SMITH VICTORY OR RUIN, SAY FARM LEADERS

Anxious to Get Out Every Possible Vote for Champion of Agriculture.

CITE RECORDS OF NOMINEES

Scores of Farm Organizations Endorse Democratic Candidate and Denounce Hoover; Officials Active in Campaign.

Threatened with ruin by a "continuation of the Coolidge policies," and realizing their only hope for relief lies in piling up enough farm votes to ensure the election of Governor Smith, American farmers are making, through their various organizations, a tremendous effort to get every agricultural worker to the polls on election day.

Unqualifiedly endorsed by practically all farm organizations of consequence in the West and South, the Democratic candidate is assured, despite attempts to defeat him by appeals to bigotry, of the votes of all farmers who place their own prosperity above partisan prejudices.

Farm leaders, however, are anxious to make the Smith farm majority large enough to offset any possible advantage gained by the Hoover forces in backward districts which might be influenced by the misleading propaganda of the Ku Klux Klan and Anti-Saloon League.

Calling upon all farmers and members of their families to register and vote for Governor Smith, they stress the attitude of the two presidential candidates as revealed in both their past records and their utterances during the present campaign.

Candidates Contrasted

Governor Smith has consistently proposed and secured the passage of legislation which was invaluable to the farmers of his State. Herbert Hoover has just as consistently opposed measures which might have benefited agriculture. It was he who, as Federal Food Administrator, held down the prices of wheat and hops during the war.

What is more important, Governor Smith promises to give the farmers immediately the legislative aid for which they have struggled unsuccessfully for the last five years. Herbert Hoover is opposed to it, the agricultural leaders point out, and his election would mean the death of the farm movement.

Perhaps the most important expression of organized agriculture's stand in this election is the resolution endorsing Governor Smith's position and condemning that of the Republican party, adopted recently in Des Moines by the Corn Belt Committee. This is the alliance of the 40 most important farm organizations in the Middle West, with a combined membership of 1,500,000 heads of families. Mr. Hoover's record has been bitterly condemned, also, by a resolution passed by the National Farmers' Union.

Leaders Endorse Smith

Among the many prominent farm leaders who have endorsed Governor Smith's position on Agriculture and denounced that of Mr. Hoover are the following: S. H. Thompson, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation; W. H. Saffie, President of the Illinois Farm Bureau Federation; Earl C. Smith, President of the Illinois Agriculture Association; Wm. Hirth, President of the Missouri Farmers Association and Chairman of the Corn Belt Committee of Farm Organizations; Wm. J. Murphy, of Minnesota, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of Corn Belt Federation of Farm Organizations; W. L. Stockton, President of the Montana Farm Bureau Federation; C. E. Huff, President of the Kansas Farmers' Union; Jno. Simpson, President of the Oklahoma Farmers' Union; M. J. Reno, President of the Iowa Farmers' Union; J. F. Reed, President of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation; Chas. C. Tolson, President of the North Dakota Farmers' Union; A. W. Tucker, Secretary of the Corn Belt Federation of Farm Organizations; H. G. Keeney, President of the Nebraska Farmers' Union; Chas. Stewart, Secretary of the Nebraska Farm Bureau; George Duns, President of the North Dakota Wheat Growers Association; E. E. Kennedy, Secretary of the Illinois Farmers' Union; Henry A. Wallace, Editor of Wallace's Farmer; Miles Cannon, Former Commissioner of Agriculture of Idaho; John S. Barker, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Chester C. Davis, Former Commissioner of Agriculture of Montana; Thos. E. Casperson, Member of the Executive Board, Minnesota Farm Bureau; N. S. Winder, Secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Joe Plummer, Colorado Wheat Growers Association; Dr. H. V. Kilgore, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Cotton Growers Association; Judge N. C. Weaver, President of the Missouri Cotton Growers Association; Frank Wheatcraft, Manager of the Union Live Stock Shipping Association of Chicago; George N. Peek, Chairman of the Committee of Twenty-two of the North Central States Agriculture Conference; Mrs. Verma L. Hatch, Social and Educational Director of the Indiana Farm Bureau; Clarence Osley, of Texas, former Assistant Secretary of Agriculture; Robert A. Cowles, Treasurer of the U. S. Farm Bureau Association.

What Gov. Smith Has Done for the Public Schools

No other Governor in the history of the United States has done as much for the public schools as was accomplished by Governor Alfred E. Smith during the eight years of his administration in New York State.

In 1918 the State spent $9,000,000 on public education. Governor Smith, insisting on more adequate schooling facilities, succeeded in increasing this amount to $35,000,000 in 1921. In 1923 he won for the public schools an appropriation of $36,000,000.

In 1918 the State owned 50 playgrounds. In 1927 there were 450.

In 1920 110 new public schools were built. The State built 208 new public schools in 1927.

Under Governor Smith the number of classes for mentally handicapped children increased from 97 in 1920 to 731 in 1927. The enrollment in continuation schools increased from 30,236 to 158,603; the enrollment in State normal schools from 1,990 to 7,753.

Governor Smith has fought consistently for the physical welfare of public school children. To the personnel of the public schools last year, 354 nurses were added, 32 school dentists were added, and there was an addition of 874 physical training teachers.

"Vote as Farmers, Not Partisans—"

"For you, farm men and women of America, this presidential election is not political but economic."

"You have seen the value of your farm property decrease $20,000, 300,000 and your debts increase $10,000,000,000."

"Four thousand of your banks have failed. Your bankruptcies have increased tenfold."

"During this period the most influential maker of Government policy toward agriculture has been Herbert Hoover."

That is the introduction to a full-page advertisement inserted in numerous Western farm papers by the Smith Independent Organizations Committee, which is headed by George Nelson Peek, noted farm leader, of Moline, Ill.

PROGRESSIVES OUT FOR SMITH

LaFollette Organ Issues Call to 5,000,000 Followers of Late Senator

MADISON, Wis.—Any lingering doubt that the Republican Progressive vote of the Nation would go to the Democratic presidential candidate has been dispelled by startling political developments during the past week.

The Capital Times, long known as the organ of the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette, and the leading Progressive newspaper in the West, in an outstanding editorial declared for Governor Smith for President, and called upon all Progressives in the State and Nation to support him.

Senator "Bob" LaFollette, Jr., is a large stockholder in the Capital Times.

The editorial pronouncement is regarded as an official appeal to the 5,000,000 voters who supported the colorful Wisconsin senator in his campaign for President in 1924.

Blaine on Stamp for Smith

It was followed immediately by the announcement of Senator John J. Blaine that he would speak for Governor Smith. Senator Blaine, who was elected three times by the Republicans as Governor of Wisconsin, succeeded to the leadership of the Wisconsin Progressives upon the death of the elder LaFollette. He had previously denounced Hoover. Senator Norris, of Nebraska, dominant Republican Progressive leader, has also endorsed Smith's stand on farm relief and water power.

