"THE THEATER OF DITS"
Shelfoot Lake Legend

A shudder went through the founders of New Alamea when they learned of the tale of Shelfoot Lake. They said that the tale was told of the Indians who had come to this water before the white man, and had given it its name, Shelfoot, meaning "water under the ground in the earth." The place was chosen for a settlement because of the beauty of its land near the lake, and because of its situation which was near the great road of the Chickasaws.

The lake was a tumbling body of water, which made it more of a river than a lake. It could be dammed and could be left to dry up, but it was not a lake that could be crossed by white men, for the Indians had never let a white man cross it.

The white men who came to this place were not content to stay where they were, and they were determined to cross the lake. They went to the Indians and asked for permission to cross the lake. The Indians were not willing to let them cross, and the white men were determined to cross it.

The Indians, however, were not content to let the white men cross their lands, and they set up a barrier to prevent them from crossing the lake.

The white men were determined to cross the lake, and they built a dam across the lake. They did not think of the Indians who might live near the lake, and they did not think of the Indians who might live near the white men.

The Indians were determined to prevent the white men from crossing the lake, and they set up a barrier to prevent them from crossing the lake.

The white men were not content to stop at the barrier, and they built a dam across the lake. They did not think of the Indians who might live near the lake, and they did not think of the Indians who might live near the white men.

The Indians were determined to prevent the white men from crossing the lake, and they set up a barrier to prevent them from crossing the lake.

* WYNNE HILL TROUBLE - FANNY LEE FOSTER - RUSSELL KLOPE - HARRIET JOYNER

HARRIET JOYNER is the daughter of Mrs. H. L. Carter and was born and received her education in Fulton. She married Mr. Joyner of Cottonwood, Texas, and now resides there.

WYNNE HILL and Mrs. H. E. Foster have returned from a visit to Chicago where they attended Mrs. Foster's sister's wedding.

RUSSELL KLOPE and HARRIET JOYNER have returned from a trip to Florida where they visited Mrs. Foster and her family.

HARRIET JOYNER and WYNNE HILL are planning a trip to California next month to visit Mrs. Joyner's family.

LOCALS

MRS. H. L. CARTER Marjorie and Marion of Fulton, the former Attie and the latter Miss Billie, have returned from a trip to New York City and Washington. They arrived in Fulton Sunday night to spend two weeks with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Haver, on the Union City Railroad.

MRS. R. H. WALKER of Los Angeles, California, visited her sister, Mrs. H. L. Carter, and her family during the week.

BRIEF THOUGHTS

"Old men can be very deaf when they want to be." This is a popular saying, but it does not always hold true. Many an old man has been known to hear perfectly well when he wants to listen.

"I don't believe in making a fuss about anything." This might be true, but it is also true that many things can be improved by a little attention to detail.

"Life is what happens when you're thinking about other things." This is a reflection on the passage of time and how we often fail to appreciate the moments we have.

"A message to Fulton Voters"

I have been approached by many candidates and party workers in recent weeks and have attended several political meetings. I have been impressed with the enthusiasm and dedication of these people.

The election is coming up soon, and I urge everyone to vote. It is important to have good representatives in office, and it is up to us to make sure we have them.

THURSDAY NIGHT DINNER

Miss Bonnie Boyd is ill this week and will not be able to attend the dinner. Miss Lena Myrick and Mrs. Elmer North will attend in her place.

Miss Bonnie Boyd is expected to recover soon.

FACING AMERICA'S BASIC PROBLEM
BY RAYMOND PITHCANT

What can you do to help the war effort? Can you help to save the lives of the men who are fighting for our country? Can you help to bring the war to an end as fast as possible?

One way to help is to be sure that you are doing all that you can to prevent the war from spreading. This means not only staying out of the war yourself, but also discouraging others from going into it.

Another way to help is to make sure that the men who are already in the war are given every kind of support that they need. This means providing them with the food, clothing, and shelter that they need, as well as giving them the medical care that they need.

A third way to help is to support the government in its efforts to win the war. This means paying your taxes and following the laws of the land. It also means supporting the soldiers and sailors who are fighting for us.

In summary, there are several ways in which you can help to win the war. By doing your part, you can help to bring an end to this terrible conflict as quickly as possible.

THE FUNNY SIDE OF LIFE
CLEAN COMICS THAT WILL AMUSE BOTH OLD and YOUNG

The Lawn and Short of It

By L. L. STEVENSON

Once upon a time, Grandpa had a big peach tree in his yard. He used to grow the biggest peaches in the neighborhood. But one year, he decided to plant sunflowers instead. He said, "I want something to look at that doesn't take up so much space." The neighbors laughed. But the sunflowers grew so tall that even the birds couldn't reach the peaches.

The Featherheads

By C. M. PAYNE

During World War II, the U.S. Army was recruiting soldiers from all walks of life. Among them was a brilliant mathematician who had never held a job before. "Now that I've decided to go into the service," he said, "I want to do something that will help the country."

The Situation is All Wet

By FRED HARMAN

The rain had been pouring down for hours, and the streets were completely flooded. The main character, Lolly Gagnon, was busy homesteading and didn't want to get her clothes wet. She asked her friend, "Lemon, why do I always get the wettest clothes when it rains?"

Pinney of the Force

By L. L. LENNOX

A detective was investigating a case involving a missing antique. He tore through the city, trying to find the thief. "I won't let my pride stop me," he said. "I'll go where the facts lead me."

Bronc Peeler - Follow Me

By O. F. ROWLEY

A young boy was riding his horse through a field. Suddenly, the horse started to buck. "I can't hold him," the boy thought. "I must call for help."

The Corse of Progress

By GEORGE WILLIAMS

A little girl was watching a wedding, curiously observing the guests. She noticed a man who seemed to be studying the ring. "I wonder what he's doing?" she wondered. "Is he trying to see if it's real?"

Strange Actions

A little boy was watching a circus. He pointed at a clown and said, "Mommy, why is the clown crying?"

Off Schedule

By C. M. PAYNE

"What's the matter, my boy?" the man asked. "You usually love to play with your toys."

The World of Art

By O. F. ROWLEY

"But what do you want," the editor asked. "What do you do?"

This seems to be a very dangerous job," said the editor. "I'm surprised you're even interested."

Emotions of Horse

Wild West $25,000

Bollywood. - The owner of the famous Wild West $25,000 horse, Rainbow, was at a loss when his horse refused to perform. "It's not fair," he said. "I paid for a horse that can do anything."

Hot Weather is Here— Beware of Biliousness!

Here you are advised that in hot weather a person should move about as little as possible. There are some of the same causes that may lead a person to be bilious during the year, and these may be divided into three classes:

1. Those arising from improper diet.
2. Those arising from improper clothing.
3. Those arising from improper mental state.

The best way to prevent biliousness is to avoid eating too much or too little; to wear proper clothing; and to be in a cheerful state of mind.

The Garden Murder Case

by S. S. Van Dine

It was fully prepared in the event of a second act. In a few hours the curtain will go up, and all will be revealed. The truth will be known. The secrets of the garden will be laid bare. The murderer will be exposed. The victim will be avenged.

The Garden was a place of mystery and intrigue. The house was surrounded by a high wall, and the only access was through a narrow gateway. The garden was filled with shadows and shadows. The flowers were strange and exotic. The air was heavy with perfume. The atmosphere was tense and foreboding.

The investigation was going well. The witnesses were cooperative. The evidence was promising. The murderer was close at hand. The victim would soon be avenged. The curtain would soon go up, and all would be revealed.
