THE LISTENING POST

Through all the years that have come and gone since railroads began to operate in this nation there has always been an unending battle between owners of live stock and the railroads. Cows and horses and pigs and other animals will get killed by trains and the owners of the livestock wish to collect for such after the livestock has become dead stock. Railroad lawyers claim that any plug horse or any ordinary cow can become pedigree stock immediately after being crossed with a locomotive traveling at sixty miles per hour and a multitude of law suits have been tried in various courts involving damage done to livestock by trains.

The classic among such claims is a letter said to have been written by a Tennessee farmer to the old Tennessee, Paducah and Alabama Railroad after a train belonging to that line had struck and hurt a bull belonging to that farmer. This farmer was not gifted in spelling, but he made up for this weakness by a directness of speech which has scarcely been equalled in this country. The letter follows:

"This is the third letter I have writ you in regard to my clame for enjury of my spotted bull, a pet of my family, which we called Daniel Webster, but which we called Buster for short. I already told you twict that yure train hit my bull a-tween Holler Rock Junction and the second mile post comen this way. No reply from you, except you sent me a blank to fill out—and dam the blank. A Filadelphia lawyer could not fill hit out.

"As I said before, from whar the train hit the bull it carried him a right smart peace beyond that pint. I told you plane that the engine tore offen a peace of his hide averagen eight inches from his under lip, then sorta zagonal over his shoulder and back, and then down his left side clear under to his nable on below part of his body.

"The train wheel also stripped off his hine, hoofs, smack and smooth, makin his feet very tender and sore, so he cannot walk good without me and my boy Joe holden him up with a pole when he travils to pond for water, which is only about two rods off from whar he is.

"Before this axident he was a very cantankerous and threatening beast. Since then he has a sad look and bawls most of the time, principally at night, disturbing us considerable. He don't eat scarcely anything except some dry meal, because his jaws is mighty sore.

"Two of my neighbors who I do not speak to, say they will swar this bull was struck by litten, but they are a dam lie. He was hit by yure payoff special train which come through my field gall-a hooten a mid-night of Mch. the 20th with its whiz-a-scream like hell. Now if nothing was hitten by this train why was it scream like hell?

"Now lissen right close. Me and Henry Hefferman has apazed this bull of value at seigheten dollars and six bits and he as we say beyond doubtless a totle loss. Henry says he ain't never seen sich damage to a bull in his day and time, and neither have I, and my boy Joe says the same, and we all say he will never be any more use for a bull, hardly not even for befe.

"So take notice of this. This is writ on Friday and mailed on North bound train. Onlessen I receive check in full of the coveral this bulls axident by Thursday next I hear sum people say that sum spikes are agoing to get loost from the rails of yure rode which will cause the rails to spread when yure passenger train no. 104 cums along. Then that will be some big headlines in the Paducky papers saying that some coches went into the bar pint in my field, that a injineer and farman was kilt and hurten some passengers rite bad and maybe yure dam conductor Aleck Fulton will get a leg broke or both legs and I don't give a dam for that either.

British Allowed To Place Order For 12,000 More Planes

Washington.—The priorities board announced today that the British Purchasing Commission would be permitted to negotiate orders with the American aviation industry for an additional 12,000 planes.

The action was announced shortly after President told his press conference he had established a rule of thumb policy whereby Britain and Canada would be supplied 50 per cent of American defense items now coming off factory lines, including large bombers and other things needed both here and abroad.

The 12,000 planes, the board said, will be built in existing plants and in other facilities now developing.

Great Britain already has orders in effect in this country for 14,000 planes, President Roosevelt said in his Boston campaign address last week. At the same time he had announced that Britain had asked permission to order 12,000 additional. He said then that he had asked the Defense Commission's priorities board to give "most sympathetic consideration" to the request.

The board said today it was intended, under plans now being devised, to gear construction of the British planes to American production in such a way as to prevent interference with American defense requirements.

"The question of delivery priorities is being studied," the board said in a brief formal statement. "It will be fixed at appropriate times as production progresses."

There was no announcement as to when the ships might be ready for delivery.

