Large Crowd In Attendance

BRILLIANT OPENING OF BEN FRANKLIN CHAIN STORE

Better Known As A. G. Baldrige Variety Store

Last Saturday great crowds of people visited Fulton to attend the opening of the New Ben Franklin Chain Store, better known as Baldrige's Variety Store.

Some eighteen years ago A. G. Baldrige opened a 5 and 10c store in Fulton on a small scale. With each successive year the business continued to grow and develop until today it is one of the most handsome and largest establishments of its kind in this section of country, all brought about by "Baldrige Service."

With keen interest we have watched Mr. Baldrige's phenomenal success. He alone is due the credit. Attentiveness to business and honest dealing with the public backed by real service tells the story briefly.

Ben Franklin Chain Store
It was a happy day for Mr. Baldrige when he associated himself with the Ben Franklin League of Retail Stores. It is a distinctive honor to have the Ben Franklin Chain Store sign across the front of your building. Like a brilliant star in a blue sky it stands out above all others—a symbol for better merchandise and service—a guarantee of economy—the guide post to thrift.

The crowds that visited the new store Saturday could hardly believe their own eyes. The building throughout had been remodeled and beautified. The 4,500 feet of floor space was filled with tables and counters laden with outstanding values never witnessed before in this value-giving emporium. There are fourteen departments conveniently arranged for serving the public by salespeople who delight in displaying courtesy and attentiveness to patrons. Ladies and gentlemen only are employed at this store. A cloak room, private lunch room, and all modern conveniences have been provided for the employees. In fact, nothing has been overlooked in making the store up-to-date in every respect in keeping with the largest city Ben Franklin Chain Store. The private office occupies a prominent elevated position in the rear, overlooking the entire store.

Assisting Mr. Baldrige and large force of salespeople on opening day were Mr. Littledale, general manager of Butler Bros.; Mr. Wilkinson, sales manager of Butler Bros.; Mr. Bedell, advertising manager of Butler Bros.; Mr. Hausmann, Ben Franklin Chain Store representative.

The opening was a brilliant success, an achievement worth while. All in attendance congratulated Mr. Baldrige and assistant on the new Ben Franklin Chain Store, as being a credit to the progressive spirit of Fulton.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this method of extending my heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the support given me in the campaign for the office of county judge. I made a clean, hard campaign for the office and I deeply appreciate the generous support given me in Fulton and in Fulton county.

It is my intention to render the best service of which I am capable in discharging the duties of the office to which I have been elected in order to justify the confidence that has been placed in me.

Very sincerely,
W. L. HAMPTON.

HORRIBLE WRECK

Twisted Mass of Debris Forms Huge Pile of Wreckage Near Mounds, Ill., Where Flyers Collide.

Mounds, Ill., August 6.—Two crack Illinois Central passenger trains lay in a heap of wreckage here tonight while eight are dead and 52 injured are in Cairo, Ill., hospitals as the result of a piece of sewer pipe which lay on the track near here early today.

The "Chickasaw," northbound from Cairo, hit the pipe and stopped unharmed. The fireman, Manley Palmer, leaped from his cab to flag the southbound train No. 2451, but was too late. Before he could stop the oncoming train, it struck a kink in the track caused by the falling sewer pipe.

Witnesses said the engine staggered and left the rails, striking the side of the Chickasaw. The front of the huge engine caromed down the line of steel cars, ripping them open and crushing their sides as though they were tin cans.

WORK STARTED ON STREET AND WATER IMPROVEMENTS

Work on the street improvement project started Monday, with a large crew on Fourth street under the supervision of Engineer Hopkins. Fifteen residential streets are included in the project for 6-inch reinforced concrete paving.

Contractors Carey-Reed will push the work rapidly to completion and before many months Fulton can boast of the best streets in this section of country.

W. M. Hill & Sons, who were awarded the contract to construct the large filtering tank at the water plant, started on the job Tuesday.

The two projects amount to more than $200,000. The largest part of which will find its way through Fulton business channels during the summer and fall months.

MYSTERY AND MIRTH SHARE DOUBLE HONORS IN SCREEN VERSION OF "THE GORILLA"

All-Star Cast, Headed by Charlie Murray and Fred Kelsey, Appears in Picturization of Famous Broadway Mystery-Comedy.

Combining the last word in chills with the last laugh in merriment, the picturization of Ralph Spence's famous mystery comedy, "The Gorilla," is coming to town next Monday and Tuesday. It will be shown at the Grand Theatre.

This is the show that rocked Broadway for a year. In its film form it has been changed somewhat, it is reported by First National Pictures, in order to offer a new mystery tangle to those who may have seen the stage presentation. That a great many have seen it is due to the fact that during the last two years eight stage companies toured this country and Great Britain, scoring a sensational success everywhere.

