Progress Banquet February 28th

The Fulton Chamber of Commerce will have a Progress Banquet on the evening of February 28, at the Usona Hotel, which bids fair to be the best banquet ever to have been given here.

T. F. Canfield, manager of the produce department for Swift & Company, of Chicago, will be on the program, so will Con Craig, Road Commissioner, also Mr. H. W. Sweitert, head of the agricultural development bureau of the Illinois Central System.

Plans and specifications for Swift's creamery and produce plant are in the hands of contractors of Fulton and bids are to be opened this month. This is to be a handsome, three-story building of reinforced concrete with brick exterior, and will be a big asset to our city.

The Chamber of Commerce has laid plans for an extensive development program in the dairy industry, and great results should be obtained from their efforts.

Along with dairying, is needed more good roads, and this community is sparing no effort to get the road through Duke-don. This is one claim from the people that is bound to appeal to Kentucky's Road Commission. Mr. Craig will tell us what he is trying to do for West Kentucky in road building.

There is the best spirit of co-operation exhibited by the business men of Fulton that ever prevailed. We have the greatest prospect for growth we have ever had. Every business man in the town should secure a ticket to this Progress Banquet and there show his interest in the welfare of our city.

C. of C. Meeting

Tuesday night's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was largely attended and all the members were pleased with achievements of the past year's work. It was time to elect directors for the ensuing year and after the votes were counted all of the old directors were elected as follows: A. M. Nugent, Joe Davis, T. M. Franklin, E. C. Hardesty, Hoyt Moore, R. H. Wade, J. E. Fall, H. H. Murphy, I. H. Read and Joe Browder.

Some of the best talks ever made at the Chamber of Commerce meeting were delivered by Messrs. Davis, Nugent, Browder, Franklin, Rev. Warren, Dr. Jones and others. All were keyed with good fellowship and co-operation. It was a fine meeting.

Secretary Davis reported that practically every business firm and many citizens had signed 1929 membership cards and pledged their quota to the $7,000 budget for this year. In fact, nearly all of the budget has been subscribed and prospects were never better for the future. Before closing Smith's delicious French drip coffee was served with doughnuts. All left smoking a Chancellor, made in Fulton.

Contract for Swift Building to be Let Monday.

On Monday, Feb. 18, Swift & Company will open the bids in Chicago and let the contract for their new building to be constructed in Fulton. The plans and specifications call for a three-story structure 70 by 186½ feet of brick, concrete, tile and stone. The Swift plant will occupy an imposing location near the railroad tracks on State Line street.

New Realty Company

Bankers and Leading Business Men Are Incorporators.

Charter of incorporation for a new realty company for Fulton is being sought. Papers of incorporation have gone to the Secretary of State. This company already has excellent property here which it will build residences on, and these will be sold. The company will be of great service to Fulton in this respect.

The big thing that is contemplated is to build and operate an up-to-date picture show for Fulton; a new $75,000.00 modern picture show will be built and operated. These men realize the great need of this and they are in position to make it a success. The following men are the incorporators: N. G. Cook, R. H. Wade, W. A. Terry, Ira W. Little, T. M. Franklin, I. H. Read, Arch Huddleston, J. E. Fall, G. G. Bard, W. S. Atkins and M. L. McDade.

This is the right spirit for Fulton, and success is theirs.

Fulton Railroad Men Promoted

The promotion of R. M. Alford to the position of Supervisor of Routing of the Illinois Central System with headquarters at Fulton, has been announced by H. W. Williams, superintendent, and approved by J. W. Hebron, general superintendent.

Mr. Alford was first employed as train dispatcher at Fulton, February 12, 1904, promoted to position of Assistant Chief Train Dispatcher on January 10, 1905; promoted to position of Chief Train Dispatcher, December 31, 1905. Worked in capacity of Chief Train Dispatcher and Trainmaster until July 26, 1918, when he was called to serve as Lieutenant in the Railway Engineers' Corps of the U. S. Army in France in the World War. Returned to service of railroad company, July 30, 1919. He was promoted to position of Supervisor of Routing, February 1, 1929, with headquarters in this city.

During his residence here, Mr. Alford has been interested in the civic life of Fulton, and enjoys a wide circle of friends who rejoice in his deserved promotions, fully realizing the high esteem in which he is held by his railroad associates.

Robertson Is Made Chief Train Dispatcher

Mr. G. L. Robertson is appointed Assistant Chief Train Dispatcher, Tennessee Division I. C. System, with headquarters at Fulton, vice Mr. R. M. Alford, promoted effective February 1, 1929.

Mr. Robertson began his railroad career with the Illinois Central as telegraph operator on June 17, 1902, and worked at various points on division.

He was promoted to copy operator in Fulton Division office, Feb. 15, 1905. On October 7, 1907, promoted to position of train dispatcher, and is now assistant chief train dispatcher.

His host of friends are pleased to see him successfully climbing the ladder of railroading. He is a young man of sterling qualities and will continue the upward route.

ORPHEUS CHORUS AT M. E. CHURCH SATURDAY EVENING

Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the M. E. Church, the Orpheus Chorus, an ensemble of twelve voices from Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., will appear in sacred concert under the direction of I. D. Moore.

Dr. J. B. Kenyon, Dean of Men of Asbury College, accompanies the Chorus on their western tour which includes twelve leading cities. Dr. Kenyon was a classmate of the world renowned missionary, Dr. E. Stanley Jones, who is an alumnus of the great missionary school and a member of the Board of Trustees.

This Chorus comes from the "far-famed bluegrass" of Kentucky. Last year they toured the Southeastern section of the country with appearances in the cities of Nashville, Birmingham, Atlanta, St. Petersburg, and other points. Everywhere the reception was cordial and an enthusiastic response was given to their programs. This year many invitations were extended for reappearances in the territory traveled last year, but it was decided that a West and Southwest tour would be made.

The principal part of the program in our city will be ensemble work with occasional solo and duet work. In addition, special features such as male quartets, piano and violin solos, and readings by a graduate of the School of Speech will be given. The ensemble work will include the rendition of spirituals. The character of the singers is above the average found in American colleges, and their influence has been spoken of in other cities as uplifting and inspirational. They will receive a cordial welcome in our city and we bespeak for them a large audience. You are cordially invited. No admission. This is a rare treat for music lovers of Fulton.

SURPRISE WEDDING ANNOUNCED

On January 12, 1929, Miss Lillian, the winsome daughter of Dr. and Mrs. I. H. Read, of Fulton, was quietly united in marriage to Mr. Felix Goldwin Lewis, son of Judge and Mrs. John B. Lewis, of Anchorage, Ky. The wedding took place in Nashville, Tenn.

The bride is a charming young lady, a general favorite in Fulton's smart society set and of one of the city's most prominent families. She is a graduate from the 1928 class of Fulton High School, and was attending school at University of Kentucky.

