FULTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1937

NUMBER FORTY-SEVEN

FINANCIAL STATEMENT MADE FOR FULTON

An audit of the books and records of the city of Fulton has just been completed by Taylor E. Kress, certified public accountant of Memphis, in which indicates that the position of the city is practically unchanged since the audit of two years ago.

Current assets, including cash in bank in sinking funds, notes receivable and delinquent taxes, $37,133.78; with current liabilities aggregating $23,841.49. The bonded indebtedness is $4,000 greater than two years ago, and property accounts have increased $37,000 during this period.

The reports showed a gross income for thirteen months, from November 25, 1935, to January 1, 1937, amounted to $62,092.79; while the gross income for the eleven month period from January 1, 1937, to December 1, 1937, amounted to $55,210.30 or a total of $117,303.00 for the two year period. This shows an annual increase in gross income of approximately $3,000, over the previous yearly income. This increase is accounted for by an increase in revenue from the water department, and an increase in privilege licenses.

Expenses of operating the city have not materially changed except as to the cost of operating the water works, which has increased from $1,600 for an eleven months period in 1935, to a $18,700 cost for an eleven months period in 1937. The audit stated that although fines and costs collected here are fifty per cent lower than other cities of similar population, the records are well kept. All accounts and records of the city were in excellent condition, the report said.

Work Starts On New Diesel Plant By City

Construction of the new brick building to house the new diesel plant here is now complete, and installation of the engines has started. B. W. Stoddard, engineer of the Fairbanks-Morse Company, St. Louis, Mo., arrived in Fulton last week to direct the installation of the diesel plant, and instruct local employees on the operation of the engines.

When ready for operation, the diesel plant will provide current to light the whiteway, streets lights in the business district and furnish power to pump water at the city water works.

Burglars Pay Visit To Fulton Stores

Entrance to the Graham Furniture Company was gained by burglars last Friday night by breaking the glass in the front door, and by reaching through the hole to unlock the door. Several articles of furniture, including two table model radios, a leather suitcase, were stolen.

An attempt was made to break into the Boaz and Hester Grocery on Main street but the thieves must have been frightened away as they used a saw on the front door to effect entrance.

New Building Being Erected For Armour

Construction work on a new brick building for Armour & Company started this week, and it will be used as a cream receiving station. The building is being erected by R. H. Wade on Plan-st at a cost of approximately $2,000. It is expected that work will be completed in about two months.

Armour & Company at present have a receiving station on Plain-st between Main-st and State Line. Increased business has necessitated a large and more modern location, Mr. Francis, local manager states.

Mrs. Presley Campbell and little son were dismissed from the Fulton hospital Friday and carried to their home by Winstead-Jones ambulance service.

W. KY. JOURNEY AT MADISONVILLE

Western Kentucky Conference will hold a basketball tournament at Madisonville this year, the second or third week in February, according to J. O. Lewis of this city who is on the committee to arrange the tourney.

The conference has been divided into two divisions, a western division composed of Fulton, Mayfield, Marion, Murray, Paducah, Princeton, Clay and Dawson Springs; an eastern section comprised of Sturgis, Morganfield, Providence, Madisonville, Henderson, Owensboro, Bowling Green, Central City and Hopkinsville.

Two teams will be chosen from each division and these teams will meet at Madisonville for the championship.

DEATHS

MRS. MYRTLE SANDERS

Mrs. Myrtle Sanders, wife of J. B. Sanders, died Friday, December 17, at her home near Beclerton, Ky. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at Macedonia, Tenn. with burial in a cemetery there. Hornbeak Funeral Directors were in charge of the funeral.

Besides her husband Mrs. Sanders is survived by three sons.

MRS. ADDIE MURRAY

Mrs. Addie Murray passed away Saturday night, December 18, at her home in Riceville. Funeral services were conducted Sunday at the home with the Father Safer of Mayfield officiating. Burial followed in the Palestine cemetery in charge of Hornbeak Funeral Company.

Mrs. Murray was a very faithful member of the St. Edwards Catholic Church and will be missed by a wide circle of friends.

MRS. ESTHER JOHNSON

Mrs. Esther Johnson died suddenly Saturday night, December 18, at her country home on the Martin highway. Mrs. Johnson, age 59, has been in ill health for the past several years, suffering high blood pressure. Her sudden death was due to a stroke of paralysis.

Mrs. Johnson, wife of J. J. Johnson of the Railway Express Agency here, was born and reared in Weakley County, Tenn. and came to Fulton to make her home about forty years ago. In 1896 she was married to J. J. Johnson to which union no children were born. She was a member of the First Christian Church and was also a member of the Forest Woodmen Circle.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, December 21, at Knob Creek Christian Church at eleven o'clock and conducted by the Rev. C. W. Lipsey, pastor of the First Christian Church of Union City, Tenn. Burial followed in the church cemetery in charge of Winstead-Jones Funeral Company.

