CARETAKER INJURED, THROWN FROM CAR

Ross Barker, owner-caretaker of Greenlea cemetery, sustained painful injuries Saturday night, when he was thrown from an automobile driven by Mrs. Dan Horton, as the car came to a stop near the Robinson Service Station on Fairview Ave. He was rushed to the Fulton Hospital where 20 stitches were required to close the deep head wound.

While out driving Saturday night, Mrs. Horton and a woman companion made the loop through Greenlea cemetery. Barker went out from his residence there to investigate and warn them that they were trespassing. Mrs. Horton said she became excited as he appeared at the car, and stepped on the running board. She raced the car down the cemetery hill with Barker clinging to the side of the machine. When the stop was made, Barker was thrown and injured.

CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION AT HICKMAN

Fulton County Circuit Court opened at the Courthouse in Hickman Monday with Judge L. L. Hindman presiding. All dockets are unusually light this term. After being in session at Hickman this week, the court will move over to Fulton next Monday, then back to Hickman the following week.

Among the cases of interest during this term will be that of John Melton vs. C. N. Holand, county Court Clerk, in which the eligibility of Mr. Paul DeMyer as mayor of Fulton is questioned, and the clerk is enjoined to leave DeMyer's name off the November ballot.

Program Outlined For Kentucky Farmers

A four point program for Kentucky Farmers, embracing extension of rural electrification, construction of farm-to-market roads, creation of an adequate rural school system and development of farmer leadership, has been outlined by Ben Kilgore, Louisville, executive secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

"The federation believes farmers are entitled to the comforts and advantages that electricity and good roads would bring and seeks to build through improved educational facilities and organization a leadership to the state."

THE LIONS CLUB

During the regular Lion's meeting Friday, Rev. J. S. Robinson made an interesting talk on human relationships. He showed how these relationships might be improved and happily kept by a little attention to their repair, such as a lost friendship, a family relationship.

George Alley of this city and Walter Davis of Vanita, Okla., were guests.

CHAMBER COMMERCE IN GOOD MEETING

The Fulton Chamber of Commerce met Monday night in the Rainbow Room in its first fall meeting, with the President J. E. Fall, presiding. J. O. Lewis had charge of the program, with three major subjects being taken up and discussed; the Jersey Show, Sept. 19th, the annual trade days, and the new factory.

Mayor Paul DeMyer told of the Jersey Show, pointing out that it would create much interest among the farmers of this vicinity. The program was worked out by Paul Farlow, I. C. Agricultural Agent, assisted by Mr. St. Clair of Swift & Co., and Mr. Ross of Browder Mill.

A. G. Baldrige, chairman of the trade day committee, talk in interest of a campaign this fall to pull more business to Fulton. It was agreed by the retail merchants present that the committee formulate plans and meet with the merchants Monday night.

Progress at the new factory was discussed. R. H. Wade outlined the extent of the building activities, and what is yet to be done before the job is complete. Machinery is now being installed on the second floor in preparation for further activity. At present a hundred persons are being employed, as workers are being trained. A committee was named to collect money promised by local firms on the building program, as this must be done promptly.

Ernest Fall and Leon Browder talked on the importance of preparing the Christmas lighting downtown in advance, with Mr. Browder telling of a plan adopted in a city in Oklahoma. Plans were discussed for a parade the first Monday night after Thanksgiving. A decoration committee was appointed as follows: Tom Goldsmith, chairman, Kellie Lowe, A. G. Baldrige, Bert Newhouse.

Bertie Pigue spoke in interest of the tuberculosis campaign which is conducted every fall, the drive to start after Thanksgiving. He stated that the Junior Woman's Club was going to help with the work this year, and W. H. Atkins was named chairman of the program to assist in the direction of the plans. Those attending the meeting Monday night were:

L. Kasnow, A. G. Baldrige, Ernest Fall, Leon Browder, Paul DeMyer, Joe Browder, John Davies, Ed Schulte, Hoyt Moore, I. W. ### Sylvan Shade Will Have School Carnival

The annual school carnival will be held at the Sylvan Shade high school, Friday night, September 24. Attractions have been planned to insure a very enjoyable evening for all who attend.

Things of most interest will include: Musical Stage Show, Bingo, Cake Walk, Boxing and Pie Auction.

There will be plenty of eats and cold drinks.

The carnival and contest will be directed by the P. T. A.

Bulldogs Lose To Lexington Team

The Fulton High School Bulldogs, unable to stop the passing attack of the Lexington squad last Friday, were defeated 12 to 0. The Lexington team was heavier than the Fulton aggregation and outplayed the Bulldogs in the first and fourth quarters to score touchdowns.

Fulton advanced to Lexington's nine yard line twice during the game, but Lexington's superior line held strongly preventing the local team from registering.

STUDENTS-PARENTS WIN SCHOOL STRIKE

The strike of the 250 students of the Columbus school near Clinton was ended, temporarily at least, last week-end when the Hickman County Board of Education met in a special session and unanimously met the demands for reorganizing the high schools at Columbus and Oakton on the 12-year plan.

The resolution was adopted over the protest of Miss Vera Beckman, Hickman County School Superintendent, that "you are spending the people's money on accredited schools and you have no right to do it."

The meeting was held in the school superintendent's office behind closed doors. Between 75 and 100 persons, mainly parents from Columbus, awaited in the adjoining courtroom. After an hour and twenty minutes of discussion, the resolution was read to the crowd, which cheered.

The strike came on Monday of last week as a result of dissatisfaction with the Hickman County Board of Education's new consolidation program, which called for the demolition of Oakton and Columbus high schools to a junior high rating, and the transfer of the eleventh and twelfth grade students of the schools to the new $100,000 Central High School at Clinton.

COX NAMED ON OBION CO. SCHOOL BOARD

J. B. Cox, superintendent of the South Fulton Schools was elected to direct the lower grades division, at a meeting of the Obion County Teachers Association held at Union City Saturday. Teachers were present nearly 100 percent, with members of the County Board of Education and a number of visitors present. Prof. C. D. Hilliard of Obion was elected to head the high school department.

Congressman Jere Cooper, of Dyersburg, was present and spoke to the teachers on service and duty, giving fulfillment of duty through service as the real expression of patriotism. Following the general meeting and address the teachers divided into sections for the year's organization.

FULTON RETAILERS AT MEMPHIS MEET

Nixon, owner of the Forked Lightning Ranch, announces the following stars of the rodeo world: Eddie and Allen Cameron from Houston, Texas; Joe Coker, Wolf City, Texas; Blondie Ward, Ada, Okla.; Norman Pearson, Texas; Red Carmichael, Arizona; Shorty Baker, Hot Springs, Ark.; Vick Clark of Parnee, Okla.; Lucille Richards, Big Springs, Tex.; Leon Lamar, Shreveport, La.; Henry Lancaster, Meridian, Miss.; and Vera Robinson of Fort Worth.

WATER VALLEY TO HOLD CHURCH FAIR

The Methodist churches comprising the Water Valley-Palestine charge in the southern section of the county are sponsoring a church fair in the Water Valley high school gym on Saturday, Oct. 2, and have arranged a most attractive and beneficial program for the day. There will be exhibits in sewing, cooking and canning, field events, flowers, home produce, raw fruits and vegetables, and appropriate prizes will be offered in all departments.

One of the features of the day will be the baby show at 12:30 and it is expected there will be fifty babies up for the prize of being the best, the voting twelve going by secret ballot, with every person attending being a judge. There will be contests in "husband calling," wife calling and hog calling, whistling and harmonica tunes, with plenty of stunts and other features on the program. The prizes will be awarded during the night program, and merchants of Water Valley, Mayfield and Fulton are the donors of the awards. An auction sale of exhibits will also be held, cakes, pies, eggs, potatoes, etc., will be sold at your own price, as you bid them in. The exhibits are urged to be brought in by eight o'clock and the doors will open at ten for the day's festivities.

At the conclusion of the business the following new teachers were introduced and welcomed by the president: Misses Richardson, Helen Tyler and Laverne Burnett and Mr. Harrison.

Rose Shop Opens In New Location On Main Street

The Rose Shop, operated by Mrs. R. K. Lowe, and formerly located on Walnut Street, removed this week to the store room in the New Fulton Theatre Building. The shop is artistically decorated and presents one of the most delightful displays of millinery and accessories in this entire section. The beautiful Madcap Bar offers a distinctively new touch, and is attracting much attention among the patrons.

HOLD-UP ARTISTS CAUGHT BY POLICE

Three youths walked into the Pittman Cafe, at the New Yards here Friday night, about 7:30 o'clock, pulled a .38 on the night clerk, Ardel Sams, making him turn over the contents of the cash register, approximately $80, grabbed up three cartons of cigarettes, jerked the telephone off the wall and fled in a 1937 Plymouth bearing Illinois license plates.

The young men entered the restaurant, casual like any customer would do, and after a few minutes one of them stuck a gun on the clerk while the others ransacked the place. The only other occupant of the cafe was the colored cook, L. G. Fonzo. Officers were called to the scene and an investigation conducted. The telephone was found in some weeds a short distance from the cafe, where it had been discarded by the robbers.

Carl Crittenden, of this city, has been identified as one of the three white men who held up the Pittman Cafe last Friday night and took eighty dollars from the cash register, three cartons of cigarettes and before leaving tore the telephone from the wall. Crittenden is said to be the man who held the gun while his two mates ransacked the place.

His identity was made certain by Ardel Sams, clerk and L. G. Fonzo, colored cook, who went to the Metropolis, Ill., this week, accompanied by Chief K. P. Dalton, where Crittenden is being held. After his arrest in Paducah Sunday night he confessed his part in the Pittman robbery and also the holdup of a Brookport, Ill., filling station.

Another one, Ralph Revis, was arrested in Paducah Tuesday and officers think the third will be taken into custody this week.

P. T. A. Held First Here Session Tuesday

The Parent-Teachers Association of West Fulton held its first meeting of the year Tuesday afternoon, September 21, at the school building with a very good attendance. The president, Mrs. Kellie Lowe, called the meeting to order and presided over a lengthy business session. The secretary, Mrs. Roper Fields, made a report and a financial report was made by the treasurer, Mrs. Claud Linton. The dues of this organization was raised from 25c to 50c per year.

