"I will never advocate or approve any law which directly or indirectly permits the return of the saloon," says Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

SMITH SPEECH IS PROGRESSIVE, HUMAN, STAND

Democratic Nominee Pledges Self to Administration for Benefit of All the People.

AGRICULTURAL PROBLEM TO GET PROMPT ACTION

Will Enforce Dry Law, Stamp Out Corruption and Recommend Changes to Congress—Promises Honest Tariff.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Before an immense throng which gathered to hear his first pronouncement on the issues of the Presidential campaign, Governor Alfred E. Smith accepted the Democratic nomination for President here tonight in an address which was as progressive in character as it was courageous in its terms.

Governor Smith pledged himself and his party to the restoration of honesty in government; to the promotion of a real prosperity for the whole people through actual rather than fancied economies and reorganization in government and the enactment of sound tariff legislation; to the establishment of a foreign policy opposed to unwarranted intervention in Latin-American countries and for the outlawry of war; and to the stamping out of corruption in prohibition enforcement.

The Democratic candidate placed himself squarely on record for farm relief and promised to call together the best informed minds among farmers, business men and economists immediately following the election to devise a practicable plan for the control of surplus crops for submission to Congress at the beginning of his administration.

"Upon the steps of this Capitol where twenty-five years ago I first came into the service of the state, I receive my party's summons to lead it in the nation," said Governor Smith in accepting his party's call. "Within this building I learned the principles, the purposes and the functions of government and to know that the greatest privilege that can come to any man is to give himself to a nation which has reared him and raised him from obscurity to be a contender for the highest office in the gift of its people.

"With a gratitude too strong for words and with humble reliance upon the aid of Divine Providence, I accept your summons to a wider field of activity."

He sounded the keynote of his entire address when he said:

Constructive Government
"Government should be constructive, not destructive; progressive, not reactionary."

"I am entirely unwilling to accept the old order of things as the best unless and until I become convinced that it cannot be made better," he continued.

"It is our new world theory that government exists for the people as against the old world conception that the people exist for the government," he said.

The candidate reaffirmed his belief in the soundness of "deliberate action of an informed electorate." He referred to the public issues he carried to the voters in New York State and added:

"That direct contact with the people I propose to continue in this campaign and, if I am elected, in the conduct of the nation's affairs."

He said he would strive to make the nation's policy a reflection of the nation's ideals. Cleveland's phrase, "Public office is a public trust," now takes on new meaning, he said.

"The Republican party today stands responsible for the widespread dishonesty that has honeycombed its administration," Governor Smith asserted.

The Governor attacked the claim of Republican prosperity.

"The Republican party builds its case upon a myth," he said.

Four million men out of work, whose industries prostrate and widespread business discontent do not spell prosperity, he continued.

"Prosperity to the extent that we have it is unduly concentrated and has not equitably touched the lives of the farmer, the wage-earner and the individual business man," said Governor Smith.

Republican leaders have tried to divert attention from the real situation by a propaganda of governmental economy, he asserted.

The Republican party promised reorganization of the government, he said, yet after seven years the structure is worse than it was in 1921.

Governor Smith pointed to the increase in federal appropriations, against which, he said, the official spokesman answers only, "We have given an economical administration." "I assert that there is no proof," Governor Smith declared.

After giving a summary of the government finances, he pointed out that as against the claim of tax reductions there were actually $24,000,000 more federal taxes collected last year than in the first year of the Coolidge Administration.

It is not economy to refuse to make necessary expenditures to provide facilities for the transaction of government business, he said, pointing out that scarcely a city in the country has adequate quarters for federal business at the present time.

VALLEY AGAINST HERB

Agrarian Relief and Flood Control the Issues, Says Oldfield

New York, Aug. 19.—Agrarian relief and flood control are the major campaign issues in the Mississippi Valley, Congressman William A. Oldfield, Arkansas, said today on his arrival at Democratic national headquarters to assume his duties as a member of the advisory committee.

"These are two vital problems in the Mississippi Valley," he declared, "and the resentment of the farmers in that region toward Hoover has not been softened. Nor are the people of the region satisfied with the course he followed on flood control.

"They expected Mr. Hoover to stand by them. Instead, he went over to the side of President Coolidge when the president insisted that the affected communities be compelled to pay a part of flood control cost. They felt in a sense, that Mr. Hoover betrayed them.

Mr. Oldfield, who was renominated for his eleventh consecutive term in the lower house at his state's primary election, said his party plans a vigorous campaign to capture the House.

"I am confident we will capture many districts now represented by Republicans," he said. "To control the House we need but one out of ten of the seats now occupied by Republicans. I believe we will do better than that."

WALNUT STREET IMPROVEMENT

Work of remodeling two store rooms owned by Joe Beadles on Walnut street is under way and when completed will be occupied by the Chrysler automobile dealers of Fulton.

Another improvement by Mr. Beadles will take place in the residential section of the city. He has recently purchased the Snow lots on Fourth street and will remove the present dwelling now occupied by the family from Carr street to said lots, preparatory to building a handsome dwelling for his home place.

Mr. Beadles' building activities are in keeping with progressive Fulton.

Another $25,000 Improvement

In keeping with the progressive spirit of Fulton, the Kentucky Utilities Company has a large crew of men at work reconstructing their entire distribution service throughout the city at a cost of approximately $25,000. Larger and taller poles are being used to carry larger wires and cables, assuring patrons the best of service, equal to that of any large city in the country.

There is no other one thing that contributes more to the industrial growth of a city than good electrical service. Fulton is indeed fortunate in being served by the Kentucky Utilities Company, and we will add, too, that the Kentucky Utilities Company is fortunate in having such a man as E. C. Hardesty as its manager in this territory. A man who is thoroughly efficient, faithful to his work and loyal to his company's best interest, as well as having the interest of the town in which he lives, at heart. His entire working force is up to the highest standard of perfection. No wonder the excellent service rendered.

BROCKWELL-GLOVER

Raymond Brockwell, son of Mrs. J. M. Brockwell of Church street, was united in marriage, Saturday afternoon to Miss Adrian Glover of Paschall street, at the home of Esquire S. A. McDade, who officiated.

