BULLDOGS START PRACTICE SESSIONS

Although school does not open until next week, members of the Fulton High School football squad, were on hand this week to study plays and start practice sessions, in order to get ready for the season ahead. Coach Jack Carter stated this week.

The bulldogs are minus five lettermen this year: Joe Beadles, at quarterback; Harold Peeples at center; Jack Parker at fullback; Elsworth Crawford and W. L. Wraith at end. However, seven old players are back in the line-up, three in backfield and four in the line. They are Bobbie Snow, Robert Keelling, L. H. Cooke, Dane Lovelace, P. B. Nanney, Billie Williams, Charles Thomas.

The following men are out for positions on the Bulldog team: Thomas Edwards, Howard Armbruster, Fred Brady, George Boyd Crawford, ends; Bobbie Snow, Robert Keelling, Jack Wygal, Clyde Hill, tackles; L. H. Cooke, Dane Lovelace, Albert Moss, Jimmie Lewis, guards; Robert Keelling, Gerald Stockdale, Bobbie Snow, center; P. B. Nanney, Billie Williams, Chas. Thomas, Clyde Williams, Ernest Hancock, Chas. White, Carl Buckingham, backfield; David Horra and Tate Crawford.

Although the backfield may be weakened by the loss of Beadles and Parker, some of the new or second year players may develop into outstanding performers. With the present squads out for berths in the line, there is every indication that it will be even stronger than it was last season, and Coach Carter is looking forward to a good year for the Bulldogs.

HAPPINESS OR MISERY??

"What of a deficit?" This was the question asked of a Western governor. The laconic reply was: "It's the difference between happiness and misery."

It is a tragic fact that more public officials are not farsighted enough to envision the consequences of a program of bigger and bigger deficits.

Not long ago the Federal government attempted to make a slight reduction in the relief rolls. What happened? Governors from six states "marched" on Washington with the demand that Federal largess be continued unabated. Surely these governors realized the necessity of getting the Federal financial house in order. Surely they realized that the public debt has doubled in a few short years. Surely they realized that "deficit financing" by the Federal government cannot continue indefinitely. And surely they must have realized the plain fact, as so aptly stated by the Western governor, that continued deficits will only result in misery—misery for all the people.

AUTOMOBILE PARKING HAZARDS

A bulletin recently issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters points out that automobile parking on streets is becoming one of the greatest menaces to effective fire service. This is particularly true in business and manufacturing districts, and around apartment houses and theatres.

The hazards of parking are evident. Ladder and rescue work may be retarded because of the inability of equipment to get near a burning building. Hydrants may be obstructed, and alarm boxes hidden from view. Increased traffic congestion may prevent fire apparatus from getting through without long delay. The chance of traffic fatalities is increased.

The smaller towns and cities of the nation should pay attention to this problem, as well as the metropolises. Indeed, in smaller towns double-parking and disregard of hydrant zones is usually more flagrant than in well-policed large cities. Many a fire that could have been quickly controlled, had parked cars not hampered fire action may prevent fire apparatuses for blaze.

"LEND A HAND"

This year Fire Prevention Week will be observed from October 3 to 9. The slogan for the week, featured in posters and news releases issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, is "Lend a Hand."

This slogan is particularly apt. For if fire is to be prevented and controlled—and the hundreds of millions of dollars and thousands of lives fire destroys each year, are apt to be saved—all of us must lend a hand. Fire is largely an individual problem—each one of us with the exercise of a little effort and care, can easily eliminate the common hazards on our property.

Fire Prevention Week is about a month away—but no one need wait for it. It is a simple matter to put on an individualized fire prevention period of your own, starting today. How long has it been since you cleaned out basement and attic—old newspapers, furniture, clothing and other odds and ends that are prolific sources of fire? In a few months maximum demands will be made upon your heating plant—before then, have it inspected by an expert, and if necessary, repair and replace parts. Remember that amateur electrical repairs may be the cause of turning your home into a heap of ash and wreckage, unless properly installed and inspected. Yes, it's always time to "Lend a Hand" when fire is involved.

COVER CROPS

There were over three million acres of land that was in cultivated crops in this state last year that was sowed to a cover crop during the fall and winter. This land experienced one of the worst winters in many years for erosion.

The loss of soil can easily be seen but the leaching process is almost if not as destructive cannot be seen. Tests at the Experiment Station show that where lespedeza that was left standing lost 86 per cent of nitrogen per acre but when disked and sowed to wheat and barley only two pounds of nitrogen were lost.