A committee composed of Mrs. James L. Carter, Miss Elizabeth Butt and Mrs. Guy Duley was elected to take charge of the extra tract which is being sold by this group. Mrs. Herman Easley was elected chairman of the membership committee and Miss Richardson, a new teacher, was elected as program leader for the month of October. Misses Fannie Lee Nix, Katherine Williamson and Carolyn Beadles were elected as a committee to redecorate the walls of the first grade rooms. Plans were made to sponsor a band and orchestra for the high school this year but will be further discussed at a later date. A discussion was also held concerning the placing of a watchman on a downtown railroad crossing for the protection of school children going to the new picture show.

At the conclusion of the business the following new teachers were introduced and welcomed by the president: Misses Richardson, Helen Tyler and Laverne Burnett and Mr. Harrison.

Fulton Loses To Mayfield In Shaughnessy Playoff

The Fulton Eagles were bested in the final game of the Kitty League playoff at Mayfield Saturday night as the Mayfield Clothiers came from behind to defeat the home club 6 to 4, for the undisputed championship. Mayfield won four out of five games in the final playoff and the right to oppose some Class D League champion. None could be scheduled, however, and the 14 players left Sunday for their homes in nine states.

In the Saturday night game, the Eagles counted their four runs in the third on two hits and an error. Mayfield started scoring in the third Schulte hitting a homer. The Clothiers hopped on Yent in the fifth and tallied five runs and Wenning replaced Yent to stop Mayfield, gave up four hits struck out ten, gave bases on balls to eight.

Bardone, Mayfield catcher, was ejected from the game by Umpire Eith in the fourth inning and Goff went in to catch. Fulton threatened in the eighth, when Wright walked three men, but Veasey struck out, retiring the side.

MALCO TAKES OVER WARNER THEATRES

A deal was consummated last week between Warner Brothers and the Malco Company of Memphis, whereby the latter became the owners of the new Fulton Theatre and the Orpheum Theatre in this city, and other Warner Brothers theatres located in West Kentucky. M. A. Lightman is president of the Malco Memphis Theatres, Inc.

A half-interest in the Malco Memphis Theatres is held by Paramount, and Paramount will buy the two Warner houses at Danville, which is too far away to be operated by the Malco chain, Burgess Walston, manager of the local theatre states.

The new Fulton Theatre and the Orpheum Theatre, both operated by Warner Bros. in this city, will be taken over by Malco Theatres Inc., Sunday, Sept. 26.

Change of management will not affect the prices or the policy of these theatres in bringing the patrons of this section the highest type pictures. Burgess Walston, manager stated. Mr. Walston has been retained as manager of the two theatres here, having consulted with Mr. Lightman while in Memphis Monday.

D. C. Dunlap, auditor for Malco was in Fulton the past week end, taking an inventory of the theatres and making a general survey of the city. He expressed himself as well pleased with Fulton and the theatres.

HOMEMAKERS PLAN MEETING AT HICKMAN

Plans are being made for the annual meeting of the Fulton County Homemakers which is to be held at the Methodist Church in Hickman, Tuesday, September 28, with Mrs. Dean Collier, county president presiding at the morning session starting at 10 o'clock. The afternoon program will be conducted by Mrs. John Binkley, the county program leader.

During the morning session, a summary of the year's activities will be given by the president of each club, a report of the homemakers camp, and a skit by the club leaders. "Homemaking in the Airplane Age," will be discussed at the afternoon session by Miss Myrtle Weldon, state leader of the home demonstration agents. "The Wellgroomed Woman," by Mrs. Chester Binkley, a negro spiritual by the colored homemakers chorus, under the direction of Hatlie Bethea, colored home demonstration agent, and special music by members of the Fulton County Homemakers' chorus directed by Mrs. Cecil Burnette.

Luncheon will be served at noon by the Missionary society of the Methodist church. County officers in charge of the meeting are Mrs. Dean Collier, president; Mrs. J. B. Inman, vice president; Mrs. Gus Browder, county sec-treas.; Mrs. J. C. Law, county food leader in charge of the canning to be judged by Miss Grace Barnes, home economics teacher at Hickman high school; Mrs. Ernest Carver, home improvement leader; Mrs. Harvey Hewitt, clothing leader and Mrs. Jack Clymer, landscape leader.

Tidbits of Kentucky Folklore

WESTERN KENTUCKY TEACHERS COLLEGE
 BOWLING GREEN, KY.

The game of showing off, or strutting one's stuff, is not a new one; back in old Fidelity we used to know all the intricacies of this fascinating sport. Our particular kinds of showing off may not have been exactly like yours, but they probably resembled them. It seems to be innate in all of us to try to appear a little better than we really are; this gives us something to live for, something to hold out as a goal to be achieved.

Somebody always had a horse to exhibit. While we were sitting around the loafer's joints, the owner of a gaited horse would dash by stirring up the dust between the two stores. Rarely someone would drive a good horse to a cart and would make several trips through the village before stopping near the envious group of whittlers. In later times rubber tired buggies enhanced the value of a gaited horse; no make of auto, however expensive, can ever give the same amount of distinction as was conferred on the owner of a rubber-tired buggy of a country neighborhood. Here is what I would call the thirty-third degree of showing off.

A young man drives up to the country church in his rubber-tired buggy, with the horse's head reined very high; he cuts the shafts around in he approved manner, springs out of his buggy, assists his young lady companion to the ground with a flourish, and then hitches his horse to a tree, while all the less-fortunate fellows gasp or gape at the fine show.

Children of Fidelity were always bright, or, at least, their immediate ancestors thought so. One village wiseacre said it was queer to him how bright children were and how dumb they were when they grew up. Bragging on one's self is seldom accepted in civilized circles. It was and is very proper to say great things about one's off-spring, particularly if they are too small to go to school and thus show how dumb they may be in books. Some of the people at Fidelity could say fine things about their grown-up children who no longer lived in the neighborhood. Some of these foreigners had made a lot of money, some had uncommonly pert children and others had married bright and attractive wives. Ancestors were probably no better and no worse than the average. Some of the neighbors rated themselves rather high because of real or fancied forebears that did astonishing things back in North Carolina or Old Kentucky, as Fidelity people always called the part of Kentucky east of the Tennessee River. Even in these days I wondered how such great ancestors could be represented by such ordinary descendants; my wonder still persists.

But the way people showed off in cooking was perennial. Not to be a good cook was to be far down the scale. And the poor husband came in for his share of praise by being a good provider. Pies, cakes, boiled ham, roast beef, fried chicken—what didn't people know how to cook? Once in a great while a new recipe got loose in our neighborhood: new brands of tea-cakes, or layer cakes or cake-icings. But for most purposes, when company was not expected, the same old round of ordinary cooking was in vogue.

Since Fidelity is now on a good state highway and has daily deliveries of ice and fresh baker's bread from the county seat, I wonder how my old neighbors "put the big pot in the little one" to show off when company comes.

WEDDINGS

RAINES-LOWE WEDDING AT ADAMS HOME SUNDAY

A wedding of charming simplicity was that of Miss Mary Nelle Raines of Kenton, Tenn., to Royce J. Lowe of Pierce, which occurred Sunday, September 19, at high noon at the home of the groom's grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. John Adams, near Fulton. The impressive single ring ceremony was quietly performed by the Rev. Adams in the presence of only the immediate families and a few intimate friends. Attendants were Miss Rachel Raines, of Kenton, sister of the bride, and Ernest Lowe, brother of the groom.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Rachel Raines sang "At Dawning" and Lohengrin's bridal chorus was played by Mrs. J. B. Manley at the piano.

The bride was attractively attired in a costume of black and green, wearing a shoulder corsage of white Killarney roses and orchid sweet peas. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Raines of Kenton and is a graduate of the Kenton High School. She is a very popular member of the younger set there.

Mr. Lowe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Lowe of Pierce, is a graduate of the South Fulton

DEFECTIVE HEARING

If you have defective hearing, consult your Chiropractor. He is a specialist in nerve disorders. The nerves that carry messages to and from your ears may be pinched by slight displacements in your spine. The spinal cord is an elongation of the brain and the nerves feed through the vertebrae. If the vertebrae get out of place, the normal flow of nerve energy is interfered with. Consult your Chiropractor today.

Why National Advertisers USE THIS NEWSPAPER

People are interested in other people especially in people they know. That's why hundreds of families in this community subscribe to this paper year after year.

On these pages they find the names of fellow townspeople, often their own. So besides the ordinary interest of nation-wide news, this newspaper offers the even greater reader-interest of local community doings.

National advertisers believe that by using these columns they are reaching the greatest number of substantial families in this community, reaching them at home and in an effective and friendly manner.

But this newspaper performs another important service. By displaying the advertising of local merchants side-by-side with the products of national advertisers these products become identified with the local market, with local merchants.

In this way, on these pages is forged the important last link between the manufacturer and his local community dealer and their customers. That's why, for local buyer acceptance, for local dealer tie-up, local community newspapers are best.

Home Agent's Schedule

Week of September 27 to Oct 2
Tuesday, Fulton County Homemakers' annual meeting, Wednesday, Office, Thursday, Office, Friday, Hickman County Homemakers' Annual Meeting, Montgomery County Homemakers, Saturday, Office.

Plans are beginning to be completed for the Fulton County Homemakers' Annual Meeting which will be in the Hickman Methodist Church, Tuesday, September 27th, beginning at 10 A. M. Mrs. Dean Collier, County President will preside at the morning session and the afternoon program will be conducted by Mrs. John Binkley, County Program Conductor.

The main features of the morning program will be a summary of the year's work which will be given by the president of each club, report of Homemakers' camp and a skit, "The Fulton County Homemakers' Broadcast," given by the County leaders. For the afternoon program Miss Myrtle Weldon, State Leader of Home Demonstration Agents will talk on Homemaking in this Airplane Age, a skit the "Well-Groomed Woman," by Mrs. John and Mrs. Chester Binkley, Negro Spirituals by the Colored Home Demonstration Agent and some special music by some of the members of the Fulton County Homemakers' chorus which is directed by Mrs. Cecil Burnette.

The County Officers in charge are Mrs. Dean Collier, President; Mrs. J. B. Inman, Vice-President; who is in charge of the invitations; Mrs. Gus Browder, County Secretary; Mrs. J. C. Lawson, Foods Leader, will have charge of the canning exhibit which will be judged by Miss Grace Barnes, Home Economics teacher at Hickman High School; Mrs. John Binkley, program conductor; Mrs. Ernest Carver Home Improvement Leader; Mrs. Harvey Pewett, Clothing Leader and Mrs. Jack Clymer, Landscape Leader.

