FULTON COUNTY GETS ELECTRIFICATION FUND

J. B. McGhee, secretary of the Fulton County Farm Bureau, received a telegram last week from Senator Alben W. Mr. McGhee stated that power for this unit would probably be secured from TVA.

Tickets Being Sold For First Home Grid Game

A special boosters' drive was started Tuesday to sell tickets to the first home football game of the season which will be played here Friday, October 8, when the Golden Tide of Central City will play the Fulton Bulldogs at Fairfield.

The average of each team is about 150 pounds and both teams have an average age of 17½ years. The Bulldogs have worked unsuccessfully together so far this season but Coach Carter is working this week to correct the driving and blocking defect.

These boosters tickets which are being sold are good for the four scheduled home games. They are: Central City, October 9; Metropolis, October 23; Mayfield, Nov. 12; and Martin, November 19th.

Farmers Are Enthused Over New Program

The Fulton county delegation of farmers who attended the farm meeting in Louisville Saturday, at which time Secretary Wallace outlined his six-point program, returned early Sunday morning highly enthusiastic over their visit, and greatly encouraged over the outlook following the address. They purpose to take action along the lines advocated by Secretary Wallace, and will meet in the near future to outline a drive to follow up the suggestions.

The six points named were: 1. Agriculture has a right to a fair share of the national income. 2. Consumer as well as the farmer's interest should be safeguarded through an ever-normal granary.

3. Conservation of soil is vitally important to the nation.

4. Farmers ought to be assured the tenure of farms they occupy.

5. The co-operative movement among farmers ought to be encouraged.

6. Provisions ought to be included in any national farm program favoring the family-sized farm.

New Series Of Ads For Creomulsion

The Fulton County News is again on the select list of weeklies picked by the Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Georgia to run a series of advertisements on their product, Creomulsion, a prescription for Coughs and Bronchial irritations due to colds.

Creomulsion, recommended by thousands of doctors and druggists, is sold by all drug stores. All druggists are authorized to refund the purchase price to any customer not satisfied with the results from the very first bottle.

NEGRO IS HELD FOR ROBBERY

Cecil Bennett, colored, who is alleged to have held two white boys up here Saturday night, Oct. 25th, was tried this week and bound over to the action of the grand jury.

John D. Rowlett and his companion, of near Columbus, came to Fulton to the Rodeo, and as it came time to leave the fairgrounds they inquired about some colored fellows they had brought with them. Bennett is said to have told them he would direct them to the colored district if the city, and help them find the negroes.

Browder Crossing was blocked by a train, and as they waited, with Bennett on the back seat, the negro grabbed one and used a knife and threatened them, the white boys stated. Some five or six dollars was taken from the boys, they said.

New Auditors Chosen For Obion County

Obion County Quarterly Court held the October session Monday with only a few matters of major importance coming before the body.

Chief interest in deliberations today centered in employment of a county auditor, restoration of the county judge's salary and naming the county agricultural committee.

The Oliver P. Cobb Company of Memphis was elected as county auditors for the ensuing year. The rate of pay fixed for this firm was $20 per day for the chief auditor and $15 per day for his assistant, the total cost of the year's audit not to exceed the past cost of auditing, and in the event the cost falls short of the past cost the firm will save this amount. This firm succeeds John Ellis who has been county auditor for several years. The vote on this election was 24 for Oliver P. Cobb and 14 for John Ellis. G. F. Schleifer, another applicant, was eliminated on the first ballot.

Another matter of division in the court was a motion by Esquire S. A. McDade to restore $600 to the salary of the county judge which was cut that amount in July, 1936. By a vote of 23 to 15 this salary was restored.

Miss Evelyn Howse was also re-elected as bookkeeper for the county.

The county agricultural committee is composed of Luke Lattimer, E. T. Jones, Woody Cunningham, Jim Marshall, Mrs. Fred Brown, Mrs. Herman Howard and Mrs. C. G. Cloar.