Stocks And Bonds Advance $2 To $3; Steel Sets Pace

New York.—Shares of major corporations, prices of Federal and municipal bonds, together with those of leading farm crops, shot upward in Thursday's markets in the wake of Treasury Morgenthau's statement foreshadowing huge Government borrowing and spending.

Prices in the New York Stock Exchange had the sharpest advance in more than a year. Gains of $2 to nearly $3 a share made it the widest gain since a surge of war buying on September 5, 1939.

Russia Issues Warning To World That Mighty Army Is Ready

Moscow.—Russia poured new guns and formations across Red Square Thursday on the twenty-third anniversary of her revolution, and her defense-commissioner announced "at any moment, the Red Army is ready to deal a crushing blow to anyone who cares to violate the holy frontiers of the U. S. S. R."

The army which paraded its choicest units past Joseph Stalin and his lieutenants has been reorganized in the last six months. The progress of its artillery—completely mechanized—was particularly conspicuous.

New Cannon Appears
Long-range naval guns, howitzers, anti-aircraft pieces and a new cannon slightly larger than the standard 75 mm. gun appeared in the two-hour procession, while overhead, the bright wings of new low-winged fighter planes glistened in the sun.

Before the parade, the troops heard Semeon Timoshenko, defense commissar, declare they would be called upon to crush any

Army Reports Plot To Steal Payroll Foiled

Boston.—What was described as a plot to rob an $862,000 civilian payroll at Camp Edwards, on Cape Cod, was thwarted Thursday, Army officers disclosed.

Officers said they regretted their discovery of the plot had become known before they had an opportunity to capture "three or four suspicious characters" on the reservation, where they would have been subject to Federal prosecution. The suspects, they said, were from "out of the State."

High officers, however, expressed satisfaction that the Army intelligence had been able to pick up a "tip" Tuesday, early enough to take every necessary precaution.

COLLAPSE OF BRIDGE CAUSES FIRM TO ACT

Tacoma.—Collapse of the Narrows bridge yesterday, brought prompt action from one Tacoma firm.

Within an hour workmen were tearing down a highway sign which proclaimed the firm "as secure as the Narrows bridge."

Psychiatrist Says That Suicide Motive Is Real Reason For War

Fort Worth, Texas.—The "will to die" motivates war more than the "will to live," a Kansas psychiatrist told a medical society here. Dr. Karl A. Menninger, Topeka, Kas., said that suicidal tendencies—latent and unknown to many—constitute one of the major causes of war.

"Behind the munitions makers and dictators we must seek the cause of the state of public opinion which tolerates their acts," Dr. Menninger said.

"It is because of latent masochism (practice of self punishment and torture) as much as or more than because of latent sadism (punishment and torture of another). 'We must get away from thinking that it is the will to live that motivates war. It is to a much greater degree, the will to die.' He cited the high suicide rates in Japan and Germany as incidental to his theory.

To a psychologist the export of munitions—even in peacetime—to such countries as Japan seems absurd, Dr. Menninger said.

"Why should we ever send guns and gasoline to Japan?" he asked. "Our sympathies are and have been with China."

"We have always known they would use them on China and then turn on us."

The psychiatrist said that he "firmly supported" the foreign policy of the Roosevelt administration. "I favor a national defense," he said. "I am not interested in the politics involved, but in the psychological factors which have helped to bring us to such a situation."

In the interest of national defense, Dr. Menninger suggested that U. S. diplomats submit to psychoanalyzing before taking their posts.

Gillette Calls "Smear" Sift

Washington.—Politicians and public-spirited citizens were requested today to send all examples of "scurrilous and vicious campaign literature" used in this year's election to the special Senate Committee appointed to police the national contests.

Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa), issuing the request, said the material would be used to give the "American people a complete picture of this type of campaign method."

Kennedy Still "On The Job"

Boston.—Joseph P. Kennedy, describing himself as still on the job as Ambassador to Great Britain, is ready to "be in London within forty-eight hours if an emergency arises that requires me there."

He made the statement in reply to queries as to whether he intended to resign. Kennedy said he expected to remain in the United States until after Christmas.

