Political Pot Steaming Hot

FERGUSON AND GREGORY IN HOT DEBATE

The political pot in the Democratic Congressional race was steaming hot Monday night when Judge W. Voris Gregory and State Senator Garth K. Ferguson addressed a large audience at Carr's Park auditorium.

In the debates throughout the district, Senator Ferguson has been playing Judge Gregory as the man who got the nomination to Congress in 1926 as the result of fraud, as evidenced by the theft of the stub books of the eight Mayfield precincts following the primary of August 4, of that year. Monday night with renewed force he hammered the missing stub books into the minds of the voters, and left the impression that he was willfully cheated out of the 1926 nomination.

Judge Gregory vigorously defended himself and told of his record as United States Congressman, and it is on this record he is asking for re-election and not the missing stub books that mysteriously disappeared at Mayfield.

It is to be regretted that Democrats cannot work in harness harmoniously, but if Ferguson thinks he is cheated out of the nomination, he has a perfect right to tell the people about it.

The voters will render their decision on August 4.

TO THE VOTERS OF FULTON COUNTY:

As you people well know, on next Saturday a Democratic Primary election is to be held in this county to nominate a candidate for County Judge. As the election draws near, as is usual in such times, certain claims are being made for certain candidates, and certain reasons are being assigned by their friends why they should be voted for. Realizing that such things are natural and to be expected, I am not in the least surprised nor in the least disturbed by such activities. One of the things, which I am informed, is being circulated in Esquire Hagler's behalf is that he is a home man, implying thereby, that I am not a home man. Now, upon this home man proposition, if I can do so, I want to make myself perfectly clear. It may be that in the minds of some people the fact that a man is a home man is of transcendent importance, and overshadows every other consideration. With those who thus believe, I have no quarrel to make, for they have as much right to their belief as I have to mine. But in my humble opinion a man who goes into the County's Judge's office of this little county should go in there with the fixed determination to serve the whole county, irrespective of the locality from which he hails, meeting each and every proposition that arises in a spirit of fairness, and dealing with same in an impartial, conscientious and honest way. But since the question of the home man has been raised, as I understand, by Esquire Hagler's friends, it is but fair to the people as well as to myself that the facts regarding this home man proposition be laid before the people in its full and true light.

The facts are these: I was born on a farm 3 miles northeast of Fulton, and have lived there practically all my life until I was, through the goodness of the people, elected Circuit Court Clerk, at which time, because the duties of my office required that I be at the county seat, I moved to Hickman. Moreover, my father before me, together with my ancestors, have lived in the vicinity in which I was born, for seventy or seventy five years, during which time they bought whatever merchandise and other things that they had to have from Fulton merchants. I now own the farm on which I was born, and the people who live on my farm purchase whatever of merchandise and other things that they have to purchase from Fulton merchants. I wish to be understood as not stressing the home man question, but as the question has been raised by the other fellow, I wish to ask, in the light of the above undisputed and indisputable facts, who can more justly claim to be a home man, Esquire Hagler, who has been a resident of the state and county for only eight or nine years, or I, who, together with my ancestors, have been residents of this vicinity for seventy or eighty years. My only purpose in writing this article is to put the facts in their full and true light before the people, leaving to their intelligence the determination of this question.

W. L. HAMPTON,
Candidate for County Judge.

SMITH BOLTERS SNOWED UNDER IN TEXAS

If any one has any doubt as to which way Texans will vote in the National election, their minds should be relieved by the vote cast in the Democratic primary in that state last Saturday when every Democrat who was for Al Smith and the entire Democratic national ticket was given overwhelming majorities. Gov. Moody's majority exceeding 120,000, just about half what Al's majority will be in the "Lone Star" State in November.

The Democrat in Texas who opposes the national Democratic ticket headed by Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, stands about as much show being elected to office as a snowball lasting in h—-. The same applies to the majority of Southern states.

POOR OLD MAID IS VICTIM OF SLOTH, DECLARES COLLEEN

No one need pity the "old maid." Her unwed state is her own fault.