Mr. Brockwell is a valued employe of the I. C. Railroad company, and has a host of friends who will wish him much happiness with the bride he has chosen. The bride is an attractive young lady with a wide circle of friends and will receive the good wishes of all for a happy married life. They will be at home to their friends on Taylor street.

FELIX G. DAVIS PASSES AWAY

The death of Felix G. Davis Sunday afternoon at his home on Carr street brought sorrow and grief to his wide circle of friends and acquaintances in Fulton and vicinity where he was well known and highly esteemed. At the time of his death Mr. Davis was 71 years old. He was a member of the First Methodist church and lived a consecrated Christian life. The writer had known him for many years and enjoyed his social chats and feel that we have lost a true friend. He loved his home and family and it is in the home circle his passing is more keenly felt.

Besides his devoted wife he is survived by four sons, Joe D., Wes, George and Virgil, one daughter, Mrs. Thelma Russell, of Oklahoma City; also two brothers, Dan Davis of Cayce, and Jeff Davis, of Clinton.

Funeral services were held from the home of his son, Joe Davis on Eddings street, Tuesday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. H. B. Vaught, pastor of the First Methodist church, interment followed at Chapel Hill, near Fulton, with the Fulton Undertaking Company in charge.

RESOLUTION

Be It Resolved by the Board of Council of the City of Fulton, Kentucky, as follows:

Section 1. That the width of the improvement on Eddings street being done under ordinance of the City of Fulton, Kentucky, adopted June 29, 1928, the width whereof was heretofore fixed by the Board of Council of said city at thirty feet, be, and the same is hereby changed to a width of thirty-six feet from the north line of the State Line Road to the south line of Valley Street.

Section 2. That this resolution be in force and effect from and after its passage and publication as provided by law.

Approved this August 20, 1928:

W. O. SHANKLE, Mayor.

"FUNNIEST FILM EVER SHOT," SAYS SYD CHAPLIN'S DIRECTOR

At Orpheum Monday, Tuesday

Moving picture directors are not usually moved to laughter by the performances they call into being, but in several of the sequences of the jungle jamboree known as "The Missing Link," Charles F. Reisner, as well as the rest of the company, burst into uncontrollable mirth.

"I have been making comedies, or acting in them, for sixteen years," said Reisner, "and I insist that this is the funniest film ever shot." Syd Chaplin, creator of Old Bill, in "The Better Ole" is unbelievably droll as the hungry and timorous London poet who suddenly finds himself transformed into a lion hunter on the way to African jungles.

The object of the chase shifts to the capture of a hideous and mysterious monster known as "The Missing Link." The picture contains besides the "Link" an amazingly clever chimpanzee known as Akka, lions, and many other jungle denizens, as well as hundreds of negroes doing the part of head-hunting savages. The piece is the most outrageously laughable film of the year.

Fair Starts Next Week

Next Tuesday the big gates at the Fulton County Fair grounds will swing open to admit visitors to witness one of the best expositions ever attempted by the Fair Association. A royal welcome will be given those in attendance and the entertainment during the five days meet will be a source of joy and pleasure for the multitudes. Nothing has been left undone to make the 1928 fair a glorious success from start to finish.

There will be more exhibits in every department. Educational features will be introduced in the dairy department where representatives working in conjunction with County Agent McPherson will lecture and give demonstrations each day.

The Floral Hall will be a brilliant array of wonderful interest to women visitors. The ladies in charge are working overtime to make their part of the big exposition a success.

The racing program will surpass all former efforts and the big night show the best of all. Nine free acts in front of the grandstand daily will give the crowds a thrill as never before. The R. S. Carnival Company will cover the grounds with its various riding devices and shows.

In fact, all who attend the fair this year may come prepared to enjoy it from start to finish.

DAIRY EXHIBIT AT FAIR

The five cream buying stations of Fulton are cooperating with County Agent H. A. McPherson in putting on an exhibit, which will show good cream versus bad cream. This exhibit will be under the auspices of the Extension Division of the College of Agriculture.

The County Agent states that the quality of cream brought to Fulton is low and it is costing the cream producers around $50,000 per year. It is the purpose of this exhibit to show how to produce good cream. The exhibit will also show how poor cream is produced. Each cream station has agreed to furnish a man to make test of whole milk and skimmed milk.

This exhibit will be of much interest to the cream shippers and everyone is invited to look the exhibit over.

DEMOCRATS FIGHT IN TEXAS

The split in Texas Democracy over the nomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, reached a wide open break with dual Democratic county conventions, pro-Smith and anti-Smith at Houston last Saturday. Marked by first fights on the platform in which furniture was smashed and in which policemen separated the combatants and by scenes of wild confusion on the floor, two conventions were held simultaneously for more than half an hour.

The fight followed the unsuccessful effort of Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson, Jr., to bring about an orderly agreement between the two factions.

Noise, recrimination, bedlam. Rival proceedings, rival sets of resolutions. Two sets of delegates to the State Democratic convention at Dallas, Sept. 11.

It will remain for the Texas State Democratic convention to decide which of the contending elements rightfully represent Harris county.

In the meantime the citizens might profitably ponder upon the amount of passion and bitter feeling generated already by the Smith and anti-Smith issue, and reflect further that the Democratic schism is new and the lines are just beginning to be drawn.

Sensible persons should find it possible to differ over a political question without losing their tempers or their heads and flying at one another's throats.

The national election will come and go, and whichever side wins, the country will manage to struggle along. But the deplorable effects of bitter partisan strife in Houston and other Southern communities will be felt long after its incentive has been forgotten.

It is a serious situation when friend is ranged against friend, neighbor against neighbor, in a factional fight surcharged with elemental passions and fanned to blind fury.

Such fights exert a profound disruptive influence on community life, and they injure every person and every agency engaging in them. They are particularly to be lamented when each side labors under a moral urge, in the belief that it is pursuing a high duty.

