Smart Money: Murray listed as retirement destination

By HAWKINS TEAGUE
Staff Writer

Murray was recently listed as a desirable Kentucky retirement destination by the Wall Street Journal's Smart Money website.

The Wall Street Journal's SmartMoney.com has been doing a series during the last two months called "Retire Here: Not There." Each installment in the series, written by Catey Hill, covers a different state and profiles four cities that are recommended, affordable retirement hot spots. The Kentucky article that includes Murray was posted on May 4.

The first article covered Maine and was published on March 5. Its introduction stated: "For the more than 36 million Americans who will turn 65 in the coming decade, the best cities and towns to retire in now have a much higher bar to clear: They can't just be great places — they have to be affordable. Each week, SmartMoney.com tours a different state to find less-expensive alternatives to the most well-known golden year destinations."

Along with Murray, the article mentions Paducah, Lexington and Bowling Green, each with its own heading characterizing

CCHS Bronze Award winner in U.S. News rankings

By ANGIE HATTON
Staff Writer

Calloway County High School has been named as a Bronze Award winner in the U.S. News & World Report's "Best High Schools" rankings for 2012.

U.S. News's comprehensive rankings methodology is based on the principle that a great high school must serve all of its students well, not just those who are college-bound. CCHS received high marks for the number of students who perform better than the state average on state tests. The school was also recognized because it has a high number of disadvantaged students performing well on exams.

CCHS Principal Brian Wilmurth said the school is honored by the designation.

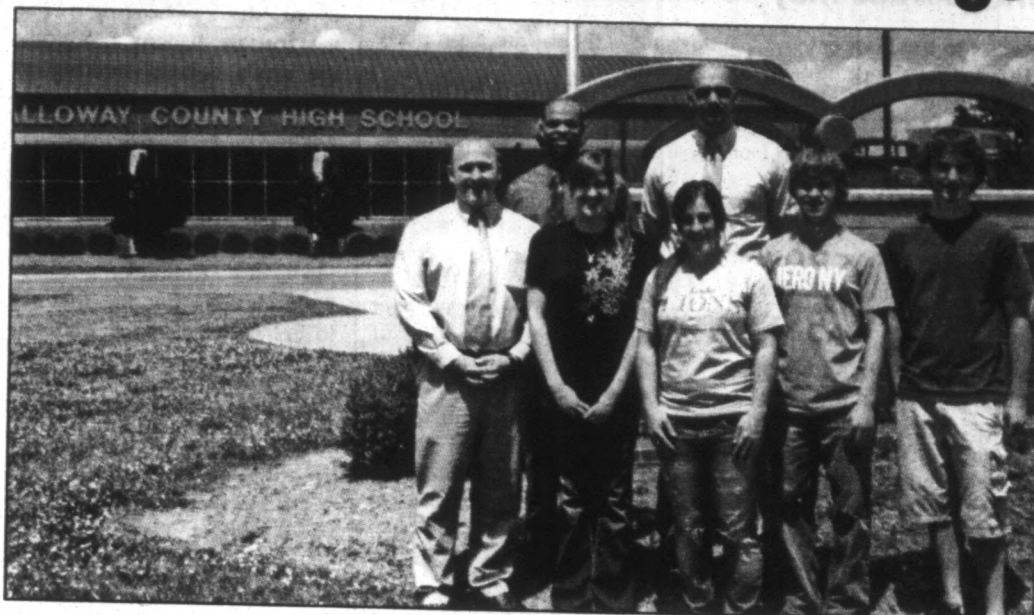

"It is a tribute to the commitment of our students, faculty and staff and reflects the expectations of our community," he said.

U.S. News found that CCHS was above the Kentucky average for proficiency in math and reading scores. Sixty-two percent of students were proficient in math and 71 were proficient in reading. In college readiness, CCHS was near the Kentucky average with 15 percent taking Advanced Placement tests, and 6 percent passing.

In the last few years, Wilmurth said CCHS has pushed teachers and students to go the extra step through a concept called the 212 principle. It is based on the idea that water at 211 degrees is just really hot, but add an extra degree and it is boiling and has a myriad of uses, Wilmurth

Murray leading in 'Friendliest' town vote

By ANGIE HATTON
Staff Writer

Murray is top in the running for the Friendliest town in the Rand McNally and USA Today Best of the Road "2012 Best Small Towns in America" competition.

As of Wednesday, Murray had more than 750 online votes for Friendliest small town. The next highest is Denton, Texas, with a little over 630 votes. Votes are being cast online through May 15, and individuals may vote once every 24 hours.

"I'm very excited we're in first place," said Stephanie Butler, Murray Convention and Visitors Bureau director of marketing. "All we really did here at the CVB was spread the word on the contest, and then the community really came together to vote. And it's not just people who live here. It's people who used to live here, who went to college here, and who still love Murray."

The city needs to keep momentum in the polls in order to be one of the finalists in the Friendliest category, said Butler. Some of the other cities in the running have larger populations, which means Murray's smaller population needs to work harder to

Bridge truss may be transported Friday

Special to the Ledger

Engineers working on a replacement span for the Eggners Ferry Bridge are optimistic they will be able to load and move the span by barge on Friday or Saturday, but note there are still plenty of details to work through.

Hall Contracting of Kentucky workers at the Eddyville Riverport in Lyon County continued Wednesday tightening and checking the 14,000 bolts required to connect beams that make up the 322-ft. replacement truss. Kentucky Transportation Cabinet Inspectors were working alongside the assembly crew to run safety-checks on a substantial number of the bolts to assure they are properly secured.

Engineers hope to be able to move the steel truss onto two barges for a 30-mile trip by water to Aurora sometime Friday or Saturday. On arrival, the span will be lifted onto the awaiting piers of the Eggners Ferry Bridge.

The steel frame weighs about 200 tons. Lifting that kind of weight and moving it onto a barge requires a lot of detailed planning. Crane operators spent the day checking and re-checking their equipment and rigging. Meanwhile, Hall engineers are closely monitoring weather and wind conditions critical to the move.

keep the number one ranking, she stated.

Butler said at the close of online voting the top six towns in each category as defined by voting, reviews and social media buzz will receive site visits by a Rand McNally team. The team will make their visit in June, and decide on which city gets the honor.

Other categories for the 2012 Best Small Town are Best For Food, Most Beautiful, Most Patriotic and Most Fun.

one of the defining traits of the towns. Murray's heading is "For the friendly fisherman," citing the city's current ranking in Rand McNally and USA Today's "Friendliest Town in America" online voting competition (at www.bestoftheroad.com) and the abundance of bass and crappie at Kentucky Lake. Paducah's is "For the folk art lover" because of the National Quilt Museum and the LowerTown Arts District. Lexington's is "For the horse lover," and Bowling Green's is "For the entrepreneur."

