LOGAN FLAYS SEN. ROBSON IN TALK HERE

Charges Republican Senatorial Candidate With Demagoguery

SPLENDID CROWD AT SPEAKING TUESDAY

Barkley, Gregory, Gardner Accompany Standard Bearer Here

Old fashioned Democratic enthusiasm amply filled the circuit court room here Tuesday evening for the address of Judge M. M. Logan, Democratic nominee for the long term in the U. S. Senate, beginning March 4, 1931. Mr. Logan made a "vote-getting" appeal that won the hearts of his hearers who filled all the seats in the court room, leaving a number with standing room only.

Judge Logan was accompanied by Senator Alben W. Barkley, Congressman W. V. Gregory and Judge Edgar Gardner. The meeting was presided over by George S. Hart, county chairman.

Judge Gregory was first presented and after a brief talk, during which he read excerpts from the new tariff law, introduced Judge Logan.

In an humorous and effective address Judge Logan won the approval of the audience. He paid an especial tribute to the "valiant service done by the state central committee and also praised Mr. Barkley, calling him a woman's chairman for her unselfish and heroic work for the party.

Judge Gardner then presented Senator Barkley, who was his usual able aid in outlining the issues of the campaign and the age-old differences between the Democrats and the Republicans and the aims of the Democrats.

Senator Barkley urged that not a single Democrat fail to go to the polls on election day, saying that those who refrained from doing so might think they were staying clear of the election and doing no damage to their cause, but that actually they were casting half a vote against their party.

Judge Logan was introduced as a sincere friend of the common people, without money to buy elections, but seeking to serve faithfully and honestly for the best interest of the people.

The Democratic standard bearer took the Republican incumbent sharply to task for his demagoguery and diffidence and stated that he had challenged him to a debate on the issues of the campaign. He also said that he was calling the soldiers his "buddies," saying that all the Senator did during the war was to "zap" at the heels of Woodrow Wilson like a hyena, and obstruct all he could. Judge Logan said that he might be tempted to be too good a friend of the service men as his own son served in the front line trenches and was today suffering from tuberculosis as a result of his war service. He also charged the government for its neglect of many disabled veterans and for the scandals which have marked the tobacco bureau.

While the G. O. P. was not, of course, responsible for the death of the depression, it has been about, by its management of the affairs of government, will cause great suffering, as an effect, he said. If conditions on the farm had been as they should be, the drought would not cause such suffering, Judge Logan said.

He also charged the Republicans with the greatest unemployment in the history of this country and said that under a Democratic administration what the Republicans are now calling a "light depression" would be termed a "horrible famine."

Judge Logan charged that Robson was an unscrupulous politician and branded him and Governor Sappington as "two of the worst men in this state."

He also asserted that Robson had promised the Republicans that he would have four hundred workers on each route in this state, which he estimated would cost $400,000.

The judge's appeal made a deep impression upon the audience and local leaders promised him faithfully that Calloway county would roll up a large Democratic majority.

Company Proposing Power Dam at Aurora Successfully Keeping Identity Covered

Whoever is behind the proposed $300,000,000 power dam over Tennessee River at Aurora, Ky., is mysteriously keeping the facts in the dark, not only from those who live in this vicinity and naturally are most interested in the project, but also it seems from the authorities in Washington, who must grant permission for the work to be done.

Despite these facts, local citizens in closest touch with the situation believe that the dam is going to be built. Their belief seems to be mostly a hunch for it is confidently believed that no one knows anything definite.

A representative of the company was in Murray last summer doing considerable work in connection with the dam and no one was ever able to find out exactly what he was doing. His efforts to obtain information from this representative invoked about as much response as could be expected from a Cheapskate Bay master. He did state, however, upon direct inquiry that the project was "not sponsored by Samuel Insull," widely known Chicago utilities tycoon.

In an effort to learn something about the project, that project, to dump $30,000,000 in the middle of Tennessee River within 15 miles of Murray, The Ledger & Times wrote the Federal Power Commission. The following letter speaks for itself:

Washington, Sep. 22, 1930
Mr. J. T. Lovett, Director,
The Federal Power Commission,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Sir:

Your letter of September 19, in reference to a power project in Tennessee River, has been received.

