FARMERS JOIN STATE FIGHT ON THIEVERY

Farm thievery in the state of Kentucky has increased to such a large extent the past few years, that now under the leadership of the Kentucky Farmers Home Journal, thousands of farmers in this section of the state are joining in a statewide campaign to bring thievery from farms to a halt.

It is estimated that farmers of Kentucky lost over $100,000 annually at the hands of unscrupulous characters who prey on the hard earned property of the farmer in the quiet of the night. Thieves are taking advantage of high-powered trucks and good roads and may be many miles from the scene of their crime on the following morning. Poultry, livestock, meat, grain and tools are among the principal articles stolen.

Kentucky Farmers Home Journal has declared war on this type of thievery by offering a standing reward of $25.00 for the apprehension and conviction of any thief stealing from members of the campaign, which is endorsed by Governor Chandler and Ben Niles of the Kentucky Farm Bureau. Already over $60,000 has been spent organizing the farmers and paying rewards in the past year.

Farmers of this county are joining the organization at the rate of about 50 a day. Several men are calling on the farmers of this section this week. The organization expects to have over 1000 members in Fulton County.

DOWLAND GROVE PICNIC NEAR BRADFORD THURSDAY, JULY 29TH. GIGANTIC EVENT, GOVERNOR BROWNING INVITED TO SPEAK, MOVING PICTURES TO BE TAKEN

Just south of Martin, Tennessee's most outstanding picnic program will be offered to the public on Thursday, July 29th, near Bradford, when Dowland Grove swings into the biggest All-Star cast ever offered outdoors to the public Tennessee. The whole countryside from Milan to Martin, and from Trenton to McKenzie is seeing with excitement over the abundance of radio talent, other talent coming to this little community on July 29th. There will be 75 radio stars alone on the Dowland Grove program that day, not to mention other classes of entertainers numbering approximately 100 in all. In order to have time to give a turn to all performers, the program has been scheduled to start promptly at 7:30 A. M. and will be continuous until 7:30 P. M. Five big radio stations will have their crack stars there all day long, including the powerful 50,000 KMOX of St. Louis; WSM of Nashville, WTSJ, Jackson; WBBQ, of Harrisburg, and WREC of Memphis.

This vast array of radio talent is by no means the whole show. There will be Xylophone music; electric Hawaiian steel guitar; music; four expert acrobats, including the Mid-West champion and also the National champion; tap dancers; blackfaced; imitators impersonating popular and child prodigies; vaudeville comedians, boxing and wrestling. Also, Ralph Smith's show of more than 20 people, champion tumblers and kiddies will be there.

Another practice at Dowland Grove, which has proved most popular, is that a lot of speech-making is not allowed. Only one short speech the whole day and that must be by some outstanding speaker. This year Governor Browning has been invited.

Some of the more important acts and units follow: The St. Louis show, from radio station KMOX; the Penzel Trio; the Ozark Kids; Bill Haley, the Kentucky crooner; the little "Ozark Sweetheart"; Roy Fields, champion Acrobaticist; the WTSJ aggregation, including the Cowboy and Cowgirl; Angelina, Val Morse, Scrap Iron Quartette; Al Goebel and others; Ralph Smith's show of more than 20 people, including strong man acts, tumblers, and his interesting little lot show; then WSM's Grand Ole Opry music, including the nationally known "Golden West Cowboys, featuring Texas Daisy, the little yodelling Cowgirl, and Abner Sim, radio fast-fiddler; Cecil Doty, imitator Mary, Marie, and girl vocal Trio; Effie Belle, Queen of the Hay-left and her happy yodelling; and last but not least, Uncle Dave, and the Ozarkites. G. W. Cover, and Eddie Wise of WBBQ will be the Masters of Ceremonies.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Mrs. J. A. Hemphill, who presided over a short business session. The secretary, Mrs. Hughie Rushton, called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. Miss Myra Seacore gave a very interesting devotional reading of the fourth chapter of John. The mission book was given by Mrs. Roger Kirkland who used as her topic, "He That Giveth."