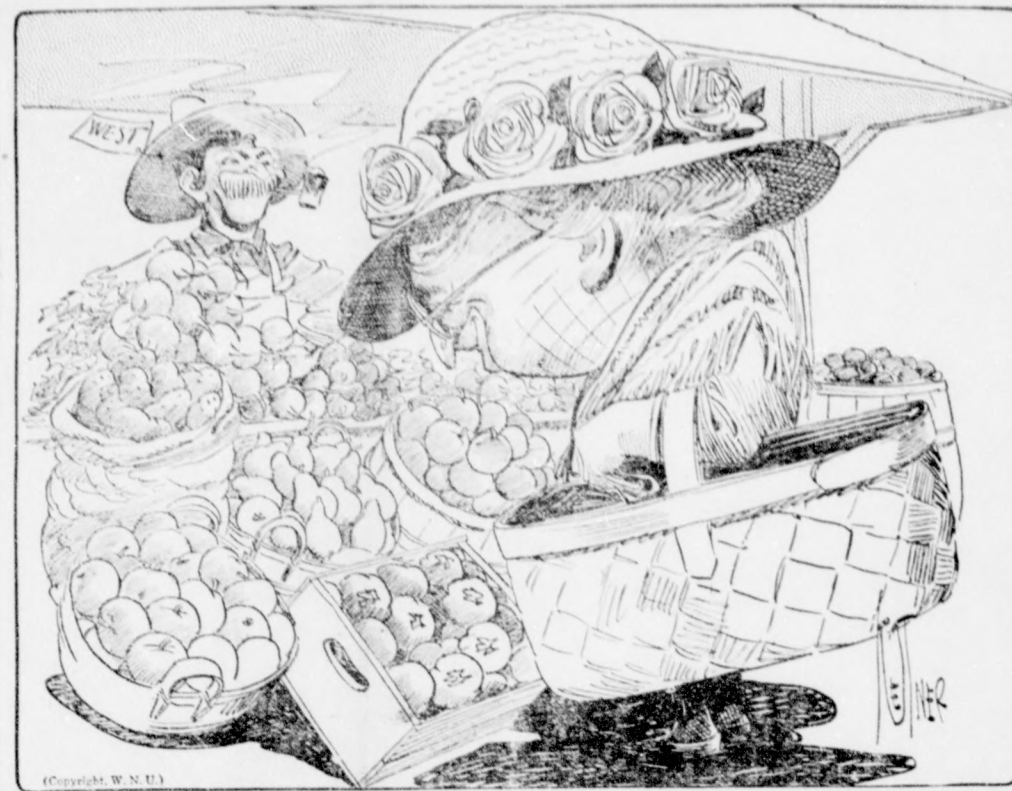

At least Colleen Moore, star of "Naughty But Nice," her newest First National picture which is being shown at the Grand Theater Monday and Tuesday, says that any girl can marry the man of her choice if she wants him badly enough, and she presents an example of what she means in this photograph.

"It's just a matter of technique," Miss Moore explains. "Women have always permitted men to think that they were making a conquest when they marched down to the altar, but many a bridal sleeve has been worn to tatters by the chukles within it."

"All these hardheaded bachelors who make such a point of having preserved their freedom actually are still free because no girl has ever found them sufficiently interesting to really want to marry them. No man can escape his own wedding once a member of the fair sex has definitely and finally made up her mind she wants him for life."

DRY GEORGIA SENATOR COMES OUT FOR SMITH

Prohibition Leader Urges All Democrats to Vote for Al Smith, As He Will Really Enforce the Law

William J. Harris, Georgia's senior United States senator, and dry leader, in a formal statement Monday night, pledged himself to support the presidential candidacy of Gov. Alfred Smith, and called upon the Georgia Democracy to stand solidly back of the national ticket.

Declaring that he did not believe that prohibition would be endangered by the election of Smith, the senator said he would not vote for him "if I thought that, by his election, Gov. Smith could change the prohibition laws."

Harris praised Smith as a man and as a public official, asserting that while he had opposed him, he believed "in doing him justice."

"Southern people could and would divide if the prohibition laws were endangered," he said, "but certainly on all other great questions which the Democratic party stands for, there can be little difference of opinion—there should be none in any section of our country when honesty in government and white supremacy are at stake. On all these measures, Gov. Smith's record as a man and governor—as well as all the other positions he has so ably filled—should convince anyone that he would make a president satisfactory to the people of the south."

Has Pledged Enforcement

"Gov. Smith has publicly stated that he would enforce the law which was placed on the statute by a Democratic Congress," Senator Harris continued, "and it was my privilege as a member of the Senate to support these laws, even over President Wilson's veto. I'll never vote to change the laws except to strengthen them. Anyone familiar with the political complexion of Congress, and the prohibition sentiment in the United States knows beyond the shadow of a doubt that Congress will never repeal or change this law except to strengthen it—it is idle talk to say that Gov. Smith could influence a change in this law."

FRIENDS OF HAGLER WORK FOR HIS ELECTION

Esq. S. A. Hagler, of Fulton, candidate for county judge of Fulton county, who has been unable to see all of the voters throughout the county in the interest of his candidacy on account of the recent illness and death of his beloved wife, wishes the good people to know that he appreciates the effort being made in his race by his friends for the office.

Esq. Hagler has made an excellent record for efficiency and honesty during his term of office as magistrate and his friends want to promote him to the office of county judge where he can exert every greater interest in their behalf.

He is thoroughly familiar with county affairs and is anxious to see the county placed on a sound financial footing and every warrant issued worth 100 per cent. He is a good roads enthusiast and has a desire to see every road in Fulton county the very best and if elected County Judge will exert every effort to get the Fulton-Hickman Highway surfaced with concrete or asphalt.

It is to be regretted that Esq. Hagler was unable to meet all the voters of the county and present his claims more thoroughly, but his friends, who know him best feel justified in saying that if he is elected Judge of Fulton County to fill out the unexpired term of the late Judge Nugent, he will serve the people to the very best of his ability and ask that you cast your vote tomorrow in the Democratic primary election for him.