Mr. Lewis graduated from the 1928 class of Anchorage High School and was attending school at University of Kentucky when he met and won the heart and hand of his lovely bride. He is a young man of excellent character and one of Anchorage's leading families.

Both are popular young people who are receiving showers of congratulations from their wide circle of friends.

FULTON MUSICIAN IS HONORED

Mrs. Clarence Maddox, one of Fulton's charming and talented musicians left for Chicago, Monday night to appear in a sacred concert, sponsored by the Junior Ladies Guild, of the St. James Methodist church, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Maddox was asked to play three numbers on the program, which is a distinctive honor.

MR. FIELDS SUFFERS BROKEN ARM

Friends of Mr. Charles Fields regret to learn of his falling, Monday morning and breaking his right arm. Reports from his home on Third street say he is resting nicely and will soon recover from the painful injury.

City Ice Company New Corporation

The City Ice Company is a new corporation for Fulton, headed by C. E. Holloway, W. O. Shankle, Will Whitnel and other well known business men.

The plant will be electrically equipped and modern in every respect with a daily capacity of 17 tons. Work will begin on the construction as soon as the contract is let and pushed to completion. The building will be of brick, 48 by 70 feet, erected on the vacant lot formerly owned by G. G. Bard, corner Walnut and Plain streets, near the I. C. railroad.

"It is a little chilly to be talking ice at this time," says one of the promoters, "but we want in good running order to supply the trade early in the summer, to get everything lined up and and keep Fulton folks cool."

National Demonstration Week

Of Chevrolet's New Six Begins February 17

Earl & Taylor, Local Dealers, Invite You to Visit Their Garage and Drive the New Six.

Preparatory for National Demonstration Week of Chevrolet's New Six Cars, Earl & Taylor, proprietors of the City Garage and local dealers, have just received a carload, including all models in the new six, in the price range of the four.

February 17, and you are invited to call at the City Garage, lower end Lake street, inspect the line and drive the new Chevrolet Six.

Messrs. Earle & Taylor are elated over the sales program for 1929, when it is expected the sale of Chevrolets will reach the 1,250,000 mark. Their sole ambition is to be a leading factor of surpassing all former records in sales, backed by one of the greatest motor car organizations in America, with the best car on the market for the money—a six in the price range of the four, with Fisher body.

Mr. Earle said today that thousands of the new Chevrolet sixes are moving along the highways of America. Owners have reported that the engine is everything its designers knew it would be. The acceleration is not surpassed by that of any other on the road. It has ample speed for any emergency. It has an economy better than 20 miles to the gallon. It is beautiful in appearance. It is exceptionally easy riding.

"Again, we invite you to come in and inspect the new Chevrolet Six in the price range of the four, and drive it," said Mr. Earle.

FULTON BOY DIES IN EL PASO

Freeman Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carpenter, of Fulton, died Saturday in El Paso, Texas, after a lingering illness. It was known that the young man was seriously ill and his parents were enroute to his bedside when they received the sad message announcing his death.

The news of his death was received in Fulton with sadness by his large circle of friends who had known him from childhood. He was in the railway service here until his health gave way and he went in hopes of regaining his health.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one brother, J. B. Carpenter, of Dyersburg, Tenn., and one sister, Mrs. Chas. Price, of this city.

What You Hear Over the Radio

I take it you are. She shouldn't live beyond your ability to provide. She has no right to demand clothes, luxuries or social contacts that will exhaust your earning ability. But, brother, if your wife is a 1929 model, she is built to move, and to emphasize convenience and power, and her freedom will assert itself, and it should. If you are sensible, you will fit into a program that will be mutually beneficial. Don't ask that woman to commit social suicide. She needs outside contacts. She should be a better wife in the home because of them, and the chances are that you are not really writing down the full truth in your letter.

Many wives waste day after day in useless card clubs and social whirls. The parson is against that sort of thing, because that sort of thing hurts everybody concerned and bears no helpful fruit. Do you go to church with her? Do you spend an evening or so a week at the movies with her? Do you try to break the monotony of her life for her? If you don't she will set a pace for herself and you may feel left out. Think it over.

A WORLD CALL TO PRAYER

From the office of the Secretary of Women's Work of the Presbyterian Church of the United States, St. Louis, Mo., has come the call of the Federation of Women's Board of Foreign Missions in New York City calling the Christian women and girls of every race and tongue of the world. TO A GREAT WORLD FELLOWSHIP OF INTERCESSION, FEBRUARY 15.

After discussing this matter with all the pastor's wives of the city, and securing the very hearty approval of almost all of them, we have decided to put on this program, by the happy consent of the Methodist pastor, Dr. Vaughn, at the First Methodist church, February 15, at 3 p. m.

This service is recognized as one of the great things of the year, and in many of our cities, is looked forward to with genuine interest, and it is calculated to bring together a record-breaking company of women and girls in so good a town as Fulton.

Remember that the women and girls of every denomination of all the town, are urged to attend, and you might do well to come early if you want a comfortable seat.

We request that this notice be read at the public services of all the churches each Sunday between now and the time for the meeting. Do you remember the time? February 15, at 3 p. m. A similar notice will appear in the newspapers of the town. Let everybody talk about it! Let everybody pray! Let all the women and girls come!

Love Shatter "Ties That Bind."

where she met her "greatest love."

Pastor Follows Suit

Here she told Dawson of her confession to her husband and told him that she was leaving. The Rev. Mr. Dawson went into his home and told his wife that he was leaving her, and that he never expected to return, officers here say.

Where the couple went has not been determined, but Mrs. Laden informed a neighbor that they were to meet in Memphis and they were leaving Dyer in separate automobiles.

Mrs. Dawson told friends here that she was going to Manila, Ark., where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Claude Miller. She left today. The Rev. Dawson formerly was pastor of the Baptist church there, serving the flock there for about seven months. He left there about seven months ago for Jonesboro where he attended Jonesboro College three months and then came here. The Dawsons were married 10 years ago.

The Ladens had also been married 10 years. Mrs. Laden, nee Ethel Pace, came here from Laneview, near here.

Neither couple has children.

BAPTIST MINISTER'S WIFE DOUBTS HE HAS LEFT HER

Manila, Ark., Feb. 1.—Refusing to believe that her husband has "gone off with that other woman," Mrs. Ed C. Dawson, wife of a Dyer, Tenn., Baptist minister, who is believed to have eloped with one of the town's most attractive matrons, arrived here today.

She sits silently at the home of her sister, Mrs. Claude Miller, confident that he will soon return to her. "He has done this before," she says.

Her return here has set the town folk talking. It has been recalled that hardly seven months ago the Rev. Mr. Dawson, esteemed highly by his flock, resigned quickly and went away because of an "exceedingly pretty" divorcee, the mother of two children, who was an active member of his church.

Mrs. Dawson arrived here on a motor bus early this afternoon. She said that she had spent the night in Marion. She denied dispatches that her husband had told her he was leaving her forever. She said that she had suspected her husband was "going wrong again," and that she had talked it over just a few days ago. He came to her Wednesday night, told her that he was sorry, and that he "would quit running around."

