THE LISTENING POST

As December comes up on the calendar and all of us realize that another year is about gone, it seems a natural thing for most of us to think of things that we should have done during the past year and make large plans for what we will do in the coming year. I am that way in my own business and the fact that I seldom manage to do the things I plan makes no difference. Something about a new year seems to stir all of us into more or less activity.

During the past few days I have been thinking of something that should have been accomplished this year in Fulton; something on which considerable work was done, but no definite progress made. I am talking about the need for a sort of community center for out of doors affairs and the idle grounds of the Fulton County Fair Association. As is well known, various local groups have tried to do something about this problem in past years without marked success. It seems to me that the coming year might well be devoted to more of these efforts. Perhaps the fruit is ripe for 1941. Let's look at the situation a bit, and perhaps some plans can be made.

Two things we know are needed in Fulton. We need a baseball park, with permanent improvements and we need a football ground which can be improved by the board of education. In addition we need some large gathering place like the fair grounds for various affairs during the summer. All of these things could be realized if proper plans could be made and carried to completion. Next year, if there is a Kiltie League, and, barring war for this country, I think there will be a league, the Fulton team will open the season in better condition than ever before. All debts will be paid and there will probably be some money on hand to start the season. As far as can be expected now we may expect baseball for some time to come.

In past years the high school football team has used the baseball field. This is better than nothing, but thinking people know that a high school should have a permanent playing field, built for football, and with the title so fixed that money could be legally spent on upkeep and improvement. Those are the two things which are vitally needed, and if the fair grounds could be secured it appears easily possible that all these aims could be carried out.

Admitting that the property is quite valuable for other purposes, either as farm land or building sites, we should never allow this property to revert to such use. Fulton needs and must have a playground and this property is already too far advanced in this respect to even contemplate allowing it to be used for other purposes. It is worth more to the city and to the entire section as a playground than for any other purpose.

I do not think it likely that the present fair association will ever be interested in promoting another fair. The smaller fairs seem to be things of the past, and the last few held here proved to be losing propositions. If this premise is correct, it appears to me that the fair association should meet those who wish to acquire title at least half way. There is no question of profit involved on the part of those who have tried to buy the property in the past; they merely

Knudsen Says Plane Output Lags 30 Pct.

Suggests Use Be Made Of Friday-To-Monday Time By Industry

New York. —Asserting that a speed-up of defense production was imperative, William Knudsen, defense commissioner disclosed tonight that aircraft output was lagging 30 per cent behind production schedules made up last July.

"Frankly," he said, in a speech prepared for delivery before the National Manufacturers Association, "we are not doing anything compared to the forecast by the manufacturers and the commission in July and our hoped-for production figures for Jan. 1, 1941, of 1,000 planes per month, have to be scaled down by 30 per cent to be correct."

Knudsen warned his audience, composed largely of leading industrialists, that any failure on the part of industry and labor to co-operate for the utmost speed in defense production might have grave consequences for the nation. "Talk to your men," he told the industrialists, "make them feel that it is their responsibility as well as yours. Ask them what they think of a civilization that drives women and children to live in cold wet holes in the ground."

Back Thousands Years
"We have gone back a thousand years in the last year. Why? Because a few individuals decide the actions of totalitarian nations and democracy is fighting for its life. It makes one shudder to think that brains can devise a situation like this—where we kill the harmless because we want to break the spirit of the people."

"Let us work and work harder so that the possibility of such barbarism spreading to our shores will be an impossible forever."

Knudsen asserted the public generally is "sold on defense" but he wondered whether it had been sufficiently sold to industry and labor.

Contending that week-end factory shutdowns tended to defeat defense production aims, Knudsen said:

Machine Time Cut
"Friday night has become the big night in most of our industrial picture. It used to be Saturday night—we have cut 20 per cent of our machine time. Can we afford to do this?"

"Can't we stop this blackout, this lack of production, from Friday to Monday, and get more use of the equipment? We can train the men to operate it. Isn't it possible to put the defense job on a war basis even if we are at peace?"

"When I think of the seriousness of the whole world situation where the Americas are the only spot where freedom and law still have a foothold, I wonder if we are not justified in doing just that."

Bulldogs Lose To Arlington In Tight Game

The Bulldogs lost to Arlington last night in Science Hall in a tight game, the final score being 21 to 17. An early lead which Arlington secured proved about the winning margin, and while the Bulldogs managed to close this gap at one time, the Arlington five staved off the rally and gradually increased the lead. Score at the first quarter was 7-7, 17 to 10 at the half, 17 to 13 and the third quarter and 21 to 17 at the end. Joe McAllister was high point man for the Bulldogs, grabbing nine points in the first half and being held scoreless during the second half. Layne Spence, playing a fine floor game, turned in five points. Burgess was high for Arlington, with six points.