The meeting was closed with prayer by Miss Seacore and a social hour was enjoyed. The hostesses served delicious ice cream and cookies to fourteen regular members. The place of the next meeting will be announced later.

An ice cream supper will be held at the First Christian Church Thursday evening, July 29th. Ice Cream, sherbert and home-made cake will be served by the ladies of the church.

THE LOAFERS' JINT

The Romans had their Forum, a place where people met in official and unofficial ways to discuss everything, our counterpart of this institution was and is and ever shall be I suppose, the loafers' jint. Kings may die or abdicate Presidents may succeed each other, the rivers may continue to run into the sea, but the loafers' jint changes little from one I know in old Fidelity was the exact image of the one you knew in Podunk or Needmore. The activities sponsored by the loafers' jint were many in the good old days. The Civil War, then a little more nearly like contemporary history, was fought all over again usually to the advantage of the South. Ancestry came in for its attention though I fear not many of the people of Fidelity had much to boast of. By counting distant cousins, however, nearly everybody could name some great or near-great relative. Since ninety-nine per cent of the Fidelity loafers were Democrats, politics could not get very far, except such political economy as concerned the country or the major industrial district. The few Republicans were hardly safe or welcome when the national campaigns were decided the village wiseacres were deciding the national campaigns. Religion, though, was a subject that was open in proportion to one's ignorance of differences between denominations. The Methodists, the Baptists, and the Christians fought a triangular battle but the seldom knew of going home to do the milking and feeding could end the debate on baptism, the Lord's Supper, church government, and such matters. The gentle art of quoting Scripture for one's own purpose never had a better illustration than in those old days at Fidelity.

The loafers were not all so intellectual as this would imply. There were folks to play on the unwary, horsehoes to pitch, knives to swap. Blackguarding was the official language, innocently indulged in by people who would have sworn that they were not foul-mouthed.

Boxes had to be whittled to their basic elements. Russell Barlow should have lived in ancient times so he could have been made the patron saint of loafers. Some of the boys and men could do tricks with strings and coins and buttons. Others could jump a grapevine rope in all the approved fashions. Some could wrestle like Jacobs, but with less fortunate results. Nearly every generation of loafers had one boy who could do some fancy clog-dancing. A barn door with a little sand sprinkled on it was stage enough for this act. Some of the loafers were veterans who had lived beyond their years in this serious business of loafing; others were young men learning the gentle art of loafing; still others were boys too young to be allowed this great privilege of grown men boys who hung on the edge of the crowd and laughed furtively and a bit shame-facedly at the risqué yarns and talk. When an old artist died off away, some younger yarn-spinner and whittler inherited his mantle and carried on the age-old tradition. Horses and buggies were succeeded by the automobile, and the very spot where the loafers used to sit now has a gasoline tank; but close by, others are whittling and spinning almost the same yarns. Thus time goes on but does not and cannot conquer the loafers' jint.

Homemakers Plan For New Year

The Advisory Council of the Hickman County Association met at the home of Mrs. L. H. Lawrence in Clinton on Wednesday afternoon, July 7th for the first time this year. The officers of the Advisory Council were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Homer Barclay; Roy Club; Vice-President, Mrs. Roy Comwell; Shiloh Club; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. John Wright, Enon Club. The program for the coming year was discussed and it was decided that the major project be Backgrounds of the Livable Home and making the most of the old furniture, which will be study of floors, floor coverings, wall finishes, wood work, curtains, the completed background, reconditioning furniture, natural finishes, painting furniture and chair seating. Minor projects will be landscape gardening, reading in the home and style trends. The theme of the recreational program during the year will be music appreciation in the home. Miss Zella Monroe, Assistant State Leader of Home Demonstration Agents recommended to the Advisory Council as their home demonstration Agent for the coming year, Miss Jessie Wilson, who has been Assistant Home Demonstration Agent of Fulton and Hickman Counties during the month of June under Mrs. Catherine Thompson, Home Demonstration Agent. Miss Monroe stated that the University of Kentucky felt very fortunate in having Miss Wilson available to offer as full time Home Demonstration Agent of Hickman County. Miss Wilson is a graduate of the University of Kentucky having received her degree in Home Economics in June. While at the University she was one of the most outstanding students in Home Economics. Miss Wilson's nice personality as already made numerous friends among the homemakers of Hickman County and they were glad to accept Miss Monroe's recommendation electing Miss Wilson as Home Demonstration Agent for the year beginning July 1st, 1937. Mrs. Catherine Thompson who has been dividing her time between Fulton and Hickman counties in doing extension work will now devote her entire time to Fulton county. During the two years in which Mrs. Thompson has been Home Demonstration Agent for the two counties the organization of homemakers and 4-H Clubs have made such rapid growth that the Fiscal court of the two counties and the University of Kentucky felt that the work warranted a Home Demonstration Agent in each county. The Hickman county women regret giving up Mrs. Thompson because she has made a wide circle of friends and is loved throughout the county but they are looking forward to a larger with full time agent working with them.

