THE LISTENING POST

It will be interesting to many people in Fulton to learn that Bruce Dudley, former sports editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and more recently executive business manager of the Louisville baseball club of the American Association, has now been made president of the club. This change came about a few days ago when the Boston Red Sox purchased the club outright and at once made Dudley the president. Mr. Dudley is pleasantly remembered here through his many visits to Fulton a few years ago while still connected with the Courier-Journal. He came here several times on his trips around the Kitty League and never failed to make and maintain friendships in Fulton. He severed his newspaper connections two years ago to take the post with the baseball club and made a remarkable record in the position. His elevation to the presidency of the club is well deserved and his friends here believe he will prove the right man in the right place.

I am hoping that a majority of Chamber of Commerce members will be able to attend the regular monthly meeting of the organization Monday night at the Rainbow Room. There have been no meetings held here in several months, and no meeting at all was held during September. At the meeting Monday night there will be several matters of community interest which should be discussed, and a full attendance of the members is urgently desired.

The highway situation is not happy just at present and some discussion and some action is needed. The highway committee has kept in close touch with developments all the way through, but it is felt that a more general understanding is needed, along with some discussion of the proper steps, if any, that should be taken. There are some other matters also which will probably come up, as some efforts have been made to attract some of the many government manufacturing plants to Fulton. Nothing definite has ever been worked out along this line, but those who do the committee work are anxious that the full membership know what has been done and help in plans for the future. The meeting will begin at 6:30, and the tickets are 50 cents each.

Work on raising money for the Community Chest is being continued, and workers report that there is much interest among all citizens. It is generally recognized by all that a grand job was done last year and a full realization that the coming winter will again bring its load of distress which must be cared for in some manner. It is also pretty well known that more money will be needed this winter than was the case last year, particularly if weather conditions happens to be as bad as last year. Even if the load is not quite so heavy there will be a full two months additional this year, as the work is being started much earlier than last year. Last year the job did not get under way until the middle of January and this year it will be started by the first of November. The first freezing weather of the winter will bring its distress.

FDR Charges Republicans Falsified

Willkie Welcomes Opponent's Decision To Take Stump

President Roosevelt said yesterday there had been a "systematic program of falsification" by his political opposition and that he intended "to tell the American people" about it in a series of five speeches.

Wendell L. Willkie, campaigning in Missouri, said he was "looking forward to the balance of the campaign with a rich relish" now that the President has got "away from the poses of military inspection trips."

Republican National Chairman Joseph W. Martin, at New York, said the President was dealing in "generalities" in making the accusation of falsification.

Mr. Roosevelt's announcement was made to a White House press conference. The five talks will be made at cities in Atlantic seaboard states beginning on October 23--as outlined Thursday night by Democratic National Chairman Edward J. Flynn. The trips, said Mr. Roosevelt, would be financed by the Democratic national committee.

There was a possibility, the President said, that a speech tentatively scheduled for Washington on October 30 might be made at Baltimore. A reporter mentioned that Willkie was to speak at Baltimore on the same night, to which Mr. Roosevelt smiled and said--oh, is he?

FDR-Willkie Debate
In Baltimore, the coincidence of dates produced this observation by W. David Tilghman, Jr., Maryland Republican state chairman: "Perhaps the President is breaking down at last and accepting Mr. Willkie's challenge to debate. I hope it will be possible to get them both on the same platform." Democratic leaders of the state discounted this possibility.

Along with word that the President was going to set out on campaign speechmaking came the announcement that a one time political ally--former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York--would make a series of talks against him. Smith, who broke with the President prior to the 1936 campaign and in that year electioneered for the Republican nominee, Alf M. Landon--will speak under the auspices of the National Committee of Democrats for Willkie.

White House Scans Relief Picture As It Appears Across Atlantic

Washington, --President Roosevelt canvassed the problem of American relief for Europe with State Department and Red Cross advisers Thursday and it was reported that a large consignment of flour might be sent to non-belligerent Spain.