Lineup:
Fulton (17) Arlington (21)

The first quarter was 6 to 2, the half 13 to 8, and a big spurge of scoring gave the locals thirty-one points to finish the game. Moore was high score point man with a total of seven. Joe Williams, entering the game at the half, racked up six points in one quarter.

3-Week-Old "Angel" Routs 43 "Devils" At Dormitory

Philadelphia. — A 3-week-old "angel" has routed forty-three "devils" from the affections of a University of Pennsylvania dormitory housemother.

Mrs. Bessie Bittling disclosed today she intended to give up her job of watching over the "devils." "They're good boys and good students too—if she can adopt the infant girl abandoned on the dormitory steps last week. The university suggested the twin tasks of mothering the girl and the boys might conflict."

The boys immediately started plans for "uncle's club."

Cannon-Equipped British Plane Is Said To Be Highly Effective

London.—The Air Ministry related today how a British fighting plane, newly-equipped with cannon, shelled a German Messerschmitt raider which "exploded into little bits in the air....like a bursting anti-aircraft shell."

A 21-year-old RAF pilot, the Air Ministry said, scored the first victory with the new armor-piercing cannon in an attack with three other RAF planes against 10 to 15 Messerschmitt 109's over the channel.

"I fired a few rounds at one, but missed—perhaps because I was overtaking him so quickly," the pilot said.

"So I turned my attention to another German. This time, from dead astern, and fired very deliberately with my cannon.

"What happened was like nothing I had ever seen before—not even in the pictures. I gave him two short bursts. The cannon shells went boob-boob and one must have struck his petrol tank."

"The Messerschmitt 109 exploded in front of me like a bursting anti-aircraft shell. There was a quick flash, a cloud of black smoke, and bits were flying through the air. The stuff was simply dripping out of the sky."

"I broke away and looked around. The smoke quickly dispersed, and of all the pieces falling around me there wasn't one I could recognize as any part of an airplane."

"It was the most amazing sight I have ever seen."

Duke Takes Advantage Of Visit To Rest, Catch Up On Reading

Miami Beach, Fla. —The Duke of Windsor is taking advantage of a week's visit to the United States for the sort of rest and privacy rarely permitted to one in his position.

Now that the Duchess is well on the way to recovery from a serious dental operation, he is occupying his time with reading, short motor trips, and a bit of unostentatious shopping in stores away from the principal business districts.

Visit Fred B. Snite, Jr. Because of his wife's hospitalization, the Duke has the perfect excuse for a polite "no" to the scores of invitations he received for one sort of function or another.

He acknowledged personally a request of Fred B. Snite, Jr., paralytic inmate of an iron lung, for permission to call upon him in the hospital, going to Snite's Miami Beach home for a private chat with "The Boller Kid."

On this and similar trips the Duke was driven about town by a Miami Beach policeman in a large sedan. On each occasion, he was accompanied by his Scotland Yard bodyguard and an aid, Capt. Vyvyan Drury. Associates said he was recognized only rarely.

Catches Up On Books
The Duke spends much of his time with the Duchess, when she feels well enough to talk. At other times he reads in a nearby room of their hospital suite.

Aids said he is catching up on books that have been piling up ever since he became Governor of the Bahamas almost four months ago. Although his duties in administering the small British colony have not been arduous, he has been fully occupied with learning details of the government, with conferences and with the job of having his official residence, Government House, renovated.

U. S. Gives Man Sixty Days Off, Then Hunts Him

San Francisco. —Police Thursday "found" Wilson E. Wells and the Internal Revenue Intelligence agent was surprised to learn he had been missing.

Police Sgt. M. E. Dowell, head of the Missing Persons Bureau, said the agent explained he was given sixty days leave of absence upon arrival October 17 from his last post at Manila.

After a day at a large hotel, he moved to other quarters, and was unaware his home office in Baltimore had become alarmed at not hearing from him, Dowell said.

King George Visits Birmingham 12 Hours After Raid

London. —King George picked his way around bomb craters in the streets of Birmingham Thursday less than twelve hours after the third big German attack on that important Midlands industrial center.

buildings and flattened homes. monarch as he surveyed damaged buildings and flattened homes.

"We're not downhearted, Your Majesty; it's nice to be alive," said a Mrs. Ashford, who had just dug herself from the ruins of her home.

"It is indeed," the King replied.