Other matters before the court today were routine motions and expenses of the county, and hearing reports from the various departments.

CITY COUNCIL IN REGULAR MEETING

The Fulton City Council met in regular monthly session Monday night, with the mayor and all the members of the board present. Minutes of previous meeting were read and bills okayed.

Several visitors appeared before the council, including G. N. Choate, proprietor of the Fulton Hotel; Abe Thompson, of Kentucky Utilities; and Dr. J. L. Jones. Poll tax was refunded to J. L. Witherspoon.

On motion made by Councilman E. N. DeMyer and seconded by T. T. Boaz, an audit of the city books is to be made prior to the change of administration in January.

The council voted to give the city attorney a salary of $75 per month and 30 per cent of fines collected. The board also agreed that after January 1st, the city judge be paid $75 per month. During the tenure of office by judge H. F. Taylor, the salary was $100 per month, but this was reduced to $500 per month during the depression.

Councilman J. N. McNeilly, chairman of the street department, was instructed to purchase material for jacking streets in various parts of the city.

WEDDINGS

WESTBROOK - EDWARDS

A wedding of much interest to their many friends in Fulton is that of Miss Ailene Westbrook to Mr. William Henry Edwards which was quietly solemnized Saturday night about ten o'clock at the home of the groom's parents. The Rev. R. M. Mathis read the impressive single ring ceremony in the presence of only immediate families and a few friends. The only attendants were Miss Irene Bowers and Roy Edwards, brother of the groom.

The bride, an attractive brunette, wore a dress of duobonet with matching black accessories and a shoulder corsage of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Westbrook of near Fulton. After graduating from the Dresden school class of 1935, she attended the Paducah School of Beauty Culture, Paducah, Ky. For the past several months she has been employed at the La Charm Beauty Shoppe and has made many friends here who wish her much happiness.

The groom, a well known business man of Fulton, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Edwards. He attended school here and is a graduate of Fulton High School. At present he and his brother own and operate the Edwards Food Store.

Immediately after the ceremony they left for a short honeymoon and are now at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mansfield.

The following weddings were solemnized last week-end at the home of Esq. S. A. McDade on East State Line:

Lillian Eckenberg and William Stepter, both of Metropolis, Ill. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Horntrap.

Martha Barclay and William Roberts, both of Clinton, Sunday, October 3, in the presence of Mary Alice Pillow and Jefferson Barclay.

Lynn Stairs of Mayfield, Ky., and R. C. Jackson of Wingo, Ky. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green of Wingo, Ky.

ROAD SURFACING BEGUN IN COUNTY

Preliminary preparations for the spreading of new asphalt surface on the road from Hickman to the Tennessee state line on Route 94, were completed last week, and the first asphalt and gravel were mixed and rolled down Thursday.

Trailroads of crushed gravel, tanks of asphalt, a fleet of trucks and road building machinery moved into Hickman early in the week. Builders expect to have the road finished by the end of October, unless on account of rain or extremely cold weather.

RAILROADS-UNION AGREE ON WAGES

An agreement which will add an estimated 44 cents per day to the wages of some 250,000 "operating" employees of the nation's railroads was announced early this week by conferees in the protracted negotiations over the 20 percent wage boost demand by the "Big Five" brotherhoods. The raise became effective Oct. 1st.

The railroads estimated the agreement would add $35,000,000 to their annual payroll.

A statement from Dr. William M. Leirson, chairman of the National Mediation Board, who has been conferring with the two groups since August 28th, announcing the agreement. He said it affected all engineers, trainmen and yard service employees.

Last August 25th the railroads agreed to a 40 cents a day wage increase for some 750,000 members of the 15 non-operating brotherhoods.

Dr. Leirson, commenting on the agreement, said:

"The spirit in which both sides to the controversy receded from their original positions as the facts were developed was the biggest single factor in arriving at the settlement. Both parties are to be congratulated for following the orderly processes of the railway labor act instead of engaging in strike talk and setting strike dates which would have an upsetting effect on an already troubled business situation."

