THE LISTENING POST

I read an article a few days ago which was intended to tell people how to read. The article was accompanied by some pictures which had to do with proper posture, proper lighting, proper surroundings and a few other odds and ends, and I agreed with the pictures. But with the text--well, I wondered after reading it if the writer had been merely spoofing his readers or had really expressed his opinion.

For, after all was said and done, the writer merely advised everybody to read the things with which he could agree. He advised that every person discover some columnist, some editorial writer, some book writer who seemed to be in general accord with that particular person and read those persons exclusively. "Don't read the newspapers which get you all hot and bothered," the writer said in effect. "If you can't ever agree with a certain columnist, avoid that columnist always and find one you can agree with. Do the same on the radio. If you like one certain commentator, stick to him and let the others go." And more words to the same general effect.

Well, I wonder. I get a lot of fun in disagreeing with certain writers. It gives me a feeling of superiority when I read something which I firmly believe to be inaccurate, misleading, and in general, just plain tripe. I am always deciding that I will write a letter to the author of such drivel and tell him plainly that he is nuts and should take up some other occupation. I never write such a letter, it is true, but it gives me a warm feeling to even think of it, and reading something which I totally disagree with is a real tonic.

A few days ago I read of a magazine editor who noticed a friend of his reading a newspaper. Day after day he began reading in the same manner. Instead of starting on the first page and reading back to the last page and then reading the first page, he started at the back of the paper and read towards the first page. You'd be surprised at how much better posted I am now on things which really count. I am up to date on the adventures of Popeye and I know all the latest baseball and football gossip. Now and then I manage to get through the editorial pages, but these generally stop me, and I have never managed to read as far as the second page in any newspaper since I started my new way of reading. But I don't miss these. I know all that is going on that is worth while.

"It's like this," the reader explained. "For the past few years, since the newspapers started printing all this tripe from Washington, and then after the war started, when every newspaper is filled up with made-up news from abroad, when every special writer has some sure-fire way of winning the war, I became disgusted with the entire situation. I tried reading straight through from the first page and by the time I reached the editorial page I was so sore, so disgusted, so burning with indignation, that I could never manage to finish the paper. Day after day I failed to get to the sports section, the comic strips and the want ads, for reading the first six or eight pages ruined my day completely. So I had a happy thought. I would start at the back of the paper and read towards the first page. You'd be surprised at how much better posted I am now on things which really count. I am up to date on the adventures of Popeye and I know all the latest baseball and football gossip. Now and then I manage to get through the editorial pages, but these generally stop me, and I have never managed to read as far as the second page in any newspaper since I started my new way of reading. But I don't miss these. I know all that is going on that is worth while."

The man has something, I am sorry to say. The propaganda mills in this country and abroad have practically ruined newspapers for the time being, and the recent election did nothing to help make newspapers more interesting. I read one newspaper thoroughly every day and I know just what the man is talking about. Personally I never read the comics, but I do have a reading vice--I read a lot of want ads. Sometimes, after getting indignant over some of the

Strike Closes Work On Dam At Gilbertsville

Walkout Occurs After Foreman Suspended For Fight At Project

Gilbertsville, Ky.,—A speeded-up construction program on the TVA's $8,000,000 Kentucky Dam project was halted abruptly today by the walkout of union workmen on the job.

The walkout resulted from the suspension (for discharge) of Walter E. (Smiley) Blanton, structural steel foreman, for fighting with two colored workers. The strike affected approximately 2,000 workers.

Project Manager George Jessup said only about 100 workers, a skeleton maintenance crew, worked today. Non-striking workers who reported at 6 a. m. today were sent home because the project was not able to operate without the skilled union men, Jessup said.

Settlement Thursday? Jessup said the difficulty probably will be cleared up in a conference between TVA representatives and international representatives of the labor unions to be held here at 2:30 p. m. Thursday. The project manager declared the strike was "unauthorized," because under an agreement the TVA has with trade unions a procedure is set up which must be followed for handling of grievances before a walkout can be called.

The walkout was started by steel workers and operating engineers shortly before noon Tuesday. Carpenters, electricians and other skilled craftsmen joined the strike later in the day, but the project was able to continue operation until the night shift ended at midnight, Jessup said.