The Republican State Central Committee in Wisconsin, headed by Herman L. Ekern, has repeatedly refused to endorse the Hoover-Curtis ticket. Over the doorway of a local hotel is a flaming banner reading: "Progressive Republican Headquarters: Alfred E. Smith for President."

Prosperity For ALL!

Governor Smith wins praise all over the country for his candor, courage, sincerity and progressiveness. He brings truth, honesty and square dealing to the front as living issues. To his great ability, vast experience and deep, human understanding is added rare discrimination and a keen sense of responsibility. He is free from guile. His life is clean, wholesome and simple. He goes into battle rejoicing, self-reliant and with song and humor in his heart—Truly "A Happy Warrior."

Governor Smith believes in the intelligence and the honesty of the masses of the people . . . they are always his court of last resort . . . every time a great issue arises he naturally goes to the people themselves for guidance and support. He never appeals to their passions or unworthy ambitions. He goes straight to their head and heart. He is one of the few great leaders of masses in all history who does not stoop to the tactics of the demagogue.

Inspired by such leadership Democrats of Kentucky and the Nation are sweeping on to a glorious victory on November 6!

RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE

"Let me remind the Democrats of the country that we belong to the party of Thomas Jefferson whose proud boast was that he was the author of the Virginia Statute of religious liberty. Let us remind the citizens of every political faith that the statute of religious liberty has become a part of the sacred heritage of our land. The Constitutional guarantee that there should be no religious test for public office is not a mere form of words. It represents the greatest guarantee of liberty that was ever given to any people."—(From Gov. Smith's Oklahoma City Speech.)

CHAMPIONS FARMER'S CAUSE

I propose action for inaction, friendliness for hostility. The fundamental purpose of the McNary-Hoover bill was to establish an effective control of the sale of exportable surplus, with the one purpose in mind—the conservation of the farm. The Democratic Party squarely opposed it. For that principle I squarely stand. It remains for you to work out the details. I have pledged myself to name a non-partisan commission of farm leaders and students of the problem to work out the plan to be presented to Congress immediately on its opening, and I shall support this body until a satisfactory plan is placed upon the statute books."—(From Gov. Smith's Omaha Speech.)

WILL ENFORCE 18th AMENDMENT

"If with one hand on the Bible and the other hand raised to heaven I promise the people to execute the office of President of the United States, you may be sure that I shall live up to that oath to the last degree. I shall, to the very limit, execute the pledge of our platform to make an honest endeavor to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and all other provisions of the Federal Constitution and all laws enacted pursuant thereto. There is no question here of the return of the saloon."

VOTE FOR SMITH AND YOUR DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL NOMINEE!

GOVERNOR ALFRED E. SMITH
FOR PRESIDENT

I shall never advocate nor approve any law which directly or indirectly permits the return of the saloon. (From Gov. Smith's Speech of Acceptance.)

LIVING DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES

Government must function, not to conserve our wealth but to preserve equal opportunities to all to share alike in our progress. Prosperity should not be confined to a favored few. Business, small and great, should be encouraged. Conserve human happiness and liberty. Break the shackles of monopoly. Observe the Constitutional guarantee of religious freedom and tolerance. These are living Democratic principles.

REPUBLICAN PLEDGES BROKEN

In 1924 the Republican platform pledged the party to "the enactment of measures which will place agriculture on an equal basis with other industries." In the last two sessions Congress passed two farm relief bills. A Republican President vetoed both acts, offering no constructive measure to aid the farmer. The Republican party at Kansas City adopted the same platform pledge, in identical the same words as it did in 1924, thereby acknowledging its flagrant violation of its prior pledge.

REPUBLICAN CORRUPTION

The Democratic platform vehemently condemns the world corruption and unbridled rapacity that characterized the administration under Republican rule. The country has stood aghast at the shocking theories and startling depravities of Republican cabinet ministers in all lease speculations, grafting upon alien trust funds giving and receiving oil bribes for Republican campaign purposes, looting hospital resources of disabled soldiers, purchasing seats in the United States senate, a cheap feigning of official patriotism—all making up a Republican rule saturated with dishonesty and defeat and contempt of public opinion.

Sen. A. W. Barkley

Will Address the Voters of Fulton and Vicinity

AT THE CITY HALL IN FULTON TONIGHT,
NOVEMBER 2, AT 7:30

Senator Barkley needs no introduction to our people. He comes to us in the interest of the Smith-Robinson ticket. He is the idol of Kentucky Democracy and you may count on what he says as being absolutely true.

BARKLEY SAYS A DEMOCRATIC VICTORY IN KENTUCKY IS ASSURED

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 1—"A Democratic victory in Kentucky on November 6 is assured!" This was the unequivocal statement made at Democratic State Headquarters by U. S. Senator Alben W. Barkley, state campaign chairman, who stated that he based his prediction of victory on reports reaching headquarters and on his own observations during an extensive speaking tour that has included many counties of the State.

"The Democratic Campaign Committee and Democratic leaders throughout the State are jubilant about the situation in every county," Senator Barkley said in his statement. "The tide has definitely set in for Governor Smith and it is now traveling with such velocity that nothing can stop it. Our Democratic men and women and thousands of Independent voters and thinking Republicans are responding to Governor Smith's leadership. They admire his courage, his ability and his honesty. They like his candor, his great ability to do things for and with the aid of the masses of our people.

"For several weeks there has been a definite trend toward Governor Smith in Kentucky. The great ovation tendered him on his recent visit to Kentucky crushed the last vestige of effective opposition. Since that time G. O. P. leaders have been in a state resembling panic.

"On the other hand Democratic men and women, inspired by Governor Smith's presence, bent more earnestly to the task of giving our standard-bearer a majority in Kentucky. We are confident of victory. It is in the air. We propose to clinch that victory through the unceasing activity of our workers through election day on Tuesday, November 6."

METHODIST DEAN, A DRY REPUBLICAN, FOR SMITH

One of America's foremost educators, Dr. Edward T. Devine, dean of the American University Graduate School, Washington, D. C., a prominent Methodist minister, is speaking in behalf of Governor Smith. Dr. Devine is a Republican and a Dry.

"OLD IRONSIDES" UNUSUAL IN SUBJECT AND TREATMENT

Embracing many photographic and technical innovations, James Cruze's "Old Ironsides," stupendous historical and romantic sea story which comes to the Grand Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, brings to the screen one of the most startling photoplays ever presented.

Among the unusual features introduced in the picture are the following:

The villain of "Old Ironsides," the Bashaw of Tripoli, appears in but one reel of the photoplay.

The hero of the story is a battleship, the frigate "Constitution."