No application has been filed by the Southern Industries and Utilities, Incorporated. However, there has been filed an application for preliminary permit for a power project at the Aurora dam site by Robert H. McNell, who is connected with the above-named corporation.

No information is available in this office in reference to the Southern Industries and Utilities, Incorporated, as this corporation is not listed in the latest edition of Poor's Manual.

Very truly yours,
M. C. Tyler, Chief Engineer.
In the absence of the Executive Secretary.

While this does not sound very hopeful there are other factors that pile up a considerable amount of evidence that the men behind this development actually mean business. In the first place, they have not only invested quite a bit of money in preliminary surveys, but they have also made some purchase of farm properties which would be located in construction and others which would be inundated by the water reservoir created by the dam.

Their proposal to the state highway commission, though it was rejected, that the dam be used for a highway passage across the river indicates beyond a reasonable doubt that they expect to get dam building under way in the not distant future.

All in all, it is a possibility, which that Robt. H. McNell is spending a bunch of money to play a practical joke on the citizens of this section. Enthusiasm there are men of power and money behind the proposed Aurora dam, and the time season they will make themselves known.

Anyone who is familiar with the government's Highways Commission, which is the Highways Commission, knows that they would reject the offer of a group of Washington promoters to build a power dam on the Tennessee River, a non-existence of power dam, for a non-existence of power dam, for a non-existence of power dam.

The commission last week was urged by representatives of the Washington firm to construct the proposed power dam at Aurora on the Tennessee River, some distance away from where the bridge is to be built.

It would require $111,000,000 to build the dam, which would be a power dam, and it would have to be in a few years because $30,000,000 dam cannot be thrown up as quick as a house of cards. And these believers are quite sure that when the proper time comes the identity of the Southern Industries and Utilities Company and the men or other companies behind it will be made known.

HOYT LAMB BEGINS 2-YEAR SENTENCE

Calloway Man Convicted Saturday of Involuntary Manslaughter in Frankfort Trial

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 28.—Hoyt E. Lamb, former State Game Warden, late last night started serving a two-year jail sentence received in Franklin Circuit Court for killing 6-year-old Winifred Hoover at Hawk's Nest, on Elkhorn, in this county, last June. It took twelve men from Bourbon County more than eight hours to reach a verdict. When they first went out one wanted to give him life, eight wanted to give him two to twenty-one years, and three voted to let him go free.

After five hours, they reported a deadlock, but Judge T. B. McGrew asked them to work longer. Earlier the jury asked for Lamb's pistol. A limb, attorney objected. Sheriff Murray Barker took word from Judge McGrew to the jury that it could not see the pistol.

Jury wanted to know why, and Mr. Barker said "The defense objects." Thereupon Victor Bradley and Polk South, Jr., counsel for the defendant, declared Lamb's rights had been prejudged.

They asked for a mistrial, and continuance of the case. Judge McGrew overruled the motion, but that actually they were casting half a vote against their party.

Judge Logan was introduced as a sincere friend of the common people, without money to buy elections, but seeking to serve faithfully and honestly for the best interest of the people.

The Democratic standard bearer took the Republican incumbent sharply to task for his demagoguery and diffidence and stated that he had challenged him to a debate on the issues of the campaign. FINAL POOL CHECKS COUNTY RECEIVES

Farmer Makes Statement Concerning Last Distribution of Funds

Tobacco growers in Calloway county, members of the old Dark Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association, received checks last week.

The money is from the reserve funds which accrued during the operation of the tobacco association. The amount of the checks ranges from a few cents to several dollars.

Reuben P. Farmer, Hopkinsville, secretary-treasurer of the tobacco pool, has explained that the money was not a dividend, but a cash accumulated during the years the tobacco organization functioned in the dark field belt. The checks are payment for the amount deducted for purchase of warehouses in the final settlements for tobacco delivered made prior to January 1, 1930.

The deduction made in these settlements was on the basis of 50 cents a hundred pounds, which was in excess of the amount necessary to pay for the warehouse property in the warehousing operation of the tobacco pool.

