FULTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1937.

NUMBER FORTY.

CHAMBER COMMERCE MET MONDAY NIGHT

The Fulton Chamber of Commerce met at the Rainbow Room Monday night, when plans were formulated for installation of appropriate lights and decorations in the downtown business section during the Christmas holidays. Installation is to be made immediately after Thanksgiving in charge of a committee composed of A. G. Baldridge, Bert Newhouse, Tommie Goldsmith and Abe Thompson.

It was reported that some $600 would be required to carry out the program this year, with about $300 of this already being available from the trade day fund. After the body had agreed on the plans, a finance committee was named to raise the balance, and this committee called on business firms Tuesday, meeting with successful results. The committee was composed of Warren Graham, J. O. Lewis, L. Kasnow, Paul Bushart, K. P. Dalton and K. R. Lowe.

Yuletide lighting effects are scheduled to include long streamers of vari-colored lights on each side of Main, Walnut, Church, Lake, Commercial and Fourth-st to the Depot-st corner. Artificial Christmas trees are to be constructed around the whiteway poles in the business district. Last year approximately 700 feet of lights were strung, while this year 14,000 feet will be installed to make Fulton one of the most colorfully lighted cities in this vicinity.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL NOV. 11-25

The roll call of the American Red Cross will be held this year from November 11 to November 25, according to announcement from Washington, but preliminary work already has started in Kentucky, with meetings in many of the counties and several district meetings already held in furtherance of organization for the actual roll call which will end November 25, starting on Armistice Day.

In recent years no state in the Union, probably, in proportion to population, has been better looked after, in times of stress, of flood and disaster, than Kentucky. The Red Cross is the only organization ready to act at a minute's notice in case of emergency, because of its army of volunteers, its nurses, its physicians, and the only organization in America which can command so large a body of unpaid workers as was called into service in Kentucky during the flood of last winter, the worst disaster that has hit Kentucky in many years.

J. O. Lewis, chairman of the local chapter of the Red Cross, and a committee met last Thursday afternoon for the purpose of electing a chairman and committee to make arrangements and take charge of the annual American Red Cross Roll Call. Bailey Huddleston was elected chairman of this committee with Miss Betty Koehn and Mrs. Mansfield Martin, assisting.

The date for this membership drive has not been definitely announced but will be held between the dates of November 11 and November 25. Fulton's quota for this year's drive will be four hundred. Mr. Lewis stated that this should be a more successful drive than in the two preceding years, holding in mind the emergency assistance, food, medical aid, shelter and the rebuilding and furnishing of homes provided by this organization during the recent flood.

Many Popular Home-Planning Ideas Presented; Gifts To Be Awarded

There is always something new under the sun.

Entertaining proof of that statement will be presented by The News, which is bringing to The Strand Theatre a motion picture that pioneers in fresh, stimulating treatment of the oldest and most important subject in the world—Homemaking.

Long ago the Cooking School graduated from a curiosity to a popular necessity in many parts of the country. Now it has graduated again, leaping this time into Hollywood stardom.

For this is no routine lecture, no methodical demonstration which The News will give to the women of the community for three days without charge, starting Nov. 1, 2, 3.

The News takes genuine pride in being among the first to sponsor "The Bride Wakes Up" a full-length feature picture, directed and filmed in Hollywood with competent cast to interpret the appealing story.

Women young and old, and men too, will appreciate the humanness of this romantic screen story, in which home problems have been approached from an entirely new angle. Entertainment, profitable instruction, humor and romance are woven definitely into a production which abounds in ingenious camera studies and remarkable close-ups. The camera has modernized the Cooking School, magnifying its benefits, losing none of its hospitality, friendly character.

In fact, there are close-ups of a new chocolate layer cake and a lemon chiffon pie that are destined to send the hungry audience hustling home to duplicate the culinary triumphs. Free recipe sheets each day will provide added incentive. Experienced housekeepers will thrill to the adventure of the winsome bride, whose husband begins to boil when he finds that she can't even boil water. But this bride is blessed with resourceful determination, even though the faithful servant in her girlhood home made every effort to spoil her.

What happens after the honeymoon is over? What happens when the bride becomes aware of the critical gaze of some of her husband's old sweethearts, who are not apt to forget heavy biscuits in a hurry?