At the White House conference with the President were Secretary Sumner Welles and Norman Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross. It was described officially as relating to the "refugee" question but complete secrecy was observed as to what phases were discussed or whether any decisions had been reached.

Spain Said to Lack Food
Usually well-informed sources said a proposal for a gift of 10,000 tons of flour through the Red Cross to Spain had been under consideration by the Administration.

Some trained observers returning from Europe have called Spain's food situation practically as bad as that in France and other German-occupied countries.

Possibly affecting the question of relief for Spain, however, was the

Local Plumber Drops Dead In Memphis Park

Walter Scott Garvey, retired plumber of this city, died Thursday afternoon while sitting with his wife in Court Square, Memphis, watching a little boy feed squirrels. Suddenly and quietly he slumped over. He was rushed to the Baptist Hospital but was pronounced dead upon arrival there at 3 o'clock.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Troy at the home of his brother-in-law, Ike Bitticks. The Rev. L. R. Neill of Troy, will officiate. Burial will be made in Troy.

Mr. and Mrs. Garvey went to Memphis Saturday to visit his brother, P. E. Garvey, Garvey, who was a retired plumber, had lived in Fulton for a number of years. He was a native of Paducah. He lived on the corner of Vine and Norman.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Byrdo Garvey, a brother, P. E. Garvey of Memphis, a sister, Mrs. Susie Garvey Davis of Little Rock.

Defense Ship Gets Cargo

San Francisco, --Efforts to quickly load the liner President Taft for departure to Hawaii with defense supplies were pushed today after spokesmen for employers and longshoremen announced settlement of a dispute which had halted cargo handling since Tuesday.

Six gangs of stevedores were ordered for this morning to complete loading of the 4,000-ton cargo, of which 1,700 tons were described by shippers as defense materials for the islands.

The big American Presidents Line ship was due to continue to the Orient and bring back Americans leaving that troubled area.

Hruck Hits Wagon; Two Are Injured

A CCC truck going toward Martin ran into a wagon driven by V. E. Jackson, RFD 2, in a bad wreck last night on the Martin highway. Jackson was painfully injured, suffering a compound fracture of the leg, injured neck and cuts on the head. His son, Eugene Jackson, was also injured. He had a broken arm and numerous cuts. Both were brought in to the Haws-Weaver clinic for treatment.

The wagon was completely demolished and both horses killed. The occupants of the CCC were not injured.

POLICE NEWS
Tom Crittenden was fined $5 and costs this morning in South Fulton Police court on a charge of public drunkenness.

Ambassador Kennedy Is Silent As He Prepares To Come To The U. S.

London, -- Ambassador Joseph Kennedy shrugged off inquiries Thursday about his impending return to the United States and whether he would come back to London by borrowing actress Greta Garbo's famed quip: "I tank I go home."

"I'm in the same boat with Garbo," he said.

The ambassador, fit and vigorous despite sleepless nights and close escape from bombs, received latest details on the course of the war from British Government head in farewell visits.

Calls On Churchill
He called first at No. 10 Downing Street to say goodbye to Prime Minister Churchill and later was understood to have discussed the Far Eastern situation and Turkey's role in the war during calls upon several ministers.

The time of his departure was not disclosed, but it was understood he would spend the week-end in the English countryside.

May Get Another Post
While he was silent on the report he will make to President Roosevelt, it is no secret that he is impressed with the damage inflicted on London and the people's reaction.

The question of his return naturally hinges on the outcome of the Presidential election next month. The feeling prevailed in American circles here that he probably would come back or be assigned some other important post if President Roosevelt is re-elected.

Wallace Says Business Gains Since 1932

Cincinnati, --Henry A. Wallace today countered Republican assertions that the New Deal was discouraging business by saying enterprise had grown steadily stronger under the administration of President Roosevelt.

The Democratic Vice Presidential nominee added that the New Deal's "long task of protecting legitimate capitalist industry against monopolies and rackets" was not finished.