Besides her husband she leaves three brothers; Jessie Vincent of Duketown, Tenn., Charles Vincent of Austin Springs, Tenn., and John Vincent of Old Bethel, Ky.; and two sisters, Mrs. Rufus Larry of Graves County and Mrs. Laura Bynum of Akron, Ohio.

MRS. LOTTIE STEPHENS

Mrs. Lottie Stephens, wife of Will Stephens, died at Madisonville Ky., Monday of an heart attack, following an extended illness of stomach disorder. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon from Hornbeak Funeral Home by Rev. E. R. Ladd, with interment following in the Greenlea cemetery.

Mrs. Stephens formerly resided in this city, but left here in 1928 to make her home in Earlington, Ky. While here she was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, and at the time of her death was a member of the First Christian Church of Earlington. She had many friends in this community.

She is survived by her husband, Will Stephens; one daughter, Martha Betty; one son Billy; two brothers, E. A. Byrd of Rives and B.

South Fulton Continues To Win In Basketball

South Fulton continued to win in basketball the past week, as both boys and girls teams defeated the visiting Obion squads. The Red Devils won 46 to 28 and the Angels won 42 to 13 in a doubleheader here last Friday night with Obion.

The Southside teams journeyed to Union City Monday night, where they took another doubleheader. The girls team defeated the Union City lassies 46 to 16, while the boys won 30 to 25.

Continuing their march to victory, both teams annexed wins at Mason Hall Friday night, boys winning 35 to 8 and the girls 36 to 26, with several regular players out due to illness. It was the 11th consecutive victory for the powerful quintet.

This year, the boys have made a total of 460 points in 13 games with an average of 35 points per game. Jolley, ace scorer for the Devils, has made 115 points and Omar has totaled 95 and has not seen service in many quarters.

M. Byrd of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; one sister, Mrs. Eula Blankenship of Jonesboro, Ark.

MRS. ELIZABETH K. WILLIAMS

Mrs. Elizabeth K. Williams, age 80, passed quietly away Sunday night, December 18, about 9:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. K. Tyler, on West-st. A sudden heart attack caused her death.

Mrs. Wilms was born in Fulton County near Cayce, Ky. At the death of her husband, J. W. Williams, a prominent farmer to whom she was married in 1876, she came to Fulton to make her home with Mrs. Tyler about ten years ago. She was a very faithful member of the Ebenezer Church and a very active member of that missionary society.

She leaves two children, one daughter, Mrs. Tyler of Fulton; and one son, Clarence Williams of Fulton; one brother, Henry Campbell of Cayce, Ky.; and three grandchildren, Helen Tyler, Murrell Williams and Mrs. W. R. Burns of Nashville, Tenn.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. W. A. Baker at the Ebenezer Church Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock. Interment followed in the church cemetery in charge of Hornbeak Funeral Company.

Palbearers were: J. R. Wade, Thad Verhine, Roy Wade, Wesley Campbell, Wallace Koonce and Shelby Wiles.

Mrs. Phillip Fenwick and little son, Patrick Phillip, of Chicago are expected this week end to spend Christmas at the home of Mrs. Fenwick's mother, Mrs. Maude Hummell on West State Line.

SOCIETY

W. C. T. U. HOLDS MEETING FRIDAY

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Fulton held its meeting last week-end at the home of Mrs. Luke Mooneyham on Arch-st. A good attendance was had and in the absence of the president Mrs. Sebra Evans presided over the meeting.

The meeting was opened with a song, "Peace and Friendliness Forever," in keeping with the program on "Peace." A very interesting devotional was given by Mrs. Ed Bondurant followed with prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Ben Gholson, and a financial report was given. The treasurer reported that seventeen members have paid dues for the new year.

A short talk was made by the evangelistic superintendent who urged all members to visit the shut-ins of Fulton during the Christmas season. The literature chairman, Mrs. G. C. Wells, made a report and stated that about seven hundred leaflets have been distributed. A discussion was held concerning the road signs recently posted by this organization which travelers are asked to observe closely. The Flower Mission chairman also made a report. Plans were completed for the essay contests in the seventh and eighth grades which is being sponsored by his group. Prizes will be awarded writers of the best essays.

At the conclusion of the business a very interesting program was presented. Mrs. Lon Berninger gave an article on "Making the Christmas Lesson Live," and "Christmas for All Mankind" was given by Mrs. Lee Myrick.

LIQUOR WHOLESALERS FACE TRIAL JANUARY 4

C. & G. Distributing Company and the Fulton Distributing Company, charged with eight violations of the state liquor laws, will face trial before the state alcohol control board at Frankfort on January 4th.

These wholesale liquor firms are charged with failure to pay the state tax, but they contend that certain shipments of whiskey were intended for sale outside the state of Kentucky and not subject to the state tax.

These firms were faced with the same charges last year, but their cases were dismissed.

Bulldogs Edge Out Pilot Oak Team

As a result of what appeared to be a miracle performed by Coach Jack Carter, the Fulton Bulldogs defeated the Pilot Oak Regional Champions Monday night at the Science Hall by the score of 22-21. In the first quarter the Pilot Oak team took an early eight point lead which was held only for a few minutes and the half ended in a tie, 11-11. The entire last half was a thrilling exhibition of goal shooting with each team sinking shots from all angles of the court and alternating the lead.

