1929 Campaign Warming Up.

Running true to form, the new year has come with a number of hats thrown in the ring in anticipation of election time. While the city pot is still at the lukewarm stage, county politics are beginning to simmer with indications that much steam will be blown out before August 3, primary date. Even at this early stage of the campaign, we can see the "confidentials" hanging around looking for a tip. The old tactics of "bleeding" candidates will be as popular this year as ever and the "confidential" will stick closer to a flea on a dog's back until he finds the candidate is wise to his hold-up methods.

The sooner the candidate learns not to believe all the "confidential" tells him, the better off he will be. Believe us, few office seekers ever get anything but dear experience, by depending on "confidentials" to deliver votes. Money is a valuable asset in making a race for office, but the candidate who has the loyal support and influence of true friends generally wins.

The jailer's race promises to be the hottest ever staged in Fulton county with probably ten to fifteen entries. Several popular candidates have already announced and are making good headway.

The sheriff's race, as usual, will be interesting from start to finish and is already causing much favorable comment for candidates announced.

For county attorney, Lon Adams has announced for re-election and will probably have no opposition.

No announcements have been made for any of the other offices in the county. The present officials, however, will ask for re-election, and while political dopesters say some will have opposition, we doubt it.

In the representatives' race, Mack Roach, popular Fulton politician and business man, is being urged to throw his hat into the arena.

Mr. Roach is well known throughout this entire section of country and stands high in the esteem of all Democratic leaders throughout the state. He has engaged in many political battles, but always for the other fellow. He commands confidence because he is honest, intrepid and audacious for the right and has always been a staunch supporter of Senator Alben Barkley during his campaigns. He is a young man of outstanding ability, competent to represent Fulton and Hickman counties with distinction. We need just such a man to take care of our interests at Frankfort.

We have not approached Mr. Roach on the subject, but we have heard a number say he would make an honest and faithful representative, a man who has the interests of the people of this district at heart.

LAUNDRYMEN ASSEMBLE

Tobe Jackson Asks For Re-election, Jailer

The Advertiser is authorized to announce the candidacy of Tobe Jackson for re-election for Jailer of Fulton county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election, August 3, 1929.

Mr. Jackson is nearing the completion of his second term as jailer and feels that he is better qualified than ever to serve the people another term. His record as a public official is well known, not only in Fulton county, but by State officials who have had occasion to inspect his work and report the excellent condition in which they find everything pertaining to his stewardship.

Read what his home paper, the Hickman Courier, says:

"Mr. Jackson has been jailer for two terms and has made one of the most efficient and well liked officials the county has ever had. He feels that the voters will want to keep an official who has made such a good record, and has worked so hard to save the taxpayers' money. Every report made by investigators of the Kentucky Prison Commission, has listed the Fulton county jail among the best in the state under the direction of Mr. Jackson.

"Tobe, as every one knows him, needs no introduction to the people of Fulton county, having been born and reared here and lived all his life among our people. He farmed for some years and held a good position with the Mengel Co., before being elected jailer. This is the only elective office that Mr. Jackson has ever held and he feels that his experience and knowledge of the position and its duties entitle him to another term, as it is to the best interest to the taxpayer to keep an experienced and efficient official.

"It is interesting to know that every prisoner who has been in the jail is high in praise of the jailer. He feeds them three good meals a day and runs the jail for the best interest of all concerned. As custodian of the court house, Mr. Jackson has worked hard to keep it up and in proper condition. He promises, if re-elected, to continue to give his very best to the county."

New Pontiac Big Six On Display

Terry Motor Company Invites You to Its Showrooms for Inspection

Fulfilling advance promises of big car performance, big car appearance and big car value, the Pontiac Big Six, essentially a brand new car from radiator to tail light, went on display today at the showrooms of Terry Motor Company, State Line Street, Fulton, Oakland and Pontiac dealers.

Chassis improvements that give the car flexible performance comparable with cars in a higher price range with bodies styled along entirely different lines distinguish every model in this newest General Motors line.

While only rounding out its third anniversary, the Pontiac Six enters upon its fourth year a definitely established volume leader, in which position officials of the Oakland Motor Car Company are confident it will more firmly entrench itself by reason of the extraordinary value evident in the car for 1929.

All bodies are entirely new, the line including a 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan, coupe, sport roadster with folding rumble seat, sport phaeton, convertible cabriolet with folding rumble seat, and a landaulet sedan. The last two types are innovations in the Pontiac line, having the appearance of custom built bodies.