Lunch will be served by the Missionary Society in the Church basement.

Americans are soaked more for taxes to protect them against foreign foes than the foreign foes would soak them if they captured the country.

Another thing worth remembering is that troubles are like hungry—they look worse coming than going.

Why is it that a Fulton mother always worries for fear some girl will marry her son, and for fear some boy won't marry her daughter.

Well Made Clothing Reduces Mending Job

Children's clothes constructed for wear-and-tear resistance help to keep the mending box empty, states Miss Lillian L. Keller, U. S. Extension clothing specialist. Pockets and buttons that hold firmly in place, sturdy seams, and generous hems all help small garments to stand vigorous play.

Turn patch-pockets are a familiar mending job to mothers. Pockets often tear because they are too small, are placed too high, or are not firmly anchored. It saves strain to cut pockets large enough to hold the child's clenched fist, and to place them so low on the garment that hands cannot push them down. Two rows of stitching around the edge help to hold them firmly, and twilled tape placed on the under side of the garment at the top of the pocket will save tearing at that point.

Double stitching not only adds to the appearance of a garment but also strengthens any places where strain is likely to break the threads such as around armholes, underarm seams, neck edge, and plackets. Wide hems make for economy and long service in dresses and small boys' blouses.

Palestine Homemakers Club In Meeting

Mrs. A. M. Browder and Mrs. Roy Bard were joint hostesses to the Palestine Homemaker's Club on Friday afternoon, September 17. The Chairman, Mrs. Gus Browder, presided. Roll call was "what is wrong with my yard" Pottery decoration was done by the members under the agent's directions. The project leaders being absent the Home Demonstration Agent gave the lesson, "Style Trends of the season." She also gave her minor project, landscaping your home. The recreational program, "Indian Music," was presented by the Chairman assisted by the Agent, who gave the legend of "By the Waters of the Minnetonka."

In the canning exhibit, Mrs. Gus Donoho won first place and Mrs. Clyde Burnett, second place. The hostess served iced watermelon to thirteen members and three guests. Those present were: Mesdames Ethel Browder, Gus Browder, Clyde Burnett, Morgan Davidson, C. L. Drysdale, Malcolm Inman, Percy King, Richard Mobley, Leslie Nugent, Ed Thompson, Tobe Wright, Abe Thompson, A. C. Wright. Visitors re, gkqweq kqg Wright.

Mesdames Thompson and Wright joined the club. The October meeting of the club will be with Mrs. Clyde Burnett.

There are some fellows in this world so mean they'd even water the milk of human kindness. One of the worst things you can do for your youngsters is to teach it to say, "charge it to dad."

COUNTY AGENT

The rural rehabilitation supervised loan program will continue as heretofore, under the newly established Farm Security Administration, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, G. C. Dyer, County Supervisor in charge of rural rehabilitation work in Galloway, Fulton, Graves and Hickman Counties announced today from his office in Mayfield, Ky., following assurances received from George S. Mitchell, Regional Director of Farm Security Administration in Raleigh, N. C.

Mr. Dyer stated that the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, which the Farm Security Administration will administer, provides for continuation of the rural rehabilitation and farm debt adjustment work which he represents in this section and that he has been instructed to carry on substantially as before, under the new agency.

Rural rehabilitation loans—accompanied by farm and home management advice from county supervisors—are made by the government to financially distressed farm families who hold out hope of making a comeback—whether on their own land or rented land—but who are unable to secure proper credit from other sources to make a crop or to purchase needed livestock or equipment.

In addition to the rural rehabilitation program which will be continued as an important phase of the new agency, The Farm Security Administration will conduct the tenant loan program, as provided in the Farm Tenant Act, for the purchase and improvement of farms for selected tenant farmers, and will complete unfinished farmstead projects, including those turned over to that organization from other agencies.

Details concerning the handling of applications for the new tenant loans will be announced later by the Regional office.

The 4-H Club Judging team and S. V. Foy, Assistant Agent, have just returned from the Kentucky State Fair where they made an excellent showing for themselves by winning fourth place. The team was composed of Billie Campbell, Robert Adams, Raymond Harrison, with Fred Collier as alternate.

Only about half the farmers in the county who received a questionnaire regarding the acreage of crops they have planted this year have returned the forms. Cards have been mailed to these who have not made a report asking that the reports either be mailed or brought to the office at once.

E. A. Thompson has just finished terracing a twenty-five acre field which he has sown to a winter cover crop of barley and crimson clover. This makes a total of five an acreage of 1200 acres terraced in the county this year.

There are a number of fields where soy bean hay has been harvested that could be sown to wheat and grass without any preparation whatever. This makes an ideal seed bed and contains more moisture than freshly worked ground. Fields that were sown to alfalfa just following the rain and rolled are producing good stands of alfalfa.

Men who harvested barley and crimson clover seed this year have sold practically all or both for seed. This is an excellent indication that winter cover crops are increasing. The farmers who ground and feed their barley to hogs and cattle report excellent gains and believe they were able to secure a return of better than a dollar per bushel.

E. J. Kinney, crops specialist from the Experiment Station has just written a bulletin on treating small grain for smut. This bulletin can be secured by calling at the office, from three to seven bushels last year on demonstration fields where the equivalent of 200 pounds of 20 percent phosphate was used per acre.

"THE NEWS" WEEKLY SCRAPBOOK

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

HAM MUFFINS—Sift flour once and measure 1 1/2 cups. Add 2 table spoons sugar and 1-4 teaspoon salt and sift together. Measure 1-2 cup of wheat bran and add it with 3-4 of a cup of ground cooked ham to the flour mixture, blending well. Beat two eggs well, add 1 cup milk and three tablespoons melted shortening and combine thoroughly. Mix with the flour mixture, stirring only enough to dampen all the flour. Fill well-greased muffin tins two-thirds full of the muffin batter and bake in a 400 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes.

FASHION HINT

There are tricks of designing to make waistlines look smaller. One is to shirr a dress from the bustline to the hips where two thick rolls of fabric bulge out unexpectedly. The shirring holds the frock snugly to the figure and gives the illusion of a small waistline. Another way is to introduce a satin panel at the front of a dull crepe frock, draping the fabric profusely thru the bodice and goring the waistline section.

KITCHEN KINKS

A few bread crumbs added to scrambled eggs improves the flavor and makes an extra serving possible. Never add sauce to boiled cabbage, onions or celery until the time to serve or mixture will become too watery. Put the egg beater into cold water as soon as you finish using it and it will be much easier to clean.

HOW TO DO THINGS

An oilcloth pocket to hold the lids of cooking utensils is made of a piece of oil cloth 18 inches wide. On this sew two oilcloth pockets, one ten inches deep for large lids and one six inches deep for smaller ones. Rough edges are bound. Tacked on a cupboard door, lids are always handy, and also attractive when the door happens to be left open.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

In treating cuts and scratches first saturate a piece of cotton with iodine and apply. Do not try to clean the wound. Place a pad of sterile gauze carefully over the wound thick enough to absorb the bleeding, being careful that the hands do not touch any part that comes in contact with the wound. Then wind the bandage around to hold pad in place. Should inflammation occur, causing swelling, redness or pain, call a physician immediately.

AN INSPIRATION

"Our greatest glory is not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall."

Farm Kitchens To Be Streamlined

Farm kitchens are going streamlined in Ohio County, Kentucky, where 81 members of homemakers' clubs recently made a tour of kitchens that have been re-arranged, repaired, reequipped and made convenient and liveable.

Mrs. Clay Wilson showed the visitors how she had completely done over her kitchen at a cost of only $26. Cupboards had been built in, a sink installed, linoleum laid, equipment re-arranged.

Mrs. Arthur Bell had only spent $10 for floor covering, in making her kitchen over. Her labor and materials did the rest.

Only Mrs. S. L. Richardson had bought everything new, hired a carpenter and redecorators. A score of kitchens were inspected and many more will be remodeled as a result of the tour.

It won't be long now until a lot of newspapers can fill up a little space by again printing "When the Frost is On the Pumpkin."

FARM AGENT

A good number of farmers are sowing alfalfa this fall that have been without alfalfa hay for many years. Those that have reported are Chris Ledwidge, George Newton, Jim Helper, Frank Henry, Harry Sublet, Paul Davis, Gus Paschal, C. L. Drysdale, Dean Collier.

A number of farmers attended a meeting at the farm of Charles Wright near Fulton to see difference in dates of maturity of seventeen hybrid and open pollinated. A variety by the name of Bates 244 and Funk's 235 were two yellow varieties that have matured early and would be suitable for late planting. Kentucky number 69 is another hybrid variety that promises to give a good yield and also matures early. These varieties will all be harvested soon and records kept so that the yields can be compared.

Many farmers have not returned their crop report to the office and it is very important that this be done at once if they was to secure the most money possible from the conservation program.

Much interest is being shown at community meetings over the possibility of sowing cover crops in cotton and soy bean land. The acreage of barley and crimson clover is greatly increased over last year. Practically all these crops have been sold for seed at a good price.

STILL TIME TO EARN 1937 AAA SOIL BUILDING PAYMENT

Tennessee farmers cooperating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program are reminded by W. G. Finn, Acting Director of the East Central Region, that they still have time to earn their soil building allowance.

Mr. Finn points out that an allowance for improving non-crop open pasture land is included in the 1937 soil-building allowance for the farm. This pasture allowance can be earned by applying lime and prior to October 31st, 1937.

Payment may also be earned for new seedings of permanent pasture such as bluegrass, clovers, timothy, and redtop, in adapted areas. In addition to applying lime and superphosphate on permanent pasture, the soil building allowance may be earned by making these applications in connection with fall seedings of bluegrass, clovers, timothy, redtop, and winter cover crops such as crimson clover, Austrian peas, and vetch.

Payment will be made for applying not less than 1000 pounds of ground limestone per acre at a rate of $1.50 per ton. For applying not less than 100 pounds of 16 percent superphosphate per acre on soil-conserving crops, payment will be made at the rate of 60 cents per 100 pounds. Farmers may obtain further information concerning soil-building practices from their local county office.

It isn't gambling, of course, when nice people put up a little money just to make things interesting.

The attic in most Fulton homes is a place where they store things they don't need until it comes time to throw them away.