Weird and novel settings and exceptional lighting effects are said to make the screen version of "The Gorilla" even more spooky than it was on the stage.

Charlie Murray and Fred Kelsey, as the two celebrated sleuths, Mulligan and Garrity, who hear all, see all and know nothing, provide the comedy. The supporting cast is all-star, headed by Alice Day, petite leading lady.

W. L. HAMPTON WINS COUNTY JUDGE RACE

The voters of Fulton County were called upon Saturday to render a decision as to whom they preferred to succeed the late Judge Chas. D. Nugent as County Judge of Fulton county. Three of the county's best men entered the race. All were well qualified for the office with a good knowledge of county affairs. It was one of the cleanest campaigns ever waged in the county.

Unfortunately, Esq. S. A. Hagler of Fulton, was greatly handicapped in making the campaign on account of illness in the family and the death of his wife. However, he carried the city of Fulton and was given a fair vote throughout the county. It should, indeed, be gratifying to him to know that his home town gave him such a nice vote as he received, notwithstanding his defeat.

In Hickman much interest was displayed for Walter J. McMurry as well as throughout the county, and the large vote he received proved conclusively that he is held in the highest esteem by those who know him best. He was a close second to the favored candidate in the race and carried his home town by a nice majority.

W. L. Hampton, who won the nomination by a decisive majority was born and reared on a farm 3 miles northwest of Fulton and few men, if any, are better known throughout the county. He was just a plain, old honest tiller of the soil when the voters of Fulton and Hickman counties picked him as a good man to represent them in the state legislature, a number of years ago, and he made such a good job of it until they decided to elect him circuit court clerk and after two terms in this office they have decided he would make a good man to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge Chas. D. Nugent as County Judge of Fulton county and he will not disappoint them.

THOMAS H. LOVELACE FOUND DEAD IN ST. LOUIS

Older citizens of Fulton were shocked Tuesday morning on receiving the sad news that Thomas H. Lovelace, former Fulton-Union City boy, was found dead in his apartment at the Fairmont Hotel in St. Louis.

Mr. Lovelace was born in Union City and when a young man removed to Fulton. He accepted a position on the Daily Leader as reporter when the late Col. Mott Ayres and Rev. J. N. Hall were publishers. He also published the Dixie Democrat at Bardwell, Ky., for one or two years, selling the publication to Editor Tom Petit, of the Bardwell News. After selling this publication he went to Hickman where he published the Courier for a short time.

It was during his connections with the Fulton Leader, however, that he became imbued with politics. Through Col. Ayres' influence he served the late Congressman Ollie James as secretary for a term in Washington.

During his residence here he married Miss Connie Mitchell, sister of Mrs. W. W. Meadows. Both were popular young people and had many friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Lovelace removed to St. Louis to make their home, where Mr. Lovelace engaged in newspaper work. He was a man of unusual ability, and by his winning ways, soon won the confidence and admiration of St. Louis politicians and financiers, climbing the ladder by leaps and bounds.

Account of Tragic End

The following account of the tragic death of Thos. H. Lovelace was clipped from Tuesday morning's issue of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat:

"With the word 'accident' scribbled on the back of a letter found near the body of Thomas H. Lovelace, 50 years in all, a former member of the Efficiency Board and a director of the Municipal Theater Association, was found at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in his apartment at the Fairmont Hotel, Maryland and Euclid avenues.

He had been shot once in the chest, and in an open bottom drawer of a dresser, near where he fell, was found a .38 caliber pistol with one discharged shell and four cartridges.

Lovelace, who for the last several years had been connected with the Fidelity Bond and Mortgage Company as a salesman of real estate securities and surety bonds, was last seen alive about 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning when he returned to the apartment-hotel and went immediately to his apartment on the sixth floor.

Wife Out of Room
Mrs. Constance Lovelace, his wife, was not there, and on a table in the living room, when police arrived, was found the following note: "Be back at 4—Connie."

Lovelace was fully clothed when his body fell downward, was discovered by a Negro porter in the rooms and bath of his suite. Near an outstretched hand was the letter on the back of which had been written the word "accident" and nearby was also a pencil. The body was taken to City Hospital. The pistol found in the dresser drawer smelled of powder as if it had been recently fired.

The letter found near the body was a business letter asking for a biography of his life.

Early last night Mrs. Lovelace had not returned to the apartment and it was not known whether she had heard of her husband's death. An officer of the Fidelity Bond and Mortgage Company said Lovelace had lately been worrying over financial matters. Mr. and Mrs. Lovelace had lived at the Fairmont Hotel for the last four years.

Lovelace was born at Union City, Tenn., and after engaging in various enterprises there came to St. Louis a number of years ago. While covering the City Hall for the old Republic where he worked about twenty-two years ago Lovelace became interested in politics, an interest he always retained. He was an assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at one time, and was active in organizing the river bloc in connection with his identification with the Mississippi Waterways Association. He left the Chamber of Commerce to become vice-president of the Republic National Bank now defunct.

