Who Will Be In The Race?

ADVENT OF ELECTION YEAR IN FULTON COUNTY STARTS RUMORS BUZZING

As a campaign year opens soon, the political bees begin to buzz just as sure and as naturally as the honey bees do when the blossoms open later in the spring.

That's the way it is in Fulton and Hickman, swarming centers of Fulton county politics. Hardly had the noises of the big national election, November 6, ceased, when another noise rose and began gaining volume daily—the noise of talk about campaigns, county candidates and elections. Buzz, buzz, buzz—the bees are seeking fields of clover, getting in bonnets, and before it's over, somebody may get stung.

Everyone in Doubt

The odd thing about the Fulton county political situation at this time is that no one seems to know just what is what; who is a candidate for what office. Everything as yet is in the rumor and dope stage—though there is no lack of rumors and dope.

Miss Effie Bruer, the first woman elected to the office of County Court Clerk in Fulton county, tells the editor she will announce for re-election. The voters throughout the county would be terribly disappointed should she fail to do so. During our long residence in the county we have never known of any official to so thoroughly win the esteem and admiration of the voters as Miss Bruer. The office of county court clerk is one of the most important in the county. It is here all the records are kept, deeds, mortgages, contracts and various documents of every description. Miss Bruer has every one at the tip of her finger and indelibly stamped on her mind. In fact, she is a walking encyclopedia of county affairs, efficient and accommodating, giving "service with a smile." No wonder she has won her way deep into the hearts of the voters, and the one who attempts to defeat her next year may get stung by the queen bee.

Adams Has Clean Record

Lon Adams, county attorney, is another official who has won his way deep into the hearts of the voters. He is being urged by friends throughout the county to enter the race for re-election, and says he will. Mr. Adams is serving his second term as county attorney and no man is more familiar with county affairs. He has proven himself thoroughly competent, and an honest, fearless and efficient official. In both of his campaigns for the office of county attorney, he was opposed by some of the most popular and leading attorneys of the county, fully demonstrating the popularity, esteem and admiration in which he was held by the voters in his election. Today he is more popular than ever and we doubt if he has an opponent in the coming campaign.

Hornet's Nest

If you want to get into a live hornet's nest, let the bee buzz around in your derby for the judgeship against W. L. Hampton. Judge Hampton was elected this year to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge Chas. D. Nugent. He was opposed by two popular men in the August primary and a thoroughbred Republican in the general election November 6. He ran away with the band wagon and the dust hasn't settled yet. Judge Hampton will announce for re-election, and it is a safe bet he will win in a walk.

Here's Where the Little Bumble Bees Buzz Around

Chas. Bondurant, popular tax commissioner, will ask for re-election. Charles really has a lifetime job but doesn't know it. Here is where the little bumble bees buzz around and all you can hear is a bumble. Mr. Bondurant defeated a mighty good man for the office of tax commissioner in 1925, who will probably enter the race for sheriff in the coming election. It is gently rumored throughout the county that Chas. Bondurant is one of the most popular, honest and efficient officials in the county and could probably be elected to any office he desired. When Miss Bruer tires of the county court clerk's office he may take a chance at that.

The Old King Bee Wakes Up

The jailer's race promises to be a lively mix up in the 1929 campaign and the king bee will get in his work. Tobe Jackson, the popular jailer, will ask for re-election, and the man who beats him will have no time for walking exercises. There are lots of little bees buzzing around and the political dopesters say a half dozen or more candidates will be in the field against Tobe. Few men in the county have more friends than Mr. Jackson. He is a genial, honest and conscientious man and has served the county faithfully.

Several magistrates are to be elected next year in the county. All of them on the job now are good men and should be re-elected by acclamation and kept in office until every road in Fulton county is up to the standard of perfection, being the best in the state. Our farmers want good highways to travel over as well as tourists.

Another Hornet's Nest

Gee, whiz, they are going to force Albert Smith into the Sheriff's race. Albert managed to keep out of the race in 1925, but the women are behind him this time as well as the men, and a big swarm of bees are making honey in that new hat of his. Albert has weakened under the avalanche of entreaties coming to him throughout the county and will be in the 1929 campaign to the finish. Several folks around town have already called on him to rent his beautiful home place on Fourth street when he moves to Hickman.

The Sheriff's race has always created more or less excitement in Fulton county. In 1925, John Thompson was elected from this end of the county after participating in several heated campaigns. John has made an enviable record during his term of office with good deputies assisting him. No doubt he could easily be re-elected, but the sheriff can only serve one term in this state, therefore he will not be in the race next time. Two of his deputies have said they will enter the 1929 campaign for the office. One is his son, Abe Thompson, a young man who has assisted in the office work and is well known and popular throughout the county. The other is Chas. Moore, the popular candidate who made the race against Chas. Bondurant for tax commissioner in 1925 and received a handsome vote.

It is rumored that a number of other candidates will enter the sheriff's race and before the campaign is over there will be plenty of excitement to last until another election is on. Watch the announcement column of this paper for announcements.

We have ordered 500,000 candidate cards to take care of rush orders, and we don't mean maybe.

