodruff's Shorthorns in Shelby County; one large herd of dairy cattle in the Cow Test Association in Shelby County where there will be a cow judging demonstration; Devers Brothers sheep farm, and arrive in Lexington that night.

On Thursday, August 2nd, we will leave Bus Station, Lexington, at 7:30 a. m., visit Idle Hour race horse farm, Sanders Brothers sheep and beef cattle, Dix Dam and one or two other points of scenic interest. If the crowd is not too big we will probably take in Curren's dairy farm in Mercer county. Busses may be used on either of the two days, July 31, or August 1, on a mileage basis. The cost should not exceed $2.50 per day. If bus is full, the cost will be as little as $1.50 each. Trip is arranged so farmers may take their own cars. One may join the tour at any time.

Thursday, August 2, will be the Agronomy Field Day at the Experiment Station. There you will see the clover and alfalfa field tests which are of interest to a wide area within the state. Also numerous experiments with corn, wheat, clover and tobacco. Time will be arranged for the visitors from Western Kentucky to take in the Experiment Station dairy and poultry plants.

On Friday, August 3, you may return to the Agronomy Field meeting, attend the sheep sale at the Lexington Stock Yards, or return home. The trip this year will be especially valuable for those farmers who are interested in good livestock pastures and clover. The sheep men will have a splendid opportunity to purchase either grade or purebred ewes and rams. In addition to the sale at Lexington on the third of August, there will be one at Frankfort on the first of August. We can also arrange to have any men interested in sheep to visit flocks in this part of the state.

THE CONGRESSIONAL RACE

The following is what the Ballard Yeoman, Ferguson's home paper, has to say about the Congressional race:

As in 1926, Ballard's county's interest in the contest for the Democratic nomination to congress from the First District is especially keen because of the candidacy of State Senator Garth K. Ferguson, a native son of the county.

Ballard county's Democracy was profoundly disappointed with the results of the last contest, which sent Judge W. Voris Gregory to Washington, but we have every hope this year that that disappointment will be wiped out. The circumstances surrounding the loss of the ballot stub books in eight Mayfield precincts has provoked the strongest resentment among thousands of Democratic voters of the District, and this should result in an overwhelming victory for Senator Ferguson in the primary. It is no doubt the purpose of the Democratic voters of Ballard county to make the largest possible contribution to that victory. We should stand behind Senator Ferguson to a man and woman. On the face of the returns he was beaten in the 1927 primary by only 184 votes. If all his old friends, the many new friends his attractive personality has gained for him in the past year and a half go to the polls on August 4 and register their choice, there will be no doubt of his victory. Ballard county must not, and will not, fail him.

His friends and neighbors of Ballard county, those who know him best, regard Senator Ferguson as splendidly equipped to represent the District in the National House of Representatives. In two sessions of the General Assembly as Senator from the Second Senatorial District, Senator Ferguson has proved his wisdom and integrity as a legislator. His abilities gave him a position of first rank among his colleagues. Even by those whom he had occasion to oppose, he was respected and liked, because of his courage, his fairness and the high standards he set for himself. Though vigorous in all his activities, he was never a mere obstructionist, but progressive and constructive. He opposed any and every effort to put through measures that would have exploited the taxpayers of the State, at the same time working earnestly for measures calculated to increase the efficiency and introduce economies in the State governmental system. But his most devoted labors were for the protection and improvement of the State's public school system. His work in this direction particularly marked him as one of the most intelligent and progressive members of the legislature.

Having proved his unshakable integrity and his wisdom in the State Senate, Senator Ferguson well deserves the opportunity to serve the District in a larger field. And we have no doubt that he will serve with the same distinction that marked his legislative activities. He will make a worthy successor to the First District's beloved Alben Barkley. Let every Ballard county Democrat make it his business to see that he gets the opportunity.

AMCO
FEED MIXING SERVICE STANDS FOR

1. RECOGNITION OF THE TRUTH. All that is known about feeding is in the possession of the colleges of agriculture, experiment stations, and practical feeders. Amco Feed Mixing Service recognizes this and realizes that what feeders need is a service which makes it possible for them to follow this information.

