Status hearing Fri. in Walker case; location may be set

By TOM BERRY
Staff Writer

Former MSU student Jerry Wayne Walker, indicted a second time in connection to a 1998 dorm fire that resulted in the death of student Michael Minger, is scheduled for a status hearing Friday morning in Calloway Circuit Court.

Walker, 35, of Paducah, is charged with second-degree manslaughter, first-degree arson of a public building, second-degree assault and 14 counts of first-degree wanton endangerment for allegedly starting a fire at MSU's Hester Hall September 18, 1998. The incident also resulted in injury to student Michael Priddy and threatened the welfare of others, according to Kentucky State Police.

Walker has pleaded not guilty to all charges.

Commonwealth's Attorney Mark Blankenship said Wednesday the hearing will likely result in determining where Walker's trial will take place if an agreement between he and Walker's co-counsel, Dennis Null of Mayfield and Richard Null of Paducah, is reached.

"We may have that by agreement. To try this case in

United Way recognizes volunteers from local non-profit agencies

By HAWKINS TEAGUE

Volunteers of several non-profit agencies were awarded Tuesday evening at the United Way's Outstanding Volunteer of the Year Derby party.

Aaron Dail, executive director of the Murray Calloway County United Way, thanked everyone for attending the second Kentucky Derby week volunteer recognition event, which featured Derby-style appetizers. Many of the women in attendance also wore big hats to fit the Derby motif. Dail also thanked United Way interns Malorie Garrett, Ashley Brown and Trey Jurgens for organizing it.

"We've tried to really promote this as a family reunion-type atmosphere," Dail said. "We get together as non-profit leaders, directors, volunteers and participants to help us continue the work that we do and share in the work and celebrate it and wear goofy hats and feel comfortable around each other and enjoy some good food. This is something that we want to continue to do, so we're going to continue it, and we're going to open it to non-profits all throughout the community. Not just United Way grantees, but also others out there doing great work, because we want to provide this opportunity to you to give back to your volunteers, to whoever that may be next year and the years to come."

The awards went to the following:

• Jennifer Wilson with the American Red Cross awarded Camilla Young.

• Nissa Wilson with Angels Community Clinic awarded Courtney French.

County Alliance for Substance Abuse Prevention awarded Janeann Turner.

• Lindsey Harlan with CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates) awarded former CASA director Racquel Strickland.

• Suzy Crook with West Kentucky Mentoring, Inc. awarded Dorothy Rogers.

• Tonia Casey with Need Line awarded Kathie Fleming.

• Ginny Harper with Calloway County 4-H awarded Brenda Jones and Amy Roberson.

• Dail awarded Tina Bernot for her work with United Way.

• Anica Smith with Calloway County Adult Education awarded Mardis Dunham.

• Cammie Blalock with Merryman

Officials: Road plan unchanged for county

By TOM BERRY
Staff Writer

Fifth District Rep. Melvin Henley and First District Sen. Ken Winters say plans for road and bridge construction in Murray-Calloway County totaling more than $12.6 million, approved early this year, remain unchanged despite turmoil over funding the plan during last month's General Assembly special session.

Henley (D-Murray) said Monday the list approved for the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet's short-term Two Year Road Plan were the same as that approved by the House and later signed into law by Gov. Steve Beshear. The transportation budget agreement signed by the governor following the special session did not result in any cuts to local projects.

"I think it's all pretty much the same," Henley said. "Now if we can just get them built."

Winters (R-Murray) said he was pleased that the projects were designated with favorable priority codes.

Tenn. House passes drug testing bill

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The House on Tuesday passed a bill to implement a suspicion-based drug testing program for welfare recipients in Tennessee.

The measure sponsored by Republican Rep. Julia Hurley, of Lenoir City, passed on a 73-17 vote. The Senate previously passed its version 24-9, meaning the bill now heads for the governor's consideration.

Rep. Johnnie Turner, of Memphis, was among the Democrats raising concerns about the bill.

"It is degrading, it is demeaning, it is dehumanizing," she said. "It impacts on a group of people who are at their lowest ebb."

The legislation would require new welfare applicants to undergo a special screening process. If suspicion is raised after the screening, the applicant would be drug tested.

The final version retreated from the original proposal that would have required blanket testing to qualify for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families, or TANF, program. The state's attorney general opined that that approach would have been unconstitutional. The bill would require people who test positive for illegal drugs to enter into a drug treatment program, though they would continue to receive benefits during that time.

FBI: Men arrested, wanted to blow up Ohio bridge

By THOMAS J. SHEERAN
Associated Press

CLEVELAND (AP) — Five men, at least three of them anarchists, plotted to blow up a bridge near Cleveland, but there was no danger to the public because the explosives were inoperable and were controlled by an undercover FBI employee, the agency said Tuesday in announcing the men's arrests.

The target of the plot was a bridge that carries a four-lane highway over part of the Cuyahoga Valley National Park in the Brecksville area, about 15 miles south of downtown Cleveland, the FBI said.

Authorities said three of the men were arrested Monday and are self-described anarchists, not tied to international terrorism.

It wasn't immediately clear whether the men had attorneys. All of the suspects, ranging in age from 20 to 35, were expected to appear in federal court Tuesday afternoon.

The FBI said three were arrested on charges of conspiracy and trying to use explosives to damage property affecting interstate commerce. They were identified as Brandon L. Baxter, 20; Douglas L. Wright, 26; and Anthony Hayne, 35. Their hometowns were not provided.

Charges were pending against the other two men.

Suit against MCCH set for June trial

By ANGIE HATTON
Staff Writer

A wrongful death lawsuit filed by Shelia K. Crouse and Billy Ray Adams against Murray-Calloway County Hospital is scheduled to go to trial in Calloway County Circuit Court in June.

Crouse filed the civil suit in October 2010 as executrix of the estate of Mildred Adams, who died Dec. 14, 2009, at Vanderbilt University Medical Center.

Adams was a resident of Spring Creek Healthcare and was reported to have suffered a fall there Dec. 13, 2009, according to the suit. The complaint alleges the hospital was negligent in its immediate response to Adams' fall, and that the hospital allegedly failed to promptly diagnose and properly treat a subdural hematoma from her accident. The suit claims these actions were "a substantial contributing factor" in Adams' death.

Crouse and Adams are seeking compensation for Adams' funeral and medical expenses, along with punitive damages and compensation for pain and suffering resulting from Adams' death.

A pretrial conference hearing is scheduled for May 29, and a jury trial is set to begin June 14.

A lawsuit presents only one side of a case.

Marshall County," Blankenship said. "I'm pretty sure the defense is going to go ahead and agree to that. That would be a fair place for the trial."

If an agreement is reached by Friday, Blankenship said Foust will likely ask for a status update and may rule on whether or not to accept a defense motion to dismiss the case on due process grounds arguing the Commonwealth waited too long to move on the case. The hearing is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m.

"The defense had originally filed to dismiss on double jeopardy grounds and that was overruled and they filed a second motion basically to reconsider and then added a claim that he should be dismissed for due process," Blankenship said. "The judge is going to rule on that this Friday. We'll at least get a verbal. We haven't seen anything in writing."

A trial in the case is currently set to begin with jury selection on Friday, July 6, in Calloway County. Blankenship had previously requested the trial take place in Murray, but is willing to accept a change in venue to Marshall.

Walker was 22 years old in 1998 when the incident occurred. He was initially charged with murder and arson, however the resulting 2001 trial in Christian County ended with a hung jury, a mistrial and dismissal without prejudice, meaning Walker could face charges again.

Recent charges against Walker stem from a review of cold case files by Blankenship at the request of Kentucky State Police. Walker was indicted on the most recent charges following a special-called Calloway County grand jury in September 2011.