Heard of Elopement

He left the house then and she did not know of the alleged elopement with Mrs. Richard Laden, 27, wife of a prominent hardware dealer of Dyer, until Thursday morning, she said. It was then she made up her mind to come here to her sister's home.

Besides his affair with the "pretty divorcee," Mrs. Dawson had other troubles with her husband while living here, according to her sister. "Once he threatened to kill her, and on another occasion he offered her money if she would go back to her home in Martin, Tenn., and stay there," she said.

"Our brother at Martin told Dawson that he had better stop his nonsense, or he would take him in hand," Mrs. Miller added.

Mrs. Dawson and Mrs. Miller were reared in Martin. Their mother, Mrs. Mat Ryan, and brother, Beckon Ryan, live there now. They have two other sisters, one in St. Louis, Mo., and the other at Birmingham, Ala. Dawson came from near Martin.

The Dawsons came here in November, 1927, and until the minister's unexpected departure in June, 1928, he was never under suspicion. Persons recall remarks that he was seen with the "pretty divorcee" quite frequently, but her activity in church matters put any suspicion out of their minds.

The minister went from here to Jonesboro, where he attended summer school at Jonesboro College, and then about four months ago received the call from the Dyer church.

Mrs. Laden and Dawson are believed to be together. Their whereabouts is not known and Mrs. Dawson says that she will not make a search for her husband.

"If he returns, or if he does not, I have not made up my mind what I will do. Anyway I will not search for him," she says.

"LILAC TIME" FILM STORY OF STAR'S DREAMS

Upon Reading Script of Jane Cow's Play, Colleen Moore and Her Husband Pronounced It Ideal Film Story for Star.

"Lilac Time" is the sort of a story that motion picture actresses' dreams are made of, according to Colleen Moore, who comes to the Grand Theatre in the screen version of Jane Cow's stage triumph, Monday and Tuesday.

When Miss Moore and John McCormick, who produces her pictures, read the play manuscript of "Lilac Time," they both knew instantly it was the story of which they had dreamed, but hardly dared hope to find.

Its spirit of youth, its tenderness and its glowing romance gripped them as no other story had ever done, and McCormick immediately opened negotiations with Miss Cow and Jane Murfin, co-authors of the play. The screen rights were purchased and Willis Goldbeck assigned to adapt the story for motion picture production, with Carey Wilson preparing the script.

Gary Cooper, hero of "Beau Sabreur," "The Legion of the Condemned" and other pictures, appears in the chief supporting role. Other players include Burr McIntosh, George Cooper, Cleve Moore, Kathryn McGuire, Eugenie Besserer, Emile Chautard, Jack Stone and Edward Dillon.

GOOD WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Winnie Brady died late Sunday night at her home on Bates street, after several months illness. Surviving are her husband, Frank; two daughters, Frances and Margaret, and two brothers, George Chester, of Florida, and Herman Chester, of St. Louis. Funeral services were held at the home of the Winstead Jones company at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with the Rev. Alonzo Williams, of Martin, conducting the services. Burial took place in Enon cemetery.

DOLORES COSTELLO IN NEW HEIGHTS

The picture at the Orpheum Theatre Monday and Tuesday, "Glorious Betsy," is one that will long be remembered for its artistic and historical value and for performances worthy of the famous characters that were portrayed.

You see the social atmosphere of Baltimore with a rare perfection of detail, and you get a glimpse into the life of Napoleon as it has been seldom put on the screen.

Dolores Costello has the starring role in this Warner Bros. production as the famous Betsy Patterson of Baltimore who married Jerome Bonaparte on his visit to America against the Emperor Napoleon's wishes. Her beauty and historic talent alone are enough to carry a picture, but in this case she has the backing of an expert cast, at the head of which is Conrad Nagel as Jerome, with John Miljan, Pasquale Amato, Michael Vavitch, Andre de Segurola, Paul Panzer and Clarissa Selwynne.

There is a thrilling sword fight between Conrad Nagel and John Miljan, and there is a beautifully dramatic scene when Amato as Napoleon tries to persuade Dolores as Betsy Patterson to give up her husband for his own good.

The whole production is full of romance and drama, and Alonzo Crosland has done much in making the picture what it is by his able direction.

A nice gift. Send The Advertiser to a friend one year—only $1.00.

Community Building

Home Site Situation of Prime Importance

In considering a site for your home it is quite necessary that your home lot be at least 40 feet wide. A lot narrower than this does not permit a proper distance between buildings, and cuts off the necessary amount of air and light.

A reasonable space is also necessary in order to guard against spread of fire from one building to another. A lot that is too narrow necessitates a certain type of house—one that is long and narrow, and this is not usually the most attractive style. On the other hand, a lot that is too wide is a source of unnecessary labor and expense. There will be more terrace or curb lawn to care for and a longer expanse of sidewalk to build and keep clean. The assessment for street improvements is also estimated from the number of feet frontage.

A lot should not be selected that is too shallow for a few outbuildings, a clothes yard and a small space for vegetables or flowers. The buyer of a lot should always bear in mind the possibility of some day selling, and should select a site which will appear attractive to others. If possible, choose a lot with some shade trees on it. If there be none, set some out at once, but do not make the mistake of buying quick-growing trees, which will afterward prove a nuisance.

Be careful to select a lot on the most favorable side of the street. Note whether the morning or the afternoon sun will shine into the rooms where you most desire it, or vice versa. Will your front porch be cool in the afternoon? Will your sleeping rooms have a good sweep of air?

Beauty and Coloring in Brick Treatment

For those who desire to brighten the landscape in the building of their homes there are the certain effects to be obtained by either painting or whitewashing the common brick walls. Here, too, economy can be indulged, for any well-burned, run-of-the-kiln brick will give as good results as the highest priced. If a stucco effect is desired it may be had, or the sharp contrast of white against the green of the background.

Clicker bricks, English architecture with timbered treatments and stuccoed gables, stone trim with inset, irregular boulders to intensify the mass variety, all are "emphasized" in the latest eastern (Pennsylvania) homes of common brick which are adding so much to the beauty, the permanence, the fire safety and the real value of their communities. And both home owners and architects are coming to appreciate all this.—Building Economy.

Work to Preserve Beauty

An organized movement toward preserving the scenic beauty of Delaware county, Pennsylvania, has been launched through the co-operation of the Chester (Pa.) Real Estate board and business and civic organizations of the county.

The Delaware County Parks and Boulevards association, a citizens' organization, has been incorporated to make possible the acquisition by the county of waste land along the scenic creeks and to conserve such land in its natural state.

Because of the rapid increase in value of the land every year of delay in starting such a scheme has cost the county $1,000,000. It has been estimated, Stream valley land, which sold for $700 an acre only a few years ago, has been discovered to have development advantages and is now bringing as high as $8,000 an acre, park engineers state.