Jack Parker, the Fulton center and captain, was declared hero of the game when in the last five seconds of play his spin shot was successful to tie the score. As Parker was in the act of shooting he was fouled by Finley, left guard and at the same time the final whistle blew. Parker then was successful in shooting the foul shot which won the game for the Bulldogs. Billy Williams, right guard, was high point man for the Fulton five with eight points while Wray, a six-footer at right guard, led the Pilot Oak scoring with 11 points.

GREETINGS—Friendship and friendliness in business, as well as in our personal lives, makes life sweeter, more wholesome, more thoroughly enjoyable.

That's why we like to feel there is a spirit of friendliness, yes, even friendship underlying each business transaction.

And while we give voice to words of thanks and appreciation regularly throughout the year, there comes a time when such expressions are much more significant... and that time is Christmas time.

It is then that we view the old year in retrospect. It is then that we realize how empty, how colorless, how barren life would be without its friendships. It is then that we realize how very much we rely upon our customers, whose friendship makes possible our fuller enjoyment of life.

So to you, we say thank you this Christmas time. May your Christmas be made merry, and your New Year happy and prosperous.

CLUB THURSDAY NIGHT WITH MISS EULA ROGERS

Miss Eula Rogers was hostess to her bridge club Thursday night at her home on Central Avenue when she entertained the usual three tables of club members.

The home was beautifully decorated with holly, mistletoe and an attractive Christmas tree. The motif was also carried out in the tallies, prizes, and refreshments.

At the conclusion of serial games of progressive bridge high score for the evening was held by Miss Tommie Nell Gates who received a lovely luncheon set as prize. Miss Lily B. Allen was presented lingerie as low score prize.

The hostess served a party plate.

The club will be entertained by Miss Bessie Jones at its next meeting.

SEW AND SO CLUB

Eight members attended the meeting of the Sew and So Club which was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. E. Bard on Second street. One new member, Mrs. L. P. Carney and one visitor, Mrs. V. Vogelie, were also present.

Games, sewing and bingo was the entertainment throughout the afternoon and at the conclusion of the bingo games prizes were presented to Mesdames Kenneth Watt, LeRoy Cannon, and Dave Holloway.

Mrs. Bard served delightful refreshments.

The next meeting of this club will be held at the home of Mrs. Cannon this week end.

ATTEND GRADUATION

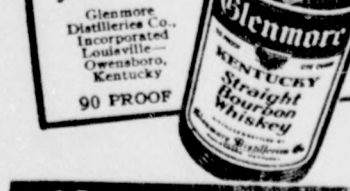

Miss Agatha Gayloe, Mrs. James Robertson, Miss Martha Sue Robertson and Walter Veolpel spent Friday and Saturday in Nashville, Tenn., where they attended the graduation exercises of the Gupton-Jones Embalming School. Mr. James Robertson is a member of the graduating class.

Whiskers

What is so funny about whiskers?

They are as natural as hair or finger nails, but to this generation they are practically unknown. Even Van Dyke beards and skimp mustaches as they now exist could be left out of account, for they are too small to be classed with the beards we used to know. The term whiskers could be applied only to the hirsute adornment that once marked out a man as a real personage. In those days it was considered an honor to have a long and flowing beard. And all owners of beards had a pardonable pride in their chins and upper lips. Before going to some dress-up occasion, they spent a long time curling or waxing or trimming their beards in order to strike envy into the hearts of others not so blessed with such a rank growth on chin and lip.

First and last all sorts of beards held sway. In one generation the Uncle Sam, or shaving-brush, style was in order. I have seen tintype pictures of young men who were not old enough to vote but with a shaving brush well developed. During the Civil War, judging by Brady's famous pictures, beards formed the chief distinction among men. There were the full and flowing patriarchal variety; the floor-mop type, such as Lincoln and Greeley were; Burnside's—named for the great general; and so on and on. A little later the Prince Imperial, imitative of Napoleon III, came into vogue. The two-gun man of the plains wore a villainous looking mustache. I knew one such fellow, tame as a drugstore cowboy, who could twine his mustache around his ears. A long, drooping mustache, with clean chin and a sombrero hat made a type as distinctive as a clerical collar a flat felt hat, and Burnside made up another. The Van Dyke betokened the college professor-lecturer, who traveled into the remote provinces and scattered culture, or the physician who spent his spare time between calls reading Russian or French novels.

Now there are few beards. Only a few patriarchs cling to the old-time whiskers. At a protracted meeting or Baptist association we sometimes see a few elderly men in the Amen Corner who might have sat for the portraits of one of the major prophets. By watching around courthouses one sometimes discovers that whiskers are not entirely passe. But as an institution they are as far away as Free Silver hats and fascinators. Judging by the Romans, however, we can expect a return of whiskers, probably not soon but at some future date. The busts of famous Romans that have come down to us show that styles like Sir Roger de Coverley's coat, come round and round again. Who knows but that some beardless youngster who reads this may live to wear a beard that would remind us older ones of Longfellow or Bryant?