Union members on strike held a closed meeting here tonight, presumably to discuss evidence in Blanton's case and to prepare for the conference between union representatives and TVA officials Thursday afternoon. Leaders declined to make any statements following the meeting. It was said that no statements will be made for the unions until a meeting Thursday night, which will be held to allow the union representatives who take part in the afternoon conference to report to the union members what progress is being made.

U. S. Bombsight Inventor Is Shielded To Protect His Life

Washington.—The "Mr. X" who developed the nation's No. 1 military secret—the jealously guarded, high accuracy bombsight—is being shielded so carefully, it was learned today, that authorities declined to reveal his identity lest his life be endangered.

"Mr. X" is the man responsible for the instrument known as the "Norden Bombsight." Although not a Navy man, he worked closely with that department for 15 years in perfecting the invention. Nothing more is known about him. Another secret is the location of the plant where the sights are manufactured.

Gen. Geo. C. Marshall, Army chief of staff spoke of the secret device as the "Norden Bombsight" when he emphasized last week that

Y. M. B. C. Will Handle Christmas Toys For The Poor

At the meeting of the Young Men's Business Club, held Tuesday night with W. M. Blackstone, the president, presiding in the absence of both the president and vice-president, it was voted to handle all toys for the underprivileged children in Fulton this Christmas. A committee was appointed to work with all civic organizations on this project, composed of Oran Winston, chairman, assisted by William H. Edwards, Robert Burrows, Paul Bushart, Len Askew, W. N. Burnett, Herschel Giles and Edwin Gunter. It was also decided that the club will sponsor a large community Christmas tree, to be located on the band stand, Lake street. Taking complete charge and working out plans for this will be R. B. Jones, chairman, assisted by Milton Krum and W. M. Blackstone.

A Christmas dance was discussed and it was decided that the club will give its annual "Snow Ball" on December 27 with Cecil Golly and his Music by Golly returning to furnish the dancers the latest in musical scores. The committee, headed by M. L. Parker, and assisted by Carter Olive, have had a hard time in getting Mr. Golly to return to Fulton this year. The club hopes that the people of Fulton appreciate this kind of music enough to write their friends to come to Fulton on that night and help make a success of it, for getting good bands in the future depends so much on this.

One new member, Herschel Giles, coach at Fulton High, was introduced to the club, and another new member, Maylor Ward, Burnett, owner of Pure Milk Company, was also present.

Frozen Food Locker System Opens At DeMyer Market

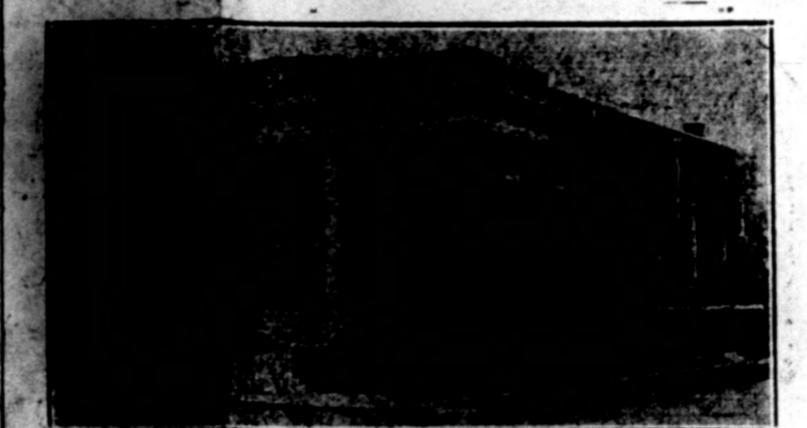

The new frozen food locker system, the first in Kentucky, work on which has been under way for several weeks, will have its formal opening at DeMyer market, Fourth Street, Saturday, November 30. Mr. DeMyer is justly proud of this new development and extends a cordial invitation to all to visit his market and see this modern development.

With the new frozen locker system the market will handle at all times many things in the food line which have never been handled here. He will have fresh strawberries this week end, with the full flavor retained, as well as green beans and other things of this nature, along with several items of seafood which are not usually available here. He has taken on the Birdseye line of foods, and these are always fully guaranteed as to quality merchandise. Many local people have taken lockers in this new system, and Mr. DeMyer is anxious that everybody in the community visit his market and see the modern way of handling frozen foodstuffs.