He helped organize the Municipal Opera, of which he was a director, and in October of 1923 was appointed a member of the Efficiency Board by Mayor Kiel.

His willingness to participate in all civic matters won for him an unusually wide acquaintanceship.

FUNNYBONES HIT BY "BUCK PRIVATES"

A new setting, new situations and the ever delightful effervescence of youth characterize the new Universal photoplay at the Orpheum today, "Buck Privates," featuring Lya De Putti and Malcolm McGregor.

This is the kind of a comedy that one gladly waits months to see. Such fine workmanship is not turned out of Hollywood every day, so it behooves every fan to attend.

McGregor portrays a buck private and contributes both to the comedy and romance of the picture while Lya De Putti is perfectly natural as a little German girl. The story concerns the adventures, mostly comic, of the American Army of Occupation in a beautiful little German village nestling against the banks of the Rhine near Coblenz.

Melville Brown must be given the highest praise for the sterling direction. He got everything out of the story that was in it and there was plenty.

Zasu Pitts' popularity is increased by her portrayal for she is both wistful and humorous while Eddie Gribbon has added a couple of palms to his comedy decorations.

The cast is well rounded with important roles taken by James Marcus, Capt. Ted Duncan, Bud Jamison and Les Bates.

CARE OF THE FLOCK IS CIRCULAR TOPIC

"The Feeding and Care of Laying Pullets," a circular which Kentucky College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky issues to junior agricultural club boys and girls, gives the following suggestions regarding the general care of the flock:

1. Clean the dropping boards at least once a week.

2. Clean out the straw and put in fresh, clean straw whenever the house becomes damp or dirty.

3. Feed regularly, giving the same amount of feed at the same time each day.

4. Give the house a thorough cleaning each spring and fall and spray the interior and all nests, feed hoppers, etc., with a five per cent solution of some good stock dip. One pint of dip to 2 1-2 gallons of water will make a five per cent solution. This spray will control the mites and help in keeping down disease.

5. Examine the pullets carefully at least once a month for body lice. If lice are present use sodium fluoride.

6. If a pullet gets sick, remove her from the house at once and dissolve an ounce of copper sulphate in each gallon of the drinking water given the flock. In most cases of disease it is advisable to give the flock a dose of epsom salts. For 12 birds give two ounces of salts (four level tablespoons full) in about two quarts of drinking water. During an outbreak of disease the house should be cleaned daily.

WATCH FLOCK FOR LICE AND MITES

Poultry lice and mites reproduce rapidly during hot weather, and an apparently clean flock may become badly infested before one realizes it, points out J. R. Smyth, of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

Lice live on the bird's body, and can best be killed by either dusting or dipping the birds. Sodium fluoride is satisfactory for this purpose. This is a white powder which can be used as a dust as any other louse powder would be used.

For a dip, use a pound of sodium fluoride to 10 gallons of water. Dipping should be done in the morning of a warm, clear day, and every hen and rooster on the farm should be dipped.

Mites live in the hen house or coops and hide in the cracks and crevices, especially around the dropping boards and roosts. If they get in the hen house, it should first be thoroughly cleaned and then sprayed with a coal-tar dip. The roost poles

YOUR SNEEZE MAY NOT BE FROM COLD

Draft May Have Nothing to Do With the Matter—Million Particles.

WHEN you sneeze it is not always a sign you are taking cold. That is the opinion of physicians working on public health problems in the last few years.

Most men and women when they feel that tickling in the nose or throat immediately look for the nearest door or window, convinced that they are sitting in a draft.

However, the draft, if there is one, may have nothing to do with the matter at all, physicians say. The unhappy one merely has inhaled a few million or so dust particles.

That may be true particularly of our cities where enough dust floats in the atmosphere in one year to build a cone-shaped mountain 1,500 feet high, with a five-mile diameter.

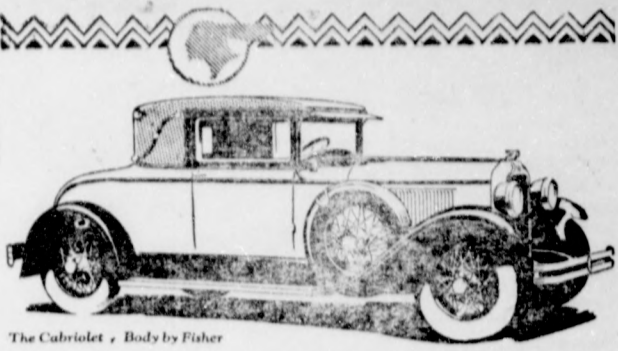

Some statisticians have figured it out that if all the dust that hovers above American cities were gathered in one place, say Manhattan Island, that dust would be piled up to the depth of the streets of Manhattan to the depth of 21 feet.