Outstanding features contributing to the extraordinary performance of the new car are a larger and more powerful engine; new counter-weighted crankshaft; new harmonic balancer; new internal self-energizing brakes; new rear axle; new transmission; larger carburetor, intake manifold and valves; wider springs with new shackles self-adjusting for wear! Increased valve list and new Hotchkiss drive.

Striking new body creations by Fisher impart to the entire line individuality and custom-like features entirely new in the Pontiac price class. From the gleaming high radiator shell to the gracefully molded rear panel, harmonious lines and brilliant chrome finished exterior hardware radiate smartness, distinction and individuality.

The shell of the radiator, narrow and built up to 35 inches in height, rises to the front the appearance of power and fleetness borne out by the performance of the car. No emblem or name plate marks the front of the radiator shell, but the familiar "Chief Pontiac" radiator cap ornament is retained. A chrome plated bar extends vertically from top to bottom of the radiator core.

Larger fenders, full crowned and with a beaded edge, flare out in a graceful sweep over the smart low wheels. A forged fender tie rod replaces the pressed steel rod and lamp support formerly used. Headlamps on four body types come in full chrome plate, while on the remaining models the rims are chrome plated.

A full side view shows to best advantage the original lines of the new car. The slightly arched window design, with new paneling effect between the windows; a high waist line, and unique concave molding distinguish the Fisher bodies. This new belt molding starts at the cowl and completely encircles the body. It is not continued down the hood, as in the Oakland models, but a new curved pillar line, quite similar to one of America's costliest cars, runs from the center panel on the cowl down to the rear of the hood.

A smart new louvre grouping sets the car instantly apart in traffic. Instead of in the conventional manner, all are grouped in one panel and extend horizontally across the hood.

A slender and brilliantly finished cowl band with parking lamps adds to the exterior beauty of appearance.

All closed bodies have adjustable drivers seats, smart new sun visor, slender ebony finish 17-inch steering wheel, ebony finish instrument panel illuminated by two hooded bulbs, Delco-Remy transmission and ignition lock on dash, depressible beam headlamps operated by foot control, new approved combination tail light, stop light, and license support, larger Delco-Remy motor driven horn, automatic windshield cleaner, rear view mirror, theft proof door locks and exclusively designed running board.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETY ORGANIZED; $190 OFFERED IN POSTER CONTEST.

A happy band of children, boys and girls, met with Mrs. W. B. Duncan and Mrs. J. T. Wade at the home of Elder W. A. Bell Friday afternoon, and the children were organized into what shall be known as the Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Duncan acting as sponsor.

Scripture was read and "At the Cross," and "Onward Christian Soldiers," were lustily sung, Mrs. Duncan performing at the piano, and Mrs. Wade led the prayer.

The work of the society was briefly discussed, the duties and responsibilities of the members set forth, and the organization was formed, resulting in the election of Margaret Buchanan, President; Anne Duncan, vice-president; Edna Wright, secretary, and Sarah May Williams, treasurer. The usual committees were selected and were as follows: Membership Committee: Bernice Stone, Juanita McGee, and Dorothy Jane Morris; Flower Committee: Alvis Buchanan, Edna Wright and Bruce Buchanan; Visiting Committee: Mary Homra and Anne Duncan.

A feature of special interest to the children is a poster contest that the Southern Presbyterian church is now putting on; offering to the membership of the Christian Endeavor Society, $50 for the best poster presented, $30 for the second, and $15 for the third best. A six-day contest is being put on for women's auxiliaries of the church. It is important that all children, who desire to enter this contest, be present at the next regular meeting next Friday at 3 p. m. The meeting to be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell, 504 Maple Avenue. It is hoped that all posters shall be finished, and may be presented February 11, when we hope to open a school of missions for adults, and for children of all grades.

of

PLAYERS OF NOTE APPEAR IN LATEST BILLIE DOVE FILM

One of the most notable and best balanced supporting casts ever used in a First National film offering supports beautiful Billie Dove in her latest starring picture, "The Yellow Lily," coming to the Grand Theatre, Monday-Tuesday.

In the principal roles alone, eleven notable players appear. But there has been no distinction made between minor and major roles in the selection of players. Historic ability and fitness to type were the sole factors governing their selection.

Clive Brook plays opposite Miss Dove in "The Yellow Lily" which is an adaptation of Lajos Biro's play of the same title. Gustav von Seyffertitz has one of the best histrionic opportunities of his career as a Mephistopheles-like, sardonic valet of the hero.

Jane Winton, wearing a blonde wig, portrays a notorious actress of Budapest and sweetheart of the hero. Nicholas Soussanin enacts an effective and very dramatic role as the heroine's brother. Marc MacDermott and Bodil Rosing are the Hungarian Archduke and Archduchess respectively. Charles Puffy plays a comedy role as mayor of a small mountain town in Hungary.