Bankers Eye Mexico Deal

Mexico City. —A project for industrial development of Mexico involving an initial outlay of as much as $100,000,000 has been formulated by a group of United States bankers, it was reported last night by John A. Hastings, former New York State Senator.

Hastings, speaking as the bankers' representative, said the plan still was in the "embryonic" stage. He emphasized that no agreements had been reached with the Mexican Government, but added that conferences with Government officials in recent weeks gave him "reason to believe" the plan would go through.

President Manuel Avila Camacho offered encouragement for foreign investors in Mexican industry when he declared in his inaugural address December 1 that "law abiding" foreign investors would be offered full protection.

Mexicans saw as fields for investment by United States interests principally mining enterprises and plants for the assembly of agricultural and other mechanical equipment manufactured in the United States.

Hastings, George Creel of California and several other American business men have been here for several months developing details of their project.

Cabinet Man May Succeed Lord Lothian

London — Speculation centered Friday upon Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, a former corporation lawyer and industrialist and now British Minister of Supply, as a probable successor to the late Lord Lothian as Ambassador to the United States.

In one quarter it was even suggested that he might be named within a few days.

Eden Talk Diminishes
War Minister Anthony Eden had been much talked of earlier, but his name receded from private discussions. It was considered that the Washington post, is not now essentially diplomatic since it is felt by some here that the United States and Britain see more or less eye to eye on the war—but one requirement mainly a man skilled in business and finance.

John Davies Is Honored By Lions

Yesterday the Lions Club devoted its session to honoring John Davies, who leaves Fulton this week end to make his home in St. Petersburg, Fla. Mr. Davies has been in Fulton for the past six years as manager of the Miller-Jones Shoe store and during this time has taken an active part in church and community work. He has been one of the best members the Lions Club ever had and has served the organization in many capacities. He has also been a prominent worker in the First Methodist Church, serving on the official board and as one of the Sunday school teachers.

James Warren was in charge of the program at the Lions Club and told simply what Mr. Davies had meant to Fulton. "He came among us a stranger and he leaves us with the friendship of all who know him, and this means hundreds," Mr. Warren said. "That tells in brief the story of his six years among us." Many other club members also spoke of what inspiration Mr. Davies had meant to them, and in responding Mr. Davies said that he was leaving Fulton with the deepest regret. "My wife and I will always look on Fulton as our second home," he said. "We have never been better treated in any place than in Fulton and both of us deeply appreciate the opportunity of having been citizens of this good town."

Parachutes Open Without Help With New Device

Missoula, Mont. —A new device perfected by two Forest Service parachute jumpers may make "bailing out" of an airplane safer.

Chester Derry and his brother, Frank, have invented a static cord. One end is attached to the plane, the other to the rip-cord of a parachute.

When the jumper leaves the plane, the line operates the rip-cord and all the jumper has to do is float to earth.

Virgin Islands' Refugee Plan Fails To Win High Approval

Washington. —An apparent hitch developed Thursday over a proposal by the Virgin Islands to offer shelter there to European political refugees.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes told his press conference he favored the plan, but that the State Department could not persuade itself to support it.

Secretary Hull, in turn, told his press conference, in answer to a question:

"I don't know anything about it." Both referred to a resolution adopted by the islands' civil councils and forwarded to the White House and to the Interior Department offering a home on the islands to self-supporting refugees from Europe's wars.

Italy Expected To Defend Lines Rest Of Winter

Britain Held Unlikely To Attempt To Drive Into Libya Area

Rome. —Usually well informed persons predicted tonight that the Italian armies would defend their lines in both Libya and Albania for the rest of the winter.

At home, Italian defeatists and hoarders may face rough handling by Fascism's early-day strong arm squads. One extremist newspaper declared hoarders and profiteers should be shot.

In the view of today's informants, the aim of the present British offensive in Egypt is believed to be to push the Italians back behind their Libyan frontier, from which they advanced early last autumn to and beyond Sidi Barrani, 70 miles inside Egypt.

It is not believed here that the British will attempt a serious incursion into Libya itself.

Today the high command reported a violent battle amidst sandstorms "in the zone between Salum (on the Libyan frontier), Sidi Barrani and the desert zone to the southeast." The high command has not specifically conceded the fall of Sidi Barrani although the Rome radio did so last night.

The Italians were fighting with great gallantry against the British armored columns, the communique said, telling of yesterday's action. Dawn-to-sundown bombing of the British units was reported to have set fires among them. The toll in planes yesterday was placed at 18 British, 12 Italians.

Bad Luck Plagues Wisconsin Lady On Friday The 13th

Oneida, Wis. —Talk about Friday the 13th luck, listen to this lament by Mrs. Carl Dwyer.