But one is likely to sneeze while walking along a country road, though not quite as likely as in the city. Here the dust that is raised usually comes from dirt or gravel roads. There is, however, less likelihood of this today than ever before as highway officials now have at their command many methods for "binding" the top cover, particularly the use of such chemicals as calcium chloride, considered by engineers the best of dust layers.

KANSAS FAVORS GRAVEL HIGHWAY

THE Kansas Highway Commission has adopted a definite policy of using sand and gravel on all the roads it can improve that way for the present.

"Gravel and sand cost only $1,500 to $2,000 a mile," said John Gardner, Highway Director. "By using these materials, which are plentiful in many sections, we can build roads passable at all seasons without difficulty or long delay. They are easy and inexpensive to maintain. By using the calcium chloride, the gravel and sand are held together and the dust is obviated. Of course, these roads will have to be rebuilt in five or six years, but we feel that it is better to build that way and get as many people out of the mud as possible rather than build short stretches of more permanent and more expensive roads, just at this time."

"Cross fence into ten acres"
"I can get more pasture from four 10-acre lots than from one forty," says G. W. Hower, Cape Girardeau, Mo. "Grass is fresher, cattle eat more." Flood Newman, Creighton, Neb., crossed fenced into 15-acre fields for hogging down. He writes: "Hogs did better, corn lasted longer, no waste manure was left on the field and I saved picking expense." For fencing hog-tight we recommend MONARCH Hinge Joint. With it you can hog-down corn, run stock after harvest, rotate crops, keep weeds down, fertilize the land, etc. Its hinge gives under shock and strain but springs right back again. Copper nipped in the steel plus a heavy zinc coating, keeps rust out far longer than ordinary galvanized wire. Come in and look this "Red Brand" fence over.

"We'll have plenty of telephones in the new home"
"ONE thing is certain—this business of running a marathon from one part of the house to another, every time the telephone rings is out of date. I've arranged with the telephone company to install a telephone in the living room, one in the kitchen, and another in our bedroom. Then, too, there will be outlets in the bath room, guest room, and dining room, so we can plug-in a portable telephone. How's that for getting convenience down to a science?"
"It's a perfectly great idea. But it sounds fearfully expensive."
"But it's not, you see. The added cost amounts to only a few cents a day—a small price to pay for the utmost in convenience."

Before you buy or build a home confer with us regarding adequate telephone facilities. Full information will be gladly furnished by the Business Office, or any telephone employe.

Different Types of People.

The bullfrog never croaks except when the shadows begin to fall.

The thrust never warbles except when sitting in the top of the tree in the full light of a bright sun.

Each has to have its peculiar environment in order to express itself.

One needs a gloomy atmosphere in the swamp ground where he can make that dismal noise expressive of its surrounding.

The other needs the invigorating sunshine to produce the sweet music that fills its being.

Do you belong in the frog or the thrust class?

If you associate with grumblers and kickers and never hear the bright and optimistic side of public questions, you will never be anything but a complainer.

If you select as associates, people who never see anything but the silver lining, you will be influenced by their optimism and become like them.

Always be sure to stay away from the frog-minded people, and get in the crowd where some good is seen in everything.

You can't radiate good cheer and be a booster for all things that will improve the community, unless you have that kind of thoughts.

Therefore, imitate, the thrust and warble, but never croak.

Where all Have Agreed.

We may have our differences of opinion in matters of politics; we may not agree on the subject of religion; some of us have notions that other folk think are crazy and other folk have ideas we think lack in sound reasoning; but on one point we are all agreed we all want to see our home town grow and prosper.

Some experts contend that good trading facilities build population and real estate values; others say that good stores follow population, but again, all agree that local prosperity can never come until adequate trading facilities are established.

Good stores are the life of any community. Moreover we know we cannot have good stores if they are not profitably supported.

No town was ever built by its inhabitants sending their money out of town. A dollar spent in town travels from the home to the grocer, to the butcher, then to the hardware merchant, and so on around the whole wheel of home trade. Spent in town the dollar remains in the town and adds to the town's wealth. By and by some man gathers enough of these floating home town dollars, builds another home or makes an addition to his store, and so values increase, benefiting everybody. Spent out of town the dollar has gone forever.

Obion County Election

Union City, Tenn., Aug. 6.—The county election held here in connection with the state election Thursday, Aug. 2, resulted in the electing of D. E. Tucker, trustee; Jack Hubbs, sheriff; Scott Easley tax assessor; Charlie Harris and Bob Roberts, constables in No. 13.

J. S. Riley was elected as floater from Obion. Lake and Dyer counties over his opponent, J. M. Hawkins and S. R. Bratton is state senator with no opposition. G. R. McDade and H. P. Naylor, candidates for representative, are so close that it will take an official count to determine the one elected.