Traffic in Large Cities

Several leading cities in the country are adopting the policy of separating the crosswise motor traffic from the main thoroughfare at busy intersections by elevating or depressing the crosswise thoroughfare. In some cases the grade separation is effected by raising the level of one street slightly and depressing the level of the other so that there is a minimum change of grade at either thoroughfare. Among the cities which have adopted such improvements are New York, Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and San Francisco.

Trees Spell Town's Name

The villagers of Ilon, N. Y., in the historic Mohawk valley, are setting out 5,000 pine trees in groups so as to spell the word "Ilon." Each letter will be outlined by low white birches along the outer edge of dark evergreens. The foliage sign will occupy a 1,000-acre field on the peak of Oak hill. Every letter will be ten yards wide to make this aircraft signboard visible from a great height.

Conduct Clean Up

Boy Scouts of Montezuma, Wash., recently volunteered their services to clean up rubbish along one of the principal highways of the town. At the highway runs the fence of the local baseball park. Bill posters for the circus which recently showed nearby had plastered this fence with their posters. The scouts did another good turn in removing the stickers.

FIGHT LICE AND MITES IN SUMMER

Kerosene has been used probably more than any other one thing on the average farm for fighting the lice and mites found in the poultry house. It is sudden death and very satisfactory, except for one thing: evaporation is rather rapid and a new spraying or other method of treatment is required in a short time. It being always on hand is a great advantage.

Mixed half and half with waste machine oil or crankcase oil, kerosene is much superior to use alone and will remain effective much longer. Some people report extremely satisfactory results by mixing kerosene and commercial fly spray for poultry use. This will often last two or three months. Crude oil such as is burned in the furnaces of many people and also used for hog dip, is very effective in combating lice and mites.

Probably the most effective of all the spray preparations that can be used is a coal-tar wood preservative that can be purchased at most lumber yards and drug stores. A poultry house sprayed with this should not be further troubled with mites or lice for another year. It is highly desirable in using this spray to be very careful to get every part covered. Also care should be used to put it on rather thinly, especially around the necks and perches. It will stick to the feet of the hens and when carried to the nests get on the eggs and before they hatch for another year. ### Build Complete Machine for Production of Eggs

Don't omit feeding because the fowls are on the range or running through the feed lots.

No matter how fine the breeding, how careful the brooding, how long the pedigree, unless the chicks and young stock are kept growing and fed and continuously through the growing season, they cannot develop to the fullest extent of which they are capable. Only well-grown hens lay their best; only well-grown males make the best breeders. It is not so much a question of getting maturity for the fall and early winter shows as securing a complete machine for the egg factory.

Both young and old should have access to the feed hopper all the time, the old stock for feather-making material, the young for frame, meat and feathers.

Various Mixtures Used for Feeding the Ducks

Where only a few ducks are raised it is satisfactory to use the same feed for the ducks as is used for the chickens. On commercial duck farms various mixtures are used. A common one for use during the first three weeks is made of equal parts of corn meal, bran, low-grade flour, with 5 per cent meat scrap and a little oyster shell and grit. This is fed five times a day in amounts so that the ducklings will clean it up rapidly. After the ducks are three weeks old a mixture of two parts corn meal, one part bran, one part middlings and 10 per cent meat scraps, with some oyster shell and finely cut green stuff makes up a satisfactory ration.

Poultry Notes

Chickens need sunlight to preventickets.

All diseased birds should be burned. Clean drinking water is essential.

For details or suggestions as to poultry-house construction or fixtures apply to your county agricultural agent.

If you want good egg production next winter, see that your pullets are properly fed and cared for during the summer months.

One-half pound of fine table salt added to every hundred pounds of mash will be good for your hens.

Chicks making a normal rate of growth will, at the end of 12 weeks, weigh 25 times as much as they did at hatching time.

Sodium fluoride or blue ointment have proven effective when applied to the birds for lice. Painting the roosts and nests or spraying the coops with a mixture of waste crankcase oil and kerosene will "get" the mites.

Eggs being porous quickly absorb bad odors and therefore should always be stored in clean places.

The free use of kerosene or crude oil on the roost and in the cracks in your poultry house will help to exterminate mites.

If eggs are kept over three days in a place where the temperature is above 70 degrees, even if infertile, they are graded as seconds. Store them in a cool room and market them as often as possible.

Stirling Finds a Maid

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright.)

STIRLING had contrived to leave his office so that it was not yet five o'clock when he turned the latch-key in the front door of his house in Marden Lane. He strode into the kitchen and dropped the bags of bread and bananas and bacon and canned soup on the table—or rather on one end of the table, for most of it was occupied with a clutter of unwashed breakfast dishes. Flies buzzed about in the afternoon sunshine, feasting now and then on the sweet sediment in unwashed coffee cups and cereal dishes. "Oh, h—!" he muttered in a bored tone of voice.

Then he went to the telephone and called up the number of the employment office in Melton. A few minutes later he had agreed to pay a hundred dollars a month to a servant who would come the following Monday. This was forty dollars a month more than he meant to pay. Still he couldn't go on as he had gone, and he had been working for weeks now trying to get some sort of housework.

People spoke of Stirling Grison as a most exemplary young man. He had deliberately made such wonderful sacrifices. After the death of his father, five years before, he had shouldered most of the burden of supporting his mother and his two younger brothers—Larry and Tom—one sixteen and the other twelve.

Then a few months ago his mother had died—and now Stirling had chosen to play the role of father and mother both to the younger brothers. Chosen—they said—but Stirling wondered. He had simply done what any other man would have had to do. Then, too, people said, Stirling had definitely given up the idea of marriage—because of his responsibilities. There was Vera Thorne—lived in Marden Lane. Every one knew he was in love with her and that Vera had thrown over two or three other suitors no doubt because she preferred Stirling. But Stirling felt that he had had no choice in the matter. Of course he loved Vera but since marriage was out of the question he had made a stammering sort of statement of the facts and after that he never went to see Vera.

Of course Tom and Larry ought to have done more to help Stirling. The fact that they didn't was hardly their fault. While their mother had lived, she had never thought of asking them to help with the work in the house. Stirling helped—and she let him, but she would not have asked him. And now that the mother was dead, everything somehow managed. He had persuaded the middle-aged practical nurse who had cared for his mother to stay on for a week or two to straighten things out. And Saturdays the boys did do what they could to clean the house and after supper at night they helped Stirling with the day's accumulation of dishes.

Three miserable days passed—days when Stirling should have spent every bit of his working energy at his office, instead of fussing early and late trying to keep the house in a semblance of order. A neighbor had suggested to Stirling that he ought to put the boys in boarding school and board in the city himself. But good boarding schools were expensive—and he'd half-promised his mother to keep a home atmosphere around them until they went to college. Anyway, Stirling said hopefully, everything was going to be all right. A woman was coming. Quizzed by the neighbor he told her what he had agreed to pay. That sort of gossip ran fast in Marden Lane and the neighbor happened to know Vera's mother.