1st. Baptist Church Reaches End Of Long Trail As Final Payments Are Made On Handsome Building

Sunday, December 1, will be a red letter day for the First Baptist Church of Fulton. On that day, with special services arranged for both morning and night, with former pastors occupying the pulpit, the handsome $100,000 church building will be formally dedicated to the service of God, free of debt, and will long stand as a monument to the magnificent vision of many men and women who, undaunted by apparent failures and reverses during past years, before and after the building was erected, kept the goal ever before them and refused to be discouraged. The credit, of course, for this splendid piece of work belongs to no one person, but rather to hundreds of loyal Baptists who were determined that the congregation should own an edifice that would meet all demands that might be made in years to come. True, it was a dream of a few minds at the beginning, but these few were able to fire others with their vision and to all of them goes the credit for reaching the end of indebtedness several years before the date set for original plans.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Finished in 1926 The handsome church building was finally finished completely in 1926, after the congregation had used the basement for more than two years. The old building was razed by volunteer workers in 1923, and following this a large basement was built in which the work of the church was carried on for some time. Prior to the building of the basement church services were held in the City Hall, and after getting located in the basement of the new building plans were at once pushed for completing the structure. Rev. C. E. Warren, now pastor at Lebanon, Tenn., came to the Fulton church as pastor in May, 1919, to begin a pastorate that was to continue for more than fifteen years. He saw the need for a new building, and indeed, the two preceding pastors, Rev. Gatlin and Rev. Frank Adams had made some preliminary plans for this work. Brother Warren pushed these plans still further, and it was during his long pastorate that the building was started and completed. In 1926, when the building was completed, a large debt hung over the congregation and plans were made to retire this at the earliest possible date. The financial debacle which started in the latter part of 1929 made some refinancing necessary, but after those difficult years definite plans were made to retire this debt and for some time the date of the dedication has been definitely set. However, this date is much earlier than was planned a few years ago, as it has been possible to retire the debt about three years earlier than was thought possible at the beginning.

REV. E. A. AUTREY, Pastor
Served as Pastor 15 1/2 Years

Third Church Building

The present building is the third which has been dedicated by the local congregation. The first was built sixty-two years ago, in the early eighties. The first building was a one story brick, located on a part of the ground where the present building stands, the lot being given by the late Billy Carr. This building was used for about twenty years, and in those years the congregation grew in strength and influence and service to the community. In 1901 the first building was razed, much of the material being used in the new building which was completed in 1902. Rev. M. E. Staley was pastor of the church at that time. The present building, which will be formally dedicated Sunday morning, is one of the handsomest and most commodious to be found. It contains thirty rooms, as well as two large auditoriums and assembly rooms. It is handsomely furnished, and has a seating capacity of about 900. The present membership of the church is approximately 500. Growth of the congregation has been steady for several years before the date set for original plans.

Until illness forced him to retire several weeks ago, he was employed in the sales promotion department at Plough, Inc., which firm he had served in various capacities for 20 years or more.

He was an active Mason and was a member of the Character Builders class of Madison Heights Methodist church.

Mr. Newton is well known in Fulton, having visited here many times and has many friends here who will regret to learn of his death.

Local Post Office Will Be Twenty Five Years Old Dec. 1st

On Sunday, December first, the Fulton post-office, located at the corner of Main and Washington, will be one quarter of a century old, for exactly 25 years ago the federal building was completed and the post-office was moved from the corner of Church and State Line (Meadow block) to its new location.

At this time the late J. Ray Graham was postmaster and those employed in the post-office were J. W. Beales, assistant postmaster; Clarence Belew, clerk; R. M. Belew, clerk; J. A. Williams, clerk; L. T. Bugg, clerk; Eston Daws, city carrier; and Sam Campbell, city carrier. The seven rural mail carriers were: Will Matlock, Route 1; J. H. Lowe, Route 2; Tom Winsett, Route 3; Old Finch, Route 4; W. E. Waggoner, Route 5; Peyton Wills, Route 6; and J. T. Holman, Route 7. J. E. Rankin was the fireman-laborer. Of the above employees only two are still in service at the Fulton office. They are L. T. Bugg and Sam Campbell. Clarence Belew is now a clerk in Detroit, Mich., post-office and Tom Winsett is a rural carrier out of the Dukedom post-office.