"The average man has just two objects in life," asserts James Warren "One is to get rich and the other is to get richer."

Irad Bushart is of the opinion that every time the bottom drops out of the stock market a new class is graduated in the School of Experience.

DON'T LET DOWN

Once each year, for a week along in October, this country observes what it calls "Fire Prevention Week" and statistics show that during and immediately following that week there is an actual decline in fire losses. And the purpose of the occasion is forgotten, and up shoot the fire losses again. We imagine if a careful record were kept it would be found this same condition exists around Fulton. At any rate it is worthy of a little thought and a determination on the part of property owners not to let down in their vigilance. This is the year's most dangerous season so far as fires are concerned, a season when the greatest possible care should be used to prevent them and when everyone is on the alert for things which cause them. In other words, every week should be "Fire Prevention Week" with those who value the lives and property of the community and who realize that extreme care is the only thing that can possibly reduce such losses.

In this modern day more than one citizen begins life in an installment-plan cradle and winds up in a partial-payment plan coffin.

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

To each and every resident of Fulton and the community surrounding, we present the season's greetings and our heartiest wishes for a Merry Christmas!

It is our sincere wish that in every heart abounds at this time the peace and happiness and contentment that makes of this the most helpful and inspiring season of the entire year. In each heart we trust there is cause for joy and gladness, and out of each heart we feel sure there comes a kindly and neighborly feeling for all mankind. The Christmas Spirit now finds its way into every corner of the civilized world; into the hovel and the palace alike; into the fastnesses of forest homes and homes set upon the plains; into the hearts of those who possess little of earthly goods and into the hearts of those who possess much. The Christmas Spirit—the greatest leveler of all—now touches the hearts of all mankind alike and kindles therein the beamon light of Hope—a hope that was born beneath the star of Bethlehem almost two thousand years ago; a hope that keeps the eyes of the world turned to the future and the hearts of the world united in prayer of Peace On Earth Good Will Toward Men.

In this, the most beautiful season known to man, there should be found time for every heart to count its blessings and to give thought to their source. The age-old lesson of the lowly birth of the One the Christmas season honors should serve as a solace to those who feel life's burdens heavy upon them. It should lighten the heart and make it glad.

A season of joy and gladness for young hearts, it is likewise a season when old hearts are made young again, when the spirit of childish innocence is restored by memories, the bonds of friendship renewed and the welfare of our neighbors set with new importance. It is a season for renewing our pledge of friendship for those about us; a season for demonstrating by smile and hand-clasp and cheering words our love for those who make up our individual circle of neighbors and friends. It is time for thankfulness that we have it in our power to make those friendships endure.

Out of the East comes once more the light that guides mankind to higher and better things and toward a haven that is more magnificent than anything than anything yet built by hands. We see that light—we know it as the Christmas Spirit. And now as hearts grow mellow beneath it, and are filled with it; as it is scattered abroad through smiles and laughter and gifts and gladness song, we enter the Christmas season with only love and kindness. We find Hope and earthly happiness born anew within us, and a tendered feeling toward those about us. It is this mystic power of the Spirit of Christmas which makes this the most sacred and inspiring holiday of all. It is with this mystic power in our hearts that we repeat the wish uppermost in our hearts—the wish that this will be for you and yours

A Merry Christmas!

THE BIRTH OF JESUS

The story of the birth of Jesus is at least one story that never grows old. Each succeeding generation tells to its children the story of the shepherds in the field and the glory that shone round them as the angel came announcing the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem.

It is a story for children, a story that has above all others emphasized to the world the value of the child and the romance of the newborn Babe.

But it is much more than a story to tell and to teach to children. It is a story for adults, and for those of all ages. It is the story of the birth of a Savior, of the coming into the world of one who revealed divinity in human form, and who brought into the realm of human words and action all that is highest.

It is in Jesus of Nazareth that God and man meet. Human life has revealed nothing higher or better than the life that came into the world with the birth of the Babe in the manger in Bethlehem. The world is not given so much today to speculations concerning Him as it once was. We do not know and we cannot understand our own souls; and much less can we understand the mysteries of this divine being in human form.

There is nothing in His age or environment to account for Him. He comes as the gift of God to man.

He came to tell men of another world of divine relationships of love and kindness; a world of different values where men were not seeking their own ends, but where they were living with a sense of the welfare of all. It was a world that could be realized only as men learned to love one another, and even their enemies.

We do not know much concerning these shepherds, but we do know considerable concerning the lowly men that this Babe, when He had grown to manhood, made apostles of His teaching to the world, and the founders of His Church.

It was to such men whose hearts were pure and simple and attuned to hear divine music that the messenger came on that night in the Judean hills; and the shepherds, His companions and His friends, the who they loved their flocks, journeyed into the town that they might visit the mother and her Babe.