Says Progress Being Made
"It never will be finished," he said, "while this is a free country with free enterprise to serve as victims for smart men. But we are making progress and we intend to extend the protection of business from illegitimate raids as rapidly as public support can be mustered for the work."

Wallace told a breakfast rally of party workers that under Republican rule in 1932, the number of new enterprises starting up was less than the number closing down by 116,000.

Dane Lovelace Stars At Abilene

Dane Lovelace of Fulton, a student at Abilene Christian College, is right guard on the A. C. C. football team and is doing great work in that position. A clipping from a recent Abilene newspaper is as follows: "In the conference game between Trinity and A. C. C., outstanding players were Dane Lovelace, the fiery little guard from Kentucky, Tyson Cox and Gene Sosebee."

Abilene has won four games out of five this season.

COURT HOLDS 'PROPER SIGNS' RELIEVES ROAD DEPARTMENT OF LIABILITY

Frankfort, Ky. --The Court of Appeals declared today the State Highway Department frees itself from liability for dangerous road conditions when it erects "proper signs" to warn motorists.

The opinion, which reversed a $4,500 judgment granted in Henderson Circuit Court for the death of Mrs. Alda Dever, said the case rested upon whether signs on US-60 near Owensboro were sufficient warning and after deciding they were added:

"The Highway Commission even when the state has waived its immunity from suit, is not an insurer against accidents arising from defects or dangerous conditions on a public road."

"Its duty is merely that of a private corporation or a municipality subject to suit, namely, to exercise ordinary care to prevent injury from defects in the highway."

The opinion, written by Judge Henry J. Tilford, held that when the commission erected signs four by four feet and two by two feet large, warning "Danger--Dips in the Road," and "Slow," it had "fully discharged its duty."

Matrimonial Rush Described As Aid To Home Building

New York, --That Nation-wide boom in the matrimony market just before enactment of the Compulsory Military Service Act is going to have a favorable effect on the residential building industry, trade course said Thursday.

Pointing to the sharp rise in marriage licenses last August, the Architectural Forum said in its current issue:

"The trend of marriages has always been considered one of the prime factors behind building's behavior, for a marriage means a new family and usually the rent or sale of another building."

"While the current upward surge in marriages must be discounted somewhat by the nature of the incentive--the Nation's first peacetime military draft--it is nevertheless highly significant for building."

Tanners Are Told Defense Training Takes More Shoes

Chicago -- H. H. McAdoo, of the National Defense Advisory Commission staff, told the Tanners Council of America Thursday that men called up for selective service would need about twice as many pairs of shoes in a year as they normally wear out in civilian life.

McAdoo, who is group executive for leather in the industrial materials division of the commission, estimated that the individual consumption rate would be four or five pairs a year. "The demand, therefore," he said, "might be anywhere from five to seven million pairs annually."

Total cattle hide needs under the present preparedness program would range from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000, he added.

Judge Accepts Story Of Waiting For Street Car

Memphis, Tenn. --Arrested when police found him standing against a store window holding a brick wrapped in a paper sack, Henry Davis, 40-year-old Negro, explained: "I was carrying it for protection against a boy who was threatening to cut me with a knife. I was just waiting for a street car when the cops picked me up." Accepting the story, City Judge Bateman dismissed all charges.

Army To Use Younger Officers For Combat Duty

Washington, --Preparing to mobilize some 35,000 additional reserve officers by next summer, the Army announced today an intention to rely on younger officers for active duty with combat troops.

As a general policy, no reserve officer with the rank of second lieutenant will be called to active service with combat troops if he is beyond 35. Other age limits range upward to 60 for colonels.

In the Air Corps and various supply services such as the Quartermaster Corps the age limits were put five years higher. For purely administrative duties the top limit on second lieutenants will be 45, ranging upward to 60 for colonels. No limits were placed on medical officers.

New York Editor Says That Flynn Should Apologize To Press

New York, --The Republican State Committee made public today a telegram to Edward J. Flynn from Tom R. Hutton, Binghamton, N. Y., editor, replying to the Democratic national chairman's charge that newspapers are under "a financial dictatorship of their advertisers."