Farmers Follow County Planning

Grant County farmers are already acting on results obtained in wide land survey and planning a recently completed county program in which the land was classified as to its best uses, reports County Agent Robert Hume. The County was divided into areas according to its soil types, including regions fit for intense cultivation, those adapted to dairying and those best suited for the production of sheep and beef cattle. Two farmers have purchased western ewes, the first to be taken into the County in years, and two pure-bred breeding flocks have been established.

FINE TRAINING

Those Fulton citizens who have had little or no contact with the training offered the youth of the land through the various activities of the numerous 4-H clubs, are due to open their eyes in astonishment once they become acquainted with actual results.

Four-H work and the opportunities it offers for development of personal interests and self-reliance are almost unlimited. Youths, through their various projects, learn useful and worthwhile ways in which to employ their sparetime, and in conducting their meetings learn all the fine points of rules of order and discipline. A 4-H club is not a casual get-together but an orderly well regulated session, and the youths elected to office gain experience which equips them far better to assume positions of leadership in later life than was possible in years past. The growth of the movement has been rapid because it has so steadily proved its value.

Your activities recently have been developed by adults to give them something to do which will direct their excess energies in a progressive course. The work of the 4-H clubs is offering to the entire country a fine example of what youth-founded and youth-conducted organizations can be and that work deserves the hearty support, morally and financially, of every citizen who has the best interests of future Americans at heart. Parents of growing boys and girls in this and every other neighborhood can do no better thing than to encourage them in the principles, the purposes and the actual activities of 4-H clubs of every description.

BETTER READ IT

The recent loss to a poor widow in a neighboring state of insurance money that would have cared for her comfortably the remainder of her life must have impressed everyone who read about it with the importance of reading the fine print on not only an insurance policy but on everything else to which a signature is placed.

Almost every Fulton citizen is in the course of his or her lifetime called on to sign some sort of contract or agreement. In almost every instance such documents carry stipulations, reservations or agreements in very fine print, and in a majority of instances the person placing his signature to it does so without a careful reading of that fine print. The results have been anything but pleasant for thousands of people. Where there is a deliberate intention to practice deception, this fine print serves the dishonest salesman or business concern with a loophole through which to escape responsibility. No matter what sort of verbal contract you may have had, it is null and void if the fine print on the printed contract specifies differently.

Careful reading of every word on the contract or agreement you are about to sign may prevent serious misunderstanding and financial loss. No matter how much confidence you may have in the salesman or his firm, always read the fine print before you put your name to it. If it's meaning is not then clearly understood by you, then let it alone or insist upon it being so worded that you will not later on be left holding the bag.

WHEN JOHN BARLEYCORN DRIVES

John Barleycorn causes a high percentage of our 38,000 annual traffic deaths.

A report from the California Department of motor vehicles shows a condition that exists in many states. California experienced 2,838 traffic deaths last year. Of these about 21 per cent involved drivers and pedestrians who were known to have been drinking. It is reasonable to assume that liquor was a factor in a much greater proportion, as it is often impossible to legally prove mild intoxication.

No lethal weapon ever invented by man is more potentially deadly than a mixture and gasoline. Medical tests have proven that as little as two or three ounces of liquor will seriously impair a driver's reflexes—even though he may appear to be sober in all respects—and at the same time give him an influx of Dutch courage that results in inexcusable recklessness. By the same token, drinking pedestrians their senses of caution dimmed, unknowingly take the chances that breed death and injury.

There is no excuse for a driver taking the wheel of his car after drinking. Here is a case where the law must be adamant, and must be exerted ruthlessly, impartially and immediately. It is a notorious fact that in many communities, prosecuting and police officials are lax about the drinker at the wheel, and are only too willing to reduce a charge of drunken driving to the less important charge of recklessness, if a little pull is exerted. The sole consequence of such a policy is to make these drivers believe that they can get away with it—and they repeat the offense at the first opportunity.

Drunken driving can be handled by adequate laws, which impose fines, jail terms and license revocations on offenders, coupled with aggressive police and prosecution work. When a fifth of the traffic fatalities in a representative state are known to be the result of liquor, it's time to "crack down".

A CHALLENGE

If single men 30 years old or less, of sound mind and body, cannot support themselves in days like these it is worth an effort to find out why. The depression emergency is over. Except for strikes, factories are operating at a near record production. The cry for more help on the farms has been heard for months. If any able-bodied man not more than 30 years old, cannot manage to feed and clothe and shelter himself under such conditions then the taxpayers, out of whose pockets come the relief funds, are entitled to know why. America was built by men and women who managed for themselves. If it is to continue to be the kind of country in which we all can take pride, the job must be done who dig for themselves and make a go of it despite the difficulties. The average citizen around Fulton feels the time is ripe for a showdown in the relief set up in this country. He doesn't want to see any worthy person suffer. But he has grown tired of helping to support those who, in thousands of cases should now be able to support themselves. "Rid the relief rolls of able-bodied men," is about to become a national slogan.

COTTON SUBSIDY

Men who are raising cotton should be sure to ask for a receipt when they sell cotton. The receipt should show the number of pounds of lint cotton sold and the day of the sale was made and should also be signed by the man who buys the cotton.

Some time soon the farmers will be asked to bring the receipt forme to the office, in order that an application for their subsidy payment can be made. This payment will be made some time next year after performance is checked to see if the applicant has participated.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACTS OF CONGRESS AUGUST 24 1912, AND MARCH 3, 1933.

Of the Fulton County News, published weekly at Fulton, Kentucky for September 24, 1937. State of Kentucky, County of Fulton.

Before me, a notary public in and for said State and County aforesaid, personally appeared the managing editor of the Fulton County News, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the Act of March 3, 1933, embodied in section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations.

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor and business manager are:
J. Paul Bushart, Fulton, Ky.
A. Robbins, Hopewell, Va.
2. That the owners are J. Paul Bushart and A. Robbins.
3. That known bondholders, mortgagees and other security holders owning or holding one percent or more of the total amount of bonds, mortgages or other securities are, none.

J. Paul Bushart, Mgn. Editor Sworn to and subscribed before me this 18th day of September, 1937.

Lon Adams, Notary Public. My commission expires Feb. 10, 1937.

ted in the 1938 conservation program.

The subsidy payment will be based on the average price of cotton on ten spot markets the day each sale was made. Payment will be made in order to make the cotton bring twelve cents, provided this difference is not more than 3 cents. In other words if the average price of cotton is less than nine cents only three cents will be paid. The subsidy will be paid on only 65 percent of the farm allotment.

ALIGN EDUCATION WITH THE WORLD

Schools are in progress in every city, town and county throughout the United States. Millions of children and young men and women are pursuing their studies with the hope of being educated.

The basic idea behind education in the old days was that it helped a man or woman "get along in life". Education, as end in itself, was not a goal, but rather education was a means to a more successful life. It is well for school boards and school men to remember this as they plan the school work.

Teachers everywhere have great responsibilities as they contact the young people who study under them and are obliged to obey them.

More than ever in many communities, the character of the boys and girls depend upon the teachers they have in public schools. Most of the instructors are not unduly rewarded financially for their work, but, with rare exceptions, they take a great interest in the welfare of their pupils.

Without any particular subject in mind, or without suggesting that this has not been done in Fulton county, the school officials should constantly seek to make instruction more practical and definitely align school work with the world in which the pupils will eventually live. New subjects should be incorporated into the calendar from year to year in order that the growing child will come out of school up-to-date, at least:

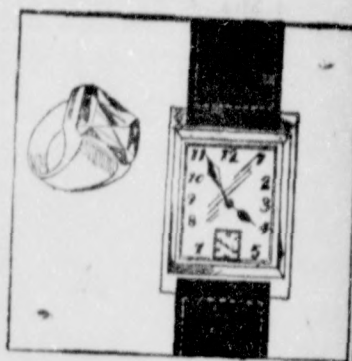

As a general rule, Fulton women might be able to understand each other better over the telephone if they'd talk one at a time.

Civilized man has progressed so far that the only thing he has to fear now is civilized man.

A sucker is a man who thinks the man who is selling it belongs to the church.

The best thing about a popular song is that it isn't popular very long.

WATER VALLEY NEWS

The Ladies school club met with Mrs. Martha Bard Tuesday afternoon. There were 23 members present and three new members, Mrs. Lillian Gossum, Mrs. Janet Kelley and Mrs. Arthur Rose. Refreshments of ham sandwiches and cold drinks were served by the hostess. The club adjourned to meet in two weeks with Mrs. Earl Bard.

The revival meeting at Pleasant Valley closed last Sunday night.

A revival meeting will begin at the Christian church here Sunday with Rev. Reynolds of Fulton conducting the services.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Stephenson of Barlow spent last week end with Mrs. Raymond French.

C. L. Gardner, photographer of Fulton, was in Water Valley on Wednesday taking pictures of the high school students.

Hazel McAlister left last week for his home in Bowling Green after a visit with his sister Mrs. Dessie Abbott.

Mr. and Mrs. Rnadall Larid and infant daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Ethier Bennett and two daughters moved to Mr. Rickman's house last week.

Robert Wallace of Paducah, was here this week tuning and repairing pianos.

Miss Nora Pointer spent last week end in Wingo with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Yancy Willis and son left for their home in Detroit Sunday. They were here to attend the funeral of Claude Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson is improving. Mrs. Eva Murison is improving slowly.

Mrs. Willie Latta is able to be up and is slowly getting better. Mrs. Clemmie Latta has been ill for the past week.

Many people here plan to attend the fair at Fulton this week.

SILO SIMPKINS SAYS

A low producing milk cow is expensive at any price.

Bare fields in winter mean loss of soil fertility and curtailed crop yields in summer.

It takes more than a few strands of barb wire stretched around a worn-out field to make a pasture.

The farm is both a home and a business and both should be considered in making a farm plan.

Each year an increasing number of farmers are finding they can check erosion losses on their farms by growing winter clover crops, more soil building legume crops and by keeping more land in pasture.

Trench silos have saved thousands of dollars for Tennessee farmers in utilizing immature undeveloped corn crops, adding carrying capacity to the farm herd, and increasing feeding value of stover. They can be constructed at very little cost.

The tame hay crop in Tennessee was 80 percent of normal on August 1st, compared with 46 percent last year. This means a state production of 1,525,000 tons compared with 1,525,000 tons in 1936. U. S. production of tame hay is indicated at 74,904,000 tons compared with 63,309,000 tons last year.

Hens that lay the most eggs in August and September lay best throughout the year September is the month to select hens for the laying flock.