An entirely new type of camera, constructed so that it would photograph the rolling motion of a ship without itself being subject to any movement, was invented for "Old Ironsides." This was necessary because more than half of the picture was photographed upon the ocean with storms raging much of the time.

Each player possesses his or her own name in the story. Thus, Esther Ralston is known as "Esther," Wallace Beery is "Wallace Beery," and George Bancroft is simply "George Bancroft." The only exceptions to this case are the historical characters.

Handsome Office

One of the handsomest offices in the city today is that of the Western Union Telegraph Co., located in the New Kentuckian Hotel building on Church street. It is refreshing indeed to step into this place of business and take a look at the beautiful furnishings and conveniences provided for the public as well as for the operating force. Everything is sparkling with its newest and Mrs. Ruby Reeves, the clever manager in charge, is all smiles—just tickled to death. We all know Mrs. Reeves and the splendid service she renders. In fact, we do not hesitate in saying she is one of the most efficient, accommodating and loyal employees on the Western Union Telegraph Company's staff of operators. No wonder this great corporation has provided such a handsome office in Fulton. It would be a credit to any city.

Mr. A. J. Campbell, district manager, of Nashville, was in the city this week on an inspection tour and is well pleased with the Fulton office and the manner in which the business is conducted under the management of Mrs. Reeves. The editor had the pleasure of meeting him and he told us that his company was spending millions of dollars to perfect the best service possible for the public.

TELLER WHO FRUSTRATED BANK ROBBERY GIVEN PERILOUS TRUST

"The Man Without a Face," New Patheserial, Starts Saturday

In the interior of China, in the midst of the rebellion, are finally located two sisters who are heiresses to one of the largest fortunes in the United States. To claim it their presence is required in Los Angeles, and when James Brisbane, bank teller, frustrates a daylight bank robbery, he is promoted to the responsibility of going to China and bringing the girls safely home.

But, in a velvet hung underground den operates one whose face is ever hidden beneath a hood—who is believed to be a man without a face by the poor wretches he has in his control, and who are forced to do his bidding. One such chap is Ray Ellis, who must choose between life imprisonment and going to China and seeing that the heiresses never get to the United States.

Thus starts the new Patheserial, "The Man Without a Face," adapted from the story by A. M. Williamson, directed by Spencer Borden Bennet and starring Allene Ray and Walter Miller. Miller plays the role of the bank teller, who has a lot of adventures trying to protect the girls. Miss Ray and Jeanette Loff play the sisters, Gladden James is the mystery man's chief henchman, E. H. Calvert is the man who holds the fortune in trust and the mystery man is . . . who?

The first chapter of "The Man Without a Face" is to be shown Saturday at the Orpheum, a chapter following each week on the same days for nine successive weeks. It promises suspense, action thrills and a double romantic theme.

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Friday night of last week both boys and girls basketball teams met Bardwell boys and girls on Bardwell court. The first game was played between the girls. Our girls lost by a score of 16-4, while the boys won in a hard fought game of 20-16. These game were the most interesting of the season. In the boys' game Rupert Moore and Paul Brown were outstanding players. Quite a bit of comment was made on the guarding done by Paul Fite. Both teams showed good sportsmanship. There were six cars from Beelerton that went and we were so glad to see Beelerton so well represented.

The Operetta which was to have been given on Saturday night, October 27, at this auditorium, has been postponed until Saturday night week, November 2.

Each room is being artistically decorated with appropriate decorations for Halloween, also the flowers have been brought in to protect them from the cold weather.

Last Wednesday morning the High school students assembled in the Junior and Senior room and listened to a lecture given by Mr. Crisp. He chose as his subject, "School Spirit." Under this he brought out the essential things which denote school spirit and one of these was pep. He stated that it was very easy to start pep if you would only keep it going. Don't be satisfied with a small quantity but keep climbing to higher things with same old pep. He also stated that self confidence and determination were two great things toward the road of success. Depend on yourself for you can accomplish most anything if you only try. Have confidence in yourself and the other fellow. One of the greatest poets ever known stated that "You can if you think you can," and you will find this true that when you really think you can you are going to accomplish something. You are going to have more success than you would otherwise. Mr. Crisp stressed determination very much. Are you determined to make a success at anything you undertake to do? If so, you will always achieve higher ideals in life. Self confidence, determination and pep are three great phases for your success in life. Each student enjoyed his lecture extremely well and were determined to have more school spirit than we have had in the past.

The high school girls have entered the declamatory contest and each girl is working on declamations. We will have a tryout sometime before Christmas.

We were very glad to have Mrs. Vernon McAllister with us on last Monday morning during chapel period. We would also be glad for each patron to visit us some time. It helps the students, makes them feel that you are interested in them, helps the teachers. Just try and make us a call sometime and learn what your child is doing.

THE PROUDEST TITLE

Charles Evans Hughes, former Secretary of State and Republican candidate for President in 1916, presenting Governor Smith to the New York City Bar Association on March 3, 1925, described him as "one who represents to us the expert in government and, I might say, a master in the science of politics."

"If we had the customs of other lands, he would long ago have been elevated to the peerage. But we do better than that. He long since became a member of high distinction in the fine aristocracy of public service. We have watched him, some of us carefully, all with fascination. The title that he holds is the proudest title that any American can hold, because it is a title to the esteem and affection of his fellow citizens."

Cayce News

The school is progressing very nicely. The weather is very hot and sultry for much successful school work. Mrs. Bondurant and Prof. Rains are very busy in filling out report cards for this month.

Juanita Mabrey was absent from school 2 days on account of illness. The pupils all welcomed her back.

The high school girls had a meeting Thursday and organized the girl's basket ball team. They expect to begin playing real soon. The P. T. A. voted to give them their ball.

Prof. Rains has purchased some very much wanted school ground equipment for the amusement of the smaller students which seem to be enjoyed very much.

The Victorian Literary Society entertained with the following program:

Piano solo - Mary Milton Wade
Forum - Donald Mabrey
Some facts on Mythology - Gladys Mophin
Reading - Juanita Hickman
Chorus - "Underneath a Parasol" - Leonard Allen, Mary Townsend, Lanette Nelson, Morey Jeffress, Nora Lee Palsgrove, Kenneth Oliver, Murrel Jeffress, Maxine Wade, Louise Jeffress, Fred Bondurant.

Dialogue - Gordon McClellan and Ruby Wade.

Mrs. Rains has secured a new play table and cabinet for the Primary room, which is a great benefit to them.

The east side of the building has been screened to protect the windows from all outdoor sports. The 7th and 8th grade, sponsored by Miss Ruth Wade, entertained at chapel with a Columbus Day program Wednesday morning.

All the high school boys are looking forward to the basket ball game Friday afternoon, between Sylvan Shade and Cayce. This being the first game of the season we are anxious for our boys to win.