HORTON WINS DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION IN TENNESSEE

Gov. Henry Horton, whose victory in the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by a decisive majority August 2, made one of the most remarkable races in the history of Tennessee.

The governor ran ahead of his nearest competitor, Hill McAlister, in 82 counties of the state, while McAlister ran ahead of the governor in only 13 counties. The third candidate, Lewis S. Pope, carried only five counties, though he ran ahead of McAlister in several others.

The unofficial vote was as follows:

Horton	95,218
McAlister	90,055
Pope	23,985

ROPER GROWN MELONS BRING TOPNOTCH PRICES

The finest load of cantaloupes brought to Fulton this season of the home grown product sold at $1.25 per basket Saturday by A. L. Roper of near Chapel Hill. The Roper grown cantaloupe, the Rocky Ford variety, has been recognized in this market for many years as the best. The Rocky Ford was first introduced here by Mr. Roper's father and since his passing, he has maintained the excellent reputation established years ago when lovers of Rocky Fords waited patiently and listened anxiously for the late Mr. Roper to announce the first home grown melons.

J. D. Taylor Killed by Train at Cayce.

J. D. Taylor, 60 years old, well known fish dealer of Fulton, was killed at Cayce early Thursday morning when he attempted to cross the railroad tracks in a Chevrolet car. Mr. Taylor removed here from Paris, Tenn., and his place of business is located next door to Arnn's restaurant near the passenger depot. As we go to press arrangements had not been made for the funeral.

Route 5 News

(Chestnut Glade)
The countrywide club picnic at North Cut, 2 miles south of Dresden, Friday, was greatly enjoyed by quite a number of ladies, gentlemen, boys and girls who represented the county club work. It was quite a revelation to the uninitiated of generalship exhibited by Mr. Ellis, the county agent, training and obedience by the boys, and preparation and cooking of good food in great quantities by Mrs. Ellis, with the assistance of one experienced cook and the boys, 103 of them, who had been camping there for three days.

We enjoyed the program of readings, stunts, etc., prepared by Mr. Ellis and the boys. The swimming hole, where the shallow water was full of youngsters who could not swim, each armed with an inflated inner tube, having just as much fun as the diving and swimming bunch in deeper water further down, with Mr. Ellis on guard everywhere. Then the tin pan brigade lined up, beating their pans as they marched by for their rations, which were ample and nourishing. All they could eat—beans, butter beans, potatoes, corn, chicken, eighteen of them, fried to a turn, iced tea, besides the picnic dinner spread by the ladies which was not slighted. The girls then donned their bathing suits and enjoyed a splash in the river, while the older ones on the bank enjoyed watching. North Weakley was represented by Mrs. Cuuld Nelson and Miss Daisy Shelton of Welch; Mrs. Ray and Lon Watts, Mrs. Ruth Finch, Guy and Doris Finch of Chestnut Glade and Ridgway community.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Melton have recently welcomed into their family two new members, an eleven pound son, and a new son-in-law. Their eldest daughter, Norma, was married last Sunday to Mr. John Root, at Port Arthur, Tex. They are spending their honeymoon sight seeing in South Texas and Louisiana, their first stop being at Houston, after which they will be at home at Port Arthur, where he holds a position with an oil company. We wish for them much happiness.

The Colley reunion last Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Colley was attended by 43 relatives and friends. Quite an enjoyable day was spent by all. Miss Dorothy Colley entertained with a reading, "Hildegard." A basket dinner was spread at the noon hour with all sorts of good things to eat. Bro. Colley left Tuesday for his home at Fort Worth, Texas.

Miss Katherine Phillips is ill at the home of her father, Mr. Asa Phillips.

Mr. Wayne Rhodes will return to Salem where he taught last year.

Miss Gertrude Moore is visiting her sister, Mrs. Carl Phillips near Crutchfield this week.

Meeting at Ruthville closed last Sunday with two professions, Addie Croft and Delma Moore, and one addition. Meeting began at New Hope Sunday. Singing at Chestnut Glade in the afternoon.

Meeting will begin at Sandy Branch the second Sunday, at Oak Grove the third Sunday this month.

Homecoming Day at Oak Grove Sunday was quite a great day for many of us. Bro. A. O. Colley, wife and daughter of Ft. Worth, Tex., were the inspiration of the occasion. Ten or fifteen congregations, and six states were represented at this home coming. The song service was led by Bro. Albert Winstead and complimented the two splendid sermons delivered by Bro. Colley. A basket dinner was spread at the noon hour and the feast of good things thoroughly enjoyed.

VISIT OLD FRIENDS AND RELATIVES

Claud A. West and son, Claud, Jr., left for Los Angeles Sunday night, after visiting relatives and friends in the city. Before leaving Fulton for the "Golden West," Mr. West was salesman at A. Huddleston & Company's hardware establishment for many years, but for more than four years has been associated with Sam Sharpe Hardware store in Los Angeles, Calif. As a hardware salesman, Mr. West gained an enviable reputation before leaving Fulton and we understand has maintained that reputation with his present firm. His Fulton friends enjoyed his visit and wish him every success in his new field of endeavor.

He was accompanied on the trip by Messrs. Lee Carter and Bill Billikins.

1,000 Juniors Own Good Dairy Cattle.

More than 1,000 junior agricultural club members in 50 or more Kentucky counties own registered dairy cows or heifers. Dairying is being introduced into many counties through 4-H club work.

Club members in 30 counties have entered butterfat production contests. The winners will receive educational trips to the State Fair or to the National Dairy Show.

The Gray-Von Allmen Sanitary Milk Company of Louisville will give eight trips to the State Fair, and each of the following firms will give a trip to the National Dairy Show: Gray-Von Allmen Sanitary Milk Company, D. H. Ewing's Sons and the Sugar Creek Creamery Company, all of Louisville, and the Beatrice Creamery Company, French Brothers-Creamery Company, the Merchants Creamery Co. and the Tri-State Creamery Co., all of Cincinnati. The Blue Valley Creamery Co. of Louisville will give the State champion dairy club member a trip to Memphis.