"You owe an apology to honest newspapers and newspaper men all over the country," the telegram said, "for falling into an Ickes tantrum of uninformed generalities about the good faith of newspaper men who have been consistently fair through the years and on whom no advertiser pressure could be exerted under any circumstances."

Says Candidate Is Hurt
Hutton declared Flynn's statement "damaged not the honest newspapers of the United States, but a presidential candidate who deserves better than this at your hands because he has entrusted to you the most important job in the campaign of 1940."

"Jim Farley would be the first to tell you, if you asked him, in adding your voice to a deliberate and

Axis Meeting Is Denied By Russia

Budapest Says Eden May Go To Moscow

More evidence of an estrangement in the marriage of convenience between Russia and Germany was given Friday when Russia disavowed any intention of having a conference with the Axis powers--Germany, Italy and Japan.

A communique distributed in Moscow by the official news agency, Tass, said:

"The Japanese newspaper Hochi of October 6 reports that the 'government of the U. S. R. R. has decided to call in Moscow a conference for four powers--the U. S. S. R., Japan, Germany and Italy.' Tass is authorized to state respond to reality."

It was the second time this week that Russia has gone out of its way to scotch such a report. Tuesday Tass denied a foreign report which said Russia had been informed in advance of Germany's intended occupation of Rumania.

The words of the denials, of course, do not seem significant, but if they were not significant there would have been no point in making them.

The denial came as International News Service reported from Budapest that British War Secretary Anthony Eden may go to Moscow shortly in pursuance of efforts to improve Anglo-Russian relations and to fashion a Soviet-Turkish military alliance.

Husband Knew How To Say He Wouldn't Pay

Austin, Texas, --For husbands who want to disclaim any debts contracted by their estranged wives, University of Texas librarians think they have as good a model as can be found.

Printed in a newspaper of 1830 it says: "... She has, without cause, left my habitation and is floating on the ocean of tyrannical extravagance, prone to prodigality, taking a wild goose chase and kindling her pipe with the coal of curiosity."

"To abscond and abolish such insidious, clandestine, noxious, pernicious, diabolical and notorious deportment, I therefore caution all persons from harboring or trusting her on my account, as I will pay no debts of her contracting from this date, unless compelled by law."

A CHILDISH OUTBURST

Edward J. Flynn, who took over the post once held by James Farley as head of the National Democratic organization, added nothing to his stature the other day when he gave out a blast that financial dictators and advertisers control the press of the United States and warp its news. It was more or less a childish outburst, made in a moment of irritation, and later softened a bit by the claim that the criticism applied mostly to Republican newspapers. It merely reflected the annoyance that many newspapers are making an active fight against the Democratic Administration when Mr. Flynn believes they should be supporting the New Deal. It also reflects a fear that this support might possibly defeat the New Deal. This fear is more or less groundless, as was demonstrated in the last Presidential election when many newspapers supported Governor Landon in his unsuccessful race against President Roosevelt. As the Louisville Times pertinently asks: "Did the Kansas City Star carry Maine, and the Chicago Tribune Vermont?"

Newspaper support is of course valuable, but it is not nearly so important as many people seem to think. A candidate frequently wins in city election with the press solidly against him. This has happened many times in Memphis, for example, where Dr. Crump's machine has frequently won hands down against the united opposition of all Memphis newspapers.

But the charge that Mr. Flynn makes is more or less silly. Admittedly there may be some newspapers which are governed by financial and advertising interests, but these are so few that the proportion is relatively insignificant. As a matter of fact, there is little real desire on the part of financial interests to dictate to newspapers. The financial interests are interested primarily in making money and smart financiers learned a long time ago that any newspaper which is muzzled and tied up by such dictatorship will lose money steadily. When a newspaper loses money steadily and the general public becomes aware of this condition that newspaper loses whatever influence it may have had, and is looked on more or less indulgently by a public which understands the situation thoroughly. In other words, no newspaper can have and maintain influence which is even suspected of being governed by some backstage financiers.