An indictment means a grand jury has decided there is enough evidence to proceed with charges against an individual, but it is not an indication of guilt.

Individuals facing charges are presumed innocent until proven guilty.

U.S. factory orders point to a growing economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. manufacturing grew last month at the fastest pace in 10 months, suggesting that the economy is healthier than recent data had indicated.

New orders, production and a measure of hiring all rose. The April survey from the Institute for Supply Management was a hopeful sign ahead of Friday's monthly jobs report and helped the Dow Jones industrial average end the day at its highest level in more than four years.

The trade group of purchasing managers said Tuesday that its index of manufacturing activity reached 54.8 in April, the highest level since June.

Readings above 50 indicate expansion.

The sharp increase surprised analysts, who had predicted a decline after several regional reports showed manufacturing growth weakened last month. The gain led investors to shift money out of bonds and into stocks. The Dow Jones industrial added 66 points to 13,279, its best close since Dec. 28, 2007. Broader indexes also surged.

April's big gain followed a series of weaker reports in recent weeks that showed hiring slowed.

MCCH Clinic at Walmart in Benton closure announced

Special to the Ledger

On Tuesday, Murray-Calloway County Hospital announced that the Clinic at Walmart will be closed, effective immediately. Since 2010, Murray-Calloway County Hospital has owned and operated the Clinic at Walmart, a health-care clinic inside the Benton store.

"We opened the Clinic at Walmart in order to provide another convenient, cost-effective healthcare option for people from all areas of Marshall County," said Steve Burford, executive director of Physician Services. Convenient care clinics located inside or near stores such as Walmart have had mixed results in other parts of the country for their fast and affordable access to health services.

But the extremely low volume at the Benton Walmart Clinic made this location financially unsustainable to operate. In order to break even, the clinic would have had to see at least 25 patients a day.

"We're pleased to be able to say that even with the closing of the Clinic at Walmart, Murray-Calloway County Hospital operates two additional local clinics that are still a convenient healthcare option," added Burford. "Our clinics have been very successful, and all of our primary care offices are accepting new patients."

Both Albertson Family Medical and Marshall County Family Medical are open Monday through Friday to meet the needs of people with minor injuries and illnesses.

Road plan unchanged...

From Front

"There was no change whatsoever in them," Winters said. "If you have noticed, they have great priority funding codes on them too. I'm very, very pleased with that."

The list of projects includes a "roundabout" at the "Five Points" intersection at North 16th and Chestnut streets at a cost of $1.16 million; five-lane construction along Ky. 121 North from U.S. 641 to North 16th Street at a cost of $2.75 million; five-lane highway construction on Ky. 121 North from North 16th Street to the Old Coldwater Road intersection at a cost of $2 million.

The list also includes widening of U.S. 641 South from Murray to the Tennessee state line at Hazel to begin with "Priority Section One" from Glendale Road to the Clark's River bridge at a cost of about $1.2 million.

Construction of a "Murray Business Loop," which will run from the east end of Glendale Road to Industrial Road is planned at a cost of $3.8 million. Construction of a turning lane on Ky. 1327 (College Farm Road) at Calloway County High School and the William "Bill" Cherry Exposition Center is planned at a cost of $260,000.

Bridge replacement projects funded from 2012-14 include a bridge over the east fork of Clayton Creek on Ky. 1536 at a cost of $930,000; a total of $375,000 for replacement of a bridge over McCullough Fork on Ky. 893, $110,000 for replacement of a bridge on CR-1464 over a branch of Caney Creek and replacement of a bridge on Carlton Road over the west fork of Rockhouse Creek at a cost of $100,000.

Kentucky News in Brief

1 dies in western Ky. truck-train crash

EARLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Police say a western Kentucky man has died after his vehicle was hit by a train.

Kentucky State Police say 76-year-old James A. Johnson of Madisonville was driving a pickup truck south on U.S. 41 around 11:30 a.m. CDT Monday. Police say Johnson turned onto a side street and entered a railroad crossing where his truck was hit on the passenger side by a CSX train. Police say the train pushed the truck about three-tenths of a mile before stopping.

Johnson was pronounced dead at the scene. No other injuries were reported.

Police say visual and audible warning signals at the railroad crossing were functioning when the crash happened.

Man charged with threatening ATF agent

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A former Kentucky gun shop owner has been charged with mailing a 9 mm pistol and a threatening letter to a Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives agent overseeing an investigation into his activities.

Federal agents charged Ted Schlenker of Louisville with knowingly depositing a firearm in the mail and mailing a threatening communication to a federal law enforcement officer.

Schlenker, a former Kentucky Department of Corrections employee who was arrested Saturday, owned Kentucky Gun Runners in LaGrange until January 2011. Schlenker remains in federal custody after waiving a detention hearing scheduled for Monday. He did not give a reason for the waiver.

ATF Agent Kevin Funke wrote in an affidavit that ATF Agent Dan Volk in Bowling Green had been sent the pistol along with a note making reference to "getting a better gun if you want this to look like a suicide." Postal workers found the gun and letter outside an open manila envelope while doing a mail pickup from a box.

Funke wrote that agents traced the gun to Schlenker and found writing on a notepad similar to the note at his home. As federal agents searched his home, an investigator noted that Schlenker had personal information about the agents and assistant U.S. attorneys.

Humana reports 21 percent drop in 1Q profit

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Humana Inc. said Monday that its first-quarter profit fell 21 percent as the health insurer paid out more in claims and beefed up spending to handle expected growth in its lucrative Medicare Advantage membership.

The company, based in Louisville, nudged up its earnings expectations for the full year to a range of $7.55 to $7.75 per share, up from its prior forecast of $7.50 to $7.70 per share.

But the first-quarter results and the increased forecast were short of Wall Street expectations. Its shares fell more than 8 percent in trading Monday.

Humana cited favorable claims trends from prior periods in raising its forecast.

In essence, Humana set aside more money in previous quarters than was needed to pay claims during a slowdown in the use of health care services by consumers who felt pinched during the recession. That prior favorable claims trend amounted to 3 cents per share in the first quarter, compared with a 31-cent-per-share windfall in the same period a year ago, company said.

Registration begins for CCPL summer program

Special to the Ledger

Registration for the Calloway County Public Library's children's summer programs began Monday, April 30, according to Sandy Linn, librarian with the CCPL.

Summer, 2012 children's programming will feature Parents with Ones & Twos, Preschool Story Time and the library's annual summer reading program, all of which will feature the marvelous theme of "Dream Big, Read!"

Library summer story times will run through the month of June with offerings of Parents with Ones & Twos and Preschool Story Time.

Parents with Ones & Twos will be held Tuesdays and Wednesdays, from 9:30-10 a.m. Parents with Ones & Twos is a thirty minute program designed for children age 12-36 months accompanied by an adult and features a story, music and toy time.

Preschool Story Time will be held Tuesdays and Wednesdays, from 10:30-11:30 a.m. Preschool Story Time is one hour in length and is designed for children ages 3, 4, and 5. Younger 3-year-olds must have a parent accompany them and assist with listening and sitting skills. Older 3, 4, and 5-year-olds do not have to be accompanied by an adult; however the adult must remain in the library during the program. The program will feature stories, music, activities and a craft.

Story Time programs are free of charge and pre-registration is required. Group sizes are limited; therefore a limited number of forms are available for each group. When the section is filled, a wait list will be kept for both age groups. If interest warrants additional sections before Friday, May 25, the library will add them to accommodate the young patrons.