A junior club demonstration team will also go to the National Dairy Show. It will be composed of Elmo Cushman and Wilson Hamilton, of Pendleton county, who will demonstrate the care of the cream separator. The State also will be represented at the National show by a dairy cattle judging team, which will be selected during the State Fair. Several counties will exhibit junior club owned cattle at Memphis.

Many luncheon clubs and banks are encouraging dairying by sponsoring the ownership of purebred dairy stock by junior club members. Taylor county has more than 50 farm boys and girls owning registered dairy cows and heifers, and in many counties club members own the only purebreds in the counties.

Hog Cholera Causes Losses

Farmers Are Advised to Have Hogs Vaccinated At Once

Hog Cholera, which has been prevalent in this section off and on the past year, has broken out with renewed violence in recent weeks and all farmers in this section are advised to have their hogs vaccinated with both the serum and virus, called the double treatment, at once in order to protect themselves against serious losses. Ocie Carter, veterinary inspector of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, who was in Hickman this week told The Courier.

Mr. Carter spent several days in this section inspecting the herds with County Agent McPherson, and performed autopsies on several hogs to make sure it was cholera and nothing else. Mr. Carter stated that it was cholera and the only protection was to have all hogs vaccinated with both serum and virus at once. The serum only lasts about 30 days alone, he stated, and is not always effective, while the double treatment is usually effective and lasts much longer.

Some 200 hogs have died in the past few weeks and many others are ill and expected to die, unless the epidemic can be controlled. Among the losses were: Ben Lattus, 90; Ernest Johnson, 75; Tom Reese, 25; Owen Lacey, 20; Dan Davis, 15; R. A. Workman, 15; Dick Searce, 10; Wilson Harrington, 10; J. P. Mattox, 6; C. G. McMurray, 4; and a few others. The figures are approximate.

Mr. Carter and County Agent McPherson have been doing all that could be done the past few weeks to advise the farmers and this week issued a warning that the only way to prevent further losses was to have all herds vaccinated at once.—Hickman Courier.

resentation of the Democratic party's position on the tariff, Governor Smith declared:

No Business Upheaval

"The Democratic party does not and under my leadership will not advocate any sudden or drastic revolution in our economic system which would cause business upheaval or popular distress.

"The Democratic party stands squarely for the maintenance of legitimate business and a high standard of wages for American labor.

"Pay no attention to the Republican propaganda and accept my assurance as the leader of our party that Democratic tariff legislation will be honest," he declared. "It will play no favorites. It will do justice to every element in the nation."

He said foreign policy has its roots in the approval of the majority of the people and that he regarded it as a paramount duty to keep alive the interest of the people in questions of foreign policy and to advise the electorate as to facts. He promised to stress the necessity for restoration of cordial relations with Latin America.

The Republican administration has almost failed in its endeavor to remove the causes of war, he continued. "I pledge myself to a resumption of a real endeavor to make the outlawry of war effective by removing its causes and to substitute the methods of conciliation, conference, arbitration, and judicial determination," he declared.

The President has two duties with respect to the prohibition question, he said.

"The first is embodied in his oath of office," he went on. "If with one hand on the Bible and the other hand reaching up to Heaven, I promise the people of this country that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States and to the best of my ability preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States, you may be sure that I shall live up to that oath to the last degree.

"I shall to the very limit execute the pledge of our platform to make an honest endeavor to enforce the 18th amendment and all other provisions of the Federal Constitution and all laws enacted pursuant thereto."

The Governor promised "ruthlessly to stamp out" the present corruption in prohibition enforcement.

"Such conditions cannot and will not exist under any administration presided over by me," he asserted.

Continuing, he said: "The second constitutional duty imposed upon the President is to recommend to the Congress such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient."

"I shall advise the Congress in accordance with my constitutional duty of whatever changes I deem necessary or expedient. It will then be for the people and the representatives in the national and state legislature to determine whether these changes shall be made."

"I believe in temperance," he continued. "We have not achieved temperance under the present system. The mothers and fathers of young men and women throughout this land know the anxiety and worry which has been brought to them by their children's use of liquor in a way which was unknown before prohibition. I believe in reverence for law. Today disregard of the prohibition laws is in seditiously sapping respect for all law. I raise, therefore, what I profoundly believe to be a great moral issue in vowing the righteousness of our national conduct and the protection of our children's morals."

The remedy is to be found in the fearless application of Jeffersonian principles, he continued, to allow for different habits and customs of different parts of the country.

"Some immediate relief would come from an amendment to the Volstead law giving a scientific definition of the alcoholic content of an intoxicating beverage," he said. "The present definition is admittedly inaccurate and unscientific. Each state would then be allowed to fix its own standard of alcoholic content, subject always to the proviso that that standard could not exceed the maximum fixed by the Congress."

"I believe, moreover, that there should be submitted to the people the question of some change in the provisions of the 18th amendment. Certainly, no one foresaw when the amendment was ratified the conditions which exist today of bootlegging, corruption and open violation of the law in all parts of the country. The people themselves should, after this eight years of trial, be permitted to say whether existing conditions should be rectified. I personally believe in an amendment to the 18th amendment which would give to each individual state itself only after approval by a referendum popular vote of its people the right wholly within its borders to import, manufacture or cause to be manufactured and sell alcoholic beverages, the sale to be made only by the state itself and not for consumption in any public place."

"Our Canadian neighbors," he said, "have gone far in this manner to solve this problem by the method of sale made by the state itself and not by private individuals."

Saloon Won't Return

"There is no question here of the return of the saloon. When I stated that the saloon 'is and ought to be a defunct institution in this country' I meant it. I mean it today. I will never advocate or approve any law which directly or indirectly permits the return of the saloon."

"This country cannot be a healthy, strong, economic body if one of its members, so fundamentally important as agriculture, is sick almost to the point of economic death," said Governor Smith, taking up the subject of farm relief.

The Republican administration has made many promises of legislation to aid the farmer, but has kept none of them, he continued.

"The tariff is ineffective on commodities of which there is exportable surplus without controlled sale of the surplus," said Governor Smith. "Our platform points the way to make the tariff effective for crops of which we produce a surplus."