Since it has been almost impossible to break wheat land until now, why not disk the lespedeza field and seed to barley for an early winter pasture and grain crop next year.

Experiments also show that wheat seeded in November and December have practically no value in preventing the loss of nitrogen by leaching.

A mixture of one bushel of barley and ten pounds of crimson clover sowed in cotton and harrowed in with a one horse harrow should control almost all erosion as well as leaching and make a splendid winter and spring pasture if sown at once.

The good old days were those when most of the excess wind was used to turn windmills instead of being used over the radios.

Why does Uncle Sam refer to them as "nuisance taxes" when every tax can be classified as a nuisance.

Life is very much like a revolving door, the harder you push the further you get.

It's because there are so many fools in the world that the wise man gets an occasional break.

Continuity of Benefits

SOMETIMES we hear people say, when they have just received some concrete benefit, that it cannot last, and that they will soon suffer some calamity to counteract the good received. This is the result of ignorance of the cause, nature, and purpose of the beneficial effects which we experience. It is due to the false belief that evil is as real and powerful as good.

John tells us (1 John 2:17), that "he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever." Now the prospect of abiding forever would not be very satisfactory if we had to continue forever experiencing calamity, discord, and suffering. Evidently John's sense of immortality included health, joy, harmony, that is, perfection, not intermittently but continuously, in real being there is a steady and uninterrupted manifestation of that which is wholly beneficial. Whatever else seems to have existence appears only as a mistake, a misconception. The real spiritual universe, including man, is maintained and governed by the ever-operative divine Principle, the source of all that is beneficial. Mary Baker Eddy says (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 124), "Spirit is the life, substance, and continuity of all things." Since Spirit could not be the source of aught that is harmful or oppressive, it is apparent that discords are illusions, not actualities.

Christ Jesus was always willing and able to benefit mankind in whatever way seemed necessary, and his acts were in accord with spiritual law and order. He was able to heal the sick, give sight to the blind, and raise the dead, because he refused to recognize any interruption in the spiritual order of continuity of harmony and perfection. The Bible tells us (Proverbs 28:10) that "the upright shall have good things in possession;" so Jesus cast out evil from human thought, and wrought untold benefits for humanity. Health, peace, joy, and prosperity are natural, and their manifestation in experience is inevitable when we consistently express the qualities which support them, namely, honesty, goodness, righteousness, and spiritual understanding. It is our privilege to protect ourselves and our affairs by knowing that there is no law operating in opposition to our well-being; that there is no power apart from eternal Love; that perfection is an established and provable fact.

We may deprive ourselves of a great many benefits by a misconception of our true spiritual nature. God is the creator of perfect man, and this spiritual man is the indestructible and ceaseless expression of omnipresent Soul. Everything man possesses or reflects he derives from immortal Life and Love. Mrs. Eddy states (Science and Health, p. 325), "When spiritual being is understood in all its perfection, continuity, and might, then shall man be found in God's image." This is scientific reasoning which reveals the unbroken line of beneficent activities that are inherent in true consciousness and expressed in the ideal man. As we rid ourselves of the old, worn-out concept of man as material and mortal, we put on the true or new man with all the attendant benefits. The ever-available Christ-idea inspires us to relinquish the false concept of God, man, and the universe which is responsible for a limited, intermittent, and uncertain sense of harmony, satisfaction, and peace.

We derive unceasing benefit only from that which inspires us to spiritual thinking and living, for this is the only way by which we come to regard good as more normal than evil, and so escape the penalties exacted by the belief of evil as real. This is the only way by which we can maintain the true thinking which unfailingly contributes to the highest ends of life.

Reaction, relapse, and retrogression are human concepts, which can never hinder or stop the continuous and eternal unfolding of infinite Truth, from which emanates all that is constructive and beneficial. It is normal for us to be happy and healthy; and the law of divine Mind is ever-operative and available to establish harmony in individual consciousness and experience.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Famous Book To Be Reviewed At Church

At First Christian Church, next Sunday evening Rev. Dunn Ryan will tell the story of Dale Carnegie's popular book: "How to Win Friends and Influence People". The author states: "The sole purpose of the book is to help you solve the biggest problem you face; that of getting along with and influencing people in your every day business and social contacts."