"Pessimistic" concerning chances of immediate peace, he said he was "strongly against the United States entering this war by the back door, front door or any other door."

Asserting he was "strong for supplying England as much as we can," he added:

"I find groups of different kinds pressing the Administration and Congress, for different kinds of reasons, to give help to Britain."

"To me the question of giving help should be resolved on one point only—what's best for the United States."

"On that basis, I should favor continued aid because it serves as an insurance policy for our preparation."

Ill Student Fails In Strike To See Football Game

Ann Arbor, Mich.—A University of Michigan student filed his cot in the student infirmary today, climbed a cable leading from the adjacent university power plant and defied police and firemen for a half-hour from atop a transformer—all because he wanted to see a football game.

Clad only in a hospital gown and shivering in the 40-degree cold, the student, an 18-year-old freshman, shouted to a crowd beneath his perch that university physicians contemplated his transfer to a private hospital. He would descend, he shouted, only upon assurance that he would be released in time to attend the Northwestern-Michigan football game here next week.

Police and firemen cut the entire power supply of the university campus for twenty minutes, while they climbed other cables and poles, surrounded the freshman and brought him, forcibly but safely, back to earth.

Japanese Face Cut In Papers And Magazines

Tokyo, Japan.—Restrictions on paper and unification of speech, a national wartime move of Japan will reduce the number of newspapers and magazines in Japan to about one-fifth of the present number, according to the Metropolitan Police Board's press censorship division. In Tokyo, where about 800 magazines and newspapers are published, the ax will fall on almost 50 per cent of them.

Flynn Almost Equals Farley At Predicting

New York.—As a political prognosticator Edward J. Flynn is almost the equal of Former Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley, who predicted President Roosevelt would carry 46 States in the 1936 election.

In his pre-election forecast Flynn gave the Republicans a maximum of nine States. They won ten. He also slightly underrated Wendell Wilkie's electoral vote. He said it would be 58; it was 52.

Derryberry, Of Murray, To Head School

Nashville.—William Everett Derryberry, faculty member of Murray State Teachers College at Murray, Ky., was named by the State Board of Education Friday as president of Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, Cookeville.

Education Commissioner B. O. Duggan said Derryberry, a former star football player at the University of Tennessee, would assume the post, vacated by J. M. Smith, who resigned to become Memphis city school superintendent, as soon as he could arrange his release from Murray, "probably by December 1, or January 1 at the latest."

Ill Chamberlain Grows Weaker

London.—Mrs. Neville Chamberlain, wife of the former Prime Minister, sent this message to the London press today: "Mr. Chamberlain's strength has been falling the last few days and he is now gravely ill."

Chamberlain, 71, is understood to be in the country, where he has been resting since his resignation October 3 as Lord President of the Council. He resigned as Prime Minister May 10, giving way to Winston Churchill the day Germany began her drive into the Lowlands and France.

Chamberlain recently denied reports he would go to California in an effort to recover his health. Chamberlain had an abdominal operation July 29 for relief of symptoms of intestinal obstruction.

Hitler Avers He Can Meet All Comers

Rejects Compromise On War In Address To Party Stalwarts

Munich.—Adolf Hitler, in a stormy speech in the Munich Lowenbrau beer cellar tonight declared that Germany is "strong enough to meet any combination in the world."

Surrounded by Nazi party stalwarts in the memorial eve observance of the party's unsuccessful beer hall putsch of 1923, the German fuhrer declared he was determined to carry the war to a decisive conclusion and rejected any compromise.

He said German production capacity was the highest in the world and the Reich soon would have the capacity of the rest of Europe added to its own.

Reject Compromise
"Just as I, as a National Socialist, rejected every compromise in the fight for Germany," he said, "just so today I reject now and here any compromise."

Just one year ago the fuhrer narrowly escaped death from a time bomb planted in the beer hall scene of the annual celebration. Tonight he spoke behind closed doors to his old comrades of 17 years ago, in contrast to the open-house festivities heretofore.

Hitler declared that Germany's casualties in the present war to date were only a little more than half those of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71.