A Good Spender

In the conduct of its business the railroad is a buyer of practically everything.

It buys a large portion of the country's output of coal, steel, lumber, oil, machinery, rubber, textiles and other major products.

It is an important customer of public utilities.

Every branch of business profits from its vast and widely varied purchases—and as the railroad prospers, these purchases increase.

It is an old and true saying that what the railroad earns it spends—spends promptly to bring added employment and prosperity to the nation's business.

The Illinois Central System this year will spend more than thirty-five million dollars in direct purchases.

The handling and distribution of purchases is a major behind-the-scenes activity on the railroad.

Picnic near Bradford, July 29th.

1 cup sour milk; 2 teaspoons cinnamon; 1-2 teaspoon cloves; 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg; 1-4 teaspoon salt;
2 cups flour; 1 teaspoon soda; 2-3
cup of raisins; 1 teaspoon vanilla.
Cream fat and sugar. Add rest of ingredients. Beat two minutes.
Pour into shallow pan fitted with waxed paper. Bake 25 minutes in moderate oven. Cool and frost.

Household Hints:

A pinch of salt added to fruit
sherbet will improve its flavor—Parsley may be kept fresh if the stalks are kept in cold water—To make sure berries will retain their bright color be careful not to overcook them. If they are used in preserves store the jars in a dark place.

Worth Knowing

To remove white marks from furniture caused by water or heat, wash
well with warm water and soap.
Wipe dry and sponge with alcohol (rubbing alcohol will do). Rub with furniture polish applied on soft cloth and you will be pleased with the results.

In the Sewing Room:

To fashion buttons securely on men's or children's underwear, use dental floss or grocery string—
When it is necessary to have a separate white collar on a dress it will eliminate the trouble of sewing it on after each laundering if snap fasteners are placed on the inside of the collar and at the neck edge.
—When tying comforters it is a good plan to tie them first in cheesecloth, then put on the top cover. The cover may then be removed for washing with little trouble.

The Family Doctor:

For ivy poisoning, wash effected
parts with boric solution and follow with an application of zinc ointment. Wash off the ointment
each day with the boric solution, dry, and apply fresh ointment. Instead of the boric solution, lime water may be used, or vinegar in which a copper cent has been placed. If the poisoning is severe, a physician should be consulted.

An Inspiration:

"Teach us to drive through life without skidding into other people's business. Help us to hear the knocks in our own motors and close our ears to the clashing of other people's gears. Keep alcohol in our radiators and out of our stomachs.
Open our eyes to the traffic signs and keep our feet always on the brakes that we may stop before we go too far."

Dick Powell Star Of New Film Musical

Just what the title indicates is the story of "The Singing Marine" which, with Dick Powell as its star, will have its local premiere
at the Orpheum Theatre on Saturday Nite 11 P. M. running thru Sunday and Monday.

Dick is a Marine—a modest buck private at the San Diego base—and he can sing. So his comrades get up a purse to send him to New York to have a try at "Major Rows" amateur hour.