The Christmas Spirit

Fulton Flooded With Money

Farmers Bank Mails Out Xmas Savings Checks Amounting to Around $20,000

Yesterday the Farmers Bank of Fulton, mailed out Christmas savings checks to hundreds of its club members. For some years this bank has been promoting the club plan of saving and many thrifty ones were made happy this year on receiving their check.

Can you imagine what a happy feeling it creates to receive a nice big, juicy check just at a time when you need it the most; when you want to bring Christmas cheer to loved ones and enjoy the holiday season to its fullest extent. Well, that is just the kind of feeling members of the Christmas savings club at The Farmers Bank had yesterday. "The saving habit has grown with each succeeding year," said Mr. Nugent, "and this year our club membership exceeded our most fond expectations." Many of the thrifty ones redeposited their check and joined another club for next year.

The Farmers Bank of Fulton is only one among thousands of banks throughout the nation promoting Christmas savings clubs.

The Christmas Club plan of saving money has been growing in popularity until almost a billion dollars will be distributed this year.

The Christmas Club was organized eighteen years ago. It was first regarded only as a means of saving money to pay for Christmas needs, but has grown into a larger and more useful field. While eminently worth while as a vehicle to provide Christmas funds, it has been found more beneficial in promoting systematic weekly saving for the purpose of accumulating at the end of the year a certain fixed amount that can be used for any anticipated purpose.

The evidence is that the amount of Christmas Club deposits diverted for constructive uses growing annually. More and more the savings are being used for permanent investment or for deposit in saving accounts. Thus is the Christmas Club proving its worth, and having proved beneficial, it has grown.

The Farmers Bank this year

turned over to its members, about $20,000.

ELKS' MEMORIAL SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

A largely crowd attended the memorial services of Fulton Lodge of Elks in the Orpheum theatre, Sunday afternoon. Judge W. A. Middleton, of Paducah, delivered one of the best orations in the history of the local lodge.

Presiding was Exalted Ruler, Frank Beadles. Charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity, the cardinal principles of the order were described solemnly and impressively by Exalted Ruler Beadles; M. C. Nall, esteemed leading knight; R. L. Crockett, esteemed loyal knight; Cecil Bellew, esteemed lecturing knight, in keeping with the magnificent ritual.

The service was in memory of members of the lodge who had died in previous years and in 1928. Seven members had passed away this year as follows: Morman E. Daniel, Chas. D. Nugent, Odie Collins, W. K. Hall, Rev. C. L. Price, Horton Brann, John M. Hoar. This was the largest number of any year during the twenty years of the local lodge's existence.

A musical program arranged by Mrs. Paul Hornbeak was a feature of the service. The musical numbers were beautiful. Those taking part were Mesdames Geo. L. Alley, R. S. Williams, Hardeman Howard, Misses Frances Galbraith, Ivora Cantrell, Annie Lucile Goldsby, Messrs, Ezra Vance, Steve Wiley, Will Whitnel, Paul Hornbeak.

Secretary P. M. Newhouse read the roll of members, who had died.

The stage decorations and electrical effects were artistically arranged by Louie Roberts.

BENEDICT-WEAR

A wedding of much interest was quietly solemnized Thursday, November 29, at 7:45 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gingles on Fourth Street, when their niece, Miss Georgia Brooks Benedict, and Mr. Elliott Wear were united in marriage, the Rev. H. B. Vaughn reading the double ring ceremony. The bride was charming in a smart model of independence blue with accessories to match. Her bouquet was fashioned of pink rose buds and violets.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Benedict, of Clinton, and is one of Fulton's most popular teachers in the grammar school.

Mr. Wear is the son of Mrs. R. M. Wear of Murray, and is a popular young business man of that city.

After the ceremony the young couple left for a brief wedding trip.

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The students of the 3rd, 4th, 5th grades have set out thirty cedar trees as their project for this month. They intend to set out that many more.

On last Tuesday afternoon the high school boys with the aid of some of the patrons of this community succeeded in leveling off our school campus, which adds much to the looks of our school. We appreciate the interest which was shown by the patrons who helped us on this project.

On Wednesday morning the tryout for the debating team was held during chapel period. The ones who will represent Beelerton school are as follows: Pauline Davis, Hazel Latta, Pauline Brown, Lowell Weatherspoon, Frances Byrns and Zelna Pillow.

All the teachers from here except one attended the F. D. E. A., which was held at Murray. All enjoyed the occasion to the utmost. Mr. D. D. Crisp was appointed to represent Hickman county in recommending the officers and the location for the F. D. E. A. next year.

A nice gift. Send The Advertiser to a friend one year—only $1.00.

FULTON BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

A number of the stockholders of the Fulton Building & Loan Association met at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Main street, Tuesday night December 5, to elect directors and officers for the ensuing year.

President T. M. Franklin opened the meeting with an enthusiastic talk.

After the reading and adoption of minutes of previous meetings, Secretary J. E. Fall read the financial statement, showing the phenomenal growth and the excellent condition of the Association. An interesting feature of Tuesday night's meeting was the splendid talks.