German casualties in the 1870-71 war are listed in the German encyclopedia as 25,278 killed in battle and 14,904 dead from other causes, such as illness.

Most of his one-hour speech was devoted to extolling the virtues of the Nazi party and reviewing its struggles and the course of the war. The last 12 months he viewed as the greatest in Germany military history.

(The German wireless said Hitler told his followers: "the fight will be continued until we end it by our victory" and that he recounted "the gigantic military feats of German soldiers.")

IRELAND IS INDEPENDENT

A few days ago, while discussing the submarine menace, Prime Minister Churchill of England remarked that this danger was almost as serious as the attack from the air. During the past few weeks German submarines have carried the total tonnage destroyed almost to the high mark which was set during the first World War, and in that period the fate of England was perilously in the balance. Fortunately, through bitter hard work, and with the help of United States ships of war, the submarine menace was curbed before the British were actually faced with starvation. British leaders still remember that period with horror, however, and increasing attacks by submarines lead to the belief that such a period may come again. England must keep a mighty fleet of merchant ships moving in and out of British ports if the nation is to be fed, and in this war a difficult problem is faced. In the first war the Germans had no bases from which to operate than German ports; in the current conflict there are plenty of French, Belgian and Dutch bases from which to strike. Also a large part of the British fleet is on duty elsewhere to hold the Italian navy in check, and the remainder must be kept constantly on guard against a German thrust with field armies from across the Channel.

There was a wistful note, perhaps, in Churchill's voice as he told of British inability to use Irish ports as refueling stations for ships and planes. During the other war American ships operated entirely from Irish ports, and any campaign against submarines has a better base in Ireland than can be found elsewhere. Prime Minister Churchill, a real strategist, knows this, and perhaps he thought that the Irish might be sympathetic when he painted his somber picture before the British Parliament. If so, it was a vain hope, for a day or so later the Irish Prime Minister said flatly that as long as Ireland remained neutral there would be no privileges granted any of the warring nations. Further, De Valera, the Irish leader stated that Ireland intended to stay out of the war, and was able to defend herself if necessary.

It is not likely that there is any great love for England in Ireland. For centuries the Irish fought for freedom, and during the World War Ireland was at times a real problem for England. There were many reports of treason from that hotbed of insurrection during that war, and British troops were constantly on guard all during the course of the war. Curiously, however, there were many Irish regiments in the British Army, and even now it is likely that this is true. The Irish always like a fight, and when no common enemy is available they frequently fight among themselves.

After the first World War the British finally granted some form of independence to Ireland, and for several years the little island has operated as a free state. From the tone of the Irish reply to Churchill's indirect appeal, it appears that the Irish like their present status and are determined to maintain it. Many of the strategists who have been studying Hitler's likely plan for a British invasion believe he will strike through Ireland, and if this comes to pass it is likely

THE UNFORESEEN

An automobile tire bursts and a half-dozen people die in an automobile wreck.

An unforeseen flaw in a steel rail finally develops into a break and a "crack" train becomes a pile of wreckage along a right of way.

A passenger liner hits an uncharted rock in a storm and hundreds of people go to their deaths.

As against the few persons who lose their lives on regulated, transportation routes is the record of the 15,000 persons who broke their naces or burned to death in their own homes through carelessness in the supposedly enlightened year of 1939.—Exchange

STANDARD PLANE PARTS

Engineer John T. Thompson, associated with the Glenn L. Martin Company of Baltimore, told the Society of Automotive Engineers in Los Angeles the other day that the aircraft industry is taking long strides toward the standardization of certain plane parts. He says some 2500 dies used in the production of aluminum and magnesium alloy parts are now the common property of the entire industry and that certain types of data concerning tests and research are also circulated freely among the various companies. The trend is certainly toward speedier production and lower costs in the airplane industry in the light of Mr. Thompson's statement.