Returning from a trip she found her home burglarized and started for the constable's office, but the axle on her automobile snapped.

She went to a brother-in-law's farm and took a horse from the barn. As she prepared to have the horse pull the car off the road, the animal fell dead.

She went home and returning later found someone had stolen the car battery and rear-view mirror.

Relief Opposed For Objectors To Conscription

Washington. —Don Welch, Oklahoma draft director, said Thursday he would discuss informally with national selective service officials his position that Government relief should be denied those who persist in objections to the draft.

"I realize the selective service organization cannot control what W. P. A. will do, but it can make recommendations," Welch said.

"Naturally," Ickes said, "the Virgin Islands couldn't take care of many refugees, but even a few lives saved from firing squads or concentration camps are worthwhile in these days—if only as an evidence of our good will and our willingness to do what we can in a tragic world situation."

"I think it is regrettable to create the impression that the right of asylum for political refugees, of which this country used to be so proud, should die of inanition."

The Justice Department, he said, was amply able to weed out undesirable elements and "black and white" who might try to take advantage of the offer of eventual foothold on the islands.

MORE REALISM NEEDED

A few months before Italy entered the war on the side of Germany the United States sold a quarter of a million tons of scrap iron to Mussolini. This sale was made largely because England urged that it be made. At the time England was hopeful that Italy might be kept out of the conflict; yet in a few months Italy was fighting England and that scrap iron has long since been turned into war material to help carry on the war against England—as well as against the United States. Probably England had a sort of promise from Mussolini that he would keep out of the war if certain things, including this sale of scrap iron, should be done. The English have placed too much reliance on promises made by the dictators and have sorrowed bitterly over this trust many times.

Right now there is much talk of a loan to Spain by this government. The loan is supposed to be as much as one hundred million dollars. In Madrid the loan has been spoken of as an accomplished fact; in that city there seems more knowledge of it than in Washington. In Washington the loan has been discussed and it has been denied that it was contemplated. Again it was spoken of more or less openly, and the inference was left that England favored the loan being made. Again it was stated that merely some foodstuff was to be shipped to Spain. Yet in Madrid it is still claimed that the loan will be made. Naturally it is bigger news in Spain that it is in the United States, for one hundred million dollars means the difference between plenty and starvation there. Yet it should be big news here and the nation should be fully informed on all phases before such a loan is made.

By this time it should be definitely known that promises made by dictator states mean less than nothing. Deception is the stock in trade of all the totalitarian states. Europe is littered with broken pledges and daily the total rises. No matter whether England believe a large loan to Spain would keep that nation out of the war, this country should have enough backbone to conduct its own investigations before advancing the money. It is a well known fact that Herr Hitler likes to have a so called neutral nation near him. Such a nation can give him plenty of help, and in the case of Spain, broken by two years of bitter civil war, little real military help could be expected. Hitler, however, can use Spain to great advantage as a neutral friend.

Speaking of Spain, it is also well known that the leaders of that one time world power are crying aloud for the restoration of the Spanish empire that one flourished across the seas. Demands are constantly made for the return of Gibraltar; mighty words are spoken or retaking the Philippines and the nations of South America which were once under Spanish rule. As long as this sort of talk goes on it is difficult to see how this country could logically lift a helping hand to Spain. Every word and every act in Spain shows utmost friendship for Hitler and Mussolini and as long as this appears to be Spanish policy, there seems no valid reason for the United States doing anything which might help Spain.

To many people it appears that a settled policy might well be adopted which regards all Europe as a potential enemy of the United States. As long as the continent is dominated by Hitler this will remain true, and no attention should be paid to any pledges or promises that might be given. There

MARQUESS OF LOTHIAN AND HIS WORK

No British Ambassador to the United States with the possible exception of Lord Bryce has more successfully interpreted Great Britain to the American people than the Marquess of Lothian whose sudden death occurred in Washington yesterday.

Bryce, the scholar, cemented the friendship between the two great democratic nations by interpreting the American Constitution and the American Government to the American people. Lothian, the realist and idealist, interpreted the meaning of Britain's heroic stand to the democratic world. Both were thoroughly familiar with America and America's way of life, and both were admirers of America.

"Today, we are your Maginot Line," declared Lord Lothian in those critical days following the evacuation of Dunkerque when he appealed for guns, ammunition, planes and ships, anything and everything. The entire equipment of the B. E. F. had been left in France and invasion was hourly threatened.

In his last public address delivered on the eve of his death by a member of the Embassy staff he asserted, "If you back us you will not be backing a quitter. With your help in airplanes, munitions, ships and on the sea, and in the field of finance now being discussed between your Treasury and ours we are sure of victory." But he made it plain that the United States must decide, must realize the danger to itself should Britain fall.