VARIETY HELPS IN SCHOOL LUNCH

In the school lunch box, sandwiches are the old stand-by, because so much substantial food can be included in small space. The sandwich spread may be varied by including the following: meat or meat substitutes; lettuce cabbage, carrots and celery combinations; sweet fillings, suggests the home economics department of the University of Kentucky.

Different kinds of bread will make the sandwich more tempting; whole wheat, white, rye, nut and raisin, and Boston brown breads are frequently used. For the school lunch, a juicy fruit or vegetable is always welcome; the fruits may be raw or canned, or in the form of salads. If a dessert is included it should be simple; possibilities are baked custards, chocolate puddings, cakes and cookies, fruit tapicoids fruit jellies. The puddings and custards can be packed easily in small jars with lids. A drink such as milk or hot cocoa should be included unless it can be obtained at school.

Suggested menus are: tomato and lettuce sandwich, pimento cheese sandwich on ryebread, mixed vegetable salad, chocolate marshmallow pudding and a pear. Nut bread sandwich, sweet sandwich or ham sandwich, deviled eggs, baked custard. Chicken salad sandwich, lettuce sandwich on whole wheat bread, hearts of celery wrapped in oil paper, and apples.

GAS TAX MONEY

Under a new federal law the government is withholding $250,000 in road funds from the state of New Jersey as a penalty for that state's use of gas tax revenues for other than road purposes. And the motorists of the nation will be glad of it. As every motorist around Fulton knows, the car owners have not been getting a square deal in the past few years so far as their gas tax money is concerned. Legislatures in all states used the depression as an excuse for diverting gas tax revenue to sources for which it is not legally collected and as a result the nation's highway system has fallen into a bad state of repair. The owner of an auto pays the same general taxes as the man who does not own a car. And on top of this he has to pay through the nose for the privilege of operating his car on the roads. The law specifies that his gas taxes shall be used to maintain these roads. When it is diverted to some other use the motorist is being cheated. Uncle Sam has now in this new law the power to check such cheating, and other states besides New Jersey are long find out that here, in reality is one law that has teeth in it:

It may be true that no new sin has been discovered for 2000 years but a lot of fellows around Fulton keep right on trying to.

The most promising men in the world today seem to be those who make political promises.

The trouble with a good many of our "distant relatives" seems to be that the distance is too short.

DREAMS

In the earliest pages of history the mysterious dream faculty was acknowledged by the most learned men, dreams were regarded with reverence and those who were gifted with the wisdom of interpretation were given high honor and envied stations at Court. As far back as 150 A. D. the great Artemidorus compiled a dream book of several volumes which is, at the present day, the foundation of dream interpretation.

Many instances of prophetic dreams are cited in the lives of Cicero, Caesar, Marc Anthony, Constantine and Alexander the Great, who foretold from his early dreams that he would one day dominate the world.

Shakespeare's tragedies are filled with evidence of warning dreams and their significance, and the Bible gives numerous accounts of miraculous dreams and prophecies. Of the latter, perhaps the most often quoted is Pharaoh's Dream of the seven fat kine and the seven lean kine, not only on account of Joseph's correct prophecy but because the structure of the dream and the interpretation irrefragably so remarkably with the present method of psychoanalysis.

According to modern literature, psychologists are taking the place of prophets and counsellors of old. Many nerve specialists delve into one's dreams with as keen an interest as the early practitioner examined the pulse or tongue. Psycholanysts claim that our dreams reveal, not only forgotten experiences but the most anxious about Tell a psychoanalyst the history of your dreams today and you give him the key to your physical and mental make-up. Unless you are willing to reveal your innermost thoughts, your failings and aspirations, you had better interpret your own dreams.

W. C. T. U. MEETING THURSDAY

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met in regular session Thursday afternoon. After opening song, Mrs. Buddy Williams, program leader, gave the devotional which was taken from the 121st Psalm. A prayer was led by Mrs. Lora Horton. During the short business session, presided over by the president, the treasurer's report was given. A number of posters and literature selected by Mrs. G. E. Wells, director of the Alcohol Education Department, was displayed by Mrs. J. J. Owen. A message from the National president, Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith was read and articles on the answer to legalized liquor were given by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Harvey. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Lora Horton, president; Mrs. Sebra Evans, Vice-president; Mrs. Gohlson, recording secretary; Mrs. R. B. Beadles, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Myrick, treasurer; and Mrs. J. J. Owens reporter.

An impressive memorial service was held for the late Mrs. C. B. Gregory. Scripture reading and songs were given, and tributes of love spoken by the members. Mrs. Cequin offered a prayer.

The following resolutions of love and respect were read and adopted by the committee composed of Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Robert Beadles:

Resolved: First, That in the death of Mrs. C. B. Gregory, there has been taken from our midst a faithful and beloved member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Second: That she was an untiring worker, within the organization and was zealous to carry out its ideals and principals in her every day life and as long as her health would permit she was faithful in attendance of every meeting and was willing and glad to serve in any way she could.

Third: That her wise council and undying efforts in advancing the cause of temperance will be greatly missed not only by the W. C. T. U., but by all who are interested in the work she loved so well.

Fourth: That a copy of these resolutions be entered on the minutes of the local union, one be sent to her loved ones, and one be sent to the White Ribbon for publication.

Mrs. Jake Huddleston delightfully entertained her bridge club Tuesday afternoon at her home on Eddings-st.

The usual two tables of players were present which included six club members with two visitors, Mrs. Vester Freeman and Mrs. R. C. Pickering. At the conclusion of the games of contract high score for the afternoon was held by Mrs. Abe Jolley. Mrs. Jolley was presented an attractive prize. After the games the hostess served refreshments.

Mrs. T. M. Franklin will entertain this club next week at her home on Third-st.

SIXTEEN CLUB THURSDAY

Thursday afternoon ten members and one visitor, Mrs. R. V. St. Clair, attended the regular weekly meeting of the Sixteen Club which met at the home of Mrs. Everett Jolley. Sewing and contests were enjoyed during the evening and the prize in the contests was won by Mrs. Elvis Myrick.

Late in the evening the hostess served a salad plate.

Mrs. Patton Godfrey will entertain this club at its next meeting.

MISS ANDERSON HOSTESS TO BRIDGE CLUB THURSDAY

Miss Mary Anderson entertained her bridge club Thursday night at her home on Oak Street. Three tables of guests were present which included ten regular club members and two visitors, Mrs. Howard Strange and Miss Monette Jones.

At the end of several games of progressive contract high score for the evening was held by Miss Adolphus Mae Latta who received a beautiful lamp as prize. Mrs. Strange held highest high and the prize was lingerie. Mrs. George Moore received sachet bags as second high score prize.

The hostess served delicious sandwiches and coca-colas at a late hour.

The next meeting of the club will be entertained by Mrs. Reginald Williamson at the home of Mrs. George Moore.

BANQUET HONORING BASEBALL PLAYERS

Members of the Fulton Eagles, Kitty League Baseball Team, were honored with a banquet at the Rainbow Room, on last Thursday night. President Hannephinn being absent on account of illness, Smith Atkins served as toastmaster. Invocation by Sebra Evans. Rev. W. D. Ryan was the principal speaker, and appropriately molded his talk around baseball and players, who worked so hard for their club this season. Clarence Maddox, scorekeeper for the Fulton Kitty League team, introduced each player and gave the record of each player. Ties were given each player, presented by K. P. Dalton, Jr., Mascot.

Baseball fans, H. H. Bugg, George Beadles, Bailey Huddleston, K. P. Dalton, L. Kasnow, Bert Newhouse, and others made brief talks. A farewell speech was read from President Hannephinn.

FULTON LADIES HOSTESSES TO PADUCAH GOLFERS

Lady members of the Fulton Golf Club were hostesses to Paducah golfers, playing nine holes in the morning and nine in the afternoon. Luncheon was served at noon by East Fulton Circle of the First Methodist Church, in the dining room at the country club.

Low score prize was awarded Mrs. E. J. Paxton, who tallied 55 for each nine holes. Mrs. Parke Taylor won a prize for making a score of six on the greatest number of holes. Miss Peggy Williams was low scorer of the day with 51-52. Those participating were:

Mrs. E. J. Paxton, Mrs. E. C. Mitchell, Mrs. James Nelson, Mrs. C. L. Wadlington, Mrs. Pakre Taylor, Mrs. Fred Shelton, Mrs. E. C.

Hawkins, Mrs. Roscoe Reed, Mrs. T. D. Beven, Mrs. Roy Shelpourne, Mrs. E. W. Jackson, all of Paducah, Mrs. James Gordon, Mrs. Hoyt Moore, Mrs. Robert White, Mrs. L. V. Freeman, Mrs. Ward McClellan, Mrs. A. G. Baldrige, Miss Peggy Williams and Mrs. T. J. Howard of Hickman.

ANNIE V. ARMSTRONG CIRCLE IN MEETING

The Annie V. Armstrong Circle of the First Baptist Woman's Missionary Union met Monday night September 20th, with Mrs. Leon Hutchins at her home on Bates Street. Eighteen regular members were present with four visitors, Mrs. Vera Simpson, Mrs. Edward Puex, Mrs. Cornelius Edwards, and little Miss Peggy Hutchins.

The chairman, Mrs. J. A. Hemphill, opened the meeting and presided. Mrs. Hugh Rushton, the secretary, called the roll, read the minutes of the last meeting, and asked for the personal service reports. It was decided by this circle to give Miss Vera Sams, who is ill, a card shower.

Mrs. Roger Kirkland read a chapter in the Mission Book, "He That Giveth," Mrs. Clinton Hamlett was in charge of the Stewardship program. She gave a very interesting article on "Stewardship in the life of youth." The meeting was closed with a sentence prayer.

A social hour was enjoyed during which time games and contests were enjoyed. The hostess served delightful refreshments.

The next meeting of this circle will be held Monday night, Oct. 18, at the home of Mrs. Jack Rawls.