Gregory Wins Nomination.

(Paducah News-Democrat) Congressman W. Voris Gregory, of Mayfield, was renominated to Congress by the Democrats of the First District by the decisive majority of 3,387 out of a total of 27,303 polled in the primary Saturday, August 4, for himself and his opponent, State Senator Garth K. Ferguson, of La Center. Congressman Gregory will be opposed in the November elections by Miller Hughes, of Paducah, who was unopposed for Republican nomination. In the First District, however, the winning of a nomination is tantamount to election.

"We Salute the Congressman From the First District."

In Sunday morning's edition of the Paducah News-Democrat, an ardent supporter of Senator Ferguson in his campaign, said:

"Congressman W. Voris Gregory's victory over State Senator Garth K. Ferguson in the race for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the First District was decisive and overwhelming. He not only increased his majority in Graves county by more than 1900 over that of the primary of 1926, but he carried eight other counties of the District, showing himself the popular choice not only of his own county, but of the majority of the Democrats of the counties outside of Graves.

"By this victory Judge Gregory has earned the solid support of the Democracy of the District in the November election and no doubt the friends of Senator Ferguson will line up to help give him a tremendous majority over his Republican foe. The vote given him by the Democrats of the District was a complete repudiation of the charge that his nomination came to him in 1926 as a result of fraud in the eight precincts of Mayfield. That question has been settled forever insofar as the News Democrat is concerned. The Democracy was appealed to decide and the Democracy has decided. The issue of fraud should never be used against Judge Gregory again.

"The News-Democrat does not regret the part it played in the campaign in support of Senator Ferguson. We believed we were fighting for a great moral principle. Senator Ferguson made a gallant fight, but we are sure he, like the News-Democrat, will not be disposed to begrudge the victor the full made of glory that he won in fair and open battle. Judge Gregory will return to Congress with our good wishes for another term of useful service to the people of the First District. We had no quarrel with his previous record, and we have no doubt he will do as well or better in the forthcoming term. We salute the Congressman from the First District."

Defeat of Garrett a Blow to Democrats.

BY R. M. GATES

Washington, Aug. 9.—It is deeply lamented among members of Congress that Finis J. Garrett in his recent defeat for the Senate is automatically retired from public life, for he is conceded to be one of the ablest exponents of Democratic principles in the Congress of the United States.

Reflecting the general view of the Ninth District Congressman from Tennessee, George Rothwell Brown, a columnist in the Washington Post, said: "The defeat of Finis J. Garrett, deprives Tennessee of one of the ablest spokesmen that state has had since the untimely death of Ed Carmack."

As minority leader in the House of Representatives, Finis Garrett was looked to by the Democrats of the nation to speak for their party, and he met the requirements in a most effectual way upon all occasions.

Eloquent, logical and forceful, he waged the party battles effectively and impressively, in all his endeavors having won the admiration and esteem of his associates and the respect of his antagonists.

It is heard on all sides that it is a pity that conditions are such that Mr. Garrett must end his service with the forthcoming session of Congress. He had become a national character of wide-spread influence in the affairs of the country, and both Republicans and Democrats lament the fact that his congressional service is seen to be at an end, at least temporarily.

Having served as minority leader, Mr. Garrett was in line for the speakership of the House in the event the Democrats should control that body, and his friends and admirers regret that he will not be a member of the House to enjoy the honor that would have come to him if the Democrats should gain control of the House of Representatives. When he declined to become a candidate for re-election to the lower House of Congress and entered the race for the Senate, he relinquished all chance for the speakership of the House in the event the Democrats should control. As he had been defeated for the Senate, he has lost both places, that is, a seat in the Senate and retention of his seat in the House, but leaders of the party here express the hope that the brilliant Tennessean will not retire permanently from public life, as his great talents are needed in the service of his party and the country, and they hope that a suitable opening for a renewal of his public service will soon be open to him.

AMCO FEED MIXING SERVICE STANDS FOR

1. RECOGNITION OF THE TRUTH. All that is known about feeding is in the possession of the colleges of agriculture, experiment stations, and practical feeders. Amco Feed Mixing Service recognizes this and realizes that what feeders need is a service which makes it possible for them to follow this information.

2. UNRIVALED SERVICE. Alone of all big feed manufacturers, Amco Feed Mixing Service seeks to purchase and mix, according to the experience of the colleges of agriculture and practical feeders, the feeds which are the best buy for farmers.

3. INDEPENDENT ACTION. The American Milling Company has no secret formulas to sell. It has no by-products to work off. Its sole revenue comes from mixing feed ingredients on open formulas at so much a ton. It is, therefore, free to mix the combinations which science and practice say are the most profitable to use.

