Our apologies to our good and faithful Austin Springs correspondent, Mrs. Carey Fields for the mixups in the composition of her column last week. It was our fault, folks.

Note to another correspondent: We left out your little item this week about "Miss" is still looking for a husband. She is 22 and wants to get married." However, if anyone else should send in the same information about a young man her age, we'll arrange for an introduction.

A Hindu student who didn't know the difference between "hide" and "skin" is said to have met a beautiful lady at a church supper and complimented her on her lovely hide. For some reason unknown to him, she did not seem to appreciate the compliment. Later, when the old hymn, "Hide Me, O Lord, Hide Me," was sung, the Indian student, not forgetting his former slip, sang out loudly, "Skin me, O Lord, skin me!"

We are indebted to R. L. McNatt, that good ole gent from Duketown for the special edition of the Miami paper he sent showing ten pages of news and pictures of the American Legion Convention. Mac greets you posted whenever he takes an interesting trip and we are grateful.

We don't know how the fishing is down at Reelfoot these days, but in other respects the old lake is providing a hot time in fact three of 'em.

A few weeks ago the T. J. English dining room at Bluebank was destroyed in a midnight fire; followed in a few days by the destruction of the "21 Club," a night spot; last week the Reelfoot Camp dining room, down by the spillway, went up in smoke.

This modern youth! Little Eugenia Martin Harris, precocious granddaughter of the L. O. Bradford's feels a great protection for those of us past the teenage. Her grandmother had been helping her with her spelling of evenings. Whatever her little mind was thinking while studying, she was certainly an apt pupil. How apt we'll tell you. On returning home Mrs. Bradford asked how she got along with the spelling. "Fine," said she. "Well, did you tell the teacher I helped you with them," the proud grandmother asked. "No," said little miss quiz kid, "I didn't want her to know that you studied with me because you didn't know those words."

A check of the signatures on his new tourist register one day last week revealed that in one hour and forty-five minutes he had served people from 15 states, Hugh Fly, manager of Smith's Cafe, reports.

When you see the White House in Washington, you think it's one of the nicest residences you've ever seen . . . and it is. But the experts, who were called in for a little survey work this Fall, found a "lot of little things" wrong, such as bricks put together with lime and sand and no cement, so they're going to have a little light remodeling job. The cost? One million, six hundred and fifty thousand dollars. It's an interesting thing to note that the basic structure of the 4-story Coliseum in Rome, put together with no mortar at all, is still sturdy after 1,710 years . . . and with no repairs at all.

Reminds us of the time we were pricing hand-carved miniatures in Manila chinatown. "What do you care how much they cost," the store-keeper laughed, "you Americans have plenty of money."

THE NEWS is always anxious to add new country correspondents in communities that do not have them. We furnish free supplies when they are requested. If your community does not have a NEWS correspondent, you might be surprised at the amount of good fellowship that can be built up with a regular column of happenings every week.

Gregory Mentioned To Succeed Barkley

The resignation of Alben Barkley as Kentucky's senior Senator next January 20th when he will be sworn in as vice-President, has precipitated considerable speculation here as to his successor.

A number of persons, most of them from Kentucky's second district, have been singled out as likely appointees to the post. The following story from the Washington side of the picture was clipped from the "Memphis papers" this week and gives another possible slant to the forthcoming line-up:

Representative Noble Gregory (D.) of Mayfield is in line for the appointment to succeed Senator Barkley (D. Ky.) when the latter becomes vice president Jan. 20, according to Capital friends of Mr. Gregory.

"The appointment will be made by Democratic Governor Earle Clements of Kentucky and the man named will serve until the 1950 general election, at which time Mr. Clements is expected to be the Democratic candidate for the full term.

"Mr. Gregory, a Mayfield banker, is a close friend of Governor Clements, with whom he served when the latter was in Congress. Mr. Clements gave up his seat in the House two years ago to make the successful race for governor.

"Representative Chapman (D., Ky.) last week defeated Senator Cooper (R. Ky.) who was seeking re-election. Due to the resignation of Senator Barkley, Mr. Chapman will move up from junior to senior senator after serving less than three weeks."

NUT EXHIBITION AT HICKMAN ON DEC. 1

A Nut Show is being planned for December 1st at the Court House in Hickman, Ky., to be sponsored by the University of Kentucky Extension Service. The Roper Pecan Company of Hickman and Fulton County Farm Bureau.

Farmers in Fulton and adjoining counties will be asked to select a pint of their best pecans, hickory nuts, black walnuts, filberts, hazelnuts and chestnuts to bring to the show. Prizes will be awarded and grafting wood will be taken from two or three trees producing outstanding pecans in this section.

This show is being planned to increase interest in grafting local seedling pecans with improved varieties and to select a few local trees of outstanding value to be used in grafting seedlings. A complete premium list will be published next week.

Seventh Day Adventists Report Great Foreign Mission Program

"The dawn of a new religious day in Europe and Asia has brought about the greatest foreign missions program in the history of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination." Thus stated Elder Loyd C. Strickland, pastor of the Fulton, Seventh-day Adventist Church Sabbath November 6, 1948 in reporting on the church's international council which has just closed in Denver, Colorado.

Voting an overseas budget of approximately nine million dollars, 700 delegates representing every country in the world except Russia heard glowing reports of the rapidly spreading Christian influence in foreign lands.

From Germany came the report that 6,000 baptisms during the past year have brought church membership to nearly 50,000. In India many thousands, including Mohammedan and Brahmin populations previously untouched, are being reached by missionaries and Bible correspondence schools, leaders said.

From the church's founding in 1844 to 1913, the denomination gained 100,000 members. At the present rate of increase, Adventist will add that number of converts in the next four years. Present membership stands at 628,594, delegates were told.

The council voted to continue its rehabilitation program, which has already contributed $7,000,000 to rebuilding hospitals, schools and churches destroyed by war. In addition, church members have contributed approximately ten million dollars to help relieve the suffering of war victims.

Neva Hardin

Miss Neva Hardin, daughter of Mrs. May Hardin of Baton Rouge, La., died at her home there on November 2.

Services were conducted at the Whitnel-Hornbeak Funeral Home last Friday by Rev. W. E. Mischke, with burial in Wesley cemetery at Beelerton.

Besides her mother, Miss Hardin is survived by a brother, Sam, and a nephew, Sam, both of Baton Rouge.

Local IC Employee Is Awarded $25 Prize

B. R. Crider, car repairer helper for the Illinois Central Railroad here, has been awarded first prize of $25 in the I. C.'s Mississippi Division letter writing contest, the railroad announces.

Crider's letter on "Why I Like to work of the Illinois Central Railroad" was judged best in the division local prize winners. The fifty-four other prize-winners throughout the system received a total of $1,245 in cash prizes for their letters on the subject.