SEEN IN MAYFIELD

Fultonians who attended the final game of the play-off in Mayfield Saturday night were: Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Huddleston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holloway, Francis McAlister, Marcia and Gean Gennung, Wilburn Holloway, Dick Loomney, Ernest Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Matheny and son, James Alton, Mrs. E. H. Knighton and daughter, Ruth, Ward Bushart, Billie Blackstone, Frank Wiggins, Butch Simon, Iris Sanford, Sam Jones, Mrs. S. L. Brown and daughter, Frances, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Lowery, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, Ed Edwards, Mrs. Paul Butts, Mrs. Doran Colley, Carolyn Atkins, Gean Atkins, Mr. and Mrs. Smith Atkins, Lowell Williams, Joe Seigleman, Winna Frances Price, Myrtle Binkley, Kathleen Winter, Mrs. Walter Hill, Mrs. Glenn Wieman, R. V. Putman, Billie Whitnell, Kellie Lowe, H. H. Bugg, Earle Taylor, Raymond Pewett, Enez Shelby, Ora Pearl Weaver and Sook Weaver.

LOTTIE MOON CIRCLE WITH MISS COCHRAN

The Lottie Moon Circle of the First Baptist Church met Monday night with Miss Annie Lee Cochran at her home on Vine Street, with thirteen members present; one new member, Miss Nell Marie Mooneyham, and two visitors, Mrs. T. L. Wraether and Mrs. Herbert Crawl.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Clyde Fields. During the business session, presided over by the president, Miss Cochran, the secretary, Miss Mignon Wright, called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting. Reports from the various committees were given.

For the devotional each member was asked to quote their favorite verse of scripture. Chapters from the mission book, "He That Giveth," by John E. Simpson, was given by Mrs. Malcolm Smith.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK...

By Lemuel F. Parton

NEW YORK — Possibly better than "horse and buggy" days would be "square-rigger" days as a phrase of poignant retrospect.

There was a touch of nostalgia in the amazingly expert press stories and beautiful pictures of the Newport getaway of the Conrad and the Seven Seas—the only seaworthy square-riggers left in America—on their recent race to Bermuda. Both boats have Diesel engines, for emergencies, but they stow all that, and it is perhaps a bit tactless to bring it up now. This is a machine age holiday.

With all its shortcomings, the power age does enable some people to make enough money to get away from it once in a while. Young G. Huntington Hartford, owner of the Conrad, is the inheritor of a $200,000,000 chain-store fortune. That's a good beginning for anyone who wants to voyage back into past epochs—whether his taste is for old houses, old prints, old ships, or even a horse and buggy. Simplicity comes high. Mr. Hartford spent $75,000 getting the Conrad in racing trim.

One doesn't think of a demon squish player as a sailing man, but Mr. Hartford was a squash racquets wizard in his undergraduate days at Harvard, in the class of 1933. He is the only son of Mrs. Henrietta G. Hartford, of Newport and Charleston, getting about a lot, having a wonderful time and probably not "wishing you were here."

He takes a hand in all sorts of sports, and probably stirs more envy with this square-rigger race than in anything he has done or will do. He starts many an old gaffer dreaming he is out on the yardarm in a gale, and that—according to the Prophet Joel—is as it should be, providing the young men keep up with their visions.

Mr. Hartford bought the Conrad from Capt. Alan Villiers, Australian book sailor who sailed her all over the world in his literary argosy. She had settled down in the vaults of old ships at Brooklyn when Mr. Hartford brought her to life again. The ship was built more than 50 years ago by the Danish government, which later used her as a training ship. Her proper name is the Georg Stage. She's a proud, staunch old ship, with two full suits of sails, decks of teak and two brass cannons on the poop deck. She is 100 feet 8 inches on the waterline.

BARON KONSTANTIN VON NEURATH, German foreign minister, asserts the right and intention of Germany to organize Nazi units abroad. The declaration comes at the peak of a drive by the reich to solidify and indoctrinate its minorities in all European countries and to unite Germans everywhere behind the national socialist regime.

In this activity, Herr von Neurath seems to have displaced the frenetic Rosenberg, of whom not much has been heard lately. The foreign minister is of the ancient Junker clan, close in with the monarchists and the army, of aristocratic feudal background, and his new ascendancy is interpreted by some observers as an indication of the increasing dominance of his allied groups, as against the newcomers who head the Nazi party.

He stems from pre-war Germany, a hefty, ruddy, stag-hunting aristocrat, of an ancient Wuerttemberg dynasty, with slicked gray hair and close-cropped gray mustache. He was a student of law, entering the consular service in 1900. Serving in many foreign capitals, he was ambassador to Rome from 1922 to 1930, and formed a warm friendship with Mussolini, whom he characterized as the ideal ruler. He dislikes public appearances and rarely makes a speech or grants an interview.

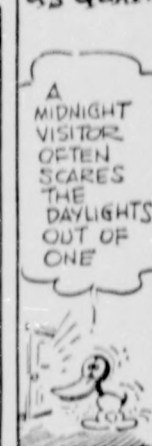

WHEN the President Hoover was hit by an airplane bomb, Admiral Harry E. Yarnell assumed emergency command of all American shipping in Far Eastern waters. Since this isn't a real war, just what he can do about such random shooting isn't quite clear—there are no rules to govern the present situation—but, at any rate, he's riding herd on our ships and doing the best he can.

In the Boxer uprising, at the turn of the century, he was an ensign on the U. S. S. Yorktown. As America pursued her "manifest destiny," he hasn't missed any of the major excitements since then. Previously he had been in the Spanish-American war and the Philippine insurrection. He helped occupy Vera Cruz and was an aide on the staff of Admiral Hugh Rodman when our ships were serving with the British grand fleet in the World war. He rose in the navy through his mastery of engineering techniques.

News Review of Current Events

FLEET STALKS 'PIRATES'
Britain, France Will Patrol Mediterranean for 'Subs'
... Japs Advance as Chinese Start Tactical Retreat

Edward W. Pickard
SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK
© Western Newspaper Union.

Showdown on 'Sub' Piracy
GREAT BRITAIN and France were massing the greatest destroyer fleet ever operated in the Mediterranean sea, to police it and safeguard neutral shipping from attacks by "pirate" submarines, as a result of the agreement signed by nine powers at Nyon, near Geneva. The powers signatory to the pact also included Greece, Jugo-slavia, Turkey, Rumania, Bulgaria, Egypt and Russia.
Italy and Germany had refused to attend the conference when Russia publicly accused Italy of operating the "pirate" submarines which sank two Russian ships, and threatened reprisals if Italy did not pay indemnity.

The principal provisions of the agreement, which Germany and Italy were invited to join, were:
1. Mediterranean shipping will be restricted to the regular ship lanes, which will be patrolled by French and British warships, in both the eastern and western stretches. If Italy agreed, she was to be allowed to patrol the Tyrrhenian sea.
2. Patrolling navies will attack and attempt to destroy any submarine which attacks merchant ships other than Spanish, without first giving passengers and crew opportunity to leave in lifeboats, as outlined in the 1936 London naval treaty.

3. Signatories expressly declare that they do not concede belligerent rights to either party in Spain.

4. Patrol ships arriving on the scene of an attack too late to prevent it will be authorized to attack any submarine in the vicinity, provided they are satisfied it is the guilty one.

5. These measures will be executed by the British and French fleets anywhere in the Mediterranean with the exception of the Adriatic. Eastern powers will protect neutral shipping in their territorial waters.
6. Signatories agree not to let any of their own submarines put to sea in the Mediterranean unless accompanied by a surface vessel, except in certain "exercise" zones.

7. Signatories will not permit foreign submarines in their waters unless in urgent distress or on the surface and accompanied.

It was plain that delegates knew that explosions might occur in half a dozen European capitals if their pact did not get into operation before there were any further attacks on shipping. They were embarrased in conference by the Russian foreign commissar, Maxim Litvinoff, who insisted on naming Italy as the "pirate." Russia at first refused to sign, on the grounds that the second provision was no protection at all, merely requiring submarine commanders to be "gentlemanly" before sinking ships, and that it implied recognition of both Spanish parties as belligerents. Britain's Anthony Eden was reported to have convinced the signatory powers that it would be impossible for a submarine to sink a ship under those conditions.

China's German Strategy
JAPAN'S long-awaited "big push" in China was believed definitely
"on" as the Japanese assumed virtual control of North Hopei, and made important thrusts into the Chinese lines at Shanghai, after the most terrible fighting of a month of undeclared warfare.
At about the same time, the Chinese, heeding at last the advice of German officers generally conceded the "brains" of the central army, began a strategic retreat to the "third area of defense" mapped out by these same officers after the Shanghai conflict of 1932, which was conducted under identical conditions.

Included in the Japanese drive to break the 20-mile Chinese line from the Woosung forts to Liuhwa were more bombings and shellings of the heavily populated Chinese districts of Nantao, Chapei and Lungwa, with women and children accounting for most of the enormous casualty list.
The Japanese conquest of North Hopei appeared to have been clinched with smashing victories at Machang and Tsinghsien. Tsinghsien is 40 miles south of Tientsin.

HANDS ACROSS EUROPE
Jointly refusing to attend the anti-"piracy" conference, Hitler (left) and Mussolini once more show the complete accord of the two Fascist governments.

and only 16 miles from Tsangchow, where the principal Chinese defenses of the area are located. From Tsangchow to Paotingfu there exists a strong, unbroken Chinese line which includes the finest Chinese war equipment and the country's heaviest artillery.

Apparently the Chinese plan of retreat was to withdraw defending troops from the range of Japanese naval guns in the Whangpoo and Yangtze rivers. The Chinese were reluctant to leave positions which they claimed had been held against the Japanese invasion, but the German advisers finally won them over to the theory that these positions had been held at a cost far out of proportion to their importance.

Japan has depended largely upon the naval guns for most of her artillery shelling and, attacking farther back from the river, will lose that advantage. The presence of Japanese warships was an important factor in the heavy Chinese casualty list, which totaled 20,000 killed and 30,000 wounded. The invaders lost 10,000 men killed and an unestimated number wounded.

The first strategic stage of the Chinese fighting in Shanghai—as planned by the German officers—was to slow down the Japanese landing of Japanese reinforcements;
the second, to divide the Japanese lines, and the third, to deprive the Japanese of the use of their naval guns.

Realizing what is going on, the Japanese command has ordered rapid advance no matter what the cost, in an effort to change an orderly retreat into a complete rout.
As a result, the Japanese for the time being are the heavy losers in men, rather than the Chinese. The latter have been covering their maneuver well, leaving land mines in their wake which have blown whole Japanese units to bits, and continuing to throw a curtain of artillery fire in front of the invaders. The city of Shanghai is a mass of fires and ruin such as no one has ever seen there before.