Brief Notes

Dumb animals may be dumb but at that they have more sense than the average Fulton man. They don't treat an upset stomach by eating some more just because it's meal time.

You can tell who are the Fulton citizens who habitually snap and snarl at everybody. They are the ones who are horrified and hurt when snarled at.

YOUNG FARMER DIES BY HIGH VOLTAGE

William Frank Gwynn, 19-year-old farmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Gwynn, who resided about five miles north of Fulton, died about six o'clock Wednesday at the Fulton hospital just one hour after he was received there, suffering from severe burns sustained when he touched a 66,000 voltage live wire, which was said by hospital attaches to be the worst third degree burn ever seen at the local hospital.

Gwynn was unable to give an account of the accident but members of the family believe he was entangled in a loose live wire. Those who were in the field working with him reported that the lad tried to get a copper ground wire from the light pole and crossed the high voltage, throwing him about thirty feet. An investigation by Abe Thompson, Fulton manager of Kentucky Utilities Co., showed no loose live wires but Mr. Thompson said that Gwynn evidently tried to jerk the ground wire from the pole.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon (Friday) at 2:30 o'clock at Rock Springs church with burial in the cemetery there. Survivors his parents, sister Mrs. Perry Boyd; brothers, Ward Henry, W. B. Guyn.

"The Bride Wakes Up" is an entirely new and different kind of Cooking School. It has romance, humor, glamour—it will hold your interest every minute you are in the audience.

For the first time at a Cooking School you will be able to see every single one of the important steps in the preparation of a recipe. Mixing, blending, stirring, baking—all the many and varied points essential to successful cookery are shown in close-up on the screen.

And lots of new and interesting recipes are demonstrated in the model kitchens especial' built for this picture.

The picture will be entertaining as well as instructive. The various characters in the picture are portrayed by talented actors and actresses—the picture was made in Hollywood.

You will see real-life situations—similar to the ones you encounter every day—actually re-enacted on the screen. You will understand the problems of a bride and see how she adjusts herself to her new life as a wife and home-maker.

There will be daily gifts for some fortunate women, and of course free recipes for every one.

"THE NEWS" WEEKLY SCRAPBOOK

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE:

SOUTHERN EGG BREAD—Two cups white corn meal; 1 level teaspoon salt; 3 level teaspoons baking powder; 3 eggs; 1 tablespoon melted shortening; 1 1/2 cups milk; 1 cup cold boiled rice. Sift together the corn meal, salt and baking powder; add the eggs well beaten, then the melted shortening, milk and rice. Beat thoroughly, pour into a shallow, well-greased pan and bake half an hour in a hot oven.

KITCHEN KINKS

To remove grease stains form a stove sprinkle salt on a stiff brush which has been dipped in hot water and t...roughly scrub the stove. When cutting meat loaf use a sharp knife that is frequently dipped in warm water to insure even-edged pieces. To brown biscuit tops, brush the biscuits with a pastry brush dipped in milk. Rich brown crusts will result.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

The most important thing to do after receiving a burn is to cover the area with a coating of some sort as soon as possible to exclude air. An excellent preparation to have on hand is made of one pint of olive oil mixed well with as much common baking soda as it will take up. After applying to the afflicted area lightly cover with gauze or bandages torn from old linen napkins or handkerchiefs. Burns from lye or alkalis are relieved by washing with a solution of vinegar and water.

THE SEWING ROOM

Pearl buttons can be nicely cleaned with olive oil. Then polish them like finger nails. Dresses which have become shiny should be sponged on the wrong side with borax and water. Should machine oil stain your sewing, wet the spot with turpentine and wash with cold water or mild soap.

WORTH KNOWING

A little moistened soap on the end of a run in a ladies' hose will keep the run from spreading until attention may be given it. A tea spoon of kerosene will improve starch and keep the iron from sticking. Use only tepid water for washing white silks and dry in the shade. Also never rub soap directly on a white silk garment; it is better to make a mild suds first.