To unravel the mystery in advance would be to rob this clever tale of its novel approach. However the audience is due to share a series of neighborly food consultations, in which expert home specialists reveal the secrets which govern the perfection of flaky piecrust, fluffy cakes, molded icebox marvels, appetizing salads and correct roasting meats.

Never has the wizardry of the camera brought a subject more closely and naturally to the watchers.

It will be a real cooking class just as though the model kitchen were right on the stage, with the exception that the view actually will be more complete for each person in the audience. The guests of The News in the back rows will share the same close-ups of the busy mixing bowls which are being seen in the front of the Strand Theatre.

When the graduated measuring spoons drop their level portions into the bowl, when the wooden spoon is creaming the shortening and the dry ingredients are being sifted, each step of that measuring, blending and mixing process will be pictured faithfully through a series of fascinating closeups.

This will be no direct-from-the-oven sample of speed or trick photography, but a thorough, real-life camera study of scientific methods, designed to be helpful, even while the story entertains.

So realistic is the atmosphere of the modern kitchens, with their gleaming, convenient equipment and cherry informality, that the audience really feels part of the scene. Soon the deft workers seem to be talking directly to each person in the theatre, rather than to the puzzled bride.

Every listener will find a harvest of practical ideas among the suggestions for more efficient homemaking, covering such daily problems as laundry, refrigeration, up-to-date entertaining, beauty secrets, news of modernized home equipment and tips on making these mechanical servants yield the highest degree of usefulness.

Not only will the picture be free, but there will be a host of daily gifts and surprises arranged by the News and participating firms, who are joining forces to make the unusual entertainment available to the community.

Reserve Nov. 1, 2, and 3 on your calendar now and plan to join your neighbors in Strand Theatre.

'THE NEWS' WEEKLY SCRAPBOOK

Week's Best Recipe:

Candied Sweet Potatoes—Boil the potatoes, halves or slices, in a small amount of boiling water until they are almost tender. Then place the potatoes in a flat baking dish. For potatoes sufficient to serve 6 people use 3-4 cup water in which potatoes have been cooked and add 1-2 cup sugar and 4 tablespoons butter and bring to the boiling point. Put the dish under the broiler flame and baste the potatoes once, basting and browning until they have a glazed appearance. Boil the remaining syrup until thick and pour over the potatoes. If you prefer, the glazing may be done on top of the stove.

The Dressmaker:

Studded sports frocks are a novelty of the season. Instead of buttoning, they fasten with little studs of simulated pearls or colored compositions. They come in black and new fall shades.

Household Hints:

Always iron linens on the wrong side. Ironing on the right side destroys the dull finish. Peach stains may be removed from a linen tablecloth if it is first soaked in glycerine, then washed in hot soap-suds. Dip a cork in silver polish and rub over the silverware to obtain a better polish than you can secure with a cloth.

Kitchen Kinks:

It will not be necessary to grease griddle if, when making griddle cakes, two tablespoons of shortening are added to the batter. To give muffins a nutty flavor, drop a teaspoon of peanut butter into muffin tins before pouring in the batter. To cook dried prunes wash them well, cover with four inches of cold water and let soak over night. Simmer slowly for one hour.

The Family Doctor

To make an effective mustard plaster, use 1 tablespoon of dry mustard to 4 tablespoons flour with either the white of an egg or 1 teaspoon glycerine, never both, mixed to a paste with enough water so it will run. Put between two layers of muslin. Grease area over which it is to be applied, apply plaster, allowing it to remain until skin is reddened.

COUNTY AGENT

J. B. Williams
Farmers of Fulton County have ordered 3,456.9 tons of lime thru the Farm Bureau during the past year. The members have saved 10 percent per ton on the lime that they have ordered which is a total of $345.69 for the farmers.

Farmers that are sowing grass with wheat should either sow the grass so that the wheat drill will cover the grass seed or sow the grass directly behind the wheat drill while the ground is rough so the first rain will cover the seed. Grass that is covered and in the ground some depth apparently does not freeze out during the winter as badly as when sown on top of the ground. The grass will also be able to stand the summer drought better if the roots are in the ground rather than on top of the ground.

C. L. Drysdale has an excellent stand of grass that was sown in an old lespedeza field last fall. The field was disced and the seed sown and the ground was then rolled. The grass has withstood the summer drought and is now furnishing considerable pasture.

There are any number of lespedeza fields that do not have any grass that could be cut with a disc and sown with 3 to 4 pounds of seed top and 4 to 7 pounds of orchard grass or timothy.