Summer Reading is for children age 5-12 and is a fun, entertaining program designed to promote the enjoyment of reading for pleasure, which in turn helps kids maintain and strengthen their reading skills while on break from school. Summer Reading is not a reading class or an instructional program. This hour-long program will be presented by a professional entertainer each Monday for five weeks. This year's scheduled performers will be Chris Egelston, Animal Tales; MadCap Puppets; and Aretta Baumgartner and The Groove Club. The sixth meeting day will feature Read Mart.

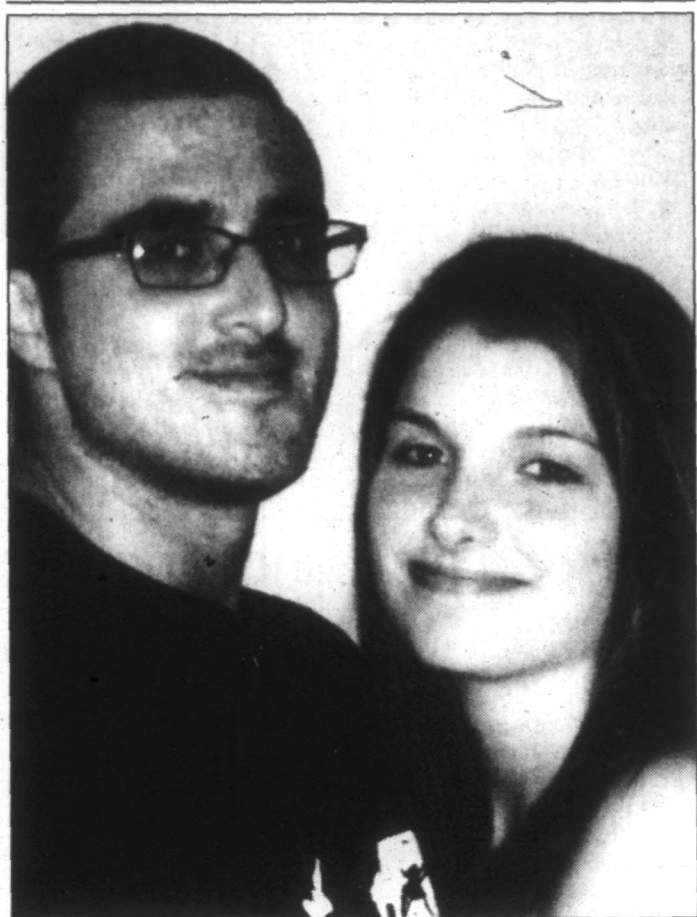

Summer Reading will be held on Mondays, beginning June 4, in the library meeting room. Sessions will be held at 9 a.m., 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. The program is free of charge but pre-registration is required. Sessions are filled on a first-come, first-served basis. Participants are encouraged to register as soon as possible to ensure the session of choice. When sessions are filled, wait lists will be kept through Monday, June 11, but no new participants will be added after June 12. A registration form must be completed for each child and turned in at the library. No registration will be taken by phone or fax.

A new addition to children's programming for the summer will be "Family Book to Movie Club."

Mrs. Schulz is the daughter of Derek Lamb. Mr. Schulz is the son of Tim and Christy Schulz.

FCC to host benefit for heart transplant surgery

Special to the Ledger

First Christian Church will host a benefit to raise funds for Kathy Perkins, who is preparing for heart transplant surgery, on Saturday, May 5, from 7 a.m. to noon in the fellowship hall of the church, 111 North Fifth St., Murray. Participants are asked to enter in the Fellowship Hall entrance, located in the back of the church next to McKee Equipment.

The Kathy Perkins Heart Transplant benefit will include items for sale, a bake sale and raffle prizes. Food items include breakfast items and baked goods. Raffle items include a signed Murray State University basketball and an antique quilt.

Perkins, who has been on the donor list for 11 months, is not sure how much longer she will be on the list. She will have to go into the Jewish Hospital in Louisville on May 18 and be in and out of the hospital for several two week stints until a heart is found.

She encourages the public to become organ donors.

"Having a match of the right size heart, right blood type and antibodies takes just the right donor," said Perkins. "I want to emphasize to folks to become organ donors—to sign their licenses. I have been for many years, long before I ever knew I would need a transplant."

To donate baked goods or items for sale, or to make a monetary donation, call FCC at 753-3824 or drop items off during regular business hours. All proceeds from the event will go to Perkins' transplant surgery and the costs associated with her care.

Account opened for chamber employee

Special to the Ledger

The Murray-Calloway County Chamber of Commerce recently opened a benefit account for Cindy Chrisman-Veach, an administrative assistant with the chamber, who was reported to have become ill over the holidays. To donate in order to help her with medical and living expenses, contact either location of The Murray Bank.

In addition to working at the chamber, Veach is also the owner/operator of Studio C Photography. She is the mother of Christina and David Veach and Candice Veach Norsworthy.

FUN & FASHION

By D.K. Kelley

Sometimes a simple three-quarter length tee shirt that's comfortable and easy to wear will be your favorite go-to piece. Just by adding a fabulous scarf and equally fabulous earrings you have a terrific outfit that is uniquely yours.

Some of this season's tee shirts are meant to be layered with a longer tank showing underneath, often in a different color for contrast.

We also love the ruching on the sides of tops or dresses for a slimming, hide-your-tummy look.

Hippie-chic tie-dye tee's with fresh designs may go back to the 70's but they are so now!

We love the colors in many of the new lines and we are sure you will too.

We are selling the colored jeans which are lighter in weight, and look so well with all of this season's bright tops.

Orange, coral and emerald green, as well as turquoise, have been trending this season.

Colorful jewelry is making a big splash as well for the spring and summer.

Derby Day this weekend - get your hats here! We also have wonderful dresses that are perfect for the Derby.

Check out our cleverly designed capri's with a tiered inset to create a fun, flattering look.

The cargo skirts in khaki are very cute as well, in soft comfortable knits.

You'll love the longer tunics with our great ruched leggings and slim pant in Lissette.

Go to Facebook and see what's new in the store, many pictures and current new merchandise is always on there. Click on, "Like" to be registered for the door prize or come in the store. Lots of new items and lines - tons of jewelry!

New merchandise on the 25-50% racks. Congratulations to Phyllis Clayton who won this week's giveaway.

Stay tuned to next weeks fun and fashion report...

Racers drop 4-2 decision at SIU

ERRORS WOULD ULTIMATELY DO MURRAY STATE IN AGAINST THE SALUKIS

From MSU Athletics

Errors proved costly for both teams Tuesday night, but Southern Illinois broke a 2-2 stalemate with a pair of runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to defeat the Racers 4-2 at Charlotte West Stadium in Carbondale, Ill.

The Salukis pieced together three straight hits to start out the bottom of the first, scoring a run on a bunt single by Taylor Orsburn that rolled through the infield, allowing Mallory Duran to score from second. SIU added a second run as a fielding error at second on a ground ball scored Kelsea Ashton from third, but Orsburn would be thrown out at the plate attempting to score for the third out.

Murray State (29-17) would get the offense going in the top of the fifth as Christian Cox led off the inning with the team's second hit of the day on an infield single. Ellyn Troup joined her on base after taking a pitch off of her foot, advancing Cox to second with nobody out.

Megan Glosser reached safely as SIU pitcher Alyssa Wunderlich threw the ball away at first, allowing Glosser to advance to second as Troup moved to third and Cox scored on the play.

Mo Ramsey beat out a bunt single down the third base line as Troup advanced on the throw, sliding in to home and avoiding the tag to tie the game at 2-2.

Southern Illinois (33-16) would double its score in the bottom of the sixth, scoring one on a Kalyn Harker pinch hit single to left field. Harker would be thrown out attempting to advance to second, but scored Kalyn Harker from third on the play to take a 3-2 lead.

The Salukis added an insurance run on a dropped fly ball to score Alicia Junker, increasing its lead to 4-2 after six.