AN INSPIRATION

"Any ordinary mortal can forget a wrong, but you have to have a lot of God in you to forgive one."

SILO SIMPKINS SAYS

Terraces are cropland dams across the face of cultivated fields.

The future prosperity of a farmer depends upon how well he is able to check and overcome the menace of soil erosion.

Our streams and rivers have taken from our fields our fundamental source of wealth—soil fertility, and today we are farming infertile soil.

Many Tennessee farmers can make their futures brighter by letting livestock make their soils better with manure, pastures and legumes.

The old saying, "A stitch in time saves nine" may be well applied to the repairing of harness—rainy days can rarely be put to better use.

The cow, "Foster mother to the Human Race" has advanced with civilization. Her efficiency in converting the products of the field into food for man has given her an unchallenged place in history as man's benefactor. Treat her right and she will repay a hundred fold.

Blood will tell, but not alone! The best breed cow in the world will not keep up good milk production unless she has plenty of feed rich in minerals that produce milk. Good pasture both permanent and temporary, pay their way in milk and add a profit in erosion control.

Tourists Spending Helps Our Revenue

Income from tourists is of major importance in many states and is a potential source of revenue in every State, says the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Estimates of the amounts spent by tourists in the United States range as high as 5 billion dollars for the year 1937. Maine ranks the value of tourist trade as second only to her entire agricultural output; California places it next in importance to her great petroleum industry; in Michigan, the center of the automotive industry, it ranks second; in Wisconsin, its value as a producer of revenue is exceeded only by that of the dairy industry; and in Florida, during the 1935-36 season, it is estimated to have represented many times the value of the entire citrus crop.

Estimates of the distribution of tourists expenditures may be judged by comparing the east and west coasts. The New England Council reported as representative of that section: Food 21 percent; lodging 20 percent; transportation, 20 percent; retail stores 25 percent; rent, and miscellaneous items, 6 percent. Californians, Inc., however reported Food, 36.9 percent; lodging 38.2 percent; gas, oil, and car expenses, 10.1 percent; clothing 5.5 percent; personal expenditures, 4.7 percent; recreation, 3.7 percent; souvenirs, 3 percent, and camera supplies 2.6 percent. These differences are largely due to a difference in living expenses.

An article on tourist trends in America appears in the August issue of the magazine on "Public Roads", which may be obtained for 10 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C.

Poor folks are the ones who do not apologise to callers for the things they can't help.

SPARKS of WISDOM

American marines have been protecting the life and property in China which, as some people see it, is more than they do over here.

More than one Fulton man can tell you that when his wife drives the car all he does is sit in the front seat and steer.

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

THE LOVE OF MONEY

The longer a man lives the more firmly he becomes convinced of the truthfulness of the old adage that "Money is the Root of All Evil." But he can't figure out what it is about money that causes men to commit crimes and do heartless things to get it.

The average Fulton man sees it there is some excuse for a person stealing who is hungry or whose family is hungry and he cannot get work. But there is no excuse on earth for anyone else doing so. Today this country's greatest weak spot lies in the fact that it has too many big business men ready to crush competitors merely for the sake of adding to their already too large fortunes; too many men with more money already than they can use grinding down their employes, or working women and children at starvation wages. How fortunes accumulated by such means can bring happiness or satisfaction to anyone is past understanding, and yet America possesses many so-called law abiding citizens engaged in doing these very things.

It is difficult to understand why anyone wants any more money than enough to live in comfort, to be able to buy the things desired, to do the things one wants to do, to educate one's children and be assured of a competence on which to live when old age comes on. The fact that they can't take their money with them when they pass on doesn't seem to deter thousands of men from violating the laws—both civil and moral—by grasping for more than they need or will ever be able to make use of in the event they get it. They say these things and you will be laying the foundation for his future happiness.