Ewes that are bred after the last of this month cannot lamb before April 1st and April lambs cannot be placed on the market at top weight much before July, so why have the buck with the flock much longer and continue to have the lambs dropped all summer. The late lambs do not fatten as well as the early ones and are troubled more by worms than early lambs. The lamb market is usually highest during the month of June. Now is the time to plan for the 1938 lamb crop.

Would you like to have a small sign to place on your front gate or hang in your place of business showing that you are a Farm Bureau member? If so tell your community president about it.

A Chicago doctor says there are twice as many men stammers as women. Maybe it comes from trying to get a word in now and then.

NEW LIME AND MARL RECORD TO BE SET

Reports received at the College of Agriculture at Lexington indicate that all records in the application of limestone and marl may be broken by Kentucky farmers this year. Last year approximately a million tons of lime materials were used in the state, and spread per crop acre than in any other state.

A large amount of marl will be used this year, according to county agents. Two thousand farmers in 52 counties spread 75,000 tons of marl last year. In Henderson county 8,000 tons were used.

According to S. C. Jones of the college, marl beds loom up like de-Fourth St.

posits of rich ore on thousands of Kentucky farms, providing ready supplies of liming material. He says that marl is available to at least 50,000 farmers in this state.

In many counties farmers are spreading marl themselves at no cash outlay. Allowances in the agricultural conservation program are $2.80 an acre where three tons of marl are used. In addition, the farmer who spreads marl or limestone prepares his land for increased crop yields.

Fall and Winter Outlook For Cattle Feeding

The improved feed situation and the favorable returns from cattle feeding operations during the past six months will result in increased numbers of cattle being put on feed for the feeding season of 1937-38, states L. A. Richardson, U-T Extension livestock specialist.

Cattle feeding will be on a more normal basis in 1938 than in 1937 when a shortage of feed prevailed. It is estimated that the total slaughter of cattle and calves in 1938 will be smaller than in 1937. Most of the decrease will occur during the first half of the year.

While fairly heavy marketing of cattle and calves may be expected for the remainder of 1937 the slaughter of cattle during this period is not likely to be as large as the corresponding period in 1936. The proportion of grain fed animals during the remainder of 1937 will be smaller than a year earlier, Mr. Richardson states.

Prices on well-finished slaughter cattle will probably be maintained at fairly high levels during the next few months. During the first half of 1938 prices of grain fed cattle for slaughter are not expected to average as high as for the same period in 1937.

While prices of feeder cattle are considerably higher than a year earlier, prices of corn and other feeds will be much lower. With continued improvement in consumer purchasing power and the low level of hog slaughter, due to the diminished supplies, the demand for slaughter cattle carrying finish and prices on the same has increased. Cheaper feeds, fewer hogs, and consumer demand will have a tendency to buoy up the cattle market in the feeding year of 1937-38, he points out.

OUR UNDESIRABLES

Spanish War Veterans at their last annual convention passed resolutions demanding that the Secretary of Labor enforce the law and promptly deport all aliens who have been convicted of crime, declaring there are 3,000,000 such undesirable citizens in this country. That number will strike the average Fulton reader as being far too high, but even if there are but one-half, or one-third, of the number claimed it still means too many of this type of people in America, a country which it has long been supposed is primarily intended for Americans. We have had enough trouble caring for our own criminal population during the last few years without having to harbor these floaters, most of whom were run out of their own countries, few of whom can show wherein they entered this country legally, and thousands of whom are on relief rolls. It is high time that pleas like the Spanish War Veterans are making be given attention. America has always been for Americans—why not keep it that way?

YOUR SCHOOLS.

When their children start off to school in the morning that seems to end interest in them until they return home with a vast number of mothers around Fulton. Somehow it has never occurred to them to take a few minutes off from household duties some afternoon and drop in at the school house just for a little visit. They do not realize that it bolsters the morale of the children to see their parents interested in school work, and that it also reflects a genuine interest in the welfare and progress of this all important institution. Teachers and pupils alike will take more interest in their work when they find, through the personal visits of their parents, that interest is being taken in them. It will also serve the good purpose of revealing how well and capably the children of school age are being taken care of by those in whose charge they spend a goodly portion of their time. You may be sure of a welcome, and you will return home with a deeper pride in your school.