Mr. Thompson sums it up by saying that the aircraft business is moving to "judicious standardization applied to aircraft design on a large scale co-operative basis," and that it "will form one method by which the mass production of airplanes may be expedited." While this factor is speculative to a great extent as yet, it is logical to hope and believe that the manufacture of airplanes can become more nearly like that of automobiles without material change in the quality of the product. The industry is really just now obtaining conditions that make it possible to figure with assurance on mass production methods, and it will not be surprising if the ultimate result is the remarkable speed-up of our aircraft rate.—Exchange that the Irish and British will be found fighting side by side again. Ireland wants no part of the war, but she is more likely to fight with the British than with the Germans.

Even if the Irish did not fight such an invasion it is certain that British troops would pour into Ireland if a German thrust came that way.

Jury Investigates Parties' Spending In Pennsylvania

Philadelphia.—Leaders of the two major political parties went before a Federal grand jury Thursday to tell, in the secrecy of the jury room, how much Republican and Democratic money was spent in Tuesday's election.

The grand jury, convened a month early, is investigating alleged violations of election laws.

"This, it seems to me, is a fishing expedition for mythical fish," said Jay Cooke, Republican city chairman and defeated candidate for the United States Senate, as he entered the jury room.

"There wasn't as much money spent as usual," said John B. Kelly, Democratic city chairman. "I think this jury prevented anything like that. I expect this jury to investigate disfranchisement of 25,000 voters in the city, 90 per cent of whom were Democrats."

Army Air Corps Gets New Type Pursuit Plane

Washington.—Delivery to the Army air corps of the first Republic YP 43 pursuit interceptor warplane was announced Wednesday by the War Department.

An all metal, low wing, single engine, single seater plane, it was described as an improvement on the Republic P-35 with which several pursuit squadrons of the Army's General Headquarters air force already are equipped.

Information on the new plane's speed and other performance characteristics was withheld, but the War Department said it weighed approximately 6,900 pounds, had a wing span of 36 feet, was 28 feet, 3 inches long and 10 feet, 3 inches high.

FOUR STATES STAY IN WINNING COLUMN

Washington.—Memo for future reference in 1944:

Four states that always picked the Presidential winner since the turn of the century ran true to form Tuesday. Ohio, Wyoming, Idaho and Missouri all wound up in the Roosevelt column.

Two formerly infallible states, however, backed the wrong man this time. The Kansas record, dating back to 1896, was broken when the state went for Willkie. North Dakota, on every ballot bandwagon since 1892, missed the 1940 ride by going Republican.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY WILL MEET MONDAY

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church will meet Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Ernest Huffman at her home, 107 Second street. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. W. H. McNally.

All members of the Society are urged to be present.

MRS. JOYNER IS HOSTESS TO CLUB

Mrs. R. C. Joyner, 505 Green street, entertained her Friday bridge club yesterday, November 8, with a delightfully planned luncheon. Mrs. Joyner's charming home was decorated with beautiful aranged chrysanthemums of gold, bronze and white.

After the delectable luncheon, the guests enjoyed an interesting afternoon of contract. The prize for high score was a lovely copy in oil of the painting "Southern Belle," which was received by Mrs. W. H. Atkins.

WOODMAN CIRCLE ENJOYS
MEETING AND PARTY

The Supreme Forrest Woodman Circle, Myrtle number 11, held its business meeting and party last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, five miles north of town, with husbands of the members invited guests.

Early in the evening bunco games were enjoyed at five tables and those winning prizes for the visitors were Carl Johnson, bunco, Willie Greer, high, and Mrs. Willie Greer, the only visiting lady, low score. For the members of the circle Miss Inez Shelby made bunco, Mrs. Herschel Jones, made high, and Miss Lillian Bell, low score. Each was given an attractive prize.

Following the bunco games the business period was held and the group organized a service club to the Woodman Circle, to meet once a month and at each meeting it was decided that a pot-luck supper will be enjoyed. The first meeting of this group will be held in December at the home of Misses Rosie Mae and Lillian Bell, three miles south of town. All members are urged to attend this next meeting as the election of officers for the coming year will be held. Plans were also perfected by which attendance can be increased. The Circle will also have its Christmas party again this year and plans were started for that event.