RIGHT OF WAY

"I had the right of way" is a common expression, and one now heard offered as an alibi following almost every collision occurring on a highway around Fulton. Generally speaking, traffic regulations give the auto on the right the right of way, and many insist on taking the advantage of the rule, regardless of consequences. But it is a rule that is much better waived than insisted upon by a driver. Life is not so cheap that one can afford to chance it on a traffic rule that a lot of drivers are in ignorance of, and after one has been injured, possibly for life, is a poor time to gain any consolation that it was the other fellow's fault. The safe way is to yield the right of way to the other fellow whenever there appears to be the slightest danger or doubt. There is nothing to be lost through holding back for a second and permitting the other driver to have the right of way without argument. There is all to be gained in staying out of the hospital or navigating on a pair of crutches through failure to do so.

DEFECTIVE FLUES

It would probably be safe to say that more fires at this season of the year can be traced to defective flues than to any other source. It is the season for erecting stoves and setting heating plants to going for winter service, and in performing that operation many are inclined to exhibit a measure of carelessness. Naturally, no one wants to lose his home, and especially right at the outset of the winter season. When it can be avoided through a careful inspection of flues and chimneys, then such an investigation becomes highly important. Be sure the chimney is free from all obstacles before setting up the stove. Then make sure that the pipe is in perfect condition and not damaged by rust. Make sure too, that each joint fits perfectly. It may take a few minutes time to go over these things carefully. But those few minutes may prevent the loss of your home and its contents.

AN AFTER EFFECT

After summing up the net results of the late depression a Boston editor offers food for thought when he declares that the worst feature of it is that a lot of people found out they could actually live without working. He refers, of course, to those who, having passed through a period of idleness without going hungry, are now determined to remain idle and let the taxpayer feed them, much as the ravens fed Elijah in Biblical days. Every community has its share of them, and it is not necessary to wander very far from Fulton to discover the type. How to force such citizens to accept employment and to again take up the responsibility of earning and paying their own way is a problem every section of the United States has to solve. And it isn't going to be an easy job. Loss of self-respect is a terrible thing. But even that can be regained if a man has a willingness to try to regain it through honest labor. It is the one who prefers to become an object of charity creates the problem, and provides the most pathetic result of the entire depression heritage.

A Fulton man is as old as he looks when he needs a shave; a woman as old as she looks right after washing her face.

BOOKS AND PLAYTIME

I do not know what the methods of our present-day schools are, but I think I could conduct a whole day of the schools I used to attend. For each lesson the children were called to the front. If the lesson were spelling, we lined up, even toeing a crack in the floor. We had regular places in the line and turned down those who could not spell a word. We also had headmarks, that is, the one standing at the head end of the lesson was given a mark of merit; he went to the foot the next day and tried to work up again. To have the most headmarks was like being elected to the Phi Beta Kappa in college. In fact, I was much prouder of my superior number of headmarks in spelling than I was when I got my Phi Beta Kappa key. If we were quite small, we "spelled on the book," that is, we called the letters and pronounced the words syllable by syllable and then were given some simpler words to spell orally. In much later times we wrote words on a slate or tablet, but oral spelling was the one big thing. We often spelled words that we had never heard of and probably would never hear of again: "t-i-n," tin; "t-i-n," tin; "u," tintinnabu; "l-a," tintinnabula; "t-i-o-n," tion, tintinnabulation. That was my favorite word, though I did not know until I was grown that the word meant the sound of small bells. After all, the word was in the McGuffey Spelling Book and was supposed to be spelled; that was enough. I also remember elephantiasis, incompatibility, and transubstantiation. You see, when a boy could spell big words like those, he had progressed far in his education. To be able to spell no farther than BAKER was to be only in what now would be called the second or third grade. Sometimes we brought an old Blue Back Speller from home for some extra drill or for Friday afternoon spelling-matches. In one school we had a dictionary class, in which we spelled, gave diacritical marks, parts of speech, definitions, synonyms, and then used the word correctly in a sentence. Whether we were taught rightly or wrongly, we learned to spell, an accomplishment that is pretty rare today, though I suspect that many of the children still are wondering what "eleemosynary" and metempsychosis mean.