The story mentions Land Between the Lakes as an attraction for retiring in the area, as well as well-known speakers appearing at Murray State University; the Trolley Hop art gallery tour; activity clubs like Pleasure Cookers and Film Burners; and Playhouse in the Park, although the organization is not specifically named. Retiree Terry Little is quoted as saying, "There's an active community theater here, and a lot of stuff you don't find in small towns."

Regarding the "Friendliest

Town" competition, the article quotes Murray Convention and Visitors Bureau Executive Director Erin Carrico as saying, "Everyone remembers you and remembers your name, we're very welcoming to strangers and there's a very leisurely pace of life here."

A sidebar in the story uses Sperling's Best Places as a source, saying that the cost of living in Murray is 17.5 percent below the national average and that the median home cost is $96,200. The article also states that Kentucky doesn't tax the first $41,000 of retirement income, pensions or annuities, and also does not tax Social Security.

Other states covered in the series so far include Iowa, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah, California, Connecticut, Virginia, Mississippi, Montana, Nevada, Hawaii and Louisiana.

Postal Service: Will keep rural post offices open

By HOPE YEN

Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — The financially struggling U.S. Postal Service sought Wednesday to tamp down concern over wide-scale cuts, revealing it will seek to keep thousands of rural post offices open with shorter hours.

At a news briefing, Postmaster General Patrick Donahoe said the mail agency was backing off its plan to close up to 3,700 low-revenue post offices sometime after May 15. Citing strong community opposition, Donahoe said the agency will now whittle down full-time staff but maintain a part-time post office presence in rural areas, with access to retail lobbies and post office boxes.

Under the emerging strategy, no post office would be closed. But more than 13,000 rural mail facilities could see reduced operations of between two and six hours.

The Postal Service intends to seek regulatory approval and get community input, a process that could take several months. The new strategy would then be implemented over two years and completed in September 2014, saving an estimated half billion dollars annually.

Under the new plan, communities would be given the option of keeping their area post offices open but at reduced hours. Another option would be to close a postal office in one area while keeping a nearby one open full-time. Communities also could opt for alternatives including creating a Village Post Office in which postal services are offered in libraries, government offices or local stores such as a Wal-Mart, Walgreens or Office Depot.

The latest move comes as the Postal Service is making a broad push for Congress to pass legislation this summer that would allow the agency to move forward on its multi-billion dollar cost-cutting plan, which include an end to Saturday mail delivery.

Kentucky News in Brief

Appeals court grants wax seal to Maker's Mark

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A federal appeals court has ruled that Maker's Mark holds the trademark on the dripping wax seal atop its bottles.

The U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals on Wednesday upheld a lower court ruling granting the Kentucky bourbon maker a trademark on the seal, which serves decorative purposes only.

The decision comes in a case brought by London-based Diageo North America and Casa Cuervo of Mexico, which used a dripping red wax seal on special bottles of its Reserva tequila. U.S. District Judge John G. Heyburn II in 2010 granted Maker's Mark's request for an injunction stopping other liquor companies from using the seal.

Amazon to open service center in Winchester

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Amazon.com has announced that it will open a service center in Winchester that will create 550 full-time jobs and 600 seasonal ones.

Gov. Steve Beshear joined the company in making the announcement Wednesday. A statement says the company is investing more than $20 million in the project.

It will be Amazon's first customer service facility in Kentucky, though it has other centers in the state.

The company plans to open a temporary customer service center in late summer until construction on the permanent 70,000-square-foot facility is finished in 2013.

explained.

CCHS has also, in the last three years, focused on recognizing student effort. The recognitions focus on individualized achievement. For example, a students who makes D's improves and starts making C's, is recognized, Wilmoth said he is happy whenever a student tries his or her best.

Wilmoth added he believes the Bronze Award from U. S. News proves that the faculty at CCHS really care about the students.

"It's a very simple mindset we've tried to instill: 'Be the teacher you want your child to have.' If you want your child to have a teacher who is patient and understanding, and helps your child to learn the material and answers questions, that's what you need to be," remarked Wilmoth.

Wilmoth said the award was not something the school district was expecting.

"This Bronze Award was a terrific surprise for us," he said. "We didn't submit an application for consideration. U.S. News researched public records and discovered that CCHS is doing a great job of educating all of our students."

According to the report, only one-in-four high schools scored high enough in the rankings to receive either a gold, silver or bronze medal.

The top five Kentucky High Schools received Gold Awards. Other western Kentucky schools to be named as Bronze Award winners are Ballard Memorial High School, Caldwell County High School, Graves County High School and Mayfield High School.

Murrayans face drug-related charges

Staff Report

A Murray man has been charged with trafficking marijuana.

According to MPD spokesman Sgt. Scott Svebakken, Lloyd Thomas Osgood, 37, of Murray, was arrested Tuesday by Detective Chris Garland of MPD and Pennyriale Narcotics Task Force. Osgood was charged with trafficking in marijuana, possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, Svebakken said.

Svebakken said detectives with MPD and Kentucky State Police began an investigation of a person in Murray who was allegedly obtaining a large quantity of marijuana. During the investigation, detectives intercepted a package destined for a residence inside the city limits, he said.

After a search warrant was executed on the package and it was found to have approximately two pounds of marijuana inside, a second search was conducted at the residence, Svebakken said. During the search of the residence, more marijuana and drug paraphernalia was reported located, Svebakken said.

Garland also charged another person at the residence. Rhonda Meyers, 47, of Murray, was charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Individuals facing charges are innocent until proven guilty.

Hair stylist Vidal Sassoon dead at 84

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vidal Sassoon used his hair-styling shears to free women from beehives and hot rollers and give them wash-and-wear cuts that made him an international name in hair care.

When he came on the scene in the 1950s, hair was high and heavy — typically curled, teased, piled and shellacked into place. Then came the 1960s, and Sassoon's creative cuts, which required little styling and fell into place perfectly every time, fit right in with the fledgling women's liberation movement.

"His timing was perfect: As women's hair was liberated, so were their lives," Allure magazine Editor-in-Chief Linda Wells told The Associated Press in a written statement. "Sassoon was one of the original feminists."

Sassoon was at his home in Los Angeles with his family when he died Wednesday at age 84, police spokesman Kevin Maiberger said. Maiberger said police were summoned to the home but found that Sassoon had died of natural causes, and authorities wouldn't investigate further.

Mr. Arneson was born Feb. 26, 1957, in Elmhurst, Ill., to the late Casper and Fayette Warner Arneson. He was the Calloway County Animal Control Officer, of the Lutheran faith and a 1992 graduate of Murray State University with a associate's degree.