In the election of directors, the stockholders displayed the utmost confidence in the conduct and management of the Association by unanimously re-electing all of the old officials to serve for the ensuing year, as follows:

Directors—Arch Huddleston, P. P. Pickering, J. D. Davis, I. H. Read, W. P. Murrell, J. E. Fall, A. M. Nugent, T. M. Franklin and Joe Browder.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

The directors called a meeting immediately and re-elected all of the old officers as follows:

Promoting thrift and assisting in building homes is the keynote of this gigantic institution.

A good home has many appeals. It gives you pride of ownership. It induces you to save money. It gives expression to your desire to design and build. It affords pleasant memories for the children. It brings comfort to your life. It creates an estate for old age or a "rainy day." It makes you a better citizen.

Any of these appeals is sufficient reason why you should become a home owner. To be assured of a home that you will enjoy, build it through the Fulton Building & Loan Association and stop handing our your good money for scraps of paper, better known as rent receipts.

CITY ATTORNEY FRANK CARR

Attorney Frank Carr is now city attorney, having been elected by the council at a recent meeting. Mr. Carr is thoroughly familiar with this office, having served the city many years as legal advisor. The council is to be congratulated on its selection.

Community Building

Architects in Move for Creative Beauty

With the prime motive of improving upon the nation's architecture, a plan has been proposed by the American Institute of Architects by which the efforts of the various artists will be united to produce a perfect work of art in each building. This plan advises collaboration among architects, sculptors, mural painters, landscape architects and craftsmen, which is believed will bring about a notable advance in architectural expression.

C. Merrick Hammond, of Chicago, president of the American Institute of Architects, in a report, says: "The world in which we live is essentially a collaborative creation. We who are living in it find ourselves surrounded by conditions which have come about as a result of the adjustment of forces, some of them creative, some of them destructive, some of them making for order and durability and beauty, and some of them tending to confusion, instability and ugliness. No lasting element in our environment is the result of purely individual effort. Collaboration has been a continuous creative influence in every great human undertaking."

Co-Operation Helps to Bring in Industries

Co-operation between the Toledo (Ohio) real estate board and the industrial department of the Toledo Chamber of Commerce has been sufficiently successful to be made the subject of a special letter sent out by the chamber of commerce to each individual member of the real estate board.

Inquiries from industries which are contemplating a new location are usually, of course, made in confidence. Where such inquiries are made to the industrial department of the chamber of commerce a letter is sent out from the president of the real estate board in his capacity as a member of the industrial committee of the chamber. In this letter pledge of the real estate men of Toledo is given to co-operate with any new concern coming into the city.

Where open requests for information are received from industries, the chamber of commerce sends copies to any real estate men having on file property that fits into the request.

Architectural Changes

"A building," an architect explains, "is only enclosed space, or a combination of spaces. The shape and size of the desired space are factors in determining the outline of the building. There is a reason for every architectural form. The Egyptians, the Greeks, and the Romans, had their own peculiar needs, for which spaces were inclosed, and sheltered from the elements. The ornamentation of the past had its purpose the telling of stories. Most of the people could not read. Religion and patriotism were conveyed to them through likenesses and symbols. Princes who wished to glorify themselves had the stories of their exploits done so that their subjects might see and appreciate their greatness. Today, printing and reading have taken the place of this decoration. People no longer observe and study such details. They are unnecessary. Things which are unnecessary tend to disappear."

Fighting City Congestion

An attempt to limit the density of population in residence areas is made in a unique building code restriction adopted by the city of Madison, N. J., a suburban community which is attempting to protect itself against the piling up of congestion in its residence sections. An amendment to the building code prohibits the erection in any part of that community of buildings to house more than one family for each 2,500 square feet of lot area. This is equivalent to limiting the maximum density of population to 17 families to the acre.

Consider Neighborhood

While a family may think that it would like to live close to relatives and friends, this factor should not be given too much weight. Nevertheless, the general type of people living in the neighborhood is important, especially if there are children in the family, who should be brought up in the right kind of surroundings.

Appearance Counts

Keeping up the exterior appearance of one's home keeps up the real estate value of the grounds as well as the building. One home, fallen into dilapidated condition, not only depreciates tremendously in its own value but tends to lower the value of all the homes along the street.

Safely—
they swing and sing on the wires

Thousands of volts of electricity, on their way to the day's work, pass along a shining metal thread. Around it the little claws of songbirds confidently cling—unconscious of the mighty power which it bears.

This roadside scene symbolizes one of the great products of the spirit of the light and power industry—safety—farsighted, absolute!

This great quality—this confidence that you feel in the performance of the simplest of your appliances, in the supplying of your ordinary lighting needs, is due to the fact that the men who have made the industry—have been men interested firstly and foremostly in their job.

The light and power industry attracts men of solid scientific aptitude and trains them for the safe service of tomorrow, when most human needs shall be fulfilled by electricity.

Safely ~ they swing and sing on the wires

Thousands of volts of electricity, on their way to the day's work, pass along a shining metal thread. Around it the little claws of songbirds confidently cling—unconscious of the mighty power which it bears.

This roadside scene symbolizes one of the great products of the spirit of the light and power industry—safety—farsighted, absolute!

This great quality—this confidence that you feel in the performance of the simplest of your appliances, in the supplying of your ordinary lighting needs, is due to the fact that the men who have made the industry—have been men interested firstly and foremostly in their job.

