A Kentucky Episode

Sherriffs are a class as are doctors and lawyers.

Sheriffs are a class as are doctors and lawyers. Peace, order, and good government are their business, and they must engage in proceedings of all kinds, with a certain amount of showmanship, to maintain their position in the community. The sheriff of a particular county is responsible for the enforcement of the law within that county, and his authority extends to any part of the state where he may be called upon to act. He must be able to maintain order, to deal with crime, and to protect the rights of citizens. The sheriff is often called upon to act as a mediator, and he must be able to negotiate and compromise. In this capacity, he is a kind of peacemaker, and he must be able to maintain his authority and influence in the community. It would be unusual, but the Leflore and Marks average price, don't fail to sell part of it, such bargains don't last a week or two, better come soon.