GARTH K. FERGUSON

To the Democratic Voters of the First Congressional District:

I have served my district and state in the Senate in two sessions of the General Assembly and am now a candidate for Congress from the First District.

I will appreciate your vote and influence in the Primary, August 4, and if elected will apply myself diligently to the responsible duties of the office. It will be impossible for me to see every voter in person, but I ask that you consider this a personal appeal for your support.

Very truly yours,
GARTH K. FERGUSON.

UNION CITY COUNTY FAIR CALLED OFF

Withdrawal of County Funds Discourages Promoters

(Union City Messenger)

Following the withdrawal by the county court of the $2,000 appropriation recently voted by that body for the support of the county fair a meeting of fair directors and officials was held at which time definite decision was made to call the fair off for this year. This decision was rendered when it was found that the money to finance the fair would have to be raised by private subscription.

The directors agreed to assist the committee of which T. R. Reynolds is chairman to take steps to organize a stock company for the purpose of starting a permanent annual fair next year.

They also will aid county agent G. L. Cleland in putting on a club fair for the boys' and girls' clubs of the county.

GUIDE, BEATING WIFE, IS SLAIN BY HIS SON

Sam Applewhite, Reelfoot Fisherman, Gun Victim

Union City, Tenn., July 30.—Sam Applewhite, 47, fisherman and guide at Samburg, on Reelfoot Lake, was shot and instantly killed tonight at 6:15, by his son, Sam D. Applewhite, 17.

It is reported that the elder Applewhite had been beating his wife for some time and that his son shot him in defense of his mother. Young Applewhite used a shotgun, two shots entering the body. The shooting occurred at the Applewhite home.

The Applewhites lived in what was known as the "Park" at Samburg, on Reelfoot Lake. No arrests have been made, and officers state that an inquest will not be necessary.

Sam Applewhite, Sr., has had a checkered career. In 1906 he was sentenced to the electric chair with 11 other nightriders who were convicted of the murder of Kirk Rankin, Trenton lawyer, but he and his associates were set free by a reversal from the supreme court, the case finally being thrown out of the local court.

Last fall Applewhite shot Luther Williams on Reelfoot Lake and was adjudged insane and committed to the insane asylum at Bolivar in April, 1928. He was released about 30 days later and is reported to have been abusing his wife since his release.

Applewhite is survived by his wife, his aged mother, seven children, a brother and three sisters.

AN ATTRACTIVE WINDOW

J. T. Watkins, secretary of the Fulton Poultry Association, has made a display of the ribbons and silver cups in the window of the Rucker Gift Shop. The arrangement is very tasty and attracts quite a bit of comment from passersby. For a background he has arranged pictures of thirty-six different breeds in their natural colors. In the center of the window standing on raised bases are the two silver cups donated by the two present Congressmen, Hon. Finis J. Garrett and Hon. W. V. Gregory. Scattered all over the floor of the window, and tastefully arranged on the walls are the ribbons that will be given to the winners at the poultry show, August 28 to September 1, 1928. Go by and see this window.

"LOVE ME AND THE WORLD IS MINE," A VERY COSTLY FILM

The entire film industry has awaited with absorbing interest the result of the first directorial effort of the German genius, E. A. Dupont, who brings to the screen a new artistry, a unique method of filming entirely different from the formula like methods generally in vogue.

No expense was spared in giving Dupont the best of the "breaks" for "Love Me and the World is Mine," the great Universal production which will be the featured attraction at the Orpheum Monday and Tuesday.

World-famed artists designed the many settings, great writers worked for weeks on the script, the finest cast that was ever assembled in one picture was engaged. And Dupont rose nobly to the occasion. The result is indeed a classic, an immortal screen play that will be a mark at which aspiring directors will shoot for years to come.

Norman Kerry, Mary Philbin and Betty Compson are featured in "Love Me and the World is Mine."

Hickman News

With the August Democratic primary less than two weeks off, the three candidates for the office of county judge and the two for Congressman from the First District of Kentucky are making a whirlwind finish, and it will be a hard-fought fight. The regular county races will be held next year but the race for county judge is to fill the unexpired term of Judge C. D. Nugent, who died in April, the term to expire December 31, 1929. The three candidates for this office are Judge W. J. McMurry, and W. L. Hampton, of Hickman, and S. A. Hagler, of Fulton, all of whom have been closely affiliated with the work of the county for years past, and this will be an interesting race. The congressional race with Representative Voris Gregory for re-election, opposed by State Senator Garth Ferguson, will be a hard fought one to the last day, making unusual interest in the August primary.

The program for river work, building of new levee loops, enlargements of levees, in fact, all of the river program for this immediate section, which is now practically assured, is the largest in the history of this section. During the past two weeks or more there have been a series of meetings, conferences and surveys between the Fulton county levee board, the Lake county, Tennessee levee board and officials and engineers of the Mississippi river commission.

Mr. McAdoo is agent for Cly-tone, first aid to health, and all who have tried it for chronic constipation, indigestion and other stomach disorders recommend it highly. He has it on sale at the Busy Bee Cafe.