That evening while Stirling was standing over the dishes, an unexpected thing happened. Vera arrived by way of the back door, alone, and after an embarrassed exchange of greetings she told the younger boys to run away and do their lessons while she dried the dishes with Stirling.

So it was there over the dishes that Vera—who seemed such an old-fashioned girl, actually proposed to Stirling.

She was drying a plate and went on polishing it needlessly as she talked. "You're going to pay that woman a hundred dollars a month. I work in an office for fifteen dollars a week and pay a little board at home out of that. But they don't need me—don't even want me—much. That is, they'd rather have me safely married. You see what I mean—"

Stirling tried to push back the thrill of joy that started to come over him. He felt tremendously embarrassed. "I couldn't," he said. "I mean when I marry I want to have something to offer—I wouldn't want to marry just to have some one keep house for me."

"But once every man married for that reason, primarily," said Vera. "I mean back in Colonial days when there were hardly any old maids—and every one seemed to be happier than—and besides even now every girl I know—nearly—does her own work. It isn't hard with vacuum cleaners and things. You've got a vacuum cleaner—and I don't much like to work in an office—"

Vera put the plate down and began to weep a little and then Stirling took her in his arms. "It's just because of what people might say," said Vera. "They'll manage to talk anyway—"

But Stirling held Vera so closely in his arms, with the soap suds from his hands making little patches on her frock, that she didn't doish her argument.

Oxygen The Enemy

It seems a curious contradiction that oxygen is necessary to the maintenance of human life and health is the chief enemy of most of the foods necessary to the maintenance of human life and health. Oxygen not only attacks the vitamin content of foods that are exposed to it during cooking, but it even helps to dissipate the taste and aroma of certain foods. Everyone knows by now that science has discovered that foods cooked in open kettles in the usual household manner lose more of their vitamin content than foods that are processed in hermetically sealed cans, but how many people know that oxygen will extract the taste and aroma of the best of coffee by the end of a very few days?

Few people actually realize this. If they did, roasted coffee would never be sold in sacks, cartons or paper bags, but would invariably be retailed in vacuum packed cans, and kept after these were opened in air tight containers. It is the combination of the heat caused by roasting and the oxygen which destroys the taste and aroma of our favorite national drink.

How Coffee Becomes Stale

Green coffee which comes in contact with heat during the roasting process commences to expel its own gas (harmless carbon dioxide), which should by no means be confused with poisonous carbon monoxide) and its aromatic oils. These oils are very volatile and begin to evaporate immediately.

How many times have you passed a coffee factory where coffee was being roasted and sniffed eagerly at the attractive odor which greeted your nostrils from afar? And haven't you had this same experience sometime in a car when someone was carrying home fresh roasted coffee in a paper bag? How that delicious odor permeated the entire vehicle! That odor was the aroma escaping from the freshly roasted coffee, and the part of it which you enjoyed so much in passing never reached the carrier's coffee cup.

It has been ascertained by scientific tests in the laboratories of a great University that from 65% to 70% of the coffee gas and an appreciable part of its aromatic oils disappear in the first twenty-four hours when freshly roasted coffee is exposed to oxygen. After that period the gas is expelled at a slower rate, but in ten or twelve days roasted coffee exposed to oxygen has lost all of its gas and a great part of the aromatic oils which constitute its flavor, and has become noticeably stale.

Finally it becomes unfit to drink.

How to Keep Coffee Fresh

The only way in which fresh roasted coffee can be kept both fresh and flavorful is by packing it in a container which is absolutely impervious to all climatic influences. In doing this, you not only confine within the container all the gas which is so essential to the preservation of its freshness, but you have also excluded all possibilities of the entrance of any deteriorating influences on its contents. This method of packing is known as the "Vacuum Process", and more and more coffee packers are now adopting it.

One more precaution is necessary if you are really sufficiently interested to want a perfect cup of coffee to start the day. Once the vacuum can has been opened, don't let all that put-up goodness dissipate itself in the oxygen in your kitchen. Put the part you don't use into Mason jars and cover the covers of them down tight on the rubber rings. In that way you'll keep up the good work of preserving the taste and aroma which was started by the vacuum packing immediately after the roasting, and you'll continue to have good coffee until the can is all used up.

BANKERS IN NATIONAL MOVE FOR UNIFORM FINANCIAL PRACTICES

Would Promote Greater Consistency Among All the State Laws in Respect to Banking Conditions—Uniformity of Practice and Understanding Will Make for Greater Convenience, Efficiency and Safety for All Business.

By S. J. HIGH
President State Bank Division, American Bankers Association

RAPID interchange of business and the quick transportation of goods in the United States, coupled with almost instantaneous means of inter-communication by telegraph, telephone and wireless, have welded the country into an economic unit. The nation is not, in a business sense, conducting its affairs in water-tight compartments, as in a measure it did in the days of slow travel and remote places, but styles, methods, commodities and business practices flow freely today in all directions. Therefore it is desirable that finance, trade and industry throughout the country operate along generally uniform or at least consistent lines, so that a contract or an agreement or obligation in connection with business transactions shall mean virtually the same thing in all parts of the country. Particularly necessary in this connection is the establishment of uniform financial and banking practices so as to facilitate the flow of trade along accepted and understood lines.

S. J. HIGH

Banking in the United States is recognized as a semi-public type of business and is therefore subject to laws to define the scope and character of its activities. These laws at present set up a great diversity of conditions under which banking is conducted in various parts of the country since they come from both state and federal authorities. The national banks are all chartered by the federal government and therefore operate on the same lines in every state of the Union, but there is no such regularity in respect to the conditions under which the state banks chartered by the respective forty-eight states must conduct their business. All state banking codes, while they have similarities, also have many great dissimilarities in respect both to the national bank laws and the banking laws covering state bank operations in other jurisdictions.

Bankers Move for Uniform Laws

The State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association, which latter includes in its membership banks of all descriptions throughout the country subject to all the variations of state and federal banking laws, is committed to the effort to bring about greater consistency and uniformity among the statutes of all these various jurisdictions. This body is conducting a vigorous nationwide campaign urging that active steps be taken to secure greater co-ordination in banking legislation, more equitable conditions and more uniformly efficient public supervision of banks in the several states.

The organization is particularly concerned with fostering this movement to bring about more uniformly desirable conditions throughout the United States in respect to the public supervision of banking institutions by the state banking departments. It is on record as favoring the policy that the important office of state bank commissioner should be kept as free from entangling partisan politics as the judiciary itself and should be completely detached from all other functions of state government.

It is also on record as favoring the policy that the tenure of office of state bank commissioners should be made more secure and lasting than is now the case in many state jurisdictions and that this important public officer be granted sufficient compensation and discretionary power so that the office shall attract and retain the services of men of outstanding executive ability and successful banking experience.