The light and power industry attracts men of solid scientific aptitude and trains them for the safe service of tomorrow, when most human needs shall be fulfilled by electricity.

NICK CARROS TREATS HIS FRIENDS AND LEAVES FOR THE OLD COUNTRY

One of the greatest and also the most unique parties was celebrated last Wednesday night at the Busy Bee Cafe, when Nick Carros threw a party to all his many friends to celebrate his departure for his home in Greece.

To furnish "eats" for the large crowd who responded to his invitation, he had two goats and a pig barbecued with all the necessary viands to make up a big feast. And believe me it was some feast. Everybody ate goat until half of them could butt. There were many impromptu speeches made, in fact, part of the time it seemed everybody was trying to talk at the same time. Nick was the center of every group, passing here and there among his friends getting a hearty slap here and a friendly nudge there, he could readily see they were all his friends who hated to see him leave for foreign shores. And who is this Nick? Why so much gayety and friendly banter?

Nineteen years ago in a little town in Greece, a young father and husband kissed his wife and two little tots a boy of five and a girl of three, good bye and sailed for America, the land of promise, to make his fortune. After about fourteen years of "fifty seven varieties" of luck he landed in Fulton and took charge of the old Chowning restaurant entering into partnership with another young Greek and conducted the restaurant for three years when he assumed control of the restaurant, buying out Mike Eaton, his partner. He has been continually on the job the entire four and one-half years with the exception of a vacation of one week. That he has prospered there is no reason to think otherwise, for during his term of citizenship in Fulton he has at several times sent money to the loved ones at home. One day last fall he received a letter from his babies, enclosing their pictures. Nick couldn't stand it any longer, the fact that his babies were now a grown man and woman could not change his memories of the two little tots, and immediately he made up his mind to go see them. And last Wednesday night his friends bade him good bye for a year. The Kentucky Melody boys furnished the music for the occasion, and as they always do, they delighted every one present.

Nick will spend a few days in New York and embark for his home town Paparuseon and arrive there just before Christmas, and what a happy Christmas this will be. I have an idea there will be some celebration in this little town of seven hundred people. They may kill the fatted calf for the return of the prodigal son, only in this case it is a prodigal father and husband. Here's wishing them a very happy Christmas.

During the four and one half years of Nick's residence in Fulton he has been an ideal citizen, never in trouble, always tending to his own business, and always ready to do his part both in a civic and charitable way for the betterment of Fulton and her people. He is a good citizen, and we will be glad when he comes back. Bon voyage, Nick.

RAILWAY PROSPERITY

Every industry and every home suffers when railway earnings decline, declares President L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central System in a public statement on "Railway Prosperity." Under such circumstances, he points out, good service is endangered, payrolls and purchases are reduced, operating and maintenance are cut down, improvements are curtailed and dividends are reduced or wiped out.

Such a decline, with the threat of impending ill effects, has existed for the last few years, according to Mr. Downs. In relation to the investment in their property, the railroads of the country netted much less in 1927 than in 1926, and so far in 1928 they have netted even less than in 1927.

This condition strikes at the roots of our national prosperity and must be checked if the railroads are to continue in their full power of usefulness, Mr. Downs says. The increased patronage of competing means of transportation subsidized out of the public treasury and the constant whittling away of railway rates have brought about this condition, he writes, and it is up to the great body of users of railway service to check these influences or suffer therefrom.

"General prosperity depends more than is sometimes realized," he concludes, "upon the service the railroads perform, the employment they provide, the purchases they make and the returns they yield to their owners."

Lesson for December 9

PAUL GOES TO ROME

LESSON TEXT—Rom. 1:8-15; Acts 27:1-38:31.

GOLDEN TEXT—I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul and a Storm at Sea.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Voyage to Rome.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul Makes the Most of Circumstances.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Divine Leadership in Paul's Life.

I. Paul's Longing to See the Romans (1:8-15).

Rome was the center of the world's power and influence. Paul longed to visit that metropolis with the gospel so that it might find its way from that center to all parts of the world. He had a twofold object so far as the Roman church was concerned.

1. That he might impart unto them some spiritual gift to the end that they might be established.

2. That he might be comforted by their fellowship. There is a reciprocal relationship between the minister and the people unto whom he ministers.

II. Paul's Voyage to Rome (Acts 27).

1. The ship (vv. 1-6).

It was a vessel of Alexandria sailing from Myra to Italy.

2. The company (vv. 1, 2).

Two of Paul's friends, Aristarchus and Luke, were permitted to go with him. Besides these three, there were two hundred and seventy-three in the ship (v. 27).

3. Overtaken by a storm (vv. 7-20).

Paul had advised that they winter in Fair Havens (vv. 9-12), but his advice was unheeded. The gentle south wind deceived them so they loosed from Crete, only to be overtaken by the tempestuous wind called Euroclydon.

4. Paul's serene faith (vv. 21-26).

(1) His rebuke for failure to heed his advice (v. 21).

(2) His them use of good cheer (v. 22).

(3) He promised safety (v. 22).

(4) The source of his information (vv. 23, 24). It was revealed unto him by the angel of God.

(5) The reason for Paul's faith (v. 23).

"Whose I am and whom I serve."