They shared the glory of that new birth into the world; and we, if we are wise, will humble our hearts like these shepherds.

WISDOM AND AGE

An Indian tribe in Idaho has issued a petition for a new chief because its present head, 40-year-old Joe Seltice is declared to be too young to hold the job. "It requires a chief who is at least 60 years old," say the petitioners. "if he is to have the wisdom and experience necessary to lead the rest of us." And yet in this same age and this same country there are industrial concerns who frown on employing men above the average of 45. Think that over and compare it with the petition of the Indians. There is a place in the world for youth, with its fire and ambition, and also for middle-age with its loyalty and mastery of details, and also for old age with its richness of experience, clarity of thought and the wisdom of its council. Age hasn't fared so well in this topsy-turvy world in the past 15 or 20 years. Perhaps if it had been consulted more freely a lot of things would not be in such a mess as we now find them.

A NOTE OF CHEER

There has been no more cheering note during this glad holiday season than that sounded a few days ago by the great industrialist, Henry Ford, and we pass it on with the belief that everyone in and around Fulton will appreciate it. "The year 1933 will see a swift upturn in business of every kind," says Ford in a public interview. "The recent slow-down started in Wall street and could only be temporary. Wall street has no more effect on actual business in this

What 128,000,000 Consumers Want

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Recent estimates by the Bureau of the census place our population at approximately 128,000,000.

That includes everyone within the territorial boundaries of the United States. That is the group for which our government is conducted, and by which it is supported. That is the American nation.

How is this huge group faring?

In the one thing that concerns it most—the cost of living—not so well!

From housewives and wage-earners throughout the nation are heard protests against the increasing strains imposed on the family budget; against the deepening dips into the weekly pay envelope required for the necessities of life.

In cases where the family income has remained stationary, the burden entailed is serious. In those rarer instances where income has risen, the benefits of such increase have been offset by the higher costs of food, rent, clothing and equipment essential to life and work.

This is not what our 128,000,000 consumers expect when the politicians promise them better conditions. What they anticipate is not less for their labors, but more.

Neither politicians nor the government—as experience has proved—can fix successfully or directly the cost of commodities. But they can reduce the high cost of living, by cutting the high cost of government—for again, as experience has proved, the two are twins.

A steady climb in the public debt, and a corresponding rise in political payrolls is not the way to lighten either of those burdens. If the government wants to help its people, let it lower its own costs then watch the cost of living fall in unison.

And 128,000,000 consumers will cheer such a program.

country than has the result of a dog race in California. The dollar Wall street deals in is not wealth—wealth consists in the things dollars will buy." He says business men are now confident the government proposes to lend its cooperation in 1933, and that congress will at the present session enact legislation that will justify that confidence. He sees a big year ahead, and every well-thinking American will hope and pray that his prediction comes true.

If they had an elevator running to heaven some old sinners around Fulton would probably argue that riding on an elevator makes them dizzy.

SUBJECTS OF WIDE INTEREST LISTED FOR FARM MEETING

How will social security affect farm people? What is the relation of soil conservation to public welfare? What is the farm credit situation? What about world peace? Is there a national policy for agriculture?

These and many other pressing problems of interest to all people will be discussed by prominent speakers at the 26th annual Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky Jan. 25-28.

On the first day, Dr. Walter C. Lowdermilk, associate chief of the Soil Conservation Service, will speak on "Soil Conservation and Public Welfare," and Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University of Kentucky, will make an address on peace. Rural electrification plans in Kentucky also will be discussed that day.

General James S. Drain of Washington, speaking on Wednesday, will tell farmers what social security will mean to them, and H. R. Toller, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, will speak on "Building a National Policy for Agriculture."

Thursday will be devoted largely to farm credit, speakers including Gov. W. I. Myers of the Farm Credit Administration; John C. Nichols, Lexington, president of Kentucky Bankers' Association, and Shell Smith, Princeton, chairman of the association's commission on agriculture; Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Dr. E. C. Young of Purdue University.

The feature of Friday's program will be an address by Chester C. Davis of the Federal Reserve Board.

John Marshall Rice came to school all last week with a black eye.

The members of the sophomore class regret the loss of one of their classmates, Miriam Wright. She is moving to Water Valley.

Alberteen Harrison is entertaining the senior class with a Christmas party Thursday evening. Every one is looking forward to a delightful time.

The Tigers played Pilot Oak Friday evening. The results was in Pilot Oaks favor.

The school was dismissed Thursday morning for the Christmas holidays. Everyone present enjoyed the program very much.

The country would be better off if all those Americans running over to Egypt to dig for ancient relics would stay at home and dig coal.

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients and you get Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed, and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief that you want. Adv

FARM INVENTORY

WEEK JAN. 3-8

January 3-8 has been designated as "Farm Inventory Week." At that time farmers who believe in business methods make a listing of the amount and value of real estate, tools, livestock, feed and supplies and other property.

The total value of all property less debts give the farmer his net

For Chest Colds

Distressing cold in chest or throat, never safe to neglect, generally eases up when soothing, warming Mustole is applied.