Other colorful and important roles are enacted by Paul Vincenti, Lucian Prival, John Westwood and Gus Partos.

"The Yellow Lily," was adapted from the famous play by Lajos Biro, and it deals with love and intrigue in Hungary. Alexander Korda directed the picture.

GOOD OLD DAYS
By Senator Capper

I can remember when every town had its "city" time which differed several minutes from "railroad" time.

I can remember when a day's work began at 7 A. M. and ended at 6 P. M. and a dollar a day was good wages. Farmers worked from 4 A. M. to 9 P. M. Stores opened an hour before breakfast and stayed open until nearly midnight—longer on Saturday nights. There was no Saturday half holiday and hardly ever a general observance of any holiday.

I can remember that when a farmer went to town it took him anywhere from half a day to a whole day to drive there and back.

I can remember when people used coal oil lamps for light and a gallon of coal oil cost 25 cents. You paid a little more for "headlight" oil which was supposed to give a whiter light. Stoves were used for heat even in homes of the wealthy. Bathrooms and furnaces were unknown. Nearly everybody bathed in the kitchen. In the morning you rose and dressed in a cold room in winter. You washed in ice cold water after breaking through the crust of ice in the ironstone china pitcher.

I can remember if the doctor was needed in the night that you had to go to his home or send some one and wake him. And sometimes it meant going miles. Consumption was supposed to be hereditary. One member after another of the same family became infected and died of it. I knew the sole survivor of one such family. He was a traveling man which explains why his life was spared. He was away from home most of the time.

People did not have appendicitis then. It was congestion of the bowels and nearly always the patient died.

Every summer there was a "yellow fever" season and the newspapers day after day printed death lists telegraphed from our Southern cities.

I can remember when 15 cents worth of round steak was enough for a family of four and required good strong teeth and patient mastication. There were fewer dentists in those days and only one dentifrice was advertised—a preparation called "Sozodont." Thirty dollars a month was a fair-sized grocery bill for such a family. Families of eight were clothed, fed and educated on a salary of $50 a month!

I can remember when there were no typewriters, when all letters and legal documents were written by hand, and beautifully written, too. There were no card indexes, no loose-leaf ledgers, no cash registers to record sales and make change, no adding machines for weary bookkeepers. The clerks in stores and offices were expected to "sweep out" and otherwise put them in order early in the morning before the boss came down. Only schools, churches and public buildings had janitors and some of them did not.

I can remember when the saloons were ordered closed on election day and that evidently some of them didn't close. There always were drunken men at the polling places and fighting and profanity.

Women shunned such parts of town those days. Election day rioting was a common news feature of the returns in all parts of the United States.

I can remember when "fast" young men were said to be "sowing wild oats"; when if a girl made a misstep she was disowned by her family and cast out; when all towns and every city licensed houses of ill fame, had a segregated vice district, and collected monthly fines from its wretched inmates.

I can remember when if you wished to show a fellow citizen a courtesy, or you had just concluded a business deal with him, you took him into a convenient saloon—and there was always one convenient—and set 'em up. Before you parted with him he returned the compliment. Sometimes there were several rounds of drinks. Even sober citizens often spent more money for liquor those days than they could afford. Every town and village had its habitual drunkards and there was much poverty, destitution and wretchedness in homes.

It seems to me the meaning is that every new year is a happier new year in human progress; that 50 years hence the world will have gone much farther than in the last 50; that the nations of the world will then be guided more and more by the philosophy of Christ and so be saved literally as well as spiritually; that more and more will humanity live for the future as well as for the present, and that a new day and a new age will dawn of which history never yet has seen the like.

SEN. BARKLEY'S DAUGHTER WEDS

Marion Frances Barkley Becomes Bride of M. O. Truitt, of Missouri

Washington, Jan. 21.—Marriage of Miss Marion Frances Barkley, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, to Max Orell Truitt, of Columbia, Mo., took place Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents here.

The Rev. James S. Montgomery, chaplain of the House of Representatives, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. After the ceremony a buffet supper and reception were held. The bride and bridegroom were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Barkley and Miss Laura Barkley, the bride's sister.

Among out of town guests was David M. Barkley, of New York, a brother of the bride.

The couple will live in St. Louis after a wedding trip.

Several pre-nuptial parties were given for the bride, who is a graduate of the Holton Arms school and attended the University of Wisconsin.

The bridegroom attended Missouri University and is a Delta Tau Delta.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin fashioned with full skirt and long fitted sleeves, and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Barkley wore a gown of old rose georgette crepe embroidered in gold.