The community is very enthusiastic with the idea of our school having electric lights which will be a great benefit in operating a picture machine.

The Utopian Lit Society will entertain Friday afternoon.

Verdict For Defendant

Clinton, Ky.—The case of N. H. Jackson against Hickman county for $10,000 damages, which was up for trial in circuit court here last week, resulted in a verdict for the defendant. At the last term of court Mr. Jackson was awarded a verdict for $500 but sought a new trial which was granted for this term of court and a special jury summoned from Fulton county to try the case. The suit is the result of the drainage board commissioners of Hickman county causing to be cut a ditch that drained water onto the Jackson farm. It is understood that Mr. Jackson will appeal the case.

Pertinent Questions by Reed

In a speech delivered in the City of Baltimore, Thursday night, Oct. 25, Sen. Jas. A. Reed of Missouri addressed the following questions to Mr. Hoover with the request that he take the American people into his confidence and answer them:

"Do you include within your general approval the theft of the oil lands by Sinclair, which were perpetrated under the Harding Administration?"

"If you do not approve, why did you not voice that disapproval when the steals were being perpetrated under your very nose?"

"Did you approve of the payment by Sinclair to your fellow Cabinet member, Fall, of more than $293,000?"

"Did you approve the lease to Doheny which has since been condemned by the Supreme court as a gross and conscienceless fraud?"

Did you include in your blanket indorsement the secret payment by Sinclair of the debts of the Republican National Committee by the transfer of Government bonds?"

"Did you approve the secret cashing of those bonds by Cabinet officers?"

"Does that sort of business contribute to the 'spiritual uplift and preservation of American homes' which you are now advocating?"

"Do you include in your blanket indorsement the approval of conduct of your fellow Cabinet member, Mr. Mellon, in the collecting of more than $2,000,000 to secure the nomination of Pepper for the Senate?"

"Do you include in your indorsement the approval of the political methods of Mr. Vare, whose influence secured your nomination at the Republican Convention? If you do not approve, why do you accept Vare's support?"

"Do you include in your blanket indorsement an approval of the preparation of a tariff bill under Mr. Mellon's direction which gave him a tariff upon his aluminum trust products of 11c per pound and 55 per cent, ad valorem on kitchen utensils? Is that the way you propose to bring prosperity into the homes of your much beloved 'Main Street'?"

"In your blanket approval of the Republican policies of the last two administrations, do you mean to assert that they have properly met and solved problems of the farmers?"

"If you are devoted to this country and had your residence here all the time, why did you not vote until you were 46 years of age?"

"Where did you actually have your home during the period from the time you left here at 23 years of age and came back at the age of 46 to take a job?"

"Where was your house in which you lived with your family located?"

"Where did you actually reside when you testified in May, 1917, that your only place of residence in the country was the Willard Hotel, Washington, D. C., when you had been there only 5 days?"

"In 1914 you admit you were the director in 29 British and foreign syndicates, and that your brother was a director in 15. You now say you have resigned your directorates. Will you tell the American people where your money is invested, when it was invested and how much of it is still invested in foreign companies and syndicates?"

ALFRED
E.
SMITH

AN AMERICAN CAREER
(Optional Single Column Head)

CHAPTER XII

At the center of Smith's conception of government as an efficient tool for increasing the general welfare lies his definition of economy. He refuses the prevailing "bank" of putting before the voters two sets of figures, showing that more money was expended in one year than in another, with little reference to what was done in either year. He puts forth himself no figures that he could not put before the officers and board of directors of the best-conducted private corporation. Economy is measured by the value of what is obtained. Spending five dollars and getting a full five dollars worth of what is needed is more economical than spending four dollars which find their way into graft, wasteful administration, and patching up out-worn junk.

Among the complex purposes of so large a unit, very near the front, comes the quality of education for the child who is well educated has the best chance in life. Smith's record has shown brilliantly among American governors on educational advancement through the instrumentality of the public schools. The Republican governor, Charles S. Whitman, who preceded Smith, had to his credit the sum of $6,350,725 appropriated for the public schools during his last year in office. The first year that Governor Smith was in office, this amount was nearly doubled by the appropriation of $12,571,709, while for the current fiscal year there has been appropriated $13,750,000, a net increase since Governor Whitman's last year in office of $67,399,275.

As a result of Governor Smith's action the average salary of the public school teachers in the State has been doubled since he went into office. Particularly have the rural and small village school teachers benefited by this increase. It has been Smith's aim to provide as great an educational opportunity for rural children as for those in the large centers of population. As problems confront him, Governor Smith seeks the advice of members of all parties. He appointed the non-partisan Friedman Commission for the study of the educational problems of the State and was materially assisted by its recommendations. The Governor's discussion of the general farm question, in his acceptance speech, speaks for itself. In New York he has returned again and again to the point that the reforms he has pointed out, for the farmer's benefit, cannot be executed until we get such matters out of politics and treat them as duties.

The enormous improvement that has taken place in those institutions that exist for the care of the unfortunate, and also in those that have to do with crime, rests clearly on the Governor's feeling about the rights of the people. Because a family is too poor to pay the costs of a private sanitarium is no reason why the insane or feeble-minded member of that family should be sent to a chamber of horrors. It was when the Governor looked into those places with his own eyes that he said that such conditions must end.

We live in an age when new facilities of transportation, arms, and purchasing power have come to the aid of the criminal. The study of crimes of violence, as they exist under new conditions, is in its infancy. Nobody has taken a more intense interest in this burning problem than Smith, and nobody is better equipped by nature and experience to help it forward. He has pointed out with passionate insistence the criminal-breeding tendencies that still remain in our prison system. He if anybody can help us to change that system from a poison-center to a place in which the erring can be led back to normal life.

With a hostile legislature constantly seeking to make political capital out of impeding his work, the Governor has nevertheless been able, with the people's enthusiastic support, to finish most of his vast problem. But not all of it.

It was only a year ago that he aided the fight to take partisan politics out of State business by killing the attempt of the Republican politicians to perpetuate the system of having State elections at a time when all the voters were preoccupied with national questions. It still remains to pass an amendment putting the Governor's term at four years (which both parties favor) but setting the date so that the campaign and the election will turn on problems of the State.

There remains also a difficult question closely connected with the contest of this Presidential year. The policy of protecting the wealth of the people, so that it should not be destroyed in the get-rich-quick efforts of a few, was begun under President Cleveland, and earnestly carried on under President Roosevelt and President Wilson. The set-backs to this policy from 1921 to 1924 have been flagrant. They have ranged all the way from unjust special privilege to actual theft. If there is anything in the grand old self-government doctrine that parties should be held responsible for what they do, then the scandalous performances of Republicans in high position about oil and water-power should be enough to bring dismissal from the voters. This would be true even without the sensational fact that the campaign of 1924 was financed with money obtained from the greatest individual beneficiary of the Republican policy of giving a man anything he asks for, provided he is rich enough.