At the same time, on her own,
Dick's sweetheart essays to enter her voice into the competition. This is Doris Weston, a lovely and talented newcomer to movies.

She doesn't get by. But Dick famous gong stops her. But Dick becomes a tremendous success.

That was just too bad! It goes to Dick's head. Spoiled by the adulation of innumerable women, and the fawning chuslers who surround him, the young Marine forgets his comrades out on the Pacific Coast.

But after all he's only on a leave of absence from the Marines,
and when, at the end of his furlough, he's shipped with O'FaahmB' lough he's shipped with the rest of his company to China, he has a chance to redeem himself with a splendid bit of heroism, which restores him to everyone's good graces.

A splendid cast surrounds Dick Powell in the gay song and dance fest, including Hugh Herbert, Allen Jenkins, Doc Rockwell from vaudeville, Jane Wyman and Veda Ann Borg.

To the VOTERS of Fulton County —AND— All Those Interested in the Truth

As my opponent in the County Judge's race, the present County Judge, in his various announcements has seen fit to make many untrue and misleading claims and charges, I feel that the people should have a detailed statement of the facts involved. Let us examine these matters one by one and see where the truth really is in regard to them.

He said that he had reorganized the county government since he went into office. Will the records bear this out? Ask the County Court Clerk, the Sheriff, the Tax Commissioner, the School Superintendent, the Circuit Court Clerk, the County Attorney, the Magistrates, the Constables, the Health Department, the Farm Agent, the Home Agent, or the Coroner what changes he has made in their offices. I charge that no changes have been made except those brought about by the Budget Law which was passed in January, 1934 by the Kentucky Legislature. In compliance with this law, the state furnished an expert accountant to install a new system for keeping a record of claims against the Fiscal Court and annually supervises same in order that the system may be uniform in all the counties, except that a book with blank pages has been installed by the present Judge similar to and what might be called a SCRAP BOOK, in which he has pasted such bonds and coupons as have been paid during the last several years. The records in the County Judge's office will bear this out. Go and see for yourself.

Another absurd and misleading statement was, "I found no records or so few that it was necessary for the auditors to make a record before he could make an audit." It is true that the Fiscal Court had an audit made but the fact is that the auditor found a voucher to correspond with each warrant that had been issued by the Fiscal Courts throughout the years covered by the audit; also an order on the Fiscal Court books allowing each warrant as well as authorizing the bonds. The records will bear this out. An audit wouldn't be worth much if the auditor created his own records and then audited them himself; in fact it would be an impossibility.

My opponent stated further that I said that the Budget Law put the county on a cash basis, and that I must not have read it to have made that statement. I suggest that he did not read my statement from which I quote, "No county officer put the county on a cash basis. The law did that—the law PLUS the fact that the Citizens Bank of Hickman, Kentucky, cashes the warrants when and as they are issued and holds them until the taxes come in, at which time the bank is reimbursed for the face of each warrant plus the interest from date of issue until paid. Not a cent more interest is saved, however, than if they were interest bearing warrants." (In his first announcement he claimed that thousands of dollars had been saved thus.) Anyone can see that the Budget Law, to which my opponent fell heir, by preventing under heavy penalty the Judge and the Fiscal Court from exceeding the revenue in any Fiscal Year, and by permitting them, according to advice from state officers and their interpretation thereof, to use the revenue of any year to take care of the expenditures of that year FIRST and before anything else need be paid, makes it possible and safe for this bank or any bank to cash the warrants as issued. Thus it is the BASIS and foundation of the cash system. No previous Budget Law had these penalties nor this provision. In the previous administration, before the present Budget Law, regardless of how little the Fiscal Court might have planned to spend, it had no assurance that its current warrants could be paid out of the current revenue because any outstanding and floating warrants could be used by the various taxpayers in payment of county taxes for general purposes. This made the application of the current revenue uncertain.