5,000 HOGSHEADS OF DARK TOBACCO SOLD

Western District Types Said to Have Brought $7 and $8.50 Per Hundred

Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 19.—Approximately 8,500,000 pounds of tobacco of types 22 and 23 and types 24 and 36 have been contracted for delivery or contracts for its delivery will be made soon, according to an announcement by Reams D. Farmer, secretary-treasurer of the Dark Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association.

These contracts have been entered into since Christmas, Mr. Farmer said. Some of the orders are for tobacco of two or more grades and some of the contracts are not so that the name of the purchaser can yet be made public.

Of the immense amount of weed handled, which amounted to 48,600,000 pounds, the pool will have approximately 11,000,000 pounds left when the present deliveries are made.

When the entire holdings of the pool are sold and settlements made with the Warehousing Association, calculations will begin for final settlements with all growers. The secretary-treasurer said this morning that no distributions can be made until all tobacco has been sold and accounts with the Warehousing Association settled.

The pool will begin stamping and delivering the tobacco to purchasers immediately. Deliveries will require several months.

The pool is liquidating its affairs, sales of about 20,000,000 pounds having been made during and after the Christmas holidays.

No tobacco is being dumped on the market, officials say. Under the efficient management of Reams D. Farmer, the pool holdings have been put on the market at advantageous prices but without disturbing the trend of the market, as might have happened if the holdings had been rushed on the market, the directors of the pool declare.

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On Wednesday morning we were very fortunate in having with us Mr. Graham, former County Superintendent of Davie county, who made a short talk to the student body, during the Chapel period. He complimented us on our school spirit and also stated that "It pays to advertise our school." Advertising puts even little schools on the map. Everyone enjoyed his talk and extend to him a cordial invitation to visit us again at any time.

Our debating team, Misses Pauline Davis and Hazel Latta and Mr. Lowell Weather-spoon, debated with Clinton on Thursday night in the Clinton auditorium. Each one of our speakers delivered their speeches fluently.

On last Friday night two hard fought basket-ball games were played between Hickman boys and girls and our teams, on Hickman's court. Both teams played good ball and we were very proud to hear that both games ended with victories for Beelerton. The score for the girls was 25 to 9, and the boys 17 to 10. We are proud of the fact that the referee complimented us on our sportsmanship.

On Monday, January 21, our County Health Officers, Dr. Hunt and Miss Swan from Clinton, and Miss Thomas, who is lecturing on Health, visited our school to talk with the patrons of this community. Unfortunately, no one was present but the students enjoyed a splendid talk from Miss Thomas on "Better Health." Dr. Hunt talked a few minutes on the physical defects found in this school.

We have a contest going on between the different rooms on "Cleanliness," which will last for three weeks, beginning Monday, January 14th. Each room is being graded on posture and neatness of students, neatness of room and other rules of neatness.

STIRRING DRAMA OF LOVE AND DUTY IN THE "FOREIGN LEGION"

Colorful Photoplay to Be Seen at the Orpheum

The Orpheum theatre will present "The Foreign Legion," Universal's dramatic screen adaptation of "The Red Mirage," I. A. R. Wylie's sensational novel, as its feature picture beginning Monday, January 28. This should be good news for local motion picture enthusiasts, as the picture is heralded as one of the finest ever produced.

The novel was a gripping story of love and duty, set against the chromatic background of the French Foreign Legion in Algiers. The picture is said to excel the book in the colorful presentation of the lives and adventures, the passions and the impulses of these iron soldiers and the steady discipline under which they live.

Norman Kerry and Lewis Stone are co-starred in the picture. Both are favorites and both are said to have exceptional roles in this picture. Opposite them are two popular women, Mary Nolan and June Marlowe, one the exotic, heartbreaker, the other the adorable sweetheart type. Miss Nolan is remembered as one of the most glorious of the famous Zeigfeld's Follies.

GILBERT HERE IN LATEST PICTURE HIT "FOUR WALLS"

Story of Gangster Life From Stage Success With Joan Crawford

What's the first thing a man would notice on returning to civilization after an absence of four years?

John Gilbert supplies the answer in his new starring picture, "Four Walls," which comes Monday and Tuesday to the Grand theatre. Gilbert plays the role of an ex-convict who returns to the East Side of New York after four years in Sing Sing.

On the day he is released, he hurries directly to his home in the Ghetto where his mother (Vera Gordon) and Bertha (Carmel Myers) are waiting for him. After greeting them Gilbert stands at the window of the apartment and looks down on the busy street below him.

"Gee, Ma," says Gilbert, "skirts have gotten shorter and legs longer, haven't they?"