Five of the rural carriers are now dead and J. H. Lowe has been retired and still lives in Fulton. J. W. Beales and R. M. Belew have both been retired from the service and both still reside in this city.

Business increase since 1915 has caused two more regular clerks to be employed and two more regular city carriers, but better roads made possible the consolidation of routes in 1933 when rural carrier, J. E. Lowe, was retired. Parts of the old Route 2 were given to Routes Nos. 1, 5 and 7 and Route No. 7 was redesignated as new Route No. 2. During the past quarter of a century five postmasters have served in the local post-office. Following Mr. Graham was R. B. Beales, Claude P. Freeman, Mach Roach and the present postmaster, Bailey Huddleston.

Now employed at the post-office are: L. T. Bugg, assistant postmaster; Mrs. Jennie Fowlkes, clerk; W. L. Roper, clerk; J. C. Bugg, Jr., clerk; E. E. Mount, clerk; Buren Rogers, clerk; Harold Holaday, sub. clerk; S. E. Campbell, city carrier; E. C. Howell, city carrier; W. E. Holloway, city carrier; H. O. Wright, city carrier; M. L. Parker, sub. city carrier. The six rural carriers are: Cecil Weatherston, Route 1; R. J. Lamb, Route 2; W. E. Filppo, Route 3; D. R. Speight, Route 4; B. E. Northing, Route 5; B. O. Copeland, Route 6. Shanton Hart is fireman-laborer at the building and Lon Jamison is the substitute chairman, J. E. McGowan, Jr., is the Special Delivery Boy.

During the period from 1915 to the present, the yearly postal revenues have more than doubled. In 1915 the total was $12,304.34 while for 1939 the total was $28,608.12. Following the last inspection of this office the postmaster received a letter of congratulation from the Inspector in charge congratulating him on the 75.8 per cent rating. On Friday, December 6 from 9 to 12 a. m. all persons interested in collecting stamps will have an opportunity to see all stamps the United States government has printed. This showing will be made when a philatelic trust from Washington, D. C. parks on the street adjacent to the post-office. The public is cordially invited to attend this showing on the above date.

50 Millions Allotted For New Bases

Knox Says Naval, Marine Reserves May Be Called Soon

Washington.—A $50,000,000 allotment to provide oil and other storage facilities and ship and plane anchorages at the defense base recently acquired from Great Britain was announced today by Secretary Knox.

At the same time, he disclosed that an additional 31,908 naval and marine reserves might be called to active duty at any moment and had been so advised. He said in addition that reserves from New York and New Jersey had been called to service with destroyers operating in the Panama Canal area.

Congress Delays Action While the secretary was making these announcements at a press conference, the Senate foreign relations committee postponed the consideration of all important legislative proposals—including modification of the Johnson Act and an investigation of British financial resources here—until the regular session beginning in January.

Senator George (D-Ga.), the new chairman of the committee, told reporters that he supported the administration's policy of rendering material assistance to Great Britain, said there was no doubt that proposals for additional help would be raised in the new Congress and added that the extent of the assistance should be determined by technical experts. He favored the investigation of British financial resources, proposed originally by Senator Nye (R-N.D.).

Clinton at Fulham

Our first home basketball game of the season will be played here Friday night, November 29, when Central's Red Devils will clash with the Fulham Black Cats. The visitors have the advantage in size and playing experience with practically the same strong team as last year, while the local team is "another five", with one of the last season players. However, that contagious spirit of grit and will power is with them and the boys are ready to give their best. Coach Rogers says "It'll be a good game." Pep squads, students and fans on both sides will demonstrate their "pulling power" with much enthusiasm. Looking for you and expecting a big crowd.

Church

Rev. H. Clayton, the new pastor on the East Clinton charge, preached his first sermon here, at Salem and Mt. Pleasant last Sunday. For the benefit of those who are interested we think we'll like him fine as both congregations were favorably impressed. We're wondering now what he thinks of us.

C. and Burnett Jackson of El Monte, Fred Jackson, Mrs. Dallas Robey Edwin, Mrs. Lula McAllister Burton and Bud Allison of Los Angeles, Oscar Williams of San De las, Mrs. Lela Williams of Riverside, Jim Weaver and Hardy Pillow of Upland, California. All were doing well with the exception of Mrs. Hardy Pillow, who had recently returned home from the hospital but was planning to return for treatment.