"Cly-tone," the talking dog will probably be on exhibition at all the county and state fairs this fall.

DUST CLOUDS ENDANGER FLYING MEN UNTIL CITY OFFICIALS SOLVE PROBLEM

Spectators Can See Takeoffs Without Peril and Authorities Breathe Easier—In Every Sense—Since Experts Come to Aid of Aviators at Euston.

The Spirit of St. Louis Landing at Boston Airport, South Boston, Mass. Insert Shows "Lindy" and His Famous Smile.

WHILE Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, fresh from his triumphs in Central America and the West Indies, is now looking for new worlds to conquer aeronautically, city and aviation officials are planning new ways to make airports safer.

Flyers are interested in the dust problem not because they must dust aloft, but because they must land with the problem when they are landing. Officials are interested because they are watchful over the safety of thousands of spectators filled with a new zeal for aviation because of Col. Lindbergh's prowess.

So seriously have the officials of the Boston Airport at South Boston realized that question that they have conducted special experiments with dust-laying apparatus and chemicals to determine which are most effective.

The problem has arisen only in recent years—one might say, on the increase in "galleries" at the big aviation fields. Public interest has become so aroused to flying that it is no uncommon sight to see hundreds and even thousands of persons gathered on the more popular fields to see the takeoff in any one of the big races.

MOTORISTS ARGUE FOR ADDITIONAL SAFETY MEASURES ON HIGHWAYS

Convince Officials of Perils on Many Crowded Roads—Prevention of Dust an Important Matter to Be Considered.

The White Painted Guard Rails Help to Make Curves Safe for the Motorist.

DESPITE the increase in the use of white painted guard rails, whitewashed traffic indicators of one sort or another and more elaborate danger signals, automobile accidents are steadily growing more numerous, automobile associations point out in reviewing the summer's casualties.

The next great important step to reduce the number of accidents will be the elimination of dust, in the opinion of those associations.

Dust, in spite of the greater mileage of concrete roads, is causing many accidents, a condition due in part to the constantly growing highway congestion.

High winds and passing cars raise dust clouds that have been compared with the smoke screens of naval destrictors. Through that screen the average motorist must guess his way and trust to luck that no one is directly in his path, the automobilists assert.

In some sections of the country, where motorists have been able to convince officials of the perils in dust covered highways, the authorities are applying chemicals to the road surface, particularly calcium chloride, a moisture-absorbing material that lays the dust. The prevention of dust is unquestionably a large factor in any safety first campaign.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Palestine church, conducted by the Rev. B. J. Russell, assisted by Rev. A. N. Walker, interment followed in the church cemetery with the Fulton Undertaking Company in charge.

The passing of this good woman has saddened the entire community in which she had lived for so long. She was generally loved by old and young alike and will be missed by a large circle of friends and loved ones.

Mrs. Bockman, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Bard, was born in 1855 in Fulton county and lived in this community all her life. She was married in 1885 to Mr. Jake Bockman, who survives her. She is survived also by three brothers, J. T., Dick and J. F. Bard, of Fulton, and one sister, Mrs. Mattie Bard Sullivan, of Clinton, besides a host of relatives and friends. She had no children.

Mrs. Bockman was a member of Pleasant Hill Methodist church, and lived a consistent Christian life, always doing her part in the church and community life. She will be much missed in all these activities.

TUBERCULOSIS CASE FINDING CLINICS

Union City, August 14; Troy,
August 15; Obion, August 16

Tuberculosis is the most prevalent and damaging infectious disease to which flesh is heir; it is the most widespread of all major infections. Realizing the urgent need for a definite program for the prevention and control of this disease, the State Department of Public Health has adopted a plan whereby an effort will be made to find every tubercular infected person in the State. Clinics for this purpose will be held in cooperation with the County Medical Societies throughout the State.

In this country 9 per cent of all deaths are caused by tuberculosis; 30 per cent of all deaths between the ages of 15 and 60 years are caused from this disease alone. The greatest loss, therefore, comes during the most useful period of life; however it is most encouraging that preventive measures, based upon modern conceptions of the disease as a communicable infection are beginning to show results.

Poor food, worry, overwork, poor housing conditions and crowding, decreases the resistance to the "germs," while good food, rest and good housing conditions mean that intimate contact with tubercular cases may be avoided, and the individual resistance built up. Improving the sanitary conditions and encouraging outdoor play and wholesome recreation also tend to increase the resistance to the infection.

A condition that which there is none more important in the preparation of the body for the reception and growth of the germ is undernourishment. Especially is this true of the undernourished found in childhood, for here is also the added predisposing cause of body tissues which are growing, immatures and which therefore have not developed full resistance. In Tennessee this condition is serious. Investigations by the State Department of Health in widely separated parts of the State and which reach thousands of children, show that of every 100 school children examined, from 20 to 69 weighed less than nine-tenths of the average for their age and height. Some weighed only three-fifths of the average. Here then is the main reason for Tennessee's high tuberculosis rate, a rate that compares unfavorably with that of the country as a whole, and one that will stay high until the condition is improved.