It is by such human touches as this that Director William Nigh has made "Four Walls," one of the most human pictures that Gilbert has ever brought to the screen. Joan Crawford has the leading feminine role, while the cast includes Carmel Myers, Vera Gordon, Louis Natheaux, Robert Emmet O'Connor and others of note.

Alice D. G. Miller adapted the story from the successful stage play by George Abbott and Dana Burnet.

COMMUNITY BUILDERS NEEDED

So many towns and cities are named after men. Why? Because the men thus honored have done something for the good of the community, have left something behind so that their name will not be forgotten, have performed a public service that will benefit children yet unborn.

They did not live their lives in vain. They appreciated the fact that they were not put here on earth to live a selfish life, to hoard whatever wealth they chanced to accumulate, but that if fortune favored them, it was their duty to share it with others less fortunate.

It's a sad commentary on Fulton that we have had so few men and women who held this point of view—who recognized their responsibility to the community when they were especially favored with this world's goods.

No town or city is going to develop very rapidly unless it has citizens of this class.

We need men and women who are willing to give for the benefit of everyone, who have enough pride in their home town that will make some sacrifices for it.

THE PUBLIC BE SERVED!

The "hard boiled" business man is becoming a legend of the past. The older generation recalls his gruff voice: "Business is business," and "Let the buyer beware." But the modern business man is recognizing more and more clearly that lasting success comes only from service rendered.

The new attitude of business leaders is being described by one of the Cleanliness Institute, in an address before a national gathering of social workers.

"In commerce and trade," he said, "as well as in the operation of public utilities, 'The public be served,' is succeeded by 'The public be served.' Business leaders today commonly take pride in sharing in public service not only on individuals in their leisure time, but also through the commercial enterprises whose destinies they guide. To an increasing degree, trade and commerce justify the title an advertising man applied recently to his new book, 'Business, the Civilizer.'"

This is especially true of the support given by business research to advertising and educational programs aimed at better health, greater cleanliness, improved housing, and more adequate recreational facilities. These movements are accomplishing results in bringing about higher standards of living. Directly or indirectly, the advertiser profits—yet he does so through promoting the welfare of the general public.

Social workers, teachers, health authorities and other leaders in public service are increasing their reliance on the resources of industry in carrying forward their beneficial activities. No longer an alien, business is fast becoming an ally of movements for social betterment.

GOOD LOOKS AND EFFICIENCY

A woman who has lived in a number of different places and has seen much of women's organization work in different cities, remarks that good clothes and a handsome face have much to do with the success of a woman in such activities. The same thing may be held to apply to women in society.

She remarked that certain women she had known who attained prominence in such organizations seem to have done so largely by their beauty and tasteful clothes. Meanwhile, some who have done remarkable constructive work in building up their organizations, did not seem to have attained so much success.

She thought that women were so charmed and fascinated by the fine appearance of the first named type of personage, that anything they might say seemed delightful. While, if a woman had to depend merely upon the actual things she did, she was often subject to criticism.

Such a point of view may be denied by women, who would assert that their sex is too discriminating to be thus dominated by outward appearance.

As a woman's "beauty" more and more by their real worth. Recognition paid to mere physical beauty may seem discouraging to many women, who are not beautiful and who can not afford fine clothes. They can console themselves with the thought that there are a number of very important fields where beauty does not count so much.

It does not go very far in the business world. The fine looking girl often depends too much on her good looks to put her across and she often neglects efficiency and is outdistanced by the plainer girl who knows her job thoroughly.

Community Building

Experts Say Average Village Lacks Beauty

Nearly 20,000,000 persons in the United States, or about one-fifth of the population, live in villages, and 30,000,000 farming people use these villages for purposes of business, education, religion, health and social well-being. Yet these centers of rural population are usually unattractive and often very ugly. Villages in other countries are generally much superior to those of the United States in design, in the character of their streets and public buildings, and in their approach and recreation spots. A start, however, has been made toward beautifying the American village, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

Some examples of leadership in this respect are recorded by the department, which has been studying the problem of village planning from the standpoint of its importance to the rural community and particularly to the farmer.

It is more as a buying than as a selling place that the farmer makes use of the village. In marketing his principal products he generally deals with some large distributing center. But he purchases his household supplies in the village. He goes there for amusement and for social purposes generally. His children often go to school there. An attractive village, therefore, is an important influence in stabilizing farm life and in counteracting the attractions which cities have for the young people of the farms. As the farmer's chief point of contact with outside interests, the village can make a big contribution to the happiness of farm life, even if it is considered from no other standpoint than the fact that it is the place where the farmer spends a large part of his income.