New York's water-power problem is similar to the water-power problem of the nation. Governor Smith has worked out a plan that combines his notable and balanced business ability with his devotion to popular rights. He has not done it as a partisan issue. In the campaign of 1924 he said: "It is a very strange thing that just ten years ago Theodore Roosevelt, the father of the Republican candidate for Governor, speaking in the city of Watertown, had the following to say: 'You have here in this section a most valuable asset in your natural water-power force. You have elected too many men in the past who have taken what belongs to the nation. Coal and oil barons cannot compare to power barons. Do not let them get a monopoly on what belongs to the State. . . . There has been an effort to give that control to the Aluminum Trust.' President Roosevelt did not live to see the leading figure in the Aluminum Trust the most influential member in the cabinets of two Presidents."

The Smith plan takes out of the hands of legislative committees the duty of making contracts with the smart lawyers working for the power companies. It puts that duty into the hands of an expert commission, similar to the Port Authority which deals with New York harbor facilities. Governor Smith himself sat for two years on this commission, which has had a notable success. Such an agency does not put the State into Administrative business work, but puts it into a favorable position for dealing with the power companies by having it own the generation plants and enables it to build transmission plants if the power companies try to force exorbitant terms, the work to be done not on State credit, but on bonds based on the property itself. There is in this Presidential campaign no nearer form of the question of whether there is any limit whatever to the amount that the political servants of the big money interests shall be allowed to turn over to them. As President Roosevelt said, what can be grabbed in power is greater than what has already been grabbed in coal and oil.

Smith can discuss in a friendly way with men from Wall Street, from Engineering Society, from Bar Association, Labor Organization, understands them, but never fooled by them.

CHAPTER XIII

One of the sources of Governor Smith's strength as Governor of New York has been the caliber of his appointments. During his four terms in Albany the Senate has always been Republican. The Senate, nevertheless, has not in a single instance refused to confirm an appointment which Governor Smith desired to make. This record is in striking contrast with the record of Mr. Coolidge, a Republican President, many of whose nominations to office have been refused confirmation by a Republican Senate.

To a remarkable degree Governor Smith's appointments have ignored party lines. The Governor's Cabinet contains fourteen members. Eight are Republicans, two are Independents and four are Democrats. Outside of the Governor's Cabinet and among the State departments and major division heads, there are twenty-five principal offices. These are filled by eight Republicans, three Independents and fourteen Democrats.

The Secretary of State of the State of New York has investigated the religion of the persons whom Governor Smith has appointed to office. Information on church affiliations did not exist in the Governor's office, and the appointments had to be written to and asked about their religion. The replies showed that three members of the Governor's Cabinet were Catholics, one was of Jewish descent and ten were Protestants.

These facts are sufficient answer to the charge which has been whispered that as President Governor Smith's administration would be controlled by Catholics and Tammany Hall. The bogey of Tammany Hall is considered

New York under Governor Smith's leadership and in spite of opposition from a Republican legislature has adopted much advanced social legislation, including workmen's compensation laws, widow's pension, child labor laws and laws regulating the employment of women. Governor Smith has continually pressed for the improvement and extension of this legislation. We quote as an example a passage from his annual message in 1925 urging the establishment of a minimum wage commission.

"What justification can there be for a policy on the part of the State which permits large numbers of its women workers, themselves helpless, to work for starvation wages, for wages insufficient to maintain themselves in health and in decent comfort? Somebody must pay for this, and payment is exacted in the form of charitable institutions, in the form of reduced health, impaired efficiency, human suffering and weakened future generations."

"Let us, at least, not ignore this problem entirely. Let us go as far as we can under the decision of the United States Supreme Court. Let us make a fair effort to remedy the social injustice which this condition brings about. I, therefore, earnestly renew the recommendation that I have made on many other occasions to your Honorable Bodies for the creation of such a Minimum Wage Board within the Department of Labor."—New York State Department of Labor Bulletin No. 155, p. 18.

Governor Smith's interest in humanitarian legislation is well illustrated by his attitude toward the Maternity and Infancy Act of 1921. That Act, it will be recalled, was vigorously supported by the League of Women Voters. The facts were as follows: When the question of accepting the terms of the Maternity and Infancy Act of 1921 was presented to the State of New York in 1922, Governor Miller and the Republican Legislative leaders decided that the Federal Act should be rejected. The Republican leaders sought to make a gesture which would conciliate, if it did not fool, the women who were invested in the measure. The proposal was to appropriate in behalf of maternity and infancy work for the State more money than the State would have been required to appropriate in order to secure its allotment from the funds made available by the Maternity and Infancy Act. Representative Frederick M. Davenport, at that time a member of the State Senate, was quoted in the New York Evening Post of February 1, 1922, as follows:

"The State of New York. If this measure is enacted into law, formally repudiates the growing tendency of the National Government to encroach in a subtle fashion upon the functions and activities of the States. A policy which drags the State Government to the chariot wheels of the National Government in a constantly increasing number of matting proposals and multiplying functions and expenditures is fraught with ultimate disaster not only to the States, but to the National Government itself."

The next year, however, the Legislature in response to Governor Smith's advocacy of the Maternity and Infancy Act, reversed its action of 1922 and accepted the terms of the Federal Statute. The State has operated successfully under it ever since. The original plan was for five year period. It was renewed by an Act of January 2, 1927, for two years.

Mr. Hoover has not expressed any opinion on this matter.

Governor Smith was first a Presidential candidate before a Democratic national convention at San Francisco in 1920. There his name was presented by Congressman W. Bourke Cockran. Smith had not been a national figure long enough to secure for him the nomination. He cheerfully supported the ticket of Governor James M. Cox of Ohio and Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. In fact, he himself presented the name of Roosevelt before the convention for the Vice Presidency.

It is interesting to note that the man he placed in nomination for the Vice Presidency in 1929 should appoint the Democratic conventions of 1924 and 1928 at New York and Houston and present his name for the Presidency. Roosevelt made brilliant speeches at both the New York and Houston conventions. Smith failed to receive the nomination in 1924 because of the deadlock between his forces and those of William G. McAdoo, although for a time he and in the balloting. When John W. Davis was nominated on the 16th ballot, Smith accepted the nomination and urged Davis's election in the speeches he made that year.

When the Democratic national ticket went down to overwhelming defeat four years ago and Smith triumphed again for governor, Smith became the foremost Democrat in the nation. His nomination at Houston was lost, although many of his supporters did not anticipate that it would come so easily on the first ballot. The selection of Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas as his running mate smothered a precedent that had existed since the Civil War, the naming of a man from the South. Smith's nomination had smashed another, the naming of a Roman Catholic, the first time it had been done in the history of the party which has benefited greatly by the support it has received from the voters of that faith.