During the last 24 years Dale Carnegie has given instruction and self guidance to 15,000 business and professional men, among them some of the most famous men in the nation. This book is the direct result of his unique experience and life-long study.

What can you do to make people to like you? What are the practical ways of winning people to point of view? How can you create an atmosphere of confidence and good will in any circle of people? Practical answers are given to these and dozens of other vital questions, with a wealth of examples and human interest stories of boot-blacks, governors and presidents.

The book was evidently written for the man in the office and in the street and not for the literary high-brow. It is having an amazing circulation, being one of the "best sellers" since the day of its appearance.

The pastor of the First Christian Church says he thinks a knowledge of this book will increase the happiness and usefulness of anyone's life. So, he invites the public to hear the gist of its contents.

MID-SOUTH FAIR TO FEATURE BIG RODEO

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 8.—With flags and bunting waving atop a dozen buildings, the Mid-South Fairgrounds is assuming a carnival air as work is rushed for the big opening next Monday morning at 9 o'clock. The Fair will continue throughout the week, with six days of fun and entertainment.

Tomorrow last minute preparations will be made. Trains and trucks are bringing additional loads of exhibits to every department of the Fair hourly as scores of men and women work feverishly to put the finishing touches on displays of fine arts, handicraft and manufactured products, while others groom pedigreed live stock to put them in the pink of next week's judging.

The big Rodeo scheduled for every afternoon and evening at 2:30 and 7:30 will top the entertainment features, with cowboys, cowgirls, ropers, bulldoggers and everything that goes with a championship rodeo to be offered.

The Midway, with the Rubin and Cherry Shows featured, will arrive Sunday and be in readiness when the gates open Monday morning. There will be thirty carloads of paraphernalia, with the latest riding devices certain to prove popular with the thousands who will attend.

The Women's Building, which will house many interesting and unusual exhibits, rapidly is taking shape, with a host of women busy getting everything in its place.

Future Farmers of America are coming to Memphis on opening day and will parade through the streets Monday morning. Mid-South Editors also will be the guests of the Fair on Monday.

Governors of Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Missouri will also be here.

The stage is all set, and with a break from the weather man, a record attendance is certain, according to Sec-Manager Frank Fuller.

Big Demand For Grass and Legume Seed

The seed crops harvested this year must be depended upon to a greater extent than in previous years in providing grass and legume seed needed for the 1938 crop year, because of the small carry-over and the fact that the Agricultural Conservation Program has greatly increased the demand for legumes, grasses, and green manuring crops, states H. E. Hendricks, U-T Extension agronomist. Surveys made of the seed situation show that demand for seed of soil-conserving crops in 1937 and the 1936 drought, reduced the commercial reserves of seed of domestic clover, alfalfa, sweet clover, lespedeza, soybeans, cowpeas, vetches, and of grass seed in general, to much lower levels than normally prevail. In general, seed that has been grown locally for a period of years is likely to be well adapted, and if properly harvested, stored and cleaned, may be expected to give excellent results he states.

HEALTH NURSING

Health Preservation Chapter
J. Wesley Richardson G. F. A.; G. H. N.

WATER—Pure water is another health necessity. It is the common carrier of the body, taking food in solution to the remotest tissues, and carrying away the dissolved poisons. The purer the water, the more poisons will it carry away.

More liquid is required in warm weather, when there is active perspiration, than in cold. Six to eight glasses should be taken daily. The water contained in the various foods of the regular diet helps to supply the needed amount of liquid. Failure to drink enough water to supply the fluids of the body and to help wash away the poisonous wastes, lead to disease. Impure water is the principal medium for the spread of the typhoid germ. No cesspool, cow stable, horse lot, privy, or other source of contamination should be allowed near a dug well. The well drains the earth in every direction for a distance of several times its depth. Doubtful drinking water should be boiled. Pure water is colorless, odorless, and tasteless.

Water not only cleanses and purifies the internal organs and aids in the normal functioning of the body processes, but when used freely externally also cleanses the entire body. The daily washing away of impurities is necessary for strict cleanliness of person.

FOOD—An ample supply of proper food, rightly prepared and properly eaten is essential to the growth and repair of the body, and furnishes heat and strength. The various elements of which the body is composed are contained in the foods. All these elements must be supplied to the body for its full development and the maintenance of health.

