Two Shot To Death In Weekend Incidents

The year's homicide rate continued to climb this week, as two persons were shot to death in arguments which developed over the payment of 50 cents and during a dice game.

Oscar Triplett, 37, of 285 East Burdock, was shot to death on Saturday night at 10:50 p.m. by one of his neighbors, Odie Lee Neely, 27, of 273 E. Burdock, while both were visiting at 273 E. Burdock.

Police said the two men had been arguing over 50 cents the victim borrowed from Neely's wife when Neely drew a pistol and fired, the bullet striking Triplett in the mouth. He was dead on arrival at John Gaston hospital.

Neely was arraigned in City Court on charges of murder and carrying a pistol.

In the second shooting, which occurred on Sunday at 6:55 p.m. Austin Smith, Jr., 26, of 703-D McKinley, was shot in the left side while visiting the El Continental cafe at 725 Walnut.

Charged on Monday in City Court with the slaying of Mr. Smith was Willie Carew, 67, of 874-H Porter st.

Police said that the shooting was the outcome of an argument which developed while the two were involved in a dice game.

Ben Whitney Back On Job With Police

Ben Whitney returned to his job as detective with the Homicide Division of the Memphis Police Department last Monday after an absence of about six months with the rank of detective.

Mr. Whitney resigned from the Police Department last May following the accidental shooting of Nathaniel Morris of 816 Randall.

Acting Chief of Police U. T. Bartholomew said the officer was put back to work because he was a "good man."

At the time of his resignation last May, Mr. Whitney was a lieutenant in the Homicide Division.

The victim, who refused to comment on the shooting while a patient in the hospital, has fully recovered and no legal action is contemplated.

Chief Bartholomew said the officer was reduced in grade because of the "element of carelessness in the accident."

Mr. Whitney has been with the Police department for 18 years and was one of the first Negroes employed as a policeman here.

Candidate And Manager Receive Phone Threats

Charlie F. Morris, Sr. candidate for councilman from District 7, and his campaign manager-wife, Mrs. Alma Morris, reported this week that they have been receiving threatening telephone calls since the recent election, advising Mr. Morris to withdraw.

"But whatever the case may be," Mrs. Morris said, "Mr. Morris is in the race to stay, not because of the pay, but because of his desire to serve his district and the City of Memphis."

Mr. Morris said the first crank call came about three months ago, and then ignored it, but the calls have been more frequent since the Oct. 5 election.

One of the callers was reported to have been a man, who said that Mr. Morris had done a wonderful job but it is now time for him to stop.

Recently, she said a woman called and said that if

Postmaster Commends Users Of ZIP Codes

Memphis mailers were commended today by Acting Postmaster Lydel Sims for their increased use of ZIP Codes during the last three months.

Mail checked in the Memphis Post office on September 16 showed ZIP Codes in 62.8 per cent of the mailing addresses on locally mailed first-class mail and in 78.6 per cent of the mailing addresses on air mail originating in Memphis. This compares with 50.2 per cent for first-class mail and 61.9 per cent for air mail on a Departmental test covering the use of ZIP Codes during the first six months of 1967.

In the Departmental test of mail in the nation's 75 largest post offices, the nationwide average was 53.7 per cent ZIP Codes in addresses on first-class mail and 64 per cent ZIP Codes in addresses on air mail. The substantial increase shown in the September test places Memphis above the national average in both first-class and air mail.

Mr. Sims asked all Memphis mailers to make ZIP Codes as much as addressing habit as writing the street and house number because ZIP Codes will work only if people use them.

"The codes are easy to obtain," Mr. Sims said.

Forms were sent to each home last month providing a free "ZIP-a-List" service for multiple addresses. Extra forms are available at all postal stations and branches, if needed.

All customers are urged to use these forms to add ZIP to their personal mailing lists.

ZIP Codes can also be obtained by calling the Post Office ZIP Code Information number (534-3451) by checking the National ZIP Code Directory in post office lobbies and at branches of the Memphis Public Library, and by checking the return address on most envelopes. Local ZIP Codes information is also available in the yellow pages of the Memphis Telephone Directory.

MARCHES HURTING

Slump In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Restaurants, hotels, builders and even Schlitz Beer, which is being boycotted by national civil rights groups, are beginning to cry for help after seven full weeks of open-occupancy housing marches in this city, even though there has been no concession to date for a municipal fair housing ordinance.