The things which should make you suspect an early case of tuberculosis and go for an examination more frequently, or as soon as they appear, are:

1. Slight rundown conditions.
2. Any unexplained loss of weight.
3. Fever in the afternoon.
4. Rapid pulse.
5. Lack of energy.
6. Dyspepsia.
7. Any loss of strength.
8. Kernals in the neck, especially in children.
9. Blood in the sputum.
10. Repeated colds, or any cold lasting more than two weeks.
11. Cough.
12. Other cases of tuberculosis in your family.

The all important thing, and to the patient the thing which represents the difference between life and death, is an early diagnosis, for tuberculosis is one of the most curable of diseases when recognized early, though a fatal one after it reaches the last stages.

Physicians with training in the various chest conditions, specializing in tuberculosis will hold all day clinics at the courthouse in Union City, August 14; Troy (place to be selected), August 15, and Obion (grammar school), August 16.

Consult your family physician.

AMCO

FEED MIXING SERVICE

STANDS FOR

1. RECOGNITION OF THE TRUTH. All that is known about feeding is in the possession of the colleges of agriculture, experiment stations, and practical feeders. Amco Feed Mixing Service recognizes this and realizes that what feeders need is a service which makes it possible for them to follow this information.

2. UNRIVALED SERVICE. Alone of all big feed manufacturers, Amco Feed Mixing Service seeks to purchase and mix, according to the experience of the colleges of agriculture and practical feeders, the feeds which are the best buy for farmers.

3. INDEPENDENT ACTION. The American Milling Company has no secret formulas to sell. It has no by-products to work off. Its sole revenue comes from mixing feed ingredients on open formulas at so much a ton. It is, therefore, free to mix the combinations which science and practice say are the most profitable to use.

4. QUALITY. A mixed feed can be no better than the ingredients that go into it. Amco Feed Mixing Service checks, through its chemists, the quality of every ingredient which goes into the feeds it mixes and rejects those which are below the standards of good feeding practices.

5. ADAPTABILITY. The quality of roughage and the feeding conditions vary from farm to farm. Amco mixes feeds which fit into every farm condition.

6. CONVENIENCE. When you buy an Amco-mixed feed, you get in one bag everything that is needed for the animal for which it is intended—digestible nutrients, minerals, vitamins and variety, with correct bulk and palatability.

7. ECONOMIES. The way to save on the cost of feed is to take advantage of the ingredients which are cheapest, run mixing plants to capacity, and secure orders at the least possible expense. The American Milling Company is doing all these for farmers through Amco Feed Mixing Service.

REV. DODD PREACHES SPECIAL SERMON TO YOUNG PEOPLE

The Rev. M. E. Dodd, former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Fulton, and one of the leading divines of the South, says, "Any citizen who votes against a candidate solely because of the candidate's religion is not worthy of American citizenship."

The following, published in a Shreveport, La., newspaper, is of general interest to the people here:

"Any citizen who votes against a candidate solely because of the candidate's religion is not worthy of American citizenship." This statement was made by the Rev. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist Church Sunday night when he delivered a sermon advertised as a dedication for young citizens who have never before voted in a presidential election.

Doctor Dodd did not definitely express a presidential choice, but confined himself to a brief treatise on the principles set forth in the constitution and the Declaration of Independence. The personal qualifications of neither Hoover nor Smith were discussed.

"There is no moral issue in the present campaign," Doctor Dodd told his large congregation, "but if there was, this pulpit would not hesitate to express itself definitely. If one candidate and his party favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, I believe that every preacher, priest or rabbi would be justified in denouncing that party and candidate, but today the issues involve no great moral question, but problems of the workingman and things of international significance."

"As to the platforms of both parties, there is no choice. Both have pledged for enforcement of the prohibition act when the very oath of office demands that the officer enforce the laws. Between the party records there is little choice, Mellon, Republican, laid the foundation of his great fortune in liquor trade and he as secretary of the treasury had charge of prohibition enforcement. Nicholas Murray Butler, another Republican leader, has a brother-in-law, who is a noted brewer and wine manufacturer. Smith, the Democratic nominee, has expressed himself against the Volstead act. But if there has been laxity in prohibition enforcement in the last eight years, the blame belongs on the Republicans, with their wet leaders."

"Hoover is a Quaker, Smith is a Catholic. The constitution of the United States sets forth the maxim of religious liberty and makes for the separation of church and state. Any citizen who votes against a candidate solely because of that candidate's religion is not worthy of American citizenship."

Doctor Dodd took as his text "Blessed is the nation whose God is Jehovah," explaining that he believed the United States to be under divine guidance and that a man would appear in every time of national crisis who would be equal to time and occasion.

Brilliant State Fair Assured

Patient, wisely directed labor by numerous committees and specialists will be evidenced by the brilliancy and the number of records established by the twenty-sixth annual Kentucky State Fair, which opens on September 10 and continues through September 15. Tate Bird, of Shelby County, who has succeeded James E. Paley as secretary of the Fair, has spared neither time nor effort in assembling impressive exhibits and attractions of the most colorful type.