If these foods are prepared in a simple way, with milk or cream, and the food elements are not contaminated by preparation with spices, grease, or other injurious ingredients, they can be readily assimilated in the digestive tract. The choice and preparation of food alone will not determine the nutritional value to the individual. The habits of the individual when eating a cheerful environment, a healthy mental attitude, sufficient exercise, and daily elimination of waste,—all help to determine how much of the food eaten will be utilized.

Streckfus Steamer Coming To Hickman

The all steel, oil-burning Streckfus Steamer President, queen of the Mississippi River excursion boats, will stop at Hickman for a dance excursion Thursday, Sept. 16, in the course of its annual Fall Cruise from St. Louis to New Orleans.

Ultra-modern of river excursion boats, the President's fifth season at St. Louis set a new high record in attendance and in the variety and interest of entertainment features provided for the gala crowds that enjoyed its daylight scenic and nightly dance trips.

The all-star 'Streckfus Streamliners', fourteen-piece dance band which made a sensational hit aboard the steamer on its northward cruise last spring and at St. Louis throughout the Summer, is aboard the President on its down river trip and will furnish the dance rhythm.

With its huge ballroom, its four smartly modernistic powder rooms, the popular 'Club President' and unique soda bar on its mezzanine deck, its vast and delightful summer garden top deck, the President is the first steamer to bring ocean liner luxury to the river excursion service on the inland waterways. Built entirely of steel and of skyscraper construction, the President also is an oil-burner, which makes its top deck a clean and popular rendezvous for those who like to relax in cool comfort on the hottest nights.

Circular Tells Of Home Storage

Published by the Kentucky College of Agriculture in the interest of better home supplies of vegetables, fruits and other food, Circular No. 266 describes the construction of mound, bank and barrel storages, storage cellars, basement storages and other means of carrying products through cold months. Included are building plans and diagrams, bills of materials and other valuable information about storage. Ask county or home agents to write to the college for "Home Storage Structures and Equipment."

The sports program of the Golden Gate International Exposition 1939 ranges from horseshoe pitching to air races. Six hundred concessions—the most thrilling from applications that run into the thousands—will enliven the 40-acre Midway at the World's Fair on San Francisco Bay. THE OLD-FASHIONED SUNDAY SCHOOL

Few of the Sunday Schools today are like those we used to attend. On the first Sunday in April we assembled and organized for the year, with an abundance of good-smelling Sunday School books and pictures. The cards and enough zeal to last until real winter froze us out. April meant spring, and spring meant wild flowers around the church and small fish building their nests in the shallow places of the creek. April meant new leaves on the trees and the odors of blossoming plants and the flickering lights through the windows. The lessons and sermons afterward sometimes turned on horrible things, but it was easy to look out the windows and forget all horrors in a blissful enjoyment of spring. All through the summer and fall the attendance kept up pretty well though something exciting or sensational in another neighborhood might draw away some of the young folks. The preacher came pretty regularly through the summer and the hottest season. All of this kept our Sunday School going but I doubt whether the working of miracles could have kept it "overgreen", that is, alive through the winter. Winter was in our neighborhood for visiting and rabbit hunting and parties. No night ever got too cold or snowy for parties, however easily a mere Sunday School might freeze out.

Right today I could go through the catechism we used each Sunday when I was a little boy. It was not the Shooter Catechism or any other published version, but concerned itself with the first, the oldest, the strongest, the wisest, and other famous men of the Bible. It became such a matter of associative memory that if the teacher had suddenly asked us who swallowed a whale, we would have instantly laid this crime at poor Jonah's door. Now this catechism was not a part of the lesson proper. The lesson, for the very small ones, at least, was printed in question and answer form, so that Mother or Big Sister could teach us. Both these questions and answers were soon over, and while the classes of older people were wrangling over some obscure point of theology, the teacher had to do something to keep the little wrigglers from wriggling. Hence this abbreviated catechism, I always shone on these drills, for I had a big voice and could drown out any number of aspiring Bible students.

For rewards we got cards, much like those mentioned in TOM SAWYER. While none of the boys I knew traded for cards, some of them could have done this admirably if they had not feared parental authority and the "wrath to come." One year I attended Sunday School every Sunday and had a perfect lesson, whatever that meant. As a reward I got a small Bible. No retainer of a king ever felt any bigger than I did when I marched down the aisle to get this reward.

At Sunday School, as at church, people were kept divided into the two sexes, just as the Lord had made them. The men sat on one side, from the "Amen Corner", with its older and respectable gentlemen, back to the disorderly bunch near the door. The women were stratified on the other side of the church. We even invented "A-women Corner". Only during young men with their sweethearts would sit on the women's side. Many a time I have seen a young gallant show his girl to her place and then retire to the opposite side of some churches there was a middle row of seats, a kind of neutral ground where both sexes could sit with attracting attention.