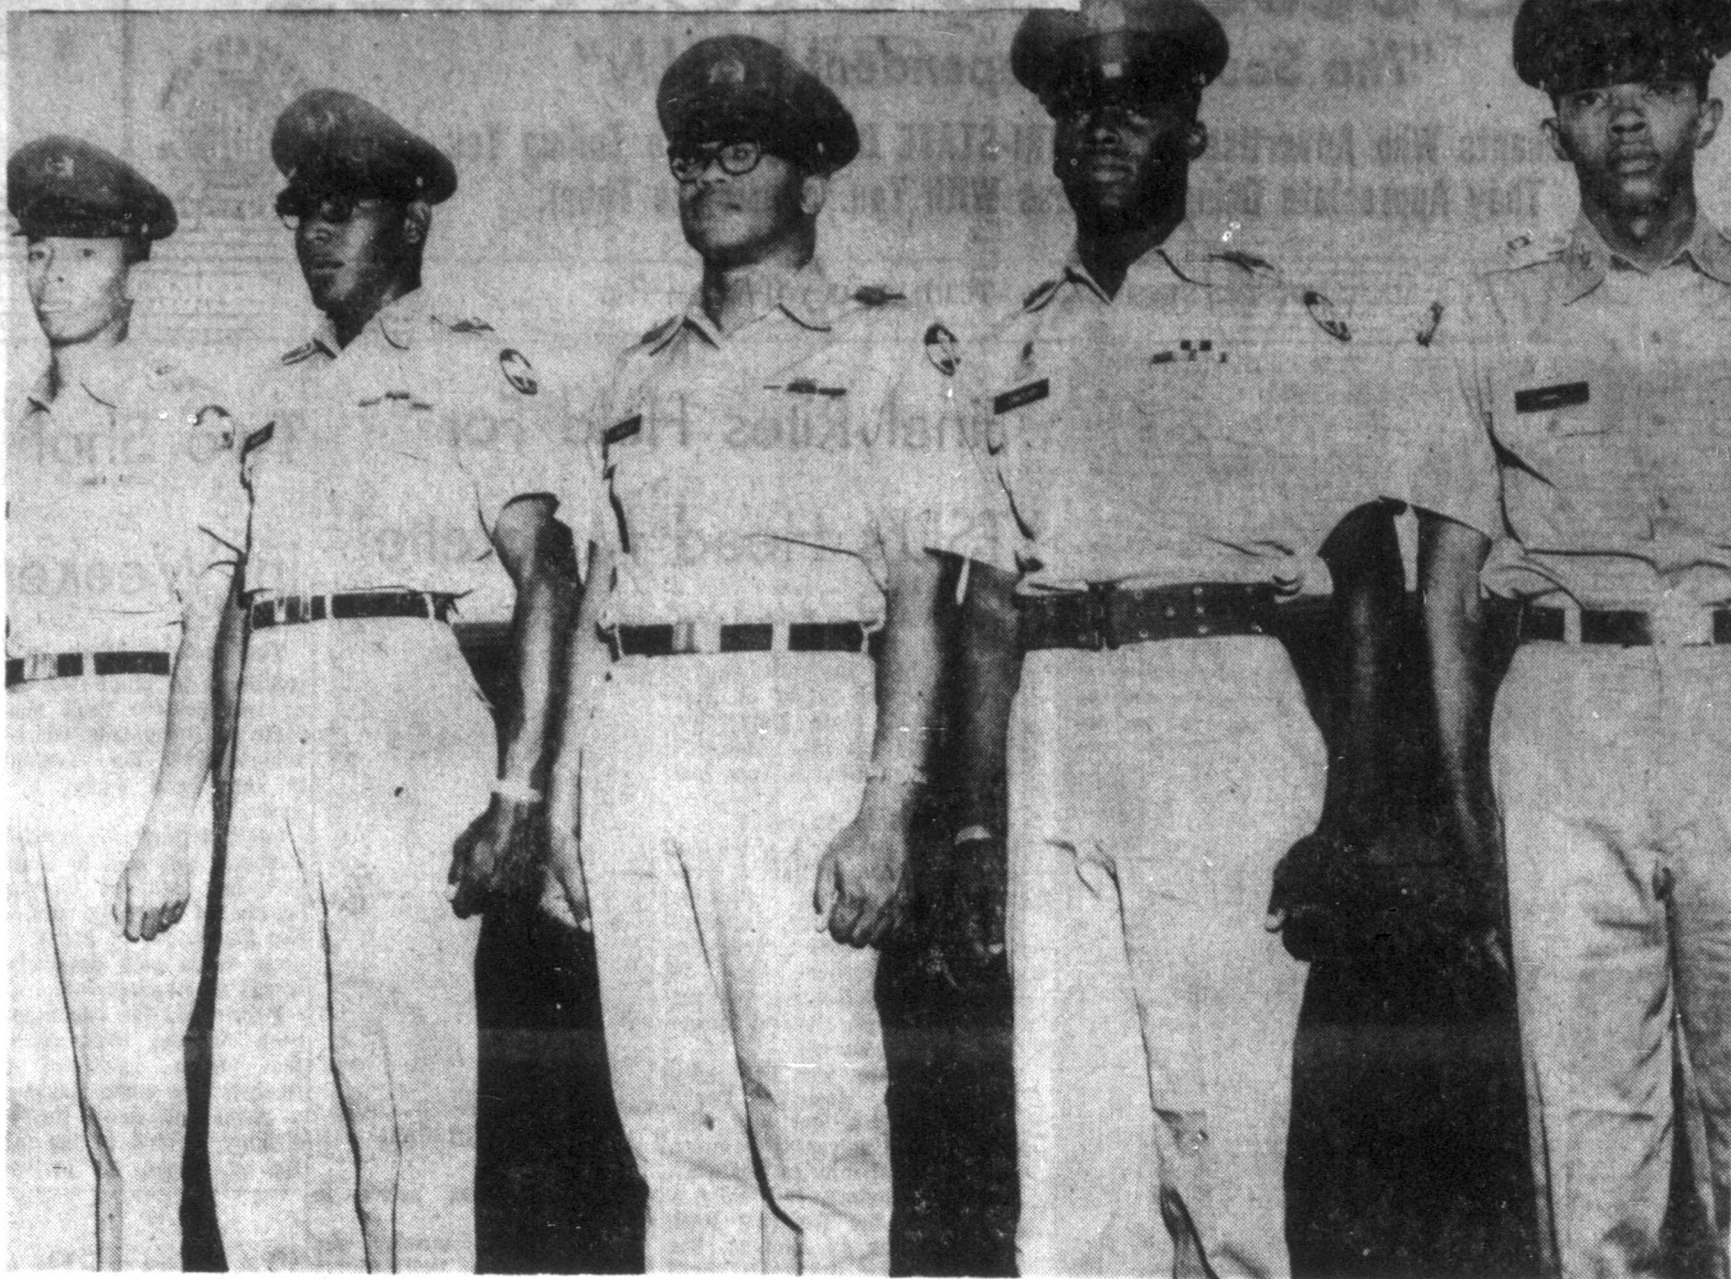

One-by-one the leaders of large business groups here are beginning to make public statements that the racial unrest here is starting to cause heretofore untold hardship.

All of this is because the housing marches began just about one month after this city had undergone numerous nights and days of rioting and looting.

When Negroes led by the its advisor, Father James Groppi, began to make their NAACP Youth Council and peaceful marches into nearby white neighborhoods, whites retaliated by massing by the thousands at intersections and belaboring the marchers with sticks, stones, bottles and other missiles and weapons.

Five A and T State University ROTC cadets have been awarded all-expense Army ROTC scholarships for the current school term. At attention are (from left) Ronald J. Tate, Morgantown, N. C.; Victor J. Russell, Reids-ville, N. C.; Frederick Lockley, Raleigh, N. C.; Robert G. Sinclair, Fayetteville, N. C. The cadets will also receive $50.00 per month.

SNCC Establishes Memorial Fund

Money To Pay School Costs For Rights Worker's Son

CHICAGO Illinois — A fund has been established by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee national office in memory of civil rights worker Ruby Doris Robinson, 28, of Atlanta, Ga., who died October 7 following a lengthy illness.

The fund will be used to educate Mrs. Robinson's 2-year-old son, Tenneth Toure.

Mrs. Robinson, a former executive secretary of SNCC, was one of the first activists in the sit-in movement, which resulted in her sitting out a 32-day jail sentence in Rock Hill, S.C. in 1961.

A memo from Atlanta SNCC reads: "Despite the many obstacles she encountered while participating in the struggle for black people, Ruby was able to maintain her family life and complete her college education from Spelman College in 1965. Her passing is especially tragic for those involved in the struggle for human rights and the liberation of black people. During her 7 years in the movement, she was the heartbeat of SNCC."

'Lost In The Stars' To Be Staged At Lane

"Lost In The Stars," Maxwell Anderson and Kurt Weill's musical adaptation of Alan Paton's noble novel, "Cry, the Beloved Country" will be presented by the touring Kaleidoscope Players, Tuesday evening, Oct. 24 at 8 p.m. in the Lane College Chapel. The show is being sponsored by the Division of Humanities.

When first presented on Broadway nearly 20 years ago, the critics were uniformly enthusiastic: "Out of a memorable musical drama," said Brooks Athinson, critic for the New York Times.

Featured in the Kaleidoscope production will be Levern Hutcherson as the Reverend Stephen Kumalo and Lucia Hawkins as Irina. Leslie Adams will be musical director and pianist. Levern Hutcherson has an impressive career as concert singer and actor.

He played the original "Joe" in Carmen Jones on Broadway and then sang the part for Harry Belafonte in the movie version. He has toured much of the world in Porgy and Bess and just last season sang Porgy for nearly one hundred performances on a coast to coast tour.

Lucia Hawkins has sung for two Presidents, appeared as soloist on Johnny Carson's Tonight Show, been featured singer at Radio City Music Hall and has given countless concerts in this country, Canada, and Europe.