Twenty-two departments devoted to products of the farm, field, orchard, dairy and the household, races, the gay midway, pyrotechnic displays, and various other features of the twenty-sixth exposition promise to set a new record for attendance. Tate Bird, secretary of the Fair, has arranged for Kentuckians to attend at minimum expense. He has secured a reduction of rates on railroads entering Louisville.

The piece de resistance of this year's Fair will be the $10,000 Saddle Horse Stakes. It will be shown in four divisions on four nights, with the grand finale on Saturday, September 15. The Governor's Cup Event for three-year-old trotters will be staged on September 1. Governor Flem D. Sampson will preside over the opening ceremonies.

A FAVORED TERRITORY

What President L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central System calls "the economic heart of the United States," is to be found in the fourteen central Mississippi Valley states crossed or touched by his railroad, he asserts in a letter addressed to the public. These states produce 24 per cent of the world's cotton, 13 per cent of its tobacco, 40 per cent of its corn, 16 per cent of its oats, 15 per cent of its swine, 17 per cent of its lumber, 13 per cent of its coal, 9 per cent of its petroleum and 33 per cent of its iron ore.

These states also contain more than 52,000 manufacturing plants, employing more than 2,000,000 wage earners, and turning out every year products valued in excess of $16,000,000,000. The 38,000,000 people of this territory consume approximately one-third of all the domestic products of the entire country, besides constituting a greater market for the world's goods moving in international trade than any foreign nation except Great Britain, Germany and France.

In these fourteen states lie the nation's centers of population, improved farm acreage, agricultural production, mineral production, industrial activity and railway mileage.

SUMMER FEEDING OF HENS PROFITABLE

It is as important to feed hens properly during the summer as during the winter, points out J. R. Smyth, of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky. Egg prices are rising and will probably do so until winter; so feed used now should give good returns.

Summer feeding should be done along with close culling, as there is no profit in feeding cull hens. The flock should be culled every month until fall, and all hens removed that have stopped laying and started to molt. The better laying hens will continue to lay through July, August and September or even longer.

Any good commercial egg mash or a home made mixture will be satisfactory to use. A good home made mash can be made as follows: One hundred and fifty pounds of bran, 150 pounds of middlings, 100 pounds of ground yellow corn, 100 pounds of ground scrap or tankage (60 per cent protein) and three pounds of salt. The mash should be kept before the hens at all times and grain fed once or twice daily. The hens should eat more mash than grain during the hot weather. Eight to ten pounds of grain per day should be fed to 100 hens; allow them to have all the mash they will eat. Oyster shells or ground limestone and clean fresh water should be supplied at all times.

A flock of hens that has been properly fed and cared for should be producing 50 per cent now. Whenever the production falls below this, it is time to cull. This production should continue during July and August and probably longer.

For a short time we will accept subscriptions for this paper and the Memphis Weekly Commercial Appeal—both papers one year for only $1.25.

Lesson for August 5

PAUL IN A PAGAN COUNTRY

LESSON TEXT—Acts 14:1-28.
GOLDEN TEXT—I know both how to be abased and I know how to abound.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul and Barnabas Preach to the Heathen.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul and Barnabas Preach to the Heathen.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul Unmoved by Flattery and Danger.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Heroism of Foreign Missions.

I. Paul and Barnabas Preaching at Iconium (vv. 1-7).
1. Their manner of preaching (v. 1). This is suggested by the little word "so" in verse 1. They so spake that a great multitude believed. They were true preachers. Only that which brings conviction of sin and induces decisions for Christ can be truly said to be preaching in the Biblical sense.
2. Their attitude towards opposition (v. 3).
This is suggested by the word "therefore." "Long time therefore they tarried." The opposition did not prevent their preaching. Christian workers should learn not to give up work because of opposition.

3. The Lord accompanied their preaching with miracles (v. 3). Since the opposition was so fierce, the Lord granted help which was needed.
4. The effect of their preaching (v. 4).
The multitude of the city was divided. Where men faithfully preach the gospel there will be division. Such division comes frequently in the home just as Christ predicted.

5. Paul and Barnabas assaulted in planning this assault. Being apprised of this plot, Paul and Barnabas fled to Lystra and Derbe, where they preached the gospel.
II. An Attempt to Worship Paul and Barnabas as Gods (vv. 8-18).
1. The occasion (v. 8).
It was the healing of the lame man. God's gracious power shown in healing this lame man occasioned a new difficulty. The man was a confirmed cripple. He had never walked. On hearing Paul preach faith was born in his heart (Rom. 10:17). When Paul perceived that the cripple trusted Christ, with a loud voice that all could hear he bade the man to stand upright. The cure was instantaneous for he leaped up and walked (v. 10).

2. The method (vv. 11-13).
They called Barnabas Jupiter, and Paul Mercurius because he was the chief speaker. The priest of Jupiter brought oxen and garlands ready to offer sacrifice unto those men (v. 13).
3. Their efforts frustrated (vv. 14-18).
This foolish act was happily averted by the tact of the apostles as exhibited in the address of the occasion.