CheyAnne Gaskey dropped her third decision of the season, falling to 8-3 on the year. She was charged with just one earned run in six outings, giving up eight hits and three walks while striking out seven in the outing.

Brittney Lang earned the win out of the bullpen, improving to 10-4 on the year. Entering in the sixth with two on and no one out, she recorded six straight outs to end the game, striking out two.

The loss ended the Racers' nine game win streak, the longest in the history of the three year old program.

Murray State returns to action Wednesday, traveling to Columbia, Mo., for an afternoon doubleheader against 10th-ranked Missouri. Game one is scheduled for a 3 p.m. start.

AUSTIN ADAMS ROPES TWO RUN HOMER IN THE FIRST INNING

From MSU Athletics

Taking to the road last night, the Murray High Tigers were handed just their seventh loss of the season with a 10-3 decision against host Trigg County.

Austin Adams would prove to have the biggest bat for Murray, smashing a two run homerun to left field in the game's opening run. He would add the only other run on a walk in the fifth inning.

Zack Grogan would take the loss on the hill after giving up five runs in three innings of work.

The Tigers will return to the field Thursday, traveling to Livingston Central for 7:30 tilt

ST. LOUIS RAMS

St. Louis submits plans to upgrade Jones Dome

RAMS CAN LEGALLY BREAK 30-YEAR LEASE AFTER THE 2014 SEASON

By JIM SALTER Associated Press

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Rams have submitted plans to upgrade the Edward Jones Dome, a key step to making sure the team doesn't leave town.

The team turned in its counterproposal on Tuesday, declining to release details. The plan was given to the St. Louis Convention and Visitors Commission, the operator of the dome that announced its own plan in February. The CVC said it will begin the review process, but spokeswoman Donna Andrews declined further comment.

The Rams can legally break its 30-year lease after the 2014 season if the dome is not deemed to be among the top tier of NFL stadiums.

The rejected CVC plan included $124 million in improvements, featuring a massive scoreboard measuring 96 feet long, new club seats, windows to add natural light and even a 50,000-square-foot attachment with a "Geek Suite" area for electronic buffs and fantasy football players.

But the CVC plan called for the team to pay 52 percent of the cost, or about $64.5 million. Taxpayers in St. Louis city and county would have been asked to pick up the rest of the cost or some $60 million.

The Rams offered no details on why the plan was rejected.

Under the lease, the two sides now have until June 15 to try and reach an agreement. Otherwise, arbitration begins. The arbitration process could last through the end of the year.

Rams owner Stan Kroenke has been non-committal about the team's future in St. Louis if the dome is not upgraded, creating concern that St. Louis could lose an NFL team for the second time in a quarter of a century. The football Cardinals left for Arizona after the 1987 season in large part because of stadium issues. Owner Bill Bidwill wanted a stadium of his own rather than sharing Busch Stadium with baseball's Cardinals.

Former Rams owner Georgia Frontiere brought the team from Los Angeles to her hometown of St. Louis prior to the 1995 season. The dome, built with taxpayer funds, opened that season. Frontiere died in 2008 and Kroenke, who had a 40 percent share, bought the remaining stake from her children.

Since the dome opened, several NFL teams have opened new open-air or retractable-roof stadiums. The St. Louis stadium is smaller than many and lacks some of their amenities.

The lease has built-in intervals when the team can break the lease if the dome is not deemed to be among the top 25 percent of all 32 NFL stadiums based on various criteria. The next interval is 2014.

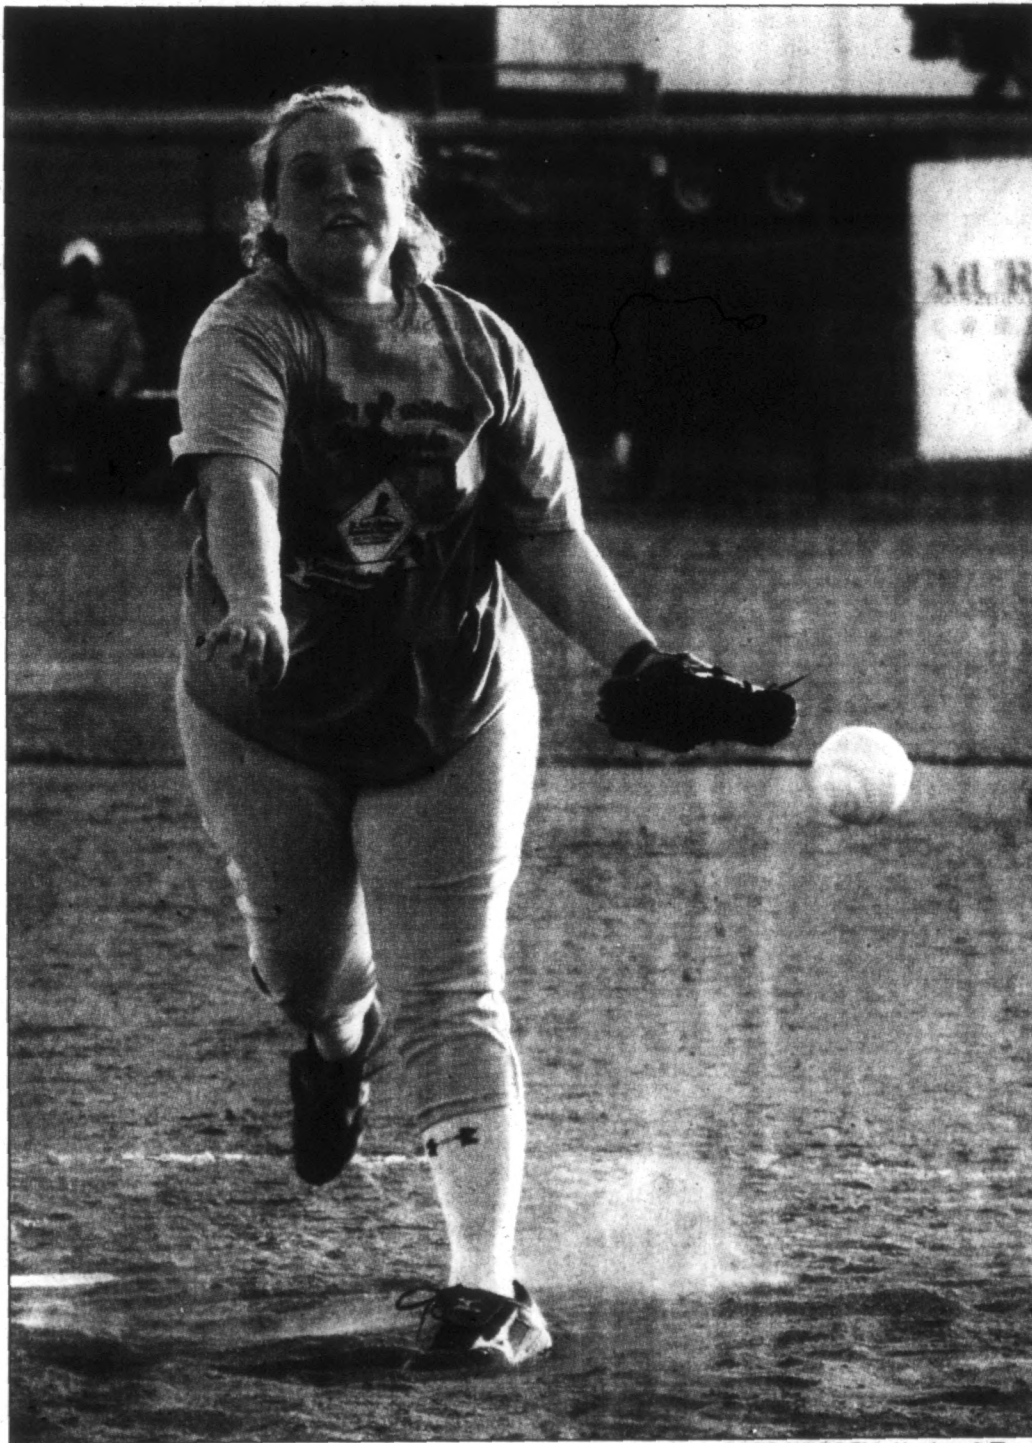

There is concern in St. Louis that Kroenke could move the team back to Los Angeles. Kroenke, a real estate mogul whose wife is a Wal-Mart heir, is a Missouri native but has ties to California, too. He owns an estate in Malibu, Calif., and recently made an unsuccessful bid to purchase baseball's Los Angeles Dodgers.