Leslie Adams, who directs the music for the show and who is also the pianist for the tour, is a graduate of Oberlin College and California State College in Long Beach. His published compositions have been played by some of America's leading musicians.

"Lost In The Stars" tells the story of an old minister, high in the hills of South Africa, who searches for his wayward son in the ghettos of Johannesburg. When he finds him, and is confronted with stark tragedy, the old man almost breaks. His recovery and the drama of the story bring forth some of the most moving scenes in all theatre, filled with richness, beauty, and power.

Household Tip

After surface preparation, assembling tools, and spreading protective drop cloths, the fun of painting begins! Apply a layer of exterior house paint in your favorite color, starting at the top, and working to ground level. Be sure to check with your local reputable paint dealer to make sure your paint is the best possible coating for your home, and always read the manufacturer's instructions.

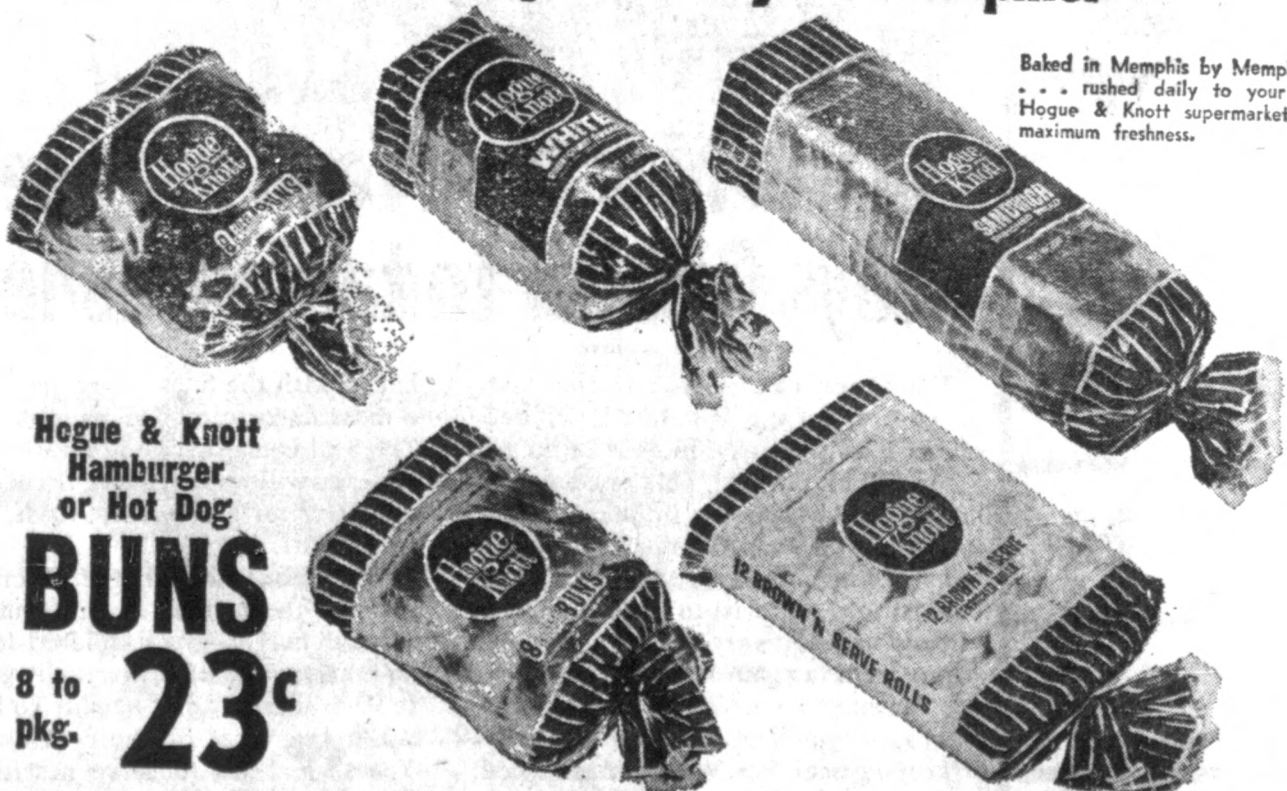

COMING TO LANE for the musical, "Lost In The Stars" are Levern Hutcherson, left, and Miss Lucia

Hawkins. The play is based on the novel by Alan Paton, "Cry, The Beloved Country."

SERVING 1,000,000 NEGROES IN THE TRI-STATE AREA

Marshall And The Court

Thurgood Marshall, who appeared 32 times before the U. S. Supreme Court as a pleader for racial justice, now takes his place besides the black-robed members of the court as an associate justice. It is a momentous occasion for the high tribunal which is already replete in historic antecedents, for the Negro people of whom Mr. Marshall is their first representative, and for democracy as a utilitarian concept.

The elevation of Solicitor-General Marshall to the Supreme Court comes at the most critical moment in the turbulent history of the relationship between black America and white America. The crisis grows more acute with each passing year and as Negroes become more and more impatient with the snail's-like pace of the progression toward civil rights. The quest for a solution becomes more burdensome and complex.

Introduction of the Black Power concept has engendered a sharp cleavage of opinion among civil rights leaders. And the question arises with much anxiety among white liberals as well as among those who believe in the preservation of status quo ante as to what the Negro wants. Is it integration or separation? For more than a quarter of a century, the overriding interest has been on integration.

The real split is between Negro organizations such as the NAACP and the National Urban League which have an interracial governing board and receive considerable benefactions from white philanthropists, and the new militant, highly vocal Negro groups who rally under the banner of black power and are not passing hats around for white donations. And furthermore, the latter group owes no obeisance to white folk.

The latter will countenance no half-way victory, no compromise formula and no deferment of judgment and action. This is a new generation of Negroes motivated by a new conception of right and justice.

Many of the civil rights cases that will be argued before the Supreme Court in coming years will be cases in which black power in one form or another will be at issue. The fundamental bases, of civil rights as constitutional prerogatives are now fairly well established. The movement that now occupies attention and which is blazing its way to the forefront of the battle-line is, indubitably, black power.

How Justice Marshall will react when that loaded question comes before the court is difficult to say. Mr. Marshall is above all a constitutionalist who has won 29 cases before the Supreme Court by basing his arguments on the rationale of the U. S. Constitution. It is therefore safe to infer that he believes in court action, in law and order rather than street demonstrations that often lead to physical confrontations. And he may join the conservatives on the court when Black Power militancy calls for his judicial opinion.

This is, of course, a mere assumption, but an assumption based on the laws of logical continuity. The new Justice may rightly feel that he was not placed on the court to defend or represent the Negro race. We suspect that he may prove disappointing to many who think he is permanently glued to civil rights. He is a conservative by temperament, discipline and experience. His attitude on the whole is pragmatic and the circumstances of his elevation to the high court may polarize his emotions toward a conservative-liberal philosophy.

The Supreme Court, from its genesis, has been the center of a storm. Justice Marshall cannot escape the fury of the storm. His position is a good deal more sensitive than that of any other member of the court. Only time will tell the direction of his judicial thinking.

KKK For Wallace

Skirting the civil rights question as gingerly as he is accustomed to doing, former Governor George C. Wallace of Alabama told a news conference at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute that he would continue to welcome the support of the Ku Klux Klan. He also said that in Alabama, at least, he was a segregationist.