He is survived by his wife, Donna Fichter Arneson, of Murray, to whom he was married Aug. 29, 1981 in Bensenville, Ill.; one daughter, Dana Arneson, of Murray; two sons, Michael Arneson and Robert Arneson, both of Murray; two brothers, Larry Arneson and wife, Linda, of Dells, Wis., and Dennis Arneson and wife, Karen, of Carolstream, Ill.; and several nieces, nephews and great-nieces and nephews.

A memorial service will be held at a later date. Arrangements are being handled by J.H. Churchill Funeral Home.

Garlene Towery

Garlene Towery, 74, of Murray, Ky., died Wednesday, May 9, 2012, at Western Baptist Hospital in Paducah. Arrangements are incomplete at this time at J.H. Churchill Funeral Home.

Double agent hands al-Qaida its 3rd failed bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Over the past three years, al-Qaida bomb makers in Yemen have developed three fiendishly clever devices in hopes of attacking airplanes in the skies above the United States.

First, there was the underwear bomb that fizzled over Detroit on Christmas 2009. Next, terrorists hid bombs inside printer cartridges and got them on board cargo planes in 2010, only to watch authorities find and defuse them in the nick of time.

Then last month, officials say, al-Qaida completed a sophisticated new, nonmetallic underwear bomb — and unwittingly handed it over to the CIA.

The would-be suicide bomber, the man al-Qaida entrusted with its latest device, actually was a double agent working with the CIA and Saudi intelligence agencies, officials said Tuesday. Instead of sneaking it onto a plane in his underwear, he delivered it to the U.S. government and handed al-Qaida its latest setback.

Brunda Sue Futrell Corbin

Brunda Sue Futrell Corbin, 88, died at home in Clewiston, Fla., on Wednesday, May 2, 2012, of complications from a stroke.

She was born on Dec. 19, 1923, in Murray, Ky., to Ambie Owen Futrell and Stanley Hammond Futrell. She grew up in Murray and graduated from Murray State Teacher's College (now Murray State University) in 1945. Following graduation from college, she worked at The Bank of Murray.

In 1948, she married John Givens Corbin, her husband of over 61 years. They resided in Providence until they moved to Florida in 1956. Mrs. Corbin assisted her husband in establishing a farm supply business in Clewiston, Fla., and devoted much of her time to being a homemaker and mother to their two daughters, Nancy and Mary.

When in her 60's, she focused her efforts on her long-time passion, art. She studied drawing and painting and began developing her artistic talent. For the remaining years of her life, she painted and encouraged others to develop their artistic talents through the Clewiston Art League. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Sue was preceded in death by her husband and one grandson, Philip Corbin Thomas.

She is survived by two daughters, Nancy Corbin, of Bellingham, Wash., and Mary Thomas and husband, Mitchell, of Clewiston, Fla.; one granddaughter, Katherine Fabian and husband, Bill, of Winter Park, Fla.; and newborn great-grandson, Philip Jay Fabian, of Winter Park, Fla.

A memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 12, 2012, at the First United Methodist Church, Clewiston, Fla. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the Florida Methodist Children's Home, 51 Children's Way, Enterprise, FL 32725. These gifts will be used to provide arts and cultural opportunities for the children. Cremation arrangements are handled by Akin-Davis Funeral Home, Clewiston Fla.

This is a paid obituary.

Anniversary

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles Simmons

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles and Roma Simmons, of Mayfield, will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary with a reception at High Point Baptist Church, Mayfield on Saturday, May 19, 2012, from 2-4 p.m. All family and friends are invited to attend as only out-of-town invitations are being sent. The couple requests no gifts. Hosting the event will be family and friends.

The Rev. and Mrs. Simmons were married May 24, 1952, in Corinth, Miss. They had a double wedding with Lucian and June Nanney. Mrs. Simmons is the former Roma June Riley, of Melber. She is the daughter of the late Johnny Greenville and Florence Etta Parker Riley. She served as the secretary for the Graves County Baptist Association before retiring and is a homemaker.

Rev. Simmons is the son of the late Lawrence and Lona Mae Cruse Simmons, of Melber. He has served in ministry for over 50 years, including pastoring Baptist churches in Christian, Union, Marshall, Calloway and Graves counties in western Kentucky. He has lead numerous mission trips across the continental U.S. and internationally. Rev. Simmons retired as the director of missions for the Graves County Baptist Association. He served in the U.S. Armed Forces and is a Korean War veteran.

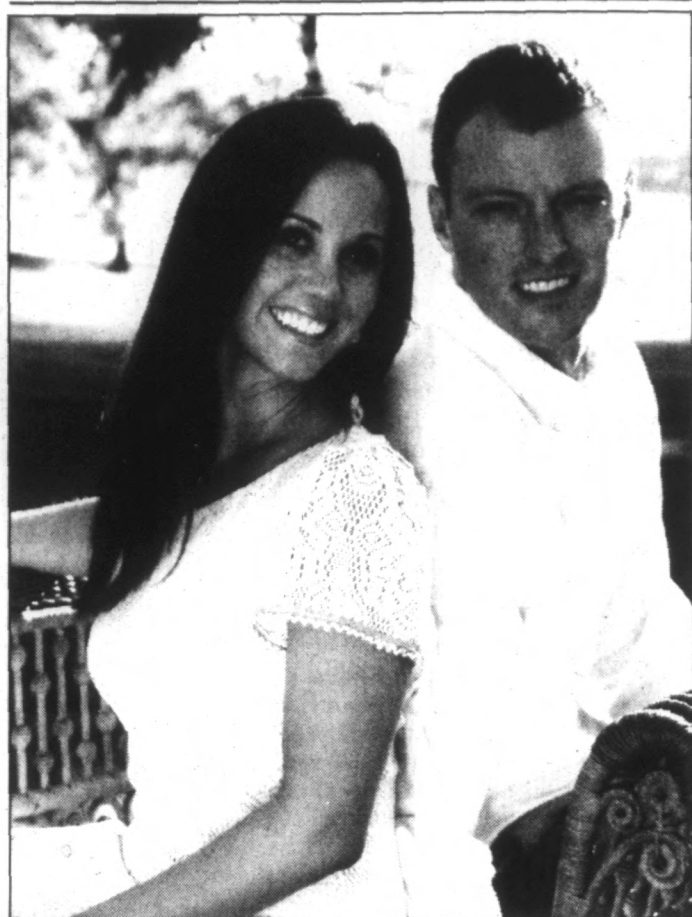

The couple has four children, Rick Simmons and wife, Debbie, of Palmersville, Tenn.; Tonya Thompson and husband, Brian, of Puryear, Tenn.; Shanna Burgess and husband, Jonathan, of Murray; and the late Jerry Simmons, of Mayfield. They have five grandchildren, Justin Simmons, of Benton; Kaci Simmons, of Benton; Whitney Simmons, of Murray; Dalton Simmons, of Mayfield; Brooke Burgess, of Murray; and two great-grandchildren.