THE WRONG SPIRIT

There probably isn't a town in America wholly free of that type of citizen who, when asked to co-operate in some sort of public movement, first asks himself what some other fellow down the street is going to get out of it. He may not ask the question openly, but always there is a suspicion in his mind that promoting any movement for the good of the community is first going to work to the financial gain of someone else. And if he refuses to put his shoulder to the wheel, nine times out of ten it is because he has the idea that someone is going to profit more from such a movement than he will.

That sort of spirit has done more than any other one thing to handicap a town in its efforts to advance. Call it pure selfishness, or envy of someone else in the community, or what you will, the fact remains that one or more citizens of this type are to be found in every town. And we are not positive that Fulton is an exception to the rule. It is easy to look back and point out campaigns for improvements that were badly needed but failed because of this type of citizen.

When a man realizes that any progressive movement for the good of the community as a whole benefits him also as an individual, then he is the sort of citizen to have around. When he waves aside the fact that maybe such a movement will bring a dollar or two more to a neighbor, but goes right ahead boosting and cooperating, he makes himself worth something to his town and is eventually rewarded in return, although that reward may come to him in an indirect way. No man ever lost anything trying to make his home town a better place in which to live, and no man ever gained anything by refusing to cooperate in a civic movement for fear the other fellow would "get something out of it."

FIGHT AGAINST PESTS

Rural residents around Fulton this past summer witnessed the greatest war on insect pests ever waged and that a result of it a vast financial saving is promised by Uncle Sam during the growing season of the coming year.

Setting a pest to catch a pest proved successful in many experiments, tried for the first time. Imported Amazon flies proved deadly to sugar cane borers. Again a small parasite was found which lays its eggs only in the egg sac of the black widow spider, where the parasite's larvae proceeds to destroy the young spiders. These parasites are to be cultivated to increase their numbers, and eventually the dreaded black widow spider will be no more. Experiments with insects believed to be capable of destroying grasshoppers were also tried in several western states and, it is said, with success. If this latter experiment works out and a method of exterminating the destructive "hopper" is found it will be worth all the money ever expended by this country in fighting insect pests.

There is a little risk, of course, that man will plunge ahead too far in his private wars against pests, ending one evil by setting up a new one. But this is being guarded against. It is reassuring, anyway, to find that many pests hitherto unconquered now face extermination, and also to find that other insects, considered useless, are in reality the friends of man.

TON-LITTER OWNERS

REPORT GOOD MONEY

Hog raisers generally, and especially those who followed ton-litter methods, made money this year, according to reports received at the College of Agriculture at Lexington. Attention to feeding with full use of pasture, a supply of mineral mixture, salt and water in most instances resulted in profit.

S. W. Waters, Hart county, made a litter of eight pigs weigh 1,538 pounds when 165 days old, the average daily gain being 1.7 pounds per pig. Corn and skim milk were fed for a time. And the corn then replaced with ground wheat. The profit was $69, after allowing $50 for the purchase of the sow and litter and pay for all feed and labor.

Porter Hord, Taylor County, made $90 on a litter of nine pigs, sold them when 161 days old and weighing 1,700 pounds. The pigs received corn, shipstuf, commercial feed, tankage, hominy meal and a mineral mixture of salt and ashes.

Twelve pigs in a litter owned by Mrs. Paul Duff in Hardin county weighed 2,110 lbs. when they went to market at the age of 165 days. They brought $10.90 per hundred and returned a profit of $107.04, after allowing pay for all feed and labor. Their ration contained a variety of feeds and a mixture of limestone, bonemeal, and salt.

A feature of ton-litter methods is that of having the pigs ready to sell when the market prices are at the peak, according to Grady Sel-lards of the College of Agriculture.

About half the people in the United States are church members. The rest don't have to think up excuses for remaining away.

The AAA has announced that cotton producers applying for cotton price adjustment payments will be required to file with their county Agricultural Conservation Associations the original sales certificates or receipts for all cotton sold from the 1937 crop.

Circular Tells Of

Erosion Loss

A new 56-page circular of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture deals with soil erosion, the greatest single destroyer of fertility. Plant food losses from erosion are said to be more than 20 times as great as by crop removal and are estimated at $34,000,000 a year for Kentucky.

If erosion continues at the present rate, the circular declares soon only a part of the state will support a satisfactory rural life and that part will have a severe drain placed upon it in the form of taxes to maintain government, institutions and roads. The usefulness of land for future generations is being unduly impaired by erosion and by the filling of stream channels, causing them to overflow and injure bottom lands and other farm property, it is pointed out.