Indeed, it is the anti-democratic forces in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and elsewhere in the deep south that are prodding Mr. Wallace to run for the Presidency on a Third-party ticket.

Strange to say there are among Southern white liberals some who are beginning to show their hands against Wallace and his presidential aspirations. Not that they are in sympathy with the cause of racial justice, but because they see in Wallace a serious threat to the cause of states' rights.

When a reporter for the student newspaper at V.P.I. asked him whether he was not hurting the cause of states' rights "because you are a segregationist."

World Food Problem

In an address before the National Convocation on World Hunger held the other day in New York City, Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said that there was no need to starve. The world food problem has been thoroughly discussed and publicized. President Johnson has called it one of the foremost challenges to mankind, while his Science Advisory Committee finds that "the subject has been treated so thoroughly ist who has not disassociated conservatism and segregation," Mr. Wallace replied that "I am not running on segregation — if I run."

"When they say that I've been associated with segregation in the schools of Alabama, I suppose they are correct," the former Alabama Governor said. "But I want every state to have a choice. I am not telling you how to run your schools. I'm running on states' rights."

Everyone knows that the motivating spirit behind states' rights is segregation. Mr. Wallace is indulging in fancy foot-work when he attempts to disassociate states' rights from segregation.

What is most encouraging about the Wallace movement is that the more it gathers steam, the more Negroes below the Mason and Dixon Line are determined to pool their political strength so as to become a major factor in next year's elections.

In orations and editorials during the past two decades that both its size and significance tend to be obscured by rhetorical overskill.

Many billions of dollars in foreign aid appropriations have been voted by Congress, while dozens of organizations and agencies have poured thousands of technicians into a, thus far, fruitless effort to bring food productivity into balance with population growth in the developing nations.

JACKIE ROBINSON

Replies To Hate Mail Senders

By JACKIE ROBINSON

The daily press has a habit of labelling the louder, more rabble-rousing and more sensation-minded Negroes "militants." I suggest some of the editors look the word up because, as they employ it, it is definitely a misnomer.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., recently told a newsman that he supposed what the newsman meant, in referring to some other leaders, was that they were "militant," rather than militant. Dr. King has clear title to this observation. For, non-violent though he may be, Martin King is one of the most militant men in the world.

I think it is high time that more of our middle class Negroes drop their "above the battle" role and become involved with the struggles of our masses.

We are allowing people a few and who and phil did did. We are allowing people who speak for a few and who project ideas and philosophy not shared by the majority, to take the stage and dominate the spotlight. I believe there are many of us of the middle class who can be as militant in the cause of our people as anyone else I consider it my duty to be so.

The Good Lord has showered blessings on me and this country and its people, white and black, have been good to me.

I have been very fortunate and I realize that I do not have the same problems as the masses of our people. But no matter how rich or famous I might become, no matter what luxuries or special privileges I might achieve, no matter how many powerful friends I might make, I would never be the man I want to be until my humblest brother, black and white, becomes the man he wants to be.

So I must be involved in our fight for freedom. I'd like to see many other middle class Negroes become so involved. It is not a simple or easy step. It might even be a dangerous one in view of the lunatics and fanatics lurking on the sidelines. I have been writing and speaking out about violence, about certain interpretations of Black Power with which I do not agree.

My mail has become enlivened with some pretty nasty letters, even some threats. Not too long ago, I received in the mail a card from a deck of playing cards the black ace of spades. The word "Ram" was inscribed on the card. I don't know whether it was the real thing from that group which drew a lot of publicity and the arrest of some of its members in an alleged plot to kill Roy Wilkins, Whitney Young and others. But I do know that I shall continue to write and say what I believe. I don't seek to be anyone's martyr or hero, but telling it like I think it is — that's the only way I know how to be me. (ANP Feature.)

Urban Tour Was Timely For Romney

WASHINGTON — Michigan Gov. George Romney's urban tour is a politically timely development — for him. It will give him an immediate rest from his most troublesome subject — Vietnam.

Romney came to Washington recently to explain his "brainwash" boo-boo. He emphasized he would not be holding regular news conferences with political reporters for some time. First, he'd be on his tour of cities, with little time for news conferences as he looked and listened.

After that, he said he has a special session of his legislature starting Oct. 10. Then after the mid-October National Governors Conference he plans a trip to Europe, and then, at Christmas time, he will be in the Far East.

Time heals many things. This is what the Romney camp is counting on. Romney can do nothing about events in Vietnam anyway. If the war drags on, any Republican presidential candidate will benefit, even if a surprise peace move develops before the GOP national convention next August. Romney can scarcely claim much credit for it.

In short, the less he says right now, the better. Especially in view of his own self-inflicted "brainwash" wound.

There is little doubt he hurt himself with his admission that he was "brainwashed" on Vietnam by administration officials when he and other governors visited Vietnam in 1965. The trouble was that Romney put all his associate governors on the spot with his statement. They could only be embarrassed by and reject such a charge, which they did.

ONLY IN AMERICA

How Times Have Changed At Tammany Hall

Years ago, when the satchems of Tammany Hall met in August in solemn session, if someone stuck his head in the door and shouted, "The saloon's on fire!" the place would be emptied forthwith.

Tammany, the Democratic party organization of New York, was not always populated by men from the prestige professions. But for several generations Tammany ran New York. It was a Tammany satchem who offered the definition between "graft" and "honest graft."

The difference I admit was subtle, a fine line, but nevertheless there. It is one thing to take a bribe from a man who wants a franchise; that's graft. It is another to fill your pockets with money from speculators who want to know every proposed stop for the subway system: that's "honest graft" because after all New York is getting another transportation complex.

But how times have changed. Last July, Tammany almost elected a woman as its leader. Her Name was Mrs. Ronnie Eldridge and she came within one vote of winning the majority. Lacking that vote, she withdrew, although she had Senator Robert Kennedy's backing. We can surmise that she withdrew because she thought that by losing she would endanger the Senator's prestige among the rank and file. Prestige is something Tammany takes seriously these days.

The new leader of Tammany is Frank G. Rossetti who wears a diamond ring on his finger so the old order not completely passeth. But passeth enough it does. Where Tammany was once populated by saloon keepers and others of mysterious staffed by lawyers and certified public accountants, professional if any employment, today it is men and women, some of the women almost professional enough to take complete charge of the party.

There is the difference: in the old days Tammany wielded complete power. It decided everything, from who would be mayor to who would be dogcatcher, from what corporation would furnish the girders for the George Washington Bridge to who would receive a license to open a pawnshop. Now it decides—nothing. Everybody is respectable and nobody decides anything.

The Republicans decide things today, men like John Lindsay whom nobody is more respectable. Of course, the answer for Tammany is not to fill up the ranks with the non-prestigious. It is impossible anyway. There are not enough of the non-prestigious to go around.

The answer today is charisma. The only trouble is charisma is where you find it; it blesses Republican and Democrat alike. There is no way "honest graft" can control it.