Reading was always oral. We took turns reading and watching the others for mistakes. I recall one little tongue-tied little girl's saying "Her wepeated" after one of her classmates had finished her reading for her. We stopped at each comma long enough to count one, sometimes actually counting aloud. The semi-colon counted two, the colon three, and the end of a sentence four. "When Columbus discovered America (one) he had three vessels (three) the Pinta (one) the Nina (one) and the Santa Maria (four)." Most of the selections fortunately, were designed for oral reading, for ours was the day of oratory. We memorized poems, wise sayings, orations, and even dialogues. Often when we studied a poem: we did concert work, either reading from the book together or repeating what we had memorized. I wanted to murder the boys who would not memorize anything but would just hum or even use ugly words when the rest of us did our concert reading. I taught my own rural schools very much after the traditional way. One of the poems we memorized was "Try, Try, Again." One little girl in my class always started the second stanza; "Once or twice, though you should fail, Try, try again."

I tried more than once to break her of the habit, but I suspect she is still saying it to her children or grandchildren.

SCIENCE FOR FARMS.

As if raising one of the biggest wheat crops in history wasn't enough to thrill the farmers of America, now comes a bulletin out of Washington City to the effect that still greater results may soon be made possible by recent scientific experiments. It is said that a perennial wheat has been discovered in Canada which provides a new forage crop and promises to restore those sections of both

Canada and the U. S. rendered sterile in recent years by the ravages of drought.

While the government of neither country will venture a prediction as to the value of the perennial wheat until further tests are conducted the bulletin is sufficiently optimistic to warrant the belief that the discovery is actually going to be of great value. It is explained that new plants have been developed of a vigorous type with large wheat-like seeds which can be seeded down in dry lands where small-seeded grass is unable to take root. It is expected this crop will root down thickly to bind the soil and prevent drifting. It is expected to produce grass each year, with a good yield for hay or pasture. Eventually the land so seeded would be restored to wheat planting.

Farmers around Fulton may or may not profit either directly or indirectly from the new discovery, but they will welcome such news just the same. Anything that tends to solve farming problems, no matter in what part of the country the problem exists, interests all who have the welfare of their fellowman at heart. And farmers in this community are certainly of that stripe.

IDLE LAND MAY YIELD

PROFIT IN TIMBER

One of the many examples of idle land which has been made to yield good returns by planting it in trees—and letting the trees grow into money—is in the files of the United States Forest Service.

A New England farmer owned a three-acre sidehill pasture that was practically worthless. He set out fourteen hundred seedling white pines on the hillside. Twenty years later the farmer died, and among his assets was this small tract of young pine. Much to her surprise, his widow was offered $300 for the tract and sold it. About 15 years a lumber company paid her $1,000 for it.

Economics Highlights

Even as agriculture is dependent on industry to absorb the products of the farm, so is the urban United States vitally dependent on rural farming America to provide a gigantic market for the products of its factories—everything from pins to motor cars.

As a result, it is as important to industry and finance as to agricultural America itself to have some reasonably accurate idea of what farm income in the immediate future will be; what change, if any has occurred in farm operating cost that would affect net income; what would affect net income; what farming states will be the most prosperous and so constitute the largest and most profitable market for manufactured goods, etc. Business Week has recently made a highly inclusive report on the "Farm Market Today—and Tomorrow."

This will be the best Agricultural year, from the point of view of gross income, since booming 1929. This does not mean that the agricultural situation is vastly improved in every phase—some crops will command lower prices and in some states improvement has been slight. But, looking at agriculture as a whole, 1937 should produce the first really good farm market in eight years.

The farmer's cash income from crop and livestock marketing is estimated at $4,750,000,000 for the same period from August 1 to January 1, 1938, as compared with $4,375,000,000 in the same period a year ago, a gain of about 8 percent. This figure does not include Federal benefits which will be approximately 10 per cent of the farmer's total cash income and will probably come to almost $200,000,000 as against $138,000,000 in the comparable period of 1936. Consequently, total gross farm cash income will not be far from $5,000,000,000 in the six month period.