Special to the Ledger

Murray High Lady Tiger soccer will hold an informational meeting for those interested in playing JV or varsity girls' soccer in the fall of 2012 at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, May 10, at the Mallory France Soccer Complex. In case of inclement weather, the meeting will be moved inside. Items to be discussed include tryout process, summer schedule, camps, upcoming pre-season and fall season schedules. A question and answer session will follow. The meeting is open to all girls and parents of grades 9-12 for JV and varsity teams and grades 7-8 for JV. Contact Mickey McCuiston for more information at (630) 561-0203 or wmcuiston@tcsports.com.

Engagement

Berry and Short

Mr. and Mrs. James Berry, Jr. of Clinton, announce the engagement and upcoming marriage of their daughter, Holly Anne Berry to Jeremy Wayne Short, son of Anthony Short of Stoney Fork and Renee Daniel of Middlesboro.

Miss Berry is the granddaughter of Mrs. Claudia Berry and the late Jim Berry, of Murray and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Rollinson, of Salem, Ill.

Mr. Short is the grandson of Mr. Nelson Short, of Stoney Fork, Ms. Maxine Wilson, of Deltona, Fla., Mr. Alva Daniel, of Ben-Her, Va., and Ms. Carolyn Daniel, of Smith.

The bride-elect is a 2003 graduate of Hickman County High School and earned a bachelor's of business administration degree in marketing from Eastern Kentucky University. She is employed as the director of account services at iHigh.com in Lexington.

The groom-elect is a 2002 graduate of James A. Cawood High School and was a Sergeant in the United States Marine Corp where he served two deployments in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom. He earned a bachelor's of science degree in construction management from Eastern Kentucky University. He is employed as an assistant project manager at Gray Construction in Lexington.

Wedding vows will be exchanged at 7 p.m. Saturday, July 7, 2012 at the Hilary J. Boone Center in Lexington.

Invitations will be sent.

Smith named in top 10 of sophomore class

Special to the Ledger

MARION, Ill. — Hayley Bell Smith, of Marion, Ill., was recently named as one of the top 10 in her sophomore class during the 83rd annual Rotary Awards.

The award, based on scholarship achievement, co-curricular and community activities, is voted on by faculty and staff at the high school.

This was the second year in a row for Smith to receive this honor.

Her achievements for the year include honor roll, JV dance team captain (Illinois state champions for the fifth consecutive year), Madrigal Dinner (Royal Court), West Side Story (Anita), varsity soccer team, inaugural youth and government team (House Representative), First Baptist Church of Marion youth band and Marion Cultural and Arts Center volunteer. She is the daughter of Drs. Steve and Elizabeth Bailey-Smith, formerly of Murray, and the granddaughter of Gene N. and Dortha Bailey, of Murray.

MSU to offer development for education

Special to the Ledger

In response to school districts' need to meet the Kentucky Unbridled Learning College and Career Readiness benchmarks, the Murray State University Center for College and Career Readiness recently sponsored a Tracking Next Generation Learners professional development workshop. There were 27 guidance counselors, principals and instructional supervisors representing 13 school districts from the service region who participated.

The workshop, a collaborative effort between Murray State University, West Kentucky Special Educational Cooperative and Calloway County School District and funded by a Council for Postsecondary Education (CPE) college and career readiness grant, provided participants many resources to track student success in meeting college and career readiness benchmarks.

Participants were provided information on the new Kentucky Continuous Instructional Improvement Technology System (CIITS) database, entrance requirements and indicators for Kentucky universities, KYOTE mathematics placement requirements, Compass testing and transitional courses.

"The teachers, administrators and counselors in our service region are working hard to meet Kentucky requirements and with the help of a small CPE grant, the college of education will work hard to assist them," said Renee Campoy, interim dean.

Workshop evaluations indicated a desire for more training opportunities. As a result, the center has created a network for the participants to attend additional workshops that will assist schools in meeting college and career readiness goals.

The Murray State University Center for College and Career Readiness is comprised of members from the business, community and education sectors. The focus of the center is to be a portal for information pertaining to college and career readiness for business, education institutions, students and adults looking for a college and career plan.

More information about the center can be found online at <http://cccr.murraystate.edu>.

Box of Frogs presents 'Millie' this weekend at Playhouse

Special to the Ledger

Playhouse in the Park's youth group, Box of Frogs, will be presenting "Thoroughly Modern Millie, Jr." on the Playhouse deck at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and also at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. This performance is a fundraiser for the group, which will be traveling to New York City in early June.

"Millie" tells the story of young Millie Dillmount, who has just moved to New York in search of a new life for herself. It's a city full of intrigue and jazz — a time when women were entering the workforce and the rules of love and social behavior were changing forever. According to Lisa Cope, Playhouse's director, this high-energy show is great for families to attend as it is full of music and dancing, bright colors, and some very funny characters.

Cope said the Box of Frogs have been raising money for more than a year to pay for their NYC trip and they are very close to having all of the funds they need. She explained that "Millie" is the final fundraiser for the trip. While in New York, the Frogs will be attending two workshops led by Broadway professionals, as well as a workshop held at Fordham University and led by Adam Blodgett, a Playhouse alumnus and recent Fordham graduate.

Alix Bloodworth, a member of Box of Frogs who has been involved at Playhouse in the Park for most of her life, said, "I am especially glad to get to work with Adam Blodgett. It is exciting to see the things he is accomplishing with his acting career. I am looking forward to seeing him again and studying with him at the workshop to improve my skills."

Along with the performances, the Box of Frogs are hosting a workshop for students in kindergarten through third grade on Saturday, May 12, from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Like "Millie", the workshop will have a 1920s theme. The children will participate in several activities, including an introduction to jazz music, learning a dance from the show, and playing a game featuring NYC landmarks. The fee for the workshop is $30, which includes one ticket to the May 12 afternoon performance of "Millie". Children may register for the workshop by calling Playhouse at 759-1752.

Box of Frogs members who are participating in the production and planning to go to New York are Alix Bloodworth, Logan English, Kayla Little, Leiren Jackson, and Kye Rogers. Other cast members are Sabry Poor, Savannah Poor, Jami Foster, Julie Revell, Brynn Jones, Anna Cate Brown, Katherine Renick, Makayla Robinson, and Naikih Overfield.

Tickets for the performance are $10 and will be available at the door. Reservations made by calling the theatre; however, all seating is general admission.