As a matter of fact, the metropolitan press is quite big business itself these days and asks no favors from financial interests. Many times these large newspapers follow a course which is certain to bring public criticism and certain losses simply because the publishers feel that the course is the right one. The present attitude of the Memphis Commercial Appeal is a fair example of this. The Memphis publication is against a third term and has taken that position, solidly. Before the step was taken it was known that the public reaction would be unfavorable, and that losses might be expected. However, in taking that position the Memphis newspaper has continued to publish in full both sides of the campaign. There is no effort made to abridge any of the claims made by the Administration and the President's speeches are published in full along with those made by Mr. Willkie. The letters which the

HE WASN'T ACTING

Many who can remember thrilling to the deeds of daring performed by Tom Mix back in the days of the silent movies may be surprised to know that he never made any pretense of being an actor.

Tom Mix, however, did regard the great publicity that came to him as a large responsibility. Knowing that he was a hero to millions of youngsters, he was careful of his conduct on the screen and in public. He insisted that in none of his pictures would the script call for him to smoke a cigarette, enter a saloon unless he was pursuing the villain and the villain had gone there first, accept rewards for his good acts, shoot anyone without first being shot at, and so on. Mix wanted his pictures to portray moral lessons for his audiences and they did.

As for his acting ability, he really didn't have to have any. All he had to do to give a hair tingling performance was to conduct himself on the screen about as he did in real life. From his teens, Mix lived a vigorous, exciting and dangerous life. In turn he was a broco buster, soldier of war, sheriff, Texas ranger, world adventurer and circus performer. He did almost as much shooting off the screen as on and many of his real life experiences were actually more hazardous than those he performed in the movies.

Although the era in which Tom Mix rode highest has passed, the western thriller continues in popularity as something of a motion picture phenomenon. Apparently the passing of time does not affect it at the box office. Although no such scenes as these thrillers present can be duplicated in fact anywhere in the country, millions still thrill to them.

Never again, however, will there be a cowboy star who lived as completely as Tom Mix the role he played.—Richmond Register.

paper publishes each day from readers over the Mid-South show clearly that the attitude taken by the Commercial Appeal is an unpopular one, and we presume the editors knew this before they announced their opposition to the third term. The charge is made, of course, that because the chain which owns the Commercial Appeal is opposed to the New Deal the paper was ordered from the home office to oppose Mr. Roosevelt. Personally Mr. Flynn believes that charge, but it probably is not true. It is likely that the decision was made by the editors of the Commercial Appeal. They claim that, at any rate, and they are not the type men to deliberately lie about such things.

stress calls and the Chest wants to be ready for the first call.

It is planned this year to have a more rigid system of investigation and only one person who will issue the orders for food, medicine and clothing. Last year it was found that some duplication existed and plans are already being made to avoid that this year. Rigid investigation will be made of all cases which come before the board and all care will be taken to see that no unworthy persons receive help. This was a minor matter last year, but it is hoped to avoid all such conditions this year.

In the meantime, all contributions will be gratefully received by the Community Chest. Efforts are being made to see every person in the city, and these efforts will be continued, as at least fifteen hundred dollars will be needed to carry on the work this winter.

MOVIE DIRECTORS LEAN TOWARD BRUNETTES AS BEST BETS FOR STARDOM

Hollywood. —Gentlemen may prefer blondes but Hollywood directors picking the best bets for movie stardom lean toward brunettes.

Their selections disclosed today of the 13 "baby stars of 1940," include three blondes, three with auburn tresses and seven brunettes. The single alternate likewise is brunette.

Two of the choices were unanimous Joan Leslie of Detroit and Shelia Ryan of Topeka, Kas. Miss Leslie is 16 with auburn locks, weighs 116 and is five feet, four inches tall. Miss Ryan is 19, brownhaired, weighs 107 and is five feet two.

Striking an average, the composite starlet of 1940 has a 34-inch bust, 36-inch hips and 24 and one half inch waist. Shes almost 20, weighs 115, stands five feet, four and one-half inches.