My opponent stated, "Even before the new Budget Law went into effect, with the assistance of the Fiscal Court, I had placed this county on a cash basis." The truth is, as will be borne out by orders in Fiscal Court Order Book No. 3, Page 238, that money was borrowed in 1934 in anticipation of the revenue for the purpose of taking up the warrants issued for governmental functions during that period before it went into effect which did not include road work and the like. There was nothing original about this, as the previous Judge and Fiscal Court had done that for several years. To pay the non-governmental warrants that were issued during the first six months before the Budget Law went into effect in July, 1934, the Fiscal Court borrowed the money in 1935, as shown in Fiscal Court Order Book III, Page 302. These are the facts and I didn't have to ask any outsider to write me a letter telling me about it. He asserted that during his term the county has lived well within its means. I take issue with this statement because the back tax money that has been collected has been to a great extent used to pay claims incurred during his administration.

He stated that he had worked two years on the $115,000 funding bond proposition—which bonds were issued in 1928, and that the holders have agreed to accept 2% interest instead of the 5 1/4% as shown on the face and to waive the interest that is in default, saving $70,000 thereby—such agreement being stamped on the back of the bonds. The facts are that the agreement to be stamped on the backs of these bonds is that IF the 2% interest is paid annually on interest paying day from now until 1948 and if at that time the face of these bonds is paid, that that will end the matter, but upon failure of any future administration to carry out said agreement, the full amount of said bonds and all of the interest may be collected at the regular 5 1/4%. His boasted saving is conditional and uncertain. The holders of these bonds originated this idea and made and submitted this proposition which was accepted by the Fiscal Court as shown in Fiscal Court Order Book No. 3, Page 409.

He asserted that the indebtedness of the county was largely created while I was a county official. I deny this. Of the huge bond issue which the people themselves voted on Feb. 5, 1924, when I was not in office, $300,000 worth were sold. All of the bonds which were issued have accumulated interest through the years. Everybody knows that the right of way from Fulton through the county to Hickman and then west through the bottom to the Tennessee line was procured and had to be paid for not out of the bond issue but out of the county revenue following this bond issue. Everybody knows there were other heavy expenditures which were necessary and had to be made during this period, after I went out of office as County Judge. Ask Judge McMurtry how much the indebtedness was increased during my administration when I was County Attorney. But I might add that since many of the most crying needs and demands of the people had already been met when he took office, since other agencies are bearing most of the expense for road work, and for the aged and needy, even without a law with heavy penalties attached to relieve him of any choice in the matter, and with much of the former pressure removed, it would be much easier to stay within the revenue now than ever before—and therefore—a little less boasting.

and condemning of other Judges and Fiscal Courts on the part of the present Judge would be in better taste.

In regard to the right of way for the new concrete bridge at Riceville he said, "When this bridge was first built, the right of ways cost the taxpayers of Fulton County more than $10,000, and when they were acquired this time they did not cost the taxpayers one penny. Seeing that we did not have sufficient funds to buy right of ways I PREVAILED on the Illinois Central Railroad Company to contribute all necessary money for the purchase of these right of ways, which they did." I will say first that considerably more right of way than is required by the new structure and that on both sides of the track was bought for the first bridge and the greater portion of the cost of same was made up by the enterprising citizens of Fulton, Ky., a donation to the county. In the former case the railroad itself built and paid for the bridge; in the present case the government and the state are building this magnificent structure at a cost of $86,000. I understand that in order to get this adequate, beautiful, and modern structure, and eliminate a dangerous curve the Illinois Central Railroad Company, upon the solicitation of these same good citizens of Fulton gladly agreed to pay the $2,375 which is what the additional right of way cost, which agreement appears in Fiscal Court Order Book 3, page 447.

My opponent must have consulted his imagination instead of the records because the records show in Fiscal Court Order Book I, Page 338, that even though a larger amount of right of way was required and bought for the first bridge, it only cost the county $1,000 instead of over $10,000 AS HE STATED.