Better than a mustard plaster, Mustole gets action because it's NOT just a salve. It's a "counter-irritant"—stimulating, penetrating, and helpful in drawing out local congestion and pain.

worth, and comparing net worth this year with net worth a year ago reveals whether a farmer is getting ahead or losing ground.

Making an inventory is easy where farmers use a printed form. The account books published by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture provide for an inventory at the beginning and end of the year. Sheh an inventory is the first step in keeping accounts. It is a move toward business methods which lead to greater profits.

It is pointed out by the farm economics department at the College of Agriculture that an inventory forms the basis for the preparation of a credit statement, which is necessary if money is borrowed.

An inventory also contains information indispensable in case of fire, and in the settling of estates.

Service and Dominion

WHEN Christ Jesus, the Way-shower, declared to his ambitious disciples (Luke 22:27): "I am among you as he that serveth," he revealed the essential relationship between service and dominion. Service, on the part of one universally acknowledged to be master, would seem anomalous did not spiritual understanding discern their inseparable nature.

According to the first chapter of Genesis, man, in the image and likeness of God, has dominion—even over all the earth. This declaration of truth, however, remains but an abstract statement until proved by demonstration. In demonstration it soon becomes apparent that the greater the service rendered, and the greater our understanding of the spiritual nature of right service, the more scientific do we prove our spiritual dominion.

The meaning of service became elevated and ennobled recently in the thought of mortal mind under the thought of "servant," found amongst other renderings, "One consecrated to God." Because men are growing into a better understanding of spiritual values, the qualities of love, kindness, usefulness, activity, and service, in short, in these qualities man expresses the divine Principle. The expression of God being one's chief end, it is obvious that whatever the human capacity may be, whether that of father, son, merchant, client, master, or servant, one is endeavoring to practice one's highest conceivable concept of spiritual service.

The history of many Bible characters, presenting illustrations of the inseparability of the spiritual qualities of service and dominion. Of Moses we read (Numbers 12:3): "Now the man Moses was very meek, above all the men which were upon the face of the earth." Yet, who was more active or more useful in true service? And who, in the Old Testament, made a better demonstration in leading, clothing, and feeding God's people than he? Moses served and proved his dominion, because he discerned that true power lies in the reflection of spiritual qualities, including humility, which perceives activity to be in divine Principle.

The Way-shower himself, because he was meek and lowly? And did he not specifically promise that service, as he served, would bring rest and dominion? Because he knew no selfhood apart from God, his service consisted of the continual reflection of spiritual being, full, active, unceasing, ideal!

In Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures (p. 1) Mary Baker Eddy writes, "Prayer, watching, and working, combined with self-immolation, are God's gracious means for accomplishing whatever has been successfully done for the Christianization and health of mankind." So clear to her was the revelation of the almighty of Spirit, and of man as God's spiritual expression, that she was led to use the term "self-immolation" to indicate the path which leads through service to dominion.

Our goal is to fulfill the command of the Way-shower in preaching the gospel, casting out demons, cleansing leprous thought, and doing today the wonderful things he accomplished. Such may be achieved only through first proving in experience the perfection of God and man. Devotion is service in its truest sense. It consists of the hourly elimination from thought of the material, and in proving the superiority of the spiritual. This is the service in which we indeed "by love serve one another."—The Christian Science Monitor.

ON THEIR TOES

What do chain stores contribute to the average American community, economically and socially? That is a vital question far outranking statistically disproved charges of monopoly, low pay, poor goods, and so on and infinitum.

From the economic standpoint, the position of the chains is impregnable. They have introduced

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

NO matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month.

Too often the honeymoon expression wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

scientific merchandising methods that were undreamed of in the open-cracker barrel days of a quarter century ago. They have eliminated waste and inefficiency, have transformed the average grocery store from a drab tobacco spewn meeting hall into an establishment that is the very acme of sanitation and wholesome environment. Moreover, within the past year they have doubly fortified their economic position in the community by means of unified campaigns to dispose of farm commodity surpluses.

Through producer-consumer campaigns, 30,000 chain stores have introduced the consumer to a higher standard of living and have time and again ably staved off glutted markets and depressed prices for the farmer.

From the standpoint of social responsibility to the community, the chains are undeniably on their toes; for the simple reason, if for no other, that without community goodwill, the chains would go out of business over night—they are purely private enterprises wholly at the mercy of the customer's pocket-book. They advertise locally, buy goods of local producers and give fullest cooperation in Community Chest drives, Red Cross activities, etc. Likewise, in all community matters the individual chain store manager is encouraged to act on his own initiative, as a responsible citizen of the community.

In other words, the chains are fully cognizant of their obligation to the American public and are striving mightily to meet that obligation—socially as well as economically.

Almost anyone can be a bread-winner these days, girls, but if he happens to also be a meat-winner, then you'd better grab him.

Don't blame the children for howling. All of us might be doing the same thing if we knew it would get us what we want.