LEGION AIDS IN U.S. BOND DRIVE

Spearheaded by the American Legion as part of its program for making America stronger, a special promotion campaign for U. S. Savings Bonds will begin on Armistice Day across the Nation.

Kentucky's goal by the year's end is to increase the number of regular bond buyers on the Payroll Savings Plan by 15,000 and the number of bank depositors on the Bond-a-Month Plan by 1,300, as this state's pro rata share of the national goals of 1,250,000 additional payroll savers and 150,000 more Bond-a-Month buyers. This was announced here today by Norman L. Rocky, State Director for Kentucky. There will be no dollar sales quotas.

Another phase of the campaign is to get farmers to build up their financial reserves by putting away more 1948 crop money in Savings Bonds. In this Mr. Rocky said, the Savings Bonds committees in rural areas will have the aid of the National Retail Farm Equipment Association, whose 18,350 dealer members serve every farming community in the nation.

NEIGHBOURS LEAD 2-WEEK REVIVAL AT 1ST BAPTIST CHURCH

Beginning Sunday, November 14 and continuing two weeks through Sunday November 28, Charles E. and Eleanor M. Neighbour will conduct a revival at the First Baptist Church in Fulton.

The Neighbours title their service "The Old Gospel . . . soundly and sanely presented . . . with an appeal for the days in which we live."

Chas. E. Neighbour is a member of a family of preachers. He has been in evangelistic and Bible teaching work for many years. Has preached practically all over er North America. Has a sound, Biblical message and illustrates his sermons. Sings baritone. Plays the slide trombone. Leads congregational singing in his meetings.

CHARLES E. NEIGHBOUR

Eleanor Mildred Neighbour is a musician extraordinary. She is a finished student of S. Becker von Grabill, who, with Joseph Hoffman, is one of only two pupils of the old master, Anton Rubinstein in America. She has given special instruction to music teachers and church musicians throughout America. Her interpretation of Gospel hymns is unusual and unique. It has been said, "She is the most versatile woman. Gospel musician in America." Her repertoire contains almost innumerable personally-arranged solos.

The marimba with gold resonators she plays was a gift. It is one of the most beautiful and best in America. It is large enough for three persons to play at one time. Marimba playing such as you have never heard and cannot forget.

Mr. and Mrs. Neighbour sing duets.

She is a master organist and has been heard on many radio stations throughout North America.

CAIRO BRIDGE FREED

Following yesterday's Armistice Day celebration at Cairo, Ill., the bridge connection Southern Illinois and Kentucky was opened to free passage for all vehicles.

SYMPATHETIC CITIZENS WILL BUILD THEM A LARGER HOME: The current drive for funds for the Lewis Triplets will provide larger quarters for the seven children and their parents at Harris Station, Tenn. Besides the infant trio, their brothers and sisters (above) include William, 7; Carl, 4; Marie, 2; Lorella, 1; shown with their grandmother, Mrs. Leslie Lewis.

Donkey Ball Tonite: Council Vs. Boosters

Buenas Dias, Amigos!

The South Fulton Booster Club and the South Fulton City Council are in hasty training on their Spanish this week as their respective basketball teams prepare to tangle tonight in a game played from donkey-back.

And the only hitch that a good rider has to overcome is in making the animals understand directions. They understand Spanish only.

The game will be played Friday night (tonight) in the South Fulton High School gym and is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m.

The lineup for the South Fulton City Council will include Virgil Davis, Clyde Fields, Henry Bethel, Finis Yancil, Hugh Barnes, Milton Counce, "Squire" McDade as trainer and english-teacher for the donkeys, and Bob Fowlkes, in charge of the oats department.

The Booster Club's team has been in secret practice and the lineup has not been given out; however it will probably include Chas. Fields, Ray Nabors, Buddy Fortner, Jones Dickerson, Ed Neely, H. E. Rear, Charles Reams and C. R. Williams, to name a few.

Donkey basketball has been making the rounds of all the neighboring communities around Fulton, and has evidently proved to be a hilarious game.

Adios, amigos, we'll be seeing you!

Vocational Guidance Available For Vets

Veterans Administration today reminded World War II veterans in Kentucky that vocational advisement and guidance is available at 6 centers established by VA in cooperation with educational institutions and other agencies.

Advisement and guidance is voluntary for veterans who wish to study or train under the G.I. Bill, but is required for disabled veterans who wish vocational rehabilitation under provisions of Public Law 16.

Purpose of the program is to help veterans explore their interests, needs and abilities, as well as to provide them with information about schools, training and job opportunities.

Veteran's guidance center for this area is located at the Murray State Teachers college at Murray.

YMBC Presents Award To Jimmy Meacham

James "Jimmy" Meacham has been elected the semi-annual "Key" award by the Fulton Young Men's Business Club. The run-off election was held Tuesday evening following a YMBC dinner at Crutchfield.

The Crutchfield Homemakers served their usual fine chicken dinner.

Foad Homra, newly elected president, presided over a short business session following the meal.

Larry Latham was voted into the membership.

Robert Madding

The remains of Pvt. Robert E. Madding, who was killed overseas during the war, will arrive in Fulton this afternoon from the military cemetery at St. Avoird, France.

Pvt. Madding was the son of Mrs. George R. Edwards of the Cayce community.

ROTARIANS DINE AT STRATA CLUB

The Fulton Rotary Club was host to its district governor, E. Murphy Josey, Frankfort, at a dinner given at the Strata Club Tuesday evening.

Following the meal business affairs and committee reports were heard, with much discussion given to proposed activities during the balance of the fiscal year.

Members present included Gordon Baird, Gus Bard, Dr. Glynn and Ward Bushart, Joe Davis, John Earle, Ernest Fall Sr., Tom Franklin, Paul Hornbeak, Clyde Hill, Jr. Arch Huddleston, Jr., Theodore Kramer, Jr. Ira Little, Rev. Walter Mischke, Fred Sawyer, Paul Westpheling, Jr., Bob White, Clyde Williams, Jr., Dr. J. P. Williams, E. E. Williamson and C. M. Townes.

Absent were: Joe Browder, Joe Brown, Leroy Cannon, Happy Hogan, Leon Browder, Rube McKnight, Leslie Weeks and Clyde Williams, Sr.

The club was commended for its high attendance records, which include perfect attendance at three out of the last five meetings.

Owing to a sudden rain and snow storm after the meeting, creating hazardous driving conditions, many members were delayed in returning to Fulton.

C. C. Williams

C. C. (Lum) Williams 87, died last Thursday at his home on Arch street in Fulton, following an illness of several weeks.

Services were conducted at the residence Friday afternoon by Rev. W. E. Mischke, with burial in Greenlea cemetery.