2. UNRIVALED SERVICE. Alone of all big feed manufacturers, Amco Feed Mixing Service seeks to purchase and mix, according to the experience of the colleges of agriculture and practical feeders, the feeds which are the best buy for farmers.

3. INDEPENDENT ACTION. The American Milling Company has no secret formulas to sell. It has no by-products to work off. Its sole revenue comes from mixing feed ingredients on open formulas at so much a ton. It is, therefore, free to mix the combinations which science and practice say are the most profitable to use.

4. QUALITY. A mixed feed can be no better than the ingredients that go into it. Amco Feed Mixing Service checks, through its chemists, the quality of every ingredient which goes into the feeds it mixes and rejects those which are below the standards of good feeding practices.

5. ADAPTABILITY. The quality of roughage and the feeding conditions vary from farm to farm. Amco mixes feeds which fit into every farm condition.

6. CONVENIENCE. When you buy an Amco-mixed feed, you get in one bag everything that is needed for the animal for which it is intended—digestible nutrients, minerals, vitamins and variety, with correct bulk and palatability.

7. ECONOMIES. The way to save on the cost of feed is to take advantage of the ingredients which are cheapest, run mixing plants to capacity, and secure orders at the least possible expense. The American Milling Company is doing all these for farmers through Amco Feed Mixing Service.

ONE COW VS. A DOZEN

Analysis of more than 100,000 yearly individual records from cows on test in dairy herd improvement associations indicates that, on the average, cows that produced 10 pounds of butterfat a year returned $14 greater expense of providing each over cost of feed; those that produced 200 pounds, $54 of a single animal. The figures from returns are over cost of feed; 300 pounds, $96; 40 pounds, $138; and 500 based on farm prices from all pound cows returned $178 over parts of the country, including cost of feed. Thus the man whole milk districts.

milking a 500-pound producer would have more return than if he milked a dozen 100-pound cows, and this would take no account of the added labor of milking and caring for the much larger herd or of the much greater expense of providing stable room for a herd instead of a single animal.

Why telephone calls sometimes annoy you..

"I NO SOONER sit down to relax and read a bit when the telephone rings. . . ." On occasions like this you are apt to regard a telephone call as an annoyance. And yet the remedy is simple. Ask us to provide enough extension telephones in your home so you can make and answer calls without involving a weary trudge or frantic dash from one part of the house to another. You'll find that with adequate facilities, telephone service is a constant source of comfort and convenience—never an annoyance.

It costs surprisingly little to have enough telephones. Ask our Business Office or any telephone employee.

"WHISKY DICK" DISCONTINUED

Illinois Central Paducah-Fulton Train Taken Off for Lack of Business

Notice of discontinuance of Illinois Central trains Nos. 137
and 138, known as "Whisky Dick" running between Fulton and Paducah was posted at Fulton, Paducah, Water Valley, Wingo, Pryorsburg, Mayfield, Hickory, Viola and Boaz.
The last trip was made Sunday.
The reason for discontinuing the train is lack of business.

During the last few months business on the line has been slow on account of the private lines and busses.

The name "Whisky Dick" was given the train for being famous for carrying cargoes of liquor from Cairo and Paducah, in the pre-Volstead days. The train was run from Paducah to Cairo and return daily from 1910 until about two years ago, when it was cut down to a schedule of two runs daily between Paducah and Fulton.

STATE TOBACCO CROP INCREASES

Gain This Year Over 1927 Is 36 Pct., Federal Survey Reveals

Louisville, Ky.— Kentucky's 1928 total acreage of tobacco of all types is approximately 36 per cent greater than in 1927, or 394,700 acres compared to 290,200 acres last year, and the Kentucky wheat crop only about 817,000 bushels, compared to 3,059,000 bushels produced last year; these are the features of the July crop report for Kentucky, based on conditions as of July 1, and issued by the Kentucky office of the U. S. Division of Crop and Livestock Estimates. The decrease of 2,242,000 bushels (or about 73 per cent) under the final 1927 production of wheat in Kentucky is due both to heavy reduction of acreage and thin stands, due to winter-killing. Kentucky's corn acreage is 3,231,000 acres, or 12 per cent more than in 1927. In condition July 1 was 63 per cent compared to 66 per cent
July 1, 1927, and a 10-year average condition of 84 per cent on July 1. This month's estimate of the acreage and condition of corn in Kentucky indicates a crop of about 68,190,
000 bushels, compared to 75,
010,000 bushels produced last year and an average annual production of 86,432,000 bushels 1923-1927 inclusive. However, as the season progresses this first preliminary forecast may be changed materially by changes in condition of the growing crop.