(1) They denied that they were divine beings and declared against the worship of men of like passions with themselves. What awful folly to worship such beings when the infinite God, who created all things and is above all, spreading out His beneficent hands in blessing upon all, is seeking true worshippers!
(2) They directed them to turn away from these vain things unto the living God who made heaven and earth, and has left witness of Himself in that He has always done good, giving rain and fruitful season, filling their hearts with gladness.

III. The Stoning of Paul (vv. 19-22).
Wicked Jews from Antioch and Iconium pursued Paul with relentless hate to this place where they stirred up the very people who were willing to worship the apostles a little while before. This hatred took form in the stoning of Paul and dragging him out of the city for dead. These things are easy to talk about, but how awful they must be to experience. God raised him up, and with undaunted courage he pressed on with his duties as a missionary, bearing the good tidings to the lost. The church today needs men with such zeal and courage, and such a passion for the souls of lost men that they will do as Paul did.

IV. The Organization of Churches in the Field (vv. 23-28).
Evangelization with Paul did not mean a hasty and superficial preaching of the gospel, but the establishment of a permanent work. Elders were appointed in every church. The work of the missionary is not done until self-governing and self-propagating churches are established on the field.

Fly to Him

If it be true that God is not only willing to befriend us, but is spoken of as touched with sympathy for our miseries, so as to be all the kinder to us the more we are miserable, what folly were it not to fly to him without delay.—John Calvin.

CHANGE IN MILKERS LOWERS COW'S MILK YIELD AND TEST

COW AFFECTED BY STRANGE MILKER

Among the many things which will cause a cow to vary noticeably in her milk and butterfat production is a change of milkers, declares the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. This is particularly true when a cow has become accustomed to being milked by the same milker every day. A good example of what results when a strange milker takes the place of the regular milker just for one day, is shown in a recent report made by an Iowa cow tester from the records of his cow testing association. This report showed that when a certain cow was milked by a strange milker just for one day she produced 32 pounds of milk testing 2.3 per cent butterfat. The next day, when the regular milker milked her, she produced 41.2 pounds of milk testing 4.8 per cent.

DRESDEN-GREENFIELD ROAD ON PROGRAM

Draining and Grading Contract to Be Let This Fall

The Greenfield-to-Dresden section of Route 54 will be included in the contract letting following the one of August 10. Hon. Selden Maiden of Greenfield, has been assured by Commissioner Berry. The plans for this road could not be completed in time for the August letting, but this work will be awarded in the next list afterward. The Highway Department has not yet prepared its plans for the Palmersville road. The paving of Route 22 in Weakley county, from Dresden to the Obion County line, one of the projects to be awarded August 10, will cost about $200,000 it is stated, and Commissioner Berry has pointed out that Weakley county is thus getting a full share of road work, and no other project could be included in the August letting without detracting from rights of other counties. The paving with concrete of the road from Dresden to Union City, to be awarded to contract August 10, is one of the most important projects of the letting, it is stated.—Martin Press.

GROCERY FIRM MAKES ASSIGNMENT AT UNION CITY

Bea Guedry Wholesale Grocery Co., Makes Assignment, Naming J. Walker Kerr Trustee

(Union City Commercial) The Bea Guedry Wholesale Grocery Co., made an assignment last Monday, naming J. Walker Kerr, Trustee. The firm listed liabilities in excess of $20,000, and assets of about $13,000. The list of creditors is widely scattered and varies from small amounts up to several thousand dollars. The assets consists of stock on hand and accounts.

The Bea Guedry Co., had only been in business in Union City for about eighteen months succeeding the Dyersburg Grocery Co., in the old H. B. Hornor business, and enjoyed a good business from dealers in this section up until about three months ago, when business began to slacken up, which resulted in the firm making an assignment.

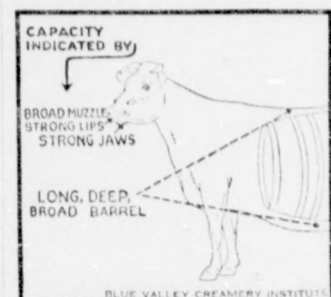

Bea Guedry came to Union City from Paducah, Ky., where he had been engaged in the wholesale grocery business for many years.

LARGE MOUTH IN A COW IS GOOD SIGN

The More She Can Eat, the More She Is Likely to Give, Declares Institute.

The more feed a dairy cow is capable of consuming, the more likely she will be to produce milk abundantly, declares the Blue Valley Creamery Institute, as it is from the feed a cow eats that milk is made. Therefore, a good dairy cow possesses a big capacity for feed. The cow with a large mouth is a good feeder, dairyman find, while the one with a small mouth and muzzle is a poor feeder. To make the fullest use of feed a cow must chew it thoroughly. For this reason she needs also strong jaws of well-defined width and depth.