Mr. Williams was preceded in death by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Charles Hester. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Jim Hutcherson, one son, Morton Williams, a granddaughter, Mrs. George Dew, Detroit, a niece, Mrs. Claude Muzzy, now in Tokyo, one brother, John Williams, Hartsell, Iowa; two sisters, Mrs. Bettie Ropers, Forth Worth, Tex.; Mrs. Lillie Richardson, Ponca City, Oklahoma and several other nieces and nephews.

Mack A. Mabry

Mack A. Mabry, 74, a longtime member of the Rush Creek community, died Tuesday morning at the Fulton hospital following a brief illness.

Services were conducted Wednesday at the Rush Creek Methodist church by Rev. L. E. Shaffer, pastor. Burial was in the Hickman cemetery.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Willie Major Mabry, two sons, R. A. of Princeton, Ky., and Donald of Hickman, route 4; three daughters, Mrs. J. C. McClellan, Hickman; Mrs. Paul K. Shaw, Union City, Tenn.; Mrs. George Amerson, Bowling Green, Ky.; a brother, C. E. Mabry, and a sister, Mrs. Eva Kelly, both of Hickman, and seven grandchildren.

W. M. Lee

W. M. (Willie) Lee, 78, a former resident of the Palmersville community, died November 1st in Detroit. His body was returned to the Pisgah Methodist church for services last Friday.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Ed Walters and Mrs. Luther Powell both of Detroit, Mich.; a sister, Mrs. Katie Sullivan, Martin, six grandchildren, two great grandchildren, several nieces and nephews.

A MONUMENTAL WRECK

Last week, down at Greenfield, Tenn., a speeding car went out of control at 70 m.p.h., ploughed into the Greenfield monument works alongside the highway, knocked a one-ton slab of granite 40 feet, jumped up in the air high enough to strike the telephone wires and came to rest upside down.

Four Negroes in the car were injured and rushed to the local hospital. Their car was a total wreck . . . as well as $4000 worth of granite and marble slabs. The occupants were enroute to Brownsville to attend the burial of the driver's father.

Income Shifts To South, West

A pronounced relative movement of income from the New England and Middle Eastern regions to the South and West is reported in the September issue, Survey of Current Business.

The share of the nation's total income payments to individuals received by the New England and Middle Eastern regions declined from 42 percent in 1929 to 35 percent in 1947. During the same period, the proportion of all income received by the Southeast, Southwest, Northwest and Far West increased from 29 percent to 37 percent. The share of the large Central region changed little, from 29
to 28 percent.

For the continental United States as a whole, per capita income payments in 1947 were $1,323, nearly double the average of $680 for 1929. Over this span of years the largest regional gains occurred in the Northwest and Southeast. In each of these regions, per capita income last year was 157 percent above the 1929 average as compared with the 95 percent increase for the nation.

Smallest percentage increases in the per capita income,
as in total income, occurred in the Middle Eastern and New England regions. The Middle East's per capita income dropped from 136 percent of the national average in 1929
to 118 percent in 1947. Despite this substantial decrease, however, the region shared top ranking in per capita income
last year with the Far West.

Big Christmas Ahead

From all appearances, it looks as if the nation's kids are going to get their biggest Christmas stocking in history this year.

Toymakers expect retail sales for the holidays to rise to between $300 and $400 million, at least 20 per cent over 1947.

Continuing high employment and peak wages assure a lively flow of cash for Christmas shopping, and toymakers are out to get their share of it. Materials for the trade are in good supply for the first time since the war, and production is both intense and ingenious.

Electric trains are back in abundance this year, with such refinements as diesel locomotives and stations that announce arrivals and departures. There are a wide variety of new windup toys and some that operate when a long cord is plugged into a regular electric outlet.

Production has been doubled in low priced lines of toys. These include such fascinating things as toy electric shavers, a magnetic head that can be given various faces by sticking on different types of noses and ears, and magnetized jackstraws.

Dolls have reached a new high in realism. One actually "burps" when "burped" like a baby and another blows up a plastic bubble like bubble gum—when its chest is pressed.

Boxcar Boost

The first 100 years were the hardest, apparently, for the railroad equipment industry in building boxcars. For a century it built them in infinite variety to meet the special needs of hundreds of individual roads. Then in mid-1947 it came up with a "ready-to-wear" model which can be truly mass-produced, thanks to interchangeable parts. This all-welded "package" boxcar is the PS-1, designed by Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company. Long, uninterrupted production runs, made possible by the inter-changeability feature, are credited as major factor in greatly easing what for several years had seemed a chronic national boxcar shortage. The company, largest builder of rail equipment, now reports that 40 per cent of all boxcars ordered from contract builders since mid-1947 have been PS-1's. It has delivered 15,400 of them to 308 fifty-car freight trains that could haul 750,000 tons of merchandise. And the hollering about a boxcar shortage has faded to a whisper.

GUESS AGAIN, IT'S NOT A FOOTBALL STADIUM

A farmer harvesting his oat crop, leaves an unusual study in design around an isolated breeding plot of DeKalb Hybrid seed corn in DeKalb County, Illinois. The heavy white lines are oat straw left in swaths by the combine.
The dark green rectangle in the center, is a field of parent inbreds being increased for future hybrid seed production. Inherited corn characteristics are carried from tassels to ears by dust-like pollen grains. Like purebred cattle, parent corn must be kept pure or undesirable off-spring may be produced. To make certain these hybrid corn parents stay pure, they are grown in isolated fields like this one, safe from contamination by any pollen from neighboring cornfields.

Bare Trees

Grace Noll Crowell

SO DELICATELY beautiful,
These bare trees are as lovely quite
As when their boughs were tossed
Or filled with crimson light!

They stand against the winter sky
Revealed in all their fragile grace:
Black ink lines that write God's own
Clear message on blue space.

He does not leave us desolate,
Even these stripped trees, starkly bare,
Hold beauty enough to warm the heart
And melt the icy air.

The Rural Viewpoint

TOWN & FARM ANALYSIS IN THE WASHINGTON NEWS
BY AGRICULTURAL NEWS SERVICE

Russian Soil Plan

AFBF President Allan Kline
last week contradicted Russian claims that no capitalist nation
could hope to match the Soviet's
new 15-year soil conservation program.

"U. S. farmers, with their freedom of education and research,
and assisted by Federal grants-in-aid, have done more in the last few years than the Soviet proposes to do in the next 15,"
Mr. Kline declared.

The record of U. S. farmers proves that greatest conservation can be attained only through a minimum of centralized control, he said.

Mr. Kline added: "This progress is only a beginning. U. S.
farmers can be expected to expand soil conservation practices
as they receive increased education under our democratic system of government."

The AFBF leaders statement
was made shortly after official Soviet announcement of the new Russian plan. Russia intends to promote conservation through tree belts, irrigation reservoirs,
and crop rotation, during the next 15 years.