Care in Beautifying Grounds Means Much

In planting it is well to follow some simple rules. Avoid scattered effect of plants; it is better to plant them in groups. Frame and mass the sides and corners and angles. Put larger specimens in the background, with smaller plants in front. Keep the midground open. Secure uniformity in thickness, variety, size, shape and color by the right combinations of plants, picking out those that harmonize with the landscape.

In general it is better to use native shrubs, trees and vines in great abundance, and use scarcely—not at all—the imported, introduced and foreign plants. In general, it is better to avoid exotics. Use vines for porches and piazzas; to make the house look at home. Keep the lawn open, broad, clean and clear of flower beds. Do not use kettles, boilers or boats even though they are pretty when filled with flowers. Most of these things are out of place in the front yard.

Benefit of Home-Ownership

More than one-half the homes in the United States are owned by men who make less than $2,000 a year," declared W. D. Carter, former president of the New York State League of Savings and Loan Associations. "It is estimated that approximately 80 per cent of those who build or buy a home do not pay for it outright at the start. Habits of thrift, economy, and self-denial are established and practiced in saving to meet the monthly payments by which the home is paid for and are among the greatest benefits of owning a home."

For Tree Planting

With attention and care, trees of small size will thrive in small patches of soil where larger trees, with their spreading root systems, might languish, says the American Tree Association of Washington. In urging you to join the tree-planting army, the effect of these formally pruned trees is dignified and decorative, and gives a fine touch of green to a street lined with high-class shops or handsome houses in solid rows. For a two-cent stamp the association will send you tree-planting suggestions.

"Grounds" Mean Much

The front lawn and the back yard in some ways are an index to the home, and most persons believe that if the "grounds" in front and rear of the home are untidy there is some indifferent housekeeper in the dining room, kitchen and bathroom. Let us show the neighbors that we are as skillful with the rake and paint brush as with golf clubs and tennis rackets, and that not all our energy is expended in talking of the greater need for civic spirit.—Indianapolis News

Surely All Can Do This

Little towns say they can't afford to beautify themselves on any whole-scale plan. We believe they can afford to beautify by planting all the road-sides with peonies, roses, daisies, carnations and all such flowers as require only the expense of multiplication and wide work.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat

Home Founding

KENTUCKY IMPORTANT PRODUCER OF POULTRY

Kentucky is an important source of supply for the largest live poultry market in the country, says a statement made by the Department of Markets and Rural Finance at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. During the year just closed New York City received 6.6 per cent of its carload receipts from Kentucky, compared with 6.1 per cent in 1927. In addition to 741 carloads of live poultry shipped from Kentucky in 1928, over 40,000 pounds were sent by express. Only six states sent more cars of live poultry to New York in 1928 than did Kentucky.

Shipments from Kentucky usually reach their peak in April, although March and May are months of heavy movement. In 1928, Kentucky shipped 317 cars of live poultry to New York during March, April and May. This is in contrast to the usual movement from states to the north and west, where shipments are greatest in the fall and early winter months.

Kentucky is less important in supplying New York with dressed poultry. During recent years between 2 1-2 per cent and 3 per cent of the dressed poultry receipts at that market were from Kentucky.

FEEDING PULLETS IN COLD SEASON

Pullets must be well developed, vigorous and must carry a surplus of body fat if they are to produce heavily during the winter months.

D. C. Henderson, poultry specialist in the South Dakota State college extension service, says that pullets which come into laying with weak frames and undeveloped bodies usually break down under the strain of egg production during the winter months. He advises a careful feeding program for pullets so that they will have the surplus body fat so necessary to heavy egg production.

Feeds containing protein and minerals are essential for proper growth of bones, feathers and muscles," he says. "Skim milk, if available in sufficient quantity, is an excellent feed. The birds should be given access to the milk at all times. It can be fed either in the sweet or sour form."

"If the milk is limited, part of the protein may be supplied through the use of meat scraps or tankage in a mash mixture."

A dry mash mixture which Henderson advises for satisfactory development of pullets is composed of one part each by weight of cornmeal, ground heavy oats, wheat bran, flour middlings and tankage.

One pound of salt should be added to each 100 pounds of mash. If a limited amount of milk is available, one-half part of tankage may be fed in the mash. Dry mash should be kept in the hoppers before the birds at all times.

Grain is necessary for the proper storing of a reserve of fat in the body, states the specialist. Late hatched pullets should be forced heavily with both bran and mash to develop flesh and bone, essential in continuous heavy egg production. Early hatched pullets, that are well developed and are coming into laying should be fed heavily on grain feeds and sparingly on dry mash. The pullet flock must carry a surplus of body flesh, obtained primarily from grain feeds, if they are to give profitable winter egg production.