Free Lecture At Peabody

"Who is Your Brother's Keeper?" is the timely topic of a free one-hour lecture to be given on Thursday, Oct. 19, at 12 noon in the Venetian room of the Sheraton-Peabody hotel. The speaker will be Neil H. Bowles of Atlanta, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship. The public is invited.

WASHINGTON — Although there was little joy in some of the more-informed (?) political circles in D. C. when President Johnson revealed the identity of the members of the new City Council for the District, very few of the old Washingtonians had any objection. Rev. Walter Fauntroy, named vice-chairman; William S. (Turk) Thompson, widely known as one of the founders of the socially swinging Guardsmen; Mrs. Margaret (Peggy) Haywood, past National Grand Basileus of the Lambda Kappa Mu sorority; and Stanley Anderson, a veteran worker in the Recreation Department, have a substantial following in D. C. The lone unknown is Joseph P. Yeldell, who admits that he hasn't been active in civic affairs, but holds a responsible job with IBM. Fauntroy, alone, had to make a sacrifice. The personable young minister had to choose between his long time allegiance to Dr. Martin Luther King and the President's persuasion. With the "mayor" a Negro, Walter Washington, and five Brothers on the City Council, there is no question that Negroes have proper representation in the new D. C. governmental policy body.

THE FIRST PERSON to reach Cleveland's Carl B. Stokes (on the national level) after his primary victory was Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. HHH was dinner host to Stokes and his wife, recently in Washington. Flaxie Pinkett, the real estate broker who spearheaded a quickie luncheon for the Cleveland glamour candidate, reports that $2,500 was raised and sent along to him. Don't be surprised if President Johnson doesn't make an appearance in Cleveland before the November General Election for Stokes. LBJ will undoubtedly call for all of the warring ethnic groups in that town's Democratic party to come to the aid of Stokes to vote for the man—and not his race. . . . A gossip column in the District's newest newspaper bankrolled by the D. C. Transit Co., reveals that the daughter of Carl Rowan, former USIA head and now a syndicated columnist, has married a white man. The daughter, Barbara, is now Mrs. George Randels. It is reported that Rowan is part-owner of a house boat type restaurant that will be moored at the Marina in the Potomac River. And have you seen how much Rowan has been "identifying" in the past few months—safely, however, but identifying.

CHECKING THE HEADLINES: From the Jackson (Miss.) Advocate: Models. Wanted. Attractive young ladies to model for a new Negro adult magazine. Tan Cupid Dept. Baltimore, Md. . . . John Glenn, first astronaut to orbit the earth, on the Today Show: "The U. S. should spend its money on clearing its slums and its other problems before it takes off in space." From Phoenix Trib: "Johnson gets Funds For Study of Pornography." From a columnist's column: Describing a poster in the Sheriff's office in Niles, Ind. The broad back of a police officer, hand hovering over his gun and a fleeting youth in the background. The caption reading "Act and save the court costs." From the Ticker: Great Yarmouth, England—Sixteen holiday makers were marooned for three hours at the Barney Arms pub here by a high tide. They staggered away Thursday when the tide went out. . . . In Camarthen Wales, Tom Reynolds and Lizzie Davies, who were teenage sweethearts, met again 50 years later at Argel's Old People's Home here. Reynolds, 75, and Lizzie, 69, were married Thursday in Llanwry Church. . . . At Roosevelt, Indiana, schools were closed Thursday while Health officials fumigated buildings and buses for head lice.

WOT'S HAPPENING: The President's Commission on Civil Disorders will hold its first meeting in the States on Oct. 19 and 20 in Cincinnati. Nathan Johnson, a former assistant U. S. Attorney, will handle the hearing. Among the Commission members on the panel for the Cincinnati executive session will be Roy Wilkins. . . . There were plenty of raised eyebrows in D. C. at the news that Wiley Branton had quit his post as special assistant in the Justice Department to accept the $25,000 a year post as head of the United Planning Organization (UOP), the old town's poverty agency. Branton's intimates say that he accepted the post which was lower in status but higher in financial rewards because he was tired of paper shuffling. . . . Since the Hotline predicted that Ken Holbert would be out as Acting General Counsel of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in favor of a white person, the NAACP in Texas and the National Bar Association has sent wires of protest to the White House. Which leads us back to the rallying cry: Squirm, baby squirm!

To put it bluntly, Buddy, what are you worth beside your chemical content?

Minutemen Call Weapons Cache In Colo., A 'Plant'

DENVER —(UPI)— Illegal weapons found in the Colorado Rockies of Denver were "planted" among other arms as an attempt to "smear" the leader of the right wing "minutemen" organization, an official of the group said.

Edward Hass of Camden, N.J., state coordinator for Minutemen in New Jersey, made the charge from the organization's headquarters in Independence, Mo. His remarks were carried in a copyrighted story in the Denver Post. Hass said the illegal arms were brought by a Minuteman defector as an attempt to smear the name of Minutemen chief Robert Bolivar De Pugh. The Denver newspaper said an "informant" had led its reporters to caches of arms hidden in various points in the mountain areas. A number of weapons were found, including an illegal sawed-off shotgun, dynamite and plans for the shotgun and the machinegun plans were planted by persons unfriendly to the organization. He said a "team" of men from the organization had brought rifles and other equipment into the area, but said the main purpose of the visit to the state was to write a book on guerrilla warfare and to map the mountain area as a possible operations base in the event of a Communist takeover of the country.

"With De Pugh set for trial next month," Minutemen wouldn't risk the adverse publicity that would follow an illegal weapons charge or disclosure that they had brought explosives or machine gun plans into the state, Hass said.

De Pugh is free on bond pending an appeal of a four-year prison sentence for violation of the National Firearms act.

ERMA LEE LAWS

"Think Back—Often a retrospect delights the mind." Dante

On the Club Circuit...The week-ends are strictly devoted to club meetings and the gals get out their best and get together for glorious times. Somehow we got our wires crossed and thought Euralia Fletcher's meeting was Friday instead of Saturday and there we were all dressed twenty-four hours in advance. It's great to have good friends who'll come to your rescue and since we were all keyed to go out, Tillie and Harold Whalum took us to dinner at the Embers.

Anyway Euralia entertained the PATS in grand style just as she had planned down at her picturesque retreat in Herndon. Costumed in blue and green hostess pants she pleasantly greeted the girls who had tall tales about getting lost. This was soon a forgotten subject when Mollie Fields arrived in her blue silk suit and blue stockings with the floral designs which were really saying something.

Twas an impromptu fashion show when each girl arrived. Ezzelle Parks wore white, Thelma Miller black and white, Wilhelmie Thompson blue, Hazel Lee, a white sweater knit. She was talking about her trip to Florida where she attended a social workers meeting during the cocktail fashion hour; Ethel Isabel's cheeks were rosy from her bright red dress; Hattie House, wore blue, Julia Woodard green knit was most becoming; Shirley Johnson was in a blue knit with green running along the sleeves and hemline; and Lucy Johnson wore white.

After enjoying the catered turkey dinner it was time to turn to bridge and prize winners were Lucy, a set of pink floral towels, Ethel, a corn server set and Julia a purse set.

Guesting and winning prizes were Eddie Rideout, a blue floral towel set; she wears white very well, Sallie Bartholomew in blue and winning a corn server set; Fannie Johnson in orange, Jewel Hulbert in black and white, Cora Smith in red, and yours truly who just has to brag that we almost won the second prize! 'Tis a good feeling to be in the running and many thanks to some good partners.