ITO Report

U. S. ratification of the proposed International Trade Organization is essential to the continued prosperity of farmers
and other groups in this nation.
This is the conclusion of a report on ITO issued last week by a special sub-committee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

"ITO is a step in the right direction of expanding world trade," says the report. "It will not come into being without U. S.
leadership in that direction."

Main purpose of ITO is to help establish a prosperous, peaceful world by promoting maximum trade between nations. The agency's charter calls for reduction of tariffs and other trade barriers.

Its work would closely dove-tail with that of other specialized international agencies created to promote higher world living standards—such as Food and Agriculture Organization, the World Bank, etc.

Success of the European Recovery program depends directly upon establishment and success of ITO, the new report emphasizes. Freer world trade is the key to a permanently rehabilitated Europe.

AFBF supports the proposed
ITO. Federation's top leaders stress that farmers cannot hope to secure lasting world markets
unless we supply dollars to foreign nations by purchasing goods from them.

Foreign markets can help eliminate the danger of another farm depression in this country.

Freight Rates

No emergency exists which justifies any interim action by the Interstate Commerce Commission in granting higher freight rates, AFBF President Allan Kline last week informed the ICC.

On October 1, carriers petitioned ICC for another general increase of 8 percent in freight rates, with certain limited exceptions and maximums. On October 12 they proposed that rates

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

One of my fans has asked me
why I have not written in this column about the influence of the party-line telephone on entertainment and courtship. Well, I have done this very thing in one way or another several times, quite early in this series, but for his benefit and for the younger generation who have grown up
since I started this weekly chat,
I shall review some of the things
I said earlier.

It seems difficult to explain to my freshmen that the radio is a very recent invention, that its widespread use is only about twenty years of age. I recall that in 1927, when Lindbergh
made his famous flight, radios
were so rare in my home town that one of our professors, who owned one was all excited when Lindbergh made a few halting remarks at the conclusion of his epoch-making journey. I happened to be calling on the professor at the time and was properly impressed by the rare new instrument, though I had seen a few some years before that. No one dreamed then that a radio
in every home was almost within sight, that two or three in the average home was not impossible, that one in every hotel room would soon be so common that it would not be necessary
to advertise such a necessity,
any more than boasting about running water in every room.

In my seventeenth year, as I have said before, I helped put up the first telephone line west of Fidelity, a line of the famous Sunriddle Telephone Company. Very rapidly party-line telephones pushed into every neighborhood. So far as our world was concerned, the line on the ridge paralleled to ours and the one up the creek were the most important. We met some of the people on the other ridge
when we went to Fidelity or to Brandon's Mill; we could see some of their houses from our front door, away across Blood River. My two brothers had married up the creek and had lots of new relatives up there to talk to, when necessary or when not necessary. Many of us were not married yet and had courtship in various stages of progress on our line, (the Wilson Line, by the way), or the Panther Creek Line, or the Beechy Fork Line.
It was not always easy to get a way from work in the busiest seasons; the telephone furnished us an easy way of keeping our fences up between Sundays.

When I would ring central, I would hear a dozen receivers click; then when the ring was made on the other line, a similar number of people would listen
in. What could a fellow do with so many listeners? It was as bad
as courting in a Spanish country,
with the girl's parents sitting by.
Naturally, the conversation was rather mechanical, chiefly concerned with the weather and the type of work each of us had been doing. But the tone would have told any acute judge that we were not too much interested in what we were saying; there was a ring in our most trivial remarks that must have made the telephone wires warm.

On the Panther Creek Line
lived Elizabeth—never mind her other name, for she has changed the one she once bore and is a grand-mother many times over by now. Just how it all happened I have forgotten, but in some way I got so that I called her every evening after supper.
After the usual exchange of weather and work
news, with a host of listeners,
I would serenade my girl—and the neighbors with some sentimental stuff played on my French harp. Sometimes I would hear applause along the two lines.
Then Elizabeth would rattle off something on the old square piano or sheezy organ, for her people were wealthy as compared with many of us. She might even sing to her accompaniment
some such songs as "Maggie"
and "Silver Threads Among the Gold." In this way, before Nathan Stubblefield, and Marconi and a lot of fellows invented radio, our little corner of a big world had its preview of what was to become a great national institution. The only queer thing about my performance for Elizabeth and hers for me is that I have never seen her to this day.

If she should ever see this, I would appreciate a letter from her telling how cute her latest grandchild is; I think I could tell some wonderful things about mine.

To be worth anything, character must be capable of standing firm upon its feet in the world of daily work, temptation, and trial.—Smiles.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, November 14, 1948.

The Golden Text is: "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live." (Rom. 8:13).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "God that made the world and all thing therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands. . . For in him we live, and move and have our being." (Acts 17:24,28).

All are welcome to our services.

ON THE MARCH
by Irving Gallows

Compared with the broader and deeper menace to the strength and individuality of the 48 subdivisions of the nation, the recent states' rights flare-up was only an episode which may or may not help the cause of racial tolerance.

The steadily increasing danger to states' rights is neither racial nor sectional. It is what used to be called the pork-barrel evil and is now known as Federal Aid. The term pork barrel was dropped by politicians and the press maybe because it got to be hackneyed but more likely because during the great depression doling out federal funds in fabulous sums to every town, city, county and state that could use it turned out to be good politics.

When communities and states go tuncupping to Washington for money for every conceivable purpose it is easy for them to overlook the fact that every grant of money for anything but strictly federal projects weakens the morale of states and makes beggars of smaller governmental units.

National, state and local politicians like the pork-barrel system, which in general is actually a legalized racket, because it shifts responsibility for taxes to Washington, which is a long way from home. They all figure there is less squawking about high federal taxes than there would be if the revenue were collected by states, counties and cities themselves.

If states and communities stood on their own legs and paid their own way, politicians and local business men would be robbed of opportunities to wangle funds from the Federal government and come back boasting that they brought home the bacon.

Probably worst of all is the effect of the pork barrel evil on the civic and political morale of the people themselves. It makes them feel less responsible to their own states and communities. It makes poorer citizens of them. It does things to their civic self-respect.

Transferring powers to tax and spend from states to Washington is surrounding rights and privileges and centralizing governmental authority at the cost of local self-government. Yes, we are selling states' rights down the river of practical politics.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if the term federal aid could be erased from the lexicon of progress in America and the word OPPORTUNITY be always printed in capital letters?

Let's hope that Kentucky communities will continue to do a better job of providing services for our people and, by so doing, make for a better place in which to live. We should remember that democracy and progress should and must start at home—in our communities.

Letters To The Editor

The Fulton News:
Gentlemen:

A number of people in the rural sections have called the Health Department office recently complaining about being gyped by people operating trucks for pumping out septic tanks.

If the septic tank owner would call or write the Health Department about septic tank operations we would be glad to advise them regarding the care of the tank.