The dome was financed large-

CROSSTOWN CLASSIC: CALLOWAY COUNTY 3, MURRAY HIGH 2

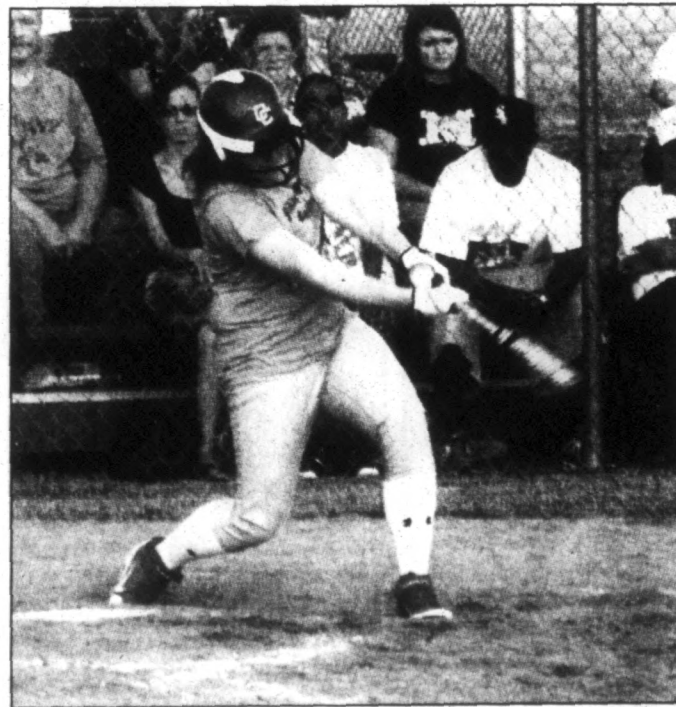

Back on top

Brittany Reynolds had a big game for Calloway on the mound, pitching eight innings of six-hit ball with two earned runs.

CALLOWAY COUNTY REGAINS CONTROL OF FOURTH DISTRICT WITH DECISIVE WIN OVER MURRAY HIGH

By GREG WADDELL Assistant Sports Editor

Walking on to the field for last night's Crosstown Classic, the Calloway County Lady Lakers felt as if they had turned a corner. Eight innings later though, they knew for sure.

Facing plenty of uncertainty after a 2-1 loss to Murray High just four weeks ago, Troy Webb and his girls made sure lightning would strike twice, denying their rivals a season sweep with a 3-2 extra innings victory.

Still, much like the score suggests, Murray wasn't ready to go down quietly. Entering the game with a 1-3 record in their last four games, the Lady Tigers looked like a totally different squad from the opening pitch, riding a strong performance from Lexi Harper to a 1-1 tie through four innings. From there, Calloway would add another run in the fifth, but Murray would prove game once again, tying up the score in the top of the seventh. This time though, the big plays would come from an unexpected source - the bottom of the order.

After a Bethany Sholar single to start the inning, Calloway would record two outs on fly balls to make things tense. That's when the No. 8 batter, Shelby Moss, would come through in a big way though, adding a single of her own to move Sholar to third. Maddison Cohoon would make it count three pitches later, driving a single past second baseman Erin Burton to plate the run.

Still, though the Lady Lakers would ultimately end the game in the next half inning, Murray head coach Rick Grogan said his team put up a heck of a fight.

"It was encouraging to see us get off to a fast start the way we did," he said. "It would have been nice to pick up one more run in the first inning, but (Calloway was) able to work out of (the jam). I was pleased to see us hang in and battle for as long as we did. The bottom of our order really carried us there for a little while and got us tied up again so it was encouraging to see that. I'm just very proud of our whole team and the way they stayed in and batted."

As for Calloway though, although the game wasn't pretty, they'll take it all the same as a win means more to the Lady Lakers than just bragging rights. In addition to pushing their record out to 11-7-1, it also gives them the catbird seat in a very important post season race. Still, despite sitting at 2-1 with just one more district game on their schedule, now won't be time to let off the gas. With Marshall County waiting in the wings at home next week, the struggle is far from over.

"The focus now... is next Thursday" Webb said. "You want to have the opportunity to control your own destiny and we've done that. Now, we just have to go take care of business next week, but it's going to be tough. It's Marshall at Marshall. We haven't won there in a while so we've got to go down there and take care of business. I like our chances though and like the way we're playing."

He's not the only one as Calloway seniors Alyssa Cunningham and Karlee Wilson added that they couldn't agree more. For now though, they'll take a little time to soak up this win.

"It's been a long couple of weeks listening to (Murray) talk about how they beat us," Wilson said, "so we wanted some revenge."

More than that though, they also wanted to prove that they weren't going anywhere.

"We wanted to prove that we're the still the same Calloway that we've always been," Cunningham said with a smile. "We hadn't been winning a lot of games, but now we're proving that we're coming back."

With most banks, what you see is what you get, but not with us. We know it takes plenty of expertise to run The Murray Bank effectively. Having our operations department right here in Murray makes that not only possible, but efficient as well. After you transact business with your favorite teller, loan officer or customer service rep, you don't have to worry about someone in another community following up "behind the scenes". At The Murray Bank, they're onsite, too so our customers reap double the benefits.

SUDOKU

Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Concepts Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.

Looking Back

Ten years ago

Erin Macgregor, Caldwell, a Calloway County student, received a degree from Eastern Kentucky University at conclusion of the fall 2001 semester.

In college golf, the Murray State women's golf team maintained a four-shot cushion over Austin Peay and Western Illinois with a score of 325 at the Country Club of Paducah, where they are participating in OVC Golf championships.

Pictured is Four Rivers Pony Club member Janene Johnston of Murray, as she receives a Lucky Horseshoe for first place overall in her division and second place for horse management in the U.S. Pony Club Mid-South Region's Games Rally, held at Kentucky Horse Park, Lexington.

Twenty years ago

John C. Williams, vice president of People's Bank, was named the 1992 Murray-Calloway County Chamber of Commerce Citizen of the Year. He was presented by Walt Apperson, 1991 Citizen of the Year.

New members of the Board of Directors of Murray-Calloway County Need Line Association are Rebecca Church, Jane Rogers, Helen Campbell, Pat Latimer and Everitt Craig.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hoffman, of Dexter, will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary May 3.

Recent births reported at Murray-Calloway County Hospital for April 30, includes a girl to Marilyn Smith, Benton; a boy to Kimberly and Terry Wyatt, Murray; and a girl to Nadia and Andy Brigham, Dover, Tenn.

Thirty years ago

Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. has appointed a Louisville man, George N. King Sr., to the Murray State University Board of Regents. He is the first black man to be named to the board.

Pictured is Leslie Banks, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Banks, atop her mare, Gypsy Leader, as the pair captured a third place in Open English Pleasure at the Kentucky Charity Horse Show.

