Some people say, 'Well, why can't you regulate the light prices as it ought to be in the public interest?' I answer, 'Because the light companies are less than willing to be so regulated.'

The law gives to a private corporation a complete and absolute monopoly of the electric lighting plant. The charter, Section 3118, says: 'But said board shall, under the direction of the general council, have complete and absolute control in his duty the general council and the business of the electric plant has made a good inquiry into the matter and apply a remedy.' The fact of the business is, that the welfare of the public it has the power to regulate the electric light company under the direction of the general council.

The general council of Louisville has made a good inquiry. This complete and absolute control in his duty the general council of Louisville has made a good inquiry. There is not one man in Louisville who has the privilege to regulate all matters pertaining to the general interest of the city. It has in its power to control all energy matters, and it has the power to investigate all matters pertaining to the public interest. This is an anomaly. It has in its power to regulate all energy matters, and it has the power to investigate all matters pertaining to the public interest.