Every Fulton girl has the God-given right to choose a husband, but she should first make sure whose husband she is choosing. Even at the risk of being called old-fashioned, many a Fulton man would like to stretch his feet in a pair of old time congress gaiters.

1938 Soil Building Practices

Farmers that participate in the Agricultural Conservation program in 1938 will be given a goal to meet and this may be met by placing in to practice the following practices:

A. Each acre of the following shall be counted as one acre.

1. Maintaining until after July 1, 1938, a good stand of perennial grasses or perennial or biennial legumes, or mixtures of such grasses and legumes, seeded or established prior to 1938 on cropland on which no soil depleting crop is planted between August 1, 1937 and July 31, 1938.

2. Seeding biennial legumes, orchard grass, or mixtures of timothy or red top and legumes.

3. Seeding winter legumes of growing annual lespedeza.

4. Green manure crops (excluding lespedeza and crops which are counted under item 6 or 7 of this section 6) of which a good stand and good growth is plowed or disced under as green manure.

5. Growing Sudan grass, millet, or annual rye grass, provided a good growth is attained and the crop is not harvested for grain, seed or hay, and such crop is grown on land from which no soil-depleting crop is harvested in 1938.

6. Summer legumes grown alone and not classified as soil depleting.

7. Growing sweet sorghums, provided a good growth is attained, the crop is not pastured or harvested for grain, seed or forage, and such crop is grown on land from which no soil depleting crop is harvested in 1938.

B. Each acre of the following shall be counted as one and one-half acres.

1. Seeding approved domestic or Canadian red clover except in mixtures.

C. Each acre of the following shall be counted as two acres.

1. Seeding perennial legumes; perennial grasses other than timothy, redtop, and orchard grass; or mixtures of legumes and perennial grasses other than timothy and red top.

2. Improving a stand of forest trees under such approved system of farm woodland management as is specified by the regional director.

D. Each acre of the following shall be counted as five acres:

1. Planting forest trees.

E. Each acre of the following shall be counted as one-half acre:

1. Summer legumes not classified as soil-depleting, if interplanted or grown in combination with soil depleting crops.

2. Seeding timothy or redtop.
F. Each of the following practices in the amounts specified shall be counted as one acre.

1. Application of 240 pounds of 20 per cent superphosphate (or its equivalent) to, or in connection with the seeding of perennial or biennial legumes, perennial grasses, winter legumes, lespedeza, cro-talaria or permanent pasture.

2. Application of 200 pounds of 500 per cent muriate of potash (or its equivalent) to, or in connection with the seeding of perennial or biennial legumes, perennial grasses, winter legumes lespedeza, cro-talaria or permanent pasture.

3. Application of 500 pounds of basic slag or rock (including colloidal) phosphate to or in connection with the seeding of, perennial or biennial grasses, winter legumes, lespedeza, cro-talaria or permanent pasture.

4. Construction of 200 feet of standard terrace for which proper outlets are provided.

5. Reseeding depleted pastures with good seed adapted pasture grasses or grasses and legumes—100 pounds of seed.

6. Application of the following quantities of ground limestone or its equivalent when applied at a rate not less than 1000 pounds per acre.

7. Application of 1000 pounds of finely ground limestone (at least 90 per cent to pass through a 30 mesh sieve and all finer particles obtained in the grinding process to be included) except to peanuts and commercial vegetables, such limestone to be applied at the rate of not less than 500 pounds, not more than 1000 pounds per acre.

● SPARKS of WISDOM

Christmas turkeys are plumper this year than usual, but that does not mean a thing to the Fulton boy who has to be content with the neck or a wing.

Maybe the reason why justice is blind is because she has been socked in the eye so often.

You can safely get there will always be something to reform so long as we have professional reformers at fat salaries.

Another trouble is that too many people around Fulton refuse to do their good deeds for the day unless there are a lot of other people looking.

We are told that the 1938 model cars are so perfect that even a fool can drive them. And a lot of fools probably will.

Capitol Comments

"Something has to be done about these roadhouses and wayside whiskey dispensaries which mushroom up and dot every highway and byway in this old Commonwealth," so says the State's Legislative Council which will be remembered as that body of senators, representatives and citizens which meets, peruses the people's needs and makes recommendations to the General Assembly. So saying, the Council has worn its cuticle back to its elbow, scratching its collective head in an effort to figure some sort of sensible legislation which will eradicate these places where hard liquor flows in reckless abandon. Any law that is recommended meets with the approval of most of the distillers that make loco lotion. These distillers can see into the future. If the good citizens of the communities become offended at roadhouses in their neighborhood they will naturally lay the offense to whiskey and whiskey is made by distillers and distillers for the most part, are making money. Roadhouses remote from police protection must go says the council. Kentucky tobacco farmers who are not satisfied with the prices of their weed on the market could wait until they feel that prices will be better and still get money in their crops. An amendment to the farm bill was offered by Senator Mills Logan of Kentucky and the Senate passed the amendment which would permit farmers to withhold surplus burley and fire cured tobacco from the market and procure Government loans on any portion of the crop withheld.