Penrod to perform in Marshall County Saturday

Special to the Ledger

DRAFFENVILLE, Ky. — Guy Penrod, former featured soloist with the Gaither Vocal Band for 14 years, will perform at the Kenneth Shadowen Performing Arts Center on the campus of

Marshall County High School, Draffenville, on Saturday, May 12, at 7 p.m. All seats are reserved and tickets are $20. Tickets are available at www.marshallcountyarts.com, www.guypenrod.com or Benton City Hall during regular business hours. For more information call (270) 703-0304.

Moyers works to be at Ice House

Special to the Ledger

MAYFIELD, Ky. — The Ice House Gallery presents "There Are These Things ..." a show of paintings, drawings, and sculpture by Mayfield artist Ronn Moyers. There are more than 40 pieces in the exhibit ranging from landscape studies and portraits to tender depictions of his pets to the whimsical and even the surreal. Moyers' sense of humor comes through loud and clear in much of the show.

"It has been said 'do what you love' and 'paint what you know,' and those phrases could sum up the inspiration for this show," Moyers said.

Moyers' handiwork should be familiar to Graves County residents. He has painted many of the murals in local schools, churches, the medical center, and some local businesses. He has also painted many of the sets for the Purchase Players. However, this show will give people an opportunity to see what he can come up with when he makes art for himself. The best description for this show is "fun."

"There Are These Things ..." runs May 8 through June 2. There will be a reception to meet the artist from 6-8 p.m. Friday. There will be refreshments, and the public is invited. As always, admission is free.

The Mayfield / Graves County Art Guild is a non-profit community arts center located in the historic Ice House, 120 North Eighth St. in Mayfield. The Center is accessible to individuals with disabilities and is open Tuesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Kentucky Arts Council, the state arts agency, provides operating support to The Mayfield/Graves County Art Guild with state tax dollars and federal funding from the National Endowment for the Arts.

PSO holds sing-off fundraiser

Special to the Ledger

PADUCAH, Ky. — The Paducah Symphony Orchestra is thinking of fresh and inventive ways to fundraise, and their premiere new event this year will be The Symphony Sing-Off.

The event will be held in the largest ballroom in Harrah's Event Center in Metropolis, Ill. on Saturday beginning at 6 p.m. Saturday. Valet parking will be available. The event will be similar to the smash NBC reality TV show "The Sing Off" and will showcase a wide variety of regional a cappella talent. Excitingly, an impressive number of national celebrities are slated to perform as special guests. Celebrity judges will include Terry Mike Jeffery and Miki Abraham, finalist on "The Glee Project" reality TV show.

"The quality of vocal talent in this region is phenomenal, and the Paducah Symphony has many wonderful groups lined up for the competition, including Jumpin' Jive, Six Flats, Down Center and the MSU Suspensions, among others," a press release said. "The winning group will be determined by monetary votes and will receive a grand prize of the honor of singing with the PSO at the Christmas concert later in the year! The stage, a design creation by Kenn Gray of Ethan Allen, will replicate "The Sing-Off" TV show's stage."

The Paducah Symphony expects The Symphony Sing-Off to become a touted annual event for the region. The night will begin with an elegant seated dinner catered by Harrah's followed by the performances. A silent auction featuring luxury items, Hollywood memorabilia and trips will be located toward the back of the event and will be available for bidding. One of the bid items includes the unique experience of conducting "Sleigh Ride" at PSO's December concert. The winning ensemble will be invited to perform at the same concert.

Arts in the Region

• "Works" by Jennifer Fairbanks, a collection of mostly figurative paintings and drawings from the Murray artist, will be presented through June 10 at the Janice Mason Art Museum in downtown Cadiz. The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sundays from 1-4 p.m.

• Draffenville's Kentucky Opry hosts the grand finals round of the Kentucky Opry

Deese signs to suit up for Jackson State

Murray High's Kendall Deese (center) signs a National Letter of Intent Wednesday afternoon to play basketball at Jackson State University. Deese is flanked by his mother Tiffany and Murray High head coach Joey Adair.

DEESE WILL PLAY FOR GRANDFATHER AND FORMER MURRAY STATE HEAD COACH TEVESTER ANDERSON AT JSU

By RICKY MARTIN

Kendall Deese didn't just have to decide on a school to attend next fall, the Murray High standout had to first decide on a sport.

After a successful football campaign that saw him lead the Tigers to the Class 2A State semifinals, Deese was all but sure he'd be playing college football every Saturday next fall.

Then came basketball season. "I was leaning (towards) football at first, just because football comes before basketball during the school year," Deese said. "I was getting looks for football, but then basketball came around and there were other opportunities that came up."

Benson inks name to NLI for softball

Calloway County third baseman Lauren Benson, alongside her parents Scott and Darra Benson, as well as Freed-Hardeman head coach Todd Humphry and assistant Leigh Leonard, signs her letter of intent to play softball for the Lions.

ONE OF FIRST REGION'S TOP THIRD BASEMEN TAKING HER TALENTS TO HENDERSON, TENN. FOR LIONS

By RICKY MARTIN
Sports Editor

Lauren Benson was all set to head to Centre College after graduation.

Then, Freed-Hardeman assistant softball coach Leigh

Leonard saw Benson in action. After traveling to west Kentucky to watch Reidland's Rachel Dodd in a game against Calloway County, Leonard quickly discovered Benson's offensive and defensive prowess. It didn't take the Lions very long to offer Benson an opportunity she couldn't turn down. "It all happened really fast," Benson recalled. "For a long time I was going to Centre, then all of the sudden (Leonard) happened to come down to see (Dodd) play, and they saw me."

OHIO VALLEY CONFERENCE SOFTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Third time's a charm?

RACERS EARN BID INTO THIRD STRAIGHT OVC TOURNAMENT, PREP FOR EASTERN KENTUCKY

By RICKY MARTIN
Sports Editor

As Jay Pryon leads his Racers into the Ohio Valley Conference Tournament in Martin, Tenn. today, the third-year head coach understands just how far his Racers have come.

After clinching a spot in the OVC Tournament during the program's first season in 2010, it's easy for Pryon to spot the differences between now and then, especially as this year's squad enters as the field's No. 4 seed.

"Every time you go into the tournament, you have a chance to win, and I think there's a real truth to that," Pryon said. "Every time we have gone, I think there was some hope that we could win."

"I think now there seems to be, if it's possible, a little bit more confidence about where we stand and what we expect when we get there."

And why not? The Racers are one of the hottest teams in the OVC over the past month, and are blitzing into the tournament with a 32-19 record, the best in school history.

Not only does Murray State have the league's top offense, but ask Pryon about the Racers' pitching, and he will tell you it stacks up with any in the conference.

"I'm pretty confident that we've got the the best staff in the tournament," Pryon said. "It doesn't matter to us what scenario we find ourselves in, we should be good in the circle."