Thank You

Just at mail-time during that over-worked rush period, when we are often tempted to quit our column efforts, comes a complimentary letter of appreciation for the "Fulham Items" from Captain P. H. Porter of the War Department (Army Industrial College, of Washington, D. C. Thanks a lot for the nice things that really helped to relieve that head pressure and the general bad feelings that accompany a sore throat, another present ailment. I even missed (and saved) a half dozen nose drops and one teaspoonful of laryngitis medicine.

Captain Porter is doing his bit in the National Defense Program. With pleasant memories he recalls some of our community programs and asks to be remembered to his Fulham friends until he can say "Hello" in person, when he returns in December.

Home Burns

Due to a defective flue, the dwelling of Mrs. Fanny Harper and most of its contents was destroyed by fire early Thanksgiving morning. Some insurance was carried on the building and she plans to re-build in the spring. She resided near Mt. Pleasant on the place formerly owned by P. G. Cunningham.

This and That

Funny people are we who say "Thank You" in November and "Give Us More" in December, as we await the approaching holidays.

The most prominent ad on the new school curtain was taken by the Kentucky Hardware and Implement Company at Fulton.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jackson of El Monte, Calif., sent a lovely gift to Fulham H. Oscar Wheeler of St. Louis, who left here 35 years ago, returned Thursday seeking a birth certificate. He's a brother-in-law of Rev. W. T. Dennington and those whom he sought had either moved away or passed away.

Clint Hopkins of Detroit had no trouble with his In Clinton he announced the purpose of his coming, finding someone to swear that "he had been born." Lonnie Kimbro looked him over and complied with his request. Due to muddy roads last Sunday, Jackson Chapel had no Sunday School, Mt. Pleasant had 71 and Salem had an attendance of 59.

Vernon Humphreys and family are listening to a new radio, so are we, but it's theirs. W. E. Thimble and McCoy Cunningham are attending Federal Court in Paducah this week.

Mrs. Y. E. Burkett has been quite ill since Sunday. Three of the teachers, Mrs. Jim Moore, Mrs. Jack Vaden and Miss Addie Bone and 109 of the students went to Clinton Tuesday to see "Out West with the Three Little Peppers." And it's just 23 more shopping days until Christmas! Better hurry!

MISS LAVERNE BROWDER, BRIDE-ELECT,
HONORED AT LOVELY TEA AND SHOWER

Another in the series of parties for Miss Laverne Browder, bride-elect of Fred Cloyes, was the shower given by Mrs. Warren Graham and Mrs. Eldredge Grymes at the home of Mrs. Grymes on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Grymes, dressed in black and white moire and by her daughter, Miriam, in rose taffeta and then presented to Mrs. Graham in black lace with aqua jacket, and to the honoree, Miss Browder, who was lovely in a Grecian model of powder blue silk jersey with gold trim.

Mrs. Joe Browder, sister of the bride-to-be, in black crepe with rhinestone embroidery, poured tea and Misses Mary Browder Paschall, in blue lace, and Carolyn Atkins, in rose taffeta, served tea dainties to the guests. The table was covered with a lace cloth and had as a centerpiece a crystal bowl of beautiful pastel flowers flanked with white tapers in crystal candelabra. A miniature bride and groom added an appropriate note. The color scheme was further carried out in the sandwiches, mints and individual cakes, tied with white ribbons and each holding a miniature bride's slipper of gold.

Miss Browder's corsage was of rubrum lilies and cleverly concealed in the ribbon were tiny bits of verse which directed her on a treasure hunt where she found a shower of attractive gifts.

Japanese Claim
Canadian Censors
Took Liner's Mail

New York — The New York office of Nippon Yusen Kaisha, Japanese steamship company, today said one of its liners, Hikawa Maru, was ordered by Canadian authorities to surrender mail consigned to the United States for censorship when the ship put in at Vancouver, British Columbia, November 18.

This was said to be the first application of censorship to mail which normally would be carried on untouched to Seattle, second port of call for the east-bound Japanese vessels.

The Postoffice Department at Washington said no mail was being censored after it reaches the United States.

The post-graduate work is designed to enable teachers to obtain life certificates which the council decided several years ago would be granted only those who completed a year's work after graduation from college.