Then there was a choir, after the organ was installed, where one could sit with his girl and fan her with an open-and-shut fan while the service lasted.

But time passes, and so does any or every custom. I suppose one could hardly tell nowadays which side of any church was foreordained and predestinated for men or for women.

Alfalfa Meals Supply Vitamin A For Chickens

Growing chickens need some form of vitamin A to make satisfactory growth. Birds allowed to range about the farm during the growing season usually pick up sufficient quantities of green feed, should have some feed that is rich in vitamin A, says poultry specialists of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry.

Alfalfa-leaf meal is one of the most economical sources of vitamin A, when all feeds must be purchased, and may serve as the sole source of this vitamin for growing chicks. Other common sources of vitamin A, in addition to green feeds, are yellow corn and milk.

The percentage of alfalfa-leaf meal required in a diet, which contains no appreciable quantity of vitamin A from other sources, depends on the ability of that diet to support growth when vitamin A is adequately supplied and on the vitamin A potency of the alfalfa-leaf meal itself. This potency is influenced by factors such as the method of preparation, variety, soil, weather and cutting. Of these, the first is by far the most important.

The best criteria of an alfalfa-leaf meal's vitamin A potency are: Age, color, and "brightness". Unfortunately, it is seldom possible for the purchaser to ascertain the age of the meal he buys. Although the color of an alfalfa-leaf meal is a fairly good index of the meal's vitamin A content, the potency decreases more rapidly than the greenness of the meal changes.

U. S. Has More Land In Row Crops than Europe

Europe—outside of Russia—has almost the same total acreage of cropland as the United States, says H. H. Bennett, Chief of the Soil Conservation Service. But Europe has only 65 million acres in row crops as compared with the United States' 155 million acres. In other words, The United States with the same area of cropland as Europe exposes two and a half times as many acres to the more serious forms of erosion. Moreover, in most of Europe the rains do not come in such sudden, dashing downpours as over that part of the United States where the row crop are found.

RODEO BRINGS SPIRIT OF FRONTIER DAYS

Weird Drama of the Plain To Be Re-enacted on Fair Grounds at Fulton Sept. 22-25

Shot through with the spirit of the old frontier days which are fast fading into the limbo of the past, that best of spectacles what is in store for the people of West Kentucky and West Tennessee on Sept. 22-25 when the mecca for all the country-side will be at the Fulton County Fair.

Thousands of spectators will view specimens of the thundering herds from the wide open spaces of the wild west prairie to the swish of the lariat and the tune of the hoof beats of horses mounted by cowboys and cowgirls from the picturesque cow country.

Most of us read of rodeos, and in a faint way, realize what is done. Some of us have witnessed these attractions in other parts of the country. Many who will be witnesses at the Rodeo in Fulton will relate to their children and grandchildren the many thrilling incidents which will take place—real just make believe, but the real honest-to-goodness horseman ship coupled with baffling, breath-taking thrills—when the cowboy leaves his horse and leaps through the air onto the horns of a wild steer in an attempt to bulldoze him—when the cowboy takes his seat astrides an outlaw horse and the horse makes tremendous efforts to dislodge him. These many other deeds of daring by red-blooded men and women from the west will be seen in a panoramic view which will not soon be forgotten.

Household and business affairs will be forgotten for once and the attention of every fibre of the human being will be held in strict attention while witnessing such a performance of daring and daredevilry. It is not often that we see men and women risk their neck and live in such a reckless manner. But with the men and women riders of the rodeo it is just another day in connection with their days work and they do it as monotonously as we would walk in to a restaurant and sit down for a meal.

Spills? Yes, and how! A bucking mustang comes hurtling through the air with a human form sitting astride, being clamped to its side and using every method to stay in the saddle, but the poney is not to be denied. He bucks and rears and perhaps the rider loses his grip and is hurled high into the air coming down to earth with a dull thud. The horse canters away and is caught up to await another rider who will attempt to break him.

Don't think this word picture describes a rodeo. It does not. It hardly scratches the surface. You have to see a rodeo, witness with your own eyes the death defying acts of these riders of the sage, see the hair breath escapes, be witnesses to nerve-shattering deeds, things most of us thought had perished many years ago.