It is also a part of this policy that the bank commissioner's ability to serve well should be strengthened by providing him with adequate forces of bank examiners, selected on the basis of merit from men having the requisite qualifications of honesty, ability, training and banking knowledge to carry out the duties of their offices on the highest plane of usefulness to the public as well as to banking.

The Trend of State Laws

The Association's State Bank Division has recently concluded a nationwide survey of state banking legislation and conditions and in general has discovered a definite trend along the following lines:

There is a distinct tendency among the states to raise the minimum capital required for banking institutions to $25,000 and also to give the bank commissioners or the banking boards sole power as to the granting of charters for new banks, thus enabling them to use discretion as to the need or desirability of added banking facilities or the fitness of the organizers to enter the banking field. In this connection many states are creating banking boards to act in an advisory capacity with the state bank commissioners.

There has also been observed a tendency to increase the compensation of the bank commissioners and to lengthen their terms of office and to give them power to appoint necessary deputies and examiners so as to build up an adequate force to carry out their responsibilities and duties. An important augmentation of the powers of

POULTRY

By J. T. Watkins

The school and lectures held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last Wednesday and Thursday were well attended, and were a great benefit to those who were lucky enough to come out and listen. The Department of Agriculture sent some mighty good men down here who have all the latest wrinkles in the different phases of farming ironed out smoothly and if those who heard them and follow their advice they will benefit greatly for their trouble.

On Thursday Professor Humphries lectured on Poultry Management, and I am very sorry I could not be here to get my part, but I am told he knows his chickens, and that he had a large attentive crowd of listeners. When you don't attend these lectures, you lose. You will always learn something you did not know before. I know, for I have been in the chicken game since I was a chap about four years of age, starting with a pair of white banties. Every time I attend a poultry meeting or get around a bunch of chicken men, I learn something I did not know. One thing I have learned is that banties are bantams, and so on. There is no limit to what I have learned and to what you can learn if you will attend and absorb some of the dope put out by these men.

Mr. McPherson, the County Agent, and myself are planning quite a lot of visiting this spring and early summer among the chicken raisers, and we hope to have the cooperation of all those we visit, and we will try to benefit you in some way in raising your flocks.

Everything points to a good big show at the Fair this fall. I am not sure but I believe we will have a new poultry house by that time, and that we will have plenty of room and not have the aisles crowded full of coops so that we can't move. We have sounded out several of the Directors of the Fair Association and they are mostly all in favor of a new house, so we will have to wait and see if the majority can control the majority. I hope not, for we certainly need more room, and we also need more coops. We will meet the board within the next few days and make our pleas for the new house, and if they decide favorably we will spread the good news at once so that you can begin to get your birds in shape for the show. I feel confident that we will have a larger and better show if they will just give us the room, and the coops. Well here's hoping.

The other day I had the pleasure of visiting one of the poultry raisers on the Tennessee side. Mrs. Peeples, who lives adjoining the Bowers school, I found a flock of about sixty Rhode Island Reds that were way above the average farm flock. They all looked healthy and "peppy" and Mrs. Peeples told me she was getting a large per cent of eggs at the present time, and I don't doubt but if a continuous record is kept of this flock they will average 160 eggs per hen, and when you take into consideration the average egg yield per hen for a year is only about 27 eggs for farm flocks you can see where she will easily make a profit.

TWO-DAYS FARM SCHOOL GREAT SUCCESS

The two days farm school held under the auspices of County Agent, H. A. McPherson in the Chamber of Commerce at Fulton, Wednesday, February 6th and Thursday, February 7th was well attended. More than fifty of the best farmers attended the school the first day and sixty the second day.

Grady Sellards, Swine specialist of the extension division of the University of Kentucky, made two talks on hogs. His first talk was, "Growing Hogs Under Present Conditions," his second talk was, "Growing Hogs Free From Worms." E. J. Kilpatrick, District Agent, spoke on "Farm Management" and "Increase Yield Per Acre." G. J. McKinney spoke on "Club Work." Jack Galloway with the Farm Management Department of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, spoke on the results he had found in a survey he is conducting in various counties of the State. Aubrey Nugent, local banker, made a very interesting talk on "Competition in Production." Enoch Browder, a prominent farmer and mill man, made an interesting talk on soil improvement. He stated that the farmer who did not maintain his soil fertility was even worse than a robber. He also stressed club work.

Professor Roberts, who has charge of the agronomy work of the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky, spoke Thursday morning on, "A Cropping System for Fulton County," and "Fertilizers for Fulton County." He made a most interesting talk and gave some very interesting figures showing how the cropping system of the county could be improved. Professor Roberts stressed the use of lime stone and said there was no excuse for farmers not using lime at the present price. He addressed the Rotary Club of Fulton on the Agricultural condition of the State. Thursday afternoon was devoted to poultry work and Professor J. E. Humphrey spoke to a large crowd on the subject of "Poultry Management."

County Agent McPherson is to be congratulated on the splendid accomplishments resulting from his efforts in arousing keen interest among our farmers throughout the county in the work he has outlined for this year. No county agent in the State is doing more to promote the farming interest than he is and we are glad to see our farmers heartily cooperating.

FULTON WOMAN FATALLY BURNED

Pours Gasoline on Fire, Causing Destruction of Two Residences

Mrs. J. B. Wild, living in Riceville, a suburb of Fulton, was fatally burned and two homes were destroyed in a fire that occurred Thursday night, February 7, when Mrs. Wild attempted to light a fire with what was thought to have been gasoline instead of kerosene.

As she poured the liquid on the smoldering embers, flames shot out and ignited her clothing. To put out the blazing garments, she is said to have jumped in the bed and pulled the covering about her. The bedding caught fire, causing her home and an adjoining house to be burned.

Mrs. Wild was taken to Mayfield, in an ambulance, but died within a few minutes after her arrival. She was living at the home of her son, E. L. Cobb, of Riceville, who was the owner of the destroyed home. The other home was the property of Arthur Rose.

Mrs. Wild is also survived by a stepson, T. J. Wild, of Fulton, and a brother in Georgia.

The deceased was a good woman and will be sadly missed by a large circle of friends who deeply sympathize with the bereaved.

WOMAN'S RIGHT TO LOVE IS THEME OF NEW FOX PICTURE

Every woman is entitled to love!

That is the underlying theme of "Mother Knows Best," Fox
Films' picturization of Edna Ferber's sensational selling novel, which comes to the Orpheum Theatre for a two days' engagement starting Monday.
Featured in the picture are Madge Bellamy, Louise Dresser and Barry Norton.

From the day that the Ferber story swept the country and aroused all sorts of conjecture as to just which mother and daughter were meant by the authoress, film fans have awaited the screen version and their waiting will be well worth the effort when they see the picture.

Directed by John Blystone, who specializes in poignant drama, it carves a new niche in the cinema hall of fame for both Madge Bellamy, who is seen as the daughter, and Louise Dresser, reaching the peak of character portrayal as the mother.