Based on the records of previous yields of tobacco in Kentucky this year's area of 394,700 acres, with average conditions until cured, would produce about 299,656,000 pounds, compared to 202,269, 000 pounds produced last year and a 5-year average annual production of 377,806,000 lbs.
1923-1927 inclusive. These tobacco and corn estimates are the first of this season, and estimates of production will be subject to revision either upward or downward as the season progresses, depending on favorable or unfavorable weather and other conditions.

Oats in Kentucky are estimated at 7,019,000 bushels, compared to 4,085,600 bushels from a poor crop on small acreage last season. Rye for grain is estimated at only about 70,000 bushels compared to 154,000 bushels last year; Irish potatoes 5,234,000 bushels, compared to 4,732,000 bushels
last year; and sweet potatoes,
1,505,000 bushels, compared to
1,488,000 bushels last year.
Tame hay, including all varieties, is estimated at 1,466,000 tons compared to 1,871,000 tons last year. Fruit is variable, though generally a good crop. Apples are 71 per cent of a full crop; peaches 70 per cent; pears 52 per cent and grapes 85 per cent. Condition of pasture is 90 per cent; alfalfa hay 77 per cent; all clover and timothy hay 71 per cent;
cow peas 72 per cent and soy beans 77 per cent.

All these 1928 estimates are subject to revision either upward or downward as the season progresses, depending on weather and other conditions.

VALUABLE SKIN

Nathaniel Hawthorne, were he alive today, would be able to write another book, similar to his "Mosses from an Old Manse," and he could get all the data from the oldest citizen of Fulton. Now when I say oldest, I don't mean actual years, but this man has the distinction of being the only man in Fulton today who was a citizen when he came to the town. He has the honor of shaving the first man ever shaved in the town, also was the first marshal to enforce the laws. He enjoys talking about old times and is full of reminiscences, some of them are laughable, some sad, but all are actual occurrences.

Today the writer happened to mention the fact that John Ringling, the last of the five famous owners of Ringling Bros. circus, passed through the city enroute to Florida. Mac spoke up and said, "If I had known he was here I would have called upon him for I have something he has wanted for years." I will try and repeat his story verbatim, but it won't sound anything like the way Mac tells it.

"When the Ringling boys started up their show they were very short of money and had to build up their show from three horses. One of the first animals was Julia, a camel, they leased from John Robinson, for five years before they were able to buy her. She was 65 years old when they leased her and was 91 years old when she departed this life here in Fulton, one real cold night in November when the show closed the season. John Ringling gave the carcass to me and I paid an old dutchman who ran a butcher shop here at the time, $5.00 to skin her. I sent the hide to St. Louis and had it tanned with the hair on. When I shipped it, I had to pay express on 75 pounds, but when I got it back it had shrunk to 25 pounds.

"Years after, on one occasion of the return of the show to Fulton, I showed the hide to Charlie Ringling; he wanted to buy it as it was almost one of the family, but I told him, 'No, John gave it to me, and I don't want to sell a present.' I loaned this hide to Hickman on the occasion of the visit of President Taft, and it was spread on the rostrum and President Taft stood on the hump and delivered his speech.

"The shriners of St. Louis heard of the hide being tanned and offered me quite a nice price for it, but I won't sell it; if I ever get rid of it, I will send it to John Ringling, the sole survivor of five brothers, who were all my friends."

The author of the foregoing story, William T. McAdoo, was born at Pierce Station, 75 years ago and has called Fulton his home for practically that many years.

BEGIN YOUR FAIR EXHIBITS NOW

By Marvel Bass, Tennessee

Fairs are "show windows" for home and community work. With this point in view we should make them as artistic as possible. To produce an attractive display of canned products is as truly an art as to paint a picture or compose music or literature, and should be given due consideration.