Late Laying Hens Best for Building Up Flock

Eggs usually are the chief source of income from the farm poultry business and one of the quickest ways to build up the egg-laying capacity of the flock is to breed from the best of the late laying hens rather than from the young pullets which have not had a chance to show their worth as layers. Only those late laying hens which have the proper size, type and other desirable characteristics should be used in the breeding pen. Poorly colored birds and those with disqualifications, such as side sprigs on the comb and stubs on the legs, are undesirable as breeders, the poultrymen say.

The most desirable of the late laying hens which molt as late as September 15 or later should be mated with the best males of the flock or preferably with males secured from a breeder of a good strain of production-bred stock.

The Eight-Hour Day For Housewives

"A man's work lasts from sun to sun,
But a woman's work is never done."

It would seem like a dream to the women of the days when the above rhyme was current, to contemplate anything like an eight-hour day for women. Who, they would have asked, would do the washing, peeling, stoning and seeding of fruits and vegetables, the boning and skinning of fish, the picking of fowls, to say nothing of the spinning of flax, weaving of cloth, and the long hours spent in house cleaning and over a hot stove in the kitchen?

The commercial canneries of today have answered a large part of this question. They have reduced the time devoted to the preparation and cooking of food in the home to a minimum by performing most of the operations previously tioned in the above enumeration by machinery in their big, sanitary, immaculately clean canneries.

No Longer a Dream

The eight-hour day for housewives is no longer a dream. The textile mills have relieved her of spinning and weaving. Vacuum cleaners have reduced the time devoted to house cleaning. Gas and electricity have relieved her of the task of filling lamps and fetching wood for the kitchen fire. The modern woman can now have time to devote to society, sports and charity, to politics, club life and other outside interests, to education and the higher needs of her husband and family.

KITCHEN RELIEF FOR HOMEMAKERS

Women in Five Counties Ask for Less Work and Shorter Hours.

Farm women in McCracken, Calloway, Ballard, Henderson and McLean counties have appealed to the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky for help in getting kitchen relief. They want less work and shorter hours over the stove and in other household tasks, in order that they may give more time to recreation and civic activities.

A survey made by Miss Zilpha Foster, home demonstration agent in McCracken county, showed that farm women work an average of 16 hours daily. When the women found out what they had been doing they immediately asked their homemakers' clubs to make housekeeping reform a major plank in their 1929 platform.

The women say that the men have obtained relief from much drudgery through the adoption of labor-saving devices and machinery, while they are still slaving away in the kitchen in much the same old way. They declare that the old saying, "A man's work is from sun to sun, but a woman's work is never done," has been true.

The College of Agriculture will send Miss Ida Hagman, a home management specialist, to see what she can do to help the women rearrange their houses and make use of modern equipment to lighten the housekeeping job. The campaign will begin in February and, according to Miss Hagman, "continue until all the drab, dingy, wife-killing kitchens have become a thing of the past."

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Four farmers in Elm Fork community in Jessamine county have placed an order for 16 registered Hereford heifers and a purebred bull, which will be the first purebred stock to be taken into that community.

Frank Rouse, Boone county, won the five-plate cup and P. P. Fehr, Campbell county, the single-plate cup, at a show held at Covington for fruit growers in Boone, Campbell and Kenton counties.

The Field Packing Company, Owensboro, assisted in the organization of a junior agricultural calf club in Daviess county, in which 12 boys and four girls were supplied with 21 calves for fattening.

The Murray Milk Products Company has opened its plant at Murray, receiving 24,000 pounds of milk the opening day. It is operating 17 milk routes in Calloway county.

75 Todd county farmers and feed dealers attended a dairy cow feeding school conducted by Joe Nageotte of the College of Agriculture.

Lesson for February 3

THE HOLY SCRIPTURES

LESSON TEXT—II Tim. 3:14-17; Ps. 119:1-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Our Bible.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Our Bible.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why Read the Bible?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What the Bible is For.

I. The Scriptures Are Divinely Inspired. (II Tim. 3:16).

The first thing to be settled concerning the Canonical Scriptures is their inspiration and authority. In the scriptures God is at "sundry times and in divers manners" speaking to man (Heb. 1:1). Paul in this passage declares them to be "God breathed," meaning that the utterances of Holy Writ were God's breath in men's mouths. The Holy Scriptures do not merely contain the Word of God, but are in verity the message of God to men.

The main cause of the moral breakdown of society is that men have been robbed of their faith in the Bible as the authoritative message from God.