4. QUALITY. A mixed feed can be no better than the ingredients that go into it. Amco Feed Mixing Service checks, through its chemists, the quality of every ingredient which goes into the feeds it mixes and rejects those which are below the standards of good feeding practices.

5. ADAPTABILITY. The quality of roughage and the feeding conditions vary from farm to farm. Amco mixes feeds which fit into every farm condition.

6. CONVENIENCE. When you buy an Amco-mixed feed, you get in one bag everything that is needed for the animal for which it is intended—digestible nutrients, minerals, vitamins and variety, with correct bulk and palatability.

7. ECONOMIES. The way to save on the cost of feed is to take advantage of the ingredients which are cheapest, run mixing plants to capacity, and secure orders at the least possible expense. The American Milling Company is doing all these for farmers through Amco Feed Mixing Service.

DEATH OF MRS. T. D. PIERCE

Friday night, August 3, at 8 o'clock, when Mrs. Martha Pierce fell asleep at her home on Jefferson street, Fulton lost one of its oldest and best loved citizens. Mrs. Pierce was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson Holman. She was born in Obion county, Tenn., 1847, and was married to Mr. T. D. Pierce, Dec. 12, 1866.

Mrs. Pierce was the mother of three children, Mrs. Will P. Murrell and Miss Georgy. Pierce survive her and reside in Fulton. Another daughter, Miss Harriet Pierce, died a number of years ago. Mr. Sam Holman, a brother and Mrs. Will Whitnel, a granddaughter of the deceased, also live here.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce removed their family to Fulton in 1880. They at once identified themselves with the citizens in their new home and from that time on were prominent in every movement concerning the city's welfare.

As long as her health permitted, Mrs. Pierce was an active worker of the First Methodist church. When she could no longer attend, her vacant pew gave her old friends and co-workers a lonely feeling. All realized that her place in the church could never quite be filled. Although confined to her home for a number of years, she was always bright and cheerful and never failed to give her friends and neighbors a hearty handshake and a cordial welcome.

An old neighbor remarked yesterday, "I loved Mrs. Pierce and I regret her going."

He expressed the sentiment of all who have known and been intimately acquainted with her since she has called Fulton her home.

When a woman like Mrs. Pierce passes away, the entire town suffers a distinct loss and the sympathy of the community is extended to her family and other relatives.

Our loss is her gain. Heaven will be nearer and dearer because of her going.

Funeral services were held at her home on Jefferson street Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. Herbert Vaught pastor of the First Methodist church.

SENATOR BARKLEY CHOSEN

Named Chairman Democratic Campaign Committee.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 7—United States Senator Alben W. Mrs. Stanley Redd of Maysville, and Mrs. F. O. Young of Lexington, were named vice chairman.

Vigo Barnes of Hopkinsville will be director of the permanent organization.

Miss Bruer Visits Fulton

Miss Effie Bruer, county court clerk of Hickman, was in the city Wednesday, having accompanied her mother who is taking treatments from Dr. Thomson. She reports her mother's health improving and has great hopes for her ultimate recovery.

Miss Bruer is Fulton county's first woman county court clerk. When asked if she would be a candidate for re-election next year she said "yes." This will be good news to her many friends and admirers throughout the county. Her wealth of experience in county affairs and able assistance given her in the conduct of the office is indeed pleasing to everyone. In fact, so pleasing that the voters throughout the entire county will be united solidly for her re-election.

This is not a political article. Only an honest expression from the editor as he views the situation today, and our twenty-seven years of newspaper experience in Fulton leads us to believe that we are justified in making the statement. In fact, we don't believe Miss Bruer will have an opponent next time. It would only impose on her an extra lot of unnecessary work, notwithstanding her friendships have been so firmly cemented throughout the county that she could win the race without leaving her office. The voters of Fulton county will show their full appreciation for efficient, honest and faithful work at the August, 1929 election.

FINE PEACHES

Bud and Jesse Johnson of Boaz, Ky., brought a truck load of 140 bushels of fine peaches to Fulton Monday. STAND BY YOUR TOWN

If you think your town is best, Tell 'em so.
If you'd have it lead the rest, Help it grow.
When there's anything to do, Let the fellows count on you— You'll feel bully when it's thru, Don't you know.

If you're used to giving knocks, Change your style;
Throw bouquets instead of rocks
For a while,
Let the other fellow roast,
Shun him as you would a ghost,
Meet his hammer with a boast
And a smile.

When a stranger from afar Comes along,
Tell him who and what you are—
—Make it strong.
Needn't flatter, never bluff,
Tell the truth, for that's enough;
Join the boosters—they're the stuff,
Sing your song!

THE COUNCIL AT JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:1-35
GOLDEN TEXT—If the Son shall make you free ye shall be free indeed.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Children Refuse to Quarrel.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Christians Consult Together.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul Opposes Religious Prejudice.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul Stands for Christian Liberty.