Saturday night is also bridge session night for the Cardettes and Joyce Pinkston was their hostess at her home on Norris Road. These girls were vying for such bounty as silver trays and fortunate enough to claim them were Elene Phillips and Bernice Williams, whose brother Howard is Joyce's handsome mate.

After it was apparent that they had not come into the winners' category, Ethel Bell, Annie Bell Saunders, Dot Tugle, Rita Olive and Maria Pinkston, another sister-in-law of Joyce who was fill in began to reflect on the scrumptious dinner of Cornish hens, and other delicious et ceteras which Joyce would like to say she prepared but didn't. Mind you she can claim she did bake the pound cake which the girls found to be mouth watering good.

Mary Bradley was hostess to the LaVogue Bridge set Friday evening at her home on Waverly and served them turkey with all its trimmings.

She gifted prize winners Warren Hawkins, Othella Shannon, Sadie McCoy and guest Martha Flowers with whimsy lingerie, cologne, and a purse set. Other members of the coterie on the scene were Bernadine Holmes, Mattie Ward, Cora Smith, Larcenia Cain, Ardenia Herndon, Beecher Dobbs, Dora Todd, and Bertha Johnson.

Invited for the evening were Ophelia Vampelt, Fannie West, Margaret Goodloe, Ethel Isabel, St. Ivory Jeans and Lillian Thompson.

Back to the Saturday bridge fests, Thelma Harris was holding sway with the Sequins at her home in Fuller State Park and partaking of the prime roast beef catered supper the girls turned their attention to their favorite card game—BRIDGE.

son, Juanita Crenshaw and Gloria Howard are aglow over their pretty powder room accessories, all in various shades of pink. Mildred Williams came in for the booty, a hurricane lamp.

Also driving out for the pleasant evening were Almazine Davis, Jessie McNeely, Helen Prater, Margaret McWilliams, Ruth Mims, Ester Brown, and Bertha Johnson filling in for absent members.

And Minnie Mae Woods was playing the role of hostess to her bridge mates in SKC Saturday night also at her home on Fay. Minnie Mae, who teaches home economics and could easily hang out her shingle, served the femmes creamed turkey in a rice ring, French bean casserole, tomato and vegetable salad, hot rolls and coffee and some of the best homemade peach ice cream to boot.

After satiating themselves it was time for the game and winning prizes of hand lotion and dusting powders were Louise Davis, Gertrude Walker and Juanita Arnold.

Also on hand were SKCs Julia Hopkins, Alma Booth, Melba Briscoe, Charlesteen Miles and Mildred Crawford.

Guests were Addie Jones, who won first prize, and Martha Flowers, Bertha Ray, Lula Pope, Bernice Barber and Rosalind Hayes, who were all pleasantly surprised with gifts of lotion from their hostess.

Lavonia Deberry and Helen Green were co-hostesses to the Rubaiyats Friday evening at the Flame Restaurant. These girls don't play serious bridge but odd little games and are always racking their minds for something original. They've had mini skirt club meetings with prizes going to the girl

49th Straight Rights March In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Some 350 open housing advocates led by the Rev. Groppi marched through a light rain Sunday in the 49th consecutive night of demonstrations.

The column struck out following a rally at St. Boniface Catholic Church. Newsmen were barred from the rally.

Father Groppi, the white Roman Catholic priest who sparked the series of marches which began Aug. 28, was in the lead. He was accompanied by comedian Dick Gregory.

The march came on the eve of a scheduled public hearing on the controversial open housing issue before the city's Common Council. The hearing will be held against a backdrop of earlier racial rioting and the marathon marching by the tough-footed civil rights militants.

The alderman will consider three proposals.

One was offered by Mrs. Vel Phillips, the council's only Negro member. It would make discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing strictly on the basis of race illegal in the city.

Mayor Henry Maier has offered a similar ordinance, but one which would apply only after 14 surrounding suburbs adopted similar measures. Maier has said a city-only ordinance would send whites fleeing to the suburbs.

The third measure was offered by Alderman Robert Dwyer. It supports open housing in principle, but endorsed voluntary methods of achieving it.

Ex-Rutgers Star Signs ABA Pact

TEANECK, N.J. —(UPI)—Bob Lloyd, an All-American guard at Rutgers who led the NCAA in foul shooting last season, has signed an American Basketball Association contract with the New Jersey Americans, it was announced Sunday.

Lloyd, who originally signed a contract with the National Basketball Association's Detroit Pistons but failed to make the team, was obtained by the Americans in a trade with the Pittsburgh Pipers, who receive a future New Jersey draft choice.

Pittsburgh had obtained the rights to Lloyd in a trade with the Minnesota Muskies, who drafted Lloyd last winter. Lloyd, a 6-foot-1 marksman, was the highest scorer in Rutgers history and set a National Invitation Tournament record by scoring 129 points in four games last March.

To Be Equal

By WILLIAM YOUNG JR.

Flight From Responsibility

One of the most publicized aspects of the current scene is the "hippie" movement. The sight of thousands of young people, most of them from middle-class homes, dropping out of society for a life of bohemian irresponsibility is widely reported and discussed.

A notable example of this movement is that they are rejecting the values of their middle-class parents. I wonder, in some ways they remind me of their parents' irresponsibility. Hippies, for example, say they want no part of politics. While they are superbly intelligent and without overt prejudice themselves, they say they don't care about the Negro's efforts to secure equality. Meaningful social action doesn't concern them.

How does this differ from their parents' attitudes? They too, reject involvement in society's problems. They too, including many who say they are "liberal," have abandoned meaningful effort to join with Negroes to secure a better society. So in this respect at least, both the hippies and their middle-class parents don't want to become involved in the world around them. The hippies "drop out," their parents just turn their backs.

One hippie told a reporter: "When this many people decide a society is worthless, it's something to think about." He should have said: "When so many people decide a society is worthless, they should work to change it into something better, rather than running away from it."

It's too bad these youngsters don't share the idealism and courage of the thousands of young men and women who also turn their backs on middle-class values, or lack of them, to work in the slums and ghettos to help war on poverty. It is disturbing that they don't get a tenth of the publicity given to the hippies. In fact the whole war on poverty effort is under attack from citizens seeking to escape from responsibility.

Some of the things I've heard about the anti-poverty effort sound very much like excuses not to support it. One such comment is that the war on poverty doesn't matter because riots occurred in cities like Detroit, which got all the federal money it wanted.

I don't know how that idea got around. The Office of Economic Opportunity, which administers the war on poverty, said Detroit only got 14 per cent of the funds it asked for. Some big cities got even less; New York only got a I've also heard stories about daughters who reject their parents, but rebel in such a way that they most resemble them.

All of this goes against the traditional picture of the American as the man who sees problems as things to be solved and overcome, not run away from nor resisted. Fortunately, the ranks of those who are concerned about our country are growing. Many people who were indifferent are now becoming involved in the fight against racism.

It has been said that crisis brings out the best in people. I have high hopes that our urban racial crisis will bring out the best in Americans of all political creeds and opinions.