The Racers will open up play today against No. 5 seed Eastern Kentucky, a club Murray State took two of three from last weekend.

Should Pryon and his squad take care of the Lady Colonels in their opening game, the Racers will play on again at 5:30 p.m. against No. 1 seed UT-Martin.

A Racer loss today, however, will put Murray State in the loser's bracket of the double-elimination tournament, forcing them into a win-or-go-home game against the loser of No. 3 seed Jacksonville State and No. 6 seed Tennessee Tech on Friday.

Pryon said the best possible

MURRAY STATE MENS BASKETBALL

Murray State head coach Steve Prohm signs the first copy of the commemorative print 'A Year to Remember' at the prints' unveiling Wednesday afternoon on the second floor of Murray State University's Curris Center.

Racer basketball season captured in special prints

PROGRAPHS USES MEMORABLE MOMENTS FROM PROGRAM'S BEST SEASON

From MSU Athletics

Murray State Athletics recently commissioned ProGraphs to create two very special items for Racer fans to commemorate the 2011-12 Men's Basketball Season.

These prints titled, A Year To Remember, were unveiled Wednesday at MSU's Curris Center in Murray, Ky.

These one-of-a-kind prints celebrate the Racers' 31-2 season and their accomplishments, including their advancement to the 3rd Round of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championship. These prints are something that every Racer fan will want to have.

The first print or item features many of the MSU players that helped the Racers to their great season, including MSU Head Coach Steve Prohm who has signed this limited edition item. The print lists all of the accomplishments the Racers achieved and a special logo is included.

The second item features the MSU team after they won the Ohio Valley Conference Tournament title and it also has action shots of the MSU seniors (Ivan Aska, Jewuan Long, Donté Poole) as well as All-America selection Isaiah Canaan. Head Coach Steve Prohm is also on the print cutting down the net in Nashville, Tenn. Dick Vitale's visit to MSU's home court is also depicted on the item as are MSU's many accomplishments.

Prices for the two items for the prints alone and various framing options are from $40 to $164.

"Our fans were excited about the entire season and have been requesting when something commemorative would be available," said associate athletic director Paul Bubbs. "ProGraphs has assisted us in the past and we certainly think they've done a great job in capturing the excitement and special feelings all of us shared this past season."

scenario, obviously includes staying in the winners' bracket for as long as possible.

"You don't really know how many games it will take you," Pyron said. "It's always best if you just keep yourself in the winners' bracket and keep yourself on top."

"If we can do that, we will have fresh arms the whole way through the tournament."

While UT-Martin grabbed the top seed and home field advantage with a 23-6 conference mark, the Racers narrowly missed out on the No. 2 spot.

Eastern Illinois enters the tournament as the No. 2 seed after posting an 18-10 mark inside the OVC, while Jacksonville State held the tie-breaker over Murray State, who each went 19-11.

Seeding, Pyron said, doesn't mean too much once you get down the final six teams, however.

"It doesn't really matter who you play, they are all pretty tough teams in the tournament," he said. "They all have good No. 1 pitchers, so it really didn't matter who we saw first, we were going to have to play well to win."

"We feel confident with whoever we match up against. If we play the way we can, we will be in good shape."

The trio of Chelsey Sullivan, Shelby Kosmecki and Chey'Anne Gaskey have towed the rubber for Murray State in fine fashion this season, and while Pyron didn't disclose exactly who will start today against Eastern Kentucky, he did hint at Kosmecki getting the nod.

"We will probably just follow the same pattern that we've followed most of the year," he said. "There's really no need to change now."

Having gone to the OVC Tournament in each of the past three seasons, Pyron said this year's team stands out to him.

"The team has a little different mentality going down there in that we are on a bit of a mission," he said. "As a coach, you really just want to go down there and play the way you can."

"If that happens then you will be pretty satisfied with the results."

Benson

"She said I should come down for a visit, and I had already applied, so I went and once I got there they asked me if I'd like to play."

On Wednesday afternoon, Benson made the decision official, signing a National Letter of Intent to suit up next spring for the Lions.

Freed-Hardeman head coach Todd Humphry said Benson has an opportunity to make an immediate impact.

"She has a good bat, a good glove and a middle infielder is really what we were needing from our recruiting prospects," Humphry said. "We have a senior shortstop and second baseman, and we might even need someone at third base. Lauren said she can play them all, and she's going to get a chance."

Benson was a part of Calloway County's First Region championship team a year ago, and earned All-State Tournament honors after helping lead the Lady Lakers to a third place finish in the state tournament.

Now in her senior year,

Benson has helped move Calloway County back toward the top of a deep list of First Region contenders, and head coach Troy Webb said her contributions to the program have been monumental.

"She has been a cornerstone of our program for four years now, three at third base," Webb said. "I've said this before, but I put her as the best third baseman in the state, and having her there helps us out as coaches and as players. It makes our jobs much easier."

"Lauren is one of those kids that does what she's asked to do, and she's one of the reasons that we have been where we've been as a program. Freed-Hardeman is not only getting a great softball player, but a terrific student as well."

While Benson will head to Freed-Hardeman with some uncertainty as to where exactly she will play, Humphry said Benson won't have to worry about getting her chance.

As one of five signers for the Lions this spring, Benson will join a youthful roster with plenty of room to grow.

"I think, first of all, that Lauren is going to be able to put some pressure on our upperclassmen, which you always want," Humphry said. "You want that competition for position, and she can give us that."

"She will be able to work her way in, and I think she is going to fit right in with us."

Benson admitted she was nervous after Wednesday's signing, having committed the next four years of her life to a game she loves, but said she much prefers that over the alternative.

"Just yesterday we were talking as a team about how not everybody is going to be in a softball uniform after these next two or three weeks," Benson said. "But now I know that I'll still get to be in a uniform."

"Now I know that I'll still get to play."

One thing helping make the decision to play at Freed-Hardeman a little easier, Benson said, was knowing that Dodd — a close friend — will be joining her.

"I'm really excited about Rachel being down there too, because we are really good friends," Benson said. "Obviously it's good to have at least one friend already before I get there. I like knowing that I have at least one connection at a place that I don't know anyone else."

Freed-Hardeman is an NAIA program located in Henderson, Tenn. with an enrollment of 1,992.

The Lions participate in the TransSouth Athletic Conference, and are coming off the most successful back-to-back seasons in program history.

"I'm ready to go and compete," Benson said. "I know that nothing will be handed to me, so I'm ready to go in and compete, and that's all right because it makes it worth it."

Deese

Deese took advantage of just one of those newfound opportunities, signing a National Letter of Intent to play basketball for Jackson State University in Jackson, Miss.

Signing with the Tigers held some special meaning to Deese outside of just playing basketball, however.