The Turn of The Tide

Thus far Governor Smith has been campaigning in the States where he is least well known and therefore in territory where the underground propaganda has been most effective. His success has been amazing. No competent observer can have any doubt that the contrast between Mr. Hoover's alliances, evasions and irreverences, on the one hand, and Governor Smith's plain speaking, on the other, has made a profound impression on the voters, declares the New York World.

Everywhere the question is being asked: What keeps Herbert Hoover from speaking his mind? Why can't he say what he thinks about water power, farm relief, prohibition? Why does he have to make a fake issue out of the tariff? Why do his spellbinders have to misrepresent Governor Smith's position on immigration? Why, when every intelligent business man knows it is absurd, does Mr. Hoover, who eight years ago appealed for a Democratic Congress, now pretend to believe that the Republicans have a patent on prosperity? In less than a month of campaigning Governor Smith has unsettled, exposed and discredited the Republican campaign strategy. He has already reversed the whole trend of opinion in the South and West.

The Republicans, who thought that the South would change its allegiance to the Democratic Party at the behest of Southern bigots and fanatics, must know by this time that Bishop Cannon, Dr. Stratton and Mrs. Willebrandt have failed. Southern leaders know better than any one else that to turn over their States to the so-called Hoover Democrats is to surrender to the worst elements in their communities. The border States from West Virginia to Oklahoma are fighting ground; the bigots and fanatics have done their worst, and the liberals are on the offensive. In the West, from Wisconsin to Colorado, the whole Progressive vote, which followed Roosevelt, Wilson and La Follette, has been moving steadily toward Smith since the Omaha speech.

The Republicans know all this quite well, and in the last ten days they have done their best to conceal the greatness of the tide toward Smith by a propaganda of defeatism among the band-wagon voters.

For an historical parallel it is necessary to go back to the victory of Andrew Jackson in 1832 and of Abraham Lincoln in 1860. For today, as in those two epochal campaigns, a multitude of American voters, hitherto disregarded by the party in power, have found a champion and a program. No dooper studying the figures of 1832 and 1860 can possibly calculate the consequences of the uprising in the West and in the East of millions of silent voters whom the Republican Party has treated as second-class citizens.

All that anybody can say is that the tide has turned toward Smith, and that with courage, intelligence and candor the victory can be won.

Daniels Appeals for Solid Southern Vote

By JOSEPHUS DANIELS
Secretary of the Navy in President Wilson's Cabinet

This year Republican politicians turn avid eyes to old rock-ribbed Democratic commonwealths in the hope of securing enough electoral votes from the South to make up the losses which they expect to sustain because of revolt against the policies which have permitted the few to monopolize the bulk of prosperity created by the labor of the many.

If the secret circulation of literature the Republican leaders are ashamed to send out under their name, if the lavish use of money obtained from those enjoying special favors, and the misleading statements as to the Republican policies succeed, they hope to temporarily seduce the South from its ancient faith.

Nobody pretends there is any increase of Republican sentiment in the South for Republican policies. This would be impossible in view of the record of the Republican Administration. The chief possibility of Republican victory is based upon the division between Democrats.

The answer will be, and it should be made with resounding emphasis, that just as for fifty years Southerners have refused to sell their birthright for a proffered mess of pottage, so they will decline the invitation now of the Republican spider to walk into his parlor.

BOOTLEG KING FOR HOOVER

CINCINNATI.—George Remus, who lost his prestige as the "King of the Bootleggers" a year ago, when he shot his wife, Mrs. Imogene Remus, is for Herbert Hoover for President. "I'm sure Mr. Hoover will be elected," he said. "I am for him, of course."

Many in W.C.T.U. Revolt And Work to Elect Smith

Prominent members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, outraged at seeing that long respected organization being used as a political machine, are everywhere rising in revolt, as reported in despatches to the New York World and Times.

Throughout the country and especially in the South, intelligent and sincere women, including many of the most active workers for temperance, are publicly condemning what they declare to be an attempt to dupe their more credulous associates by the circulation of slanderous falsehoods and thinly veiled appeals to religious hatred.

Among the well known prohibitionists to express amazement and indignation over the intolerant political campaign being waged in the name of the W. C. T. U. is Mrs. B. L. Stafford, past chairman of the W. C. T. U. in Mobile, Alabama, and a prominent member of the Baptist church.

Dry Propaganda False

Another well known Alabama woman, Mrs. T. Darlington Semple, head of the famous Semple School for Girls, declared:

"It's about time we tore away the subterfuge of prohibition and admit the opposition to Governor Smith in the South is based wholly on religious grounds. The insidious propaganda of the whispering campaign should be denounced in the strongest words we can think of."

One of the leading members of the W. C. T. U. who have denounced the part taken in the present campaign by those who have usurped control of the organization, is Mrs. Elizabeth Jenkinson, of Monroe, Nebraska. A State Director of Publicity for the W. C. T. U., Mrs. Jenkinson resigned as a protest against the anti-Smith campaign. She is now assistant manager of the Agricultural League of Nebraska, which is working actively for Governor Smith election.

In Portsmouth, Va., Mrs. Carrie Sykes, a Methodist Church communicant, describing herself as a "lifelong member" of the W. C. T. U., has resigned because of statements made at a recent banquet of the Virginia State organization by a prominent W. C. T. U. official.

The legal adviser of the W. C. T. U. in Georgia, Mrs. Betty R. Cobb of Carrollton, resigned following the board's decision to support Hoover. She then volunteered her services to the Democratic State Campaign Committee in the belief that Smith's election guaranteed a better chance for real enforcement than the Republican record of graft and corruption.

Because she disliked the effort of the W. C. T. U. to boost Hoover, Mrs. Mayme H. Adams of Livingston, Cal., resigned as State director of outdoor exhibits and fairs for the California W. C. T. U., at the same time resigning the Presidency of the Livingston Chapter. Mrs. Adams also feels that the election of Smith would tend toward better enforcement of National Prohibition.

"Don't Be Deceived"

A member of the Alabama Executive Committee of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. Mabel Jones West of Birmingham, has announced that she will support Gov. Smith, and is appealing to the women of her State "not to be deceived by paid Republican propaganda." Mrs. West also is an active worker in the Baptist Church.

Mrs. J. B. Houton of Charleston, W. Va., a W. C. T. U. leader for more than seventeen years, has been speaking in favor of Smith.

A prominent member of the Presbyterian Church in Jefferson City, Mo., and an ardent worker in the W. C. T. U., Mrs. John P. Gordon, wife of the former State Auditor of Missouri, is aiding Smith.