Other factors beside higher income will exert a beneficial influence on agricultural purchasing power. The farm mortgage debt is about one and three quarter billions less than it was in 1929. Interest rates have registered a decline and the carrying charge of this debt is now about $400,000,000, as against $700,000,000 in 1929. The 1937 farm tax bill will be more than $150,000,000 under 1929 and farm wages, though they have shown a 20 per cent rise in the past year and a half, are one third less than in 1929. Taking all advantages into consideration, the amount of cash the farmers will have to spend this year may total $6,000,000,000, as compared with 1929 spending of $6,260,000,000. Lastly, the purchasing power of the dollar is still materially greater than it was.

Farm income, obviously, is not divided evenly on a per capita basis over the farming states. For example, taking the latest available figures, California, with less than 2 per cent of the country's farm population, received 7.58 per cent of the farm income. Iowa, with 3 per cent of the farm population, received 7.43 per cent of farm income. By comparison, Alabama, with almost 4.5 per cent of the farm population, received only 1.35 per cent of farm income; and West Virginia, with 1.77 per cent of the farm population, got less than .5 per cent of the farm income.

Increases in agricultural income for this year will likewise vary widely over the states. Great increase—in excess of 11 percent—will be found in the Middle Western states, such as the Dakotas, Iowa and Kansas. These states were the most severely hit by drought. As a result, gains of several hundred per cent may be registered in some inasmuch as they produced relatively nothing during some of last year's crop seasons.

In the Western and Southern states, one or two of the Atlantic seaboard states, one or two of the Atlantic Seaboard States, and part of the Northeastern group, farm income is expected to show rises of from 6 per cent to 10 percent. In Western California, Western Oregon and Western Washington, parts of a few other states and almost the entire South, improvement will range from 1 per cent to 5 percent. In a small group of states, there will be declines in farm incomes of from 1 per cent to 10 percent. Thus the future of agriculture is bright. Even so, at the next session of congress there will be a flood of legislation designed to help will probably become law, and some of it will be designed to help the farmer and some of it may pass and there is always a chance that a more inclusive "ever-normal granary" plan will be put into effect. Secretary Wallace strongly favors this scheme.

Recent war activities have served to illustrate an epochal change in the attitude of some of the major powers toward their interests in foreign countries. The United States is gradually adopting the view that in case of hostilities in foreign countries, we will evacuate the citizens who wish it and those who remain must take their own chances. This marks a far cry from the day when the United States would go to almost any extremity to protect our foreign investments. Various newspapers polls indicate that this new policy is overwhelmingly favored by the bulk of citizens.

Mucilage Substitute

Quite often when one is in a hurry to mail a letter, there will be but one stamp and it has no mucilage on its back. In this predicament all necessary is to moisten the mucilage flap on another envelope, run the stamp over the dampened part quickly, then place on the letter to be mailed.

Mending a Cracked Range
A crack on the inside of a range can be mended by using a filler made of equal parts of common table salt and wood ashes, moistened with water to the proper consistency. The filler will dry hard and will be lasting.

The Hanging Basket
A novel way to water the hanging basket, without spilling water on the floor, is to insert a small funnel in the dirt, as near the center as possible, hidden by the foliage. Fill this funnel with water every day, and the soil will soak up the water gradually.

Testing Coffee
A way to test the quality of coffee is to put a spoonful in a glass of cold water and add a few drops of lemon juice. If the coffee is pure it will remain on top of the water; if not, the water will become brown in color.

The Patch Bag
A most practical patch bag can be made from a yard or two of mosquito netting. This enables one to see the contents from the outside, and there is no necessity of emptying the entire contents to find the exact piece of goods wanted.

Pouring from Cans
The secret of pouring liquid from a can is to make two holes in the can instead of one, about an inch apart. The one hole is for the liquid to pour from, and the other hole to let the air into the can.