'Keep Us Out of War'

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, anxious over conditions in Europe and the Far East, cut his vacation short and returned to Washington to discuss developments with his cabinet. After discussing the situation with Norman H. Davis, his European ambassador-at-large, and Bernard M. Baruch, and getting reports from the State department, he was said to be convinced that there was a real possibility of implication of the United States in a foreign war. Baruch called Europe a tinder box, ready to explode at any time.

In an address before an outdoor meeting of Dutchess county (N. Y.) citizens President Roosevelt had said, "World conditions are pretty serious. I am glad to say . . . that we are going to do everything we can in the United States—not only the people of the United States but the government of the United States —to keep us out of war." He added that "it will take a lot of planning to keep us out of war."

The fifth largest cotton yield in the nation's history was forecast by the Department of Agriculture, which estimated a 1937 crop of 16,098,000 bales. The cotton crop September 1 was 75 per cent of normal, indicating an average yield per acre of 228.5 pounds.

Vying for Your Favor

ONE, two, three smart frocks on the line ready to go—shopping, kitchenwards, to the office downtown. And as every woman knows, a well stocked wardrobe needs all three.

From Now On.

Says the jaunty model to the left: "I can tell I'm gonna feel well dressed in this little poplin frock; ready for sports, a matinee or dinner in town, and the confident high spirits my new lines give make me sure that I will be wanted at all three."

"I made my version of sheer wool with a subdued herringbone weave. It will be my number one attire for a long spell ahead."

One Who Knows.

Miss Keep-the-Home-Beautiful, in the center, expresses herself: "Even when I do housework I like to look and feel fit."

"When I dash out to the store or go across lots to the neighbor's to borrow an egg, I don't bother to change my dress because I have the feeling I'm doing all right as I am. I wouldn't think of a new season coming on without running

Romance

He—Ellen, what do you feel when I glide with you over the floor in a long, dreamy waltz? She—Your feet.

Said the toe to the sock: "Let me through, let me through!" Said the sock to the toe: "I'll be darned if I do."

SYNOPSIS

Victoria Herrenden, a vivacious little girl, had been too young to feel the shock that came when her father, Keith Herrenden, lost his fortune. A gentle, unobtrusive soul, he is now employed as an obscure chemist in San Francisco, at a meager salary. His wife, Magda, cannot adjust herself to the change. She is a beautiful woman, fond of pleasure and a magnet for men's attention. Magda and Victoria have been down at a summer resort and Keith joins them for the week-end.

CHAPTER I—Continued

"Do you play good bridge, Mother?" Victoria asked, to lighten a certain heaviness in the silence that had fallen in the room. She was washing herself now, busily and effectively, the muddy soap squeezing in great firm suds through her fingers, her wet straight tawny hair dripping on her shoulders. She took a comb and dragged the damp locks back severely.

"Now take your fingers and soften that around your forehead, Vic—Yes," Mrs. Herrenden said, jerking another pillow under her head. "I do play good bridge."

"Does Dad?" asked Vic. "He doesn't like it. Nor dancing. Nor night clubs. Nor big cars and yachts and distinguished persons. Nor anything I like." Magda might have answered from the sense of cheekmate, of complete bafflement in her heart. But she said only the first phrase aloud. For the rest she lay there thinking, watching her husband's face.

"Victoria and I'll take care of each other," Keith said, in a hard voice.

"I could telephone and say I'll be up after dinner," Magda offered.

"What good would that do?" "Well, that's just it: no good. They aren't dining until nearly eight. 'Eightish,' Sibyl said. You'll be all through here by seven."

"We'll take care of each other," Keith said again.

"There goes the dinner bell," Victoria said, leaping from rock to rock beside him. "Goody! Are you hungry? I'm starving."

"Mrs. Herrenden coming to dinner?" Emma said, giving them the napkins and setting two glasses of cut fruit before them. "No, she can't come tonight."

Upon their return to their room immediately after dinner, Vic and her father found Victoria's mother all ready to go. Her manner was the prettily careless one that disguises in a beautiful woman a sudden touch of self-consciousness.

"I wonder you'll speak to me for being such a runaway!" she said to them with her appealing smile. She was always gentle; Victoria had never seen her mother harsh or angry.

"You look lovely, Magda," her husband said. He said it without enthusiasm, almost wearily, as he sat down. The lovely vision stooped to kiss his forehead. She caught up the familiar wrap. Victoria had seen her catch it up a hundred times; it was her only one, except for the two shawls. And Mother said shawls were not really smart any more.

And now she was giving to Dad and Victoria her familiar good-by laugh and nod, an excited, triumphant laugh and nod, as if she said, "Now that I'm all ready I'm not scared; anyone who looks as I do must have a good time!" and she was running away.

There was a young man in a light overcoat outside the French windows; there always was. And there was a rakish low car waiting in the drive; that was always there, too. Mother met the one and ran down to the other, and there was the roar of a deep engine, and she was gone.

Dad and Victoria went out to the front steps and sat there in the soft summer night.

There was a little boat waiting at the pier just below the lodge; a white little boat gushing blots of white dancing light onto the dark water.

"They're going out to that yacht out there for dinner," Victoria told her father.

"Oh, yes," he said, looking in the direction of the lodge.

"Dad, why don't you like going to the lodge?"

"Well, for one thing I can't afford it, Vic."

"Can Mother?"

"Ah, but they ask her. They don't let it cost her anything."

"They give her dresses, too," Victoria said, thinking.

"Mrs. Lester did—that dark blue dress."

"I thought she bought that at a sale!"

"No; Mrs. Lester's maid, Lotty, brought it over in a box. And another blue dress, too."

They walked along in silence for a while. Presently Victoria said: "We've had a happy day, haven't we?"

"I'm glad you have," her father said, stopping to bend down and kiss her.

Victoria had to sleep on the porch cot that night, as she always did when Dad was there.

In the night she awakened, and heard their voices—her father's and her mother's. Her mother's was almost inaudible, and had a "please hush" note in it with which Victoria was entirely familiar. Her father's was not very loud, but clear.

"I'm not saying it's easy for you, Magda. I say it's simply your luck. We had it—lots of it. And God knows I didn't hold out on you then. Now we haven't got it any more, and that's your bad luck."

Silence. And then Mother's voice, very low and gentle:

"Keith, I know how hard it is for you, dear. And if you feel that way I simply won't go. But it does seem a wonderful chance. We happen—we four, the Harwoods and Grace Cuthbertson and I—to play a marvelous foursome of bridge, and Collins—that's the brother—cuts in now and then, so it makes it perfect. They're only to be gone five weeks. I could get Victoria's things straightened out, and ask Hetty to get your dinners."

There was another pause. Presently the man said:

"You have no further affection—no interest in either one of us, I know that."

"Oh, please!" the woman's voice protested mildly. "I suppose this will go on into the forties and the fifties, boarding houses and Pine Street apartments!"

"It won't be forever," Keith Herrenden said.

"It'll be until I'm too old to care!" Victoria heard her mother say. Then there was a long silence, while the little girl lay listening on the porch with her heart hammering like a wild bird's and her ears strained, and her whole little body tensed with fear.

"Go, then," said her father out of the pause. They hadn't gone to sleep then; the quarrel was still on. "Oh, no; I won't go now," her mother said gently and sweetly, in a normal voice.

"Well, now I tell you to go, that doesn't suit you!"

"It would be impossible for me to go now," Mrs. Herrenden murmured firmly, as if the whole matter were settled.

"Now, why do you want to act like that about it, Magda?" the man demanded, with a faint hint of uneasiness, of change, in his tone.

Silence. Victoria heard her father's snore, light at first, swiftly deepening. Her heart began to beat more quietly. A night bird cried in the garden; the sea rushed and retreated on the rocks.

A whimpering sob broke through the other sounds; Victoria froze. Her mother was crying; bitterly, brokenly crying, and keeping the noise of it soft, so that no one should hear.

Victoria suffered as if from physical pain. The crying went on for a long time; a clock struck one for some half-hour; struck four. It was four o'clock!

The world was gray in shadowless light when Victoria slipped noiselessly from bed and stepped to the open window. She looked in. Her father was asleep, no doubt of that, for he was still healthily snoring. It was at the lightly covered form of her mother that she looked steadily; was she sleeping?

No, the beautiful dark eyes were wide open, fixed on Victoria in the window. Mrs. Herrenden beckoned, and Victoria flew to her arms, and they kissed each other, the child hugged down against the tumbled covers and the little lacy pillows.

"You muggins, what waked you up?" the woman demanded in a breath that was less than a whisper. "Mother, are you all right?"

"Perfectly all right, sweetheart."

"But, Mother, were you crying?"

"I got too tired, and that's why I cried, and I'm a very silly mother."

Victoria laughed the shadow of her own rich affectionate little laugh, and there were more kisses. Then she went back to her cold tumbled porch bed, and snuggled down inside it, and was asleep before the morning's first chill blanket of fog began to creep in across the level dim floor of the ocean.

When they were at home in the city, Magda Herrenden never got up for breakfast. She always said that she loved getting up in the morning when there was anything to do. But in the five-room apartment on Pine Street there was not much to do.

Keith got himself a cup of coffee and boiled two-minute oats for Victoria, or scrambled eggs for them both. The rest was just bread and butter, and milk poured from the bottle.

Magda sometimes got up and got herself some orange juice, or even a cup of tea. She would come back with the mail, the newspaper, carried with a smoking cup or the glass. Settling down again, she would yawn wearily; what horrible things were in the house for dinner, and what should be ordered?

At eleven the telephone would ring, and then there would be a change. A change in her, and a change in the general atmosphere.

"My dear, I don't think I can today," she would say. "But it sounds too divine! How late would we be? . . . I see. Let me think . . . What are you wearing, Ethyl? . . . Yes, I have; I could wear the blue that Eleanor brought me from Paris . . . Yes, I know. But let me think about it and call you again!"

Victoria knew how this went; she had heard it many times, for after all she had not been long in school, and there were always long Saturday mornings at home. Her mother would hang up the telephone only to seize it once more. She would be all vitality, all energy now. Her beautiful eyes would be dancing, her manner absent-minded but sweet and happy again.

"Vic, could you go down to Florence's—wait over at school until six? Daddy'll be here early, you know; I'll leave a message for him to call for you . . ."

And while she talked, Magda would be packing things in her handsome suitcase, laughing, glancing at the clock, snatching the telephone again. Perhaps she would talk to a man this time.