SPORTS HORIZON

JACKSON, Miss. — Football is a business at Jackson State College, according to head coach Rod Paige. The methodical-like manner the Mississippians went about staging a 3-0 upset over Southern University here last Saturday night made believers out of approximately 5,600 fans who packed the outdated campus stadium. On Saturday night Jackson is looking for its largest crowd in history when Grambling, the front runner in the Southwest Athletic Conference, risks its unbeaten record of 5-0. The homecoming battle will be under the lights at the 46,000-seat Jackson Memorial Stadium.

JSC DEFENSE STINGY

The first half last Saturday was a scoreless defensive dogfight with both teams fighting on nearly even terms. Southern held a slight statistical edge, outrushing Jackson 78 yards to 72 and chalking up one more first down with six. The pass completions were counted as three each with Southern getting 23 yards and State registering a mere 15. The turning point of the game came near the end of the first half when the Jackson line, after being pushed to within a half yard of its goal line, made one of the most courageous defensive stands that you will see in a grid contest. Led by 230-pound guard Percy Griffin and 290-pound tackle Carey Richards, Jackson stopped the Southern scoring threat and shy of paydirt with 3:27 showing on the clock in the first half. Jackson gained momentum from the efforts of its defensive unit and completely monopolized the second half play. While throwing away several scoring chances, the toe of senior James Hartsfield settled the issue when the local product split the uprights with a 24-yard field goal at 7:12 in the third period. Moments later Jackson had the ball deep in Southern territory, but when the Jaguars' defense stiffened at the seven yard line Hartsfield's field goal attempt was blocked by oncharging linemen.

GAMBLE BACKFIRES

Southern barely missed tying game when Jackson gambled on fourth down with inches to go for the first down near mid-field. The Jaguars were enroute to capitalizing when the drive was stalled at the JSC 26. The field goal attempt by Southern was long enough but off inches to the left. Favored Southern, faced with the possibility of losing to Jackson for the first time here at Alumni Field and only the second time in history, mustered a last ditch drive in the waning minutes of the game.

Taking over on their own 41, the Jaguars began to move on two straight pass completions by Joe Williams. Williams was off balance and his jump pass was picked off by Dick Harvey on the Jackson 26.

Smelling victory State ran the clock out. Coach Paige was carried from the field on the shoulders of two of his happy gridders. It was a big win for JSC, especially since Southern had downed once-beaten Arkansas AM&N the week before. Arkansas owns a convincing win over Jackson. Jackson finished the night with 21 first downs to 19 for Southern and the game's leading rusher, 165 pound John Outlaw of Clarksdale, Miss. Outlaw carried for 21 times and a net gain of 133 yards. Joe Holmes was the top Jaguar ground gainer with 85 yards. In other SWAC action Arkansas downed Wiley 31-3, and Grambling mauled Mississippi Valley 68-0.

A&I VS. FLORIDA A&M

Jake Gaither will lead his Florida A&M Rattlers into Nashville Saturday with the hopes that his team can keep the skids under Tennessee A&I. John Merritt's Big Blues hold two consecutive wins over Florida, a feat few coaches can boast of pulling off on Gaither coached elevens. An opening loss to San Diego was followed by an easy victory over North Carolina A&T, however, A&I didn't stay on the victory trail very long. Texas Southern pulled a 14-10 surprise in Houston and two weeks ago A&I fought to the bitter end with tough Grambling before succumbing 27-24. A large crowd is expected as the Rattlers and A&I are bitter rivals. Much interest is centered around the performances of the two school's highly regarded marching bands.

for a student chapter of ASCE at Tennessee State University to Richard Greene, president of the campus organization during recent initiation ceremonies.

Looking on are Dr. Louis Mishu, faculty advisor for the chapter, and Walter H. Dabney, dean of the School of Engineering.

ASCE Student Chapter Established At State

NASHVILLE — Future Civil Engineers at Tennessee State University were recognized by the American Society of Civil Engineers last week when a student chapter of the society was chartered. Initiation ceremonies for some 25 young men took place during a banquet held on the campus. Dan Barge, National Director of ASCE, addressed the group on "The Values of Participation in Student Chapter Activities."

The charter was presented by Richard Patton, president of the Nashville chapter of ASCE, and was received by the president of the student organization, Richard Greene, a senior from Nassau, New Providence, the Bahamas.

Other officers for the new student chapter at TSU are Ramond Martin, a junior from Cleveland, Tennessee, vice president, and Floyd Moore, junior from Covington, Tennessee, secretary-treasurer. Tennessee State University becomes the 146th college and university with a student chapter of ASCE on its campus. The ASCE is the largest technical society and the oldest of its kind in the United States with a membership of over 57,000 and a student enrollment of over 12,000.

Viridon Named To Pirates' Staff

PITTSBURGH —(UPI)—Bill Viridon, one of the greatest defensive centerfielders in Pittsburgh Pirate history, was named Tuesday as batting and outfield coach of the team.

The announcement was made by Larry Shepard, appointed last Friday as field manager, just before leaving for the Dominican Republic on an exhibition tour with the Pirates.

Viridon ended his playing career with the Pirates at the end of the 1965 season. The following season he was manager of Williamsport (Pa.) team in the Class A Eastern League. The team finished fourth.

During the past season Viridon piloted Jacksonville (Fla.) to a fifth place finish in the Triple A International League.

In 1955 Viridon was named the National League's Rookie-of-the Year when he played with the St. Louis Cardinals. In the previous year he hit .333 with Rochester to lead the International League batters.

The Pirates sent outfielder Bob Delgreco and pitcher Dick Littlefield to the Cardinals in May, 1956, in exchange for Viridon. Viridon hit .319 in 157 games with Pittsburgh.

"Viridon is very intelligent and articulate and is one of the hardest workers I have ever known," Shepard said.

Earlier, Shepard appointed Don Leppert as catching and bullpen coach and signed Alex Grammas, a holdover from the Harry Walker regime, as third base and infield coach.

Grammas was appointed in 1965 to the coaching staff which included John Pesky, Hal Smith and Clyde King.

Matthew Alexander Henson (1866-1955)

The first man to set foot on the top of the world.

The signs of a true adventurer showed up early in the life of Matthew Henson. At the ripe old age of thirteen, Henson shipped out as cabin boy on a schooner bound for China.

When he returned to Washington, D. C., he met the man who helped make him famous. The then Lt. Robert E. Peary discovered Matt Henson working in a Washington hat shop. Peary was immediately impressed by Henson, and he invited the young man to join a canal-surveying expedition to Nicaragua. Henson accepted.

Under Peary's tutelage, Matt Henson became an able navigator, adept at calculating distances and plotting charts. A short time later, Peary began his renowned arctic expeditions to locate the North Pole, and Henson accompanied the admiral on all seven trips.

On the final trip, Peary lay drained from exhaustion and crippled by frostbite. Someone had to make the last dash to the Pole, and fast, since a number of nations were vying for the claim.

Matt Henson was the man. Trudging the last painful miles, recording observations and calculating a true course, Matthew Alexander Henson became the first man to locate and stand on the North Pole. Peary arrived forty-five minutes later, and, together, the men planted the American flag.