"Co-operative, co-ordinated marketing and warehousing of surplus farm products is essential just as co-ordinated, co-operative control of the flow of capital was found necessary to the regulation of our country's finances."

"Our platform declares for the development of co-operative marketing and an earnest endeavor to solve the problem of the distribution of the cost of dealing with crop surpluses over the marketed unit of the crop whose producers are benefited by such assistance. Only the mechanics remain to be devised. I propose to substitute action for inaction and friendliness for hostility. In my administration of the government of my state, whenever I was confronted with a problem of this character, I called into conference those best equipped on the particular subject in hand. I shall follow that course with regard to agriculture. Farmers and farm leaders with such constructive aid as will come from sound economists and fair-minded leaders of finance and business must work out the details. There are varying plans for the attainment of the end which is to be accomplished. Such plans should be subjected at once to searching, able and fair-minded analysis, because the interests of all require that the solution shall be economically sound."

Will Call Conference

Governor Smith then promised to summon an agricultural conference to work out the solution, saying:

"If I am elected, I shall immediately after election ask leaders of the type I have named, irrespective of party, to enter upon this task. I shall join with them in the discharge of their duties during the coming winter and present to Congress immediately upon its convening the solution recommended by the body of men best fitted to render this signal service to the nation. I shall support the activities of this body until a satisfactory law is placed upon the statute books."

On the subject of transportation Governor Smith said he believed in encouraging the construction and use of modern highways to carry the short haul of small bulk commodities and to aid in marketing farm products.

Also of great importance, he said, is the development of transportation by our waterways, which are still in a highly undeveloped state.

Linked with waterways development is the control of floods, the governor said. He declared that the two Republican administrations had waited for the Mississippi flood of last year instead of taking leadership in this important work.

"The money actually appropriated for flood relief is too small to make even a start," Governor Smith asserted. "Too much time has been spent in squabbling over who shall pay the bill."

Governor Smith pledged himself "to a progressive, liberal conservation policy based upon the same principles to which I have given my support in the State of New York," and to fight against selfish aggression "wherever it appears and irrespective of whom it may involve."

"The sources of water power must remain forever under public ownership and control," he said.

Benefits growing from the development of water power as an incident to the regulation of the Colorado River should be "equitably distributed among the states having right of ownership," Governor Smith declared.

It would be the policy of his administration to develop a method of operation for Muscle Shoals which would reclaim for the government some fair revenue from the enormous expenditure already made, he said.

Red tape and autocratic bureaucracy should be brushed aside in caring for veterans in distress, Governor Smith said. Likewise, he said he would continue his sympathetic interest in the advancement of progressive legislation for working men and women, the proper care of maternity, infancy and childhood, and the encouragement of activities which advance public health.

His Labor Policy

Turning to the labor question, Governor Smith said:

"The reasonable contentment of those who toil with the conditions under which they live and work is an essential basis of the nation's well-being. The welfare of our country, therefore, demands governmental concern for the legitimate interest of labor."

In conclusion the governor said in part:

"I pledge a complete devotion to the welfare of our country and our people. I place that welfare above every other consideration and I am satisfied that our party is in a position to promote it. To that end I here and now declare to my fellow countrymen, from one end of the United States to the other, that I will dedicate myself with all the power and energy that I possess, to the service of our great republic."

When you buy John Deere implements you are sure of prompt repair service throughout their long life

A FARM WAGON THAT IS GUARANTEED

The amount of satisfactory service that a wagon will give depends entirely upon the material and skill the manufacturer puts into it. We want to show you a wagon that is built of the best materials by men who know how—

THE JOHN DEERE WAGON
The Wagon That is Guaranteed

A special machine automatically measures the inside of the skin of the John Deere farm wagon and shapes the axle to fit accurately. The skin is set in red lead under high pressure. It has exactly the right pitch, and the axle has the right gather to make the John Deere wagon run lighter than other wagons. With the John Deere sand- and dust-proof skains there is no wearing of bearing surfaces—the oil stays in—the wagon is always smooth-running and light-pulling.

Only carefully-selected oak and hickory are used in the John Deere Wagon, and every piece of wood is air-seasoned under cover in our own yards for at least two years. The tires are set hot under hydraulic pressure and under a gauge that assures proper dish—the load is always carried on plumb spokes.

And don't forget this other big feature—the heavy malleable fifth-wheel with corrugated coupling—no bending or breaking of kingbolt—bolster does not get out of line and rock—no danger of tipping when handling large, top-heavy loads.

Come in and see this wagon—read the guarantee on the tool box. Let us explain the many fine points embodied in it.

Senator Walsh Visits Gov. Smith,

After his visit to Gov. Smith in New York last week Senator Walsh, of Montana, declared that the election of Gov. Smith would introduce into our national councils something of the human element sadly lacking under the regime of Coolidge and Mellon. "I believe a Republican struck a responsive chord when he said he was going to vote for Smith because he wanted to see a smile in the White House," said the Teapot Dome prosecutor after a conference with the Democratic nominee at the executive mansion.

Walsh, a dry, withdrew from the race for the presidential nomination in favor of Smith last May, issued a statement in which he and the governor "do not agree on some questions widely considered, but it were vain to look for a candidate with convictions representing millions of voters who likewise have convictions, and agreeing with them all on all questions."

"The most that can be hoped for," his statement continued, "is that he shall be with them on fundamentals—that on the whole he shall be found more satisfactory to them than his opponent."

The Montana senator said at the outset of his statement that he had heretofore just barely met Gov. Smith, "but neither of us had ever found opportunity to cultivate the other."

"His geniality is irresistible and his intellectual processes refreshingly clear," he declared, adding that the governor's quick mastering of problems of state "signifies a genius for such."

Railroad News

The railroads of the United States represent a property investment of something more than $20 for every man, woman and child in the country.

The dominant position of the Middle West in world trade is evident from the fact that the fourteen states in which the Illinois Central operates produce 40 per cent of all farm crops and 47 per cent of all livestock products in the country.