Upon the housekeeper rests the burden of keeping the family in good health through the right choice and preparation of food. A well stocked pantry shelf with a generous supply of home-canned foods of sufficient variety is an aid, as it assures nutritious meals at a few moments' notice.

Choose Equipment Carefully

Equipment is one of the first essentials to consider in canning for exhibition. The containers that our grandmothers used preserved the food, but they would not be suitable to compete with present day exhibits. The square jar is the best type for exhibits as it is clear glass, easy to pack, easy to seal, reflects more light, and thus shows the product to better advantage than the round one.

Uniformity of containers is very essential—by uniformity is meant that standards be observed. Half gallon jars are used for brined products only, quarts are used for all fruits, and for vegetables (with a few exceptions); meat should be in pints; pickles, preserves, marmalades and relishes are very attractive in 12-ounce jars; jellies should be in 6-ounce glass jars; ketchups, fruit juices and vinegars should be in uniform bottles.

Various Methods of Canning

There are many methods of canning, but the following have proved successful: The open kettle method for jams, preserves, marmalades, and pickles, preparing only small amounts at a time; the cold pack (jar-cooked) method, which is most excellent for all fruits and vegetables.

In order to have the jar full it is advisable to pre-cook the mixture a few minutes before packing it. To keep the liquid from cooking out of the jar, keep it covered with water (two inches over jar) throughout the processing. Do not overcook. Sterilize all the equipment used by boiling 15 to 30 minutes, and there will be less spoiling. "An hour from the field to the can" is a good motto for it prevents bacterial action. Use only sound fruits and vegetables if you expect to be successful. Meats can be canned without a steam pressure cooker, but it is much safer to use one. Corn and lima beans are more successfully canned by this method.

Products for a Good Display

A good display of canned products would contain the following, groups being named in the order of importance:

1. Vegetables: Tomatoes, string beans, soup mixture, beets, peas, corn, carrots, asparagus, rhubarb, lima beans, greens, okra, squash, pumpkin.
2. Fruit: Peaches, pears, blackberries, apples, cherries, raspberries, huckleberries, gooseberries, plums, quinces.
3. Preserves: Apple, strawberry, pear, cherry, blackberry, raspberry, quince, peach, plum, tomato, watermelon, gooseberry, etc.

4. Jellies: Grape, apple, plum, blackberry, dewberry, quince, gooseberry, raspberry, mint, currant.
5. Dried Fruits and Vegetables: Corn, apples, peaches, pears, string beans, okra, carrots.

6. Canned meats: Beef, sausage, tenderloin, ribs, chicken.
7. Pickles: Cucumber, beet, peach, relishes, etc.

8. Fruit juices and vinegars: Apple, grape, peach, plum, cherry, blackberry, raspberry, dewberry, gooseberry, quince.

It is a good practice to label the jars. These labels should be inconspicuous, printed, uniform in size, and uniformly placed on the jars about one inch from the bottom. This helps the judge to do her work quickly, and it is self-explanatory to the observer, thus serving an educational purpose.

Shelves for canning exhibits should be carefully planned. Curved shelves make the display more attractive than straight ones. It is usually a good plan to place the small containers at the top and the larger ones at the bottom. Make the distance between the shelves the height of the container plus two inches. Square jars when turned corner-wise reflect more light and thus appear to better advantage. A white cloth background is one of the best materials to use. Emphasis should be placed on the exhibits, and not on the decorations.—Southern Agriculturist.

Princeton Paper Endorses Gregory

The Princeton Leader, one of the leading Democratic newspapers of this district, recently endorsed the record and candidacy of Congressman Gregory in an editorial which is as follows: "The First District has never had a more brilliant or harder working congressman than Voris Gregory, and his splendid record is deserving of a sweeping victory for re-election. He has been a leader for all that is good in the way of legislation that has proven effective. His work for roads and bridges is of untold value to the people of the First District, to say nothing of the many other measures which he stood for and championed."

"A vote for Gregory is an appreciation of service well rendered. Although recognized from the very beginning of this, his first term, Congressman Gregory will be an outstanding leader next term, and his re-election by a sweeping victory will be an endorsement well bestowed."

