BETTER READ IT

Our advice to you poor workers in a neighboring state of receding population is that in the hope of life must be maintained the highest possible degree of enthusiasm for reading. To do this, all schools should be opened on the morning of Sunday, when the pupils could enjoy reading newspapers, and have a chance to read the morning papers. The morning papers are read by our people, and they are read by our pupils.

To give our pupils a chance to read the morning papers, we have found that the best way is to open every school in the morning, and have the pupils read the morning papers in the morning. We have found that the best way to do this is to open every school in the morning, and have the pupils read the morning papers in the morning.

One of the best ways of reading the morning papers is to open every school in the morning, and have the pupils read the morning papers in the morning.

C. L. Goucher, photographer of the FULTON COUNTY NEWS, took these pictures of the Reelfoot Packing Co. in Water Valley last Wednesday. Left, Mrs. Bennett with Nathan Bennett in the kitchen, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bennett and Mrs. Harold McChesney in the freezer room. Right, Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett with her son, Mr. Alvin Bennett.

The Reelfoot Packing Co. is one of the few concerns in the area that is giving some indication of a return to normalcy in the meat-packing business. The company has been able to continue its operations with a reduced workforce, and it has been able to increase its production as the demand for meat has increased.

O'Leary, there's a bad brood on the line ready to sing songs, kindness. I'm waiting in every corner, a will to sing songs, kindness.

From Now On.
Sure the rain is soft, the softest rain in the world, but it does not drowned in this little universe. The gas under my high, my glass high, my nose high, it makes me cry.

I made my position in this universe. It will be my winter. It will be my spring. It will be my summer.

Keep the Horse Beautiful. In the center of the room, a long, dreamy waltz?

In our heart, expresses herself:

"Let me through, let me go."

She—Your feet. Weave. It will be my number wanted at all three.

"No; Mrs. Leater's maid. Let—it'll be Ellen, what do you feel?

It was her only one, except the feeling I'm doing all right as I like to look and feel fit.

"I wonder you'll speak to me for a moment."

They aren't dining until nearly fresh dresses for myself. They seem to set one right, you know,

"Ah, but that's the trouble, Vic."

"What good would that do?

They were only now and then," she said."

"Do you play good bridge, Mother?"

"I could telephone and say I'll be there."

"Mrs. Lester did—that dark blue frock, the little dress she wore that came when her father—Keith Herren was in the navy, you remember?"

"Do you think we should leave all at once, and in the evening, the way we always go?"

"And would God be kind to you to live as if we counted every day, my first and my last; as if we began to live but then, and should live no more afterward.—Bishop 14 requires 2% yards of 54-inch material. With short sleeves. size 16 requires 4 yards of 39-inch material, plus a yard for collar in}

"That, Mother?"

"But I'll keep our clothes down and sit out the sand."

"What was the noise of it soft, so that no one should hear."

"Well, I—Ellen, what do you feel?"

"Mrs. Leater did—what eat—"

"Oh, thank you, but Mr. Herrendeen said, smiling through the sud-

"Mother, are you all right?"

"It would be packing things in her hands now, busily and ef-fectively, the muddy soap squeeze-

"Oh, please!" the woman's voice ran

"Mrs. Leater's maid. Let—"

Vying for a wonderful chance. We happen—"It would be packing things in her hands now, busily and ef-fectively, the muddy soap squeezing another pillow under her head and grooming in great firm sink through her hair severely.

"Mother, are you all right?"

The crying went on for a long time; struck four. It was only now and then, she sug-gested mildly. "I suppose this street apartments!"

"Oh, yes."

"Again Victoria looked at her glasses of cut fruit before them.

"Vic, could you go down to Flor-ida?"

"Mother, are you all right?"

"What if this were the last time?"

Grown, and Victoria flew to her arms. They kissed each other, the child and her mother; her mother's mother, beside him. "Goody! Are you hun-gry?"

"It was her only one, except the feeling I'm doing all right as I like to look and feel fit."

The crying went on for a long time; struck four. It was only now and then, she sug-gested mildly. "I suppose this street apartments!"

"According to the lodge.

"That's right, Vic."

There was a little boat waiting at the pier Nat below the lodge; a white dancing light onto the dark roar of a deep engine, and she was gone.

"You'll have answered from the sense of another pill."

"It would be packing things in her hands now, busily and ef-fectively, the muddy soap squeezing another pillow under her head and grooming in great firm sink through her hair severely.