Mr. Farmer added that in determining the amount due each grower from the reserve funds, calculations were based on the amount of money, which had been previously paid on the entire crop and in the same method used in creating the fund. The refund on warehouse deductions was made on hundred pound basis.

Only the crops and types, which contributed to these funds, participate in this distribution. The checks are payment for the grower's interest in the final liquidation of the affairs of the tobacco pool. The settlement has been approved by the U. S. district court, Farmer said.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 22.—The Highway Commission announced today that they would reject the offer of a group of Washington promoters to build a power dam on the Tennessee River, a non-existence of power dam, for a non-existence of power dam.

Murray Tigers Hold Powerful Providence Eleven Scoreless; Meet McKenzie Friday

A much improved bend of football warriors, clad in the gold and black of Murray high school, faced up to their name of "Tigers" Friday afternoon at Providence when they held the mine bombers to a scoreless tie in a bitterly fought game. If Coach Holland's aggregation was intimidated at all by the many disorders which have attended Providence during the past few weeks they gave no indication whatever on the football field. They tore at the Providence line as if the foe was a heap of milk-fed babies instead of a residence of a town which has been sporting iron, blood and bullets with a red flag called the pole.

The Providence team, which is heavy and experienced, defeated the locals 25 to 0 during the 1929 season and expected to have another fight to their belt. The Tigers fought with such vim and vigor that they were able to hold down their backs when the teams played one another around in the middle of the field. "Providence" was a "Providence" and "Murray" was a "Murray" and the game was a "Murray" and "Providence" game.

Most of the time was spent by the teams playing one another around in the middle of the field. "Providence" was a "Providence" and "Murray" was a "Murray" and the game was a "Murray" and "Providence" game.

FRESHMEN DOWN MAYFIELD 13-6

Murray Yearlings Win First Victory in History of Club.

The Murray State Teachers College Freshmen downed the Mayfield Cardinals by a score of 13-6 to win the first game ever won by Murray over the Graves county team. The game was played at Mayfield, Friday, September 26.

Late in the first quarter, after a series of gains through the May- field line, Shaw, Tennessee half- back, went over left tackle for the first touchdown of the game. The try for point failed and the quar- ter ended with Murray leading 6-0.

Mayfield's only touchdown came in the second quarter. Dur- ing the first half, the Cardinals made repeated gains, crushing the Murray line. The half ended 6-6.

Opening the second half with a rush the young Thoroughbreds, coached by John Miller, formed a defensive wall through which the Cardinals could not break.

Murray's second touchdown came in the last period, when a pass to King and a 15-yard run earned the goal line. Allen's try for point failed. The score, Murray 13, Mayfield 6.

During the last quarter May- field threatened with numerous passes, but could not smash through to tie the score.

Bryant, fullback from Missouri, intercepted a pass and dashed 90 yards for a touchdown, which was ruled out because of clipping. Murray took a 25 yard penalty.

Allen, Murray quarterback, was commented on by spectators as being one of the shrewdest quar- terbacks ever to play on the May- field field.

Thoroughbreds showed up well in the Mayfield line. The line up follows: Murray: rg, Lader; rt, Thompson; rg, Miller; c, Hina; lg, Grimes; lt, Yarbrough; le, Rahm; qb, Allen; rh, Shaw; ul, King; fb, Bryant.

STICKY GUMMY VALVES

CAUSE INCREASED GASOLINE CONSUMPTION

use

KOOLMOTOR GASOLINE

HARMFUL GUM HAS BEEN REMOVED

Recent tests show that as much as 20% to 30% of unburned gasoline blows out through the exhaust—unused and wasted—when valves do not function perfectly.

Excessive gum in gasoline causes faulty valve action—brings about delayed seating and, in some cases, complete sticking of intake valves.

Koolmotor—the original high test, anti-knock green gas—is free from harmful gum. It keeps your valves clean and free moving—always at their best. Extra care and extra refining, known as the special Cities Service mini-gum process, reduces the gum content in Koolmotor Gasoline to a harmless minimum.

When this thoroughbred of motor fuels reaches your car it is powerful and clean burning—your protection against high fuel consumption and the expense of sticky valves.

Keep your engine clean and powerful by keeping your tank full of Koolmotor—the gas that is free from harmful gum.