More than 3,000 carloads of cabbages were shipped last year from Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana. Chicago is the principal market for this crop.

New Orleans outranks every other American port, except New York, in foreign trade. It outranks every other American port, including New York, in exports of wheat, corn, rice, beans, onions, ash, gum, hickory, oak, pressed Southern pine lumber, treated soft wood ties, cooperage stock, gasoline, plaster, carbon black and dark tobacco. It outranks every other American port in imports of bananas, molasses, sodium nitrate, sisal, mahogany, gasoline, bauxite, creosote oil and rice flour.

More than one-third of all tomatoes handled by the railroads of the United States are produced in Florida and Mississippi. Last year Florida shipped 8,383 carloads to fifty-six markets, and Mississippi shipped 3,417 carloads to fifty-three markets.

The railroads last year spent $1,396,000,000 for materials and supplies and $772,000,000 for new facilities and equipment. The sum is equivalent to $78.60 for every family in the United States.

The cotton manufacturing industry, once confined almost entirely to New England, has shifted largely to the cotton-producing states of the South. At the beginning of the present century Southern textile mills produced about one-third of the cotton goods in the country. Today Southern mills are producing two-thirds of the nation's cotton goods.

Motorists approaching railway crossings should bear in mind that a passenger train traveling at a speed of fifty miles an hour covers 733 feet in ten seconds and requires one-third of a mile to come to a full stop.

SMITH GIVEN CHANCE TO WIN WITH EASTERN AND DOUBTFUL STATES

Democrats to Concentrate Attack in Wet Strongholds with Prohibition Regarded as Decisive Issue

Washington, August 19.—To win the presidency, Al Smith must make almost a clean sweep in the Eastern doubtful area and break even in the border states.

Reports of present conditions throughout the country have convinced Republicans and Democrats alike that in these two sections are the real battle grounds.

If the Democrats carry New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey in the East, Maryland, Missouri and Oklahoma among border states, Wisconsin in the Middle West, Montana and Nevada in the far west, and all the Southern states, Smith will be elected President with a total of 265 electoral votes. This would be an exact majority of the 531 votes in the electoral college.

Eight other states in which Smith is conceded to have a fighting chance have together only fifty-six electoral votes. Capture of nearly all of them would scarcely offset the loss of two or three of the Eastern border states.

While Smith is credited with a chance of winning 322 electoral votes, Hoover may win as many as 413 electoral votes. The two totals represent the relative potential strength of rival candidates and make evident the advantage resting with the Republicans as the campaign gets into its full stride.

Prohibition Chief Issue

That prohibition rather than farm relief will be the decisive issue if Smith wins is the belief of his managers. The Eastern and other states in which Smith forces propose to concentrate their attack are known as wet. Most of them are normally Republican and if the Democrats carry them it will be on the prohibition issue. The Southern States are counted upon to continue their habit of voting Democratic regardless of their objection to a wet candidate.

While farm relief will be stressed by the Democrats in Western States, the Smith managers do not at present have much hope of making serious inroads into the Republican agricultural areas. Even if one or two states where agricultural unrest is most acute swing into the Democratic camp, the electoral votes involved probably would not be sufficient to be an important factor in determining the result. Smith must carry his home state of New York if he is elected. His failure to win its forty-five electoral votes could not easily be made up elsewhere, and the fact that he failed to show his usual voting-getting ability in his home territory would make it a certainty that he had failed also to set the rest of the country afire. Hoover can win without New York, assuming that he holds the important Republican states of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois.

Other Doubtful States

An analysis of the nationwide situation makes it evident that Smith cannot afford to lose either Massachusetts with its eighteen electoral votes or New Jersey with its fourteen votes. Both of these states are to be the scenes of a hotly contested campaign with the outcome in doubt. Connecticut, normally Republican, has only seven electoral votes and failure of Smith to carry it could be offset by winning in Rhode Island with five votes and Delaware with three votes. Both Rhode Island and Delaware are listed among the doubtful states.

Five border states, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri and Oklahoma, are regarded as doubtful. Maryland has usually gone Republican in presidential elections, although Albert C. Ritchie, a Democrat has been elected Governor three times. With Ritchie actively aiding Smith and the state known as one of those which has no prohibition enforcement act, Smith is believed to have the edge.

West Virginia has been consistently Republican in presidential elections although it has one Democratic Senator. The chances are believed to favor Hoover. The Republicans also have the advantage in Kentucky, although the Democrats are not without hope there.

Oklahoma and Missouri

While Smith may win in Missouri and Oklahoma, there is no certainty that he will do so. The loss of either would injure his chances seriously, as the former has eighteen electoral votes and the latter ten. Missouri went Republican both in 1920 and 1924, but in 1916 was Democratic. Oklahoma voted Republican in 1920, but Democratic in 1916 and 1924. The presence of Senator Curtis (Kansas) on the ticket is counted upon by Republicans to be a factor in bringing Oklahoma back into the Republican column.

Smith should capture two or three of the five border states besides winning the important Eastern doubtful states if he is to be elected. The Republicans doubt if Smith can carry more than one or at the most two of the five states. If he carries only two of the border states, it would be necessary for him to win one or two states besides Wisconsin, Montana and Nevada.

The Democrats look upon Wisconsin as the state in the Middle West where they have the best chance. The heavy wet vote and the probable defection of La Follette radicals from the Republican ticket are conceded to make the Democratic prospects excellent.

The Democratic managers have not taken very seriously the suggestion that Illinois may be doubtful. They list Indiana as doubtful and propose to make a hard fight there but are none too hopeful. Indiana has fifteen electoral votes which would be of material help to Smith. At the time of the Hoover-Willis pre-convention fight the Democrats thought that Ohio might be a doubtful state, but the Republican factions appear to have buried the hatchet, and last Tuesday's primaries demonstrated the dryness of voters in both parties.

The Democrats do not profess much optimism regarding such typical agricultural states as Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas. Even if they won either North or South Dakota, each of which has only five electoral votes, it would not help much.