The many organs involved in digesting feed and the great amount of food nutrients necessary for the maintenance of the animal and for great milk production call for a large barrel, one that is long, broad and deep. These specifications, dairyman believe, are insured by length from the shoulder to the hip bone and broad, flat, well-sprung, deep ribs. The cow that is long of body, slab-sided and shallow-ribbed is seldom, if ever, satisfactory either as a feeder or as a great and economical producer of milk or of offspring. Even though she may yield well for a short time, she is not persistent and soon declines in her milk flow.

Not only is it important that a cow be capable of consuming a large amount of feed at one time, but it is necessary that every ounce of the feed she eats is digested and assimilated. Therefore, strength and efficiency of the digestive apparatus are quite as important as size. The conditions and efficiency of the organs of digestion may be determined by the handling qualities of the animal. If the hide is soft, pliable and elastic and the hair soft and silky, an efficient digestive tract is assured. However, as dairy feeders always say, if the hide is covered with harsh, wiry hair, there is something wrong with the digestive system, either temporarily or permanently, and, even though the cow is a big feeder, the best use will not be made of the feed.

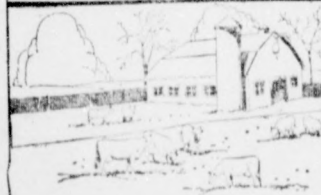

In addition to capacity for handling large quantities of feeds efficiently, a profitable dairy cow possesses a strong constitution, nervous temperament, good blood circulation and a natural ability for making milk.

DAILY EXERCISE NEEDED BY COWS

Keeps Them in Good Health and Profitable Production in Winter.

To keep dairy cows in good health so that they will produce milk profitably in winter, exercise should be provided every day, declares the Blue Valley Creamery Institute, in a recent study of winter dairying. In the northern states, dairy cows should be turned out of doors in a sunny lot well sheltered from winds, except when the weather is unusually cold or stormy. In states further south they may be kept out in the open for longer periods.

FOR GREATER WINTER COW PROFITS

Turn Cows Outdoors Daily for Exercise Except in Severe Weather

By giving the cows the run of a yard they will get sufficient exercise to keep them thrifty. However, more harm than good results when cows are forced to stay out of doors most of the day in cold weather. Such exposure means a waste of valuable feed and a big reduction in the milk flow.

DR. FARABOUGH, OF CLINTON, DIES

Dr. Jeff A. Farabough, 81, a resident of Clinton and for many years a practicing physician in Graves and Hickman counties, died at the Mayfield hospital Saturday morning about 5 o'clock, following an illness of paralysis and senility. He had been a patient at the hospital since July 4.

He was a practitioner at Pryorsburg, Graves county, until about forty years ago, when he went to the Salem section of Hickman county and located, afterward going to Clinton and making that place his home.

The body was taken overland to Clinton, where the funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, with interment in the Salem church cemetery. The Rev. G. W. Evans, of the Methodist church, of which the deceased was a member and a lay preacher, was in charge of the services.

Surviving are three sons, several daughter and a large number of other relatives and friends in both the counties in which he had practiced the greater part of his long life. Many of his later patients were children of the patrons of his earlier days, and in many families he had served two or more generations.

VETERAN PASTOR DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS AT MEMPHIS

Major Operation Fatal to Rev. R. M. Walker

(Memphis Commercial Appeal)
The Rev. Richard M. Walker, pastor of Southside Methodist Church, died Saturday afternoon at the Baptist hospital, where he underwent a major operation.

The Rev. Walker's death removes one of the most able ministers in the Memphis conference. When he accepted the Southside pastorate last November, he had been in the conference continuously for 25 years. He was for four years presiding elder of the Jackson, Tenn., district.

Born at Fulton, Ky., the Rev. Mr. Walker passed his boyhood in that city. He received his college and theological training at Vanderbilt University.

During his long career he held pastorates at Dyersburg, Tenn., and Paducah and Murray, Ky., coming to Memphis from the latter city.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Stubblefield Walker, and two daughters, Miss Sue Walker, and Mrs. C. A. Birmingham, of Memphis.

Funeral services were held at the J. W. Norris funeral home. The Rev. Dr. Felix R. Hill, presiding elder of the Memphis district, and the Rev. W. W. Armstrong officiated, assisted by the Rev. L. D. Hamilton, Huntingdon, Tenn., and the Rev. J. V. Freeman, pastor of the Highland Heights Methodist church.

DOCTOR SAYS MENDENHALL'S CHILL TONIC BEST SUBSTITUTE FOR QUININE

J. P. Wells, M. D., Weidners, Ark., writes: "I have been practicing in Arkansas 30 years and constantly prescribe Mendenhall's Chill & Fever Tonic where quinine is contraindicated for children and adults with weak stomachs. It sticks where others fail." "We make chill tonic in two forms, one which contains no arsenic should be given in place of quinine for malaria, chills and fever, colds, coughs, grippe or flu." Our chill tonic with arsenic is designated by a carton and label printed in Red Letters, giving the quantity of Fowler's Solution of Arsenic to each fluid ounce. Indicated in chronic malaria, chills and fever, anemia, lack of red blood corpuscles, headache, neuritis and rheumatism due to malaria and general bad health. Made by J. C. Mendenhall, Evansville, Ind., druggist since 1873.