A septic tank owner informed me that an operator of a pumping truck made him a price of $80 to pump out his tank. His answer was, "I will dip it out with a teacup before I will pay such a price." He had it drawn out with pails at a cost of $12.

Another septic tank owner was having trouble with his waste disposal system and called a septic tank cleaner to pump out the tank. He was presented with a bill for $228. After the tank had been pumped out he still had trouble with the bathroom. The trouble was found to be a stoppered-up line between the house and the tanks.

When your septic tank needs cleaning the fluent should be dumped on a field that is to be plowed, or a couple of long furrows should be made with a plow and then covered. Never dump it in a pasture where cows and chickens will have access to the contaminated waste.

A few years ago one person payed $52. for having a sanitary privy pumped out. This is several dollars more than a complete new toilet would cost installed. We do not recommend that privies be pumped out, as the curb box is made of wood and it would be rotten by the time the privy is filled. When the pits are filled to within one foot of the ground level the building should be moved to a new location.

People with cisterns or shallow wells should never let a septic tank cleaner put a hose in their water supply. Cisterns should be emptied by buckets, or by hand or electric pumps.

This is to notify you that we can not be of any help to you after you have had the work done.

HARRY BARRY, Supv. San.

"I Married One"

"JOHN carries a lunch pail five days a week, and he works hard. He's a thrifty kind of man—knows what both sides of his money look like. Like 70,000,000 other Americans we have our own bank account and insurance policies, and part of every pay check goes into one or the other. So we have a stake, directly or indirectly, in a great many American businesses.

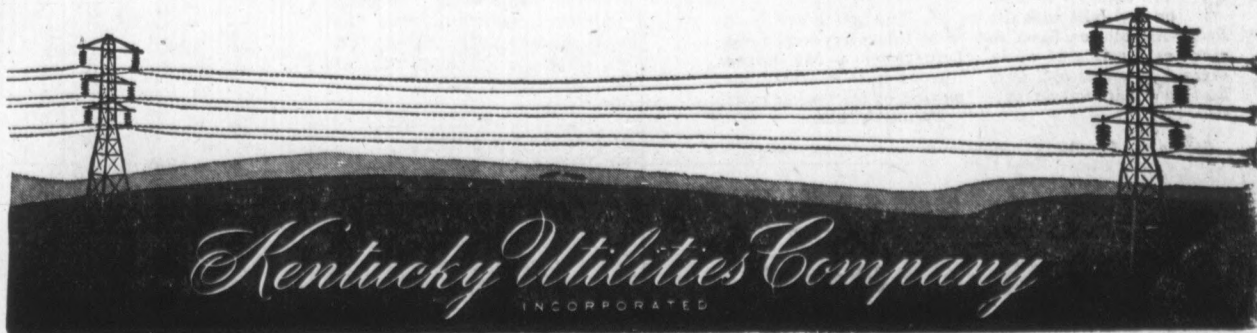

"John's a pretty firm believer in the American system of business enterprise. We own a little stock in the firm John works for. Those few shares make us capitalists—small capitalists, to be sure, but capitalists, none the less. Our little block of stock gives us a slant on how American business works. We can see it work.

"John changed jobs twice before he took this one just before we got married; he claims if nothing else proves the value of our way of doing things, the right to quit a job you don't want for one you do is good enough for him. That and the right to speak his mind.

"He figures he's slated to be the next foreman of his department. And once he's got his mind set on something he's pretty hard to stop. Nobody knows that better than I do.

"I've always said I'm married to a dyed-in-the-wool capitalist."

Silhouettes of folks we've met

When some grammarian of the distant past threw together a few words and came forth with the "weaker sex" as applied to the female gender, he certainly was not thinking of today's woman... and he most assuredly was not thinking of Selwyn Puryear Gifford, mother of four, club president, gracious hostess and a jet-propelled version of the extinct adage that a woman's place is in the home.

The incongruity of this dynamic little woman's life is that her place is in the home, and what's more she does a super-sweet job of wife and mother, but it's in the extracurricular activities of "her day" that one discovers atomic energy.

Along about the time that European nations were talking about a war that was to be later called World War I, a little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Puryear of Paducah. The little lady was called Selwyn and certainly was the darling of that household, for she was the first child and one of only two children born to the Puryears. The other is a younger brother. Shortly after her birth the family moved to Nashville where Selwyn attended grammar and high school and after graduation from high school attended Ward-Belmont college. In the fourth year of her college studies she attended Centenary College at Cleveland, Tenn., where her mother was a student twenty years earlier.

Selwyn was a campus favorite and a Nashville debutante of the early thirties. It was not too long after finishing college that she married and to this union a son, Billy Campbell was born. Things didn't go too well with these two young people after their marriage and in 1934 Selwyn and little Billy came to Fulton to be with her mother. Her father had passed away.

With a young son to rear Selwyn went to work at the Swift plant here and was the efficient secretary to Manager L. N. Gifford.

In 1937 they were married, and Bill says with great admiration for this remarkable little lady, that he married her to get her off the payroll, but besides the great love and devotion he holds for his "betterhalf" it was to transfer that great efficiency to his home that he did. She has not failed him in that respect, for her house hold is managed like a well-run business and the three children remaining at home now, (Billy is in the Navy) reap the rewards of this mother, whose home is one of the happiest gayest places in all of Kentucky.

One time, not too long ago, friends of the couple were on an evening of merriment and thought the best way to end an enjoyable party was to call on Selwyn and Bill. They motored to Fulton and went straight to the residence of this popular couple, and being of late hour, they learned that the household had retired. Seeing the lights out and no sign of the usual gaiety that permeates there, they get back into the car, dejectedly.

Selwyn Puryear Gifford

and fearfully disappointed and remarked "Gifford's is closed."

The happy-go-lucky, care-free, yet methodical Lady Selwyn gives that reputation to Gifford Manor. She loves to give little parties, and takes just as much pleasure in giving larger ones, when the time permits. She is the perfect hostess and yet never fails to be the adoring mother. It does not matter what the occasion, the children get a bedtime story before the Giffords embark on an evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Gifford is president of the Woman's Club and this honor comes to her after long years of faithful work to the organization.

She has been chairman of the library department, chairman of the drama department and has served on numerous special committees. Until recently she was a Sunday School teacher for years, and from 1946 to 1947 was president of the Terry-Norman P.T.A.

She is a Thespian of no mean ability and was the star of many campus productions. She loves to read and cook, but finds little time for the former right now, except in the current magazines.

Mrs. Gifford's charming mother lives with her and it is to her that we are indebted for this silhouette of a lady who personifies the old saying, "good things come in small packages." It's hard to write how really fine are the many characteristics wrapped up in Selwyn Puryear Gifford.

CAYCE SCHOOL NEWS

Cayce Tigers won the second team game from Fulham Friday night by a margin of 34 to 17 but they lost the first team game by a score of 51 to 43. The Tigers also played Trenton, Ky. Saturday night. They won both games. The first team won 48 to 23 and the second team won 28 to 8. Our next game will be with Millburn Friday night, November 12.