Western States

Besides Montana, four electoral votes, which the Democrats think they are certain to carry, and Nevada, with three votes, which is somewhat more doubtful, about the only other Western states where Smith is believed to have much chance are Colorado, with six electoral votes; New Mexico, with three votes, and Arizona, with three. All three of these states helped to pull Woodrow Wilson through in 1916, but all of them were in the Republican column in both 1920 and 1924. The Republicans believe that Hoover will carry them this time, although they concede that all three may be classed as doubtful.

Of the 226 electoral votes listed as a possible combination to bring about the election of Smith, 126 are from the South, 84 from the East, 36 from border states, 13 from the Middle West and 7 from the Far West.

The Southern states in the list are: Alabama, 12 votes; Arkansas, 9; Florida, 6; Georgia, 14; Louisiana, 10; Mississippi, 10; North Carolina, 10; South Carolina, 9; Tennessee, 12; Texas, 20, and Virginia, 12.

The eight additional states where Smith's chances are fairly good are Indiana, 15, in the Middle West; Kentucky, 13, and West Virginia, 8, among the border states; Rhode Island, 5; and Delaware, 3, in the East; and Colorado, 6; Arizona, 3; and New Mexico, 3, in the far West. It is obvious that the failure of the Democrats to capture Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey in the East and Missouri and Oklahoma among the border states would make it impossible for Smith to win. These five states have an aggregate of 57 electoral votes while the eight possible Democrat states not represented in the original 266 Smith votes have only 56.

On the assumption that Smith wins with the 266 votes enumerated Hoover's 265 would be made up of 60 electoral votes from the East, 21 from border states, 108 from the Middle West and 76 from the Far West.

Water Cheaper Than Feed; Provide Hogs With a Good Supply

Water is cheaper than feed, and it pays to provide stock with a good supply to drink at all times, says Grady Sellards, field agent in animal husbandry for the college of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

"On many farms the water supplies are inadequate to meet properly the needs of profitable hog production," he notes. "Hogs can not be expected to obtain from a filthy pond their drinking water to produce pork economically."

"While balanced rations are an important phase in any profitable system of hog raising, yet an abundant supply of pure drinking water is necessary in order to balance completely the enterprise."

"On some farms hogs obtain their drinking water from dirty ponds in which they make their wallows. Such a practice not only prevents cheap pork production from impure drinking water, but also makes it difficult to use a program of sanitation for the prevention of worms and filth borne diseases."

"Drinking water should be located near the point where the hogs are fed, because the pig usually takes some feed and then some water, if the water is near but if it is located at some distance he may not do this."

"Where there is not an available source of good drinking water on the farm effort should be made to provide it by means of cisterns or wells."

Woman Hurt in Auto Accident

Five persons escaped serious injury last Friday when a sedan, traveling at the rate of 35 miles an hour, skidded in loose gravel and overturned on the Paducah-Mayfield highway about a mile south of Lone Oak. Mrs. W. P. Pruett, of Boaz Chapel, suffered a badly bruised head.

The party, which included Mr. and Mrs. Pruett, Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Jones, of Dresden, and Clyde Wood, of Fulton, were on their way to Detroit. The sedan driven by Wood, was forced from the road by another car on a curve. The man driving the other car stopped but his name was not learned. The sedan is owned by Hubert Hardy, of Fulton.

Stolen Taxi is Found in Fulton.

A tall, slender stranger rode gratis from Paducah to Fulton in a 606 taxicab last week though he had to finish the last lap in the chauffeur's seat. The car was found in Fulton by the chief of police Friday but the stranger had gone his way.

Early Thursday night the man who was described by Troutman as being tall, fairly young, bare-headed and carrying a rain coat, called at the 606 taxi office in Paducah and asked for a taxicab to Fulton. Troutman left Paducah with the fare.

As the car neared Fulton the stranger instructed Troutman to stop at a house and go in and ask for a certain person. When he had left the car the man moved under the wheel and drove off into the darkness. Troutman returned home on a bus. Police were notified by David Desberger, manager of the taxicab line.

Your Suit and Overcoat need the Wrinkles taken out

You know what a beauty shop can do for faces—how it can remove wrinkles from cheeks and crow's feet from eyes. But did you ever visit a "beauty shop for suits"—a modern dry cleaning and sanitary pressing establishment? Here, again, is a "fountain of youth"—this time for clothes.

For example, take one of your own suits to the O. K. Steam Laundry—one you've worn often. If it's a light suit, the grime is plainly visible at collar and cuffs; perhaps there is a bit of grease on it from your car. If the suit is dark, the dirt may not show—but it's there. One cannot ride in automobiles and taxis, and not gather dirt.

But see what your dry cleaner, the O. K. Laundry, can do for this suit.

First, it is tumbled in warm, drying air; the moisture is removed, the dust shaken out, obstinate spots loosened. An expert "spotter" then goes over the garment by hand—stains and spots vanish before his skill. Next, the suit is soured gently, thoroughly, back and forth, in the purest of cleaning fluids. Soil embedded in the fabric is filtered out; grime and grease are dissolved away. After most of the moisture has been whirled out, the suit is carefully dried in a breeze of fresh, warm, sterile air, then with the warm air sifting thru it, it is fluffed softly. The nap comes to life, the cloth becomes fresh and smart again.

Nor is this dry cleaning "magic" limited to men's suits and overcoats. Hats and gloves, women's coats, suits, dresses and blouses, children's clothes—almost every article of wearing apparel can be given this same renewing, refreshing treatment. And how much longer clothes wear when they receive it. Truly dry cleaning pays its own bills.

Of course, we make a specialty of dry cleaning draperies, rugs, etc. Don't overlook this

NO MORE YELLOW SKIN FOR HOWETT

C. R. Howett, salesman, writes: "J. C. Mendenhall, Evansville, Ind. I have delayed answering your letter as I have been waiting to see the results of taking your medicine. I did as you advised, took one bottle Mendenhall's Chill and Fever Tonic, without arsenic and followed with the chill tonic with arsenic and have taken two bottles. People all over my territory are complimenting me on my looks as my skin is no longer yellow and the jaundiced look and chronic malaria and chills have left me. I thank you a thousand times and you may use my name any time you wish, as I feel that I am cured." Mendenhall's Chill Tonic, without arsenic, should be taken in place of quinine for malaria, chills, fevers, colic, flu or gripe. Mendenhall's Chill Tonic, with arsenic, is the most successful agent in the treatment of chronic malaria, bilious, intermittent or malarial fever. Improves the appetite, strength and condition of the blood. Made by J. C. Mendenhall, Evansville, Ind., druggist since 1878.