The late Champ Clark was one of the outstanding Democrats of this country, and was speaker of the national house of Representatives for many years. After a service of more than twenty years in Congress, he delivered an address before the National Press club on "The Making of a Representative," in which he made the following statement: "A Post is born, not made—says Horace; but Congressmen—that is, useful and influential Congressmen—are made largely by experience and practice. It is an unwise performance for any district to change Representatives at short intervals. A new congressman must begin at the foot of the class and spell up. Of course, the more brains, tact, energy, courage, and industry he has, the quicker he will get up. If he possesses these qualities, and if his constituents will keep him in the House, he is as certain to rise as the sparks are to fly upward. No human power can keep him down. It is only fair and rational to assume that every Representative's constituents desire to see him among the topnotchers."

The First District has had the good fortune for many years in being represented in Congress by men who have become "topnotchers" through long service coupled with "brains, tact, energy, courage and industry." Many friends of Congressman Gregory are insisting that his record has been such as to make it unwise for the people of the First District to make a change in their Congressman at this time and they predict his re-election.

We Must Work Together

EVERY thoughtful citizen of this community is interested in its development and progress. There's no question about that! We all want our children to enjoy better homes, better schools, better parks—more agreeable surroundings and greater comforts.

We all want our town to keep step with its neighbors, to take the lead in civic affairs. So there is only one sound plan for us to follow:

We must work together to increase the wealth of this community by doing everything we can to encourage local business.

When you and your family patronize our advertisers—the stores and banks of our town—and keep your money in circulation right here at home, there is no power on earth that can prevent our progress.

Lesson for July 29

THE FIRST FOREIGN MISSIONARIES

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:1-52.

GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul and His Friends Go to Tell Others About Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul and Barnabas Sent as Missionaries.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Paul Found His Life Work.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Holy Spirit in Missions.

This lesson marks the beginning of foreign missions as the deliberately planned enterprise of the church. The occasion for the beginning of this work was a meeting of certain prophets and teachers at Antioch. While these ministers were engaged in praying the Lord laid upon their hearts so heavily the evangelization of the world that they refrained from eating in order to seek the will of the Lord in prayer. This is the kind of fasting that merits God's approval.

I. Barnabas and Saul Sent Forth (vv. 2, 3).

The Spirit directed the church to send forth Barnabas and Saul to the work whereunto He had called them. The Spirit called and the church seconded the motion by sending those who were Spirit-called. A real call to missionary service comes from the Holy Spirit. It should be the concern of the church to constantly seek the mind of the Spirit relative to the sending forth of laborers into the Lord's vineyard. It is to be noted that the Spirit called and the church sent the very best men from their company at Antioch. This is as it should be. Success in the mission field is dependent upon the laying of her best men and women upon the altar by the church.

II. Barnabas and Saul Preaching the Word of God in Cyprus (vv. 4, 5).

After a second season of prayer and fasting the church formally ordained these first foreign missionaries for their work. Ordination by the imposition of hands has its proper place. Cyprus being the home of Barnabas perhaps accounts for their first going to this country. It is most natural that those who have heard the good news should go first to their kindred and friends. Then, too, Barnabas was acquainted with the country and people and could thus be assured of a proper hearing among them. Andrew first went to his brother, and the man out of whom the demons were cast was commended by Christ to go home and tell what great things the Lord had done for him (Luke 9:23).

III. Barnabas and Saul Withstood by Elymas, the Sorcerer (vv. 6-12).

Sergius Paulus, the deputy, invited Barnabas and Saul to tell him of the Word of God. Elymas maliciously sought to turn the deputy's mind from the faith. This first obstacle encountered, as the gospel was being carried to the heathen world, was overcome through the power of the Holy Spirit. Paul denounced Elymas in most scathing terms, calling him the child of the devil, declaring that he was full of guile and villainy, pronouncing him the enemy of all righteousness, and accusing him of preventing the right ways of the Lord.