The consciousness of having been chosen by God and being engaged in His service enables one in the midst of the most violent storm to rest in God.

5. The ship's crew all safe on land (27:27-28:10).

This was exactly as the Lord had said.

(1) The hospitable reception by the natives (28:2).

They built a fire and made the shipwrecked people as comfortable as possible in the cold and rain.

(2) Paul gathering sticks for the fire (v. 3).

(3) Paul bitten by a poisonous serpent (v. 3). Among the sticks gathered there was a serpent. Perhaps it had already coiled itself up for its winter's sleep, but when warmed by the fire it started at Paul and fixed its fangs upon his hand. At first the natives thought that he was an escaped murderer and that retributive justice was being meted out to him. When they saw he was unharmed they concluded he was a god.

(4) Paul heals Publius' father (vv. 7-10). Paul now reciprocated the kindness of these people.

III. Paul's Arrival at Rome (28:11-16).

Brethren from Rome came some forty miles to meet him. This greatly encouraged him, for which he gave thanks to God. His desire to preach the gospel at Rome was now realized. He was treated with great leniency, being allowed to hire a house and live apart, except that he was constantly under the guard of a soldier. Being chained to a soldier was irksome, but it gave him a chance to preach to the soldiers, which he could not have done in any other way.

IV. Paul's Ministry in Rome (vv. 17-31).

1. His conference with the leading Jews (vv. 17-22).

He did not, as usual, wait for the Sabbath day to speak to the Jews, but after three days' rest he called the chief Jews together because of a desire to have a fair understanding with them. The result of this interview was that the Jews took neutral ground.

2. Paul expounding the Kingdom of God and persuading concerning Jesus (vv. 23-31).

He pointed out a real kingdom, the Messianic Kingdom, with the historic Jesus as King.

Prayer

Prayer is the great lever of the spiritual life; nay, to speak in various figures, it is the lung by which it breathes, it is the atmosphere in which it floats, the wing by which it speeds its flight, and the language by which it daily communes with its own Original.—W. Knight.

What Shall I Give For Christmas?

This very pertinent question is answered—exhaustively, thoroughly, comprehensively, suggestively. We mention gifts appropriate for every member of the family—father, mother, brother, sister, relatives, friends or sweethearts. And with the selection as varied and attractive as it is this year at this store, Christmas shopping and gift selecting is more of a pleasure than a drudgery. You come into this store and see so many beautiful things that are suitable gifts for the loved ones in mind that you are happily perplexed in not knowing which ones of the hundreds to buy. We offer you the result of months of buying and looking around for Christmas goods. While we are always desirous of selling just as low as we possibly can, yet quality is our foundation, and you can rest assured that any article bought for a present will give satisfaction and pleasure to the recipient every time he or she has occasion to use it.

We are mentioning a few of the appropriate articles suitable for Christmas and purposely omitting prices in order that you may forget all about the cost in anticipation of the pleasure of giving.

"STREET OF SIN" EMIL JANNINGS' LATEST DRAMA

London's slums have been called the cup that holds the world's dregs. That would appeal to Emil Jannings, character star, as a setting for his dramatic talents and the idea, evolved by him, has been translated into a motion picture called "The Street of Sin."

This new Paramount production, Jannings' third in America, a successor to his magnificent success "The Way of All Flesh" is declared by many to be even more powerful in theme and characterization. It will have its local premiere at the Grand Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

The story is by Josef von Sternberg and Benjamin Glazer, and deals with the life of a huge rowdy, who rules the slums with his fists, portrayed by Jannings.

The essential characters in addition to the star are Fay Wray, leading woman for Eric von Stoheim in "The Wedding March," and Olga Baklanova, noted actress of the Moscow Art Theatre. The former is a Salvation Army girl who sets up a shelter in the slums; the latter portrays one of the fallen sisterhood who is in love with Jannings.

The saintliness of Fay Wray, the growing goodness of Madame Baklanova and the devilishness of Jannings continue almost to the end of the picture when a tragic climax brings the star to the point of real regeneration.

The texture of the background is rough but vitally interesting, a vivid slice cut from the heart of Limehouse. The director is Mauritz Stiller, whose work showed so excellently in "Hotel Imperial," and "The Woman on Trial" in which he directed Pola Negri.

STREET IMPROVEMENT WORK IN WEST FULTON IS COMPLETED

All of the streets included in the street improvement project in West Fulton have been finished. It required 40,000 yards of concrete to complete the 30 blocks and the Carey-Reed Company is to be congratulated on finishing the west side before bad weather set in. It is understood that paving the streets on the east side of town will start in the early spring or as soon as weather conditions permit. A good start has already been made on curb and gutter work and by June 1, 1929, the entire street improvement project should be completed, giving Fulton the best network of concrete paved streets in Western Kentucky.

RAILWAY PROSPERITY

Advances in the market prices of railway securities which have occurred in the last two years have been assumed to indicate that the railroads generally are enjoying increased prosperity. Unfortunately, they are not. The increased price level of their securities is primarily caused by the unprecedented buying of securities generally, and the prices of railway securities have increased much less, as a rule, than the prices of industrial securities.

Measured in relation to the investment in their property, the railroads of the country netted much less in 1927 than in 1926, and so far in 1928 they have netted even less than in 1927.