Head coach Tevester Anderson — who once roamed the sidelines for Murray State's storied men's basketball program — is Deese's grandfather.

That alone, Deese said, sweetened the pot. "It will be fun playing for him and being around family," he said. "That usually doesn't happen too much, and when you're able to play for family you can become even closer."

Deese was named "Most Athletic Male Senior" by his peers this past year at Murray High, this after averaging 17.4 points per game in 27 appearances for the Tigers on the hardwood.

Deese scored 469 points during his senior season, and led the Tigers in points, steals, rebounds and assists per game during both his junior and senior seasons.

Deese will graduate from Murray High as a 1,000 point scorer, totaling 1,031 in his four years with the Tigers, and will also head to Jackson State with 400 career rebounds under his belt.

Those, among other things, are what head coach Joey Adair said will help Deese succeed at the next level.

"He's the best athlete I've ever coached," Adair said. "Bar none. He's worked hard on his body and he's worked on his fundamentals such as his footwork and his dribbling and his passing, and put that with his ability to score and rebound, and you're talking about a nice player."

Deese will enroll at Jackson State in the fall, but has already begun work towards strengthening his basketball skills with the current Murray High basketball staff.

While usually spending the summers and early fall preparing for football, Deese has 100 percent focus on one sport for the first time in his life, something he said gets him excited to think about.

"I can't wait to see what it's going to be like to just only be thinking about one sport," he said. "I'm not used to being able to focus on one sport, and it's going to be my first time."

Adair said Deese turning his full attention to basketball is a scary thought for people who may face him on the court.

"You are now going to fully see what he can be as a basketball player," Adair said. "Now he's going in and he's doing nothing but concentrating on basketball, which is going to see him elevate his game to new heights."

"I think you are going to see, by his junior year, a player who will be making some serious strides and helping that team win basketball games."

Deese missed an early portion of last year's basketball season while nursing a shoulder injury he sustained in football, but said once the arm was healthy, basketball became easy again.

"I was definitely a little rusty when I came back," Deese said with a smile. "I wasn't able to play the first game of the season, and I was limited in what I could do after that for a while."

"Once my shoulder became normal again, it was nice to get back to basketball."

Jackson State is an NCAA D-I program, and is part of the Southwestern Athletic Conference.

Deese turned down a football offer from Murray State to play basketball under his grandfather at Jackson State.

"I've been looking forward to playing a college sport since I was little," Deese said. "Now I'm finally able to do that, and that's a great feeling."

Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Concepts Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.

Special to the Ledger

Calloway County Middle School won the Civility Award and was named one of the top six battery-powered model car design teams at the Department of Energy's National Science Bowl in Washington, D.C.

DOE National Science Bowl staff and competitors voted on the Civility Award, which exemplifies character, sportsmanship and a goal-driven future. The five members of the Calloway team were recognized for being outstanding people during the National Science Bowl, held April 27-30. They received prizes, gift cards, honorary medals and $500 for the team's Science Bowl program.

"Most importantly, they showed that a hard-work ethic, combined with a humble attitude, can influence so many people around you," Calloway coach Scott Pile said. "The students from western Kentucky represented our state as bright, young gentlemen and ladies."

Calloway Middle and Lone Oak High School won DOE Regional Science Bowl competition in February to advance to the National Science Bowl, America's largest and most prestigious science competition for

Horoscope

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Friday, May 11, 2012:

This year you sometimes feel as if you are jumping from one confusing situation to another. Learn to clarify information more often and remember to ask about, reiterate and confirm details. Your communication skills could grow by leaps and bounds as a result. An element of surprise often occurs, but in a most unusual manner. If you are single, you could meet several very exciting people, one after the other. You might wish for more stability in your relationships or budding love ties. Don't fight change, nor judge it. If you are attached, as a couple you could often find yourselves doing the most unexpected things and loving it. Let it happen. AQUARIUS is a great friend and supporter.

 Meetings determine much of your plans. Extra events might be a part of the continuum, as you try to figure out which way to go. Flush out a misunderstanding at its embryonic stage. Do not let a situation develop into more. Tonight: Start the weekend right.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

 Pressure builds today -- more than it has most of the week. You suddenly have a panoramic view of how much you need to do, and exactly how to proceed. A meeting or a friend tosses a boomerang into your plans. Tonight: In the limelight. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) middle and high school students. It is the only educational event and academic competition that is sponsored by a federal agency.

Sixty-nine high school teams and 44 middle school teams competed nationally in math, science and energy questioning. Middle school teams also designed, built and raced lithium-ion battery-powered model cars. Pile said DOE engineers interviewed Calloway team members about their car. Based on the interview and design documentation, the Calloway students presented their ideas on stage in front of all middle school teams.

Calloway narrowly lost 120-118 to eventual undefeated national champion Hopkins Junior High during pool play for the academic portion of the tournament, Pile said. "Our students proved their knowledge can stack up again the best that our country has to offer."

Son deserves dressing down for opening bedroom drawers

DEAR ABBY: My husband's son -- I'll call him Duncan -- came to visit with his family. He lived with us for about six months on and off when he was younger. During that time, he twice went through my dresser drawers without my permission. The first time, we discovered a photo of me in a negligee he had found and hidden. The second time, he said he had been looking for a key. I was furious and felt violated.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

During his recent visit, it happened a third time. I discovered my underwear drawer was slightly ajar and knew Duncan had used the bathroom in our bedroom. When I told my husband, he asked me not to let it ruin the rest of their visit. I felt violated again!

After Duncan and his family left, I asked my husband if this upset him, too, and his reply was that he was upset that I let it bother me. I understand that Duncan is his only son, but I'm hurt that he's taking Duncan's side. Help! -- NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: It does appear that Duncan has an unhealthy fixation on your underwear drawer, or he may be a cross-dresser. Because your husband refuses to discuss this with his son, the next time Duncan announces that he's coming for a visit, offer to buy him lingerie in his size, or install a sturdy lock on your bedroom door.

DEAR ABBY: I have been having an affair with "Ginger" for several years. She's married and has three kids. Ginger told me she and her husband had stopped being intimate just before we started our relationship.

Her husband caught on about a year ago. By this time Ginger and I had developed deep feelings for each other, but we agreed to stop because he had given her an ultimatum -- either break it off or get out. We stopped seeing each other for a few weeks, then she called saying she had been pregnant but had gotten an abortion, and we started up again.