William E. Dodson has been promoted to senior vice president of Peoples Bank, according to William M. Boyd, president.

In high school baseball, David Milton shut out Webster County as he fanned 16 batters and allowed just three hits in a 7-0 Murray High win at Reagan Field.

Forty years ago

Jan Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Clark, was valedictorian and Gail Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Russell, was salutatorian of the 1972 graduating class of Murray High School. Other honor students were Sarah Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Cooper, third; Katie Blalock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Blalock, fourth; and Steve Beatty, son of Dr. and Mrs. Durwood Beatty, fifth.

Mark Thurman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy P. Thurman, had been presented his Eagle badge at a court of honor by Boy Scout Troop 77 at First Christian Church.

Fifty years ago

Nancy Scull was winner of the Calloway County 4-H Club Dress Revue conducted at Little Chapel, Murray State College. Runners-up were Carolyn Murdock and Beverly Goode.

Diane Elkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Elkins, had been awarded a fellowship in the field of medical research by Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston.

Sixty years ago

Displays in store windows in Murray and other communities in Calloway County had called special attention to National Home Demonstration Week, April 27-May 3, by the 16 homemaker clubs in the city and county.

Frank Lancaster, manager of Variety Theatre, had introduced Movie Starts Tim Holt and Richard "Chito" Martin when they made a one-day appearance at the local theatre.

Offense was in the eye of body art's beholder

DEAR ABBY: On a recent airline flight, a tall man who sat behind me had his left leg out in the aisle during most of the trip. He was wearing shorts, and you could see his large tattoo of a naked woman on his thigh. The drawing was very explicit, and there was no way to avoid seeing it because passengers had to cross over his leg to reach the bathroom.

How do you explain this kind of "art" to children? Would the airline have the right to ask him to cover the tattoo if it was objectionable? -- OFFENDED

DEAR OFFENDED: Because body art could be classified as freedom of expression, I'm not sure they do. However, someone's leg protruding into the aisle might be considered a safety issue because it could cause a trip and fall. It would also impede food and beverage carts traveling up and down the aisle. Because you were offended, I hope you averted your gaze if you needed to make more than one trip to the lavatory, and if there were children in tow, that you didn't call their attention to the "picture."

DEAR ABBY: I had an urgent piece of mail to get to the post office. My sister called the postmistress, who agreed to stay open for her to deliver it. In the meantime, I found two other pieces of mail that required checks, quickly wrote them out and gave the three envelopes to my sister, who rushed them to the post office.

Upon her return, she showed me her vehicle, which had a deep gash running along one side because she had backed down the driveway too quickly, not paying attention, and had scraped the car against the stone post. She thinks I should pay half the cost of repair because "I was involved."

I think it was her carelessness, and therefore, I should not have to pay. I'm not angry, just confused by her reasoning because the same thing happened to me when I ran an errand for her, but I paid on my own for my carelessness. What do you think? -- THINKS DIFFERENTLY

DEAR THINKS DIFFERENTLY: I think you should remind your sister that when the same thing happened to you while running an errand for her, you assumed the responsibility for paying for it. For her to say that you were "involved" is stretching the truth. She's trying to guilt you into paying. Stand your ground.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 20-year-old female junior in college. I am intelligent, attractive and friendly, and I want to remain a virgin until I'm married. This is not because of religious reasons. I have had a few relationships I thought were serious, but I ended up getting dumped for a "looser" girl each time, which really hurts.

My family and friends don't understand that waiting until marriage is part of who I am. Ironically, I was raised to think this was proper, but once I reached a certain age, everyone seemed to change their minds.

I'm not looking to get married for at least five years, which means a long wait for anyone who wants to date me. Am I going to be alone forever just because I won't jump into bed with a guy before we're married? -- PRINCIPLED

DEAR PRINCIPLED: Not quite forever. I admire you for adhering to your values and so will the man who marries you.

Lightly processed whole grains are 'good' carbs

DEAR DOCTOR K: It seems most people now agree that some carbohydrates are good for us. Are there rules of thumb for choosing carbs wisely?

DEAR READER: In yesterday's column, I ranted about some misinformation we've all heard: Fats are bad for you and carbohydrates ("carbs") are good. That's just plain wrong. We all need fats and carbs in our diets.

Yesterday's column talked about how to distinguish the "good fats" from the "bad fats." Today, let's distinguish "good carbs" from "bad carbs."

Carbohydrates are found in a broad range of foods; some are healthy and some aren't. Table sugar, fruits and vegetables, and grains such as rice and wheat are all carbs. But they aren't equal in how they affect your body.

How is the difference determined? You may have heard the term "glycemic load," which describes both the amount of carbohydrate in a serving of food and how fast that amount will raise your blood sugar level.

Foods with a high glycemic load that flood your bloodstream with sugar all at once are less healthy. But high-carb foods that have a relatively low glycemic load can help protect against health problems. They're digested slowly, causing a gradual rise in blood sugar, rather than a harmful spike.

How can you tell the difference? Consider these characteristics:

-- How heavily processed is the food? Finely ground white wheat flour is digested faster than coarsely ground (sometimes called "stone-ground") wheat flour, because the smaller pieces are digested faster.

Whole-grain foods such as brown rice and barley have their fibrous casing intact. The casing slows digestion and contains nutrients that may lower the risk of some diseases. These include Type 2 diabetes, heart disease and several types of cancer, including cancer of the mouth, stomach, colon, gallbladder and ovaries.

-- Is it really whole grain? Not all foods in the grocery store that claim to be "whole grain" really are. "Whole wheat" does not mean no refined flour. Look for labels that say "100 percent whole wheat" (or oats or rye or another grain). The first ingredient listed should be a whole grain.

-- How much fiber is in the food? Whole-grain foods have more fiber than refined foods. Fiber slows digestion and prevents blood-sugar spikes.

-- How much fat is in a meal or snack? You'll slow the rise in blood sugar from carbs by combining them with protein or fats. Fats take longer to digest than carbohydrates and might translate to a less detrimental effect on your blood sugar. Just make sure that the fat or protein is a healthful one. A handful of nuts is a better snack than a fat-filled cookie. Nuts are largely good fats; cookies are definitely not.

Today In History

By the Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, May 2, the 123rd day of 2012. There are 243 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:
On May 2, 2011, Osama bin Laden, the face of global terrorism and architect of the Sept. 11, 2001, attacks, was killed in a fire-fight with elite American forces at his Pakistan compound, then quickly buried at sea in a stunning finale to a furtive decade on the run.

On this date:
In 1519, artist Leonardo da

Vinci died at Cloux, France, at age 67.

In 1863, Confederate Gen. Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson was accidentally wounded by his own men at Chancellorsville, Va.; he died eight days later.

In 1890, the Oklahoma Territory was organized.

In 1932, Jack Benny's first radio show, sponsored by Canada Dry, made its debut on the NBC Blue Network.

In 1945, the Soviet Union announced the fall of Berlin, and the Allies announced the surrender of Nazi troops in Italy and parts of Austria.

In 1952, the era of commercial jet passenger service began as a BOAC de Havilland Comet carrying 36 passengers took off on a multi-stop flight from London to Johannesburg, South Africa.

In 1957, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., died at Bethesda Naval Hospital in Maryland.