"Rudy, this is Magda. Ethyl and all of them are going to Jane's tonight; are you? . . . Oh, wonderful! When are you going down? For the polo? . . . Oh, fine! Could you take me along? . . . Well, you're a darling . . . I know, but anyway you're a darling . . . In about an hour? In about an hour."

But after her eleventh birthday, after that visit to the beach house, there was a change between her parents, and Victoria saw it, or perhaps felt it rather than saw it. Her mother was gentler, sweeter, more affectionate than ever when she was with them, but she was with them much less.

On the other hand Victoria's father grew silent, and gray, and disagreeable, as the months went by and were years. He rarely spoke at all at home, and in the evenings he almost always went out.

FLOATING ISLAND

2½ cups milk ¼ tsp. salt
Grated orange rind ½ cup sugar
2 whole eggs ½ tsp. vanilla
1 egg yolk

Scald milk with orange rind. Beat eggs and egg yolk slightly, mix with salt, sugar and vanilla. Add hot milk gradually, return to double boiler, cook until custard coats spoon and foam disappears from surface. Strain and chill. Serve with meringue and garnish with jelly. This will make a delicious dessert.

Uncooked Meringue.

1 egg white Few drops vanilla
Few grains salt or orange extract
2 tbs. sugar

Beat salted and flavored egg white to stiff foam. Add sugar, a tablespoonful at a time, beating until all granules are dissolved.

Preparing Parsley.—Parsley washed with hot water keeps its flavor better and is easier to chop.

Removing Tobacco Stains.—Tobacco stains may be removed from washable materials by moistening with lemon juice and bleaching in the sun.

When Preserving.—Don't pack jars too tightly when preserving fruits and vegetables. Leave a space of at least half an inch at the top for liquid.

Washing New Blankets.—New blankets should be soaked for half an hour in water to which has been added one pound of bicarbonate of soda. Put them through a wringer. All the dressing will then be removed and they may be washed in the usual way.

Cleaning Brass.—Never use vinegar to clean brass. Though it cleans at first, it soon causes tarnish. The proper materials for cleaning brass are oil and rottenstone.

Brightening Carpets.—Vacuum-clean carpets first to remove the loose dirt and fluff and then sponge or shampoo with a cloth wrung out of warm soapsuds, or use a good carpet soap. Repeat with another cloth wrung out of clear water, and finish with a dry cloth, always rubbing the way of the pile.

Uncle Phil Says:

Unwanted Effect

Sometimes a soft answer can be so utterly soft as to loose one's wrath instead of turning it away.

People do not loosen up on the purse-strings until you reach their heart-strings.

Yea, tolerance can be mere laziness.

Flattery vs. Spite Talk

All flattery is delivered with the idea of pleasing, which makes it superior to the kind of convers. spread in the spirit of spite.

A man goes back for a second thrill after experiencing the first one and finds that the kick is diminished.

No man is criticized in trying to be decent if he will be quiet about it and not shout.

For You Make an Enemy

In an argument with a fellow-being when you win, you lose.

So soon as it is learned that you gossip, everybody is afraid of you. "Youth is a blunder," said Disraeli. But there's where men get their wisdom.

Peace of mind and approximate happiness might perhaps be any man's who will live a well-nigh hermit life; but the poor chap hasn't the fortitude to do it.

You may feel this way as a result of constipation

Constipation is an enemy of pleasure. It dulls your enjoyment of the best entertainment and the best friends.

To neglect constipation is to invite serious trouble. For your health's sake, take Black-Draught at the first sign of constipation. You'll soon feel better. Here's a laxative that is purely vegetable, prompt, reliable.

FEW husbands can understand why a wife should turn from a pleasant companion into a snore for one whole week in every month. You can say "I'm sorry" and kiss and make up easier before marriage than after. If you're a wife and you want to hold your husband, you won't be a three-quarter wife.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove some impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won contemporary acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor.

STAR DUST

Movie • Radio

***By VIRGINIA VALE***

RADIO amateurs played a big part in the preparation of the dramatization of Peary's dash to the pole, presented recently. If they had not come to the rescue of the authors, Henry Lanier and Alan Bunce, it might have been a year or more before this program could have been heard.

In dramatizing historical events it is necessary to get permission of all living participants to impersonate them on the radio, and of Peary's North Pole expedition. Matt Henson, the negro who was the only one to accompany him on the final dash, Capt. Bob Bartlett and McMillen still survive.

It was easy enough to locate Matt Henson; he was right in New York. But Bartlett and McMillen were off somewhere in the Polar seas. Lanier and Bunce appealed to various clubs of radio amateurs and for days the short wave channels were filled with calls to the two polar exploration ships. Finally communication was established with the Bartlett and McMillen ships, and permission to go ahead with the program obtained.

The best picture of the week is "Dead End," the most breathtakingly-dramatic of all stories of New York.

The setting is an East river street where a millionaire apartment house is surrounded by squalid, sinister tenement houses. Back to this neighborhood comes Baby Face Martin, a hunted gangster who had left ten years before and things begin to happen. Sylvia Sidney and Joel McCrea play what are supposed to be the leading roles of the picture, but Humphrey Bogart as Baby Face Martin and Claire Trevor as the sweetheart he deserted, just take possession of the picture and romp away with the honors.

It is nothing new for secondary players to steal a show. You may remember that it was in "Flying Down to Rio" in which Gene Raymond and Dolores del Rio were supposed to be the stars, that Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers scored he knockout success that made them about the most popular young couple in the country.

Fred Waring is getting to be an industrial magnate of such proportions that he has had to take a whole floor of an office building in New York to house his music arrangers, secretaries, contract signers, and scrap books. No sooner had he and his versatile boys worked their way East from Hollywood where they made "Varsity Show" for Warners, than he up and signed a contract to play at the Drake hotel in Chicago. There he and his frenzied cohorts are working up new specialties, madder than ever.

When you see Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Madame X," you will see scene made under unusual circumstances. John Beal, making voice and make-up tests when they were getting ready to produce the picture, ran through the biggest dramatic scene, largely to see if he had his lines all memorized. After the picture was shot, some of the staff were a little disappointed in the way he played the courtroom scene where he defends his mother. Then they remembered the test shots—dug those out of the film vaults and substituted them for the less-spontaneous performance he gave later.

Carole Lombard is going to have such fun in her next Paramount picture, "True Confessions." She plays the part of a confirmed liar, such a habitual liar that she even confesses to a murder that she did not commit. John Barrymore will support her, playing an eccentric amateur detective who falls for every false clue, and Fred MacMurray will be the patient, long-suffering hero, who is the victim of her weird falsehoods.

ODDS AND ENDS. Greta Garbo has become a Deanna Durbin fan... Gloria Blondell, sister of Joan, will make her screen debut in "Accidents Will Happen." For a long time Warners would not give her a job because she looks so much like Joan they thought it might be confusing, but they finally gave in lest some other company take her... Rudy Vallee will film "Howdy Stranger" for Warners this fall. He wanted a part that would permit him to wear a stunning uniform, but Warners convinced him that a cowboy suit would be just as becoming... Frank Parker, who is a big radio favorite himself, played the role on the Broadway stage.

When King George Received the Big News from America

Samuel Morse, inventor of the electric telegraph, had only one ambition as a young man and that was to become an artist. He studied under Washington Allston, then the greatest painter in the United States, and with Allston went to London in 1811. There he met Benjamin West who, although an American, was president of the Royal academy, and a great favorite with the king, who later made him Sir Benjamin West.

West was actually at work on a portrait of the king when the latter was handed the Declaration of Independence. Morse heard the piquant story from West himself, says Ernest Greenwood in "From Amber to Amperes." Here it is—as related by Morse:

Turning to the picture of the king, Sir Benjamin West said: "Do you see that picture, Mr. Morse? Well, sir, the king was sitting for me when the box containing the American Declaration of Independence was handed to him."

"Indeed!" I answered, "and what appeared to be the emotion of the king? What did he say?" "Well, sir," said West, "he made a reply characteristic of the goodness of his heart," or words to that effect. "Well," he said, "if they can be happier under the government they have chosen, then under mine, I shall be happy!"

Morse stayed four years in England where he achieved considerable success as a portrait painter. Then returning to his native country, he afterwards became president of the national academy and an eminently successful painter, his sitters becoming so numerous that he was unable to meet and fill all of his orders. It was during his return voyage to America in 1832, following a second visit to Europe, that Morse got his conception of the telegraph. Twelve years later—May 24, 1844—he gave a public demonstration of his invention, sending a message from Washington to Baltimore.

The rest is well known history. —Kansas City Star.

A Worthy Object

WILL power is the mental experience exercised in bringing about a desired end. Therefore, I say that a man must necessarily have a worthy object in view to bring out the best in him—that a man must see more than a salary to be more than a salaried man. A man must see the position of ownership, partnership, management, or increased award, in order to awaken his will power.

The man who does good to another does even more good to himself.

Funster Ought to Have Recognized His Fellow

Jones de Vere Jones decided it would be fun to spend a day in the country. Back to Nature, and all that.

Meeting a farmer in a field he thought to have some fun with him.

"Good-morning," he started. "I must say I admire your part of the country."

Then he noticed a scarecrow in the middle of the field. "And is that one of the oldest inhabitants?" he went on, pointing to the scarecrow. "Naw, zur," came the slow reply. "That be no oldest 'habitant. Just a visitor like yourself."

First Choice OF FARMERS

FARMERS everywhere are saying that the amazing Firestone Ground Grip Tire is FIRST in performance and FIRST in economy. So many thousands of farmers are changing over to this wonderful tire that production has been greatly increased to meet the demand.

FIRST IN DRAWBAR PULL. The greater drawbar pull of this amazing tire accounts for its ability to do more work in a given time.

FIRST IN TRACTION. The patented Ground Grip Tread takes a deeper bite into the soil. Added strength to resist the strain of heavy pulling is provided by Gum-Dipping the cord body. Every fiber of every cotton cord is saturated with liquid rubber by this patented Firestone process. Two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread bind the tread and cord body so solidly together that we guarantee they will not separate.

FIRST IN ECONOMY. Saves up to 50% in fuel over steel-lugged wheels. Covers more acres per day. Low-cost Firestone cut-down wheel program permits using one set of tires on several different implements.

FIRST IN SALES. Firestone Ground Grip Tires have such outstanding leadership in performance that sales are soaring. Don't wait another day—see the Firestone Ground Grip Tire today at your nearest Firestone Implement Dealer, Tire Dealer or Auto Supply and Service Store.