The circular, which is intended for both farmers and those rendering technical service to farmers, treats of the various methods of controlling erosion, including the growing of grass and cover crops, contour cultivation and strip cropping and the construction of terraces and dams.

Part 1, dealing with cultural practices, was prepared by Prof. George Roberts, head of the agronomy department, and parts 2 and 3, having to do with terraces and dams, by Prof. J. B. Kelley, head of the agricultural engineering section, and Earl G. Welch, extension field agent in agricultural engineering.

FAR-REACHING POWERS ARE HIDDEN IN AMENDMENT NO. 1

State Constitutional Amendment No. 1, which is of far-reaching and probably unsuspected import, is to be voted on at the election on Tuesday, November 2. Strangely enough very little has been said about it in the newspapers of the State. Many very intelligent citizens seem to believe that the amendment is a progressive proposal needed to bring about desirable reforms and changes in local governments in the counties of the state and would result in a saving to the tax payers. Of course it is desirable to abolish useless offices, to reduce taxes and to improve local government when it can be done without the danger of inflicting great harm instead of accomplishing good.

This newspaper believes and fears that many progressive, public spirited citizens expect to vote for the amendment because it would make possible some needed changes.

But the proposed Amendment No. 1 is so sweeping in its provisions that it should startle the voters of Kentucky! This amendment would give the Kentucky Legislature the power to "MODIFY OR ENTIRELY ABOLISH ALL GOVERNMENTAL BODIES, OFFICES, AGENCIES, OR INSTITUTIONS IN THE COUNTY"—ALL WITHOUT A VOTE OF THE PEOPLE! Every voter who does not wish to seriously impair or surrender the right of self-government in the counties should certainly vote against this amendment. The Garnett-Mayer Act submitting the Amendment No. 1 provides:

"That there be and is hereby proposed an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, which amendment reads as follows:

"Constitutional Amendment within the territorial confines of counties (as now existing or as hereafter established) the General Assembly may by legislation of state-wide application, or of application according to classification based on population, retain, modify, and consolidate any and (or) all governmental bodies, offices, agencies, and institutions; may enlarge, curtail, modify, consolidate, redefine and redistribute the powers, duties, functions, and jurisdictions of governmental bodies, offices, agencies, institutions and courts, and may provide the number of judges for such courts; and MAY ABOLISH ALL GOVERNMENTAL BODIES, OFFICES, AGENCIES, AND INSTITUTIONS AND MAY ABOLISH ALL COURTS INFERIOR TO THE CIRCUIT COURT and may set up new ones in their stead; and may provide the METHOD OF SELECTION OF ALL OFFICERS, their compensation and the means and method of its payment. Provided: no legislation hereunder shall affect any elected officer during his term of office."

If the above Constitutional Amendment should be adopted the Kentucky Legislature could change the form of government in certain counties—Jefferson County for instance—where the majority of the voters should happen not to belong to the dominant faction in the Legislature.

If the Amendment should be adopted any or every office in all the counties of the same class or in the entire State could be abolished and new offices created.

The City and County governments could be consolidated under one dictator!

The Fiscal Courts could be abolished and the county's fiscal and financial affairs placed under the control of one political boss!

All courts below circuit court could be abolished and placed under the jurisdiction of some new court official!

The collection and spending of the tax money could be placed in the hands of some new official or officials created by the Legislature!

The management of the expenditures of the road funds could be placed in the hands of one commissioner!

And all of these changes could be forced on the counties, according to classification, WITHOUT THE PEOPLE BEING ALLOWED TO VOTE ON WHETHER OR NOT THEY WANTED THE CHANGES MADE!

If these outrageous changes without the consent of the people are not vicious enough we want to call attention to the fact that the Amendment provides that the Legislature MAY PROVIDE THE METHOD OF SELECTION OF ALL OFFICERS! Does this mean that the Governor or some official at Frankfort could be given the power to select all officers for the counties? This newspaper does not know whether this provision means that or not but it should be noticed that the Legislature would be authorized to provide the method of "SELECTION" not of "ELECTION."

We do not know how far some Legislature might go in "ripper" legislation in changing, abolishing or reorganizing all city and county courts, offices, agencies and institutions but we do know that no Legislature should be given such outrageous power!