I. The Controversy in the Church at Antioch (vv. 1-5).

This difficulty was a most serious one, for it threatened the disruption of the church into Jewish and Gentile divisions. It was not a question of the admission of the Gentiles into the church. That had been settled some years before when Peter received Cornelius and his household. The question now was, on what ground can they be received? Should Gentile converts be required to keep the Mosaic law as a condition of salvation? This issue was brought on by the coming of certain men from Jerusalem, who declared, "Except ye be circumcised, after the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved (v. 1)." The question was so difficult that Paul and Barnabas were unable to put them to silence. These Jewish legalists had the letter of the Scripture on their side. They could point to the command where this was enjoined upon believers (Gen. 17:10). Paul could not point to any Scripture where it had been abrogated. If Paul could plead that Abraham was justified before he was circumcised, his antagonists could answer, "Yes, but after justification the rite was divinely imposed." The brethren at Antioch decided to refer the matter to the church at Jerusalem. Accordingly, Paul and Barnabas and others were sent as a deputation to Jerusalem.

II. The Deliberations of the Council (vv. 6-21).

1. Peter's speech (vv. 6-11).
He argued that God had borne witness to His acceptance of the Gentiles by giving the Holy Spirit to them as unto the Jews (Acts 10:34-47). Since therefore, God had not put a difference it would be folly for them to do so.

2. Paul and Barnabas rehearsed their experience (v. 12).

They told how that God had set a seal of approval on their preaching of salvation by grace through faith apart from works, by the working of signs and wonders through them.

3. The argument of James (vv. 14-21).

He took the fact declared by Peter and showed how it harmonized with the prophecy of Amos (Amos 9:11-15). He showed that the reception of the Gentiles was not in conflict but in strict harmony with God's plan as set forth in James' speech, God's plan is as follows:

(1) To take out from among the Gentiles a people for His name (v. 14). This is what is now going on, the preaching of the gospel to the ends of the earth, and the calling out of the church.

(2) After the church is completed and removed, the Israelitish nation will be converted and restored to their land and privileges by the Lord Himself at His return (v. 16, 17).

(3) Following this will be the conversion of the world through the agency of converted Israel (v. 17, cf. Rom. 11:15). He showed that there is no conflict when the Scriptures are rightly divided. His judgment was that the Gentiles should not be troubled with things that are Jewish, but should be warned to "abstain from pollutions of idols, and from fornication, and from things strangled, and from blood."

III. The Decision (vv. 22-29).

The Jerusalem church came to a unanimous agreement and accepted the resolution offered by James. They not only sent a letter stating the decision of the conference, but took the wise precaution of sending influential men along with Paul and Barnabas to bear the same testimony by word of mouth. This letter denied the authority of the Judaizing teachers (v. 24), and declared the method by which this decision had been reached (vv. 25-27). The Holy Spirit was to be given first place, and the Gentile believers were instructed to abstain from meats offered to idols, from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication.

IV. The Decision Delivered to the Church (vv. 30-35).

The church was called together to hear the report. Its reading brought rejoicing. They were now free to prosecute the great missionary work.

Knowing How to Pray

The life of a man upon earth is a warfare; and it is much better, in the midst of enemies and dangers, to be acquainted with one fortress than with many inns. He that knows how to pray may be pressed, but cannot be overwhelmed.—Robert Leighton.

Enemies Hard to Fight

Just eighteen days now until the fair, have you got everything lined up and getting ready to show?

Have you passed the display window in Ruckers Gift Shop? Go by and see the class of ribbons we are going to put out this year. Also take a good look at the two Congressional Cups.

They are quadruple plated gold lined and guaranteed for twenty-five years, worth winning I say, what do you think?

Some go in for show, some go in for production, some go in for both and produce what you can call a two-in-one bird, one that will win in the show room and at the same time produce.

Felix Davis goes in for production, he sent three eggs down to the office last week that were laid by a barred plymouth rock pullet that was hatched during the first week of April and laid her first egg on July 30th. She is about four months old, and this mighty fine business for a plymouth rock for that age.

Mr. Davis wants to know if there are any professional breeders that can do that well. I will admit I can't.

Have you joined the poultry association yet?

Have you got your premium list yet?

Have you made up your mind to show your birds at the fair yet?

Have you decided to be a booster yet?

FEED GRAIN TO COWS ON PASTURE

Creamery Institute Urges New Practice — Increases Winter Milk Flow.

Feeding Grain to Cows on Pasture Insures Good Milk Production Next Winter

FOR highest and most profitable milk production, a good dairy cow must be fed well and wisely from one end of the year to the other, declares the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. And at no time of the year is it quite so necessary to feed especially well as during the first two months following freshening, which comes at a time when most cows in the Mississippi valley are ready to go out on new grass in the spring. Unless a cow is fed liberally of a good milk-making ration at this time, no system of better feeding later on in that same lactation period will increase production appreciably over the low level to which the cow will have fallen as a result of poor feeding.