Mrs. Amanda Gilchrist, descendant of a line of Methodist and Baptist preachers, a "white ribbon" veteran, and W. C. T. U. worker for many years, is another Missouri woman, who although a Republican, is for Governor Smith because of what she calls the "damnable curse of Prohibition."

These are only a few of the sincere W. C. T. U. members who are reported in all parts of the country, to be rising in arms against the "unwomanly, un-Christian and intemperate policy of the present leaders of the Women's Christian Temperance Union."

"Prosperity"

There are, as everybody now knows, two Republican campaigns, the official campaign and the unofficial campaign. In theory they are separate. In fact they are perfectly harmonious.

Like Mr. Hoover, we find that charts are useful in keeping track of a complicated organization. So we present here our own blueprint of how the Republican campaign of 1928 is being run.

Cal. Horace Mann, Southern manager
Mrs. Mabel Walker Whitehead, Assistant
Attorney General of the United States

With this diagram of the Republican campaign in mind we can proceed to discuss what our neighbor the Herald Tribune describes as "the powerful offensive now sweeping forward." This powerful offensive, it says, is "the underlying issue of prosperity." That is inaccurate. Prosperity is the underlying issue, the official issue, the ostensible issue, the thing which the respectable spellbinders have been told to talk about. The underlying issue on which the Republicans really base their hope of success are the issues in the unofficial campaign. The real purpose of the prosperity talk is to frighten and distract the attention of those business men and wage earners and professional men and women in the East who are on the verge of revolt against the intolerable character of the unofficial Republican campaign. The Republican spellbinders have no intention of appealing to reason or of dealing with the facts. Their object is to frighten, not to persuade, and they will under no circumstances permit themselves to be drawn into a real discussion of economic questions. Their plan is simply to claim the credit for all the prosperity that exists and to threaten the ignorant and the timorous with bankruptcy, unemployment and disaster if they vote for Governor Smith. We know from the utterances of Messrs. Hoover, Curtis, Work and Longworth that in this prosperity campaign they will stop at nothing; neither at the downright falsification of the statistics nor the downright misrepresentation of what Governor Smith has said.—The New York World.

DR. CADMAN ASSAILS BIGOTED PREACHERS

The campaign of bigotry being waged by intolerant and ignorant clergymen in some parts of the country was denounced by Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, noted New York clergyman, in an address broadcast over twenty radio stations under the auspices of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

"I regret to state," he said, "that there has been in this country a spirit of backbiting, malignant slandering, malicious lying of an unprecedented extent. If one told me that bigotry of every sort, accompanied as it is always by false accusations and bearing false witness against one's neighbor would have arisen, as it has arisen in some cases I could name, I would not have believed it of the American people."

"The pulpit is no place to preach politics," he declared. "Let us devote the pulpit to far higher things."

BISHOP DECRIES BIGOTRY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Ministers who use their pulpits for the discussion of political issues and the stirring up of religious prejudice were denounced by the Right Rev. Charles P. Anderson, Episcopal Bishop of Chicago, in an address before the General Convention of the Episcopal Church.

"Unhappily, the priceless possession of religious liberty, which has been won at great cost, is being threatened in our day," he said. "Is there to be a renascence of religious intolerance in this land, to which men can find freedom?"

J. T. WATKINS ATTENDS DYER COUNTY FAIR

Dyer County held their annual county fair last Friday and Saturday, which was largely attended both days. We went down and enjoyed it immensely. The chicken show was a dandy. Over 400 birds entered, and some real good stuff. I believe the silver Wyandottes were the best all round bunch of silvers I have seen in a good many shows. Barred rocks and Rhode Island Reds were also above the average, some mighty good rose combed reds were also shown. Small, but good entry of white Wyandottes, large class of Buff Orpingtons, with Mrs. D. J. Perry winning the bulk of the prizes. She won first and second cockerel, first and second pullet, first young pen, champion cockerel of the show, also sweepstakes young pen in the heavy breeds. Dyer county is strong for the English type of white leghorns and had a large entry but I wouldn't know how to go about judging them for there is no standard set for them, so I would be at a loss what to do. I would suggest they make a class for Standard White Leghorns for their next show.

There was also a good entry of turkeys and waterfowl. Quite a bunch of bantams were entered by the boys and girls, but when asked what breed they were, they said, "just bantams." So here is another field for the county agent to work on. Get these boys and girls lined up on purebred bantams, as there is always a demand for good bantams.

There is always a jokesmith connected with everything that is good, and in this case one of them entered a coot as a "Hoover Bird, last one in the South," but I am afraid the joke will be on him for after the election he will find there are a great many of them in the south, and quite a few in the vicinity of Newbern. The Ladies' Department came up to the standard on fancy work, culinary, home economics and school departments. Each department was small but quite good. The cakes looked good, but they wouldn't let me sample them, so I can't tell anything by the looks. There was a large display of fancy and plain sewing. The farm and garden products was a small display but good. In dairy cat-cows, some good, some not so good. Beef cattle had an entry of four Herefords that were pictures, also one large Polled Angus bull that was a dandy. Hogs and sheep were not very plentiful, but what were there were good.

I think it is a shame that a county as large and rich in resources as Dyer, does not have a suitable place to hold their fairs. I believe if they would organize a fair association, build the fair grounds about half way between Dyersburg and Newbern on the highway, it would be a go from the very start. There is no reason why, in a few years, the fair there should not outshine Jackson. They have as good farming communities if not better than there are around Jackson and the people are surely as big boosters as they have anywhere. I want to say the poultry show this year was a credit to any county fair held anywhere in the United States, good birds and plenty of them.

KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY

INCORPORATED

EVERY SHIPMENT HELPS

The freight service of the Illinois Central System is provided by a capable, experienced organization numbering tens of thousands of employees and utilizing an investment in road and equipment of hundreds of millions of dollars. It is qualified in every way to fill efficiently all needs for commodity transportation. Here are some of its distinctive merits:

It is speedy, because time means nearly as much nowadays in freight as in passenger service. It is economical, having increased less in price than most commodities. It is dependable, because equipment is adequate, power is ample, and the track is in better condition than ever before.

The freight service of the Illinois Central System has ample capacity to take care of any probable amount of traffic, and its usefulness is not limited to any particular kind of shipment; the heaviest and the lightest, the largest and the smallest, those going a few miles and those going thousands are accommodated with equal facility.

Every specialized detail of service is provided for. Shipments requiring protection from moisture are transported in cars affording such protection. Refrigerator cars, which also can be heated, are available for commodities subject to damage from temperature changes. The whereabouts of shipments enroute can be readily ascertained at any time. Shippers can rely upon an exceptionally high degree of safety for their commodities and upon being reimbursed for loss or damage, if any occurs.