The rise to theatrical success of the daughter guided by the mother, who fights with her and for her always, brings its day of reckoning when the daughter has her first and only romance with a young vandalville actor. She declares that she is entitled to what every woman is entitled—love—and accuses the mother of stifling that love.

"Mother Knows Best" is said to be one of the most human documents that ever has been brought to the screen.
The supporting company includes Albert Gran, Joy Auburn, Stuart Erwin and Lucien Littlefield.

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

There was a debate here in our auditorium on last Wednesday night, between Fulgham and our debating team. Our debaters, Pauline Brown, Zelma Pillow and Frances Byrn, debated the negative side of the question. All the speakers on both teams spoke well. On account of bad roads there wasn't as large a crowd present as we had hoped for.

About March 15 or 16 there will be a play presented in our auditorium by the high school students who do not take part in athletics. This play is being sponsored by two of our Senior girls, Misses Mary Boulah Walker and Luvena Pauline Davis.

We now have between seventy-five and a hundred specimens in our museum, and are continually adding more to it.

Keep a sharp look out for the date of our declamation contest, which will be sometime soon.

All the basketball players are very proud of their new ball suits, which are blue and gold. Our school is going to keep climbing upward, and we are sure that the students who have ever called Beelerton their school, will sometime be proud of it.

McFadden News

Mr. Cleveland Bard and Layman Bard spent Tuesday in Mayfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Gore spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Bradley.

Miss Lillian Bard was reported on the sick list last week.

Miss Irene Bowers will represent McFadden school in the spelling match at Cayce next Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rayman Brockwell spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Wess Glover.

Chalmus Ferguson and Floyd Putman spent Sunday with Fort Dillon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Putman spent Sunday with Mrs. Lula Bard.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Bard and little daughter, Joyce, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Herring.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walker was reported on the sick list the first of the week.

Route 5 News

Wayne Lamb, now a student of Asbury College, requested me to make the following announcement: The Orphans' Chorus, of Asbury College, at Wilmore, Ky., will give a sacred concert at the First Methodist church in Fulton, Ky., Saturday night, February 16, 1929. This is a rare opportunity to hear some real sacred music by a group of twelve consecrated boys, students of Asbury college, who are making a tour of the middle west, giving programs in churches of some of the larger cities such as: Little Rock, Ark.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Wichita, Kan., and St. Louis, Mo. They are also giving radio programs. No admission, everyone invited. These young men are personal friends of Mr. Lamb's and he will be glad to have as many of his friends here to attend as can possibly do so.

Welfare Workers met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ben Golden. The business of the day was the election of new officers which were as follows: Mrs. Ruth Finch, President; Mrs. Nook Wilson, vice-president; Mrs. Lon Watts, secretary; Mrs. Orr, assistant secretary.

Committees were appointed, and plans for the coming year discussed. Next meeting will be February 20, at the home of Mrs. Maud Holiday.

We hear a little less of flu, and more of bad roads and weather and chickens.

Mrs. Stella Nanny has 500 baby chicks and incubators running. Mrs. Robt. Rhodes has 30 or more about two weeks old. Mrs. Orr has a hen setting.

Mr. Sid Moore is hardly so well at present.

Mr. Jack Butts is on the sick list.

W. H. Finch and family and Gertrude and Delma Moore spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Butts.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. BOONE HELD AT GATES, TENN.

Funeral services for Mrs. J. E. Boone, who died Saturday night at her home on Arch street in this city, was held Monday afternoon at Gates, Tenn., conducted by the Rev. H. B. Copeland, interment following in that city.

For several years Mrs. Boone had made her home in Fulton, and was loved and esteemed by a large circle of friends who sincerely sympathize with the bereaved.

Besides her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roberson, of Gates, Tenn., she is survived by three sons, Edward, Eugene and William Boone.

The deceased was a member of the Christian Church, and a talented musician who will sadly be missed by the entire community.

MISS ESTELLE WILLINGHAM WEDS DR. GLENN B. DONOHO

(Paducah News-Democrat)

Only the members of the immediate families witnessed the marriage of Miss Estelle Willingham to Dr. Glenn B. Donoho, two of the most popular and prominent members of Paducah society which was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Edward B. Willingham, on West Broadway, Friday morning, February 8, at half after nine o'clock. The service was said before an altar of smilax ferns and white lilies with Dr. U. R. Bell, pastor of the First Christian church, and the Rev. Armand L. Currie, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. There were no attendants.

The home was beautiful in its decorations throughout of white and green. The wedding took place in the living room before an altar of smilax and fern on each side of which was placed tall white lilies. The bride and her father, Dr. Willingham, descended the stairway, which was festooned with smilax and ferns and advanced to the altar where they were met by Dr. Bell and Dr. Donoho. The ring ceremony was used.

The bride, a blonde of unusual beauty, wore a frock of King's blue crepe with shoes, and a close fitting hat of baku straw of a darker shade of blue. She carried a bride's shower of Pernet roses, and valley lilies tied with white embroidered tulle. From this were suspended sprays of valley lilies tied with narrow white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Donoho is a talented musician and for the past few years has taken an active part in Paducah's music circles. She is also prominent in social and church circles of the city. She possesses a beautiful, clear soprano voice and is an accomplished pianist. Mrs. Donoho was graduated from the Paducah high school and later studied voice and piano at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and piano at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago.

Dr. Donoho, is a prominent Paducah dentist. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Donoho of Fulton. He studied at the Cincinnati School of Dentistry and later took special work in Chicago.

Immediately following the nuptial service Dr. and Mrs. Donoho left in their car for New Orleans to attend the Mardi Gras, from where they will go to Biloxi. Upon their return to Paducah they will be at home in the Madison apartments.

For traveling Mrs. Donoho wore a coat of black cloth with a close-fitting gray felt hat and shoes of gray snakeskin.

Dr. Donoho's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Donoho of Fulton, and his sister, Mrs. Ernest Brady, Mr. Brady and their two children also of Fulton, were out-of-town guests at the wedding.

Organized Professions

Better business methods will come about largely through organization.

The business man who belongs to his trade association and attends its meetings regularly not alone profits himself but his customers also.

He keeps astride with the new ideas that are developed in his particular line. He learns new devices to cut down the overhead and thus make it possible to reduce his retail prices.

Business men who follow this policy have higher standards because association with their fellow dealers teaches them that a new standard is coming into business.

It is no longer the rule that the buyer should beware. Instead, the seller is beginning to realize his responsibility to the buyer—that a fair profit is all he is entitled to. If he takes more, the buyer will find him out because his competitor is doing business on a new ethical basis.

Every profession is organized to maintain the high ethical standard that it aims to follow. Business men are seeing the light and following the same path.

That is the keynote in all business organizations—to raise the standard and thus remove all doubt of questionable practices.

The buyer is being considered as never before. It is a movement that should be encouraged.