His work in Washington ends a brilliant career. He belonged to that group of young men, including the late Lord Tweedsmuir, former Governor General of Canada, known as Milner's Kindergarten that helped established representative government in South Africa following the Boer War. He was Lloyd George's righthand man during the World War. He was secretary of the Rhodes Trust and as such he visited virtually every State in the United States. As Philip Kerr, the younger son of a younger son, he had made a name for himself before he inherited his wealth and titles.

Both Great Britain and the United States suffer a tremendous loss in the death of Lord Lothian, the advocate of aid and more aid to his beleaguered country and the interpreter of our own selfish duty in rendering such aid. —Courier-Journal.

DRINK BLAMED FOR ONE IN FIVE FATAL FALLS

New York. —Intoxication causes one-fifth of the fatal falls in the United States, statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company have reported.

"This may come as a distinct shock to those who hold the view that in some mysterious manner intoxicated persons are able to protect themselves from falls," they commented.

Falls of all kinds on streets and sidewalks, the report said, cause 1,800 deaths annually.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB IN MEETING

The Junior Woman's Club of Fulton held its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at the club home and hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Joe Hall, Mrs. Robert H. Binford and Mrs. Maxwell McDade.

Mrs. Hendon Wright, the president of the club, was in charge of the meeting and conducted the usual routine business. At the conclusion of the business session she turned the meeting over to the program chairman, Mrs. Jack Edwards.

Mrs. Edwards first presented Mrs. P. E. Binford who gave a most impressive Christmas story, entitled "The Young Magi," taken from an American magazine of 1937. A trio was then presented, composed of Miss Elizabeth Butt, Mrs. Hendon Wright and Mrs. Walter Voelkel. Their rendition was "Lo! How A Rose Ere Blooming," by Praetorius, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. M. L. Parker.

That concluded the program and the meeting then adjourned to meet again on the second Friday of January. The hostesses served dainty refreshments during a social hour.

Porter Crouches All Night On Ledge After $6,914 Theft

New York. — Police dashed to the office of the Wagner Fur Company to answer a burglar alarm. There was no one there—but $6,914 in bills was spread on a desk. They rushed from the office and returned a few minutes later. The money was gone.

An all-night search of the twenty-two-story building ended when daylight revealed Edgar Orr, a Negro porter, crouching precariously on a twenty-inch ledge outside an eighteenth-story window. He had clung there through the night.

The money was in his pockets.

Germans Use Cow's Stomach To Make Gloves

Berlin. —The old problem of making a silk purse out of a cow's ear has not been solved, but German scientists are about to offer the public a purse made from a cow's stomach.

Old Bossy's paunch, according to experimenters at Chemnitz, has been found to be a suitable substitute for leather in the manufacture of some articles. Jurses, gloves, belts and suspenders are among the products. The material takes color easily.

Products are to be shown for the first time next year at the Leipzig spring fair.

ENGINEERS CONFIDENT OF BRIDGING ABILITY
Fort Knox, Ky. —Officers of the 16th engineer battalion, first armored division, are convinced today they can bridge almost any river under any circumstances.

Under simulated battle conditions and further handicapped by rain and deep mud, the engineers yesterday threw a pontoon bridge across Salt river, a reservation stream.

The hastily constructed bridge supported an 11-ton tank and heavy armored car, crossing at the same time.

Earlier in the day 350 men crossed the Ohio river in assault boats in another maneuver.

ARRESTED BY STATE HIGHWAY PATROLMEN
Whitlock Lyon was arrested by Kentucky State Highway Patrolmen last night on Carr street and was charged with driving a motor vehicle while drunk. He was lodged in the city jail for trial this morning before Magistrate Homer Roberts.

Honesty is our policy...
So we don't "pack" prices!

With every new car we sell we give this written guarantee that there is no "pack" or hidden charge in the price.

"NO-PACK"
Guarantee

THE only way we know how to do business is on a fair, square and aboveboard basis.

So when you buy a new car from us we give you a written guarantee that there are no "padded" charges in the price you pay.

And you can see what your money buys because we list every item on the bill separately—we break down the total charge into separate units.

We even go so far as to guarantee your money back on any charge proved to be unjustifiable.

That's what we call ironclad protection against price "padding"—the practice of increasing the new-car price so that you can get an inflated trade-in allowance on your present car.

On a deal of that sort, you're led to believe you're getting more on your car than it's worth. Actually you're paying more for the new car than you should.

Come in and learn more about our honest pricing policy.