This decline in the rate of railway net earnings strikes at the roots of our national prosperity. It must be checked if the railroads are to be maintained in their full vigor of usefulness. General prosperity depends more than is sometimes realized upon the service the railroads perform, the employment they provide, the purchases they make and the returns they yield to their owners.

When railway earnings decline, the continuance of good service is endangered. Railway managements are forced to reduce payrolls and purchases. Operating and maintenance expenditures are cut down, and improvements are curtailed if not discontinued altogether. Dividends are reduced or wiped out. The result is quickly felt in every industry and every home.

On the other hand, when their earnings are adequate, the railroads are able to maintain their properties at a high degree of efficiency, carry on necessary improvements, employ the maximum amount of labor, make liberal purchases of equipment and other supplies and reward their owners in a manner that encourages the flow of needed capital in to the railway business. The result is a quickening of industry and trade throughout the country.

Two influences have caused the recent decline in railway net earnings in the face of rigorous economy on the part of railway managements. One is the increased patronage of competing means of transportation subsidized out of the public treasury. The other is the constant whittling away of railway rates, seemingly inconsequential in individual cases but large in the aggregate, that is going on all the time. The power to check these tendencies lies with the great body of users of railway service, who will suffer most if they are not checked.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Canning Factories Help.

Canning factories helped to establish a more diversified program in several Kentucky communities this year. The cannery at Harrodsburg shipped 20,000 cases of tomatoes, for which it paid farmers several thousand dollars, and in addition paid workers a total of $16,000 for their labor during the season. A cannery at Bardwell paid farmers $9,175 for tomatoes and beans and paid workers $7,762.

The above article, clipped from one of the farm papers certainly speaks for itself. This is one of the many things Fulton and Fulton county needs and needs it bad. Just think, suppose there had been turned loose in Fulton during the past year, $15,000, don't you think it would have been a big help to all concerned? The farmer would have had more money to spend, the help in the factory would have had several hundred dollars to pay the merchants, and they in turn would have carried more money to the banks as the result of a good live canning factory located here.

A canning factory not only uses several tons of ripe tomatoes each year but also cans string beans, sweet potatoes, pumpkins, corn and other garden and farm products and the best part of it is as soon as the farmer unloads at the factory his money is given to him CASH on delivery. The help in the factory are paid mostly each day and this money goes directly into circulation.

When small towns the size of Bardwell, Arlington, Halls and several I could name in this district can support a good canning factory and have it running several months each year, I can't see for the life of me, WHY Fulton can't do as well. I think the Chamber of Commerce should go after a good canning factory and GET IT!

Local Items: Old Number Four is dead. He had served us long and loyal. He had never faltered none though the task might be hard, the road long, the hill steep, the weather bad. He worked uncomplaining when his three companions flickered out or went on vacations. He was on the job, day or night, hot or cold. What killed him was disgust. The end came when he was passing over a so-called street leading into Carr street from Cemetery Hill. The meanest streak of roadway in the known world killed the best sparkplug we ever had in our old coupe. We had detoured to fine roads fitten to go a far piece on them to get to Reelfoot Lake and then that so-called street in a city that is proud of its concrete busted our faithful friend's heart and soul. We do not know what the moral is but Fulton ort to pay the funeral expense, which come to exactly six-bits. We seen several things that was right interesting. One was a feller driving a mule to a buckboard which it had a baby buggy tied on behind for a trailer. That was what we called progressive normalcy. Then we seen a old woman pulling a wagon which was packed with about several hundred pounds of luggage tied up in a fancy oil cloth. We wanted to ask the old woman what was up the road that would make her willing to pull that heavy waggin. But she looked like a gipsy and if she was a gipsy she was not trying to get anywhere in particular. What them people want is to git away from where they are at. The sight of all that baggage put us in mind of that feller in "The Virginia" which loved that a tourist did not need no baggage but a gun and a rope. Personally we have went many a far piece with nothing but a safety razor and a package of cigarettes. Anyway our coupe kicked up behind and now we have to begin life all over again.

Funeral services for Mrs. Earl Farabough, who died Thursday morning, Nov. 29, at 5 o'clock from burns suffered Tuesday, when a cleansing fluid she was using ignited and exploded, also destroying her home, were held at the home of her aunt, Mrs. J. Mrs. Farabough is survived by her husband Earl Farabough, a young daughter, and a sister, Mrs. Sidney Brown, of New Orleans.

Mrs. S. Buhler received a telegram last week from Mrs. Evie Evans, of San Antonio, Texas, stating that her mother, Mrs. A. I. Adams, had died and they were shipping the body to Clinton for burial. The funeral party arrived Sunday morning at 10:30. Services was held at the cemetery, Mrs. Adams lived in Clinton until a few years ago when she went to San Antonio to make her home with her only surviving daughter, Mrs. Evans.

Regular Cleaning Up for American Cities

American cities are getting their faces scrubbed, and a new industry is rapidly assuming very interesting proportions, says Marie Thorpe in Nation's Business Magazine. Send your office building to the laundry, and get it back by Saturday night, nicely washed and ironed! Washington, a number of northern municipalities, and, in the South, Atlanta, and other cities, are going in for cleanliness, and as the dingy buildings shake off their soot and dust, and emerge with shining facades, all dolled up and well-lathered behind the ears, one has to rub his eyes to recognize his own home town.