No longer was Matt Henson an obscure adventurer. He was given a Congressional Medal, life membership in the Explorers' Club, a commendation from the President, a Master of Science degree by Morgan State College, and numerous medals and plaques from civic organizations.

April 6, 1959, the 50th anniversary of the discovery of the North Pole, was proclaimed by the governor of Maryland as Matthew Alexander Henson Day. Fitting tribute to the first man ever to stand on the top of the world.

The smart use of space available and the extensive use of colorful ceramic tile can turn an ordinary kitchen into a homemaker's dream.

AME Laymen Adopt 10-Point Program

By E. P. WALLACE

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Laymen of the African Methodist Episcopal Connection, have adopted a 10-point recommendations, which, if accepted and approved by the general church will be a bulwark to the life of Methodism.

The recommendations were made by J.D. Williams of Kansas City, Mo., to the Laity, in the presidents' annual address, during the 10th biennial session of the Connectional Laymen's Organizations held recently in New Orleans. Williams is president of the organized Laymen of the Connection, which boasts a membership of more than 800,000.

He pointed out that many people have stopped "playing church," and were now ready to break through the barrier for God, and are attempting to roll back legislation which has burdened the church.

"I recommend that we have only one head for our Missionary Department, and that we receive more for our Missionary dollar," Williams said. "The Campbell College situation should be brought to a head at once. The Connectional Church should have a radio hour or television hook-up. We should redistrict and consolidate the Episcopal Districts in the domestic field, so that there will be 10, instead of 13. We shall continue the coalition meetings.

"The Presiding Elder's salary should come from the Connectional budget. All Bishops' Council meetings should be open to the public — just as congressional and United Nations sessions are. We should have Connectional Headquarters.

"In the local church, trustees should be nominated from the floor during the church conference, and the laity and ministry should work together in such harmony that the world shall marvel at this united front and shall be inspired to join this Christian movement."

The speaker received standing ovations from the more than 1,500 delegates, fellow laymen and clergy in attendance. Their endorsement sent the recommendations on to the general conference which will convene in Philadelphia next May.

Put Your Feet In Winner's Circle

This fall, male shoe-buyers are once more looking to the rich-looking slip-ons, look at leather that's rugged, handsome and he manly: cordovan. Men have long found cordovan a tough tannage that stands up in foul weather and fair.

A unique leather, cordovan is made from the "shell" layer of horse butts. Called "fascia," it is a membranous substance found between the hide and flesh of the rump. Although this leather was first made in Cordoba, Spain many centuries ago (hence the name "cordovan"), the best cordovan leather is now tanned in the United States from the butts of unbranded horses from the U.S., Argentina and other horse-breeding countries.

A shoe crafted from out-of-the-ordinary cordovan leather is exceptionally sturdy, one that will wear well under the most punishing treatment and come up gleaming when polished. For this reason, notes Leather Industries of America, cordovan usually shows up in men's footwear — and has been a campus classic with collegians for generations.

Fall '67 cordovan shoe styling concentrates on the basic plain-toed oxford to show off the burnished beauty of the leather. However, the brogue oxford with perforations, pinking and elongated wing-tip is also a favorite in hearty cordovan.

Two St. Louis Clerics Fight Ouster; Cite Racial Stand

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Two Episcopal clergymen closely associated with the civil rights movement here said they have been asked to resign by Bishop George L. Cadigan of the diocese of Missouri.

They are the Rev. Walter W. Witte Jr., rector of St. Stephen's Church, and the Rev. William L. Matheus, curate of the church.

Both clergymen are white. Their parish located in a Negro section of St. Louis near the Darst-Webbe housing project. They have participated in several demonstrations and on Oct. 6, the Rev. Mr. Witte was arrested during a protest against the annual veiled prophet parade and ball.

The clergymen said that Bishop Cadigan informed them in separate letters that the Rev. Mr. Witte would be expected to resign by June 1, 1968, and the Rev. Mr. Matheus by Jan. 1, 1968.

The ministers said they told the bishop in a personal conference that they would not resign and have retained lawyers to defend their canonical rights.

In a statement, Bishop Cadigan said, "It is a matter of personal regret that a difficulty between the rector of St. Stephen's Church and his bishop has reached the press. Between ourselves and for some time there have been misunderstandings about procedural matters and the seeming inability of Mr. Witte to relate to the program of the diocese."

The statement said, "the stance of the Episcopal diocese of Missouri on the issues of racial reconciliation has always been one of leadership."

The Rev. Mr. Witte said he and the Rev. Mr. Matheus have been asked to resign because of their "involvement in the freedom movement, particularly with the organization action, and because they have involved the parish youth in civil rights programs."

He said another reason has been their "continued protest against the Veiled Prophet parade and Ball (the annual society highlight of the year in St. Louis) as a discriminatory institution." He said, "it is an institution which involves many Episcopalians of wealth and position who are friends

Anti-Poverty Bill Drafters Weed Out 'Undeserving'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — controversial section of the Bill — the extent of control over local poverty programs that should be given to governors and mayors.

Democrats as well as Republicans on the panel remained divided on the control issue and decided to make it the last order of business after the rest of the bill is drafted.

The committee then voted 17 to 9 to accept an amendment by Rep. Hugh Carey, D-N. Y., to exclude from poverty programs persons able to work but who refuse to seek or accept employment.

Carey pointed to testimony in earlier hearings by welfare workers that there was a segment of "voluntary poor" sharing in the poverty program, persons who refuse to take a job, Carey called them "stowaways in our poverty program."

Rep. William Ford, D-Mich., warned that the proposal might bar some deserving poor persons from getting aid and Carey agreed to reword his amendment to apply only to those who "refuse without good cause to seek and accept employment commensurate with their age, health and education."

Far-Out Leather Gloves

Are 'A Put On' For Fall

New far-out leather gloves available in more than 1,000 colors and color combinations, "put on" of the season.

Leather gloves have become a fun accessory, as well as an elegant one, notes Leather Industries of America. New leather finishes, punchy openings, hardware, appliques and other trim all contribute to the clean breezy look of the latest gloves. Leather highlights of this frisky collection include kid, deerskin, suede, pigskin, cape and doeskin textures.

Slip your fingers into the brassy beauty of leather shorties with giant zippers up the back. A length of chain at the wrist. Brass studs forming a cuff. To join the "sports carset," all it takes is a racy pair of leather gloves well-ventilated with perforations, cur-away backs or knuckled openings — or simulated openings that are really oval appliques of colorful patent leather. Other touches that add dash to daytime gloves include side lacings, single and double straps, and stitched-on patches or mini-pockets.

But just as important is "livability," for a kitchen with a plain, laboratory look about it is not only dull, but can be downright depressing for the homemaker who must work in it.

Ceramic tile can be used to give a kitchen "livability." It's

There is no more gala glove for a gala evening than the long creamy kid, doeskin or suede leather gauntlet reaching anywhere between elbow and shoulder. For that, "extra" touch, some of these are embellished with fur, pearls or feathers. Jeweling beads embroidery or fur also adorn the shorter four and six-button lengths in leather dress gloves.

If you fancy lined gloves, you'll find finger-slim styles with silk, orlon and wool-linings. To ward off the icy clutch of sub-freezing temperatures, seek the snugness of fur or shearling-lined gloves.