The Freshman class gave Peggy Phipps a party honoring her on her birthday. Miss Pauline Waggoner was class sponsor.

The second and third grade have a store and are learning to buy and sell things.

The following students from the fifth and sixth grades have made good grades and received the honor of being on the honor roll for this month: Fifth grade—Roberta Holley, Barbara Bennett and R. B. Searce. Sixth grade—Carole Alexander, Jeanette Johnson and George Jones.

Both grades are working on the unit "Making and Gining Plays." The fifth grade dramatized "Cande Cane" this week. The sixth grade dramatized "Shoes and Socks." Plays will be a part of their Thanksgiving program.

CHIEF MCDADE WARNS DRIVERS

Lax automobile owners who are negligent in the care and maintenance of their cars are the cause of many of Fulton's night time auto accidents, Police Chief Gip McDade declared today.

"Greater safety on the road at night," he said, "is impossible until the careless fellow who thinks he can drive his car with one light on, with faulty misaligned headlamps, poor tires,
and brakes, wakes up to the fact that he is a menace on the road
at night . . . and does something about it."

With longer nights ahead this Fall and Winter which means more night driving, it is more important than ever that motorists give their car lights regular care, Chief McDade said. An improperly directed headlight can blind the driver of an oncoming car in an instant and cause an accident, he said. Tail lights and warning lights are also very necessary accident prevention devices which must be carefully maintained he said.

Chief McDade suggested several important precautions for driving safety at night which all motorists should observe:

1. Check the condition of tires, brakes, and other safety devices
regularly.
2. Give "headlights" regular care. Have them tested and adjusted at least twice a year. Be sure all car lights operate satisfactorily at all times.
3. Always lower lights when meeting another car.

DUKEDOM FOLKS HAVE GREAT TIME VISITING IN CUBA AND FLORIDA

"A good time was had by all,"
Mrs. Mavis Parker of Dukedom reported of her recent trip to Florida and Cuba.

She along with her husband,
Phil, who is an insurance salesman, T. C. Johnson and R. L.
McNatt, also of Dukedom, left home Thursday morning, October 14. They were headed for Miami to attend the American Legion Convention. Their first stop was at St. Augustine, Fla., where they visited the Fountain of Youth; Old Fort, the oldest school in the United States; and the Indian Burial Grounds.

They arrived in Miami on Sunday morning. They heard President Truman and all the many other speakers at the Key Auditorium, and saw the national parade. The four also attended the Drum and Bugle Contest held at the Rose Bowl and a dinner-dance on a boat in the bay.

According to Mrs. Parker, the most exciting day of her trip was on Sunday when she flew to Cuba for a day of sight seeing.

She was accompanied by a lady, whom she met in Miami.
When they alighted from the plane they were greeted by a delegation of Cubans, who gave each Clipper passenger a glass of Cuban rum.

In Florida Mrs. Parker was everwhelmed by that state's "Southern Hospitality." They were given juices, coconuts and oranges at roadside stands all along the way. They were even furnished postage stamps, with which to mail their cards.

On their return trip home, the Parkers, Mr. Johnson and Mr.
McNatt, went sight-seeing at Miami Beach; saw the beautiful singing Bok Tower, which is located out from Tampa; and stopped at Silver Springs. Here they went riding in a glass-bottom boat. The water was so clear that they could see all the different fish and vegetation growing at the bottom.

NO RATE INCREASE FOR KU-MCKNIGHT

An unexpected reduction in the cost of coal together with other favorable operating factors has enabled Kentucky Utilities Company to postpone application of a fuel-cost clause to electric contracts with industrial and commercial customers, Rube
McKnight, KU District Manager
here, announced today.

The Public Service Commission last week granted KU's request to defer addition of the clause which the company
sought earlier.

Mr. McKnight explained, however, the company might be forced to seek a fuel clause later
if operating costs rise or revenues fall.

He listed the other favorable factors as the economies resulting from around-the-clock operation of the recently installed second generator at the Tyrone Power Plant and improved load conditions.

Another factor which entered into KU's decision to drop the fuel clause proposal now was an exceptionally good production
record for the last three months,
the manager added.

OUR favorite JOBS

Soon you'll be gathering all the "fixin's" for that unique American institution—Thanksgiving. Time was when most families grew their own Thanksgiving bounty. But these days the tender turkeys and succulent hams, the golden yams
and pumpkins, the bright red cranberries and rosy-white shrimp come from as many different states. All of these delicacies travel to the dinner tables of Mid-America aboard Illinois Central trains—trains that speed the good things of life to you*swiftly and economically. No job we do gives us railroad people greater pleasure and satisfaction.

This year, as always, we have plenty for which to be thankful. Never before have American agriculture and industry produced such abundance. We are deeply grateful for that abundance and for the

Air Ya Listening?

Well, are you? Naturally we refer to WENK, YOUR station in Union City and the fine shows presented from the station and the facilities of the world's largest network each and every day. Just in case you haven't yet formed the WENK habit as so many of your neighbors have, may we extend a printed invitation to tune in sometime this coming week. I sort of help you out, we'd like to suggest a few shows which we believe you'll find interesting.

Take Saturday for instance. When we say "WENK is your station for sports," we really mean it. Saturday afternoon along about the time the Tennessee Vols and the Ole Miss Rebels begin slugging it out in Memphis, our Volunteer sportscasters, Lindsey Nelson and Jack Britton will be on hand to bring you every thrill of one of the Nation's outstanding grid games. If you were one of those unfortunate thousands who couldn't get tickets, tune in to WENK and hear every exciting moment of the Vols-Ole Miss game. We'll be looking for you at 1:45 p.m.

Last Sunday WENK aired a new program. Miss Carolyn DeMyer from Obion presented a piano collection of musical gems at 1:30. Response from the program so far indicates that you too may enjoy a quiet interlude of piano reveries after Sunday dinner. Why not turn to 12:10 next Sunday and meet Miss DeMyer and her collection of musical gems?

Every station has its request show playing records for its flock of popular music lovers and WENK is no exception. Every afternoon at 4 p.m., Motorman Don Lilly cranks up the Tuneville Trolley and clanks forth from the station with an hour-long cargo of requested platters. Some are hot, some are crazy, some are smooth and once in a while one is semi-classical... and they're all pleasant listening. For that matter so is Handsome Don himself. The tickets for the Tuneville Trolley are sold only at 1240 on your dial and a postcard makes you a pullman reservation on the old Trolley.

For noontime markets and weather, along with farm news, household hints and old time music, WENK suggests you hear the Farm and Home Hour every day at 12 with a couple of country boys-named Will Nunn and Chuck Williams leaning on the fence post and swapping farm talk with their neighbors around the country. Will and Chuck don't guarantee anything for sure, because the dardest things keep happening to them, but they do manage to get the important farm news into their allotted span each day. Sometimes they have guests interesting to farm listeners on the show and that helps.