Which Kind Are You?

Every citizen should be actively interested in community betterment—first, for the good of the community; and second, on the theory that what benefits the community is of equal benefit to the individual.

Some people are aggressive and work continually for the welfare of the community in which they live.

Some hold back through modesty, some through timidity, and others through a disinclination to "neglect their private affairs."

The modest man is respected, although it is regretted that his modesty keeps him so much in the background.

The man who is timid is to be pitied, for his timidity is a serious handicap that, happily, is often overcome.

The modest man and the timid man should assert themselves. The community needs their efforts, just as it receives the cooperation of their more aggressive friends and neighbors.

But what of the citizen who is averse to "neglecting their private affairs."

Is he the kind of man who makes a community, or is he merely one who profits from the community that others make?

The man that is too busy with his own private affairs" to aid in community betterment may be possessed of many of the good qualities usually found in mankind. He may be highly respected by his neighbors, and his honesty and integrity may be beyond question.

But no community can thrive on neighborly respect and honesty and integrity alone. Aggressiveness is required if a community would not slip backward instead of pressing forward.

Every man owes a duty to the community in which he lives, and that duty should be performed, even though it entails an occasional personal sacrifice.

No man should consider himself "too busy with his own private affairs" to aid in community betterment. He should not expect others to do all of the community work while he reaps his share of the benefits.

He should respond in kind.

Dewberries Add to Farm Income.

Seventeen carloads of dewberries were shipped out of McCracken county this year, bringing a total of $17,000. The average price was $1.96 a crate. A large number of junior club members are making handsome profits from dewberries. Marshall county dewberries produced about 100 crates per acre, and averaged $1.40 per crate. Dewberries apparently offer farmers in western counties another source of cash income.

Lesson for August 19

PAUL CARRIES THE GOSPEL INTO EUROPE

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:36-16:15.
 GOLDEN TEXT—Come over into Macedonia and help us.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul's Wonderful Dream.

JUNIOR TOPIC—God Calls Paul to Work in Europe.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Pioneering in Europe.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Call to Europe.

I. Finding an Assistant for Paul (Acts 15:35-16:5).

1. Contention over John Mark (vv. 36-41).

(1) Paul's proposal (v. 36).

This was to revisit the scenes of their missionary endeavors to find out what progress the believers were making in their Christian experience.

(2) Determination of Barnabas (v. 37).

It was to take with them John Mark, Barnabas' nephew (Col. 4:10).

(3) Paul's opposition (v. 38).

He was suspicious of Mark because of his desertion on a former journey (Acts 13:13).

(4) Their separation (vv. 39-41).

Their contention was so sharp that they separated. God overruled this incident to the wider extension of the work. Barnabas took Mark and sailed to Cyprus; Paul chose Silas, and went through Syria and Cilicia.

2. Finding Timothy (16:1-5).

(1) The place (v. 1).

It was the very place where Paul on his first journey had endured cruel stoning. The conversion of Timothy may be regarded as fruitage of Paul's testimony at that time.

(2) His parentage (v. 1).

His mother was a believing Jewess and his father a Greek.

(3) His character (v. 2).

He had a good reputation in the church at Lystra and Iconium.

(4) His circumcision (v. 3).

Timothy had not been circumcised. Doubtless this omission was because his father was a Gentile. To avoid offense among the Jews, Paul circumcised Timothy.

(5) The ministry of Paul and Timothy through the cities (vv. 4, 5).

They delivered decrees which had been ordained at the Jerusalem council (Acts 15:23-29).

II. Forbidden to Preach the Word in Asia (Acts 16:6-8).

The inclination of Paul was to tarry in Asia Minor preaching the Word, but contrary to their inclination they were hurried along. The Holy Spirit is just as active and faithful in closing doors as in opening them.

III. The Call to Macedonia (vv. 9-12).

The time had now come for the gospel to begin its conquest of another continent. By the crossing of the gospel from Asia to Europe the church, instead of becoming an oriental movement, became mainly occidental.

1. The vision (v. 9).

Being hemmed in on all sides, a vision was given to Paul of a man of Macedonia pleading for help, which made clear the meaning of the closed doors about him.

2. The advance (vv. 10-12).

As soon as the divine way was known they moved forward. Visions, to be effective, must be quickly translated into aggressive action.

IV. The First Convert in Europe (vv. 13-15).

The Jewish element in Philippi was so small that it was unable to afford a synagogue, therefore the devout people were accustomed to worship by the riverside. To a humble gathering of this kind Paul came and preached. Lydia, a business woman from Thyatira, believed. The steps in her conversion are worthy of note, as typical.

1. Attendance at the place of worship (v. 13).

Usually those whom God is calling are found at the place of prayer.

2. Listening to the preaching of the Word of God (vv. 13, 14).

Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the Word of God (Rom. 10:17).

3. Her heart was opened by the Lord (v. 14).

Only the Lord can convert a soul. It is our business to preach the Word of God, and it is God's business to open the heart of the inquirer. Regeneration is a supernatural work.

4. She was baptized (v. 15).

Every one whose heart the Lord has opened desires to confess Him in baptism.

5. Her household believed (v. 15).

6. Hospitality practiced (v. 15).

Those who have experienced God's saving grace are disposed to have part in His work by rendering aid to His ministers.

Nowhere Else to Go

I have been driven many times to my knees by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go. My own wisdom, and that of all about me seemed insufficient for that day.—Abraham Lincoln.

Not Without Christ

A man may go to heaven without health, without riches, without honor, without learning, without friends, but he can never go there without Christ.—Jno Dyer.