IV. Paul and Barnabas in the Synagogue at Antioch in Pisidia (vv. 13-17).

From Paphos Paul and Barnabas with Mark went northward to Perga. It is from this place, perhaps because of hardship, that Mark went back. He started out with good intentions, but the trials seemed too great for him to endure. Mark redeemed himself later, though when they started on their second missionary journey Paul would not consent for Mark to accompany them, although he later testified in Mark's favor (II Tim. 4:11). From Perga they went to Antioch in Pisidia and entered the synagogue on the Sabbath day. While he was the apostle to the Gentiles he began with the Jews. After the usual reading of the Scriptures, in response to the invitation of the rulers, Paul delivered his first recorded sermon. This sermon is worthy of careful study. When analyzed we find it had four parts: 1. Historical (vv. 17-23). 2. Political (vv. 24-27). 3. Doctrinal (vv. 28, 30). 4. Practical (vv. 40, 41).

The effect of this sermon was that many Jews and proselytes requested to hear these words again. Almost the whole city came to hear the Word of God the next Sabbath. While many came to hear these words jealousy provoked open opposition.

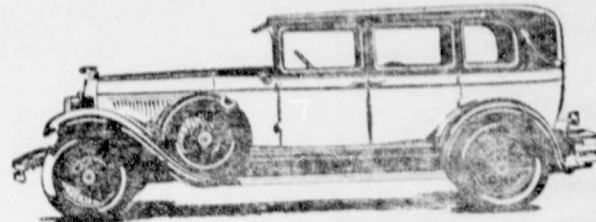

Take Heed

Wherefore take heed of being painted fire, wherein is no warmth; and painted flowers, which retain no smell; and of being painted trees, whereon is no fruit: "Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift, is like clouds and wind without rain."—John Bunyan.

God Will Aid Us

As long as we work on God's line, He will aid us. When we attempt to work on our own lines, He rebukes us with failure.

TIMELY STRIPPINGS ON DAIRY FARMING

Written Especially for this Newspaper by Hank, the Hired Man

Sugar Creek Creamery Company Dairy Development Department

Now listen "Dere Reeders," which is the way all newspapers address their subscribers which has paid up there subscriptions, I have been asked to rite a little artikle for this paper eech week.

Mabe I aint got mutch book learnin', but I have been workin' as a farm hand in different states which don't keep me frum seein' and learnin' and passin' on a few idears that I hav picked up.

This is the therd season the I have been rite here and the only thing thet keeps me here is the fakt that Ma is so blame good to me an it is such a fine place to stay.

With the ole man it is diferent. I jist figger thet I got to put up with him and his ways as a necessary evil. Ef he used as mutch sistem about the farm as Ma uses in her house and kitchen everything wood be jake. You got to hand it to the farm wimmin.

I am jist giving you this informashon so thet you know what mi job is and we can git better akquainted.

Next week I am goin' to tell you sumthin' thet happened thet may set you to thinkin' jes like it did me.

FARM LEADERS RALLY TO DEMOCRATIC PLAN

Iowans Are Urged to Support Party Platform

Des Moines, Iowa.—The Republican farm plank was condemned and the Democratic farm plank was commended Monday by the corn belt committee, embracing leaders of 32 farm organizations in the midwest.

It was a sequel to the drive made by the leaders of the so-called corn belt revolt upon the conventions at Kansas City and Houston in behalf of equalization fee principle of the McNary-Haugen bill.

The conference during the late afternoon turned into a sort of town meeting, in which Al Smith got the bouquets.

FORMER MEMPHIS CITIZEN WRITES FROM CANAL ZONE

C. R. Wilkes writes from Christobal, Canal Zone: "I have been using Mendenhall's Chill & Fever Tonic for the past 15 years. In 1903, while living in Memphis, your tonic was recommended to me after the doctor and other chill tonics failed to cure me of chills and fever. After taking the first dose I never had another attack. I have traveled all over the southern country and canal zone where the worst types of malaria, chills and fevers prevail and have warded off all attacks by taking an occasional dose. When I cured myself of chronic chills and fever I took one bottle Mendenhall's Chill Tonic Regular, without arsenic, then followed with chill tonic Ped Label containing arsenic, which completed the cure." Mendenhall's is the only scientific treatment for intermittent fever or chills, chronic malaria and bilious fever. Children take it and ask for more.