In 1972, a fire at the Sunshine silver mine in Kellogg, Idaho, claimed the lives of 91 workers who succumbed to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Horoscope

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Thursday, May 3, 2012:

This year people often act in the most unpredictable manner. You'll wonder why. Power plays abound. If you are single, you could meet an interesting cast of people. Hang in there and wait for the right person. If you are attached, you discover new-found ground on which to relate to each other. LIBRA understands your underlying gentleness. He or she honors your feelings.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

★★★★ You might react and simply not care, leaving others wondering what has happened. At this point, you march to the beat of a different drummer. Your actions could surprise even you. Avoid a power play at all costs.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

★★★ Look around at your immediate circle. You might see some strange behavior emerging. Your caring will make a big difference to a child or loved one. A power play might push others away and cause you a problem, or vice versa.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

★★★★ Go with the unexpected, even if you are not sure where it is going to land you. Pressure builds, as you feel you should go along with someone's suggestion. Your softer side emerges when dealing with a loved one.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

★★★★ Stay close to home, if possible. The unexpected will occur when you are out. Authority figures do exactly what is not expected. Do not feel pressured to do anything that doesn't feel right.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

★★★★ Listen to news that is forthcoming. You might be wondering about the values of less controlling people. Understand that, although you do not want to, you might have to deal with situations involving power plays.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

★★★★ A partner or associate might act in an irresponsible manner. You might not like what is going down. Pressure builds with a new friend, loved one or child.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

★★★★ What many people would call shocking, you'll handle with comparative ease.

by Jacqueline Bigar

Isolate a controlling situation; you might want to stop feeding its dynamics.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

★★★ Take your time when responding to a surprise. You do not want to act on your first impression. You also easily could misread a situation, making more out of it than initially was intended.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

★★★★ Meetings could bring surprising results. If you sit back and give it some thought, the outcome could be most beneficial. Do not force yourself to do what does not feel comfortable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

★★★★ Take a stand if you must. Others might think you are unusually controlling or overly dominant. What they don't realize is that that is you. Make sure it will serve you well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

★★★★ Listen to a suggestion more openly. Your inner voice could be already judging and making decisions. Push that voice away. You'll look at your life with new eyes.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

★★★★ You have a strong sense of direction right now. You might not be able to relate as directly with a key associate at first.

Local Businesses Honored for Sponsorship of Relay

In the Murray Calloway County area, we are honored to have wonderful support from our sponsors. Without them, much of the event would not be possible.

Over the years, we have been lucky enough to work with many businesses throughout the community. While each sponsor is greatly appreciated, five local businesses were recently awarded with the "Light House Award."

The Murray Calloway County Relay For Life and the American Cancer Society are pleased to announce that Murray Ledger and Times, Murray Electric, MSU News, WKMS 91.3 and FROGGY 103.7 have been recognized with the "Lighthouse Award for Media Excellence" in Kentucky by the American Cancer Society's Mid-South Division.

This award recognizes outstanding contributions to promoting the fight against cancer through print and electronic media during the last fiscal year. Media outlets are nominated based on coverage they have dedicated to cancer news and public service messages they have placed for the ACS. Outlets compete in categories based on community size and outlet distribution.

"As a volunteer-driven organization, the American Cancer Society counts on corporate citizens like Murray Ledger and Times, Murray Electric and Froggy 103.7 to help us further our mission of eliminating cancer," said Pam Whitmore, ACS area director. "The

We Are Here
Serving Kentucky and Southern Indiana cancer patients and their families

American Cancer Society Patient Support Programs

1-800-227-2345 and cancer.org

The American Cancer Society's National Cancer Information Center is available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year by calling toll-free 1-800-227-2345. Trained cancer information specialists are on hand to answer questions and connect callers to local resources. Information is also available online at cancer.org. The site provides information about cancer, local resources, events and more.

Cancer Survivors Network®

The Cancer Survivors Network is a virtual community created by and for survivors where they can share experiences and provide support. The site is available at csn.cancer.org.

Celebration of Survivorship

The American Cancer Society holds an annual Celebration of Survivorship during its Relay For Life events across the state. Cancer survivors are invited to lead the Victory Lap that begins the overnight Relay. To join this year's celebration, please call the American Cancer Society at 1-800-227-2345 for scheduling information.

Children's Camps

In Northern Kentucky and Nashville, Tenn., the American Cancer Society hosts camps for children with cancer. They are designed to handle the special needs of children undergoing treatment, while offering fun-filled summer camp activities.

College Scholarships

Each year the American Cancer Society's Mid-South Division awards scholarships in the amount of $1,000 each to young cancer survivors. Eligible students must have had a cancer diagnosis before age 21, maintain a 2.5 GPA, be under the age of 25, and have been accepted to an accredited college, university or vocational school.

Gift Items

Wigs, turbans, breast prostheses, prosthetic bras, and limited durable medical equipment are some of the items available free of charge to cancer patients.

Hope Lodge®

Sometimes patients need to travel to Lexington, Ky. or Nashville, Tenn. for cancer treatment requiring weeks or months away from home. The American Cancer Society has Hope Lodges in both locations to provide free temporary housing so patients can focus on fighting their disease without worrying about lodging expenses.

I Can Cope®

I Can Cope helps patients and families meet the challenges of a cancer diagnosis through a series of educational classroom-style sessions or online at www.cancer.org/onlineclasses. Topics include pain management, money matters, nutrition and more.

Look Good...Feel Better®

Look Good...Feel Better helps women undergoing cancer treatment cope with the appearance-related side effects of treatment and regain their self-confidence. The program is offered in group sessions by volunteer cosmetologists. Self-help materials are also available by calling 1-800-395-100K (5665).

Man To Man

Man To Man is an information and support program to help men and their families cope with prostate cancer through educational seminars, discussion groups and visitation programs.

Reach To Recovery®

This volunteer visitation program provides information and one-on-one peer support for those concerned about breast cancer. All volunteers are breast cancer survivors and are trained and certified.

Smoking Cessation

Patients can be connected with local resources to assist them in quitting by calling 1-800-227-2345 or visiting cancer.org.

Support and Self Help Groups

These groups help cancer patients and their families deal with the physical and emotional stress of coping with cancer diagnosis and treatment.

Transportation

Cancer patients sometimes have significant transportation needs during treatment. In some areas, volunteers are available through the Road to Recovery program to drive patients to and from their cancer treatments. In addition, the American Cancer Society has provided grant funds to qualifying hospitals or treatment centers to assist cancer patients with recurring and chronic transportation needs when no other assistance is available.

Who We Are

Our Mission

The American Cancer Society is the nationwide, community-based, voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem by preventing cancer, saving lives and diminishing suffering from cancer, through research, education, advocacy and service.

Research

Since launching our research program in 1946, the American Cancer Society has directed more than $3 billion into research efforts, including grants to 42 Nobel Prize winners. The American Cancer Society is the largest nonprofit, private source of cancer research dollars in the country.

Education

Because prevention and early detection are the key to increased survival rates, the American Cancer Society is committed to educating the public about cancer. Community-based awareness campaigns are conducted to spread the word about reducing cancer risk and adhering to cancer screening guidelines.

Patient Support

Because the American Cancer Society understands the impact a cancer diagnosis can make on your life, we offer services to help improve the quality of life for cancer patients and their families.

Advocacy

Every day public makers at all levels of government make decisions that impact the lives of those facing cancer. The American Cancer Society works at the local, state and federal levels to better educate these legislators about cancer-related issues.

Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program now at 10 Million Screenings

On October 4, 2011, cancer patients and survivors marked an historic milestone in the prevention and early detection of two of the deadliest cancers for women: the ten-millionth screening performed under the National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program, which provides access to lifesaving cancer screenings and treatment for millions of low-income, uninsured and underinsured women.

The program, which is administered by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), has provided screening tests to nearly four million women and detected more than 37,000 cases of breast cancer since 1991.

"For 20 years, this program has saved lives by offering breast and cervical cancer screenings to women who otherwise could not get them," said Christopher W. Hansen, president of the American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network (ACS CAN).

"Medical advances in the prevention and early detection of cancer are responsible for a 20-year decline in death rates from the disease, but Americans without access to proven screening tests cannot benefit," Hansen said.