KENTUCKY DRAFT BOARDS APPROVED

Louisville, Ky. —Kentucky's 165 local selective service boards were approved by Clarence A. Dykstra, national draft director, in one of his first acts upon assuming office.

At state selective service plan headquarters, it was estimated that between 300,000 and 350,000 Kentuckians, 21 through 35 years of age signed up last Wednesday. This was more than had been anticipated. Only about half of the 120 counties had reported and a state total was not compiled.

HOSTESS AT LOVELY CONTRACT PARTY FRIDAY

Outstanding in social events for this fall was the contract party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. B. O. Copeland at her attractive home on East State Line, when she entertained forty friends.

Ten tables were tastefully arranged about the rooms and decorations for the occasion were gift flowers from Mrs. Copeland's friends. Bouquets of snapdragons, dahlias and roses, in lovely autumn colors, were arranged in vases and bowls.

Among the forty players Mrs. Frank Brady held high score at the conclusion of a series of games and she was given a novelty China jar as prize. Mrs. Paul Workman, holding high score, received hose as prize, and Mrs. Harvey Maddox, consolation winner, was given a novelty bon-bon dish. Mrs. J. R. ## Trigg County Hi Wildcats Hand Bulldogs A Smashing Defeat

Fulton High's Bulldogs went down in a smashing defeat yesterday afternoon in Cadiz at the hands of the Trigg High Wildcats, the final score being 18 to 0. The Wildcats grabbed a first quarter touchdown after about six minutes of play and the half ended 6 to 0. As the third quarter opened, after a Wildcat ball carrier had apparently been trapped for a ten yard loss, he reversed his field, eluded four tacklers and went over for a touchdown. The final score came in the final quarter, when White attempted a pass on the Trigg 35 yard line. The ball was deflected as he threw, and a Trigg High man grabbed the ball and ran through the center of the line 60 yards for the final touchdown. All tries for conversion failed.

Little in praise of the local team can be said. The one bright spot in the game, from a Fulton standpoint, came in the waning minutes. With the ball barely in Trigg territory, White flicked a "sleeper" to Joe Treuss McCollom, who had quietly faded to the sidelines. Joe took the pass and almost carried it over for a touchdown. With only a yard or so to go for a touchdown, the gun ended the game.

The Bulldogs could not block and could not tackle. Time after time they seemingly had the ball carrier down, only to have him spin away and go for first downs and touchdowns. Blocking was even worse, and as for interference, it simply did not exist. At the beginning the boys did give a flash of power. Receiving, they took the ball for two first downs with utmost ease. A fumble stopped them at about midfield, and after that they never clicked for any sustained drives again. It was just one of those days when nothing worked right.

Two of the Trigg touchdowns stemmed from passes, and a lateral was the direct weapon which brought the first one. Trigg used a basketball pass, high over the line and coming down slowly, but a big end managed to outpace the Bulldogs when they tried to stop these passes.

Red Devils Win Over Bethel Team Last Night 40 To 6

The Red Devils of South Fulton had little trouble in conquering the Bethel college team last night at Southside Park, the final score being 40-6.

Royce Dyer, speedy little quarterback and sparkplug of the team, was on the loose again last night and many times crashed through the enemy lines for long gains. Scoring was easy for the South Fulton lads as they plowed through for six touchdowns. Luther, another backfield man who's hard to stop, turned in a good game.

Last night's game adds one more victory to the South Fulton winning streak, the Red Devils being undefeated so far this season. South Fulton has had an excellent record in six-man football, having lost only one game since its introduction last year at the Tennessee school.

This year for the first time in the history of the school, South Fulton has had an athletic field. The new Southside Park is quipped with lights and attendance so far has been large at the home games. Coach Jess Haynes has done remarkably well this season as coach.

The game last night was sponsored by the Young Men's Business club and the largest crowd of the season was present to see Jess Haynes' boys run over the Bethel six with little difficulty. A big parade was staged before the game with the South Fulton Band making its initial appearance marching downtown. The Clinton band was also present.