II. The Value of the Scriptures (II Tim. 3:14-17).

1. Able to make wise unto salvation (v. 15).

Salvation is in Christ alone. It is secured through faith in His finished work on the cross. True wisdom leads to Christ crucified, since there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved (Acts 4:12), and without the shedding of blood there is no remission (Heb. 9:22).

2. Disciplines the life (vv. 16, 17). In this "doctrine" is set forth the necessary standard of conduct. The only place to find the teaching of God is in His Holy Word. It not only sets forth a standard of life, but it reproves—confutes error. The way to deal with error is not by denunciation but with a positive presentation of truth. The Word corrects (sets straight the dislocations of personal and social conduct), instructs in righteousness, and equips for service.

III. The Nature and Effects of God's Law (Ps. 119:7-11).

1. Perfect.
It is without flaw; converts and redeems soul; turns man back to God.

2. True.
It is absolutely dependable. God cannot lie. Man's reasoning changes, but God's Word endures forever. It makes wise the simple. Not only does it make wise unto salvation, but wise regarding the legitimate things of this world.

3. Right.
The precepts and judgments of the Lord are expressions of absolute righteousness. They fill the believer with rejoicing.

4. Pure.
There is in it no mixture of error. It makes no compromise with that which is untrue. Because of this it enlightens the eyes.

5. Clean.
The Word affects the life. Its cleansing is from within and from without. 6. True and righteous.
The decisions of God's Word are true, without exception. The judgments of God's Word are unimpeachable. Because of these qualities God's Word is more to be desired than the choicest gold. Obedience thereto brings great reward.

IV. The Prayer of the Believer (Ps. 119:12-14).

The life brought face to face with God's Word is seen as sinful. The soul cries out for:

1. Cleansing (v. 12).

The perfect laws reveal the imperfections of the life. The Word of God reveals sins of which the individual may be ignorant (Isa. 6:5).

2. To be kept from presumptuous sin (v. 13).

Presumptuous, arrogant sins are peculiarly dangerous. In the Mosaic economy no sacrifice was provided for such sins.

3. Freedom from the dominion of such sins (v. 13).

How awful is the slavery of those who are in bondage to presumptuous sins.

4. That the words of the mouth and meditation of the heart be kept acceptable in God's sight. From how many dangers the believer would be freed if the words and meditations of the heart were kept in line with the Holy Scriptures.

Our Possessions

I will place no value on anything I have or possess, except in its relation to the Kingdom of Jesus Christ.—David Livingstone.

Let It Rather Be Healed

Lift up the hands that hang down, and the feeble knees; and make straight paths for your feet, lest that which is lame be turned out of the way; but let it rather be healed.—Heb. 12:12, 13.

Hopelessness of Hypocrisy

For what is the hope of the hypocrite, though he hath gained, when God taketh away his soul? Will God hear his cry when trouble cometh upon him?—Job 27:8, 9.

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On last Friday night, January 25, the Beelerton basketball teams met the Fulton teams on Fulton's court. The girls game was very close but ended with a score of 17-14 in favor of Fulton. The boys made their eighteenth victory for this season with a score of 48-2. Good sportsmanship and lots of pep were shown by players throughout the games. By the courtesy of the principal and coach of Fulton high school the Beelerton teams will play Bardwell teams on Fulton's gym Friday night, February 1. The debate between Beelerton and Shiloh which was to have been held in our auditorium last Saturday night, January 26, was called off on account of bad roads. We will probably have the debate sometime in the near future.

We are very glad to have back with us, one of our Juniors, Mr. Ernest Cardwell, who recently moved away and had been attending school elsewhere.

There wasn't any school here Friday on account of the teachers meeting at Clinton, which all the teachers attended. After a holiday every one was ready to go back to work with lots of "pep."

Our school is progressing very much, and we thank every one who has helped it to progress. Without the help and cooperation of the parents we would be unable to make this school year what we want it to be, which is the biggest and best ever at "Beelerton."

CALF CLUB MEMBERS TO MEET AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, SAT., FEB. 2

Last spring we made an effort to organize a purebred Jersey Calf Club in the eastern part of the county, which is from the M. & N. O. railroad east. We obtained the names of around 15 boys and girls who wanted calves, but the banks thought it best to wait until a carload could be had, but up to date the required number has not been procured. Now, we are going to hold a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce, Saturday morning, February 2, at 10:30 o'clock, for the purpose of trying to get enough boys and girls to sign up for a car of registered bred Jersey heifers. If you are at all interested in this movement, be sure and attend, or either write or phone me. I want those who signed up last year to be present. I believe this is a very important piece of work, and in a few years it will mean many thousand dollars for this community.