Now, as to the suit which is pending, my opponent said that if I had any plan regarding the payment of the floating warrants I should have made it known. He very well knows that before any suit was filed the probable cancellation or repudiation of a large part of this indebtedness was discussed with him by Aubrey Hester and me and at that time my plan was to file a suit to have such of said floating indebtedness as was evidenced by warrants issued for unquestionably valid governmental functions passed upon by the court and adjudged valid in order that such of said indebtedness could be refunded, but not to include the non-governmental or permissible warrants because if once repudiated or cancelled by the court it would be illegal to pay them regardless of how able we might be to do so at a later date. He further stated that I am one of those representing the county in the suit that was eventually filed. My name does appear on said suit by reason of the fact that I am County Attorney but I am not in sympathy with its purposes and I did not draft the petition that is filed or any part of it. It was drafted by the three attorneys employed by the County Judge. I am not in sympathy with this suit as drawn and he knew I was not in sympathy with it when he employed these other attorneys. Any official's name may appear on documents that are not entirely to his liking just as the Sheriff often has to sign and execute papers which are not to his liking but come under his official duties. Even a Judge is sometimes so situated. Before this case is passed upon, I suggest to the County Judge that he instruct his attorneys to withdraw from said suit all non-governmental and permissible warrants mentioned therein, so that plans may be worked out at some future date whereby they too may be paid. I reiterate that plans can and should be made to pay even these, because the services were rendered to the county in good faith.

He now admits that the W.P.A.

and the State Administration are mainly responsible for and entitled to the credit for all the highways that have been graveled, and improved during the last few years, and that the state is entitled to credit for the annual allotment for the supervision, grading, and working of the rural roads, but he says someone has to make the proper effort to secure the assistance of and cooperate with these agencies. "It will be remembered" that for first two years of his administration he was not on speaking terms with Highway Commissioner Broadbent and I, as County Attorney and County Chairman, together with his predecessor, the magistrates, and members of civic clubs from Hickman and Fulton and other citizens of the county had to go to Cadiz to see about getting the roads built. Interested citizens and officials throughout the county are frequently contacting State Highway Commissioner Humphreys along these lines and we are entitled to credit for the results which we got. Every one knows also that the county furnishes a small portion of this cost of the roads, in which is included the gravel out of its large gravel pit in the east end of the county which was owned by the county before the present administration. Also included is its road machinery which it also already owned. All of the roads improved and to be improved were designated by the Fiscal Court and not the Judge as shown in Fiscal Court Order Book 3, Page 374. Everyone knows, too, that the amount of W.P.A. funds that anyone of the one hundred twenty counties in the state gets is based on the number of unemployed in that county. The same might be said of direct relief—it is based on need. Some counties have few unemployed and therefore very little W.P.A. work is done in such counties regardless of who the county judge is. This was explained to me with the use of charts when I was in the office of my friend Geo. H. Goodman of Louisville, Ky., some months ago.

The evidence is now conclusive that the present Judge in Fiscal affairs is merely the beneficiary of a chain of favorable circumstances; there are many other important duties connected with this office, many of which it became necessary for ME to direct and perform far beyond the requirements of my office.

He says that he has substantially decreased the county's indebtedness. I asserted that this decrease was due mainly to the funds from the General Sales Tax which came from the state and which were earmarked and could be used for no other purposes than specifically the Road and Bridge Bonds and interest on same. To verify this see the figures my opponent published in the paper.

He said he found the machine—the county government—in the ditch—a wreck—and got it out and made it run as well as anybody's machine. I say it is still in the ditch and will be in the ditch until all of the valid outstanding floating indebtedness is either paid, renewed, refunded, or handled in a way that is satisfactory to everyone concerned. Any person could get his business out of the ditch if he could wipe off or ignore what he owed.

If he means that it is out of the ditch in the sense of being on a Pay As You Go basis, the Budget Law is the lever put under it to prize it out, and if he is at the steering wheel, he at least, if only to be consistent, ought to recognize me as the wind shield wiper until I take his place at the wheel. As I have been a practicing attorney for many years, know the people, and am thoroughly familiar with the county's affairs and the duties of the office I again solicit your support to that end on August 7th.

Very truly yours,
E. J. STAHR