Although many cows receive all the nutrients they need for making milk and keeping in good condition from good pasture alone, the cow that makes a worthwhile income for the year is capable of producing more milk than good pasture alone permits. She needs grain in addition, for the reason that she cannot consume enough bulky, watery green grass to fulfill her daily feed requirements for making milk at greatest profit.

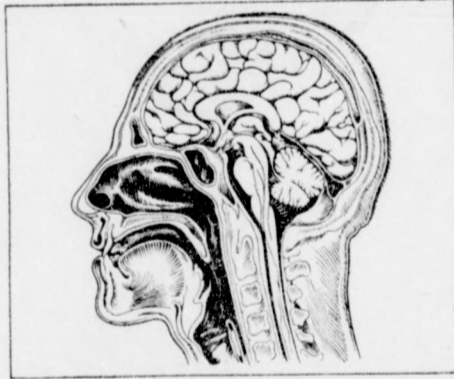

A good cow on good pasture alone will produce around 30 pounds of milk a day. To make this milk she gets about two-thirds of the nutrients that go into its manufacture from the grass and the balance from her body. Nature sees to it that she produces near her uppermost limit of capacity right after freshening. If the necessary nutrients required for this purpose are not to be had in the food she eats, the cow draws on her tissues and bones for the rest. Under such conditions a cow will produce milk abundantly for a few weeks at the expense of her health and usefulness later on, and then drop rapidly to around 10 pounds a day in about six months hence. Most of the time she gets in that time is used for building up her body for the next lactation period and her unborn calf. Better feeding for milk at that time will not pay because it is too late in the lactation period to arouse response.

When this same good cow is fed grain in addition to pasture shortly after freshening in spring, her production may go to as high as 40 pounds of milk a day and stay up over the 30 pound mark all summer and fall. She requires about seven pounds of grain a day in addition to good pasture. About one-half of the nutrients she needs comes from grass and the other half from the grain. Her body does not suffer in the least from such high production. The result is that the cow enters the winter in good condition and a daily production of around 25 pounds of milk. A comparatively small portion of her feed is required for the development of her unborn calf.

SHARP DUST PARTICLES 'HOOK' THEIR WAY INTO MEMBRANES AND DISEASE RESULTS

Science Tells Why Some Trades, Dry Sweeping and Mopping on Certain Highways Are Dangerous to Health in Bringing on Respiratory Maladies.

Cross-Section of Human Head Showing Mucous Membrane of Nose and Throat.

SCIENTIFIC research is gradually finding out why dust kills one out of every seven persons. The Harvard Medical School, the United States Public Health Service, various insurance companies and the great labor organizations of the country are all interested in the problem.

For example, according to Dr. L. R. Thompson, of the United States Public Health Service, the sickness record of granite workers shows that the greater part of illness proceeds from respiratory conditions and that respiratory diseases are three times as prevalent among granite workers as among workers in general industry.

"It is clear," said Dr. Thompson, "that wherever there is a great amount of granite dust there is a dangerous hazard, a mortality which seems inevitable and which is rising all the time."

Incidentally, according to Federal statistics, from 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 persons are employed in the dusty trade, but everyone, from the man who fears "dry sweeping" by housewives on their front steps to the motorist who must find his way through clouds of dust on the highway, is affected by the menace of fine particles in the air.

Various theories have been proposed to explain why dust should be such a danger to health. The usual explanation seeks the cause in the tenderness of the mucous membrane lining of the throat and nose.

Healthy throats and noses secrete fluid, the mucus, which is just in time to take care of ordinary dust in the air. If that amount should be exceeded, the dust becomes too great to be handled by the mucus and the dust penetrates into the deeper parts of the body lining.

Dust is of various kinds, but whether it is organic or inorganic in origin makes no difference. What makes the dust particles dangerous is their shape. Particles that have sharp corners, such as dust from marble, metal, wood or stone, cut into the membrane very much as an old-fashioned knitting needle cuts into worsted and there the dust particles become fastened.

The mucus fluid referred to passes over those particles, moving them to and fro, and causing the membrane to become tender and then inflamed.

Should the process become continuous, as so often happens serious conditions result and in aggravated cases, tuberculosis may be their termination. That, in brief, is what happens.

Scientists have tried with all the resources at their command to combat dust in the air, but so far, with a few exceptions, the results have not been fruitful. As a means of prevention, suggestions have been made in various quarters that the dust present be laid with some sort of physical or chemical means and in many sections of the United States municipalities have been laying the dust with calcium chloride. That is a chemical capable of absorbing a high degree of moisture from the air, hygroscopic, it is called, which acts as a binder of dust on the highways. It also has great germicidal value.