This time we had to carefully plan our limited time together. We continued our relationship for another eight months before it finally ended. What I'm having a problem with is Ginger ended it with no phone call -- nothing. I haven't heard from her in more than a month, and she won't return my calls or texts. Don't you think I deserve a better goodbye? -- SITTING BY THE PHONE

DEAR SITTING BY THE PHONE: Not really. While closure might have made this less frustrating for you, Ginger tried to say goodbye to you before and it didn't work. What probably happened is her husband found out the affair was ongoing and is monitoring her closely. You'll feel better once you accept that Ginger has chosen him and the kids and moved on.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I like to entertain in our home, and sometimes we offer self-service mixed nuts. What do you think of a guest who hovers over the bowl and picks out all the pecans and macadamias, leaving behind the peanuts and the almonds? Is she being rude? -- TOM R.

DEAR TOM R.: Sure it's rude and greedy and inconsiderate of the other guests. However, because you know that this person has a weakness for two particular kinds of nuts, why not offer her a small bowl of her own containing only the nuts of her choice? When you do, smile and say "... nuts to you."

High-fiber diet brings many health benefits

DEAR DOCTOR K: I recently read that fiber doesn't prevent colorectal cancer. So is a high-fiber diet good for you or not?

DEAR READER: Many claims have been made about the health benefits of fiber. Yet studies have disagreed. With all the back and forth, I can understand why people are confused. And why they sometimes tune out and say, "Call me when you've discovered the truth."

Without claiming to have discovered the truth, let me tell you what I think the best evidence shows.

First, a word of explanation about fiber. It's a form of indigestible carbohydrate that's found mainly in plant foods. Fiber was once thought to play an important role in preventing colon cancer. As you've read, that turned out not to be the case. In my view, most of the evidence is against a protective effect, at least in economically developed nations like the United States.

However, diets rich in fiber are still good for your health in many other ways. For example, we know that fiber slightly reduces bad (LDL) cholesterol. It improves insulin resistance (a common precursor to diabetes). And it is linked to a lower rate of heart disease and obesity.

In addition, fiber increases the bulk of foods and creates a feeling of fullness. As a result, fiber may help you avoid overeating and becoming overweight.

You should aim to eat between 21 and 38 grams of fiber daily, based on your age and gender, as follows:

- Women ages 50 and younger: 25 grams/day;
- Men over age 50: 30 grams/day;
- Women over age 50: 21 grams/day.

On average, Americans eat only about 15 grams of fiber a day. So chances are, you could benefit from eating more fiber.

Fruits, vegetables and whole-grain foods such as whole-wheat bread, whole-grain cereals, brown rice, bran and oats are all good sources of fiber. In particular, split peas, red kidney beans, raspberries, whole-wheat spaghetti, pears, broccoli and apples are all good choices.

We have more information on fiber in our Special Health Report, "Healthy Eating." (Learn more about this report at AskDoctorK.com, or call 877-649-9457 toll-free to order it.)

You can also consume fiber in over-the-counter supplements, which provide some of the same benefits as fiber in foods. Fiber supplements come as pills or powders. Be sure to take them with plenty of water to maximize their benefits. The recently marketed "tasteless" fiber powder, which can be added to any liquid (hot or cold) you drink, is particularly effective.

However, the scientific evidence for the health benefits of fiber comes primarily from studies of fiber in food, not fiber in supplements. And the fiber-rich foods I listed earlier also contain lots of other health-giving substances.

Bottom line: Although fiber probably does not prevent colon cancer, it really is good for your health in other ways. A diet full of fiber-rich foods will bring you loads of benefits.

Today in History

By the Associated Press Today is Thursday, May 10; the 131st day of 2012. There are 235 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On May 10, 1869, a golden spike was driven in Promontory, Utah, marking the completion of the first transcontinental railroad in the United States.

On this date:

In 1774, Louis XVI acceded to the throne of France.

In 1865, Union forces captured Confederate President Jefferson Davis in Irwinville, Ga.

In 1924, J. Edgar Hoover was given the job of FBI director.

In 1933, the Nazis staged massive public book burnings in Germany.

In 1940, British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain resigned, and Winston Churchill formed a new government.

In 1941, Adolf Hitler's deputy, Rudolf Hess, parachuted into Scotland on what he claimed was a peace mission.

In 1960, the nuclear-powered submarine USS Triton completed its submerged navigation of the globe.

In 1977, actress Joan Crawford, 72, died in New York.

In 1994, Nelson Mandela took the oath of office to become South Africa's first black president.

Ten years ago: Former FBI agent Robert Hanssen was sentenced by a federal judge to life in prison without parole for spying for Moscow.

Five years ago: A federal jury in Santa Ana, Calif., convicted Chinese-born engineer Chi Mak of conspiring to export U.S. defense technology to China.

Hints From Heloise

by Heloise

been having problems with HARD-WATER STAINS in sinks, toilets and the shower. Please advise on how I can remove the stains. Thanks. -- Sandra S. in Michigan

Hi, Sandra, and thanks for writing. If the "stains" are orange or look like rust, then they probably are from iron in the water. These will need to be treated with a commercial rust remover.

However, if the stains are from hard water, then just plain old white or apple-cider vinegar should work. You can heat it (not boiling) and pour it in a sink that has a stopper plugging the drain. Let it sit for an hour or so, then scrub. You can do the same with your toilet, pouring vinegar into the bowl, letting it sit, scrubbing and flushing.

For the shower, shower heads can be removed and soaked overnight in vinegar. Or tie a plastic bag over the shower head -- fill it with vinegar so that the shower head is completely submerged, and in the morning, scrub clean. For the rest of the shower and tub, just pour vinegar on the stains and scrub as you go. There are so many uses for vinegar! You'll find these hints and more in my vinegar pamphlet. To receive a copy, please send $5 and a long, self-addressed, stamped (65 cents) envelope to: Heloise/Vinegar, P.O. Box 795001, San Antonio, TX 78279-5001. Most vinegars will last indefinitely, so be sure to stock up when they are on sale, and keep plenty in your home for all your cleaning needs!

-- Heloise

MULTIPLE DRYER SHEETS

Dear Heloise: I saw a letter asking about a lady using five dryer sheets at the laundromat (Heloise here: It was in a previous column that a reader had seen another woman do this). I save my used dryer sheets, and when I am out of sheets,

I recycle the used ones, using several at a time. Maybe that was what she was doing. I read you every day as my mom read your mom. Thanks for all the good tips. -- Kathy L., via email

Kathy, that could have been what she was doing. Of course, the makers of the sheets say to use them only once because the majority of the fabric softener has been used the first time. My take? Give it a try, and if it works for you, go for it! -- Heloise

EASY YOGURT

Dear Heloise: I usually have a small container of yogurt at my desk for an afternoon snack, but I'm always cleaning up the specks of yogurt that come flying out of the container when I pull back the foil top. My computer monitor and keyboard get hit the worst.

But this solves it: Now I punch a tiny hole in the foil first with the tip of a pencil or ballpoint pen. That lets the pressure out safely, and no more mess! -- Loni C., San Antonio