At the conclusion of the business a pot-luck supper was served buffet style. Besides members of the circle and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Greer and Mrs. Lois Waterfield, the District Manager of Hazel, Kentucky, were present.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB
IN MEETING YESTERDAY

The Junior Woman's Club held its second meeting of the club year yesterday afternoon at the Woman's Club building and hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. James Hogan, Mrs. Robert Burrow, Mrs. Ward Johnson and Miss Virginia Meacham.

Mrs. Hendon Wright, who is president of the club, presided over the meeting and conducted the usual business session, assisted by the secretary, Mrs. James Warren, who called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting. Miss Virginia Meacham spoke briefly to the club, urging that members give cooperation in the sewing project being conducted by the Red Cross of America. Mrs. Wright then made an announcement regarding the next open meeting of the Woman's Club and urged that all members attend so that the Junior Woman's Club will have a chance at the cash attendance prize to be given by the general president. Mrs. Bill Durbin, chairman of the Girl Scouts, gave a report of this work and asked for volunteers' workers.

That concluded the business period and the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Ward Bushart, program leader for the afternoon. Miss Mary Ethel Lansden was presented in an accordion solo, "My Old Kentucky Home."

Mrs. Bushart then presented the guest speaker, Mrs. J. N. Bailey of Paducah, who is State Chairman of Junior Woman's Clubs of Kentucky. Mrs. Bailey spoke in a very charming and interesting manner on "Patriotism To The Club" and said that "loyalty is that quality which prompts a person to be true to that which he understands."

The hostesses served light refreshments to the twenty-three members and two visitors present.

The visitors were Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Jett, both of Paducah.

BABSON CONGRATULATES
FDR ON HIS VICTORY

Wellesley, Mass.—Roger W. Babson, defeated new Prohibition party candidate, today congratulated

President Roosevelt on his reelection.

"Heartily congratulations," said Babson. "A defeated statistician, however, humbly reminds you that one per cent of the vote properly allocated would have elected Wendell Willkie. Therefore know you will work for coalition, both with Republicans and minority parties. Please keep well. Four great years are ahead."

JUDGE GOES TO COURT FOR STATE SALARY CHECK

Frankfort, Ky.—Jefferson Circuit Judge William H. Field went to court today for his March salary check from the state.

The check for $250 mistakenly went to William H. Fields, also of Louisville, who cashed it in the belief it was a lump sum payment from the State Unemployment Compensation Commission to which he had applied for benefits. The judge asked for his check, but State Treasurer E. E. Shannon, against whom Field's suit was filed in Circuit Court today, said so far as he knew none had been sent him.

"The matter is in the attorney general's hands," Shannon said. Field's suit asks a writ requiring Shannon to pay him.

A TIME TO BE THANKFUL!

Is there any wonder that we, who are at peace in a land of plenty, should pause one or even two days each year and proclaim a day of Thanksgiving. No doubt the nations at war in Europe look with envy upon America as she stands alone in the world today. For American citizens are free; we have an abundance of food, and may come and go as we please.

As a part of this community, we are thankful to share in the blessings of a great democracy. We are grateful for the good-will and patronage of the people of this section. Yes, for the America we have today we are truly thankful.

DAVIES DEMOCRATS URGE HAGER TO OFFER SELF FOR GOVERNOR

Owensboro, Ky. —Some 75 Democrats contributors to the Davies county campaign fund celebrated the reelection of President Roosevelt and Senator Chandler with a banquet here last night, during the course of which a resolution was offered by County Chairman W. W. Kirtley and adopted by the assembly urging Lawrence W. Hager, editor and publisher of the Owensboro Messenger and the Inquirer, to offer for the Governorship of Kentucky in 1943.

Mr. Hager was en route to New York on business for the American Legion when the action was taken. Upon being advised of it today, however, he wired the Inquirer as follows:

"If I had known their intention I would have sought to dissuade them as I succeeded in doing with similar-minded men following similar endorsement by the late Senator M. M. Egan. I am deeply grateful, of course, for the good will and confidence of my neighbors, which I hope to be able to retain without becoming a candidate for public office."