Breast cancer is the second leading cause of cancer deaths among women and was estimated to kill 40,000 women in 2011, but screening can reduce breast cancer mortality rates.

Breast and Cervical Cancer in Kentucky

Kentucky's Breast and Cervical Cancer Program

The Women's Cancer Screening Program provides free pap tests to women aged 21 to 64 and mammograms to women aged 40 to 64 who are uninsured, underinsured, and have income below the 250% federal poverty line.

Access for Women in Kentucky

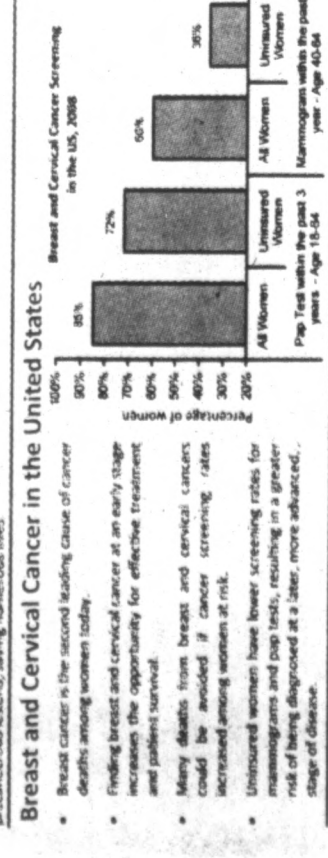

ACS CAN encourages states to cover uninsured and underinsured women. Women will still be in need of these essential screenings in 2014, making continued and enhanced funding necessary in order to provide these services for all eligible women.

Call to Action

ACS CAN recognizes the enormous impact NBCDCP has delivered in saving the lives of low-income, uninsured and underinsured women. Women will still be in need of these essential screenings in 2014, making continued and enhanced funding necessary in order to provide these services for all eligible women.

The National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program Saves Lives

On October 4, 2011, the National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program (NBCDCP) has been able to provide 9.2 million free breast and cervical cancer screenings to low-income, uninsured and underinsured women. In total, the program has detected 44,885 breast cancers and 126,117 cervical cancers and precancerous lesions, saving numerous lives.

Breast and Cervical Cancer in the United States

Breast cancer is the second leading cause of cancer deaths among women today.

Many deaths from breast and cervical cancers could be avoided if cancer screening rates increased among women at risk.

Uninsured women have lower screening rates for mammograms and pap tests, resulting in a greater risk of being diagnosed at a later, more advanced, stage of disease.

Protecting the NBCDCP

Today, many challenges face our country. Americans are losing their jobs and their employer-sponsored health insurance because of economic factors, while simultaneously federal funds are being cut, putting the program at risk.

The NBCDCP was designed to provide breast and cervical cancer screenings to those with the highest need: low-income, uninsured, and underinsured women.

Due to lack of funding, women are being put on waiting lists, and even being turned away by clinics.

NBCDCP is not only an important resource for women, but it is also an important resource for the nation.

After the Affordable Care Act is fully implemented in 2014, a study conducted by the George Washington University shows that even if the same number of women are screened in 2014 as are being screened today, the number of deaths from breast and cervical cancer will be cut in half.

These are the reasons why the American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network (ACS CAN) is advocating for increased funding to support the NBCDCP. Fiscal year (FY) 2011 saw a 59 million reduction of funds to the program. This year, ACS CAN is urging Congress for $2.5 million in total program funding for FY 12.

"Choose You" on May 10

Spring can mean it's time to change outfits, routines and most importantly – unhealthy behaviors!

Take the first step toward health change on May 10, which the American Cancer Society and its volunteers are recognizing as "Choose You Day." It's a national day of celebration in support of women's cancer prevention.

"Choose You" is an American Cancer Society program that encourages women to put their own health first in the fight against cancer.

The movement challenges women to make healthier choices and supports them in their commitment to eat right, get active, quit smoking and get regular health checks. Many tools, including a calorie counter, a catalog of healthy recipes, and advice from a "virtual" dietitian can be found on the American Cancer Society's Choose You website, chooseyou.com.

The American Cancer Society estimates that one in three women will be diagnosed with cancer in her lifetime. The biggest killer of women is lung cancer, followed by breast and colon. When it comes to new cases of cancer in women, the American Cancer Society estimates that more women in the United States were diagnosed with breast cancer last year than any other type of cancer, followed by lung and then colon.

About 50 percent of cancer deaths in women could be prevented if more emphasis were placed on early detection and healthier lifestyles including maintaining a healthy weight through diet and exercise and avoiding tobacco.

The American Cancer Society saves lives and creates more birthdays by helping people stay well, by helping people get well, by finding cures and by fighting back. For more information, contact the American Cancer Society at 1-800-227-2345 or visit us at cancer.org.

Find Cures
The American Cancer Society has a long history of saving lives by helping find cancer's causes and cures. Whether discovering medications that help people live longer and better than ever, or pioneering and promoting the most promising cancer prevention or screening tests, the Society has been involved in nearly every major cancer breakthrough in the last century.

Since the American Cancer Society research program was founded in 1946, it has funded close to $4 billion in cancer research. To date, 46 Nobel Prize winners have received grant support from the American Cancer Society in Kentucky. The American Cancer Society currently funds 11 research grants, totaling more than $4 million.

Fight Back
At its core, the American Cancer Society is a vibrant grassroots force of citizens – passionate volunteers who tirelessly seek to save lives from cancer. Through community events like Relay For Life and Making Strides Against Breast Cancer, we mobilize the world's largest movement to defeat cancer once and for all.

Relay For Life
As the American Cancer Society's signature fund-raising event, Relay For Life raises millions of much-needed dollars to make the organization's programs and services a reality. In 2011, Kentucky held 125 events with 3,182 teams and 7,273 cancer survivors participating.

Making Strides Against Breast Cancer
The American Cancer Society signature breast cancer event, Making Strides Against Breast Cancer, raises funds and awareness for breast cancer efforts. In Kentucky, four Making Strides Against Breast Cancer events took place in October 2010 with nearly 1,200 teams participating.

Determination
The American Cancer Society Determination program empowers athletes of all abilities to dedicate their training and participation in marathons, half-marathons and other endurance events to the fight against cancer by raising funds and awareness. In 2011, 29 athletes from Kentucky participated in Determination events in Louisville, Nashville and New Orleans. In 2011, Kentucky hosted a Determination event in Louisville with 22 athletes participating.

Additional Events
In Kentucky, the American Cancer Society also hosted three galas, three specialty parties, two special events, and two golf events. In addition, Louisville area high schools supported our Coaches vs. Cancer program, and a Coaches vs. Cancer Golf Tournament took place in Louisville with volunteers from the American Cancer Society and the V Foundation working together to raise funds for the fight against cancer.

Advocacy Efforts
Women in Kentucky who have no insurance, or inadequate insurance, may still receive life-saving screening tests for breast and cervical cancer at no cost to them thanks to the American Cancer Society Governor Steve Beshear signed legislation that would have cut spending for the Kentucky Breast Cancer Screening Program, which provides screening tests to low-income, uninsured women. The governor's veto was the result of a very focused effort by volunteers and staff to ensure the continuation of funding for this program.

In addition, local smoke-free workplace ordinances will protect workers from the dangers of secondhand smoke. The American Cancer Society, working alongside our advocacy affiliate, the American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network, and our coalition partners, is working to pass local smoke-free ordinances and stop less-than-comprehensive ordinances that don't protect every worker in a community.

Unless otherwise noted, numbers given for patients served and event participants, as well as other data, are based on American Cancer Society Mid-South Division fiscal year 2010-2011 (September 1, 2010 – August 31, 2011).