If we had to choose a WENK program most popular with women listeners, we probably would take Hank Huggins and his Just Neighbors show each morning at 8:45. Hank ambles along in a leisurely fashion with favorite poems, neighborly philosophy and just plain friendly talk for fifteen minutes or so. Hank is a good way to start Friday, or any other day for that matter. And, by the way Friday is a fine day to check your paper for the latest edition of "Air Ya Listening?" Until then, you just keep on listening to WENK.

Dear L. L.

No, you will not move anytime soon. Yes, your husband will stay on the same job as he is on now. Yes, he will get a raise in the near future. No, you will never own your own home. No, you will never have any more children. Yes, you will have a better car. Yes, you will separate, he doesn't care for you as he should, and hasn't for sometime. There is someone else in his life. They do not live here. You and he have had trouble over this girl and you will again. Yes, your sister will marry but she will not marry the boy she is now going with. The only trouble you have in store is over your husband with this woman.

Dear C.W.B.

Yes, you will take physical education and will do well in it. No, you will not find your book. Study a little bit harder as you have a good mind.

Dear R.T.S.

B.S. and P.S. are not going to hurt you so don't worry about it. They like to blow off. As for D.S. getting a job, she doesn't want one very badly if she did she could be working now as she has had a job offered to her. She doesn't want to work. There is something funny in your handwriting. I can't quite see through it but please send me your sisters handwriting as this may clear it up and I will then answer your question in regards to your sister. Yes your leg will get alright in time, but it will take a lot of time yet before it does. Do just what the doctor tells you and it will get along fine.

Dear M.B.H.

Wake up. The thing for you to do is forget both your husband and this man. Neither of them will ever mean anything in your life. You will meet a man in February of 1949 and marry him in April of 1949.

Dear B.V.

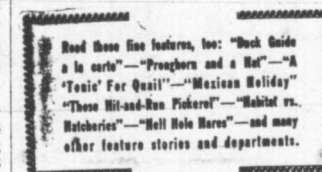

No, you will not move, you will stay where you are yet awhile. No. Your home affairs will not change, they will never be any better as long as this woman stays around and when she is gone there will be another to take her place and it will go on like that.

Dear Miss Latane:

I read your column every week and I would like for you to answer a few questions for me.

Will I get to move anyways soon? If so, when and where? Will my husband stay on the job he is on long and will he get a raise soon? Will we ever have any more money and will we ever own our own home?

Will I ever have any more children? Will we ever own a better car than the one we have? Will my husband and I ever separate and does he love me as much as he says he does?

I have a sister who isn't married. Will she ever marry? Will she marry the boy she is going with now. Will I ever have any serious trouble? L.L.

Dear Miss Latane:

I read your column every week, and I would like to ask you a question or two.

Will I ever find my 7th grade arithmetic book? Will you please tell me if I should take physical education or not? C.W.B.

Dear Patricia:

Will you please answer a few questions for me?

Tell me about B.S. and will this trouble amount to anything? What about P.S.? Will he give us any trouble? What's the best thing for me and my husband to do? Will D.S. get her a job soon? Doing what? Can you tell me about my sister that passed away? Will my leg get well? What should I do for it? R.T.S.

Dear Patricia:

I've read your column and I think it is very good. Will you please answer some questions for me? Does my friend honestly and sincerely love me as he says he does? Is there anyone else that he cares for more than me? Is he jealous of me? Does he want to marry me, and will we ever marry? If we were to marry, would we find happiness together? Or will my husband and I ever become reconciled? If so, would we ever be happy and contented together? What would you advise? Thank you. M.B.H.

Dear Miss Latane:

I have read your column ever week since I began taking the paper. I have some problems I want you to solve. Will we stay at the present place? Will we move and when? Will our home affairs be changed? And when? I believe you will understand my problems and worries. Now, you just tell me the future, both good and bad. B.V.

TEEN-AGE TATLER

by the

"Walkie-Talkie"

Why were four boys kicked out of the squad?

Who is "Mr. X" that keeps calling A.M. up and will not give his name? I say it is J.T. or D.C.

When B.Y. is mentioned before E.M. she is in heaven.

Why did J.M. say it would be wise for the Fulton Bulldogs to drop the subject of wishing they could play Martin again if they did not want to get beat? He must be for Martin.

M.L.B. is being seen with B.C. from Union City.

S.S. has found a new flame from Missouri. Who is he?

I see B.T.G. is still dating C.T. quite often.

J.W. is always in a fog when you try to talk to her. Who over I wonder?

Has R.H. found a new flame or does she still like T.C.?

Wonder who will end up getting B.C. as A.C. and M.L.B. are both going with him I hear.

I wonder how J. H. and J.T. got along the other night.

There was quite a bit of writing going on in a history book Monday between B.H. and T.E.G. Was it a serious affair, I wonder?

I wonder if the J. W. and H. J. affair is serious?

I hear that J.W. likes B.T. Is that right?

Why does E.M. like to go to the Little Breezy?

Why does M.L.B. sing "I wonder who's kissing him now?" I hear that P.M. has a terrible laugh. Why does J. T. eat all time in school?

I hear that B.C. hopes their mother won't attend the P.T.A. meetings so she can't talk with the teachers.

Who is singing "You can't be true dear?" That's right, J.W. Why does A.M. sing "I get the blues when it rains?"

Buckingham at halfback, took control of the game at the beginning and were never threatened. The only Martin touchdown came against Fulton subs in the last minute of play.

With Buckingham carrying the ball on every other play the Bullpups drove to a touchdown early in the second quarter. Buckingham plunged through the line for the touchdown and then passed to Tommy Copeland for the point after touchdown.

The other Fulton score came in the third quarter when quarterback Jack Voegli sneaked over from the one yard line for the touchdown. The try for the extra point was no good.

The Pup defence didn't yield a first down until the last quarter and their offence ran smoothly.

The lineup was: LE, Copeland; LT, Parton; LG, Sevier; C, Sawyer; RG, Hawks; RT, Wiseman; RE, Looney; QB, Voegli; HB, Buckingham; FB, Strange.

Substitutes were: Norman, Sisson, Butts, Speight, Omar, Binford, Argo, Wright, Wolfe, Jones, Kimbrough, Everitt, Underwood, Windsor, Sampson, Nelms, Mucachy, Sevier and Bone.

SPORTSCOPE By JOE MAHONEY

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

A decade or so ago, when the waterfowl population was large and the hunting pressure comparatively light, the loss of a couple of million ducks and geese annually from lead poisoning was not considered too important in the overall waterfowl picture.