In Washington, for example, a new white city, spick and span, is coming into view by the magic of soap and water, and within the past year, the artistic beauty of the nation's capital has been greatly enhanced. It costs around $2,500 to steam clean and press an office building of average size, while the job of spick and spanning up the treasury or the Union station might run up as high as $12,000. It is worth it. Beauty and cleanliness are real assets to any community.

Retain Roadside in Its Natural Beauty

The problems of attractive communities in advertising their recreational and residence advantages should be linked up in the mind of the community authorities with the advisability of protecting the town's beauty by keeping the roadsides approaching it free from everything but their natural beauty, according to a report which has just been made by the Division of Housing and Town Planning for the commonwealth of Massachusetts. The building of a new main highway is not merely an engineering problem. On the contrary, it is primarily a social and economic problem, a problem of killing or making the region, the report holds.

"A region rendered uninhabitable except by filling stations, hot-dog stands and billboards is blighted, not helped," the report says. "Let a town, particularly what we call a good summer town, protect every residence by a good zoning plan, and keep its roadsides free from everything but their natural beauty, and the whole country will know that town. No town differently treated can compete with it."—Detroit News.

Beauty in Common Brick

No other exterior material offers such a rich variety of colors as the common brick. And color is imperative in present-day homes. Nor is any other so adaptable in the working out of softened textural effects. The common brick is in a class by itself in this respect. Other brick stress their uniformity of color and texture. Common brick are never alike; always there is a pronounced variation not only in color tones but in texture and form. They burn unevenly, their lines are irregular, their fire flashings never the same. And in these ever-present variations lie their greatest charm.—Building Economy.

Prohibits Overcrowding

An attempt to limit the density of population in residence areas is made in a unique building code restriction adopted by the city of Madison, N. J., a suburban community which is attempting to protect itself against the piling up of congestion in its residence sections.

An amendment to the building code prohibits the erection in any part of that community, of buildings to house more than one family for each 2,500 square feet of lot area. This is equivalent to limiting the maximum density of population to 17 families to the acre.

Qualities Needed in Roof

A roof that is tricky is to be despised. It is to be made over, it can't go on with its undependable character. The worst thing about a defective roof is that its meanness will show when least expected and least desired.

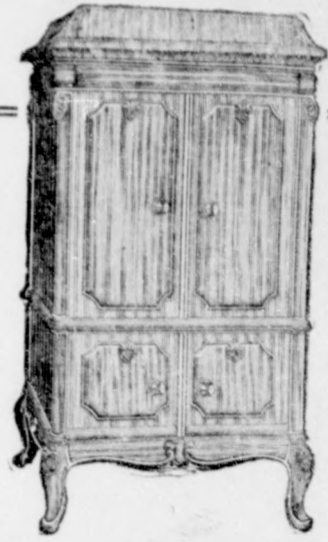

There are artistic roofs that endure. Beauty and utility will be found the winning team in any building proposition. Nothing sets off a doubtful site to such good advantage as a top that is picturesque. But it must be waterproof and fire-resisting as well.

Eliminates Excess Signs

The North Shore (Illinois) Real Estate board is working to eliminate excess "For Sale" signs on North shore properties. The board recommends that in order to prevent the injury to the sale value of properties occasioned by the presence of ten to fifteen signs on a single lot, as is sometimes seen in a site facing a highway, the present signs be removed and a single sign put in its place reading: "See Your Realtor."—Chicago Daily News.

Electric Fountain

Electric fountains, in addition to beautifying the home, are an extremely useful feature.

EARLY HOLIDAY SHOP-PING IS IN FULL SWING

Patrons and Merchants Benefit
By Movement

Christmas shopping was in full swing in Fulton Saturday. A check-up of stores indicates that the early Christmas shopping movement, which is now sweeping the country, has hit this city with a bang.

This corresponds with reports received from the larger cities throughout the country. It indicates that the movement, launched by club women to place their holiday gift-buying on a common-sense basis and eliminate much of the eleventh hour hysteria, has gained a firm foothold.

Action of Fulton merchants, in meeting this new popular demand with an earlier display of their full Christmas merchandise stocks undoubtedly has accelerated a movement in this city. Those who visited the stores Saturday found complete stock from which to make their selection. The selling was under the guidance of regular store employees who had plenty of time to give their customers adequate attention.

Merchants Prepared

"The great trouble with the shop early campaigns in previous years was the fact that the stores were not prepared to meet the public's early season demand," one merchant explained. "The stores got in a habit of waiting until the big Christmas rush started. Surveys by our state and national retail associations last year proved to us that thousands of people liked the idea of making their gift purchases in November or early in December, providing they could make their selections from the complete holiday stocks. This year Fulton merchants changed their usual plans and made this merchandise available several days in advance. The result has been very gratifying to all concerned."

EXPECTS HEAVY GIFT TRAFFIC DURING THE HOLIDAYS

Judging from various indications which he considers reliable, A. M. Posey, route agent of the American Railway Express Co., here, made the prediction today that the holiday gift traffic this year would exceed all previous records and this will make it particularly urgent that people shop and ship early.