The council is composed of the heads of the University of Kentucky, the four teachers college and other educators.

Logan-Walter Bill To Be Taken Up In Senate

Washington. — Disregarding the vigorous objections of the majority leadership, the Senate voted today to take up the much-disputed Logan-Walter bill, designed to give the courts increased authority to review and set aside the decisions of such governmental agencies as the Labor Board and Securities Commission.

With scarcely more than a quorum present, the vote was 34 to 21. Republican members voted solidly to give the measure a hearing and were joined by 15 Democrats.

It was the second successive defeat to the congressional leaders since the Presidential election. Last week the House rejected a proposal for adjournment. In that case, too, numerous Democrats aligned themselves with a solid bloc of Republicans.

The Senate's decision gave the champions of the Logan-Walter measure their first success in a 19-month effort to get the measure before the Senate. It had been passed by the House and predictions have been made that, if enacted it will be vetoed by President Roosevelt.

Former Pastors Coming

Dr. C. H. Warren, pastor of the church for more than fifteen years, will preach Sunday at the morning services, and Rev. Woodrow Fuller, who served five and one half years immediately after Dr. Warren, will preach at night. Dr. Warren is now pastor at Lebanon, Tenn., and Rev. Fuller is pastor of the First Baptist Church of Corbin, Ky. The present pastor, E. A. Autrey, who came to the church only a few weeks ago, has already taken strong hold of his congregation and of the town at large, and will also take part in the special services. Supt. J. O. Lewis, who came to Fulton 10 years ago to head the school system, and who has been a tower of strength to the church, will take a leading part, as will T. S. Humphries, another sterling worker, W. E. Flippo, church clerk, G. H. Duley, that grand old gentleman, R. E. Goldsby and the lovable Dr. R. T. Rudd. In addition there will be special musical numbers at all services.

A Happy Day

When G. H. Duley stands before the congregation Sunday morning and holds up the final note which has been held against the church property, then sets fire to it and reduces it to ashes, there will come a great feeling of happiness and satisfaction to the hundreds who have aided in this great work. It is a goal long sought which the congregation has now reached.

Frankfort, Ky. — Assistant Attorney General M. B. Hollifield made public Monday a protest sent to the Interstate Commerce Commission against Federal regulation of weight and size of trucks.

The brief, filed in connection with the commission's inquiry into whether Federal regulation was necessary, declared that if Congress authorized it, that "it is virtually certain Kentucky will be compelled to permit operation of trucks two or three times as big and heavy as those allowed under the present State law."

It declared that the State has a right to regulate truck traffic over its highways under its police powers which have "not been delegated to the Federal Government and with which that Government should not interfere."

The brief also contended among other things that Kentucky limits trucks to 18,000 pounds gross weight because its highways "are neither strong nor safe enough to carry without undue damage the still larger and heavier vehicles," that it is "not financially able" to improve the highways so heavier may be carried, that there is no burden on interstate commerce and that the national defense program requires that the highways "be protected from destruction by heavy trucks."

British Refugee Ship With 1,771 Aboard Explodes

Haifa, Palestine. — The refugee steamer Patria, packed to the gunwales with 1,771 wandering, homeless Jews, exploded and capsized in Haifa harbor today with an undetermined but possibly heavy loss of life.

The refugees who sought illegally to settle in Palestine, had been placed aboard for transportation to some other British colony for the duration of the war.

Cause of the explosion not determined.

Many of those aboard managed to swim ashore but an official announcement said that "some casualties" were feared.

The refugees had been aboard the ship since last Thursday, waiting to start their voyage as soon as authorities deemed conditions in the Mediterranean to be reasonably safe.

SCOUT NEWS

The meeting of Troop 43, held Wednesday at the Scout Cabin, was opened with the usual formality.

Mr. Edwards drilled the boys for a while after which he discussed the part that the troop members are to play in the Father and Son hamburger supper at the Science Hall in December. He gave each boy two tickets to sell to this event, one for the boy and the other for his father. The following boys passed tests last night, Tom Ed Williams passed his Tenderfoot and part of his Second Class, Jack Austin passed his Tenderfoot.

After these tests had been passed Jimmy Lowe led the boys in the singing of "America" and the meeting was closed with the usual form.

VIRGIL KING, Scribe.