But it's a different story today! Waterfowl populations are down; the number of hunters is a record peak. And the saving of all the ducks and geese possible is a must if sportsmen are to continue to enjoy this great gunning sport.

Frank Belfrage, game technician with the Illinois Natural History Survey, recently estimated that between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 ducks die each year from lead poisoning. This malady results from the ducks swallowing lead pellets picked up while feeding in heavily shot areas.

Last winter a severe outbreak of the disease at an Illinois wildlife refuge focused attention on the need of finding a remedy, if possible, for lead poisoning. This resulted in the current full-scale attack on the malady launched at the Natural History Survey's field laboratory at Havana, Illinois. Cooperating in the experiments are the University of Illinois and Olin Industries, parent organization of Winchester and Western, at East Alton, Illinois in addition to the Survey staff.

Utilizing all the modern technical equipment and with trained biologists conducting the experiments, it is hoped that a remedy can be found to stop the inroad on waterfowl resulting from lead poisoning.

The preliminary tests are being made on domestic Pekin ducks in an effort to learn the effect of ingested lead shot on waterfowl. Later wild ducks will replace the domestic species for the final field tests.

Should the findings of these experiments warrant additional study, Olin Industries' experts will experiment with the production of a non-toxic shot to replace the present lead pellets used in scatterloads. With many agencies striving to up waterfowl production in the north country breeding grounds and steps being taken to protect the birds in wintering areas, the lead poisoning experiments are just another step in keeping outdoor gunning available to sportsman. We wish them luck in finding a remedy.

PALESTINE Mrs. Leslie Nugent

Bro. C. E. Boswell and wife were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Harrison and family Sunday after church.

The WSES met with Mrs. Roy Bard Monday in an all day meeting. Sixteen members and three visitors, Mesdames Percy King, Clarence Caldwell and Glyn Bard. A pot luck lunch was served at noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pewitt and Jimmie Wallace visited Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Diggs in Paris, Tenn., Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Ida Thompson is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Bertha Nugent.

Ann Evans was moved home Saturday from the Fulton hospital after an operation.

Several of this community attended the funeral of Mrs. Joyce Ebb Jones at the Church of Christ in town Sunday afternoon. Burial was at Rock Springs cemetery.

Jodie Browder visited Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Browder Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Herman Easley spent Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Browder.

BULLDOGS DROP ONE TO MUSTANGS, 40-0

The Fulton Bulldogs were defeated 40 to 0 by the Huntingdon High School Mustangs at Huntingdon, Tenn., last Friday night. Both teams were handicapped due to the fact that the field was extremely muddy.

The Bulldogs got a fine start and almost scored a touchdown in the first quarter but the Mustangs got going in the second quarter and the game was never close after that. Huntingdon made its weigh pay off as neither team was able to use an air attack and the big Mustang line stopped the Bulldogs running attack.

Using straight power plays the Mustangs scored two touchdowns in the second quarter after the Bulldogs had held them scoreless during the first quarter.

They made one touchdown in the third quarter and then tallied three more in the last quarter as both teams substituted freely.

Huntingdon kicked-off to start the game and Leon Mann brought the ball back to the Fulton 35 before he was hit. The Bulldogs punted on the third play and the ball rolled dead on the Huntingdon 23 yard line. The Mustangs kicked back and the Bulldogs took possession in mid-field.

On a short spread play Johnny Hyland passed to Leon Mann who was forced out of bounds on the one yard line. The Linesman ruled that the Bulldogline was offside on the play and the game was nullified.

The Mustangs got their offense started in the second quarter and with Gatewood and Joyner sharing the brunt of the attack they drove for a touchdown. Gatewood tallied through the line from six yards out and the Mustangs led 6 to 0. The try for the extra point was no good.

Shortly before the end of the second quarter, Gatewood blasted over right tackle for the second score of the night and then swept around the end for the extra point to give the Mustangs a 13 to 0 lead at the half.

The Mustangs drove to another touchdown early in the third quarter and then began to substitute freely.

The Bulldogs held for the rest of the quarter but the Mustangs began to roll again in the fourth quarter and they tallied three touchdowns against the Bulldogs reserves. Coach Bill Hogg used his underclassmen in the closing minutes of the game and several of them showed up well against the Huntingdon substitutes.

Johnny Hyland, plucky quarterback played a fine game and was the backbone of the Fulton defense as he stopped runners time after time to prevent long gains. Tackle Jim Hodges injured his arm during the first half and was forced to leave the game.

The Bulldogs end their season against the powerful Mayfield Cardinals tonight at Mayfield.

On November 2, with full realization of my duties and powers as an American citizen, I went to the polls to vote. I went to vote for a friend named "Joe." No, Joe's name was not listed on the ballot as a candidate for public office but I voted in his behalf.

As I carefully weighed the qualifications of each candidate listed on the ballot I realized that my decision must be correct to the best of my ability, for I was voting for myself and for Joe. I didn't commit a criminal act on that day when I voted for Joe, as well as myself because, actually, I didn't cast two ballots. You see, Joe was the pal who waded beside my brother through the tropical swamps and slept beside my brother in mucky mud. While Joe and my brother and all the other American sons were fighting for what they thought would make for free democracy, some politicians were reaping a harvest. What happened to Joe? Joe was my brother's pal who laid down his life on foreign soil, believing in those he had been fighting for and he left behind a hope that we would never forget the meaning of real democracy. So that is why on November 2 I said "Today I voted for Joe."

I over heard some of the boys talking the other day and one remarked, "Well what good is anyone's friendship?" I hope that person reads this remark I am going to make.

"Friendship is the golden key unlocking gates where peace and happiness forever waits."

Mrs. W. R. McKenzie and children, Patty and Buddy spent the week end in Jackson visiting relatives.

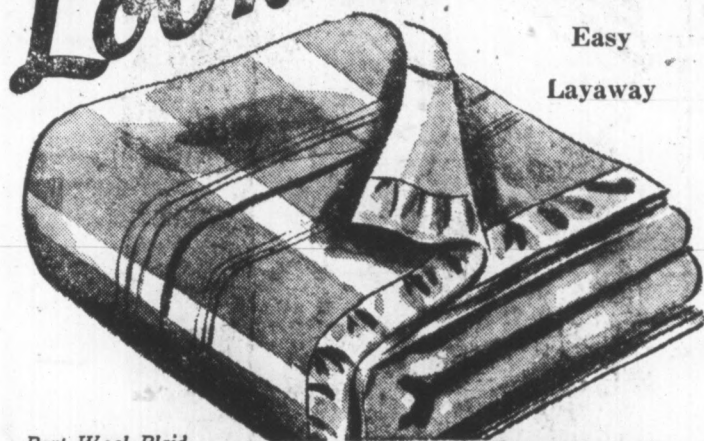

H. B. Reeves is on his vacation which has been spent in Memphis, Paducah and other points visiting with friends and relatives.