Writing While Travelling
When it is necessary to write while travelling in an automobile or train or bus, press the elbows into the body just above the hips, and you will find the task easy.

The Door Key
The important door key will not be evasive any more when the housewife returns from the grocery if she will sew a large sized dress hook inside her handbag near the top, on which to hang the key.

Sewing Room Hint
Cut the strips containing buttons and button holes from discarded garments and use them under flys in new garments. This will save much time and labor.

To Clean Playing Cards
Soiled playing cards can be cleaned by dipping a small sponge in spirits of camphor and rubbing gently the card's surface. This will restore the newness.

A Convenient High-Chair
If four rubber-tipped door stops are screwed into the legs of an ordinary chair, it will make an ideal high chair for kitchen work, or for a small child.

Ink Stains on Hands
A solution of peroxide of hydrogen containing a few drops of ammonia will remove ink stains from the hands.

Select Your Hens Now For Fall-Winter Laying

Tennessee poultry producers are advised by A. J. Chadwell, U. S. Extension Poultry Specialist, to make final selection of hens for their laying flocks for September. Hens that lay the most eggs in August and September lay best throughout the year, studies made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show, he states.

As a guide for selecting hens for egg production Mr. Chadwell gives the following suggestions for the distinction between layers and non-layers:

A full bright red comb indicates production. When a hen stops laying, the comb tends to dry down and a whitish scurf usually forms. The abdomen is enlarged in the layer; in the non-layer it is contracted. The pelvic bones are usually two to four finger widths apart in the layer, but almost closed together in the non-layer.

When a hen stops laying she usually starts moulting. The later a hen lays in the summer and fall the greater will be her past yearly egg production, so that the high producer is the late layer and late moulter. The early moulter is the "short-time" or poor layer as most hens cannot grow feathers and lay at the same time. Contrary to general belief, the early moulter does not make the early winter layer, Mr. Chadwell points out.

The selection of breeding stock should be based on (1) early maturity, (2) rate of laying, (3) non-broodiness, and (4) persistence of laying. Pullets which come into laying early (five to six months for leghorns and six to seven months general purpose breeds), usually are good layers and lay persistently throughout the year.

Average Kentuckian Worth About $1,327

FRANKFORT, KY.—Based on recent census estimates and the latest compilation of assessed property valuations in the state, the average Kentuckian is worth 1,327 taxable dollars, Department of Revenue records showed recently.

During the fiscal year that ended June 30th, 1937, the same Kentuckian spent $15.44 as his per capita share on maintaining and operating the state government.

Based on population of 2,700,000, which is only an estimate and is slightly higher than the '30 official census figures, and on assessed property valuations of $3,584,992,277, each Kentuckian was the owner of cash or property valued at $1,327 during the last fiscal year.

Department of Revenue records lists the assessed value of taxable property other than intangibles at $2,663,821,530, and of intangibles at $421,170,747, or a total of $3,584,992,277.

The per capita cost of operating the state government is calculated on net expenditures from the general fund and road fund during the last fiscal year.

Very Little Limestone Owned In Japan

There were 61,040 head of sheep in Japan at the end of 1936, according to statistics reported to the Louisville District office of the Department of Commerce. This was an increase of 13,737 head or 29 per cent, compared with 1935. These sheep were in the hands of 21,044 families, of which 71 percent, or 15,000 families, owned only one or two sheep, while only 9 per cent of the families owned five or more. It is therefore apparent that a large sheep ranch does not exist in Japan. A very similar situation exists in Japan with respect to cattle as at the end of 1936, 1,378,027 families held 1,770,938 head of cattle, a gain of 86,477 head or nearly five per cent, from the preceding year. Imports of sheep into Japan totaled only 1,800 head in the first half of 1937, which were the result of two shipments received by that country in June from Australia. It has been reported in Japan that a company will be organized in Manchuria which will import cattle from foreign countries, distribute the imported stock throughout the country and manufacture by-products of the industry.