Intelligent Service

The development of a force of salespeople, capable of rendering intelligent and competent service to the public, is perhaps the biggest problem the merchant has to deal with. It exists just the same in a store having but one or two clerks as in the biggest establishment. Every one of these concerns is a business school, in which constant training in good salesmanship is proceeding. As a result there is no place where the public gets a more intelligent and helpful service than in a town of the type of Fulton.

To be a good clerk requires something more than ability to add up a column of figures or quote prices. The clerk must be intelligently informed about the various lines of goods that he is handling. He should read trade papers and keep his eyes open in the newspapers to get helpful information about his line.

The intelligent clerk gives a dependable impression as to what kind of goods are most durable, and most satisfactory. He can also tell what kind of material is best suited to the purchaser's tastes, habits, manner of living and associations. A purchase made with the aid of such intelligence is far more satisfactory. Goods that just fit wear twice as long and are cheap at any price.

In a place like Fulton the force of salespeople is of a permanent character. As few changes as possible are made, and the better positions are apt to be filled by promotions from the lower jobs in the same store. The proprietors give personal attention to the work of instructing clerks. This builds up a force of people who are capable of rendering a high degree of intelligent service and of helping customers make purchases that will be permanent and satisfactory.

This is the kind of thing that the customer misses when he goes away to buy in some distant city or sends to a mail order house. There is a lack of intelligent service, the sales forces are less permanent, less intelligent about their goods, and they make no particular effort to fit the purchase to the customer.

Local Theatre Manager Obtains Super-Picture.

An important announcement in the entertainment field of this city was made today by Manager Jones of the Grand theatre, in announcing the coming to this city soon the Paramount-Famous Lasky Corporation entitled "The Patriot" starring Emil Jannings.

"Definite word was received by me today of the playing in this city of 'The Patriot' at the Grand theatre on Monday-Tuesday," announced Manager Jones. "In making this announcement I believe the citizens of this community will have the privilege to witness the most startling dramatic performance ever seen on the screen."

"The Patriot" deals with the reign of Mad Paul I. of Russia during the latter part of the 18th century. Paul was the son of Catherine the Great and his rule, though short, was one of the most amazing examples of tyranny that ever blotted a page in the world's history.

"Emil Jannings does his best work in this picture. The star believes it himself. Included in the cast are such favorites as Florence Vidor, Lewis Stone and Neil Hamilton, which will give a good idea as to what extent Paramount went to make this super-production a success. Ernst Lubitsch, famous European director directed the production.

"I am convinced 'The Patriot' will receive the hearty endorsement of every film fan in this city. It will appeal to all classes," said Manager Jones.

Good Citizen Passes Away.

Mr. L. L. Gambill passed away Sunday at 11 a. m. at his home south of town aged 65 years. The funeral service was held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. at Walnut Grove church conducted by Rev. W. L. Maxedon of Union City and burial followed in the church cemetery.

Mr. Gambill is survived by his widow, two sons, one daughter and one brother. Mrs. J. L. Crockett of this city is a niece of the deceased.

Mr. Gambill was a good citizen, a good husband and father, and will be missed in his home and community. He was a member of the Methodist church and lived a consecrated Christian life.

Wanted in California

Hickman, Ky., Feb. 11—John L. Tarry, who was arrested in Fulton, Ky., Feb. 2 on a charge of petty larceny and brought here to the county jail, is found, according to finger print proofs sent here to Sheriff John Thompson from Washington today, to be wanted in Stockton, Cal., for felonious embezzlement May 9, 1928. He is said to have served a number of reformatory and prison sentences. All of them for grand larceny committed in Seattle, Wash., in 1925, in Madeira, Cal., and Fresno, Cal., in 1927. Sheriff Thompson has notified the sheriff of Stockton, Cal., that the man is held here.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL PLACES $6,852,500 CAR ORDERS

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 9.—The Illinois Central Railroad today announced it had placed orders for 2,900 freight cars, costing $6,852,500, among seven manufacturing companies. Among the orders is one for 300 50-ft. automobile cars, from the Mt. Vernon Car Manufacturing Company. The road recently ordered fifteen switching locomotives, at a cost of $712,500, and has yet to place orders for passenger equipment, L. A. Downs, president of the road, said.

Fred S. Ruby, Held at Hickman, Also Alleged to Be a Bigamist

Hickman, Ky., Feb. 7.—Fred S. Ruby, formerly of Memphis, who was arrested in Murray yesterday on a charge of false-ly and fraudulently impersonating another and brought here last night and lodged in the county jail by Sheriff John Thompson also is alleged to be a bigamist and dead-beat extraordinary.

Two weeks ago Mr. Ruby obtained a marriage license under the name of 'Sylvan Hale,' saying that it was for a friend in Fulton. He then proceeded to marry the woman here, himself. According to Ruby, his name is both Hale and Ruby, Hale being the name of his father and Ruby that of his step-father. It has been learned that he also has a wife living in De-calls Bluff, Ark.

Ruby, in the past two weeks, has by one eloquent tale or another, obtained groceries, drugs, money and dry goods from about half the firms in town and then induced the American Legion (of which he says he is a member, though he has produced no card) to make up money to send his wife in an ambulance to a Murray hospital. Upon his arrival there he at once went to work to obtain money from the Murray Post of the American Legion. Ruby's nerve in asking for loans is nothing short of colossal as is evinced by the fact that he had not been two miles out of Murray last night on his way to jail here when he attempted to borrow two dollars and a half from the sheriff.

Funeral services were held from the Catholic church in Union City Tuesday morning, conducted by the Rev. Charles Reid.

Miss Doyle was the last of her immediate family and is only survived by a cousin in California.

Leading Hotel in Louisville Changes Hands

Many Improvements Planned

The Plaza Hotel, 113 S. Fifth Street, Louisville, between Walnut and Liberty, right in the heart of business, has been purchased by Howard Foggs and his wife, Nola Miller Foggs, experienced Louisville hotel people. The consideration was said to be $80,000, in addition to which Mr. Foggs and his wife expect to expend, on immediate improvements, the sum of $20,000. This work has already begun and will be hurried to completion.

It is the idea of the Foggs to make a high class family hotel, strictly modern in all details with the motto "A room and a bath for a dollar and a half." Other rooms $1.50 each. An attractive ladies' tailor will be fitted out with radio, telephone service and other conveniences. A coffee shop is also included in the plans.

Trade among Friends

No matter what some folks say to the contrary, there certainly is a lot of sentiment in business. Friendship, for instance, makes more satisfactory sales than all the cleverness and argument in the world.

You like to trade at a certain store—not because its counters are arranged in a scientific way, but because the folks who serve you are always friendly and helpful.

Just that very thing—FRIENDLY SERVICE—is the power that draws people together into communities like this, where everybody can enjoy the many benefits of neighborly cooperation.

And FRIENDLY SERVICE is the sentimental reason why you find it very much to your advantage to trade with our advertisers—to buy where you feel at home, where your friends will see that you are well satisfied.