The voters who believe in democratic home rule and are opposed to government without the consent of the governed should bury under an avalanche of "NO" ballots this mysterious and outrageous attempt to pass an Amendment which could turn the government of the cities and counties of the State upside down and inside out.

Prices and Feed Situation Favor Hog Breeders

Fewer hogs and plenty of corn and other feed supplies with a favorable market price outlook place the hog feeder in good position to make some money this fall and winter, states L. A. Richardson, U. T. Extension livestock specialist.

Hog numbers for market during the fall and winter season are expected to be smaller than was true of the same period of 1936-37. This decreased supply of hogs for slaughter purposes, and a fairly high level of consumer demand for meats will likely hold prices during the fall and winter to the average of that of 1936-37, which on the Chicago market was $9.90 per hundred weight, he states.

However, as is always true at this period of the year, prices will experience the usual seasonal decline during the time of heavy farm slaughter, he points out.

The feed situation is much more favorable than it was in 1936. With lower priced corn and the value of hogs maintained in line or even stronger than last year, the corn-hog ratio is favorable for production. With lower priced corn and relatively high market for hogs, producers will feed for heavier weights than they did during the past feeding season. Not only will weights increase, but producers may logically expect an increase in the breeding of sows for spring litters, Mr. Richardson states.

"With adequate winter pasture or a high grade of legume roughage such as alfalfa plus corn, tankage and a balanced mineral the Tennessee farmer should be in a position to produce pork for market at the corn-hog ratio of 1:12.14. With consumer demand backed by higher payrolls and the number of hogs available for slaughter fewer than the previous year, the hog feeder for 1937-38 should endeavor to retrieve the narrow corn-hog ratios of the previous year which were brought about because of a shortage of grain due to the drought. Conditions are certainly favorable for production in the feeding season just ahead which began October 1," he says.

Scientists say bees have a sign language. Yes, when you sit on a bee he always come back with a pointed remark.

Gary Cooper, George Raft in "Souls At Sea;" Don Amecha, Loretta Young in "Love Under Fire" and Eddie Cantor in New Musical "Ali Baba Goes To Town" are Program at the New Malco Fulton Theatre for Next Week

"Souls At Sea" Starts Sunday

Gary Cooper and George Raft, co-starred in "Souls at Sea," Paramount's saga of "wooden ships and iron men." Frances Dee and Olympe Bradna share the feminine leads.

Exactly duplicating the original "William Brown," the ship which was the scene for the strangest drama of the sea ever to be conceived by mortal man, the ship which was used for scenes in "Souls at Sea," brings back the days of a hundred years ago. "Souls at Sea," with Gary Cooper and George Raft heading a stellar cast, will open next Sunday at the Malco Fulton Theatre.

"Ali Baba Goes To Town" Starts Friday

Eddie Cantor comes to the New Malco Fulton Theatre next Friday and Saturday in what is reported to be his greatest musical hit since "Whoopie" which carried him to film fame as well as stage fame. It's a 20th-Century Fox picture in their great style of fine musicals... don't miss it.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY HAS HIGH ENROLLMENT

With students enrolled from 117 of the 120 counties in Kentucky, and from 43 of the 48 states, registration for the fall term of the 1937-38 school year reached an all-time high at the University of Burnette, daughter of C. MARTIN, Tenn.—One graduate from the high school at Fulton and two graduates of the South Fulton high school are now attending the University of Tennessee Junior College, which has a record enrollment of 305 students this year. With forty-one Tennessee counties, including every county in West Tennessee, and two Kentucky counties represented at U. T. Jr. College, Fulton county leads the enrollment with 61 students, followed by Gibson county with 23 representatives and 18 from Crockett and Obion counties.

The enrollment this fall is significant agriculture, home economics, and industrial arts. The enrollment for the past three years in agriculture are as follows: 91, 103, 120; in home economics: 68, 80, 83; and in industrial arts: 0, 34, 44. The total in these three departments for the three-year

In similar tests over a longer period, Holsteins also produced above 60 per cent as much milk and butterfat when on a roughage ration as when on a full-grain ration. Although averaging from 200 to 300 pounds less in weight, the Jerseys consumed an average of 12 pounds more roughage each month for each 100 pounds of weight.

Both breeds received only best quality hay. All cows were accustomed to a roughage-alone ration before the feeding tests were started.