Recent incoming traffic from local retail stores, according to Mr. Posey, promises more elaborate display of suitable gifts and considerable business is expected by leading retail establishments from out of town customers.

"We are preparing for a record holiday traffic," said Mr. Posey, "and will be working up to the very late hours of Christmas eve to make sure that all packages in our hands, up to that time, will be delivered before Christmas morning."

Most people who forward packages during the holidays, Mr. Posey added, are "occasional shippers," and are not usually familiar with the essentials of what transportation people call a "good package." Packing has become more or less a science, and practically every kind of article can be so prepared as to guarantee perfect condition on arrival irrespective of its particular character.

Equally important is the marking or addressing of the packages, for illegible or incorrect addresses invariably result in delays. It is particularly important to give the street and number of the receiver of the package, if located in a large city and in all cases care should be taken with the writing of the name of the state, especially when abbreviations are used.

It is often impossible to decipher such state abbreviations when hastily written. There are hundreds of cities and towns of the same name located in many different states. There are, for instance, 28 Springfield, large and small throughout the country. If it is not clear what particular Springfield is intended a package may go to any one of the 28 before reaching the right one. As the expressmen put it, a "shipment right is half way there."

J. T. WATKINS CAPTURES RIBBONS WITH HIS BIRDS

During the past week I took in two poultry shows, one the Kiwanis show at Cairo at which I had some of my "scrubs" entered and won several ribbons and the Coliseum show at St. Louis.

The Cairo show while not so large as formerly, still was full of some real good birds. Mrs. D. J. Perry had a string of her Buff Orpingtons entered and won several firsts and one special, and believe me, she had some competition. Grant Young of the Southern Illinois Experiment Station, won first, second, third and fourth old hen, but he shot his bolt on this winning and could not get in on the other stuff, but his hens were swell. Mrs. Perry need not feel downhearted by losing to such birds as these. Virginia Henry, another member of the Fulton Poultry Association, entered a young pen of Blue Andalusians, and a young pen of Dark Cornish and swept the platter in young stuff. Winning all awards in young stock. I managed to have first and second old hen in the White Leghorn class on three hens I entered, all other awards in old stock was scattered among the other exhibitors. I had no young stock to show nor old cock birds, so I feel like I did real well on White Leghorns. I also won first old cock, first old hen on buff wyandottes. I had no young stock entered. I also won best display on my Rhode Islands for all states other than Illinois, Kentucky or Missouri. I haven't learned what other prizes I won on my stuff.

Now about the St. Louis show. It was a dandy. Some wonderful birds by the master breeders of the United States. The Grand Champion bird of the entire show was a White Wyandotte Cock bird that was a dream. This bird won last January at the Madison Square Garden show as best cockerel in the show. I finally mustered up enough courage to ask the breeder what his prices on eggs were, and was informed "We don't sell any eggs." So there you are, I won't get any of them. There were large strings of Barred and White Rocks, White Wyandottes, Brown Lehorns, Black Langshans and Buff Wyandottes, while the other breeds were very well represented. There was also a large rabbit show in connection with the show, and a cat and dog show also, but I don't fancy dogs and cats so much in a chicken show.

I heard some mighty good news while at the show. It is to be held in 1933 they are planning on having a World's beater poultry show. They expect to have between twelve and fifteen thousand birds in the show and run for ten days. Wow! some show—and they want me for one of the superintendents. Hope I live that long. Will I go? I guess, yes.

IN MEMORY OF M. E. BYRD

Milner Edward Byrd was born May 27, 1886, made his departure from this world November 24, 1928, thus being 42 years, 5 months and 27 days of age. He was the only son of Sally and Sam Byrd. He professed faith in Christ at an early age, united with the Methodist church at Rock Springs, and remained a member there until a few years ago when he moved his membership to Union Cumberland Presbyterian Church where he was a consistent member when he was called to heaven to worship around the throne of God with loved ones gone before.

Milner had been in bad health for more than a year and always bore his suffering with much patience. He was taken to the Mason Memorial hospital at Murray, Ky., where all that skillful physicians and loving hands could do, was done, all to no avail for God thought best to take him home. He only lived three days following the operation. He said time and again that he would never recover from the operation but his suffering had become so intense that it seemed the only chance for him to become better.

He leaves to mourn his departure an aged father, his mother and sister having preceded him to the grave several years ago, a loving wife and nine dear children. Weep not, dear loved ones, for husband and father is not dead, he is only resting safe with Jesus until the day when God shall call His children home. He cannot come back to you but how sweet the thought that you can go to him where family ties will never be broken and you can live a reunited family around the throne of God where all is peace and joy. There is not a doubt as to where Milner has gone for we have heard him say many times that he knew Christ was able to keep him in life and death and the only sorrow he felt in going away was leaving his family.

Milner was always a great helper in both church and school and was ever ready to lend a helping hand to those in need. He will be sadly missed in the community in which he had lived all his life. He was a friend to both old and young, and was always cheerful when he was suffering intense pain.

We would say to the bereaved ones, weep not as though we had no hope for Christ says, "Come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest."

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is still;
A place is vacant in our home
That never can be filled.
A Friend.