ELECTRICITY COMES TO KY. FARMS

Thousands of Kentucky farms are to have electricity within the next few years, according to a summary of the situation as of August 14, issued by the Rural Electrification Administration through the College of Agriculture at Lexington.

Construction is underway, loans executed or allotments approved for 2,637 miles of country lines to serve 11,037 farms in the state.

Most progress has been made in McCracken, Davies, Owen, Boyle, Shelby, Henderson, Todd and Jessamine, Jefferson, Nelson and Meade.

Another Big Wheat Acreage Probable IN 1938

Another big acreage of wheat—not much below the 81 million acres seeded this year—is likely to be planted for harvest in 1938, if producers respond to prices as they have in the past, according to the August wheat situation outlook report of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

With average yields, an area of 81 million acres would produce a crop of 950 million bushels. This year's crop will be about 690 million, according to the report. About 650 million bushels are used annually in the United States, and about 650 million bushels are used the remainder is available for carry-over and export.

"Mr. Dodd Takes the Air" a picture which combines several unusually appealing features, is scheduled to open with a Preview Saturday Night 11 P.M. and runs Sunday and Monday.

The thing most noteworthy about it, perhaps, is that it introduces a full-fledged film star young Kenny Baker, who has long been one of the top-ranking radio favorites of the nation. And those who have seen previews of "Mr. Dodd" say Kenny is really great.

Noteworthy again is the fact that the picture was produced by young Mervyn LeRoy, whose recent comedy, "The King and the Chorus Girl" was a sensational success as a Warner Bros. release.

Still further, "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air" was adapted from that best-selling novel by Clarence Budington Kelland, called "The Great Singer of Fair Ability who had a throat operation which gave his voice a peculiar something that was different from any other voice in the world."

Kenny Baker, of course, plays Dodd. He sings five tuneful melodies written by the highly successful composing team of Harry Warren and Al Dubin.

Kenny is surrounded by a high-class comedy cast for his movie debut. The always delightful Alice Brady plays a goody opera singer who pursues him with matrimony in mind. Frank McHugh is his audacious and somewhat nutty press-agent. Gertrude Michael is a vamp who has mercenary ambitions toward Kenny. His real romantic interest in Jane Wyman, pretty little starlet who is going places in the movies, and is being groomed for stardom by her studio. Henry O'Neill, Ferris Taylor and Harry Davenport add to the

How To Train Your Dog

DO you know how to train a dog? How to educate him; how to treat him; how to bring out the very best in him, how to make him the grandest pal in the world?

There are few people who can answer "yes" to these questions, according to Albert Payson Terhune, world famous writer of dog stories who will discuss the subject when next speaking on Columbia's "Heinz Magazine of the Air", Aug. 20th.

"You must know, above all else, how to keep your temper when you're training a dog," advises Terhune. "For if you can't control your own bad temper, how can you expect to control a dog—or anything or anybody else, for that matter?"

"Suppose you had a little girl six years old. If she should come home from school the first day, and tell you the teacher had flogged her and sworn at her and yelled threats, you wouldn't think much of that kind of teaching, would you? Yet that is the treatment doled out to too many dogs by the people who are trying to educate them. Then they wonder why the dogs seem stupid and worthless and why they can't seem to learn anything. The dogs aren't stupid—they're scared."

"There is a simple formula that is the key to all successful dog training. Patience and common sense. If you live up to this formula, you can train any dog to do practically anything you want him to do. Remember the cleverest dog has only about as much intelligence as a smart six year old child. Treat him accordingly. He is likely to become confused or tired during his lessons, just as a child does. When that happens, stop the lesson for the day, and let him romp. Nothing is gained by trying to hammer education into a tired or puzzled brain, either a child's brain or a dog's.

"Remember that your dog is eager to learn. If he is rightly taught. More eager to learn, and more eager to please, than many children are. Give him a chance."

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stinnett had as their week-end guests: Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Stinnett, Mr. and Mrs. Hinton and two sons and Edmond Stinnett all of Louisville.

Edmund remained at home. Mr. Van O'Neal, Dr. W. D. Henry and Charles Niles transacted business in Hickman Tuesday. Mr. E. B. Moore spent Sunday with Mr. and Marshal Moore.

It seems that the American Marines spend about as little time at home as the ordinary citizen. As the average citizen sees it, there are still too many politicians in this country who believe in holding up the law instead of upholding it.