Governor Chandler declared to the Legislative Council that he did not feel that the State, at this time, could spare the money for an increase in the scholastic per capita or for teachers' retirement. He pointed out that the school children were now getting $12 per child, which is one of the highest per capita in the United States.

Furthermore, the Governor took a stand against the freeing of toll bridges at present. He said it "would be a fatal mistake to take three and a half millions in Highway Department fund to free the toll bridges at present. The revenues from the bridges are sufficient to pay the bridges out under the toll bridge act and I believe that it is best to leave the bridges alone for the time being."

SEVEN ESSENTIALS FOR HIGHWAY SAFETY

At its recent annual Congress, the National Safety Council reaffirmed its declaration of war on accidents, and asked for:

1. More and better uniform traffic laws, especially in the matters of standard signs and signals and drivers' licensing requirements.

2. Stricter, fairer and more intelligent enforcement.

3. Efficient safety organizations in every state, county and community.

4. More and better traffic engineering, resulting in safer highways.

5. Periodic inspection of all motor vehicles by properly equipped stations operated or closely supervised by state or city.

6. Intelligent safety instruction in all schools.

7. More research into the physical causes and preventatives of accidents.

Here is the way to make our streets and highways—which are today more dangerous than a battlefield—safe. There is no royal road to safety, but neither is there any mystery about it. Good drivers, operating good cars, under proper regulations, on well designed arteries aren't likely to cause death, injury or property damage. The reckless incompetent or drunken motorist; the mechanically defective automobile; the highway which is structurally years behind the times—these are the tripartite that are collectively responsible for the annual traffic massacre of 30,000 Americans. And of the three, the first is definitely the greatest menace.

The National Safety Council, out of its wealth of experience, has proposed a long range program that should be put into effect without delay, and should receive the enthusiastic cooperation not only of state and city governments, but of the entire motoring population as well.

PROSPEROUS RAILROADS MEAN A PROSPEROUS AMERICA

Prosperous railroads are essential to a prosperous America. They mean stable employment, substantial tax payments, real contributions to business—benefits that are spread throughout every state and every county in the Union.

Under normal conditions, the railroads buy and consume 23 per cent of all the bituminous coal mined in this country; 19 per cent of our entire production of fuel oil; 17 per cent of all the iron and steel produced, and 20 per cent of all the timber cut in the United States. Railroad purchasing involves more than 70,000 different items.

Today the railroads are definitely not prosperous. Why? Because since 1932 the cost of commodities the railroads must buy has gone up approximately 40 per cent. Taxes are approximately 25 per cent higher. Wages have risen about 18 per cent. And at the same time, their rates have gone down to the point where the revenue for hauling a ton of freight one mile, averages less than one cent, and the carrying of a passenger one mile, less than two cents. The margin between railroad income and railroad outgo is so perilously thin that the future operation of the industry as a self-supporting, tax-paying, economical and efficient contributor to the national prosperity is in danger.

So the railroads have applied for a general 15 per cent increase in their rates. That increase, in the view of their increased costs, is extremely moderate. It will impose no difficult burdens on industry or on agriculture. And it will, if granted, dissipate the hazard of public ownership of the railroads being forced upon already overburdened taxpayers, and will guarantee the continued betterment of the finest transportation system the world has ever seen.

If they keep on making scientific studies of farm life it won't be long until most any farmer around Fulton can make a living while still wearing a necktie.

Breaded Veal Chops—Place six lean veal chops in stew pan, add two slices of onion, 4 slices of carrot, 4 peppercorns and 2 cloves; cover with boiling water and simmer until tender. Drain, dredge with seasoned flour; dip in beaten egg diluted with 1 tablespoon milk, cover with fine dry bread crumbs, brown on both sides in hot fat, place on heated platter and surround with macaroni.

The Clothes Closet

Spots may be removed from felt hats by rubbing them with sandpaper. . . . To wash chamois gloves add a few drops of olive oil to the water and that will keep them pliable and soft. . . . Use brown or blue paper when wrapping garments to be stored. The chloride of lime in white paper will destroy the color of the garment, causing it to yellow.

Kitchen Kinks

A strip of leather tacked on the kitchen table is handy for holding knives. . . . A greasy stove should be wiped with newspapers while still hot. Wash the stove with vinegar before polishing. . . . When applying a new oilcloth cover for the square kitchen table put squares of adhesive tape as reinforcements on the under side where the cloth bends at the corners.

The Family Doctor

Should a person's clothing catch fire he should wrap himself in a rug or blanket and roll on the floor. Flames ascend, and by lying on the floor the face and arms will be less likely to be disfigured and the flames will be more easily extinguished.

The Sewing Room

When sewing shoulder straps to underwear place the front straps about an inch closer together than those on the back. This keeps them from slipping off the shoulder. If shoulder straps are dipped in hot starch they will not roll. Attach a tape about two inches long and having the cut ends clasped together to the shoulder seams of each dress. When dress is worn the shoulder straps of underwear may be held up on the shoulder by slipping the small tape around the straps.