Freight service like this is a community asset of the first importance. Its availability is a primary consideration in the location of industrial and commercial enterprises. Its contribution to agricultural development is indicated, for example, by the strides made in fruit and vegetable growing in the territory through which this railroad runs.

The ability of a railroad to provide good freight service depends upon the volume of freight handled. Large shipments, of course, do most to swell the volume of traffic, but every shipment, even the smallest, helps to keep the railroad busy and to make possible good service at low prices. The Illinois Central System therefore heartily solicits and appreciates shipments of every size and kind.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

President, Illinois Central System.

Republican Panic

So marked is the impetus taken on by Governor Smith's campaign as election day draws near, that Republican leaders everywhere manifest signs of genuine panic.

The G. O. P. high command sees the "writing on the wall" in the East. Their campaign managers in the Northwest, where the La Follette Progressive vote is lined up behind the Democratic candidate, are distracted by a sense of impending disaster. Their hope of breaking the Democratic dominance of the South is vanishing. And now a threat of utter rout comes with the tremendous reaction to Governor Smith's speeches in the border States.

Not without significance in its betrayal of the extreme anxiety of the Hoover politicians, is their insistent call upon President Coolidge for advice, for help, for reassurance.

The President did not choose to give Mr. Hoover the active aid in the campaign which G. O. P. leaders had deemed so desirable. What he did offer was also encouragement. The Republican candidate, he told the anxious politicians, was sure to win. He advised Mr. Hoover to keep cool, not to be stampeded into any rash act, not to say too much. And Mr. Hoover, it is apparent, has been influenced by that advice in his speaking campaign.

The publication in New York newspapers of President Coolidge's optimistic statements was followed immediately by a trip to Washington by Charles D. Hilles, New York National Committee man, and H. Edmund Mac-hold, who recently resigned his water power associations to become the Republican State Chairman in New York.

They, too, tried desperately to dispel the defeatist atmosphere which has fallen over Republican campaign workers from Massachusetts to Montana. "The situation in New York looks very good," they assured Mr. Hoover. They backed the assertion with figures which were far in excess of the most partisan estimate given out by anyone in close touch with conditions in that State.

At the same time M. William Bray, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, was completing his annual canvass of county chairmen. According to the official reports of these chairmen, Governor Smith's vote in the counties outside of New York City, will be 30 per cent greater than in 1924 when the Governor was elected on the Democratic ticket although the State was carried by Coolidge. In 1924 Governor Smith's vote in the up-State districts was $90,000; reports of the county chairmen show that this year it will approximate 1,000,000. As in the past, the Governor is sure of an overwhelming majority in New York City.

Even Mr. Hoover must realize that his followers are painting a political mirage when they base their assurances of victory on the claim that Governor Smith will lose the State which four times elected him to its highest office.

Bible Class Leader

Strong for Al Smith.

(Memphis Commercial-Appeal)

In a letter addressed to Democratic headquarters, Mrs. J. F. Mathis gives her reason for actively supporting Gov. Alfred E. Smith and the Democratic ticket. Mrs. Mathis is prominent in the work of First Methodist Church, where she has been a Sunday school teacher for 30 years, and where she has for the past several years taught an adult Bible class of men and women.

"I shall vote for Gov. Smith and the Democratic ticket," Mrs. Mathis states, "first because I am a prohibitionist, a southerner and a Democrat; second because we need a statesman broad, strong, sincere; loyal to his party his people and his church, a man who does not vacillate in politics or religion."

Sunday School Lesson

(C. 1928, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 4

WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY

LESSON TEXT—Romans 12:1-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Love worketh no ill to his neighbor, therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Obedience to Law.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Obedience to Law.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Reasons for Prohibition.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Standing for Law Enforcement.

I. The Christian's Obligation to the State (vv. 1-7).

The believer in Christ is a citizen as well as a Christian. Intelligent Christians will be loyal to the state as well as to the church. Failure to recognize this has brought Christianity into disrepute in many quarters.

1. Obedience to rulers (vv. 1-4).

This obligation is upon all Christians. The reason is that civil government is ordained of God and rulers are His representatives. To refuse obedience to civil authority is to resist God. This does not mean that a Christian at the behest of the state should do that which is inherently wrong. Submission to rightly constituted authority is the law of the believer's life, not only because God is the source of civil authority, but because it was ordained for beneficent ends.

2. The spirit in which the Christian renders obedience to rulers (v. 5).

He should regard it as his obligation, not merely because it serves a good purpose, but because it is morally right. It is a conscientious obligation to obey lawful rulers.

3. Method of expressing this obedience (vv. 6, 7).

(1) In the payment of personal and property taxes.

The citizens who enjoy the benefits of government is morally bound to support it.

(2) Payment of duty upon merchandise and license fees.

The business exchange between nations must be regulated. For such regulations expense is incurred, for which benefit the citizen should pay.

(3) Veneration of magistrates ("fear to whom fear").

Those who have the fear of God in their hearts will venerate their rulers, God's representatives.

(4) "Honor to whom honor."

This means that civil officers should be honored because of their service.

II. The Christian's Obligation to His Fellow Citizens (vv. 8-10).

This is summed up in the word "love." This obligation is perpetual. The only debt which is right to owe is that of love. The discharge of this obligation forbids:

(1) Defrauding in matters of property (v. 8).

(2) It forbids going into debt with no certainty of being able to meet one's obligation.

(3) It forbids defrauding in matters of moral purity (v. 9). Where the life is under the power of love, adultery cannot be committed.

(4) It forbids murder.

(5) It forbids stealing.

(6) It forbids coveting.

(7) It forbids the working of any ill to one's neighbor.

III. The Supreme Motive Governing the Life of the Christian (vv. 11-14).

The attitude of the Christian is that of eager expectancy. There is no time for slumber or indifference. The time of salvation is drawing near. The salvation here mentioned is not that which we obtain in justification and sanctification, but is that which we get when our redemption is completed in glorification at the second coming of Christ. Redemption is threefold:

1. Justification through faith in the blood of Jesus.

2. Sanctification through the obedience of the Word.

3. Glorification, when the fullness of redemption shall be realized at Christ's second coming.

The reasons for this attitude of expectancy are that the night of Christ's absence is far spent and the day of His glorious appearing is at hand. The proper conduct in view of this is:

1. To put off the works of darkness (v. 12), which are: reveling, drunkenness, chambering, wantonness, strife and jealousy. The child of light will not walk in drunken carousals, will not practice licentious acts and debauchery, neither engage in strife, nor be under the spell of jealousy.

2. Put on the armor of light (v. 12).

The figure here is of the Roman soldier who arose from sleep and put off his slumber robes and put on his gleaming armor.

3. Put on the Lord Jesus Christ (v. 13).

This means to enthrone Jesus Christ as the Lord of the life, to bring the life under His control.

Be Thou an Example

Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity.—Paul.
